AN INTERESTING MATCH.—On Saturday the Oulton Band journeyed to Rothwell to friendly match with a team representing the Leeds Banks, and a most interesting game was witnessed. The Rothwell team batted first, and closed their innings, with six wickets down for 189 runs. However, the Oulton men were just able to bring off a victory, the closing stages of the game proving very exciting. The last over of the match was being played when the winning runs were needed to make victory assured, and R. V. Higgins being caught out, H. Cope was the only one left to go in. He scored 4 runs off the over, which made a total of 182. Scores:—Leeds Banks—H. Brundell, c Knight, b Walker, 27; R. Higgins, b Knight, 26; G. Lamb, c and b F. Wright, 40; A. Clark, b Wright, 26; E. H. Dawson, c Cope, b Wright, 47; Yeadon, c Knee, b Wright, 12; G. Hanson, not out, 15; Sharper, not out, 4; extras, 9; total (for 6 wkts.) 189. Did not bat—P. S. Butler, Hopwood, b Hanson, 15; H. J. Butler, st Lamb, b Dawson, 16; F. Wright, at Lamb, b Dawson, 34; S. Knight, run out, 47; W. Hutchinson, c Nicholson, b Hanson, 17; P. C. Higgins, b Hanson, 13; B. Walker, not out, 17; S. Lockwood, c R. Higgins, b Hanson, 11; R. V. Higgins, c Murphy, b R. Higgins, 12; H. Cope, not out, 4; extras, 9; total, 182.

SELBY

RECRUITING IN THE DISTRICT.—Col. Ditmas, of York, who has visited Selby, has secured about 100 recruits for Lord Kitchener's second army.

FIRM'S GENEROSITY.—Messrs Bell, Berry, and Co., coal dealers and shipping agents, Selby, have decided to allow the dependents of their tenants who are Reservists and Territorials to live rent free for two months, and also to supply them with coal free for the same period.

STACKS SET FIRE.—The Selby Fire Brigade was on Friday called out to a stack fire at Quosquo Hall Farm, Barlow, near Selby, the property of Mr F. O'Gram. Two clover stacks had become ignited and the brigade were at work until late in the evening. The damage done amounts to about £100. It appears that a thunderstorm came on, and immediately after a flash of lightning the stacks were seen to be on fire.

LEEDS ARTILLERYMEN CHARGED.—At Selby on Monday, before Mr Mark Scott and Mr T. S. Ullathorne, Thos. Neal, of the West Riding Brigade, Royal Field Artillery, was charged with being an absentee. Defendant absented himself from the camp at Selby, and was apprehended at Monk Fryston on Sunday night by Police Constable Darnborough. Defendant was handed over to a military escort.

AS INTRUDER AMONG THE BUSHES.—Before Dr. G. T. Todd and Mr T. S. Ullathorne, at the Selby Police Court on Saturday, James Melia, labourer, of no fixed abode, was charged with having been on the enclosed premises of Beech Lodge, Thorpe road, the residence of Mr J. Townend, for an unlawful purpose early last Thursday morning. Soldiers in the locality nearby had their quarters in the grounds of the house at 12.30. He was creeping about in the bushes, and was given into the custody of P.C. Eagle. Defendant, from impression that the affair was an accident, but the police are making strict investigations.

TRAVELERS LAUGHED.—There was laughter from the yard of Messrs Cochrane and Sons, Limited, shipbuilders, Selby, on Tuesday, a steel screw trawler, the principal dimensions being 120ft. by 22ft. by 11ft. 3in. moulded. The vessel has been built to the order of Messrs The Strand Steam Fishing Co., Ltd., Grimsby, and will be fitted with engines of triple expansion design by Messrs The Great Central Cooperative Engineering and Ship Repairing Co., Ltd., Grimsby. As the vessel left the ways she was christened "Traveller" by Mrs J. H. Wright, of Grimsby. Afterwards another trawler was launched, the principal dimensions being 120ft. by 22ft. by 11ft. moulded. The vessel has been built to the order of Messrs The Lincoln Steam Fishing Co., Ltd., Grimsby, and will be fitted with powerful triple expansion engines by Messrs Amos and Smith, Ltd., of Hull. As the vessel left the ways she was christened "Edenbeg" by Miss Howe, of Grimsby. The whole party adjourned to the builder's offices, where the usual toasts were proposed and responded to.

SOUTH MILFORD.

THE WAR.—Collections were taken at St Mary's Church on Sunday for the War Fund, and the sum of £6 6s. was realised. Every effort is being made in the village to get material for the making of garments for the soldiers and the wounded when in hospital. Mrs Hemsworth is working hard in aid of the good work, at the Rectory. The Limes, and at Mrs Radcliffe's, and there have been well supported.

PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHURCH.—The usual P.S.A. service was held in the Primitive Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon, the speaker was Mr. J. H. Walker, of Hunslet.

HUNSLET BOY AND THE TURNIPS.—In the sessions Court William Barfoot (13), a pony driver living in Hunslet, was summoned for doing wilful damage to some turnips belonging to Mr Frederick Walker, farmer, of Middleton, on Sunday, July 26th. The boy was summoned along with four others to appear in the Court on the previous week, but failed to do so. The magistrates issued a warning to the defendant, and ordered him to pay the damage and the costs.

THE WAR AND DISTRESS.—According to the large number of applications which have been made to the Clerk of the Rothwell Urban District Council by the wives and dependents of soldiers, sailors, and Territorials who have left the Colours, it seems as if a big call will be made upon the funds of the Distress Committee, which has been formed by the Council to administer relief by people in the Stourton district. Mr Walter Wade, who is a representative of Stourton on the Council, has shown his practical sympathy by contributing ten guineas to the fund.

DAMAGE.—In the Juvenile Court at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday, William Hepworth, a young lad living at Stourton, was summoned for doing wilful damage to some metal railings, the property of the York-shire Copper Works. Evidence as to the damage was given by P.C. Boyes, and the amount of the damage was estimated by Mr Hondel Wright for the Yorkshire Copper Works, Ltd. The defendant's parents placed the boy under the birching him over in the sum of 5s. He was also ordered to pay the costs and the damage.

TADCASTER

EVENING SCHOOL SUCCESSES.—Horace Atkinson, Edward E. Iredale, and Charles R. Swann, ages were given by the Tadcaster Council, have been successful in passing the first year examination in connection with the West Riding County Examination.

THORNER

ELOPETS WIN.—On Saturday Elopets had a match with Horsforth Woodside National, when they defeated easily, winning by nine wickets. Scores:—Horsforth Woodside—Verity, 5; Shaw, 3; Rollis 11, C. Stead 1, Beaudbent 29, Brayshaw 0, Mould 0, T. Stead 0, Stead o, Smith o, H. Stead (not out) 1, Blouht 2; extras, 12; total, 80. Eloptets—Midgley 4, Pickersgill (not out) 41, Baker (not out) 30; extras, 15; total (for 1 wkt.), 90.

WOODLESFORD

A WOODLESFORD FAMILY.—Mrs Was, of Aberford, Woodhall, and Woodlesford, has five sons and a son-in-law, who have joined up for the war. Since last Thursday, when a letter written in England was received, no further news has been heard. Whether they are with the expeditionary forces or not is not known.

SATURDAY'S CRICKET.—The Woodlesford first eleven were badly beaten by the Rothwell Temperance team on the latter's ground on Saturday. W. Fryer played havoc with the Woodlesford wickets, and assisted by Giles and Holroyd, the side were got out for a total of 72 runs. The homesters won by five wickets. Of the five wickets down E. Hitchen captured three at a cost of 21 runs. Scores:—Woodlesford—O Wilkinson, b Fryer, 0; A. Dennison, b Frost, 4; A. Evans, b Giles, 22; D. Johnson, b Frost, 2; E. Hitchin, c Frost, b Giles, 9; E. Baxter, c and b Frost, 28; A. Brimbank, b Frost, 2; W. Harrison, c Holroyd, b Frost, 23; H. Williams, c Giles, b Holroyd, 8; L. Wilkinson, c Hoodin, b Frost, 2; V. Williams, not out, 5; extras, 8; total, 72. Robin Hoodin—A. Smith, b Hitchin, 23; P. Wormald, b Wilkinson, 8; L. Armitage, c and b Hitchin, 4; J. Holroyd, b Hitchin, 4; W. Frost, not out, 25; S. Fearnley, b H Williams, 0; G. Giles, not out, 8; extras, 14; total (for 5 wkts), 84. The second team were also beaten under to Robin Hood A., who won by two wickets. The match was played on the Woodlesford ground. Scores:—Woodlesford—Taylor 0, Ellis 4, Lee 2, Morton 17, T. Britton 8, J. Hainer 1, H. Abbey no, T. Colin o, L. Hobkinson 2, C. Ellis 5, W. Britton 4, G. Storey (not out) 1; extras, 10; total, 63. Robin Hood—B. Booth 10, C. Fearnley 1, F. Wormald 23, J. Holroyd 0, B. Kirkby 24, Walker o, B. Kirkby o, H. Blackburn 8, S. Brown (not out) 2, G. W. Daniel (not out) 2; extras, 4; total (for 8 wkts.), 94. F. Wormald took 2 wickets for 12 runs, J. Holroyd 2 for 3, B. Kirkby 3 for 12, and H. Blackburn 3 for 8. Of the Woodlesford travellers Dr. Abbey had the best figures with 3 wkts for 14 runs, and A. Ellis was second best with 3 for 15.

Barkston Ash Football Association.

A meeting of the Executive was held at Crossgates on Thursday evening, Mr J. H. Clay presiding. There were also present Mr A. Deighton (Church Fenton), Mr Inman (Aberford), Mr Barker (Selby), Mr Hall (Crossgates), and the secretary (Mr. Hy. Metcalfe).

The secretary reported that the following clubs had entered the Deighton Shield Competition:—Barkston Ash, Barwick Rangers, Church Fenton, Micklefield, J. Smith's (Tadcaster), Wetherby, Whitkirk, Garforth, and Great Preston.

For vacancies on the executive Mr Moss was elected to represent Division 1, and Mr Heap to represent Division 3. It was resolved to invite the Preston and Garforth clubs to send nominations for Division 4.

Leeds Rangers made an application for a grant from the Templenewsam Charity Fund for A. Hicks, who had his leg broken in the Deighton Shield final last April, and £2 was granted from the fund.

Selby Holmes Mills were given permission to play a match, the proceeds to go to the War Fund.

The secretary reported having given Spofforth permission to play in the Harrogate and District League, and his action was confirmed.

Owing to the difficulty in procuring teams to join the competition, the opening of the season will be delayed until the third or fourth week in September, but the arranging of fixtures will be pushed on with all speed, and all clubs will have a list of the matches in the course of a week or ten days.

Home from Germany.

A CROSSGATES RESIDENT'S SON'S EXPERIENCE

From an account given by Mr A. Chadwick, of Crossgates, as to the experiences of his seventeen-year-old son, who has been matriculated at Marburg, and who, with other students, arrived at Cologne on Monday, it would appear that the British students at the University there have been disappointed. Mr Charles A. Chadwick set out on Monday last, Miss Lilian B. Maddison, M.A., of Garforth, to take a vacation course, and reached the University on July 31st. War had then been declared between France and Germany, and the town was busy with the movement of troops. As the University had been converted into barracks for the soldiers, lectures could not be given to the students, who resided away from the University had nothing to do but wait for unopportunely developments. Their time was spent in walking and boating. Difficulties had, however, to be surmounted. The British students had to be registered as aliens, and the railways were only available for troops and military purposes. It was not until August 17th that the railways become available for civilians. On that date Mr Chadwick's friends, with the American Consul for Theographical and these, when granted, were endorsed by the military commandant of the town. Travelling in a party of five and by stages, Mr Chadwick's company arrived in Rotterdam, the journey, having occupied from 1.50 p.m. on Wednesday until 1.30 p.m. on Thursday.

The party crossed to London under the Dutch flag, by tramp steamer.

A SEVERE COLD.

To cure a cold when it has taken a complete hold is a very difficult thing, but taken in its incipient it is easy enough. A very simple remedy is to inhale the vapour from Vapex. Full directions are with every preparation at 1s. 1½d. each, and may be had until the preparation is exhausted, and then wrap the body in two or three thicknesses of dry blankets in bed. After 15 minutes will be free perspiration for an hour. The individual should go to bed without any experiment as to getting up, and remain there for 24 hours or until the symptoms of the cold have entirely disappeared.

THERAPEUTICS AND INDIGESTION.

In a paper read before the Therapeutical Section of the Royal Society of Medicine, on the Jacobi and medicinal treatment of indigestion, Dr. Leigh said well-regulated diet was always it is important to decide with to ascertain the patient's general condition—anæmic, nervous, or plethoric—before he chooses his food properly or boiling it "on a bound"—noting also how he clothes his stomach, for in these days of tight-lacing it is important that the epigastrium should be well supported. As to diet, Dr. Haig-Brown thinks a cup of tea well diluted with milk, then for breakfast a cup of coffee (one part to three of milk), and a boiled egg with toast; for lunch, mutton, or bird, and well-cooked green vegetables; for dinner, a light meal of fish or poultry and a pudding, rather than vegetables, no pudding, and some liquor brandy. One cup of tea, with plenty of milk, for afternoon tea. For late dinner a teacupful of soup and toast and half a glass of sherry gives the Maud. A weak cup of tea, with plenty of milk, sugar, sandwiches or chicken, mutton that has been cooked in a stew, rice pudding, followed by a bit of biscuit.

A Roundhay Young Lady's Experience.

ESCAPE FROM THE WAR AREA.—INTERESTING REMINISCENCES.

Miss Morton, daughter of Mr F. P. Morton, of Roundhay, Spencroft, Harewood Road, Roundhay, and formerly of Crossgates, who has just returned from the Continent, described her experiences in an interesting interview with our representative.

Miss Morton, who has been studying in Lorraine, left England on July 28th, with the intention of joining some friends from Berlin in a holiday in Bavaria. Of course, before I left England, she said, there was a little talk of some unrest between Austria and Servia, but none pictured the uprising of nations in the Balkan States, and Messrs Cooks, at their London Office, assured me that thousands of tourists were taking the same route as myself. I travelled to Ostend via Dover. I got no Berlin without a single hitch. Not a sign of anything was noticed until Cologne was reached, then notes began to pour in, and down the train that several men, who had gone from London had been called back as Germany was going to mobilise. Those travelling with me suggested that it might perhaps be unwise for me to travel further, but, as I was going to friends, I thought I should be all right. Nothing in the trains conveying troops, nor train was four hours late in getting into Munich. Matters now began to look serious. Luggage was piled on almost as high as a house on the platform, and it was impossible for one to get out their baggage. There were hardly any porters to be seen, and one or two who seemed clergy, told tourists that they would have to fish for themselves, and get out their own luggage. I did not bother about mine just then as I found a friend in the person of Mr. Hollis, living for the following morning. Accordingly the next day I sent round one of the porters from the hotel, but he refused saying that I should have to go for it myself. Together we set off for the station, and after much scrambling, I was able to get it.

Rich Americans had to do the same. Another difficulty was the fact that no gold could be had. From Munich I continued my journey to Garmisch, situated in the mountains, where my friends were living. I arrived there in the evening, and there it was so peaceful one could not have thought of any war, although everyone looked grave and expressed the opinion that it would be a serious thing.

Next morning there was a telegram for my friends saying, "Come back at once. It is not safe." Soon after I had only seen them for twenty-four hours they had to leave. Fortunately I made more friends in the town, and we stayed there until England declared war with Germany. Of course, then we had to think of getting out of the enemies country. I must say, however, that we never met with nothing but kindness from the Germans, either by look or by word. People were kindness itself, the whole way through. The only unpleasant experience with the people with whom I travelled said the same thing.

While speaking of the kindly treatment she had received at the hands of the Germans—a striking contrast with the tales which are in circulation of atrocities committed—Miss Morton said she did not think it fair to judge a people by a mob which had got its head. Miss Morton added that the Germans she had met with had helped her wonderfully—in fact, it was through them she had helped her to get some money changed.

"When war was declared between England and Germany," continued Miss Morton, "it seems that the Consul to the American Consul in Munich asking for a passport, but he replied that he could not do anything for a few days, until mobilisation was complete. Then I went to the Consul myself. He added that if I would go to him later he would help me to get a passport. After waiting some five or six days I went to the Consul, and he said that he would see if he still require a letter of introduction or a birth certificate. As I do not carry a birth certificate when I travel, I had to fall back upon the English chaplain in Munich, who I found to have come over from Leeds, and who gave me a letter of introduction. It was while waiting for my passport I discovered a friend from Farsley with whom I travelled home to London. Together we started from Munich for Switzerland. At the frontier everything—baggage, and passengers—was carefully examined, and the officials were very particular about letting people through. I found that for the next few days which passed that we did not fare so well, as the men were not allowed on pressed, but were detained. At Zurich we had to wait for a day or two, as it was quite impossible to get through France, and that we would, for a time, have to stay where we were. We resigned ourselves for a time to Switzerland, and continued our journey as far as Lucerne, where we remained four days. Our party consisted of about three gentlemen, and we visited the Lion of Lucerne, and other places of interest. All of the people who had been on holidays were without any money at all, and they had to rely upon the hotel keepers to let them have it to get them. While here we visited the Consul, who gave us information that a train would start for Basle on the following day. The train got no nearer, and I and my friend decided to leave Lucerne and venture on our own, so on Thursday morning last we set off. There were about three or four hundred people trying to get into the carriages. A large number got into the luggage van, and there was quite a panic as they feared they would be left behind. Fortunately, I and my friend got attached to the train, and although we had what was a couple of German sandwiches, which we sliced with a pocket knife, and which was all we had had since breakfast the day before, we managed to get through. We had to change at Basle, and at Mulhouse

ONE WEEK ONLY.

STEPHENSON'S

GREAT 1/- SALE

To finish up our SUMMER CLEARANCE SALE we shall offer Thousands of Bargains in All Departments, at One Shilling Each.

LADIES' BLOUSES, CORSETS, UNDERCLOTHING, APRONS, OVERALLS, UNDER-SKIRTS, NECKWEAR, HOSIERY, SCARVES, GLOVES, UMBRELLAS, &c., &c.

PILES OF FASHIONABLE DRESS FABRICS

All at 1/- per yard.

The Stock of LADIES' TRIMMED HATS - - - All at 1/- each.

100 CHILDREN'S SILK HATS & BONNETS - - All at 1/- each.

See the HOUSEHOLD DRAPERY SECTION for 1/- Bargains in TOWELS, TABLE COVERS, GLASS CLOTHS, CUSHION CASES, SIDEBOARD COVERS, &c., &c.

In addition to the above, Reduced Prices for ALL Goods will be continued for One Week, thereby giving you the opportunity to secure Bargains at such prices that may NEVER occur again in LADIES' BLOUSE ROBES, SPORTS COATS, RAIN COATS, DRESS SKIRTS, DRESS FABRICS AND SILKS, RIBBONS, LACES, NECKWEAR, VEILINGS, HOSIERY, GLOVES, CHILDREN'S COATS AND COSTUMES, BABY LINEN AND UNDERCLOTHING.

The HOUSEHOLD DRAPERY SECTION offers many Genuine Bargains in SHEETS, QUILTS, BLANKETS, CURTAINS, TABLE COVERS, PILLOW CASES, CRETONNES, CASEMENT CURTAINS, FLANNELS, SHIRTINGS, LINENS AND CALICOS, at Prices which cannot be repeated.

ARE WE DOWNHEARTED ABOUT THE WAR AND ITS CONSEQUENCES ?

WE INTEND TRADING JUST AS USUAL AND EXPECT YOUR PATRONAGE, BECAUSE THERE IS NO ADVANCE IN PRICES.

INTERRUPTION OF SUPPLIES.
SHORTAGE OF STOCK.

STEPHENSON'S,

THE DRAPERY MARKET,

The CROSS ARCADE

(Extending from KING EDWARD STREET, to QUEEN VICTORIA STREET.)

(50 yards down either from) BRIGGATE, LEEDS.

[ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.]

THE DOUBLE CHANCE.

By J. S. FLETCHER

Author of "The Threshing Floor," "When Charles I. Was King," "Daniel Quayne," "The Pinfold," &c.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS: Clinton Marrersley had been found guilty of murder of Jeremy in the suicide, Sir Robert Marrersley. He had protested his innocence, but the evidence was strong against him. Unknown to all other, the meeting is witnessed by a man, who steals silently away into the darkness.

Clinton and Phillipa then meet. Clinton urges upon her the necessity of an interview between her father and himself, so that he may once again declare his innocence. Phillipa gives him a key by which he can easily gain access to Sir Robert's study. When they part, he remains under the impression that Phillipa is true and honest in hiding. The next evening, under cover of the darkness, he finds his way to the castle. Entering the study, he thinks at first that the room is empty; but, then, to his horror, he sees that Sir Robert has fallen across his desk, and that a dead stream is running over the blotting-paper from him. Turning to cry for help, he finds himself in the grip of a sturdy fellow. Phillipa, given the

An Out on and Woodlesf..rd Charity.

THE WEBSTER CHARITY OUTLINED.

In view of the dividing of the Outton and Woodlesford Parish Charities, to be held at special meeting of the Council on October 5th, to discuss the Webster Charity, the following may be of interest to our Outton and Woodlesford readers. It will be remembered that some discussion anent the Charity took place at the annual parish meeting.

The charity was founded by will proved in the Prerogative Court of York, on the 29th March, 1811, and the testator by the said will appointed as the object of his bounty such of the Board of Charity Commissioners for England and Wales, upon an application made to them on the 29th November then in writing, signed by the Rev. Arthur John Edward Irvin (Vicar of Woodlesford); John Nelson Calverley, Esq., of Outton Hall; Thomas William Jenkins, of Outton, gentleman; and Rev. Ernest Huntingdon Dykes (appointed curate of Outton); Robert John Smith, Speight-st, Moortown, Leeds (appointed land agent); and Charles Agnew(?) (then being the trustees or persons acting in the administration of the above-mentioned charity).

The scheme sets forth that all sums of stock comprised in this scheme shall be forthwith transferred, under the authority of a further order of the Board of Charity Commissioners, in the name of "The Official Trustees of Charitable Funds", and all sums of cash now or at any time belonging to the charity and not required for immediate working purposes shall (unless otherwise ordered) as soon as possible be invested, under the like authority, in the name of the official trustees.

The body of trustees shall, when complete, consist of six competent persons, being two representative trustees, and four co-optative trustees. The trustees in office at the date of this scheme in opposition to the Parish Council of Outton-with-Woodlesford shall be entitled, subject to the provisions hereinafter contained with respect to determination of trusteeship, to hold office as the first representative trustees under this scheme for the remainder of the term for which they were appointed. The future representative trustees shall be appointed by the Parish Council of Outton-with-Woodlesford. Each representative shall be elected for the term of four years, at a meeting convened and held according to the ordinary procedure of the Council, but no one of such persons shall be duly elected by reason of any resolution to make void or opposed by the Charity Commissioners.

The four following persons were elected first co-optative trustees entitled to hold office for the—Rev. Arthur John Edward Irvin, Vicar of Woodlesford; Thomas William Jenkins, of Outton, gentleman; Rev. Ernest Huntingdon Dykes, curate-in-charge of Outton; and John Nelson Calverley, Esq., of Outton Hall. Every future co-optative trustee shall be appointed by the trustees carrying on business in or near the township of Outton-with-Woodlesford, and shall be appointed by a resolution of the trustees at a meeting of the trustees to be passed at a special meeting.

The trustees shall hold ordinary meetings at least once in every year, at such time and place as they shall appoint by circular, and any two trustees upon four days' notice being given to all the other trustees of the exercise of their discretion, may convene a special meeting at such time and place as they shall appoint. Every notice shall be determined by the majority of the trustees present and voting at the meeting, but no trustee shall appoint a proxy to vote, whether he has or has not previously voted on the same question, but no trustee shall in any other manner delegate his powers for more than one [illegible] at any one meeting.

At the proper times, charges, and expenses at and incidental to the administration and management of the charity shall be duly defrayed by the trustees out of the income thereof.

Subject to the payments aforesaid, the yearly income of the charity shall be applied by the trustees in the three equal parts. The trustees shall apply one of such parts in one or more of the following ways:—(a) In or towards providing the apprenticeship upon reasonable occasions of any useful trade or occupation, for a period in each case of not less than two years, deserving and necessitous children who have resided in the parish or township of Outton-with-Woodlesford, subject to the condition that on indenture or apprenticeship shall in each case be executed containing provisions for carrying into effect the following apprenticeship. The premium shall be payable in not less than two portions, of the second portion one shall be payable after the lapse of at least one year from the commencement of the apprenticeship; (b) the second or any subsequent portion of such premium shall not be paid before or until the trustees have satisfied themselves by personal inquiry that the apprentice is being properly treated; (c) after the execution of the indenture, the apprenticeship, having properly begun, shall be paid or [illegible] to be apprenticed by the indenture, if he shall misconduct himself, or shall leave his master's service without his master's consent, or any reasonable reason as aforesaid, also has become a pupil teacher in a public elementary school, but so that the premium hereunder shall be so [illegible] in the reduction of his or her expenses as a pupil teacher, and so that not more than £10 be expended out of the income of the charity in any one year in premiums under this [illegible]. (d) In the payment of fees or subscriptions, each of a yearly value not exceeding £2 £1, to be awarded to such children as shall be selected by the said trustees from the [illegible] their respective schools, and who shall be desirous of becoming pupils at the college for teachers, called or to be [illegible] grant or attending any day training college for teachers recognised by the Board of Education, and who shall have passed the examination and held under such regulations and conditions as the trustees think fit. Every exhibition shall be tenable only for the purpose of education, for which there is no considerable charge for the time being, or for the payment of which the holder is not, or shall not be required to be, assisted. If the holder of an exhibition is, in the judgment of the trustees, guilty of misconduct, or ceases to be a pupil in the school or college, or ceases to be a pupil in the school or college, or ceases to be a pupil in the school or college

"The Rothwell Courier & Times"
— IS THE —
Only Weekly Newspaper
PUBLISHED in the DISTRICT.

Rothwell Courier & Times

AND

Methley, Oulton, Woodlesford, Carlton, Robin Hood, Lofthouse, Middleton, Stourton and Hunslet Chronicle

NO. 83— [Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper] NEW SERIES SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 5 1914 ESTAB. 1873 PRICE—ONE PENNY

Joshua Tetley & Son (Limited),
THE BREWERY, LEEDS.
NOW READY IN BOTTLE.
East India Pale Ale, 2/- per dozen Small Bottles.
Extra Stout, 1/9 per dozen Small Bottles.
Special (Non-Deposit) Mild Ale, 3/- per dozen Large Bottles.
Delivered Free to Families within 20 Miles of Leeds.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

EMPIRE PALACE, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.
TWO PERFORMANCES EVERY NIGHT. AT 6.30 AND AT 9.
Early Doors Monday, Tuesday, and Saturday, at 6 p.m.
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 7th, 1914.
HARRY WELDON,
In his Latest Skit, "The White Hope."
MARIE KENDAL,
Introducing "Show Me the Gate-Car."
HOWARD BROS.
The Flying Banjos and their Operatic Banjo Revue.
GOODFELLOWS & GREGSON.
THE FALCONS. FRED LAND.
GEORGE BENSON.
LATEST WAR NEWS AND FILMS.
SOLO.
Presenting "A Lesson in Temperance."
Prices, 10s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 5s., 3s. 6d., 2s., 6d., 1s., 6d.

HIPPODROME, LEEDS.
Performances Nightly at 6.30 and 9.
NEXT WEEK.
ELLA RETFORD
DALE & O'MALLEY
BILLY WILLIAMS
MONA WARWICK,
MR. & MRS. GORDON-WILDE.
FLORRIE ELLISTON.
ZENO & ZEFF.
LATEST WAR NEWS AND PICTURES.
CECIL LYLE.
THE 7 BRAMUSAS.
Note Prices:—10s. 6d., 3s., 6d., and 4d.

Gent's. 9ct. & 18ct. Bangle Rings
Large Assortment always in Stock at
J. WINTERHALDER'S,
Watchmaker, Jeweller, & Optician,
13, New York Street, LEEDS
(Opposite the Yorkshire Penny Bank, Kirkgate.)
Repairs of all kinds a Specialty.

DRAINS TESTED AND REPAIRED.
SANITARY WORK A SPECIALITY
Pump Repairs, Electric Bells, Glazing and Gasfitting.
James Smithies,
Registered Plumber & Contractor.
Residence—
43, AUSTHORPE ROAD, CROSSGATES.

Wm. HELLIWELL,
The Working Man's Friend,
212, Hunslet Rd., LEEDS
WATCH WINDOWS FOR GOOD HONEST VALUE.
Special Suits
From 30/-
NO FIT, NO PAY.

SPARKLING DHOSFERRIDE
An Effervescent & Refreshing Beverage.
MANUFACTURED FOR HOTELS REFRESHMENT HOUSES, &c.
REYNOLDS & BRANSON LTD LEEDS.

Furniture Delivered
ON PAYMENT OF 5/-
In Town or Country. No Charge for Delivery.
T. COATES,
House Furnisher and Manufacturer,
130, 132 & 134, WELLINGTON ST
LEEDS.

N.B.—Persons entitled to Money or Property under Wills, Reversions, Life Interests, and other Securities, wishing to Sell or Borrow, apply to T. COATES.

NOTE.—Furniture supplied on first payment of 5/-.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT JOTTINGS.

A former Oulton clergyman—Rev. E. H. Dykes, who was a noted footballer in his day, has no doubt abhor the duty of the nation at this time. He says that "if young Englishmen are loud to prefer the honours of the football field to those at the battle-field, in order that they may stay at home and put money into the coffers of their respective clubs, then professional football will shortly itself accurated, and will for ever stink in the nostrils of every honest and unsophisticated man and lad." This is a question for the public, and if they refrain from supporting professional football just now, there will be no need for players to stay at home and earn shekels for club committees.

In Burkinton Ash, the great majority of footballers are youths, ineligible for military service, and there cannot be much objection to their indulging in their favourite game. Practice has commenced, but, as organised football in the district is not very strong now, the League matches will not be started until about the end of the month. The cricketers have practically ceased play for a season, but the golfers are at it all the year round, and it is possible that a recruiting officer would find good material for his purpose on some of the local links. Golf is not an old man's game in Burkinton Ash.

Dr. Pickersgill, of Sherburn, who is the medical officer for Garforth urban district, has made some remarks on scarlet fever which the members of the area would do well to give heed to. "Undoubtedly the way in which this disease is spread," he says, "is by personal contact—coming in and out of one another's houses. Parents do not heed the advice given them—many expressing the view that it is better for the children to have it whilst they are young." Many mothers believe that it is necessary their bairns should have measles, scarlet fever, and other ailments; they accept this as part of the children's experience; whereas there is no reason whatever why they should have any disease at all.

"I think," says the doctor, referring to scarlet fever, "if the parents clearly understood that deafness (often permanent), kidney and heart disease, often follow in its train, they would exercise more care and precaution." They will have time to get rid of the notion that children must, as a condition of life, take scarlet fever before any good is done, but it seems to me that the only way to bring offenders to book is by prosecution. One case brought before the magistrates would do more good than fifty warnings. By allowing children to recover from disease to play with others, great harm is done to the community as many more than are, because not only is the disease spread and unnecessarily suffering caused, but heavy cost is imposed on the ratepayers by reason of the isolation hospital charges.

Not long ago a football match in Burkinton Ash commenced upon the impossibility of getting out engine in case of the villagers overlooked properly, owing to the fact that the whistles would not blow. He did not wonder at the spread of consumption, because he knew the conditions under which people lived. In some cottages, he stated, the beds were always warm, because they were occupied both night and day. Large families sometimes were confined in the end house, and when one was not employed on the night shift the other was occupied the beds, and vice-versa. It was a kind of bed and bed arrangement, and could not possibly be productive of good health.

When windows can be opened, however, the people seem neglect to let in the fresh air in. I suppose I suppose they think it will do them harm. The medical officer for Garforth has something to say on the question. "Fresh air," he remarks, "is absolutely necessary—sometimes necessary at night time, because we are apt to have overcrowded bedrooms. There is no reason in allowing the windows to night and opening them in the day time—the longs require fresh air, not the bed clothes. Houses it would be much better to close the windows in the daytime, especially if the house is situated in the midst of traffic, and open them widely at night." Let airways in working strength a village in the district on a fine night, when many of here doors and windows are open, and he will get a surprise. People seem to be frightened of fresh air, and they do themselves injury by bringing bad air, consequent on the keeping of windows closed.

The employees at Allerton Bywater Colliery, who include residents of Kippax as well as of Allerton, generally set an example to their fellows. They are very desirous of investing in war loans during these anxious and unhappy days, and have decided to contribute about £30 per week towards the local War Fund. Each man will pay a small sum weekly, and the combined offerings will be utilised for the purpose named. The employers are not one who behind the men in this enterprise, and they have, I believe, offered generous treatment to all their men who have gone to serve the country.

How is it, may I ask, that the representatives of labour and capital at Allerton Bywater are on such excellent terms, when at other collieries one could name there is frequent annoyance and trouble? It is no use blaming one side, because it is patent, by the Allerton Bywater case, that working arrangements can be carried out to the benefit and satisfaction of all if there is a disposition to do so. Allerton Main is another colliery where employers and employees get on well together, and there is a reason for it. Let the people responsible for the management of collieries where there is constant bickering enquire why the "wheels of industry" run so smoothly at Allerton Bywater and Bowers Ulleron.

The Garforth miners employed at the Isabella and Sunnyside Pits have, like the Allerton men, given generous support to the Relief Fund. Each week they contribute the princes per week and much into there bullpurse, so long as there is need for it. It is evident that the mining population are rising splendidly to the occasion, and their example will not be lost on others. Garforth has also sent a number of young men to join Lord Kitchener's Army. I understand, but I have no idea how many have gone to serve the country.

In abandoning their show this year the Crossgates Horticultural Society Committee have, I think, acted wisely. Owing to the unemployment, caused by the crisis, the attendance would have suffered and the funds would have been depleted. Apart from that, however, this is no time for festivity, and that is a prominent feature of the annual gathering at Crossgates. Still, it is sttrange to have no show this year. For many fifty years it has been a feature at Halton Feast, which was established so long ago that apparently no one knows when it originated, and this break marks a stage in the Society's history.

Swarcliffe is seemingly to have public lighting after all. At the present time the York Road is lighted as far as the hospitals, and it is proposed to extend the route to Seacroft. The work is necessary, said, moreover, the people of Seacroft have just as much right to have their streets illuminated at night as the good folks at Crossgates, to which practical pledge that the work would be done was given. The lighting is greatly appreciated by the residents, who gratefully acknowledge the improvement that has been effected, and I have no doubt that the Crossgates will be equally pleased with the Corporation give them similar treatment.

An increase in the district justified in raising the price of milk. Already there have been two Dairy Farmers' Associations, one in the Wharfedale, and the other in the Aire Valley, and the view is that it is very essential that an ample supply of milk should be provided for the consumption of the public at the lowest possible price, but to attempt to supply it at less than cost means ruin, and a falling off in the supply. One of the chief reasons for demanding an advance is the excessive price of feeding stuffs. It is well known that autumn grass, without other feeding stuffs, will not produce milk in quantity or quality, neither will it keep up the condition of the cows, and if they lose their condition it would be impossible for them to produce much milk during the coming winter."

The Minister for Education has is going on a visit to Germany. May I, in one officer who hopes to go abroad with him," writes Mr. G. R. Lane Fox, "somehow Lord Helmsley's appeal for old members of the Yorkshire Hussars slide and willing to serve abroad, to rejoin their old regiment and bring up the number of existing regiments already volunteering for foreign service to the war strength of a regiment—and an mobile it to serve as a complete unit and not as part of some other unit)? There are many who have served in the A Squadron with me from Leeds and all the district round it, and to whom I would most specially appeal to give to their country and to their country the benefit of that training which, as their cradle they have in the past been willing to undergo."

Mr John Fielden, of Grimston Park, who is a vigorous young man, has decided to return to the Colours, and he has requested his old regiment, the famous Scots Greys. Mr Fielden, who has not taken a prominent part in public life, is a magistrate, and he is associated with the Tadcaster Bench. Sir Charles Lowther, Bart., who is Mr Fielden's brother-in-law, is now with his regiment, and his wife will have charge of the Pytchley Hunt in his absence.

Barkston Ash cricket season finishes on Saturday afternoon with the Junior League final between Garforth Wes. and Tadcaster A at Barkwick. Owing to causes which there is no need to state, the "games" at the other two finals have suffered somewhat, and it is hoped that a good many spectators will turn out and support the Competition on Saturday. It is singular that the Lane Fox Cup should again go to Tadcaster and the Sager-Maugham Cup to Seacroft, and it would seem as if these teams had an especial fancy for the trophies they hold. Tadcaster A have an opportunity of taking to Tadcaster, for the first time, the handsome shield presented by the late Mr H. H. Riley-Smith, but they have a very hard task set them in defeating Garforth Wes., who are hopeful that their names will be inscribed on the trophy. By the way, the last Junior League final was at Barwick, and the merry men of Swinn won the Shield by defeating Halton.

It is stated that a movement is on foot with a view to raising a 2nd trade battalion in Yorkshire. The preliminary steps have already been taken with that object in view, and there is every prospect of the effort proving a success. The idea underlying the proposal is that the battalion shall be raised from among those engaged in the leading trade in the county, filled particularly from the ranks of the miners. With the sympathy and assistance of the men's organisations, which it is hoped to enlist, the promoters feel confident that they will be able speedily not only to raise, but equip and supply officers for a battalion 1,000 strong. It is the intention to offer the services of such a battalion to Lord Kitchener.

In starting rifle clubs in the district, the promoters will, I hope, have before them a well-defined plan, so that the organisations will faithfully fulfil the purpose for which they are intended. Shooting with air guns is good amusement no doubt as those marksmen who were so prominent a few years ago found, but of what practical use is it? If the members of clubs intend to become efficient marksmen they should use ordinary rifles. A difficulty, I know, is experienced in this part of the country in obtaining suitable shooting ranges, but if owners of estates were approached in the proper spirit some provision might be made for clubs.

In connection with our organisations, I understand that all persons who are eligible to join Lord Kitchener's Army are debarred from membership, and the purpose of this is obvious. In the district there are hundreds of single young men who might now be serving the country in its hour of need, and it is advisable that nothing should be done that would in any way prevent these young fellows from enlisting. Throughout the district, I believe, a good many men have answered Lord Kitchener's appeal, and that is very satisfactory. For those who must stay at home shooting practice may be deemed a necessary equipment, but all who can possibly join some of the Army organisations should do so, because they will be making themselves efficient and serving the country at one and the same time.

Some 300 men have enlisted in the Castleford district.

Messrs Rowe, of Scarcroft, have given £20 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

NEW CHAPLAIN.—The Rev. A. O'Brien Neuenham, rector of Coxwhope, has been appointed chaplain at the Wetherby Workhouse in place of the Rev. C. M. Durrant, M.A. (vicar of Wetherby), who has resigned.

TERRITORIAL OFFICER KILLED.—It is reported that Captain R. S. Ledgard, of the Yorkshire Regiment, was killed in the recent fighting. He was adjutant to the 1st Battalion Princess of Wales's Own (Yorkshire Regiment). He was gazetted to the rank of captain in March, 1911, and was appointed adjutant at the beginning of last year. He was the eldest son of Mr Armitage Ledgard, The Manor House, Thorner. Mr Armitage Ledgard is very well known in Leeds business circles, and is also a director of the Grand Hotel, Scarborough. The deceased soldier was born in 1884, and was educated at Winchester.

AMUSEMENTS.

LEEDS EMPIRE PALACE.

At the Empire Palace this week there is an excellent programme, which includes several old favourites, and One or Two is Little D'Arc, the fascinating French comedienne, with a pleasing voice and bewitching mannerisms. The changing of her dresses in full view of the audience is a startling feature of her performance. She has had a warm reception, and her rendering of "The Marseillaise" arouses much enthusiasm. That clever comedy sketch of Scottish home life, "The Conceited Bride," is greatly appreciated. The Zigzagger Quartette (three gentlemen players and a lady possessed of a splendid voice) is one of the best items on the bill. Madame Pora and Francis Kennedy, in their risky sketch, "Between Ourselves," are well received. Loquin, Laye, the smart comedian and dancer, is unfortunately unable to appear, but The Lytton Trio (two ladies and a gentleman), who give the depart turn, are pleasing singers and dancers. Victor Kells, comedian, and the four Elles, society dancers, are also on the bill.

Next week at the Empire Palace the programme will include Harry Weldon, in "The White Hope"; Marie Kendall, in her great Cockney song "Be ready," and also introducing "Show me the Gate-car," assisted by Sir McCarthy Howard Bros., wizards of the banjo, in two novelties; Goodfellow and Gregson, comedy duo; George Benson, the popular mimic; The Falcons, comedy acrobats; Fred Land, comedian; and Solo, presenting "A lesson in temperance." The latest war news and films from the front will be shown on the bioscope at each performance.

LEEDS HIPPODROME.

At the Leeds Hippodrome this week a sensational act, "The Girl and the Scala," is in the top position, and a host of pleasure-ing young lady puts a couple of seals through a clever juggling performance. A huge tank in the centre of the stage is full of water, and the lady and one of the seals finally "dived under water and in view of the audience. It is a turn out of the ordinary, and the seals are most intelligent creatures. Jimmy Britt, the ex-light-weight champion boxer of the world, tells some good yarns, and his recitations, in which he tells the story of his life, is quite to the liking of the audience. Ella Retford, Miss Retford's comedian, has two good songs; and Lawson, the man with four voices, assisted by Meona, the Hawaiian beauty, gives a delightful musical and singing act. "Street Impressions" is the title of a rollicking comedy sketch by Willie, West, and Crossley. Others appearing are The Warbelers, in "Dick Whittington"; Will Van Allen, a trick musician who deals with current topical matter about the present crisis; Clay Smith and Christine Neilson, in songs and saying; and Harry Markyee, comedian.

Next week at the Hippodrome Ella Retford, described as the "modern girl," will appear, and she will be supported by a company, including Dale and O'Malley, the popular funsters; Billy Williams, in all his latest surroundings; Mona Warwick, a dainty little lady; Mr and Mrs Gordon-Wilde, in a novelty speciality, talking and singing shadows; Florrie Elston, vocalist; Leno and Zeff, Cecil Lyle, presenting many new mysteries; and the Seven Bramusas, introducing a brass band extravaganza "Music Afloat." The latest war news and pictures will also be shown.

LEEDS GRAND THEATRE.

A very popular attraction has been booked for next week at the Grand Theatre, Leeds, the management having arranged for Miss Julia Neilson and Mr Fred Terry, supported by the New Theatre Company, to give six performances, commencing on Monday, of their well-known plays "The Scarlet Pimpernel" and "Sweet Nell of Old Drury." The plays will be given in the following order, viz.:—On Monday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday evenings "The Scarlet Pimpernel," and on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and Saturday matinee "Sweet Nell of Old Drury." Mr Fred Terry will be seen in the two characters that have made his name famous throughout the country, those of Sir Percy Blakeney in "The Scarlet Pimpernel," and King Charles II in "Sweet Nell of Old Drury." Miss Julia Neilson will give her favourite representations of "The Scarlet Pimpernel," and "Sweet Nell of Old Drury." Julia Neilson has secured a name to conjure with by theatrical managers up and down the country, and this play has never failed them. Miss Julia Neilson and Mr Fred Terry's Company bring with them the whole of the scenery and effects seen on the stage. A number of theatrical managers have abandoned their autumn tours, being unwilling to risk the possible heavy losses almost certain to be met with by every company travelling this year, but Mr Terry thought the matter out, and decided to carry out his arranged programme, at whatever cost to himself and Miss Neilson. Mr Terry says the members of his company have stood loyally by him in the past, and it is his turn now to stand by them, and so prevent his fifty people helping to swell the ranks of the unemployed.

A Selby lady of 87 is busy knitting socks for the wounded soldiers and sailors.

Mr J. H. Hoade, Bickerton, Wetherby, has sent £5 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE NOTICES.—Owing to the increased price of bacon the Wetherby Board of Guardians have decided to substitute a pea soup dinner for the inmates of the Workhouse instead of bacon.

Messrs Cockcroft's Employees—Messrs Cockcroft and Sons, the well-known Selby steel wrancher builders, have decided to give to the wives of their employees and to those entirely dependent on workmen who have gone to the front, 5s. a week and 1s. a week for each child, during the time that the bread-winners are away.

SMITH BROS
HOLD A
LARGE STOCK of MATERIALS
— SUITABLE FOR —
Red Cross & Hospital Work.
SPECIAL DISCOUNT ALLOWED FOR QUANTITIES.
BRIGGATE & COUNTY ARCADE, LEEDS.

HARRY HAYLEY,
Yorkshire Athletic Warehouse,
12, King Edward St., LEEDS
Telephone 56,1
HAS NOW IN STOCK A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF
Jerseys, Knickers, Boots, Footballs,
ETC., IN ALL QUALITIES.
HOCKEY STICKS, 2/6 to 10/6.
A FINE SELECTION OF GOLF STICKS, BALLS, Etc.
Footballs as used in International, County, & Best Leagues.
FOOTBALL BOOTS, 4/11 to 11/6.
STOCKINGS - - 1/- to 2/6 Pair.
BOXING GLOVES, BOOTS,
DANISH GYMNASTIC SHOES, Etc

BUY ADGIE'S BOOTS
"BY TEST THE BEST."
THE NEW SEASON'S FOOTWEAR HAS NOW ARRIVED.
The Street, the Country Lane, the Drawing Room, the Fireside, all are represented in our new display of
SPRING FOOT STYLES.
Please Come Round and Inspect our Display
ALL AT MODERATE PRICES.
Note the Address— ADGIE'S Wholesale & Retail Warehouse
31, NEVILLE STREET, LEEDS.
A minute's walk from City Square, down Bishopgate Street, and through Railway Arches. First Warehouse on right hand side.

REGISTERED. OPTOLINE REGISTERED.
THE GREAT CURE FOR
COUGHS, BRONCHITIS, CONSUMPTION and GENERAL WEAKNESS.
Sold by all Chemists and Stores, 1/-, 1/6 and 2/6.
OR THE MAKERS, TELEPHONE 57 CENTRAL.
J. N. HORSFIELD & SONS, 11 & 13, Sweet Street, LEEDS.

Leeds: 'Phone No. 1949. Watchmaker to the Huddersfield: " 1609. Admiralty.
William GREENWOOD,
Watchmaker and Jeweller,
92, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.
SPECIALITIES:—
DRESS, ENGAGEMENT, AND WEDDING RINGS.
W. G. makes a Handsome Present with every Wedding Ring.
Wedding Presents, Birthday Presents, and Presentations of every kind.
— AND AT —
3, DEVONSHIRE BUILDINGS, VICTORIA LANE, HUDDERSFIELD.

OUR GARDENS.

A Weekly Article specially Written for

Amateur Gardeners, Allotment Holders, &c.

By ALBERT CLARKE, Birkenshaw.

THE FLOWER GARDEN.

Window boxes, hanging baskets, tubs, and similar devices used for decorative purposes will now be so full of root that almost daily watering will be required. In most instances only a comparatively small amount of soil can be accommodated and when the plants are making free growth the amount of food contained in the soil is soon exhausted. To keep up a succession of bloom it becomes necessary to give frequent applications of liquid manure, and if chemical manure is available it should be given about once a fortnight.

Flower beds and borders are now at their best, and special efforts should be made to maintain a tidy appearance. Decaying leaves and flowers, weeds, and other litter should be picked up at least once a week. Grass edgings should be frequently clipped, and the lawns mown not a week. Strong winds may be expected any hour at this time of the year, and it is important that all tall plants should be securely staked and tied. Pansies and violas develop seed pods at a rapid rate, and these must be picked off or flowering will soon cease. A good soaking with liquid manure will help to prolong their flowering season.

HEDGES.

Privet, thorn, beech, and similar hedges should be clipped this week or next. Very little more growth will be made this year, and by clipping them now a tidy appearance is assured for some time to come. In the case of privet there will be just sufficient time for the production of very short growth, which is an advantage. The young leaves will remain fresh and green throughout the winter months, whereas, if the final clipping is delayed until later in the year, none but old leaves will be left, and these will fall after the first sharp frost.

ANTIRRHINUMS.

There are few more popular flowers at present than the antirrhinum or snapdragon. As a bedding plant it would be hard to beat. During recent years it has been much improved, and the colours of the flowers and habit of the plants generally leave little to be desired. It is seen to best advantage when planted in front of evergreen shrubs, the green background enhancing the beauty of the flowers to a remarkable degree. The light pink, salmon, orange, and yellow shades are very effective, whilst the magenta, dark pink, and dull reds are the least desirable. Seed pods should be regularly removed, as they have a weakening effect upon the plants.

PROPAGATION OF BEDDING PLANTS.

Pansies, violas, penstemons, pinks, geraniums, etc., may now be propagated. In the case of the four first-named they should be placed in a cold frame. The geraniums will be much better rooted in small pots. Four cuttings in a 3-inch pot is the system we find to answer best. The cuttings should be fairly firm, and short-jointed. A mixture of old potting soil and leaf mould, or peat, with, one part each of leaf mould and sand will serve the purpose. It should be passed through a fine sieve, and made firm round the cuttings with a dibber, whilst the magenta, dark pink, and dull reds are the least desirable. Seed pods should be regularly removed, as they have a weakening effect upon the plants.

PROPAGATION OF BEDDING PLANTS.

Pansies, violas, penstemons, pinks, geraniums, etc., may now be propagated. In the case of the four first-named they should be placed in a cold frame. The geraniums will be much better rooted in small pots. Four cuttings in a 3-inch pot is the system we find to answer best. The cuttings should be fairly firm, and short-jointed. A mixture of old potting soil and leaf mould, or peat, with

RECRUITS FROM TADCASTER AND WETHERBY.

A GREAT RECEPTION.

On Saturday large batches of recruits were brought to York from various towns, including some who came from so far distant as Newcastle-on-Tyne, but the greatest exception was accorded a party from Wetherby, who came by road, having chartered a dozen motor cars, under the commandership of Colonel Ditmas, who has rendered yeoman recruiting service during the past few weeks, Dr. Shadwell, and recruiting officers from the Tadcaster district.

The cars were headed by the Union Jack, and the occupants, fine healthy young fellows to the number of 45, bearing the imprint of active farm life, were heartily cheered along the route. Their sides and bonnets were taken as the crowds fining the route in the city, and their very enthusiasm even during the short time they paraded the streets must have acted as a stole to recruiting.

At the stage of the procession a photograph of the line of motor-cars was taken.

TADCASTER PETTY SESSIONS.

APPEALON AND TADCASTER CASES.

At Tadcaster Petty Sessions on Monday, the magistrates present were Messrs. C. B. Lamb (in the chair) and G. T. Fairfax.

The temporary transfer of the licence of the Robin Hood Inn, Tadcaster West, was granted from Mr David Lilley to Mr James Webber, of Bridon.

Amos Dalton, labourer, Tadcaster, was summoned for riding a bicycle without light on the 18th August, at Tadcaster West, and pleaded guilty. P.C. Bennett said the offence was committed at 9.30 p.m. when the Leeds Road. Defendant refused to get off his bicycle until witness got in his way. Then he rode away fast without dismounting, followed by witness. Defendant said he had been working late. He was 34 years of age, and had been in the Army. He had ridden it as stated by the constable. Defendant said he had been working late. He was 34 years of age, and had been in the Army. He had ridden it as stated by the constable but would not pass him.—Fined 1s. and costs.

Henry Dawson, cooper, of Tadcaster, was charged with being drunk and disorderly, did not appear, though he had been liberated on bail.—Supt. Slack said that Dawson was apprehended on August 27th.—The case was adjourned.

Joseph Maynard, Appleton Roebuck, was charged by Robert J. Carr for an alleged game trespass, and pleaded not guilty.

Said that on the previous Tuesday he was going down the road from Colton village when he saw the defendant near a gate. He knew he was in the field as going about the fields with a gun, so he waited a minute or two and then heard a gun go off. He went in the direction of the sound, and saw the defendant coming through one of his (witness's) fields. He had a rabbit in his hand, and appeared to have another in his pocket. A few days previously he (witness) had found a trap set with a leveret in it, and he had also found snares in the fields. Defendant, in cross-examined by witness, was a "dary, good for nothing, and would not work."—Witness: I saw him kill the rabbit.—Defendant: I did not.—Defendant argued that witness could not see into the field as the hedges were two high.—Fined 10s. and costs—one week's fool high, but witness said that he had only one hedge between him and the road.—Defendant: I was the latter 30 or 40 yards away from the gutter in the field.—Defendant stated to the Bench that he had a right to shoot rabbits in Mrs Colborne's field, and that the shot he fired was in her field. The rabbit went through the hedge, he got out, and he found a right to do, for it. It was in Mrs Colebman's field where Carr saw him. He left his gun in Mrs Colborne's field.—On the other hand Carr said defendant had the gun in his (Carr's) field.—Defendant was fined 5s. and costs.

YORKSHIRE HUSSARS FOR ACTIVE SERVICE

VISCOUNT HELMSLEY AND HIS MEN.

Recently Major Viscount Helmsley, M.P., for Thirsk and Malton Division, announced that for the duration of organizing, with the consent of Earl Feversham, Colonel of the Yorkshire Hussars—Major Lord Helmsley, M.P., is one of the officers—as a corps for service regiment, and since then energetic action has been taken by gentlemen in various parts of the county with which the men are recruited to secure volunteers. Lord Helmsley's action has been zealously seconded by Lady Helmsley, and in a very short time the necessary troopers will have been obtained. On Monday his lordship gave an interview to a reporter.

In reply to a query as to how the present members of the regiment had responded to the invitation to volunteer for foreign service, Lord Helmsley stated that nearly all the men had readily volunteered for active service, and were ready for command. Only a few of the youngest members or others who could hardly be spared for such service had failed to come forward.

"Then I may take it that the establishment of the regiment will soon be made up?"

Lord Helmsley, in reply, said: "Oh, yes, I expect we shall get the required strength before the end of this week." Applications have been received from ex-members of the regiment, and there only remain a few places to fill to bring the regiment up to its required strength. I am also expecting a few more of the Harrel ex-troopers to join us during the next few days."

"So it may be said that the appeal for volunteers has met with great success, and come up to your expectations?"

"That is so, and you might say that there are just a few special places to fill, such as saddlers and farriers, and men of that sort."

"When is the regiment expected to go on active service abroad?" asked the pressman.

"We can hardly tell when, but first of all some hard training will have to be done, and we are going into special camp for this purpose."

At the time of the interview the whole of the Hussars had volunteered for foreign service with their officers were marching en route for their camp, or picking up their kits and implementa prior to leaving the East Coast, which they have been guarding from Filey up to Scarborough. Lord Helmsley thinks that the men are now doing of the very best material available in Yorkshire or elsewhere. Most of them have been trained from time to time in regimental and brigade cavalry movements. They are nearly all excellent riders and good shots, while they possess plenty of enthusiasm for their work.

Lord Helmsley and his officers are keen on going out to meet the enemy, and are confident that, with a little preparatory and necessary training they will be able to form a good account of themselves. Each troop and section composing the regiment and representing the various districts consists of strong, healthy, athletic young fellows and they are all well mounted. After a few weeks' duty on the coast fine they look as fit and well for active service as a body of regulars.

A new comet has been located between the constellation of the Great Bear and the Twins of Hercules.

AN OLD GARFORTH RESIDENT.

A LONG LIVED FAMILY.

One of Garforth's oldest residents—Mary Wasterman—who resided with her son, Mr. J. W. Westerman, one of the best known men in the district, passed away on Monday at the ripe age of 84 years. For several centuries the Westermans have been associated with Garforth, and they appear to have been a long-lived race, Deceased's father, who was Henry Westerman, and he had a family of thirteen, and, with the exception of one son—the family blacksmith at Swillington, who died in the age of 45—they all lived to be over 80, and some even to be over 90.

The lime quarries at Garforth Cliff, which were stopped about thirty years ago, were worked by the Westerman family for a couple of centuries, and over sixty years since Mary Westerman's father controlled the undertaking. When he passed away his brother, James—Mr J. W. Westerman's uncle—took the work in hand, and he was the last of the family associated with the quarries.

"When I was a boy," said Mr J. W. Westerman, "horses and waggons came to the quarries from the Yorkshire Wolds for lime, and they used to take out the bosses, fill the waggons and then set off for home. The quarries at that time employed a good many men."

In some respects Mary Westerman, who died of senile decay, was a remarkable woman. "I don't think there is a woman in England like her," said one son. "I have never known her to have an ache or a pain, and she never took medicine. Until about a couple of years ago she never had a doctor, and then the number of visits did not exceed half-a-dozen."

"I have never known her eat beef, mutton, fowl, rabbit, hare, or fish, but she would eat pig flesh—pork, bacon, or ham, and she was fond of Yorkshire pudding and vegetables. As a matter of fact," said Mr Westerman, "I did not taste fish until I was thirty years of age, because my mother would not have it in the house. The first fish—whiting—that I had was on honeymoon when I was newly-married. I don't remember my mother ever having been at the seaside, she rarely went out of Garforth, and she never went further afield than Wakefield, where she had a sister, who died when she was about ninety years of age."

The deceased was a very energetic woman, and in her younger days she had to work hard for her living. She went into the fields potato picking, and the reward for her labours was the munificent sum of one shilling per day. Mr Westerman, who got 6d. a day for helping in the fields, went to work in the Isabella Pit at the early age of ten years, and there he was known as one of the best "hooks" in Yorkshire. To commemorate his 25 years' work the Company and superintendents presented him with a gold watch, and every year he has won the first prize offered to agents in his district, which extends from Leeds to Selby and Tadcaster.

His brother, who was of a bright and lively disposition, was one of the best known figures in Garforth, and in his younger days he did a lot of valuable work among her neighbours by attending the sick, etc.

LORD HAREWOOD AND UNEMPLOYMENT.

Lord Harewood writes:—There must be many men who would be unemployed at present or who see the prospect of being unemployed in the near future. It is to these men that I appeal to offer their country's help in the straits she is in. It is not better for them to volunteer for the Army, or later to fill up the gaps in the Territorial Force, than to stand idle in the streets of our towns and become a burden on the State, instead of a help to it?

By volunteering they not only earn pay for themselves, but ensure a provision for their families in the event of without calling on their unions or other resources to support them.

Should the worst happen, and the country be invaded by a foreign army, what shame and regret would those feel who stood aloof and refused to help their country in the hour of her sore need?

I earnestly appeal to all employers of labour, to all who have influence with men out of employment to use every effort to induce young and able-bodied men to volunteer, either for Lord Kitchener's new Army or for the Territorial Force.

Time presses, and in the presence of a quick moving and long enduring foe we cannot afford to put off till to-morrow what should be done to-day.

I am authorised by the Army Council to state that all able-bodied men from 18 to 30 should flock at once to the Regular Army for the duration of the war, and that the age for Territorial recruits is from 17 to 35.

On Monday the Consultations Committee of the Football Association voted £1,000 to the National War Relief Fund, and £250 to the Belgium Relief Fund. Further, the clubs decided to close entirely for professional players to have temporary release for war duty, and appealed to all interested in the game to help in the present crisis.

CORRESPONDENCE.

ROTHWELL LABOUR PARTY AND PUBLIC WORK

To the Editor.

Sir,—The Rothwell Branch of the Independent Labour Party has passed the following resolution, and forwarded the same to the Chairman of Rothwell Urban District Council:—

"That this branch of the Independent Labour Party urges upon the Rothwell Urban District Council the necessity of setting in motion as much public improvement as is within their power, with a view to finding employment for citizens within the area of the above Council, who are partially employed or totally unemployed during the present European crisis."

Thanking you in anticipation of your giving publicity to above, with a view to the same giving impetus to other societies to follow a similar course.—Yours, etc.,

WRIGHT STEAD, Secretary.

TO THE CRICKET LOVING PUBLIC.

(To the Editor).

Sir,—We, the undersigned, as cricketers, ask you to accord us the publicity, which only your columns can give, in order that we may make a direct appeal to the cricket-loving public on behalf of the Prince of Wales' Fund.

This Fund, which has been called into being by His Royal Highness to meet the countless cases of misery and hardship which must inevitably follow on the heels of the war, makes an irresistible and instantaneous appeal to the generosity of the public, and we, as cricketers, know that there is no public so sportsmanlike and so generous as the cricket-loving one.

As the Prince has truly said, "This is a time when we all stand by one another." All of us as a nation are members of a national team.

We have before us as we write the vision of many a fair English cricket ground packed with eager multitudes.

We have pleasant memories of seas of faces which, in happier times, have watched us play.

If only at this moment of trial we could gather in the sums which have been paid as gate-money at cricket matches, those on whom the war has laid a desolating hand would benefit indeed. The wives and families of our soldiers and sailors would at least be secure from want.

It is this thought which has given rise to this particular appeal. We all those who have watched us play, and who have cheerfully paid their half-crowns, shillings, and sixpences to the turnstile, step forward, and contribute over again their half-crowns, shillings, and sixpences to the Prince's Fund, out of gratitude for the enjoyment the cricket field has given them in the past.

Let everyone who has followed cricket recall to mind the matches he has witnessed and enjoyed, and let each one contribute according to the pleasantness of his memories. Then we shall have for those whom the war has robbed not only of happiness, but even of the means of livelihood, a truly royal sum.

Without any undue spirit of self-importance, we may perhaps say that we have contributed not a little to the interest the public takes in cricket, and therefore we make this personal appeal from ourselves to all those who love the game to send whatever they can spare to H.R.H. The Prince of Wales, Buckingham Palace, London, S.W.—Yours, etc.,

J. W. H. T. DOUGLAS.
F. R. FOSTER.
H. H. GRAHAM.
W. G. GRACE.
HARRIS.
C. P. HAWARD.
G. HIRST.
J. B. HOBBS.
G. L. JESSOP.
W. RHODES.
R. H. SPOONER.
D. F. W. STEVENS.
F. E. WOOLLEY.

RECRUITING IN VILLAGES.

(To the Editor).

Sir,—The country villages, where some of the best material is to be found, will not be reached by big meetings or eminent speakers. The best results must be had village meetings after working hours, explain in plain language the cause of the war, the issues at stake, the meaning and value of our Navy, and safe seas. They must also point to the path of duty which now lies before each man of eligible age.

From the village of West Ashton, with a population of about three hundred, up to Saturday night, when we held our meeting, there were eight men with the colours, but no recruits had joined Lord Kitchener's Army. At that meeting twelve volunteered, ten were passed fit, and left for the depot, one was rejected by the doctor, one desired to join a special corps and has since been elsewhere recruited, leaving ten who will go to the depot and enlist. In the village of Steeple Ashton, where a meeting was held on Tuesday night, twenty-three recruits joined, and there were already serving with the colours forty-two men. Thus, out of a total population in the two villages of about 800, 34 have gone, or are going, to the colours, a fair proportion to the population, if allowance is made for men above and below the age limits, and women and children.

I venture to recommend two things: (1) The simultaneous formation of a local committee of women, so that the relatives may be visited by the recruit leaves, and proper care taken of his dependents; (2) the display of big posters in prominent places in the villages, with the Royal Arms and the words "Roll of Honour" in large capitals, and underneath a description and date of the war, and the names of those who have joined—a copy of this to be supplied to every house where a member of the family is serving with the colours, and later, a framed copy to be given to each family as a permanent record of the bravery and patriotism of their relatives.—Yours, etc.,

WALTER H. LOVE.

Road Ashton, Trowbridge.

GARFORTH MINERS IN TROUBLE

KIPPAX AND LEEDS MEN'S OFFENCES.

On Tuesday at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions Herbert Johnson (53), miner, of Leeds, Ernest Kilner (17), pony driver, of Leeds, George Reed (14), pony driver, of Leeds, and James Walker (17), a pony driver at Kippax, were summoned for travelling on the North Eastern Railway without tickets.

Mr W. T. Bainbridge appeared to prosecute for the Company, and said that the four defendants were employed at the Garforth Colliery, and they travelled from Leeds each day to their work. On July 24th the four were on the Garforth Station platform when the 1.20 p.m. train to Leeds was waiting. The train was not a workmen's train, and they got in, a message being sent on to the Marsh Lane Station, where their names and addresses were taken. The excuse then gave was that they did not know that it was not a workmen's train. Mr Bainbridge said a notice had been issued at a recent sitting, and the Company published bills to show when the workmen's trains were timed to run. The workmen's tickets were only available for workmen's trains, and the offence was treated as one of travelling on the railway without a ticket.

Walter Barker, a porter at the Garforth Station, stated that on July 24th he was attending to the 1.20 p.m. train to Leeds when the defendant Johnson came up to him and asked if he and his three companions could travel by the train. Witness replied that it was not a workmen's train. When the train had gone he noticed the four defendants were missing, and he noticed the four defendants were missing, and he noticed the station-master pass to the platform. The station-master permission to travel by it. The station-master said he had not, and a message was sent to the Marsh Lane Station, where the names were taken.

George Henry Myers, ticket collector at Marsh Lane Station, said that when the ticketsWere collected the defendants handed in workmen's tickets. He told them that it was not a workmen's train and took their names in consequence of the message received from Garforth. The defendants said that they had had pay-day, and intended to travel by that train.

Johnson and Balcewell were fined 2s. 6d. and costs each, Reed 1s. and costs, and Walker, who is under age, was ordered to pay a fine of 1os. and costs.

AN ADEL MAGISTRATE AND THE WAR

YOUNG FELLOWS GOING WITH GIRLS.

Mr A. P. Baines, J.P., of Adel, writes:—As an old Australian and South African bushman, now, unfortunately, not allowed to enlist, being nearer 70 than 60 years of age, I write to ask if nothing can be done to arouse a sense of duty, patriotism, and responsibility, amongst many of our young men.

Let any one who has attended our cricket and football matches, both excellent in their way, walk, as I did on Tuesday, from Leeds to Adel, and see the well-to-do young fellows parading and sauntering about the streets, while our brave soldiers are sacrificing everything for us at the front and the very existence and safety of our nation; let such read what Lord Roberts says about them when addressing the London Fusiliers last Saturday:—"I respect and honour you more than ever I did say. My feeling for you is one of intense admiration. How very different is your action to that of the men who can still go on with their cricket and football, as if the very existence of the country were not at stake. We are engaged in a life and death struggle."

When I look at the wealth and luxury of Leeds and other large centres, what is two millions to the National Fund, and what has been raised if our very existence is at stake, and where are the many who never deny themselves any thing until forced, and who, from year to year spend with old Scrooge, "Are there no workhouses, prisons, or means of decreasing the surplus population?"

A ROUNDHAY MOTORIST IN TROUBLE.

A DANGEROUS SPEED.

Edward Thomas Broadbridge, Woodfield, Roundhay, was summoned at Scarborough on Friday for having driven a motor-car at a speed dangerous to the public, having regard to all the circumstances of the case, on the Esplanade, Scarborough, on August 23rd. Defendant, for whom Mr Alf Musser, solicitor, Leeds, appeared, pleaded not guilty.

Police Constable Shepherd, Mr John Crosbaw Wilson, and another gentleman gave evidence that, considering the number of people crossing the Esplanade at the time, the defendant was driving at a speed dangerous to the public. Police Constable Shepherd said that when he stopped the defendant he told him that he was travelling at from twenty to twenty-five miles an hour; defendant admitted that he was going 20 miles an hour, and added that there was no danger as he had perfect control of the car.

Mr Wilson, as a motorist, was emphatic that the speed was dangerous.

Defendant, on oath, said there there was no danger. He had his wife and daughter with him in the car, and was driving with every care.

Defendant was fined 30s. including costs.

The Chairman said they wished to have every consideration for visitors who motored, but they must also protect the public.

The Chief Constable though the Esplanade as a promenade would be a proper place for a speed limit to be fixed.

Mr Musser thought it might be closed to motorists altogether. It would certainly be no hardship.

BARONESS BEAUMONT'S MARRIAGE

BRIDEGROOM FOR THE FRONT.

The wedding of the Baroness Beaumont and the Hon. Bernard Howard, son of Lord Howard, of Glossop, will take place at the Catholic Church, Carlton, near Selby on Saturday next.

The Lord Bishop of Leeds, Dr. Cowgill, will officiate and sing the Nuptial Mass, assisted by the present-at-large, the Rev. Father Waugh. The wedding had been arranged for November next.

The bridegroom is a lieutenant in the Lovat's Scouts, the regiment which was raised by Lord Lovat during the Boer War, and is now embodied in the Highland Brigade, under Lord Lovat himself, and stationed at Huntingdon.

The Hon. Bernard Howard, along with the entire regiment, have volunteered for the front, and on this account, the wedding has been expedited, as it is expected that the regiment will shortly leave for foreign service.

The wedding will be a quiet one, as many of the bridegroom's friends are on active service.

The bridegroom has been granted forty-eight hours' leave of absence for the event.

The baroness will wear a wedding dress of white satin, trimmed with gold brocade, and the dresses of the bridesmaids will be of pink satin, trimmed with old lace.

The bride-smaids are the Hon. Muriel Howard, the Hon. Frances Howard, Miss Pillington, Lady Muriel Bertie, Miss Gwendoline Petre, and the Hon. Ivy Stapleton, sister of the bride.

The bride will be attended by two pages, one being the son of the Duke of Norfolk, the Earl of Arundel, and the other Master Drummond.

SELBY PETTY SESSIONS

A RAILWAY OFFENCE.

At Selby Petty Sessions on Monday the magistrates present were the Rev. B. Hemsworth (Chairman), Major Allenby, Mr T. Liversidge, Mr Mark Scott, and Mr Harris Anson.

Ernest Hutchinson, groom, of Norton, near Bridge, was charged for aiding and abetting another person to travel on the North Eastern Railway between Leeds and Selby without payment of the fare on July 13th.

Mr J. D. Simpson (N.E.R. Solicitors' Department, York) prosecuted.

Evidence was given that defendant was taking a horse to Market Weighton and travelled in the horse box, another man, who had since emigrated to America, being with him in the horse box from Leeds. Defendant produced a pass for himself but the other man was without a ticket. Defendant said he was a companion only and got in the vehicle at Selby, and he had paid the train fare for him from Selby to Market Weighton, which the ticket collector, R. Moody, accepted under protest. It was found that defendant's statement was not correct.

Defendant, who was not present in court, was fined £1 and 19s. 6d. costs.

MAGISTRATES AND ASKHAM RICHARD C.C.

THE DUTY OF YOUNG MEN.

At the Eastern Ainsty Petty Sessions at York Castle, on Saturday, before Sir John Grant Lawson (in the chair), Major Allenby, Colonel Richardson, and Mr Richard Lawson.

An application was made by Mr William Hodge, of the New Inn, Askham Richard, for an extension from 10 to 11 p.m. that night for the annual cricket supper.

The Chairman said it did not seem a desirable time for cricket suppers when all young men ought to be serving their country.

Applicant said that the men attending would be between 40 and 50 years of age. There would be no young men. Most of the young men had been taken away.

The Chairman said the application would be granted, but the magistrates would expect the applicant to see that no young men who came that they ought to be learning to defend their country and not hanging about. He should say a few kind words to the young men on their duty, and see a little influence with them.

The applicant said he had done that, and that he himself had served the country for 20 years.

The Chairman: You are just the right man for the job. It only wants mentioning to them and they will do it. Many don't seem to know a war is going on.

THE WEEK'S MARKETS.

CORN.

SELBY, Monday.—New grain in fair supply, but trade not brisk. Wheat, white, 36s. to 37s.; red samples 36s. and 37s., barley 30s. to 33s., oats 22s. to 23s., rye 27s. to 28s. 6d. per qr.

POTATOES.

SELBY, Monday.—Plenty of potatoes offering, but trade was slack. Quotations from 45s. to 50s. per ton. Retail, 2s. 3d. per hamper of six stones.

PROVISIONS.

SELBY, Monday.—Eggs 11 for 1s., butter 1s. 2d. to 1s. 3d. per lb.; chickens 4s. to 5s. per couple.

CATTLE.

SELBY, Monday.—Messrs Richardson and Son disposed of 58 beasts, 13 sheep, and 56 pigs. The usual attendance of buyers. A short supply of stock, and a good selling trade. Best beasts realising 9s. to 9s. 6d. per stone. A slow trade for stores. Few quality in-calving heifers in demand. Short supply of sheep, and a sharp trade. Bacon pigs and small stores easier to sell. Prices as follow:—Fat bullocks up to 20 cwts., fat heifers for £19 15s., fat cows to £19 15s., store cattle to £12 10s., cows in calf to £18 15s., heifers in calf to £18 15s., fat sheep to £2 15s., bacon pigs to £8, pork pigs to £5 6s., and store pigs (small) to £1 each.

TADCASTER, Monday.—Messrs Thomlinson and Son sold a splendid supply of good, well-finished bullocks and heifers. There being a good attendance of butchers and dealers a keen, good demand followed all through the sale. Best lots made a shade more money, making from 8s. 6d. to 9s. per stone. Calves dear and good to sell at 9s. to 9s. 6d. per lb. Sheep and well, making 6d. to 10d. per lb., lambs 10d. and 11d. per lb. A fair show of pigs, which sold well from 8s. to 8s. 3d., strong pigs from 7s. 6d. to 7s. 9d. per stone, store pigs from 10s. to 35s. each. Following fat beasts were sold:—Hives, sheep and lambs, 95s. pork and store pigs. Top price of fat bullocks £30 10s.; 35 bullocks sold from £23 10s. to £30 15s., fat sheep to £2 15s., lambs very satisfactory from the vendor's point of view. Mr R. Carr, Wighill, topped the sale with 3 grand bullocks, realising £30 10s., and 2 others £22 15s.; Mr. Thomas Richardson, of Healaugh, good bullocks made £24 12s. 6d., and £24 10s.; Mr R. Cross, Saxton, sold a wealthy bullocks at £28 17s. 6d., £25 17s. 6d., £24, and £24; Miss Ramsden, of Oxton Hall, sent a very choice bullocks and heifer, realising £26 10s., £25 5s., and heifer £16 12s. 6d.; Mr C. Hawkswell, of Syningthwaite, sent 2 wealthy bullocks, realising £25 15s. and £25 5s.; Mr J. W. Sadler, of Stockhill Stud Farm, sold 7 grand bullocks at £26 10s., £25 10s., £24 12s. 6d., £24 15s., £24 5s., £24, and £23 10s.; Mr Geo. Swailes, of Healaugh, sent 5 good bullocks, making £24 5s., £22 17s. 6d., £22 10s., £22 7s. 6d., and £22 5s.; Mr T. Dearlove, of Winter, of Pallathorpe, sold some choice bullocks and heifers, 3 bullocks at £25 17s. 6d., £21 5s., and Mr J. T. Dearlove, of Walton, sold 8 wealthy bullocks, realising £25 12s. 6d., £24 5s., £22 15s., £22 2s. 6d., £21 7s. 6d., £20 5s., £20 2s. 6d., £20 7s. 6d.; Mr E. Jackson, of Catterton, sold 3 choice bullocks at £25 15s., £22 15s., and £20 15s.; Mr J. T. Dearlove, Walton, four grand bullocks, £24 15s., £24, £22 15s., and £22 15s.; Mr Chas. Gyppon, Catterton, 3 grand bullocks, £25 15s., £23 17s. 6d., £23 15s., £23 15s., £18 7s. 6d., and £17 7s. 6d.; the auctioneers sold 20 bullocks at £26 5s., £24 7s. 6d., £22 bullocks at £26 5s., £24 7s. 6d., £22 10s., £22 7s. 6d., £22 5s., £22, £21 15s., £21 10s., £21 5s., and £21 2s. 6d. Fine pens of prime fat sheep from Mr J. Bromet made to 102s. each; Mr L. Sampson, 98s.; Mr Develine, 92s.; Mr Hall, Bolton Percy, 90s.; Messrs Dove, pigs from Mr Fielden made to 36s. per score; pigs from Mr Lady Hawke made to 35s.; Mr S. Jackson, to 36s.; Mr Fawcett-Oliver, 35s.; Mr Simpson, to 23s. 6d. Gilts to 40s. 6d., etc.

Mr Winston Churchill, in an interview with a representative of the United Associations of America, said the war was started, and was being maintained, by the Prussian military autocracy. This conflict was for great Britain and her self-governing colonies not obligations into which so had entered, and of loyalty towards friends in desperate need.

EVERY WOMAN
Should send two stamps for our 32 page illustrated Book, containing Valuable Information how all Blemishes and Suppressions may be entirely avoided or removed by simple means. Recommended by eminent Physicians, as the only Safe, Sure, and Effectual Remedies. Never fails. Thousands of Testimonials. Established 1870.
Mr PAUL BLANCHARD,
Claremont House, Dalston Lane, London.

"The loan is up, he said, slowly. "In default of payment thereof, the broker is authorised to take into his possession that which is deposited, to protect and look as he has never loved in all his empty, lonely life. Sal, will you marry me?"

She thrust the pawn ticket in his hand.

"It's the old number that's not redeemed—talk it," she said, wearily, and Paul Oldfield kissed her beautiful upturned face and held her in his arms, saying: "Mine—my own—by reason and right of law."

THE OLD NUMBER

The shop [illegible] afternoon was darkening, and the small [illegible] tilly, melted as it fell, making the [illegible] ver.

On one of [illegible] rners of a big city stood a [illegible] pawnbroker's shop, well, sweet notes pierced [illegible] to air and distance, and the girl held her child's hands out to [illegible] pennies offered her. Then she walked [illegible] ining to look through the [illegible] windows at the rich furs.

For some [illegible] stood; then, drawing her [illegible] from the shop, she walked [illegible] he passed and [illegible] ark street, entering one of the houses in a [illegible] of tenements.

The great hare was dimly lighted by a lamp [illegible] ve rusty stove, and [illegible] fumes of oil struck the girl unpleasantly [illegible] ment gave her pause. Before the window sat a man busily mending an old violin, while near him was a [illegible] stream with tools.

"Here, father," she said, coming over and throwing some pennies on to [illegible] "I stayed out until I had [illegible] and that is all I could get."

"You hussy! It's because you won't work that you can't get. You're as lazy and proud as your mother was—she'll [illegible] death than ask us a penny."

The girl stood by the stove, with one foot resting on the fender. It was her appearance that [illegible] roused the anger of the man. He spread the coppers in his palm and counted them.

"A shilling, you lazy good-for-nothing. How are we going to pay the rent with [illegible]?"

The girl neither answered nor showed that she had heard. When she had partly dried her feet she went to the cupboard, and, bringing some brown bread and cheese, set them on the table. She then sheltered her father's head with them, and sat down to the cheerless supper. She broke off bits of bread and cheese, and [illegible] unconscious that she was doing.

"You'll be glad enough to see your father turned out, wouldn't you? Rent coming due, and nothing to pay it with." He waited for a reply, but the girl sat, nothing to say.

"Three days more, then nothing to do but freeze and starve, and I'll be rid of you—you're old enough to see the effect. The face opposite remained unchanged [illegible]

"Sal, Sal," here the surly tone changed into a coaxing whine, "Bill Bradden was around to-day [illegible] and he said he'd marry you. Sal, you'll marry Bill Bradden, or you'll leave home."

"Home!" said the girl, and a miserable little laugh.

Nothing in the determinen expression of the girl betrayed the agitation in her mind as she quietly rose and cleared away the dishes, piling the crusts and bits of bread on the [illegible] for the birds. Suddenly a figure passed the window. In an instant the girl had sprung to the door and bolted it.

A loud rap sounded. She went on putting away the supper things. The vigorous pounding continued. Then it ceased.

She did not answer, but slowly lighted the candle, and, passing the window as it [illegible] she man stood peering in, went upstairs. She listened at the pipe-hole, and heard her father open the door to admit a visitor.

"That girl of yours is a rare one. The minute she sees me coming she runs and bolts the door in my face. It doesn't look very encouraging, eh, Garrick?"

"Just you leave matters to me. The girl's got to have some of the stubbornness knocked out of her, that's all."

The men did follow, about the cash. Its agreed and written down in black and white that you are to have the night to make up the sum."

"That's a bargain. The girl's a prize, and I'm willing to pay well for her; keep her wings, and let me have it with the straight selling."

"Let me see—this is the twelfth. Three days to-day, then [illegible] what do you say to doing the thing up to-morrow night? She'll be just as willing to go then as any other night from [illegible] Shall we go ahead?"

Then they laughed together, and shook hands. The girl knew that they could hear nothing more than the clink of glasses.

"Here, how did it fit," she half moaned. "Inside—inside I am freezing—my heart is turning to stone, and my blood is like that of water in a pond—it is not yet quite—I am think."

She heard the door open and Bill Bradden go out. Garrick remained behind the shop, she laid the bundle down, and put on her bonnet and shawl, then walked out and [illegible] ly. The tremendous face of her father as he lay in a heavy stupor in his chair, with head fallen on his breast.

"I have done it, Sal

Rothwell Courier & Times

ESTABLISHED 1873.

CHEAP PREPAID RATES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS of the following classes:—WANTED, FOR SALE, and TO LET.

Words. 1 week. 3 weeks. 6 weeks. 13 weeks
30 ... 0 6 ... 1 0 ... 1 10 ... 3 3
40 ... 0 8 ... 1 6 ... 2 0 ... 4 4
60 ... 1 0 ... 2 0 ... 3 8 ... 6 6

If Cash is not sent with advt. ordinary rates will be charged.

BUSINESS ADVERTISEMENTS.

Are charged at the following rates when ordered for not less than

13 weeks.	1s.	per inch	per insertion
26 do.	1od.	do.	do.
52 do.	8d.	do.	do.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

ROTHWELL GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL.

USUAL ENGLISH SUBJECTS, with French, Latin, and German, if desired. Next term commences, Tuesday, September 8th.

For prospectus apply Miss CASTLE, Woodlesford, Certificated Teacher, Diploma for French teaching from Leeds University, and Trinity College, London, for music.

ROTHWELL URBAN DISTRICT WAR RELIEF COMMITTEE.

A MEETING OF THE GENERAL COMMITTEE will be held on MONDAY NEXT, the 7th inst., at the COUNCIL OFFICES, ROTHWELL, at 7 p.m.

All members and societies are requested to attend as private notices are not sent out.

By order of the Committee.
H. J. BUTLER,
W. DODGSON,
Joint Secretaries.

Established 37 Years.

WM. DENTON & SON,
23, COMMERCIAL STREET, ROTHWELL,
Estate Agents and Rent Collectors.
Estates Entirely Managed. Terms on application.
Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass, etc.,
Insurance Brokers.
Quotations for any kind of Insurance Free.

WEST RIDING DISTRESS FUND.

THE GARFORTH SUB-COMMITTEE for the above Fund are urgently APPEALING for SUBSCRIPTIONS and DONATIONS which may be paid at the Council Office to

W. G. BOSHER, Hon. Sec. and Treas.

SUNSHINE VILLA, THE AVENUE, HALTON

SCHOOL FOR GIRLS, PREPARATORY SCHOOL FOR BOYS.
PRINCIPAL—Miss E. PEARSALL.
Next Term commences WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 16th, 1914.

KINDERGARTEN AND PREPARATORY SCHOOL, RECREATION HALL, CROSSGATES.
NEXT TERM COMMENCES WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 9th, 1914, when a new department will be opened as a HIGH SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.
The Principal, Miss DICKSON, will be assisted by QUALIFIED VISITING TEACHERS. Mrs Broome will be at the Recreation Hall on Tuesday, Sept. 8th, from 2.30 to 3.30 p.m., to take the names of intending pupils.
Terms on application.

BARKSTON ASH CRICKET LEAGUE.

FINAL TIE.—WILEY-SMITH SHIELD.
GARFORTH WES. v. TADCASTER A.
On SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 5th.
Kick-off at 3 p.m.
BARWICK CLUB'S GROUND.
Play to commence at 2.30 p.m.
ADMISSION 3d. E. D. PAWSON, Hon. Sec.

THORNER FEAST.

The above FEAST will be held as usual on SATURDAY, MONDAY, and TUESDAY

(September 5, 7, and 8).

Selections of music will be played each evening for dancing.

THE PICTURE HOUSE, GARFORTH

Every Evening at 7.30.
Saturday, Two Shows at 6.30 and 8.30.
THIS WEEK.
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.
THE WATCH-DOG OF THE DEEP.
A powerful two-part story of ocean life, featuring the great American Actor—King Baggot.
THE SON OF HIS FATHER.
An exceptional fine Vitagraph drama produced by the famous Lubin Company—in two parts.
NEXT WEEK.
FIRST-CLASS PROGRAMMES.
UP-TO-DATE PICTURES.
Children's Matinee, Saturday at 2.30.
Popular Prices:—2d., 4d., and 6d.

MR and MRS. TURNER
7 Lady Lane, Leeds,
and 36, Horton Road, Bradford,
Purchasers for Cash of Ladies and Gentlemen's Cast-off Clothing. All Letters and Parcels receive immediate attention. Full value given for Old Gold and Silver. Trial Solicited.
Highest Price Given.
Tel. Nos.: Leeds, 3188; Bradford, 2417.

Telephone No. 1 Garforth.

ALFRED REED.
Late Matthews,
CAB and WAGGONETTE PROPRIETOR,
GARFORTH and BARWICK-IN-ELMET.
Cabs, Waggonettes and Landaus for Hire.
Large and Small Parties Catered for.

WHEN AT HARROGATE
CALL AT
THE BLACK SWAN HOTEL,
HIGH HARROGATE, FOR REFRESHMENTS.
Wines, Beers, and Spirits of the Finest Quality.
Luncheons, Teas, Dinners.
Good Accommodation for Motorists and Cyclists.
Good Stabling.
Two Bowling Greens.
Large or Small Parties Catered for.
PROPRIETOR: H. BEEFORTH.

YOUR WEDDING
Should BE NICE whether it is Motors or Carriages. Do it with the most talked of and the most thought of in the City. 1st, about us; 2nd, our charges. HOUSTON, Clayton Lane (top of Cookridge street). Tele. 1877 Central.
"WE NEVER SLEEP."

Window Cleaning, Paintwashing
Limewashing, &c., at Moderate Charges.
EXPERIENCED MEN SENT ANY DISTANCE.
FIRTH & KENYON,
GROVE ROAD, HALTON, near LEEDS.

TENDERS.

TADCASTER UNION

CONTRACTS FOR PROVISIONS, ETC.

ALL persons desirous of CONTRACTING with the Guardians of this Union for the supply of GROCERIES, BUTCHER'S MEAT, FLOUR, OATMEAL, SALT, and FRESH BUTTER, DRAPERY, CLOTHING, BOOTS and SHOES, BRUSHES, DRUGS, COAL, and COFFINS for the WORKHOUSE at TADCASTER, and the CHILDREN'S HOME at BILBROUGH, from the 1st October, 1914, to the 31st March, 1915, are requested to deliver separate sealed Tenders at my office, at Tadcaster, before 12 o'Clock noon on SATURDAY, the 12th DAY of SEPTEMBER NEXT, endorsed "Tenders for Workhouse or Bilbrough Home Supplies," made out strictly in accordance with the printed Tender, and to send samples of the articles contracted for to the Workhouse or Home, on Monday, the 14th inst.

Forms of Tender describing the articles to be contracted for may be obtained on application at my office.

The Guardians do not bind themselves to accept the lowest or any Tender, and reserve to themselves the right to accept the whole or any portion of any Tender.

All CLAIMS against the Guardians up to and including the 30th September must be sent to me on or before WEDNESDAY, the 7th OCTOBER NEXT.

By order of the Board,
GEO. A. BROMET, Clerk.
Tadcaster, 2nd September, 1914.

RAILWAY NOTICE.

NORTH EASTERN RAILWAY.

EXCURSION TRAINS FROM LEEDS NEW STATION, CALLING AT CROSSGATES AND GARFORTH.

Monday, 7th September, 6.20 a.m. (calling at Crossgates only), to York, Malton, Scarborough, Pickering, and Whitby. 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, and Scarborough. Wednesday, 9th September, 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, and Scarborough. 12.45 p.m. to Selby, Market Weighton, Driffield, and Bridlington. Thursday, 10th September, 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, and Scarborough. Saturday, 12th September, 12.15 p.m. to York, Malton, Pickering, Scarborough, Grosmont, and Whitby. 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, and Scarborough. 12.45 p.m. to Selby, Market Weighton, Driffield, and Bridlington.

For further particulars see bills.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH, EXTRACTIONS, Etc.

Mr. J. DUWORTH'S
DENTAL ROOMS,
CECIL HOUSE, BURLEY LODGE TER RACE, HYDE PARK ROAD, LEEDS.
Advice Free. Hours—10 to 8.
and at
16 Austhorpe Road, Crossgates,
Every Friday, 2 to 7.30 p.m. Other hours by appointment.

Painless Extraction. Nitrous Oxide Gas administered.

If your Hearing is Defective, read this :-

The adjustable Earphone, for which we are the sole agents throughout Yorkshire, will enable you to hear perfectly.

There are many thousands in use already, and delighted wearers are daily thanking us for the help they are deriving.

Recommended by the Medical Faculty.

A personal demonstration is invited, and will place no obligation upon you.

CALL OR WRITE FOR BROCHURE.

HEYWOOD,
Eyesight Specialists, and Earphone Experts,
20, DUNCAN STREET, LEEDS.

JOHN WATSON & Co.,
34, CALL LANE, LEEDS

See our Special Blue Lounge Suit
Made to Measure in Fine Quality Serge,
Easy Terms £2 2s. Cash 38/6
Well Worth 50/-

OUR SCARBORO' COSTUMES
Are made to Measure in all Wool Navy Coating Serge. Coat Lined Silk.
Satin Collar, Lined Skirt.
Cash 30/- Easy Terms 33/6
Patterns and Particulars on Application.

— TRY —
SANGFORD'S CROWN VINEGAR,
Pickles, Health Salt, and Baking Powder.
ALL ABSOLUTELY PURE.
SANGFORD & Co., Ltd.
LEEDS.

SALES BY AUCTION.

WETHERBY AUCTION MART

ON MONDAY NEXT.
Messrs THOMLINSON & SON
Will Sell by Auction—
90 to 80 Fat Bullocks and Heifers.
100 to 110 Prime Fat SHEEP.
50 to 70 Fat and Store PIGS.
THOMLINSON & SON, Auctioneers

ON MONDAY NEXT AT 12 O'CLOCK.
WHITKIRK LIVE STOCK AUCTION MART
(Near to Crossgates Station and within four miles of Leeds).

Messrs BARTLE & SON
Will sell by Auction, in strict accordance with the conditions posted at the Mart—
250 HEAD OF STORE CATTLE, including—
75 NEWLY CALVEN and PRESENT CALVING COWS and STORE BEASTS
50 PRIME FAT BULLOCKS, HEIFERS, and COWS.
20 VEAL and STORE CALVES.
300 PRIME FAT SHEARLINGS, HOGGS, and EWES.
150 BACON, PORK, and STORE PIGS.
Auctioneers' Offices: Garforth, near Leeds. (Tel. No. 26).

THE AUCTION MART, WHITKIRK.

THE NEXT SALE OF HORSES will be held on WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 16th. Entry Forms must be sent to the Auctioneers' Offices: GARFORTH. BARTLE & SON, Auctioneers

W. A. F. BURROWS & CO.,
Auctioneers and Valuers,
BOND PLACE, LEEDS.
(Opposite Yorkshire Penny Bank).
Sales of every description conducted on the most reasonable terms.
Valuations made for all purposes.
To Heads of Families, Private Buyers, Dealers, and others.
Various Stocks of Drapery, Boots, and Shoes, Hosiery, and Underclothing always on hand, and may be purchased privately at any time.
Goods on View. Public Inspection Invited.

Messrs J. CUNDALL & SON,
AUCTIONEERS and TENANT-RIGHT VALUERS,
SHERBURN, E.R., YORK

J. ROBINSON & SONS,
King Charles' Croft,
LEEDS.
TELEPHONE No. 1522.
Catalogues free on Application.

MOWERS, HORSE RAKES, SWATHE TURNERS, HAYMAKERS, HARVESTERS &c.
By all the Best Makers at Lowest Cash Prices.

Established 1885. By Royal Appointment. Established 1885.
GENERAL
Accident Fire and Life Assurance Corporation, Ltd.

PERSONAL ACCIDENT and SICKNESS Policies of all kinds. Liberal Benefits and conditions. Low Premiums.
FREE FIRE INSURANCE every sixth year to householders and private property owners.
COMBINATION POLICIES covering the requirements of householders in connection with risks of Fire, Burglary, and accidents to servants.
THREE POPULAR FORMS of Life Policy, including guarantee options.
Workmen's Compensation,
Motor Car, Burglary, Fidelity Guarantee,
Driving Accidents, Live Stock,
Plate Glass, and Fire-proof Insurances.

Chief Offices—General Bdgs., Perth, Scotland. General Buildings, Aldwych, London, W.C. The Chief and Shropshire Independent Offices. Assets exceed £2,500,000. Income over £1,000,000.
General Manager — F. NORIS-MILLER, J.P.

For TOWN or COUNTRY.
For BUSINESS or PLEASURE.
THE FABOR LOUNGE SUIT
Fabor 45/-
Is the Hall-mark of Perfect Tailoring.
LOUNGE SUITS from 33/-
COSTUMES from 2 Guineas.
Tailor Made & Perfect Fit Guaranteed.
24, Queen Victoria Street, and County Arcade, LEEDS.

FOR FUNERALS.
CABS AND CARRIAGES FOR WEDDINGS.
J. T. BUCKTON, Proprietor.
10, Basinghall Street, Boar Lane, and Telephone 1444. double feet 1431
ALWAYS READY.
LEEDS UNDERTAKERS

Rothwell Courier & Times

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 5th, 1914.

Are Britons really grateful to the men who fight the country's battles? Militarism, as it is understood on the Continent, have not the remotest chance of making any headway here, unless the nation plays completely into the hands of a small section of people, but greater recognition should be given to the men who indulge the profession of arms, and they should be assured of an honoured place in the community. The British soldier—the product of no conscript system—has, by his ability and courage, again proved that he is second to the very best of the fighting men of the world, and he has worthily upheld the great traditions of the Army. He knows his duty and he does it, and the usual judgment on our soldiers is "The men are splendid." Nevertheless, the nation is prone to forget the debt it owes those men, who, for a paltry daily wage, have maintained the prestige of the British Empire. Very well may the soldier know the view held of them by many people in "the piping times of peace"—when no demand is made upon the nation to defend itself against the aggression of an ambitious and unscrupulous foreign foe, and the wonder is that so many men who could achieve success in other walks of life enter the Army. Men have been ostracized simply because they have worn the King's uniform, and they have been compelled to feel very keenly that they are regarded as not being altogether fit to associate with a certain class of the civilian population. It is no use denying knowledge of the fact, because almost everyone has heard Britain's fighting men referred to in disparging terms, and then when the hour of trial comes they look to the despised common soldiers to save their homes and their possessions. The British soldiers are wonderful, and they would be the very first to disclaim all right to be regarded as such; but they must have qualities of the best, because they have never failed the country yet. Victory and defeat they have known, but the spirit which has animated them has always been the same. It is easy to applaud when deeds of heroism are performed on the battlefield, but it is more difficult to pay to the Army its due tribute when the nations have ceased from striving and when the fighting men are at rest. What people have got to recognise, first of all, is that the British soldiers are not the mere scum of the country—that they are, at any rate, equal in all respects to our artizan population, and that, although there are black sheep among them, they deserve, and have a right to expect, the respect of the nation. Some of our public men have, unfortunately, done our soldiers no good at the present time, and it is surprising that they should have gone out of their way, when the best of the manhood of the country is volunteering for active service in the defence of the Empire, to disrepute. Boards of Guardians have passed the following resolution :—"That in view of the large number of able-bodied vagrants recently admitted to the workhouse between the ages of eighteen and thirty, who appear to be generally living on the community, the attention of the Local Government Board and the War Office be drawn to the matter, with a request that legislation be passed for the purpose of utilising in some way the services of these able-bodied men for the country's need at this time of national stress." These men are advocating compulsory service for others—men, be it noted, by no least fitted, without long training, for military service. For years we have advocated the establishment of labour colonies for vagrants, who would thus, under proper supervision, be weaned from the evil, but that is very different from advocating compulsory military service for them. The tramp is not of the stuff of which fighting men are made, and he would be the very last to voluntarily take his place in the fighting line, because his ways are not those of other men. He is a parasite, living on the community, and he would be satisfied so long as there was a community to live upon. To class a man of this type with the British soldier is an insult to the latter, and it is strange that some of the keener-sighted Guardians did not see this. Lord Rochester's appeal is not for waifs but for men, yet the Guardians have the hardihood to offer him vagrants. If any of the Guardians in question are suitable for active service they would show a more patriotic spirit by enlisting, rather than advocating such a step, and the resolution indicates, but they are too comfortable at home, and they would rather trust the defence of the country to tramps. To give these men liberty they probably did not give the resolution full consideration; they know men are required for the Army, and they thought that it was a fine opportunity of getting rid of the male tramp population who live at the country's expense. But greater questions are involved, and it would be a sorry day for this country were it dependent on the Weary Willies and Tired Tims to fight its battles. Tadcaster Guardians, to their credit be it said, would have nothing to do with the resolution.

VICAR'S APPOINTMENT.—The Rev. Frederick Peel, owing to ill-health, has resigned the living of Headingley, which he has held since 1880, and the Archbishop of York has appointed as his successor the Rev. Henry Theodore Ledgard. Mr. Ledgard has held the living of Acaster Malbis since 1908.

Lady Linlithgow is interesting herself in the Linlithgow branch of the Soldiers and Sailors' Families' Association, and at a recent meeting it was proposed to secure members of the Red Cross Society, Hopetoun House, Dalkeith, Cramond House, Wemyss Castle, Lord Inderd, monk houses, great and small, over-looking the Firth of Forth, have been offered, and several accepted, as hospitals or convalescent homes for the sick and wounded, and are partly or wholly fitted up accordingly.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Communications intended for insertion must be authenticated by the name and address of the writer—not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. No notice will be taken of anonymous letters, and rejected communications cannot be returned.

Notice of Births and Deaths charged 1s. each prepaid. They must be authenticated by the name and address of the sender.

Notices of marriages are charged at the rate of 2s. 6d. each.

"In Memoriam" Notices 1s. each, and 6d. extra for all matter up to four lines.

MARRIAGE.

SILVER WEDDING.

JACKSON—ARTHUES.—Sept. 3rd, 1889, by the Rev. J. Clarke, vicar of St. Mary's Church, Tadcaster, Mr Jos. Thos. Jackson, Post Office, High Street, South Milford, to Miss A. A. Arthurs, of Stutton-on-the-Wold, Gloucestershire.

DEATHS.

STATHER.—September 1st, at Newfield, Ledstone, Elizabeth Stather, widow of the late Henry Stather.

WEBSTER.—Bertie, the dearly loved son of Luke and Ann Elizabeth Webster, of Manor House, Kippax, born June 12th, 1899, died September 1st, 1914.

"Asleep in Jesus."

IN MEMORIAM.

NICHOLSON.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Sarah Ann Nicholson, who died September 1st, 1912.

"A day of remembrance said to recall,
A dearly loved mother missed to us all;
For all of us she did her bitst,
May God grant her eternal rest."
From Son and Daughter.

Mr and Mrs Capper wish to thank all kind friends for their sympathy in their sad bereavement.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT NEWS.

ROTHWELL

THE LATE MR WILLIAM ABBISHAW.—Mr William Abbishaw, of Flockton Villa, Wood Lane, Rothwell Haigh, a retired colliery engineer, left £5,336.

LEEDS WEST RIDING PETTY SESSIONS.—The Leeds Borough and the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday were Col. A. M. Sagar-Musgrave (in the chair), Messrs J. R. Cross, H. Evans, P. H. Booth, B. Pickard, and Ald. Braithwaite.

SALVATION ARMY.—At the meeting of the local corps of the Salvation Army on Monday, special prayers were offered on behalf of His Majesty's Army and Naval Forces engaged in the war. In the evening Brigadier Bennett, of Leeds, paid the corps a visit.

Patent List compiled by John E. Walsh, Chartered Patent Agent, of 25, Royal Exchange, Boar Lane, Leeds, and Crossley Street, Halifax:—Application—G. W. Ibbotson and T. Tolson, Dewsbury, an improved safety guard for laundry wringing machines. Application completed—T. Roberts, Castleford, screw stoppers for bottles, etc. Patent accepted—J. W. Leadbeater, Doncaster, treatment and utilisation of peat (addition).

COMO KILLED.—A sad fatal accident occurred in Hunslet, Leeds, on Wednesday night, when a six-year-old child, Florence Wingfield, of 11, Organ Yard, Hunslet Road, was knocked down by a motor-car. Police-constable Smith made answer, "Friend," and "should not proceed until receiving an answer from the sentry." It is also intimated that persons found committing wanton mischief, or unauthorised persons approaching or trespassing render themselves liable to be fired upon.

WAR AND TEMPERANCE.—On Sunday afternoon the Crossgates Green, and the British Women's Temperance Association held their usual outdoor Feast meeting on the Green (by kind permission of Mr Johnson). Mr Tindale Rippon presided, and spoke of the exceptional circumstances under which they were met. Mr John Crosbill, B.Sc. (Leeds), in opening, spoke of his difficulty in filling a position which for several years was occupied by Mr Dyson, whose exploits in the Temperance movement had ever known, the late Mr W. Pearson—to himself, as to most of them, a dear personal friend, and one to whom he owed much. Temperance, of the war, he said all their best endeavours were needed to prosecute it, and to bring it as speedily as possible to a favourable conclusion. To some them out-of-doors meetings, and to-all it call for some sacrifice. The Government called for young and efficient men as soldiers, and to all for the conservation of foodstuffs and the avoidance of waste. For physical efficiency the doctors were becoming more and more convinced of the necessity for abstinence from intoxicating liquors, but at this moment the evidence of Lord Kitchener, Roberts, and Wolseley, and Evelyn Wood had more weight. Lord Kitchener precluded alcoholic liquors at the front, and magnificent victory at Omdurman, with the happiest results. Lord Roberts had spoken and written often of the evil effects of drink upon the troops, and the desirability of total abstinence as a help to efficiency." Lord Wolseley declared that as soldiers the teetotalers were much more efficient, capable of doing more work, marching, etc., than the drinkers. "Give me," said he, "an army of teetotalers and I will lead them anywhere." All these and many other acknowledged experts had testified in various ways to the improvement to efficiency from drink. They were all proud of the help the Colonies were offering and sending. One of the finest gifts was Canada's contingent, but of finest but what it must one think of a country that, while supplying such a gift, destroyed as much grain every three weeks, year in and year out, for that was their position. Every year they destroyed as many destroyed 20 times as much food as that magnificent gift from Canada. Here was a chance to conserve the food supply, and the simplest way to achieve it was for all to abstain from drink. The food would be needed to feed the hungry men, women, and children. The time was now come for the client drinkings so be (the speaker) appealed to them to start their sacrifice by giving up drink, and by that one act improve themselves physically, morally, and mentally, whilst at the same time helping the large principal attractions will be "The watch-dog of the deep," a powerful two-part story of ocean life, and "The son of his father," in an exceptionally fine western drama. A first-rate programme will be submitted next week.

MINERS' GENEROUS ACTION.—A generous offer has been made by the employees of the Allerton Bywater Colliery towards the local War Fund. The contributions of one penny a week contributed to the Cricket and Football Club, and one penny a week given to the Motor Ambulance Fund, in addition to an extra penny a week, are to be devoted to the War Fund, which will bring in nearly £30 a week.

CRICKET.—Playing in the Pontefract and District League on Saturday, Allerton Bywater had a match with Featherstone on the latter's ground. Scores:—Featherstone—Ward o, Holme 6, Mills 43, Denton 24, Trafford 87, Stubbs 0, Norfolk 4, Hill 4, Doughty 20, Kitson (not out) 13, Stubbs 1, extras 5: total 171. Allerton Bywater:—Dooley 32, Milner 3, Simpson (not out) 66, Moscroft 0, Wall 13, extras 13: total (for 4 wkts.), 159.

BOWERS ALLERTON

Mr R. W. Bower has given £500 to the Leeds Lord Mayor's Fund.

RELIEF FUND.—A collection from the teachers and scholars made at the Mission Sunday School on Sunday afternoon amounted to over 30s. This was in connection with an appeal to Sunday Schools issued by the Leeds Sunday School Union for help for the Prince of Wales' Relief Fund. A further collection is to be made next Sunday.

A GOOD EFFORT.—As a means of raising money in the district for the Relief Fund, on Friday a pie supper on a fairly large scale was held in the Mission Schoolroom, and pies were set at least 100 persons present. Messrs W. Bullock, J. Oubridge, W. S. Blackburn, W. Blackburn, H. Sillistone, and S. Stockwell performed the duties of carvers, with the Misses Mesdames Lilley, Bullock, Milner, Collinson, and H. Charlston. The repast was well enjoyed. A musical evening followed, and Misses Blackburn, Parker, and G. Ward, and Mr John Burns contributed songs, while Mr F. Bullock rendered a violin solo. Miss Spink was the accompanist. Mr W. S. Blackburn presided over the gathering. A vote of thanks to the ladies and gentlemen by any way was passed, on the call of Mr Walter Blackburn, seconded by Mr Oubridge. The effort was quite successful, £7 clear profit being realized.

BROTHERTON

MEDICAL CHARITIES.—Brotherton United Brass Band and Working Men's Club have sent £6 to Leeds Infirmary. A sum of £5, collected at Brotherton Church, has been sent to the same institution.

CROSSGATES

LITERARY SOCIETY.—The session of the Literary Society should begin next month, but it has been decided, owing to the war, to postpone the opening to a later day. The Crossgates Baptist Church Fellowship meetings will commence at the end of October.

BOWLING.—On Saturday afternoon Crossgates and Crossgates Recreation Hall had a match on the Crossgates green, and the latter won by 210 to 103. Details (Crossgates names first):—G. Darby 21 v. A. Bowes 18, A. Hughes 21 v. F. Johnson 7, J. A. Rymer 21 v. E. Coates 8, L. Connor 21 v. W. Elliot 18, F. Hardcastle 21 v. J. Cook 14, H. Burnett 21 v. P. Hartley 14, W. Holdsworth 21 v. W. Baxter 6, C. Holiday 21 v. E. Cobb 8, I. Semper 21 v. H. Hoyle 9, and F. W. Jubb 21 v. A. Vinall 1.

A WARNING.—It is desirable that public attention should be directed to a notice which has been issued by the Chief Constable of Leeds (Mr. W. Burns Lindley). This is in the form of a poster, copies of which will be displayed at the approaches to certain parts of the city, which have been placed under military protection. A warning is given that armed guards are in the vicinity, and that passengers, whether vehicular or pedestrian, should stop immediately when challenged. Action must answer, "Friend," and "should not proceed until receiving an answer from the sentry." It is also intimated that persons found committing wanton mischief, or unauthorised persons approaching or trespassing render themselves liable to be fired upon.

WAR AND TEMPERANCE.—On Sunday afternoon the Crossgates Green, and the British Women's Temperance Association held their usual outdoor Feast meeting on the Green (by kind permission of Mr Johnson). Mr Tindale Rippon presided, and spoke of the exceptional circumstances under which they were met. Mr John Crosbill, B.Sc. (Leeds), in opening, spoke of his difficulty in filling a position which for several years was occupied by Mr Dyson, whose exploits in the Temperance movement had ever known, the late Mr W. Pearson—to himself, as to most of them, a dear personal friend, and one to whom he owed much. Temperance, of the war, he said all their best endeavours were needed to prosecute it, and to bring it as speedily as possible to a favourable conclusion. To some them out-of-doors meetings, and to-all it call for some sacrifice. The Government called for young and efficient men as soldiers, and to all for the conservation of foodstuffs and the avoidance of waste. For physical efficiency the doctors were becoming more and more convinced of the necessity for abstinence from intoxicating liquors, but at this moment the evidence of Lord Kitchener, Roberts, and Wolseley, and Evelyn Wood had more weight. Lord Kitchener precluded alcoholic liquors at the front, and magnificent victory at Omdurman, with the happiest results. Lord Roberts had spoken and written often of the evil effects of drink upon the troops, and the desirability of total abstinence as a help to efficiency." Lord Wolseley declared that as soldiers the teetotalers were much more efficient, capable of doing more work, marching, etc., than the drinkers. "Give me," said he, "an army of teetotalers and I will lead them anywhere." All these and many other acknowledged experts had testified in various ways to the improvement to efficiency from drink. They were all proud of the help the Colonies were offering and sending. One of the finest gifts was Canada's contingent, but of finest but what it must one think of a country that, while supplying such a gift, destroyed as much grain every three weeks, year in and year out, for that was their position. Every year they destroyed as many destroyed 20 times as much food as that magnificent gift from Canada. Here was a chance to conserve the food supply, and the simplest way to achieve it was for all to abstain from drink. The food would be needed to feed the hungry men, women, and children. The time was now come for the client drinkings so be (the speaker) appealed to them to start their sacrifice by giving up drink, and by that one act improve themselves physically, morally, and mentally, whilst at the same time helping the large principal attractions will be "The watch-dog of the deep," a powerful two-part story of ocean life, and "The son of his father," in an exceptionally fine western drama. A first-rate programme will be submitted next week.

Colonel Gascoigne has decided to allow the wives of men employed at Garforth Colliery who have joined H.M. Army 5s. a week, with 2s. a week for each child.

A GOOD RESPONSE.—The young men of Garforth have made a striking response to Lord Kitchener's appeal, and up to Wednesday no fewer than seventy residents of the urban area or employees at Garforth Colliery had joined the Army. Others are anxious to enter the service of the country, and the number of recruits will probably be largely increased in a few days.

BOWLING.—Garforth W.M. played their return match with Garforth Cons. and won by 132 points, the scores being 210 and 78. Details (W.M. names first):—C. Baxter 21 v. H. Bramham, 2; J. Whitley 21 v. W. Cook 5, W. H. Monks 21 v. J. Barker 20, T. Simpson 21 v. F. Sedgwick 0, G. Bramham 21 v. W. H. Phillipson 14. J. Cockren 21 v. W. O. T. Cockerham 21 v. H. Marginson 4, A. Reed 21 v. H. Dransfield 14, W. Yeardsle 21 v. H. Hewitt 14, and M. Morfitt 21 v. W. Dixon 3.

GARFORTH DISTRESS COMMITTEE.—Recently a sub-committee was appointed for Garforth urban area in connection with the West Riding Distress Committee, and the committees are representative of all public bodies and various organizations in the district. Mr J. W. Dobson (Chairman of the Urban Council) is chairman of the committee, and Mr W. G. Sayner is acting as hon. sec. and treasurer. The committee have got to work, and as their first business is to raise funds, they have decided to make a personal appeal to the inhabitants for donations. The undersigned workmen at the Sisters and Isabella Pits have decided to contribute threepence per man and three to fivepence per boy weekly so long as circumstances render it necessary, and the directors of Garforth Picture House have promised to give one per annum a month for their benefit. The following donations have already been received or promised:—Mrs. Gascoigne, £10; Mr J. W. Dobson, £5; Mr R. Routledge, £5; Mr T. E. Wilford, £5; Mr Fenton Jno. Wordsworth, £5; Mr E. R. Archer, £3 3s.; Mr A. E. Carr, £3; Mr T. S. Slater, £3 2s.; Mr R. Routledge, jun., £2 2s.; Mr E. W. Ogden, £2; Mr J. H. Dykes, £2 1s. 18.; Mr H. Gascoigne, £1; Mr H. W. Powell, £1; Mr W. G. Booher, £1; from other sources, 11s. 6d. The money raised will be used for the purpose of alleviating distress caused by the war, and it will be distributed under the direction of the West Riding Distress Committee, who are working in conjunction with the National Relief Fund.

HALTON

The Waterloo Main Colliery Co. have given £250 to the Leeds Lord Mayor's Fund.

The indoor servants and gamekeepers at Temple Newsam have sent £3 os. 6d. to Leeds Lord Mayor's Fund.

KIPPAX

PARISH CHURCH.—A special service for women was held in the church on Sunday afternoon. The address was given by the Vicar (Rev. E. B. Smith), his subject being "In time of War."

DRINK.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Friday William Frost, a miner, of Kippax, was summoned for having been drunk and disorderly. P.C. Gough stated that about 11.30 p.m. on Friday, August 21st, he was on duty at Peacock Hill, Kippax, where he saw the defendant, who was very drunk and using bad language. A fine of 2s. 6d. and costs was imposed.

LANGUAGE.—On Tuesday at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions David Clayton, miner, of Kippax, was summoned for having used obscene language. P.C. Alderwaigh stated that about 8.30 p.m. on Saturday, August 22nd, he was on duty in High Street, Kippax, when he heard the defendant making use of obscene language. A fine of 5s. 6d., including costs, was imposed, as defendant did not appear.

RECRUITING.—A public meeting was held in the field known as Ober Lands on Wednesday evening. There was a large attendance, and the Infield Prize Band was present. Short speeches were made, and urged the young men to answer the call to defend the country. Mr G. H. Wheeler, M.P., was the principal speaker, and he touched on the origin of the war, and emphasised the necessity there was for young men between the ages of 18 and 35 joining the army at the present time. He was supported by the Rev. F. Wood, Mr. J. Smith, and Mr. E. Parkin, J.P. The Kippax Old Band played along the principal street, and accompanied the singing of the National Anthem in the field.

PARISH COUNCIL.—This Council held a special meeting on Wednesday evening. Mr S. R. Silverwood presided, and the other members present were Mr W. Mellor, Mr J. Cripwell, Mr Hall, Mr W. A. Dickenson, Mr R. Johnson, Mr Mackintosh, and Mr G. Cooper, with the Clerk (Mr W. Cripwell). The Chairman stated the object of the meeting was to consider the steps that should be taken for the formation of a Distress Committee for Kippax. A letter was read from the Clerk of the District Council bearing on the matter, and stating that the local committees when formed should work in conjunction with the Tadcaster Committee, and in connection with the West Riding Committee and the National Committee. All money paid out for relief of distress arising from the war by the Tadcaster Committee would be received from the National Fund.—Mr Cripwell: As some industries are not working half-time there are bound to arise cases of distress. It is feared that a partial employment should be dealt with.—Mr Dickenson: Tadcaster takes the responsibility and the local committees find the needy cases. It was agreed to have another meeting as soon as possible, and invite two representatives from each Friendly Society, the working-men's clubs, the Medical Charities' Committee, and the churches to attend.

EDUCATION COMMITTEE.—The monthly meeting of this committee was held on Wednesday.—Mr E. Parkin, J.P., presiding. The other members present were Mr J. W. Blackburn (Kippax), Mr Hall, Mr James Hudson, Mr J. Cripwell, Mr W. Mellor, Mr S. R. Silverwood, Mr J. Hardingt, Mr J. Farrant, Mr A. Atack, and Mrs Lowther, with the Clerk (Mr Powell). The increase of teachers' salaries in the various schools in the district as recommended by the County Authority were considered.—Mr Atack: What is our position in regard to these recommendations?—Have we any alternative other than accepting the recommendations.—The Chairman: To accept the recommendations. That is our position.—Mr Blackburn: What is the object of granting these increases? What have we to guide us?—We should have a principle to work on.—The Chairman: The aim of the County Council is that the teacher should attain to the minimum salary obtaining elsewhere. As a matter of fact, these increases will be given whether we wish it or not.—Mr Silverwood: I take it that the minimum salary must be the guiding principle, and this is the object aimed at evidently.—The Clerk: What is given to the grantee we also take into consideration the ability of the teacher.—The recommendations as to increase of teachers' salaries were agreed to. The committee confirmed the appointment of Miss S. A. Dickenson as assistant teacher at the Kippax Council School. In regard to the provision of meals to the school children, in view of the present crisis, the Clerk stated that meals could be given to the children during holidays, and after consideration the committee decided to adjourn the adoption of the Act. It need should arise immediate steps would be taken to meet it. The results of the examination of the county scholarships were given. In the boys' department the successful students were William Clough and Horace Plows. Miss M. A. Bennett passed the examination in connection with the girls' department.

OULTON

THE HALL.—Major Calverley has offered Oulton Hall to the Government to use for any purpose they may think fit. It is not unlikely that the place will be used for the housing of Belgian refugees.

LADIES BUSY.—On Monday the ladies' association in the Oulton and Woodsford War Fund were busy making pillow cases. They are at present only working one day per week, instead of three; this is with the idea of providing work for those who are unemployed with work. Many garments for the children of those who are away at the front have been made. The Lord Lieutenant's increase, the local troop of Boy Scouts materially assisting with their week-end collections. On Saturday they collected £3 8s., which, together with the previous week's collection, made a total of £5 4s. 7d.

A CLERGYMAN AND FOOTBALL.—Preaching at Holy Trinity Church, Rugby Lane, Leeds, on Sunday night, on "A Fight to a Finish," the Vicar (the Rev. J. H. Dykes, formerly of Oulton), himself a noted footballer in his day, said he felt that if as this crisis in our history young Englishmen were encouraged and bribed by the managers and committees to turn a deaf ear to their country's call, if they were led to prefer the honours of the football field to those of the battle field, in order that they might stop at home and put money into the coffers of their respective clubs, then professional football would show itself accursed, and would for ever stink in the nostrils of every honest and unsophisticated man and boy. Blackburn had shown the right spirit and the right example. If Leeds City and the Leeds Northern Union clubs attempted to play their full strength, it would be to the eternal disgrace both of the players and the management.

WESLEYAN CHURCH.—Special services were held at the Wesleyan Church during the week-end in aid of the Foreign Missions. At the morning and evening services on Sunday the preacher was the Rev. H. Whitehead, of Handsworth. At each of the services the choir rendered an anthem, and a solo was given by Miss Kate Ellis, of Rothwell. In the afternoon the young people gave "The story of a hundred years ago," and those taking part being attired in costume to represent the period. Mr C. M. Thomlinson, of Rothwell, presided, there being a good attendance. On Monday afternoon a sermon was preached by the Rev. E. O. Murtin, of Leeds, who has been a missionary in China for about fifteen years. Mrs Hutchinson, of Woodlesford, gave a solo. Tea was served in the schoolroom, after which the annual missionary meeting was held. Mr A. Fieldhouse, of Huddersfield, presided, and the speakers were the Rev. E. O. Martin, the Rev. J. Hutchinson, and the Rev. M. Phillipson, B.A.

CRICKET.—Playing in the Rothwell and District League the Oulton first eleven were at Carlton on Saturday, when an interesting game was witnessed. Scores:—Oulton—F. Wright, c. Fozzard, b. Sykes, 1; R. Higgins, c. Corns, b. Sykes, 26; S. Knight, c. and b. Illingworth, 2; W. Butterworth, b. Sykes, 10; A. E. Wright, c. Laurence, b. Illingworth, 1; W. Hutchinson, b. W. Broom, 7; B. Walker, b. Sykes, 0; P. C. Higgins, c. and b. Sykes, 31; R. V. Higgins, not out, 6; H. Cope, b. W. Brown, 0; C. Higgins, b. Sykes, 2; extras, 7; total, 96. Carlton—L. Brown, b. Cope, 13; W. Newton, run out, 44; J. Illingworth, c. Cope, b. G. Brown, 0; Higgins, b. Cope, 0; H. Corns, b. Cope, 4; B. Butterworth, b. Cope, 5; A. Sykes, not out, 17; E. Fozzard, lbw, b. Knight, 5; S. Laurence, not out, 0; extras, 7; total (7 wickets), 97. For Oulton H. Cope took five wickets for 21 runs. Oulton A were at home to the Carlton A team. The latter inflicted a crushing defeat on their opponents. Scores:—Carlton—R. Ellis 21, A. Dixon 1, A. Austin 6, J. Ashton 2, W. Ashton 14, H. Hardwick 1, Allen Austin 42, J. Nunn 39, E. Sefton 11, W. Fox (not out) 13. Extras, 10—total, 160. Oulton—C. Butterick 2, S. Swift 0, W. Miller 16, C. Higgins 0, T. Jones 0, S. Lockwood 0, E. Parkson 0, P. Nettleton 0, J. Brown (not out) 2, G. F. Higgins 1, G. Wright 0, extras 2—total 23.

ROUNDHAY

MR N. Nichols, of Roundhay, has given £20 to Leeds Lord Mayor's Fund.

A sum of £17 was collected at Ladywood Wesleyan Church, Roundhay, for the Lord Mayor's Fund. Mr and Mrs Charles J. Berry, of Roundhay, have given £10.

GRENFORD.—The Lord Mayor of Leeds, Mr E. Grenford, has intimated that he will defray the cost of raising the new "Pals" Battalion, which is to be called the City of Leeds Battalion. His lordship has already subscribed £2,500 to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

WEDDING.—The marriage took place at St. Robert's Church, Pannal, of Henry Dixon, second son of Mr G. E. Dixon, Roundhay, and Dorothy, youngest daughter of Mr Edwin Conyers, Pannal. The service was choral, and the officiating clergy were the Rev. I. Wedhams, rector of Great Houghton and Rural Dean, assisted by the Rev. M. Rountree, vicar of Pannal. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a dress of ivory satin charmeuse trimmed with ivory Honiton lace, and her veil consisted of embroidered tulle. The bridesmaid, Miss Marion Wilkinson, wore a dress of pink satin, with Ninon tunic and black velvet hat. A reception was afterwards held at the residence of the bride's parents. Mr and Mrs Dixon left during the afternoon for the English lakes.

SEACROFT

ALL Darcy B. Wilson, of Seacroft Hall, has given £25 to the Leeds Lord Mayor's Fund.

In the event of distress arising out of the war, the Corporation Lighting Committee report that various works can be put in hand. These include the extension of lighting in York Road to Seacroft, a scheme which will cost £7,.

LANGUAGE.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday William Farrington Beck, a farmer, of Whinmoor, was summoned for using obscene language. P.C. Whitehead stated that about 5.15 p.m. on August 24th he was on the York Road, Whinmoor, when he had occasion to speak to the defendant respecting his employment. The defendant was not exactly drunk, said the officer, but was recovering from a drunken bout. Further down the road witness again heard Beck use the language complained of, and he took his name and address. A fine of 10s. and costs was imposed.

STOURTON

P.S.A.—At the weekly P.S.A. service held at the Primitive Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon an interesting address was given by Mr Burnley, of Hunslet. There was but a moderate attendance, presided over by Mr J. Collinson. Mr Wigglesworth was the organist.

SCHOLES

A sum of £1 15s. 4½d., collected at Scholes Wesleyan Chapel, has been sent to Leeds Lord Mayor's Fund.

The collection in aid of the Prince of Wales' Fund taken at Scholes Church on Sunday, the 23rd August, amounted to £1 19s. 8d.

SHADWELL

Mr Lawrence Clayton has given £50 to Leeds Lord Mayor's Fund.

WHITKIRK

At a meeting at Whitkirk on Monday night, it was decided to form a rifle club. Over 35 members were enrolled, and Mr J. Stuart White was elected president. A sum of over £9 was subscribed to the funds.

GARFORTH AND A RIFLE CLUB.

"DOING MORE GOOD BY OFFERING THEM TO ENLIST."

At a meeting of Garforth Urban Council on Wednesday night—Mr R. Routledge, jun. (vice-chairman) presiding—Mr T. S. Slater brought forward the question of starting a rifle club for Garforth. He said he noticed that most of the surrounding villages had had meetings and had formed miniature rifle clubs, and he thought something should be done in this direction at Garforth. He had attended a meeting at Whitkirk, held for the purpose of forming a rifle club, and he was surprised at the number of people present who were in favour of establishing a club for the purpose of enabling and encouraging to learn how to use a rifle. Then when the time came for shooting in the open he understood that Mr Wood would give them a rifle range at Temperance Beam. Everyone agreed that it was a grand thing for the young men. Such a club would get the young men into the way of discipline. In fact, they would have something of interest place, and afterwards an open range. He did not, however, know a place that was suitable. A number of young men had already spoken to him about joining a rifle club in the village.

Mr W. W. Hartley said he had no objection to young men learning to shoot, but there were more important questions to be dealt with. In the village, if trouble got worse, there were people who would be in a bad way, and the Council would be doing their duty by finding employment for men who, if they could keep their families. He suggested that the Council should proceed with the work at the sewage beds. The Council could form a committee, and they could get men out to do the work and pay them so much an hour.

The Chairman said that a Distress Committee had been formed, and as soon as any distress occurred it would be reported to the Council, and then would be the time for them to take the matter up.

Mr Hartley said he thought the Council should be ready for such an emergency. It would be more important for the Council to discuss such a question than a rifle range.

The Chairman said that whatever was done with regard to a rifle club must be done voluntarily, but if they could get 15 or 20 men to enlist they would be doing more good than forming a rifle club. If they wanted to shoot miniature rifle range there was one at the Liberal Club.

Mr Slater had said that shooting was a grand thing. He disagreed with him. Shooting was a barbarous thing, and he was hoping that they would do away with it altogether.

Mr Slater said that what he said was that it was a grand thing for young men to learn to shoot.

Mr Gascoigne: If men want to know how to shoot let them enlist and serve the country. They will then learn how to shoot. I have had a rifle club with some of our fellows, but they want a rifle range up at the Cliff.

Mr Slater said that what he referred to was miniature shooting. If they wanted in Garforth was a place for shooting, and then they could appeal to the Government to make them a gift of proper Army rifles. The rifle they were using in for at present was an Army pattern rifle.

Mr Gascoigne asked how much they cost.

Mr Archer said he thought they might cost two guineas.

Mr Gascoigne said that if they wanted a rifle club the proper course to take was to call a public meeting.

The Chairman said that if Mr Slater got those interested in the question together, and then called a public meeting, something might be done.

The matter then dropped.

Mr E. Brooksbank has given £25 to the West Riding War Fund.

Sherburn-in-Elmet Ladies' Cricket Club has sent £5 12s. 9d. to Leeds Lord Mayor's Fund.

About twenty young men from Milford parish have responded to Lord Kitchener's appeal to join the colours.

GARDEN PARTY.—A garden party was held at the residence of Mr Wm. Crosland, J.P., The Limes, South Milford, on Saturday, in aid of the local fund for comforts for the wounded soldier in hospital. There was a good attendance. Tea was served on the lawn, after which games of cricket, lawn tennis, and croquet were indulged in.

EXTENSIONS AT BARLOW STATION.—To meet the increased traffic which the proposed works of Sir W. G. Armstrong, Whitworth, and Co., are likely to create additional siding accommodation has been put in at Barlow Station on the Selby and Goole branch line. A short time ago an extra line was laid at the west end of the station, which has been lengthened to meet the business which the construction of the new aircraft works will create an additional siding has been arranged at the east extremity of the station which will accommodate a score or more of waggons. The siding yard fronts Barlow Road, and consequently is in a very convenient position for coals and other vehicles. The signal cabin at the station entrance has been extended so that additional levers may be installed. Barlow seems destined to be a busy station in the future. A commencement has not yet been made with the new works, and the effect of the war may be to cause delay.

A PRETTY ROTHWELL WEDDING

A WOODLESFORD BRIDE.

A pretty wedding took place at the Rothwell Wesleyan Church on Tuesday afternoon, the contracting parties being Miss Maude Waide, fifth daughter of Mr Thomas Waide, of Applegarth House, Woodlesford, and the bridegroom was Mr John Lloyd, third son of Rev. Evan Lloyd, of Rothley. Both parties are well-known in the district, and there was a large congregation in the church, which had been tastefully decorated for the occasion.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin charmeuse, trimmed with ninon and lace, with a full court train of brocaded satin, lined with pink ninon. The train was carried by two nieces of the bride—Miss Margaret Waide (goldthorpe) and Miss Joan Waide Langstaff, who were dresses of satin trimmed with ninon to match, to which were attached cornflower blue streamers. The bride's veil was of Brussels net, mounted on a wreath of orange blossom, and was lent by Mrs. Hilton Langstaff (sister of the bride). Attending the bride were her three sisters—Misses Lucy, Madge, and Mary Waide—wearing gowns of white silk sontoy, with overdresses of cornflower-blue ninon, and large white hats, with cornflower-blue trimmings. All the bridesmaids wore strings of pearls (gifts of the bridegroom), Miss Lucy Waide Langstaff (nephew of the bride) wore a courtier suit and gold cuff-links (gifts of the bridegroom), and headed the bridal procession carrying a white satin cushion. The bridal party carried shower bouquets (gifts of the bridegroom), and the bridegroom was attended by his brother (Mr Major Lloyd, from the Gold Coast).

The officiating ministers were the Rev. Evan Lloyd (father of the bridegroom) and Rev. N. W. Thomlinson, and the service was choral. A suitable music was played by Mr T. A Ille, and the solo "Love's Coronation" being given by Miss Armitage, of Leeds.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Applegarth House, Woodlesford—the home of the bride—and later in the day the happy pair left for North Wales, where the honeymoon is being spent. There was an attractive array of presents.

AN INSPIRING APPEAL—"GO NOW."

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, speaking at a National Reservists' demonstration, expressed confidence that in such an hour of national peril the sons of England would rally to the flag. Could they not (he said) see their brave soldiers at the front, looking over their shoulders lest they were going to be helped? Were they going to let the Royal Canadians and Australians, and, best of all, these grand Indian fellow-subjects, alone to save our Army from destruction? Surely they could not do so for one moment. "If you will go," said Sir Arthur, "you must go now. There is a time for all things in this world. There is a time for games, there is a time for all business, there is a time for domestic life. All this has passed. There is only time for one thing, and that is war. If the cricketer has got a straight eye, let him look along the barrel of a rifle. If the footballer has strength of limb let it serve him to march to the field of battle. If ever on this earth a war was just it is this war. That foolish man of Berlin, who has misled a great people, is trying to find himself up against something which he never knew existed, and which he never had a chance to meet, he is going to meet the spirit of a free nation, the spirit of men who know what they are fighting for, and will fight on and fight on until victory is attained. Britain can never be beaten. Britain will fight until the malice is gone upon her. Then will come a day of reckoning for this man with the words of God on his lips and the thoughts of a devil in his heart. With cool, long-headed Britishers to lead us, the guilds as we will fight in the cause of justice, and the suppression of barbarism until the appointed end. The nation needs you. There must be no waiting. Now, at this very instant, or it will be too late.

Mr William Hutchinson, of Westfield House, Drax, a retired farmer, has left £7,000.

FORMERLY OF SELBY.—The Rev. William C. Poles, the new superintendent of Wesley Circuit, York, commences his ministry in that city on Sunday. He has just completed a term of three years at Selby, and at a meeting recently held for the purpose of making him a presentation he was described as "one of the best ministers we have had in Selby." Mr Poles is a preacher of considerable power, of the evangelistic type, and delights in proclaiming the Evangel in the open-air.

SELBY'S RECRUITS.—Two hundred recruits have been secured at Selby for Lord Kitchener's new army. Among the recruiters who have responded are Edward O. Oliver, the boot-and-shoe of the Olympia Building, Selby, formerly sergeant-major in the 5th Dragoon Guards, and an old comrade of his in the same regiment, E. C. Jones, who put in nineteen years' service, and a corporal in the same regiment, Selby Olympia Works. Several of the Olympia football team and club who are army reservists are now at the front. Twenty-five members of the Selby Territorial Reserve have registered their names to join the Territorials and act as local guards at bridges and other places. The bulk of the younger men in Class I. have offered themselves for re-enlistment.

MAJOR SWETENHAM KILLED.—News has been received that Major F. Swetenham, of the Royal Scots Greys, has been killed in the recent fighting. By his death the Army has lost a smart soldier, and society a most popular personality, and charm in sport and social life. When the regiment came to York he was a captain of the Greys, and in December, 1912, was promoted to major. Major Swetenham was born at York, his father, a well-known and popular solicitor in the city, being the late Mr Edward Swetenham, of Bishopthorpe Road. He was educated at Eton, and was gazetted to the Greys in 1900. He served in the South African War, and was mentioned in despatches, and received the Queen's medal with three clasps. He was also awarded the King's medal with two clasps. He was a keen polo player, and was a member of the Ranelagh Club. He was also a good all-round sportsman, and was a member of the Bachelors' Club, Piccadilly. He married in 1907 Miss Ethel Mary Hall, daughter of Mr Hall, of Hall Park, Gerrards Cross, Bucks, and leaves a widow and one son.

Major Swetenham's brother, Captain Swetenham, is also in the Greys, and is at present in command of the regimental depot at Canterbury. Another brother, Mr Cecil Swetenham, is a well-known Yorkshire cricketer, and has played for the county for many years. He is a member of the Yorkshire Committee, and is also a member of the Marylebone Cricket Club. Another brother, Mr Edward Swetenham, is a member of the Stock Exchange, London.

GARFORTH URBAN DISTRICT COUNCIL

HEALTH OF THE DISTRICT—ELECTRIC LIGHTING.

The monthly meeting of Garforth Urban District Council was held on Wednesday evening at the offices of Garforth.—Mr R. Routledge, jun. (vice-chairman) presiding. Other members present were Messrs. E. R. Archer, W. W. Hartley, T. S. Slater, H. Chappell, and H. Gascoigne, with the Clerk (Mr A. E. Carr), the medical officer (Dr Pickersgill), the surveyor and inspector (Mr T. Abbott), and the water inspector (Mr. Naylor).

At a meeting of the Water Committee the inspector reported that there had been one connection made at Mr. Dixon's stables in Barwick Lane, and one water closet at No. 8, Cyprus Villas.

At a meeting of the Sanitary Committee a letter was read from South Seaton applying for an increase of wages, and it was resolved that the Council be recommended to increase 1s. per week.

At the Highways Committee meeting it was decided that the following work on the main roads be gone on with at once: 30 yards 9in. drain in Gosse Hill; asphalte footpath from West Garforth Lane end to a point near to Hunslet House; asphalte footpath from Consservative Club to Salisbury Terrace, and from Gascoigne Arms to the Police Station.

HEALTH OF THE DISTRICT

Dr Pickersgill said there were a good many cases of measles about, and he pointed out how desirable it was that children should be excluded by parents in regard to their children.

The Chairman: There is no question of closing the schools?

Dr Pickersgill: Not yet. And it is a question that it should do any good.

The Sanitary Inspector's return for six being child-bearing females.

One case of tuberculosis had been notified.

Mr Gascoigne complained of a stench arising from the brick at the Bull Pit Straw Company.

Mr Hartley said it must be contaminated with sewage, because there was a nasty smell coming from it.

WATER AND LIGHTING

Mr Naylor reported that from July 27th to August 25th the consumption of water in the area was 1,960,000 gallons, being at the rate of 44,098 gallons per day. He reported that the Gas Company had made application for water.

The Chairman: You have got the lamps lighted?

Mr Naylor: Yes.

Mr Chappell asked if he had heard about a lamp being smashed in Barley Hill Road. A lady said her little boy had broken it, and she was ready to pay for it.

Mr Naylor said that he had not seen it.

LET OVER

Two tenders were submitted for demolishing the mill chimney.

Mr Slater asked if there was any chance of the electric light being introduced, and the chimney being let stand.

The Chairman said that as for the Council to say whether they would accept one of the tenders, or not.

Mr Slater said this could stand over. They should not put any more on the rates at present.

Mr Archer said the chimney was quite safe, and it would be a very expensive job to pull it down, because the old material would not be of much use so far as road-making was concerned.

The matter was referred to the Highways Committee.

Mr Chappell moved that the Highways Committee consider the Kirkey Hill footpath improvement at their next meeting.—Mr Slater seconded, and this was agreed to.

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

The Yorkshire Electric Power Co. wrote asking the Council to support them in their application to Parliament for electric lighting powers.

The Clerk stated that when they made an application last year the Council supported them.

Mr Hartley said that if the Council wanted to start electric lighting there would be difficulties in the way of getting it in the district.

The Chairman said the Company could supply them as cheaply with electricity as they could supply themselves.

Mr Archer proposed that the Council support the application.

Mr Gascoigne seconded.—Mr Slater moved that it be adjourned to next meeting.

Mr Archer said that he could be satisfactory to him, and this was adopted.

BARKSTON ASH BOWLING MATCHES FOR SATURDAY.

Crossgates Rec. v. Garforth W.M.

Halton Trav. v. Halton.

Garforth Cons. v. Crossgates.

Miss Fielden, Grimston Park, Tadcaster, is asking for knitted socks for the use of the troops, and she will forward them to the various regiments.

Mrs. John Smith's Tadcaster Brewery Co. have contributed £100 to the Lord Mayor's Relief Fund in Leeds, in addition to similar subscriptions to the West Riding and Bradford Funds.

TUESDAY EVENING SCHOOL.—John Mason, Kenneth and William C. Kettlewell, students in the industrial course at the above school for the last two years, have been awarded exhibitions by the West Riding County Council at the Leeds Technical School.

ACCIDENT.—On Monday Mr Thomas Blackburn, of South Milford, met with a serious accident. While he was harnessing a horse to a waggon preparatory to be kicked on the shoulder by a horse, which sent him into a deep pond near the field. His brother, Mr George Blackburn, of Sherburn, saw what he might have been drowned. Mr Blackburn sustained a dislocated shoulder and he is also suffering from shock.

A GENEROUS OFFER.—Mrs. John Smith, of Tadcaster, have posted the following notice at their brewery:—"Lord Kitchener appeals urgently for more men. All workmen willing to enlist in the Army can find during the continuance of the war on the following scales:—10s. per week per man; 2s. per week for each child under 10 years of age. Wives of married men in the Army will be paid 10s. per week, and in the case of single men will be refund to the credit of the workman or, upon his written authority, will be paid to his wife. On the return of the soldier he will be reinstated.

TADCASTER TOWER BEFRIENDS ANOTHER CLUB.—In connection with this club the third match of the season was played at Wheldrake on Saturday, when a mixed very small Reserves team of H. Nottingham, 2 R. Taylor, 3 F. R. Reed, 4 T. Air, 5 R. W. Pannett, 6 A. Butler, 7 W. Overall, 8 R. Kendra, 9 J. Kirby, 10 W. Moore, 11 T. Wheatley, 12 A. Beadley, 13 C. Bell, 14 J. Capel, 15 H. Taylor, 16 R. Overall, 17 A. T. Taylor, 18 T. Kitchin. Special prizes were won by T. Air for heaviest fish, H. Nottingham for greatest number, R. Kendra for most variety, T. R. Reed for heaviest roach, F. Taylor for second heaviest roach, and R. W. Pannett for heaviest eel.

A WHITKIRK RESIDENT AND FOOTBALL

Mr J. Connor, of Whitkirk (President of the West Riding Football Association), who was for several years President of the Barkston Ash Association, writes:—

Following upon the decision of the Emergency Committee of the West Riding County Association, given in Leeds on Tuesday night, by which they decided to abandon the West Riding Junior and Amateur Cup Competitions, and to recommend that all competitions (both League and Cup) sanctioned by the Association or any of its local associations be abandoned for the present, I should like to appeal to all the associations and leagues in the West Riding to carry out the recommendation of the Emergency Committee without delay. In the grave crisis now affecting this country, I feel that it is the foremost duty of every young player to realise his responsibility, and either join the colours, or endeavour to make himself so efficient that when called upon he will be able to worthily uphold the prestige and traditions of English football.

Some serious inconvenience and monetary loss will be bound to arise through the abandonment of football matches, but compared with the ultimate and stimulating results by which the arms of this country will benefit, the present inconvenience deserves very slight consideration. I hope that, where junior clubs have already rented football grounds, the landlords will release the clubs from any financial responsibility, and that they will take the opportunity of placing the fields at the disposal of the young men for drilling purposes.

A circular will be issued shortly by the West Riding Committee, calling together the local footballers in the various large centres, with the object of stimulating recruiting from among the players and supporters of the various clubs, and I trust the meeting in effort will be made to secure the presence of well-known public men to address them.

By these means, the Committee feel that the young men in the Riding will be made to realise that the future existence of this country is at stake, and that so far as the Committee are concerned, no hindrance shall be placed in the way of the Army authorities in building up the forces of the Army.

One hardly likes to criticise the Football League at the present time, but the sickly sentiment contained in their recent manifesto leaves a feeling of contempt in the heart of every true patriot in the country.

SHERBURN PETTY SESSIONS.

KIPPAX AND CHURCH FENTON CASES.

Yesterday at Sherburn Petty Sessions the magistrates present were the Rev. B. Hemsley (chairman), Mr Walter Crosland, and Mr William Crosland.

Mr V. T. Harvey applied for a stage play licence for the Mill Garth Rooms, Sherburn, on the 19th inst. for a performance in aid of the Prince of Wales' Fund.—The application was granted.

CHURCH FENTON CASE.

Fred Daniel, labourer, Church Fenton, was charged with trespassing on the North-Eastern Railway on the 16th inst.—Defendant pleaded guilty.—Mr R. B. Bleeker prosecuted.

Wm. Mosby, shuntsmaster, Church Fenton, stated that on the 17th July he saw defendant about 12.30 p.m. commence to crow over the levelcrossing. He called to defendant, who had his eyes fixed on an express, and another was coming in the opposite direction. The defendant was walking his way just in time to avoid being knocked down.

Defendant said he was quite ignorant he was trespassing, as he saw other people going over.

Fined 2s. 6d. and 7s. 6d. costs.

A KIPPAX DEFENDANT.

Edward Wrigglil, miner, Kippax, was charged with using threats to Rose Ann Steel on the 18th August. The case was adjourned to next Court.

A CLOTHESPIN APRON.

An article indispensable to the housewife is a clothespin apron. It is made of sateen, bedticking, or heavy gingham, turned up at the bottom and has long, then sewn at the sides and through the centre of this turned-up portion to form two large square pockets. A belt completes the garment. Fill the pockets with clothespins, and button the apron about your waist while hanging up clothes, and you have it at hand. The apron is equally as full when taking down the clothes. Sew a strong piece of tape in the belt for a hanger when the apron is not in use and it serves for a clothespin bag.

A sum of £21 was collected at Wetherby Church for the National Relief Fund.

ASTLEY'S SUICIDE.—A verdict of "suicide from natural causes" was returned at an inquest held on Monday night at Cowthorpe on the body of William Steel (93), Oldfield Place, Wetherby, who died suddenly on Sunday. He had suffered from bronchitis and asthma, and while proceeding to his "pegs" to take part in a fishing match he was seen to fall. When picked up he was dead.

WETHERBY SHEEPTICKLING COMMITTEE AND THE WAR.—The Wetherby Sheepticklase Committee have announced that they will give 1s. a week each to the wives of men who have joined the Army, and also to those volunteering. Other subscriptions will be paid to 10 Alternate Saturdays, September 5 and 19.

Hours 10 to 7. Other days by appointment.

TREATMENT WITHOUT OPERATION.

ARTIFICIAL HUMAN EYES fitted from 15s.

SPECTACLES and EYE PRESERVERS, 3/6 to 10/6. Gold frames from 21s.

Special Consultation Days.—There are many cases of failing eyesight which can be speedily remedied by mild local treatment thus dispensing with the use of glasses.

Established 1871.

Ison's Eye & Ear Infirmary

LIMITED.

71, GREAT GEORGE ST., LEEDS

MR. THOS. ISON,

OCULIST and AURIST.

THIS INSTITUTION WAS ESTABLISHED in 1871. The system of working is the provident one, each patient paying a small periodical fee which—while unfelt by the contributors, therefore, justly expect to receive the prompt care and attention which in many instances in charitable institutions is too often withheld. The method is of a mild and safe character, without operation or the use of Ear Drums, Ear Cornets or other mechanical or painful appliances. Another great feature is Speciality. Each case undergoes a careful examination, and while proceeding to his "peg" to take part in a fishing match he was seen to fall. When picked up he was dead.

WETHERBY SHEEPTICKLING COMMITTEE AND THE WAR.—The Wetherby Sheepticklase Committee have announced that they will give 1s. a week each to the wives of men who have joined the Army, and also to those volunteering. Other subscriptions will be paid to 10 Alternate Saturdays, September 5 and 19.

Hours 10 to 7. Other days by appointment.

TREATMENT WITHOUT OPERATION.

ARTIFICIAL HUMAN EYES fitted from 15s.

SPECTACLES and EYE PRESERVERS, 3/6 to 10/6. Gold frames from 21s.

Special Consultation Days.—There are many cases of failing eyesight which can be speedily remedied by mild local treatment thus dispensing with the use of glasses.

SELBY'S QUOTA.—Considering that Selby has only a population of 10,000 the town has made a very good contribution to the armed forces of the Crown. The Army Reservists went first, numbering 250 or more. Since then a number of ex-Army men and ex-Volunteers have rejoined the colours, including a number of Selby Territorials, about ninety strong, increased the total provided, and now one hundred young men have offered themselves for enlistment in Lord Kitchener's new army. The great bulk of the Army Reservists are employed at the Olympia Mills. Other firms in the town have also contributed respectable numbers to the forces. Selby's proportion of the members of the National Reserve have signified their wish to rejoin the ranks. As more men are required for active service, Selby's quota may from Selby will doubtless be increased.

FAMOUS-HOUSE-FOR ENGAGEMENT RINGS
£1/1/ £3/3/ £5/5/ £10/10/
to £100 each.
SEE WINDOWS
Diamonds
BEST SELECTION IN THE COUNTY.
Ison's
ESTD. 50 YEARS.
24-25-26, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.
Watches
10/6 TO 50 GUINEAS.
THE "ROUGHWEAR" 15/
THE "UNIVERSITY" 30/
OLD WATCHES & JEWELLERY TAKEN IN EXCHANGE.
RELIABLE HOUSE FOR REPAIRS.

Russell & Russell, Ltd.
(Late A. C. WANSTALL),
Complete House Furnishers and Piano Dealers,
201-3-5, North Street, LEEDS.
ILLUSTRATED BOOKLET and Easy Payment Terms sent on receipt of a Postcard.

JOHN TEALE,
Advertising Contractor & Billposter,
WHITE HOUSE, GARFORTH.
Bills posted and Handbills distributed on the shortest notice throughout the Barkston Ash Division on most reasonable terms.

EDMUND BOGG,
3, Woodhouse Lane, Leeds,
is the best shop for
PICTURE FRAMING, REGILDING, AND ARTISTS' MATERIALS.
Large Stock of Engravings & Etchings on Sale.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

A movement has been initiated at Cardiff to abstain from all sport while the war lasts.

Mauritius planters have offered 1,000,000lbs. of sugar each to the Admiralty and the Army.

Peter Paul Surkow, a Gaghan, was on Monday sentenced to six months' imprisonment for loitering near important works at Rosenau.

King Manuel, in a letter to Capt. Contidas, the Portuguese Royalist leader, states that he has personally offered his services to the King of England.

The fact that in this great national crisis sport is still occupying this time and thought of large numbers of our young men, has called forth very severe comment.

The late Mr James William G. Hobbs, who was sentenced to penal servitude in connection with the Liberator failure, left estate valued for probate at £3,757 gross.

Prince Albert, it is announced, is making good progress towards recovery from the illness which necessitated his removal from the Collingwood to a nursing home in Aberdeen.

The Great Eastern steamers will leave Parkeston Quay, Harwich, for Antwerp at daylight, on Monday, Wednesdays, and Saturdays. Only British with passports will be carried.

The late Mr John Lyle, a director of Messrs Abram Lyle and Sons, Ltd., sugar refiners, left estate of a gross value of £452,035. The duties on the property will amount to about £58,000.

The Grimsby trawler Fijian reports that while fishing in the North Sea she struck a mine with her trawl. The mine exploded, but fortunately the ship escaped injury. The trawl itself was blown to pieces.

Mr Lansing, counsellor of the State Department at Washington, says that the warships of belligerents are privileged to board American merchantmen and to remove subjects of the enemy en route for the world.

Her Majesty Queen Alexandra has graciously sent to the London Chamber of Commerce a contribution of £200 in aid of the outlays involved in carrying out the movement for supplying newspapers for the Fleet.

Captain Theodore Schlegentwert, formerly German Consul at Manchester, who was fined a few days ago for going more than five miles beyond his residence, was on Saturday arrested as a prisoner of war, and handed over to the military authorities.

The attitude of German Colonists in the West of Canada, particularly in the Humboldt and Rosthern districts in Saskatchewan is causing resentment. German publications are openly espousing the enemy's cause, and outbreaks are feared. It is stated that the Provincial Government are considering the question of arrests of Germans and the suppression of their papers.

The King received at Buckingham Palace on Saturday the Belgian Minister in London, who, it is understood, called personally to thank the King, in the name of his Majesty the King of Belgians, for the expression of high appreciation of the devoted bravery of the Belgian troops and the valuable assistance rendered by them to the Allies.

Prince Albert, the King's second son, has been landed at Aberdeen, and is now in a nursing home, in charge of Sir James Reid. Symptoms of appendicitis were diagnosed, and as a result he was transferred to the hospital ship prior to being landed at Aberdeen. The trouble is taking a normal course, and there is no immediate cause for anxiety.

A fire broke out on Tuesday night in Leeds at the cabinet works of Mr James Chapton, Wilcox Mills. It is supposed to have been caused by the overheating of a turning machine. Fortunately, it was discovered before it had much headway, and the fire brigade were able to put it out without difficulty. A quantity of lumber and machinery was damaged on one floor.

A summary statement of British casualties in the recent fighting, so far as known, was issued on Tuesday night by the Press Bureau. They refer to one Cavalry Brigade and three Divisions four of five which appear to have been engaged. These are: Brigade. Of officers 36 were killed and 57 wounded, and 95 are missing. The rank and file show 127 killed, 809 wounded, and 4,181 missing—a total of 5,127.

Addressing the new battalion of the Royal Fusiliers—a battalion composed entirely of young City men, athletes for the most part—on Saturday, Lord Roberts said, "Leaders and honour you more than I can say. How very different is your action to that of the men who can still go on with their cricket and football, as if the very existence of the country were not at stake!"

A Reuter's message from New York, dated Saturday, says that a thousand women, rich and poor, formed a procession in the fashionable Fifth Avenue as a silent protest against the war in Europe. While a banner was borne in front bearing the word Peace, white petticoats were dressed in black, and representing Belgium, Servia, Russia, as well as the British races.

Nine hundred Belgian and French refugees arrived at Charing Cross from the Continent on Sunday. In the evening 400 from Ostend arrived, mainly women, children, and the aged and middle classes from Eastern and Central Belgium. They were received at the station by friends and those in need of temporary assistance have been sent to their addresses. A war-worker assisted by ladies and gentlemen of various relief committees who attended the station for that purpose.

The Pontefract Board of Guardians on Saturday passed a resolution calling upon the War Office and the Local Government Board to formulate a scheme whereby the large body of able-bodied young men between the ages of 18 and 19 who are frequently the vagrant wards and apparently living upon the community, should be brought into the service of the country at the present crisis. The Chairman (Mr. W. J. Benfield) said this looked like conscription for vagrants.

Affecting scenes were witnessed on Sunday, at Folkestone, among the refugees who arrived from Belgium. Two English-born married Hartland and Hulbert, natives of Birmingham, with their wives and seven little children, arrived from Antwerp, where they had resided for 20 years. They said they had lost everything, and considered themselves fortunate in escaping with their lives. They had been taken for Germans, and narrowly escaped being shot before they were identified as English.

Remarkable is making very satisfactory progress in Bull, where a few days ago the returns were disappointing. Colonel Lonsdale Hall, who was appointed recruiting officer for West Hull, made the experiment of inviting men to sign for service in the Woolsack Barracks on Monday, and he succeeded to the extent of one score enrolled for enlistment in the Field and Horse Artillery, the cavalry, and the Coldstream Guards. The men were drawn chiefly from the railway workers, the oil refiners, municipal employees, and teachers, and others under the Hull Education Committee.

The Episcopal Palace at Llandaff has been destroyed by fire. The Bishop and family were away, the only servants being servants.

The Postmaster-general has directed that in future no charge is to be made by the Post Office on unpaid letters received from British troops serving abroad.

Several Belgian newspapers have opened columns for "lost and found" persons, as this is the only means by which missing relatives can be traced.

The American Red Cross Society has chartered the Hamburg-Amerika steamer, Hamburg, which will sail on Saturday conveying 200 nurses and surgeons to the seat of the war.

Lord St. Audries, addressing the Taunton and West Somerset Farmers' Club, said it was absolutely essential that farmers should not sacrifice their breeding stock however much they were tempted by high prices to sell.

The body of a seaman named John Ryan, of Liverpool, was found decapitated on the rails near the docks at Barry on Saturday, he having been run over on the way to join his ship.

The Management Committee of the Football League on Monday decided in view of the advice that business be "carried on as usual" the game should pursue its course, but that clubs should assist the war funds and players should train to be of national service.

The class lists of the Cambridge Local Examinations show that the number of candidates examined, exclusive of 547 at the Colonial centres, was 8,042. In the senior examination 1,306 boys and 1,666 girls passed, first class honours being gained by 104 boys and 29 girls.

According to a telegram from Paris travellers arriving in Florence state that the English, Russian, and French Pavilions at the Printing Exhibition in Leipzig, containing marvellous collections, have been burnt. It is alleged that no effort was made by the city authorities to stop the fire.

Lord Milner, in a letter, calls attention to next year's expected shortage in the wheat supply, and urges the importance of the cultivation of land in France, Germany, Austria, and Russia, and recommends British farmers to cultivate a large extent of land to provide for the future supply.

The Amateur Football Association have decided, in consequence of the war, to suspend all competitions under their jurisdiction, and steps are to be taken to form a unit for the service of the country. Rugby Union clubs all over the country are cancelling their arrangements, and members are joining the forces.

The National Relief Fund having decided to reject the Burdett Guardians poor-law relief granted to soldiers' and sailors' dependents since the outbreak of the war the Local Government Board has instructed that the names of the recipients be erased from guardians' records, and that the help be not treated as poor relief.

Word was received at Cardiff, on Tuesday afternoon, that the Hon. Archer Windsor-Clive, a lieutenant in the Coldstream Guards, son of the Earl of Plymouth, Lord-Lieutenant of Glamorgan, has died from wounds he received in the battle near Mons. The young lieutenant, who was 23 years of age, was exceedingly popular with his father's tenantry in Glamorgan.

Earl Grey visited Croft Park football grounds, Blyth, on Saturday evening, and at the interval a meeting of the Northumberland Territorials was held. Appendicitis was diagnosed, and as a result he was transferred to the hospital ship prior to being landed at Aberdeen. The trouble is taking a normal course, and there is no immediate cause for anxiety.

A fire broke out on Tuesday night in Leeds at the cabinet works of Mr James Chapton, Wilcox Mills. It is supposed to have been caused by the overheating of a turning machine. Fortunately, it was discovered before it had much headway, and the fire brigade were able to put it out without difficulty. A quantity of lumber and machinery was damaged on one floor.

A summary statement of British casualties in the recent fighting, so far as known, was issued on Tuesday night by the Press Bureau. They refer to one Cavalry Brigade and three Divisions four of five which appear to have been engaged. These are: Brigade. Of officers 36 were killed and 57 wounded, and 95 are missing. The rank and file show 127 killed, 809 wounded, and 4,181 missing—a total of 5,127.

Addressing the new battalion of the Royal Fusiliers—a battalion composed entirely of young City men, athletes for the most part—on Saturday, Lord Roberts said, "Leaders and honour you more than I can say. How very different is your action to that of the men who can still go on with their cricket and football, as if the very existence of the country were not at stake!"

A Reuter's message from New York, dated Saturday, says that a thousand women, rich and poor, formed a procession in the fashionable Fifth Avenue as a silent protest against the war in Europe. While a banner was borne in front bearing the word Peace, white petticoats were dressed in black, and representing Belgium, Servia, Russia, as well as the British races.

Nine hundred Belgian and French refugees arrived at Charing Cross from the Continent on Sunday. In the evening 400 from Ostend arrived, mainly women, children, and the aged and middle classes from Eastern and Central Belgium. They were received at the station by friends and those in need of temporary assistance have been sent to their addresses. A war-worker assisted by ladies and gentlemen of various relief committees who attended the station for that purpose.

The Pontefract Board of Guardians on Saturday passed a resolution calling upon the War Office and the Local Government Board to formulate a scheme whereby the large body of able-bodied young men between the ages of 18 and 19 who are frequently the vagrant wards and apparently living upon the community, should be brought into the service of the country at the present crisis. The Chairman (Mr. W. J. Benfield) said this looked like conscription for vagrants.

Affecting scenes were witnessed on Sunday, at Folkestone, among the refugees who arrived from Belgium. Two English-born married Hartland and Hulbert, natives of Birmingham, with their wives and seven little children, arrived from Antwerp, where they had resided for 20 years. They said they had lost everything, and considered themselves fortunate in escaping with their lives. They had been taken for Germans, and narrowly escaped being shot before they were identified as English.

Remarkable is making very satisfactory progress in Bull, where a few days ago the returns were disappointing. Colonel Lonsdale Hall, who was appointed recruiting officer for West Hull, made the experiment of inviting men to sign for service in the Woolsack Barracks on Monday, and he succeeded to the extent of one score enrolled for enlistment in the Field and Horse Artillery, the cavalry, and the Coldstream Guards. The men were drawn chiefly from the railway workers, the oil refiners, municipal employees, and teachers, and others under the Hull Education Committee.

SAGAR-MUSGRAVE CRICKET CUP

FINAL AT CROSSGATES.

SEACROFT AGAIN VICTORIOUS.

The final for the Sagar-Musgrave Challenge Cup took place on the Crossgates Club's ground on Saturday afternoon before a fair attendance of spectators. The finalists were Seacroft and Halton Wesleyans, who have played remarkably well throughout the season.

Winning the toss, the captain of the Seacroft eleven, D. Burton, partnered by G. Thompson, went out to the wickets to bat. The pitch was in excellent condition, but batsmen and fielders alike were at a disadvantage owing to the bad light, due to storm clouds which threatened to break at any moment; but which fortunately passed over. Burton soon made himself at home at the wicket and his stay there promised to be a long one. He was showing capital form and had rattled up 34, when he sent the ball into the hands of G. O. Bell, who cleverly held it. It was a smart piece of work and was very heartily applause from the spectators. Thompson retired in the early stages of the game, owing to G. O. Bell, who, along with C. Bell, was having a spell at bowling, scattering his wickets. His place was taken by T. Toft, who made a good stand for his sixteen runs. This was another wicket down owing to the alertness of G. O. Bell. With Thompson and Toft dismissed, the board registered 98 runs for a loss of two wickets. G. Stead then filled the breach. H. Wilson, who had taken Isther Foster's place, also afforded Burton a splendid opportunity to make several "stones" off his bowling. A little later C. E. Batty was put on in place of G. O. Bell, and his second ball was effective in causing Stead to place the leather straight into C. Bell's hands. C. Johnson went in to assist Burton, and at the conclusion of the over A. Powell took the ball from Wilson. Johnson's stay at the wicket was just sufficiently long to enable him to break his "duck," but he was nearly caught in a similar manner to Toft. However, C. Batty, a little later, bowled him. E. Johnson, the next man in, used his bat well, although only four runs fell to his credit. When Robinson was dispatched the register showed 78 runs with six wickets down, and I. Fryer, H. Atack, and P. Taylor went to the wickets in a steady procession, it being left to J. Pocklington to make the most big score of 26, which were quickly got by a succession of boundary hits. H. Toft, the last man to go in, made eight, and the innings closed for a total of 140. D. Burton, who did the honours on the side of the trundling for the Wesleyans, took five wickets at an average of 3.4 runs per wicket, a splendid feat. H. Wilson captured 2 for 12, and P. Powell 2 for 23.

C. M. Kilburn (captain) and J. Popplewell opened the game for the Wesleyans, facing the bowling of D. Burton and C. Johnson. The latter bowler opened with a couple of maiden overs. Popplewell played splendid cricket, but he had the misfortune to lose his partner early on, he being bowled by Burton with a single run to his credit. C. Batty filled the vacancy, but it was some time before the pair could get properly going. Bowling changes were made, Pickersgill coming on in place of Johnson, and Bell relieving with Burton. Attack, in his place behind the wickets, was ever alert and never lost a fair opportunity, and it was by his efforts that Popplewell's fine knock was brought about. The scoring was very slow, and Crosthwaite, who took the bat from Popplewell, only added three runs to the score. G. O. Bell, who then took his place at the wicket, was in excellent form, and for Batty, and between them they increased the score slowly but surely. During this pair's spell at the wickets the ball changed hands between Pickersgill and the Seacroft side. Halton had been batting for quite an hour and sixty runs were down to their credit. Batty continued to bat and when ten more runs had been added Bell had the misfortune to be caught out. C. E. Batty followed, but he quickly fell a victim to Bell's bowling. Two more wickets had fallen for 71 runs, and two more fell with only another eleven added. S. Batty was run out—another piece of Attack's smartness, and the next batsman to take his place at a cost of twenty-one runs, the innings closing for 103.

Seacroft had shown some very smart fielding, throwing nothing away. Eight bowlers had been tried, and of these Stead displayed the best form in taking two wickets for six runs, while Burton had two for fourteen. Scores:—

Seacroft.
D. Burton, c. G. 98 Bell, b Batty	34
G. Thompson, c. G. O. Bell	6
G. Stead, c. C. Bell, b Batty	10
T. Toft, c. G. O. Bell, b H. Wilson	16
C. Johnson, b Batty	4
E. Johnson, c. Powell, b Batty	2
I. Fryer, Bw, b Batty	3
H. Atack, c. Popplewell, b Powell	7
P. Taylor, b Powell	9
J. W. Pickersgill, c. C. Bell, b Wilson	26
H. Toft, not out	8
Extras	6
Total	129

Halton Wesleyans.
C. M. Kilburn, b Burton	1
J. Popplewell, run out	13
S. Batty, run out	30
G. D. Crosthwaite, b Stead	3
G. O. Bell, c. Atack, b Taylor	35
C. E. Batty, b T. Toft	1
J. A. Popplewell, b C. Johnson	8
C. Bell, b Stead	2
A. Powell, run out	7
H. Wilson, not out	9
L. Stephens, c. T. Toft, b Burton	2
Extras	10
	103

THE CUP PRESENTED

Immediately after the match, the trophy was presented to the winners by Mr W. B. Pindar, who said that it gave him the honour of presenting the cup to the Seacroft Club so often that it was very difficult to find anything new to say about them. They were like the British Army. They should stand up to the bowling up to the good traditions. (Hear, hear). They had already won the cup three times, and they had that afternoon played a brilliant game and fully deserved their honour of taking it home once more. (Cheers). He was sure that those who had had the opportunity of watching the game must have been pleased with the manner in which it had been played, and the bowling up to the players. Now, he had a word to say about the Halton Wesleyans. It seemed strange that only three years ago they were playing in the junior division, and when they began to think whether they would join the senior division or not, they were very nervous, and thought they were scarcely good enough. He hoped they were satisfied with their venture. They had proved themselves worthy opponents of the Seacroft, and he said he had other work to do.

to other junior clubs. Of course, Seacroft were a croft Club, and he hoped it would be an example experienced in final matches, while Halton Wesleyans were only beginners, and they had seen one or two errors of judgment. However, he was sure that when they had a little more experience they would get over all that, and they would see a different complexion put upon the game. (Applause).

The cup, which had been filled with home brewed beer instead of champagne, following the precedent of the previous Saturday's final, the object being to forward the balance to the Prince of Wales' Relief Fund, was then presented by Mr D. Burton, the captain of the Seacroft team.

In accepting the cup, Mr Burton said it was the fifth time he had been the captain of the Seacroft team, and it was the fifth time he had received the cup. He congratulated the Halton Wesleyans upon the splendid manner in which they had played on only that day but throughout the season. He expressed the opinion that if there only stuck together they would not be long in winning the cup and the Lane Fox Cup.

Mr C. M. Kilburn, the captain of the Halton Wesleyan team, who also spoke, said he had hoped before the match to have received the cup, but a lack of experience in cupatic games had been their undoing. The match, he said, had been played in the proper spirit, and devoid of any animosity. (Applause).

ROTHWELL URBAN DISTRICT COUNCIL

ELECTION OF BURIAL BOARD MEMBERS.

PROPOSED RELIEF WORKS IN THE AREA

A special meeting of the Rothwell Urban District Council was held at the Council Offices on Monday night, the chief business being the consideration of certain matters relating to the Lemonrood Sewage Works. Mr J. Hirst (Chairman) presided, and other members present were Messrs G. W. Blakey (vice-chairman), W. Wade, H. Wade, Cockden, H. Kirkby, S. Isobson, R. McCullough, W. Robinson, W. Lunn, and W. Speak, with the Clerk (Mr W. Dodgson), the surveyor (Mr J. Southwart), and the sanitary inspector (Mr E. F. Moore).

The Chairman intimated that the question of the Lemonrood Sewage Works was of rather a pressing nature and suggested that it should be discussed in committee.

This was agreed to, and it was decided to proceed with the public business first. This included the election of five members to the Joint Cemetery Board.

The Clerk read the qualifications governing the election of members, and said that the five members must necessarily be on the Urban District Council, while the Chairman had to be elected ex-officio. Should the Chairman not desire to be on the Board then the vice-chairman must be elected in his place. He also explained that the Hunslet Rural District Council would elect three representatives, making nine members of the Board in all.

Mr Hirst then asked for nominations, and Mr McCullough moved that Messrs Corden, Chadwick, Blakey, Lunn, and Kirkby be the five elected, and this proposition was seconded by Mr Speak.

Mr W. Wade said he thought Stourton ought to be represented on the Board.

Mr Corden moved that Mr W. Wade take his place. This was seconded by Mr Lunn.

On a vote being taken the result was as follows:—Messrs Corden (3), Chadwick (8), Blakey (3), Lunn (3), Kirkby (6), W. Wade (6).

The Clerk suggested that another vote be taken on the three lowest and this resulted in Mr Kirkby receiving six votes, Mr Lunn five and Mr Corden two.

Mr Corden was accordingly declared not elected.

Mr F. Chairman said he had received a letter from the Rothwell Branch of the Independent Labour Party.

The letter was as follows:—To the Chairman of the Rothwell Urban District Council—At the monthly meeting of the above party the following resolution was passed:—This Branch of the Independent Labour Party urges upon the Rothwell Urban District Council the necessity of setting in motion at once relief works sufficient as is within their power, with a view of finding employment for citizens within the area of the above Council who are now totally unemployed or totally unemployed during the European crisis."

Mr Lunn said they were told they had no distress in the district. The pits were working fairly well in comparison with others not in the same area. They had not so many men away from the front as other districts, but they were not able to say what was likely to develop out of the crisis. The Council ought to take steps to consider any works that were necessary so as to provide work for men who might be unemployed partially unemployed. There were men working short time—hundreds of men in the district, and they might be working even less time than they were now, and if the Council had work to do, as it had, and it could be done, it would find the best means of relief possible. He knew it was difficult to get money for some of these projects. Housing was an important matter that ought to be dealt with by the Council. However, it would take time for it to generate into a proper scheme. If anything could be done that would simply cost the labour that was the kind of work wanted. The Cemetery Board might get to work, and Skye Bank could be put into proper order, for as could be another thing he would like to suggest, and that was that the Council get permission from Lord Stourton to clean out the dam, so as to turn it into a lake.

The Chairman: The land there belongs to Major Cawthra.

Mr Lunn: Better so. I move that the Council ask Major Cawthra if he will grant the space for the purpose of the dam into a public lake. If we have men out of work it would give immediate relief and would cost very little to the Council with the exception of the labour.

Mr Robinson seconded, and said that he had been speaking to a worker who had expressed the opinion that they would sooner have some work than charity. He (Mr Robinson) thought that would be the case all round.

The Chairman: Don't you think there are other things that could be done quite as well?

Mr Lunn: I think the roads can be done as cheaply and means so much labour.

Mr Corden said he thought it would be better if they kept to the matter in hand.

Mr Dobson agreed, and said it would be a pity when if they got the cemetery into working order they had to close it down. It was very unfair.

Mr Blakey said nothing would be lost by the Council making enquiries.

Mr Lunn remarked that he did not move the resolution in opposition to any other scheme.

The resolution was put and carried.

Mr McHugh moved that the Highways Committee be recommended to improve Stye Bank.

Mr Dobson seconded, and the resolution was carried.

Mr Blakey called attention to the condition of the footpath on the Long Pastures going towards the well.

Mr Hirst said the matter should be referred to the Highways Committee.

A seconder was found and the resolution was carried.

Mr Speak asked if the Council could do a little more road sweeping at Carlton. They only had one man, and he had from Oulcoates Green, Leadwell Lane, and Carlton. The Leadwell Lane residents complained of the road never being swept, and when the man was asked

WILL LOCAL COMPETITION FOOTBALL BE ABANDONED?

The Cup and Emergency Committee of the West Riding County Football Association met at the Grand Central Hotel, Leeds, on Tuesday night, Mr J. Connor (President) presiding.

After discussing at length the question of whether or not the football programme should be proceeded with in view of the war, it was unanimously decided to abandon the Amateur Cup Competition and the County Cup Competition for the present. It was further decided to recommend that all competitions, League and Cup, sanctioned by the association or by any local association under its jurisdiction, be abandoned for the present.

This recommendation, which affects some 500 clubs in the Riding, will be considered by the management committees of the various Leagues, and it is expected that the opinion of the committee will be accepted, and that the programmes will be abandoned.

The committee further decided to arrange for meetings to be held in Leeds, Bradford, Dewsbury, Wakefield, Keighley, Huddersfield, and Castleford, with a view to stimulating recruiting among the players and supporters of the various clubs.

It was decided that the profits accruing from the Senior Cup semi-finals should be handed over to the National Relief Fund.

A TADCASTER MAGISTRATE'S OFFER.

In publishing the notice below Mr W. F. Wailes-Fairbairn, of Askham Grange, writes as follows to the Editor of the "Yorkshire Herald":—

Perhaps if you would be so good as to print the enclosed in your paper, my preliminary remarks might make some young fellows think. There are heaps of young fellows hanging about doing nothing but amusing themselves, who are to outward appearance fit to fight. I wish the women and girls would make a point of ostracising all such, and for very shame they would have to do their duty.

It is the duty of every unmarried man of right age and medically fit, to fight for his country; if he won't do this, he is no man, and his neighbours should shun him and the women look down on him.

To any man in my employ who enlists for active service abroad for the period of the war, I will give a bounty of £5, and keep his place open for him on his return.

To any man in employ who enlists for home defence, I will give a bounty of £2, and keep his place open for him.

Yours, &c., W. F. WAILES-FAIRBAIRN,

Askham Richard, August 29th, 1914.

RILEY SMITH SHIELD FINAL AT BARWICK.

The referees appointed for the final match between Garforth Wes. and Tadcaster A at Barwick on Saturday are Messrs C. Plews (Halton Wes.) and W. Crosland (Scholes).

FOOTBALL MATCHES AND REFEREES FOR SATURDAY.

LEEDS SENIOR LEAGUE.

Clarence Ironworks v. Waterloo Main Colliery. Mr. J. T. Lawson.

New Wortley Juns. Rovers v. Rothwell Parish Church. Mr. A. Holmes.

Garforth White Rose v. Thornhill Lees Albion. Mr. F. Jackson.

Calverley v. Fryston Colliery. Mr L. Jones.

Methley Perseverance v. East Ardsley United. Mr. F. Tyas.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT JUNIOR LEAGUE.

Bowers Albion v. Oulton St. John's. Mr W. Lupton.

East End Athletic v. Kippax Woodville. Mr C. Sturgill.

Shadwell Colliery v. Methley Perseverance R. Mr. H. Field.

Thorpe Stapleton Wes. v. Stourton United. Mr R. W. Smithers.

HOW TO DEAL WITH PRODUCE.

The Leeds University have had before their notice the necessity for giving information for the guidance of farmers, horticulturists, and poultry keepers as to how they should deal with their produce under the present circumstances. They have issued a great deal of interesting information and practical hints applicable to Yorkshire and to the present state of things. The Council are willing to the fullest extent the resources of the land and poultry stock and to supplement the normal food supplies by catch crops upon vacant and waste ground in cultivated.

Plots of land that are normally allowed to lie vacant for the winter should be cropped forthwith. Thus, after early potatoes, seed of such crops as Red Giant mustard and Rape may be sown broadcast.

Small roots may be made, but in any case a quantity of useful "greens" in the form of kale will be forthcoming in March next. Late "greens," prickly seed spring cabbage, and leeks and cabbages are other useful crops. Rough waste land that may be broken up during the coming autumn and sown with planted early next March with Jerusalem artichokes.

It would at present be inadvisable to dispose of poultry stock, is the special advice of the University. The fear that the prices of poultry food will so increase as to make it impossible for poultry to be profitable may not be realised. There is every prospect that eggs will realise sufficiently high prices to compensate for the increased cost of production. It is, therefore, inadvisable to dispose of any fowls that are approaching a profitable age, since it is necessary to maintain, as far as possible, the egg supply as a part of the nation's food, and especially to meet the requirements of the hospitals.

EGGS AS FOOD.

Would it not be wise to substitute more eggs or meat in our daily diet. About one-third of an egg is solid nutriment. This is more than half the weight of the yolk, and is a striking remarks. There are no bones, no tough pieces that have to be laid aside. A good egg is made up of two parts white, one part yolk, and thirty parts yolk. The white of an egg contains only 1 per cent. of fat, and the yolk 32 per cent. Practically an egg is animal food. The vegetarians in England are very few indeed, and many of these men are eighty and ninety years old, and have been remarkably free from sickness. Eggs are best when cooked four minutes; this makes away the animal taste, which is offensive to some, but does not harden the white or yolk so as to make them difficult to digest. An egg, if fresh, is very hard, is difficult of digestion, and kept by those persons possessed of strong stomachs; such eggs should be eaten with bread, and not fried very freely.

Telephone No. 1129

RHODES & SONS,

COMMERCIAL AND . .

GENERAL PRINTERS,

"Rothwell Courier and Times" Office,

2, AIRE STREET.

LEEDS.

TIME TABLE FOR SEPTEMBER.

LEEDS, CROSSGATES, GARFORTH, KIPPAX, & MICKLEFIELD.

	X				A				Y
	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m
Leeds	3 54	5 7	6 30	6 35	6 50	8 0	8 15	8 30	9 13	9 50	10 15	10 35
Marsh Lane		5 11	6 33	6 38	6 53	8 3	8 18	.....	9 16	9 53	10 18	10 38
Crossgates	0	5 20	6 42	6 46	7 1	8 11	8 26	.....	9 25	10 2	10 32	10 47
Garforth		5 27	.....	6 53	7 8	.....	8 33	8 43	.....	.....	10 38	10 43
Kippax		.....	.....	7 15	.....	.....	8 40	.....	.....	.....	.....	10 50
Micklefield		5 38	.....	6.m	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	10 45	10 56

	A
	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Leeds	11 15	12 10	12 36	12 40	1 7	1 25	1 38	1 50	2 10	3 30	4 6	4 25
Marsh Lane	11 18	12 13	12 39	12 43	1 10	1 28	1 41	1 53	2 13	3 33	4 9	4 28
Crossgates	11 26	12 21	12 47	12 51	1 18	1 36	1 49	2 1	2 21	3 41	4 17	4 36
Rural District		12 28	12 44	12 59	1 25	.....	1 55	2 19	2 38	3 48	4 24	4 43
Kippax		12 35	.....	.....	1 32	.....	.....	.....	.....	3 55	.....	.....
Micklefield		.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	2 3	2 25	.....	4 01	.....	.....

	Y				Y
	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Leeds	5 0	5 30	5 43	6 8	6 35	7 15	7 35	8 0
Marsh Lane		5 33	5 46	6 11	6 38	7 18	7 38	8 3
Crossgates	5 8	5 42	5 55	6 20	6 47	7 27	7 47	8 12
Garforth	5 14	.....	6 1	6 26	6 53	7 34	.....	8 18
Kippax		.....	6 23	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Micklefield	5 20	.....	6 0	6 39	.....	.....	.....	8 24

	Y
	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Leeds	8 30	8 56	9 0	9 15	6 47	9 0	9 47	10 45
Marsh Lane	8 33	8 59	9 3	9 18	6 51	9 3	9 50	10 48
Crossgates	8 42	9 8	9 12	9 27	7 0	9 12	9 59	10 57
Garforth	8 48	9 14	9 18	9 33	7 6	9 19	10 6	11 3
Micklefield	8 54	.....	.....	.....	7 15	9 25	10 12	.....

	A
	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m
Leeds	7 54	9 0	9 15	6 47	9 0	9 47	10 45
Marsh Lane	7 57	9 4	9 18	6 51	9 3	9 50	10 48
Crossgates	8 6	9 12	9 27	7 0	9 12	9 59	10 57
Garforth	8 12	9 19	9 33	7 8	9 19	10 6	11 3
Micklefield	8 18	.....	.....	7 15	9 25	10 12	.....

MICKLEFIELD, KIPPAX, GARFORTH, CROSSGATES, & LEEDS.

	A
	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m
Micklefield	.....	6 9	7 8	.....	7 50	.....	.....	8 16	.....	8 50	.....	.....
Kippax	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	8 10	.....	9 50	.....
Garforth	5 16	6 16	7 17	.....	7 57	.....	.....	8 18	8 22	.....	9 59	.....
Crossgates	5 23	6 23	7 23	7 28	8 3	8 17	.....	8 24	8 29	8 58	9 3	9 39
Marsh Lane	5 32	6 32	7 32	7 37	8 14	8 26	8 32	8 37	9	9 10	9 12	9 48
Leeds	5 35	6 35	7 34	7 40	8 16	8 29	8 35	8 40	9	9 15	9 20	10 16

	Y				A		B	Y
	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m
Micklefield	.....	11 44	11 52	.....	1 14	2 4	2 31	3 48
Kippax	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Garforth	11 2	.....	11 52	11 58	.....	2 10	2 12	3 54
Crossgates	11 8	11 35	11 58	12 5	12 5	2 18	2 25	4 00
Marsh Lane	11 16	11 44	12 7	12 14	12 14	2 27	2 34	4 09
Leeds	11 19	11 46	12 9	12 17	12 17	2 30	2 37	4 12

	Y
	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Micklefield	3 33	4 15	.....	5 11	.....	5 57	.....	6 51	7 27	.....	.....	8 5
Kippax	.....	.....	.....	.....	5 17	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	8 14
Garforth	3 39	4 21	.....	5 19	5 25	.....	6 4	.....	6 57	7 33	.....	8 14
Crossgates	3 46	4 28	4 41	.....	5 31	5 37	6 10	6 41	7 4	7 40	7 46	8 10
Marsh Lane	3 54	4 36	4 49	.....	5 39	5 45	6 18	6 49	7 12	7 48	7 54	8 18
Leeds	3 57	4 39	4 54	5 34	5 42	5 49	6 10	6 51	7 15	7 50	7 59	8 21

	C	Y	B
	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Micklefield	8 56	9 38	9 51	11 2
Kippax	.....	.....	10 42	.....
Garforth	.....	9 2	.....	11 2
Crossgates	8 41	9 0	9 39	9 50
Marsh Lane	8 48	9 8	9 47	.....
Leeds	8 53	9 21	9 50	8 10

SUNDAYS
	a.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Micklefield	8 47	.....	6 1	7 46
Garforth	8 53	2 45	6 7	7 52
Crossgates	9 0	2 53	6 13	7 59
Marsh Lane	9 0	3 1	6 21	8 8
Leeds	9 12	3 4	6 23	8 11

SUNDAYS
	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Micklefield	8 47	.....	6 1	7 46
Garforth	8 53	2 45	6 7	7 52
Crossgates	9 0	2 53	6 13	7 59
Marsh Lane	9

[ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.]

THE DOUBLE CHANCE.

By J. S. FLETCHER

Author of "The Threshing Floor," "When Charles I. Was King." "Daniel Quayne," "The Pinfold," &c.

CHAPTER XIII.

If someone had suddenly told Phillipa Manchester that her father had come to life again, she could scarcely have been more surprised than she was by the cashier's announcement. She stared at him with dilating eyes, wondering if he had taken leave of his senses—if some strange event, some sudden illness, had upset his mental balance. But the steadily calm face sitting before her was not Stead's. Stead she had always known—the cool, calm, imperturbable young man, scrupulously dressed after his quiet and almost sombre fashion, and evidently quite master of himself. And she turned white and—as red and white can—when she again realised the significance of the announcement which he had made to her almost as unconcernedly as he might have announced any arrival event connected with the colliery.

"I—I do not understand," she faltered.

The cashier drew his chair a little nearer to hers, and spoke again in his usual even tones and in a guardedly low voice. "I will repeat what I said," he almost whispered. "It is time now for me to clear your cousin Sir Clinton on the charge of——"

Phillipa raised a hand. "Don't, please!" she said. "I can't bear to hear that mentioned. But"—she paused and continued to gaze at him in astonishment—"but if that is the announcement you make, why did you not do so at the hearing before the magistrates?"

Stead, who never ceased to watch her, smiled faintly. It was rarely, as all who knew him were aware, that he ever did smile, and when he did the effect was inscrutable. It seemed to Phillipa that it was more inscrutable than ever on this occasion.

"It was perhaps not in my power to do so then," he said.

"Why, I see," said Phillipa; "you have heard of new evidence—perhaps you have discovered some! Of course, you will see the solicitor and the police, at once, Mr. Stead?"

She was wondering why he had not gone to police and solicitor before, instead of coming to her. And, as if his deep eyes were able to read her very thoughts, he immediately referred to what was in her mind.

"I came to you in the first instance," he said.

"Yes—why particularly to me?" she asked.

"Because you are the first person concerned," he answered.

Again Phillipa gazed at him in blank wonder. It was a full minute before she could find words.

"I?" she exclaimed. "I think my cousin Sir Clinton is the first person concerned, Mr. Stead!"

The cashier again smiled his faint, inscrutable smile. "In a certain sense, yes," he said; "in another sense, no."

"I still fail to comprehend your meaning," she said.

Stead, who had been smoothing the hat which lay on his knee, and regarding it as he might have regarded a cat or a pet dog, suddenly looked at her with a penetrating gaze.

"On the evidence that was put before the magistrates, do you think your cousin will be acquitted?" he asked her.

Phillipa felt herself beginning to be ashamed. She knew that her father had trusted Marshall Stead, that he had encouraged and helped him, and had allowed him to be intimate, but she herself had always felt a curious dislike of him, amounting almost to repulsion, and she had a keener instinct than any personal arguments with him. And her tone unconsciously assumed something of coldness and reserve.

"I do not see any necessity for discussing that," she replied.

"Pardon me," said Stead, "but I do. It is relative to what I have to say. Miss Manners-ley, I think you should not have heard your cousin——naturally."

Phillipa felt that he had got the best of her there, and was none the better pleased with herself.

"In that case," she said, "yes, I do think Sir Clinton will be acquitted."

Stead inclined his head as if he had quite expected her answer. "So a great many people think and say," he observed. "I rely on the evidence of the man King—Ginger King."

"I believe," said Phillipa, who was becoming more and more displeased, "I believe that King's evidence has been proved to be true."

"By whom?" asked Stead.

"By the police," answered Phillipa.

Stead looked. He looked round the room, not as if searching for possible eavesdroppers, but as though considering something. After a moment's silence he faced Phillipa again.

"Miss Mannersley," he said, "King's evidence was false. King was not outside the Castle that night. As a matter of fact—of truth—Phillipa, at the time he said he was at the Castle, outside that particular window, was poaching." And at the next hearing King's evidence will be proved by the two men who were with him in Littlecote Spinney."

Phillipa stared at him with eyes in which incredulousness struggled with fear. "But the boot-prints!" she exclaimed.

"These men will prove that King, seeing a light in the study window as they passed, all three, down the lane at the side of your grounds, climbed over a wall to look, for

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS

A RELIEVING OFFICER'S PROMOTION.

HOW MONEY IS SPENT BY RECIPIENTS OF RELIEF.

The fortnightly meeting of the Hunslet Board of Guardians was held at the Guardian Offices, Hunslet, on Wednesday afternoon—Mr J. Gavins (vice-chairman), presiding. Other members present were: Mrs E. Parker Dickenson, Rev. T. Cody, Messrs T. G. Conyers, P. S. Marsden, D. W. Hargreaves, J. Bannister, E. B. Pickersgill, J. Butterick, T. Bennett, W. Lunn, J. W. Verity, W. Hemingway, H. I. Pulford, G. W. Peace, Dr. E. Groves, with the Clerk (Mr F. W. Mee).

HOMES COMMITTEE.

At a meeting of the Children's Homes Committee a letter was received from the Rothwell Urban District Council with further reference to the charges for water supply, and asking to be furnished with further information respecting supplies to the other authorities' institutions referred to by the Guardians. It was resolved that the Clerk be instructed to furnish the desired information as far as possible.

A circular letter was received from the Board of Agriculture suggesting the expediency of giving away to cottagers for autumn planting any spare seedlings to help to maintain the food supplies of the country during and after the war, and the desirability of employers arranging for any practical gardeners in their service giving instruction and help to persons with gardens to enable them to get the best results from such gardens. It was suggested that the best way in which the committee might help would be by cultivating all the spare land for corn for one year. It was resolved that the matter be adjourned for a month.

HOUSE COMMITTEE.

At a meeting of the House Committee the minutes reported that there had been one death in the institution during the past fortnight. A letter similar to that received by the Homes Committee from the Board of Agriculture was read, and it was resolved that the matter be authorized to give any seedlings not wanted to suitable applicants.

The Clerk submitted a letter from the Yorkshire Vagrancy Committee asking for his advice as to the number and position of any of the proposed bread stations which should be provided in the Union, and enquired the views of the committee thereon. It was proposed by Mr Appleyard, and seconded by Mr Conyers, that it be recommended that a bread station be provided in Hunslet Road. An amendment was proposed by Mr Stead, and seconded by Mr Pulford, to substitute that it be left with the Clerk to suggest a suitable station or stations, having regard to the geographical conditions. This was carried, the resolution being lost. A further amendment was proposed by Father Cody, and seconded by Mr W. Verity, that in the opinion of this committee it is not desirable to have any bread station whatever in the Union. Upon a vote being taken the further amendment was lost.

MISS SEDMAN'S REQUEST.

The minutes of the Finance and General Purposes Committee showed that a letter was received from Miss Sedman, the former vaccination officer of the Union, asking that a cheque be made out to her in payment of the amount due to her for vaccination fees, and that such be sent on to her at Sydney, New South Wales. It was resolved that the Guardians be instructed to pay the amount on the production of a receipt.

Mr Bennett asked when the amount was due for, and the Clerk replied that the amount—£6 16s.—was for fees accruing over to her when she went out to Australia.

The minutes were passed.

RELIEVING OFFICER'S PROMOTION.

A letter was read from Mr G. W. Steel, relieving officer, of Rothwell, who is at present stationed at Beckett's Park, Leeds, thanking the Board for their kindness in allowing him part of his salary while he is away. The letter added that the Guardians might be pleased to hear that since he had settled at Beckett's Park he had been twice promoted, firstly to corporal on August 19th, and secondly to sergeant on August 24th, which meant an increase in his daily allowance from the War Office of 2s. 2d. He suggested that the Guardians might wish to reconsider their proposal at the last meeting.

After various suggestions it was decided to endorse the amount allowed by one-third.

HOW MONEY IS SPENT.

A lengthy letter was read by the Clerk from Miss Conyers, the assistant relieving officer, asking the application of the allowances of relief. After four months' experience, Miss Conyers wrote, she was dissatisfied with the manner in which people who were in receipt of relief from the Guardians are using their money. Very often it was pointed out, food which was quite unsuitable and not nourishing was given to the children. She suggested that the Guardians give her permission to have pamphlets printed containing recipes for nourishing food.

Father Cody moved that where Miss Conyers came across cases of people putting relief money to the wrong purpose, such people be brought before the committee, while in future the assistant relieving officer continue to give people any necessary advice.

The Clerk said it would be very difficult to single cases out.

Mr Bennett, who did not agree with the proposal, said that the people who received relief were not the class of people to take such advice kindly.

Mr Butterick said the letter showed that Miss Conyers was very anxious to fulfil her duties in the best possible manner. He would point out, however, that the Guardians were only there to administer relief and not to say in what way the money should be used.

Mrs Dickenson, who spoke in support of Mrs Conyers' suggestion, said she thought the Guardians were looking at the proposal in a very strong light. There would be no harm, such people would take no offence if recipes were sent them.

Dr Groves agreed.

Mr Gavins, who said that no resolution was before them in the matter, was also of the opinion that the letter had not been looked at in the proper light. The assistant relieving officer only asked that she should give advice to the women and to the best kind of food to provide for the children at the cheapest possible rate. It was neither a rule nor a regulation that Miss Conyers had expressed herself willing to undertake to give such advice. Another point was that when some of these people received the relief allowed, they should be called to in a different manner than they were at the present time. He was in a better position perhaps than any other member of the Board to note such people. He knew women who received relief from the Union who could attend a picture house two or three times a week. He asked in all seriousness whether the money in such cases was being used in the best possible manner for the children. He came across a woman only the other day who had lost her husband recently, and who was in receipt of 12s. per week from the Guardians. She had told him that she was in a better position to-day than when her husband was alive. Mr Gavins added that he was of the opinion that it was for them to educate the people how to use the money in the best possible way.

Mr J. W. Verity said he did not object to Miss Conyers giving the advice.

The Chairman again intimated that no resolution was required, and it was decided that the Board proceed with the next business.

TADCASTER GUARDIANS AND DISTRICT COUNCIL

DISTRESS COMMITTEE FORMED FOR THE DISTRICT.

The fortnightly meeting of Tadcaster Guardians and District Council was held at Tadcaster on Monday—Ald. E. C. Brooksbank, J.P. (Chairman), presiding. Other members present were Mr J. W. Blackburn (vice-chairman), Miss Bethell (Newton Kyme), Rev. Canon Grenwood (Grimston), Rev. C. D. Ash (Sexton), Messrs W. Sykes, C.C. (Tadcaster), W. Simpson (Sandy), E. Parkin, J.P. (Kippax), H. P. Clinch (Tadcaster), W. Y. K. Young (Aberford), T. Carlton (Stutton), T. H. Prater (Partington), A. Chippendale (Scholes), R. Wright (Barwick), W. A. Dickinson (Kippax), E. Parker (Ledsham), F. Phillips (Allerton Bywater), J. H. Schofefield (Oxton), J. Wordsworth (Great Preston), E. Midgley (Colton), J. J. Foster (Sherburn), W. Pearson (Allerton Bywater), H. E. Lowe (Great Preston), A. Watson (Steeton), W. B. Gray (Church Fenton), M. H. Copley (Ryther), A. Johnson (South Milford), J. Nettleton (Tadcaster), and J. Y. Wheatley (Appleton Roebuck).

The Guardians were reported to have a balance in hand of £1,284 18s. 6d.

During the previous two weeks there had been four admissions to the House, and two discharges. There are at present 86 inmates of the Workhouse, and 17 at the Bilbrough Cottage Home, against a total of 104 at the same date last year. Forty-nine vagrants had been dealt with, being the same number as a year ago.

A communication was read from the Local Government Board to the effect that it had been decided to refund to the relatives of the wives and dependents of soldiers and Territorials the relief granted to such persons since the advent of the war from the Prince of Wales' Fund. The Board up to the present have had no case.

Communications from the Yorkshire Poor Law Association on the way-ticket system for vagrants—the fixing of bread stations, etc.—were referred to the House Committee.

The House Committee had held before them a circular letter respecting the scheme of training and the examination of nurses in poor law infirmaries, and the Clerk was directed to obtain further information for the benefit of the committee.

It was decided to advertise for tenders for the usual half-yearly supplies.

The Local Government Board have returned the plan of suggested alterations at the Workhouse, and say that further improvements are needed. It was decided to place the suggestions before Messrs Bromet and Thornton, architects.—It was resolved not to advise the lightning conductors suggested.—It was agreed to advertise for a new bread nurse.

The Local Government Board wrote sanctioning the increase in the salary of the Clerk recently granted by the Board.

A circular letter from the Sedgefield Union, asking that the attention of the Local Government Board and the War Office be drawn to the question of able-bodied vagrants, and that all such between 19 and 30 years of age should be compelled to become soldiers, was ordered to be laid on the table.

The Local Government Board further wrote recommending that Boards of Guardians should make provision for any servant going on active service.

DISTRICT COUNCIL.

The District Council had in hand £6,201 10s. 4d.

The Highways Committee granted permission for the opening of a road at Sherburn for drainage purposes.—Following a communication from the County Council as to the provision of work for the unemployed, the surveyor was directed to prepare a statement of the work required to be done in the district, and the Clerk was directed to write to the County Council for further particulars as to who would bear the cost of the various works carried out.

The Building and Sanitary Committee rejected plans for a proposed building at Kippax.—A house at Great Preston was reported to be in a filthy condition, and the occupier was given seven days' notice in which to put it right.—An alleged nuisance caused by the keeping of pigs and fowls in a back yard at Well Lane, Kippax, was reported, and a notice was ordered to be served requiring the abatement of the same.—A notice was also ordered to be served upon a Kippax man to connect a pig sty to the sewer.—Plans for a proposed extension to a school at Sherburn were approved, as were those for a shed on the premises of Mr G. H. Moon.—A guard was ordered to be placed round the pumps and engines at Sherburn sewage works.—Scavenging contracts were accepted for Allerton Bywater, Lock Lane, and Barwick.

A letter respecting the guarding of the reservoir at Kippax was referred to the Water Committee.

The Local Government Board's circular asking the Council to take steps to deal with any cases of smallpox which might occur was handed on to the medical officer.

DISTRESS COMMITTEE.

The Chairman said that at the last meeting they adjourned the question of a sub-committee under the West Riding Distress Committee until they knew what had been done by the County Council, and in order to put the question into proper form. The District Council they had nothing to do with Garforth, which place would look after its own applicants. He (the Chairman) would suggest that the whole District Council be formed into a sub-committee, so that every parish would be represented, and that they appoint a member from the societies recommended by the County Council. Their own members covered the Poor Law Guardians, the Insurance Committee, Education Sub-Committees, employers of labour, Soldiers' and Sailors' Associations, so that they would then only need representatives of trades unions, special women's organizations, and other philanthropic agencies. He would also suggest that Mr Herbert Smith (Chairman of the West Riding Miners' Association) be asked to nominate someone from his organization to serve on the committee. They had a special women's organization in Tadcaster, of which Mrs G. A. Bromet was the leader, and he suggested that she be asked to join the committee. They should also have representatives from the industrial centres, and from the agricultural community in their area. They should also add Mr Wordsworth, as chairman of the Relief Committee. The Chairman's suggestions as to a sub-committee from the whole committee was also agreed to, Mr H. E. Lowe being appointed to represent Great Preston, Mr W. Pearson for Allerton Bywater, Mr Blackburn for Swillington, Mr Linnicker for Micklefield, Mr W. A. Dickinson for Kippax, Messrs T. H. Prater, R. Wright, and J. Y. Wheatley for the agriculturists, Mr W. Sykes for the employers of labour, Mrs Bromet for the philanthropic agencies, and Mr Herbert Smith for the Miners' Association.

A good deal of correspondence on the subject was referred to the foregoing committee.

The seal of the Council was affixed to the scavenging contracts.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A CONTRADICTION FROM WOODLESFORD.

(To the Editor)

Sir,—A persistent rumour has been circulated in this district that my son is, to use a common phrase, a "pro[illegible]."

The best answer to this fabrication that I can give is to state that he volunteered for active service three weeks ago.—Yours, etc.

A. J. E. IRVIS.

Woodlesford Vicarage, Sept. 3rd, 1914

ONE THING AND ANOTHER.

WORLD'S LARGEST INSECTS.

The largest insects in the world are described by O. W. Barrett in the Philippine Agricultural Review. The largest known winged orthopter is a species of phasmid, or walking-stick (Palophus titan sjostedt) recently discovered in Nyassaland. Its body is 10 1-2in. long. Borneo boasts a wingless phasmid (Phobaeticus Kirbyi redt.) 13in. long. This is the largest living insect, but was surpassed by a dragon-fly like insect (Meganeura monyi, brongn.), with wing expanse of 20in. and a body 14in. long, which flourished in France in the Carboniferous period.

THE FIRST ENGLISH MARTYR.

St. Alban—whose festival is marked as June 17th in the Book of Common Prayer, but in the old calendar of the Church of England as June 22nd—is a person of some historical importance, as well as a saint of the Roman Catholic Church. It is believed he was of British birth, though he had most likely been educated by the Romans, who then ruled the country, and he was an officer in the Roman army.

It is ordinarily accepted that he was born in the town now called St. Albans in his honour, and there, beyond all doubt, he was martyred by the Romans in consequence of his adherence to the Christian faith. The story connected with his canonisation is that, while a pagan, he saved a confessor who was being pursued by his persecutors by concealing him in his own house, and going out to meet the soldiers in the confessor's clothes.

Alban was taken before the magistrate, and, declaring his conversion to Christianity, refused to sacrifice to the gods. He was scourged and finally led forth to be beheaded. A great multitude thronged the bridge across the river, whose waters divided when St. Alban reached it, and he passed over dryshod. The soldier ordered to execute him therefore threw down his sword, declaring that he would rather die with him than put him to death. Thereupon both were beheaded on the hill on which the great monastery of St. Albans was built by Offa, King of the Mercians, some 400 years after his martyrdom. Afterwards, on the site of the monastery was erected the fine cathedral which still stands.

THE FLOWERS OF MIDSUMMER

Midsummer has a flower "all on her own," the St. John's Wort (Hypericum), which to this day forms the badge of the Mackinnon clan. Of this plant there are at least a dozen varieties indigenous to Britain, but all of them are credited throughout Western Europe not merely with many medicinal virtues, but with being a sure preventive of the evils resulting from the machinations of witches, demons, or magicians, who at this time of the year were very troublesome to our ancestors. Although belief in the supernatural powers of St. John's Wort has waned, and the medicinal properties are in great measure imaginary, it is a very useful plant by reason of the red or yellow dye yielded by the flower buds, which also produce a red varnish still popular with upholsterers.

THE RECTOR'S NEW APPOINTMENT.—The Rev. W. H. Draper, M.A., rector of Aird, has been appointed Examining Chaplain to the Bishop of Ripon.

The Rev. C. H. Stockdale, curate at Bolton Percy, owing to the dearth of labour caused by farm hands being called up for service, has been assisting a local agriculturist.

A LABOURER'S COSTLY LAUGHTER.—At the Eastern Ainsty Petty Sessions held at York on Saturday Frank McGhee, labourer, of Askham Bryan, was fined 10s. and 7s. 6d. costs for using obscene language in the village on August 24th.—P.C. Taylor proved the case.

GUARDIANS AND TRAMPS.—A question of an interesting character was submitted at Friday's meetings of the Wharfedale Guardians, when the Sedgefield Board asked that the Wharfedale Guardians to pass a resolution asking the Local Government Board and the War Office to consider the advisability of posting legislation with a view to utilizing the services of the male tramp population for the country. Mr H. J. Bambridge said they were not considering the question in a cheap patriotic spirit. It seemed to him that if they were going to pass resolutions that a certain class of people should be sent out to the war it would be those who were exploiting the country by refusing to sell except at exorbitant prices. Patriotism was not shown by flying flags on motor-cars or by shouting tin bugles. Patriotism was something which came home in our daily life, and he hoped they would not spoil it by jibes at those who were not going to serve. Probably they had their duty at home. He moved an amendment that the words "War Office" be omitted from the resolution, but this only met with the support of the proposer and seconder, and the original resolution was carried.

FINAL REDUCTIONS
— AT —
SMITH & PETTY'S
Summer Sale,
44, Lowerhead Row, LEEDS
Three Doors from Briggate.
FIVE PRICES :—
3s. 5s. 7s. 10s. 15s.
FOR
COSTUMES, DRESSES, RAINCOATS, &c., &c
Best Value ever Offered.
Genuine Bargains. See Windows.

BEST & BOOTH
Tailors & Costumiers,
119, KIRKGATE,
— AND —
143, BRIGGATE
(Corner of Market Street), LEEDS.
Ladies' Department—143, BRIGGATE.
Look Out for B. & B.

Telephones—CENTRAL 1294.
" CROSSGATES 6.
DOBSON & CO.,
— WHOLESALE & RETAIL —
Hay, Straw, Flour, & Horse Corn Merchants, & Contractors,
SEACROFT, AND
70, 72, and 74, Victoria Road, LEEDS.
Orders will be promptly delivered or supplied at either SEACROFT or LEEDS Address.
PIGEON CORN A SPECIALITY.

Telephone No. 1129.
RHODES & SONS,
Posters,
Handbills,
Circulars,
Business Cards,
Balance Sheets,
Fixture Cards,
Catalogues,
Ball Programmes
and . .
Every description
of . .
General and Commercial
Printing.
Commercial and General Printers
Lithographers,
Bookbinders, &c.
ORDERS BY POST OR TELEPHONE PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
Magazines, Periodicals, &c.,
Bound to any Pattern. . .
2 AIRE STREET
LEEDS.

EXCITING COLLIERY STORY!
"The Double Chance"
By J. S FLETCHER, the well-known Novelist,
IN THE
"Rothwell Courier and Times"
START NOW. START NOW.

TEASDALE'S CHLORODYNE
IF PEOPLE ONLY KNEW THE VALUE OF
TEASDALE'S CHLORODYNE
Read what Mr S. Leigh, Hessle Road, Hull, says:—"I have had the diarhœa very acutely, and nothing would do me any good. I saw an advertisement of TEASDALE'S CHLORODYNE, and decided to try it, and after only one dose of 20 drops I had immediate relief. If people only knew how soon they could be cured I am sure they would not hesitate to pay £1 a drop.
Try what you will there is no finer cure for Diarrhœa, Dysentery, and Bowel Complaint than the grand old remedy.
TEASDALE'S CHLORODYNE.
It has cured thousands, and will cure you. Have Teasdale's Chlorodyne in the house in case of sudden attacks.
Trial Bottle only 7½d., Double size 13½d., and Family Bottles 2s. 6d.
Can be had of PURDY, Crossgates; RENNARD, Halton, and other Chemists; GOODALL, BACKHOUSE & Co., and TAYLOR'S Drug Stores.
ASK FOR TEASDALE'S CHLORODYNE.

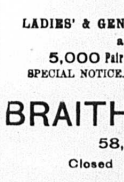
LEEDS AND HOLBECK PERMANENT BUILDING SOCIETY.
96 ALBION STREET (Corner of Guildford Street, LEEDS).
DAILY from 10 to 3, Saturdays 10 to 1 and Saturday Evenings 6.30 to 8.
3½ PER CENT. INTEREST ALLOWED ON SUBSCRIPTION & PAID UP SHARES
3 PER CENT. ALLOWED ON DEPOSITS.
WITHDRAWALS CAN BE MADE AT SHORT NOTICE.
PROSPECTUS ON APPLICATION.
Telephone No. 253
JNO. EXLEY, President.
WM. MAUDE, Manager & Secretary.

FAINTING.

If people would only understand and constantly remember that Nature wisely takes care of the person who faints, and puts him in the best position for recovery—that is, lying down—the foolish practice of making a pillow of something to put under the head and trying to make the one who has fainted sit up would cease. This is the very worst thing that could be done.

Usually, no treatment at all is required in fainting, says Health. The first, the indispensable, thing to do is to lay the person down flat at once, the head must be put as low as the body; then raise the body and legs a few inches from the ground, the feet six or eight inches, thereby causing the head to be lower than the body, and consciousness will return immediately.

The simplicity of this procedure should cause everyone to know and remember it easily; its efficacy is quick and perfect, and nothing else is required. Holding smelling salts to the nose tends to excite the nerves of sensation and rousing the heart, but to renewed activity is useful. It is, however, far from being essential, and in most cases is not at all necessary.



A CURE FOR EARACHE.

In earache, drop one drop of tincture of aconite upon a piece of cotton wool and insert in the affected ear. When the pain is gone remove the medicated cotton wool and replace it with a piece of warm unmedicated cotton wool.

DON'TS FOR BATHERS.

The following "don'ts" for bathers have been compiled: Don't bathe (1) within two hours after a meal; (2) when exhausted by fatigue or from any other cause; (3) when the body is cooling from perspiration. Don't chill the body by sitting or standing undressed on the shore or in boats after having been in the water. Don't remain in the water after the slightest sensation of chill. Don't bathe in the open air at all if the hands and feet speedily become numbed. But bathe when the body is warm; don't take long about getting into the water.

Wistow, with a population of some 200, has already furnished 16 men for Lord Kitchener's Army.

THE CHALLENGE!
Never Beaten
BRAITHWAITE'S
"The Firm with a Reputation."
ARE NOW MAKING A
SPECIAL SHOW OF NEW GOODS
In all the LATEST STYLES, for
SPRING and SUMMER WEAR.
LADIES' & GENT.'S BOOTS & SHOES in Immense Variety at Prices to Suit all Purses.
5,000 Pairs of Children's Boots & Shoes. Newest Designs.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—We are still offering a lot of Odd Pairs at Ridiculously Low Prices until Cleared
BRAITHWAITE'S, The Value for Money : Boot Stores, :
58, VICAR LANE, LEEDS.
Closed at 1 o'clock on Wednesdays.

Printed and Published by ARTHUR KNOX RHODES, of 26, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates, for the Proprietors of the "Rothwell Courier and Times" at their offices, 1, Aire Street, Leeds, in the County of York.

"The Rothwell Courier and Times" IS THE Only Weekly Newspaper PUBLISHED in the DISTRICT

Rothwell Courier & Times

AND

Methley, Oulton, Woodlesford, Carlton, Robin Hood, Lofthouse, Middleton, Stourton & Hunslet Chronicle

NO. 39—NEW SERIES. [Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.] SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1914 ESTAB. 1873 PRICE—ONE PENNY

Joshua Tetley & Son (Limited), THE BREWERY, LEEDS.

NOW READY IN BOTTLE.

East India Pale Ale, 2/- per dozen Small Bottles

Extra Stout, 1/9 per dozen Small Bottles.

Special (Non-Deposit) Mild Ale, 3/- dozen Large Bottles.

Delivered Free to Families within 20 Miles of Leeds.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

EMPIRE PALACE, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.

TWO PERFORMANCES EVERY NIGHT. AT 6.50 AND AT 9.

Early Doors Monday, Tuesday, and Saturday, at 6 p.m.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 14th, 1914.

First Visit to Leeds of the London West End Favourites,

EDMUND GWENN AND HILDA TREVELYAN

In the Celebrated One Act Play, "THE TWELVE POUND LOOK." WOODHOUSE AND WEEDS. SYD WALKER. ALFRED H. WEST. PIP POWELL & KATE VESEY. ARTHUR PERRISS. WYOTTI. KITTY COLYER.

Comedienne and Expert Speciality Dancer. Latest War News and Actual Films from the Front shown on the Bioscope.

Prices, 10s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 5s., 2s. 6d., 1s., 6d., 4d., 3d.

HIPPODROME, LEEDS.

Performances Nightly at 6.30 and 9.

NEXT WEEK.

DAVID DEVANT.

Special Family Matinee of Devant's Mysteries only, Saturday, September 19th.

4 CURTIS'S

DE WYNNE BROS.

JOSIE DELAINE.

WAR! News and Incidents in Picture.

F. V. ST. CLAIR.

FRED BARNES.

Note Prices:—10s. 6d., 7s., 6d., and 4d.

Gent's. 9ct. & 18ct. Bangle Rings

Large Assortment always in Stock at

J. WINTERHALDER'S,

Watchmaker, Jeweller, & Optician,

13, New York Street, LEEDS

(Opposite the Yorkshire Penny Bank, Kirkgate.

Repairs of all kinds a Speciality.

DRAINS TESTED AND REPAIRED.

SANITARY WORK A SPECIALITY

Pump Repairs, Electric Bells, Glazing and Gasfitting.

James Smithies,

Registered Plumber & Contractor

Residence:—

42, AUSTHORPE ROAD, CROSSGATES.

Wm. HELLIWELL,

The Working Man's Friend,

212, Hunslet Rd., LEEDS

WATCH WINDOWS FOR GOOD HONEST VALUE.

Special Suits

From 30/-

NO FIT. NO PAY.

Established 1868. SPARKLING HOSFERRGDE Trade Mark

An Exhilarating & Refreshing Beverage.

OBTAINABLE IN HOTELS RESTAURANTS & BARS

REYNOLDS & BRANSON Ltd LEEDS.

For TOWN or COUNTRY.

For BUSINESS or PLEASURE.

THE FABOR LOUNGE SUIT

AT

Fabor 45/-

Is the Hall-mark of Perfect Tailoring.

LOUNGE SUITS from 35/-

COSTUMES from 2 Guineas.

Tailor Made & Perfect Fit Guaranteed.

24, Queen Victoria Street, and County Arcade, LEEDS.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT JOTTINGS.

Is it not time the Hunslet Guardians instituted a thorough investigation as to how the money they give in relief is expended. The question of food values is important, but many people, apart from paupers, do not understand it, and have no desire for instruction, so that the Guardians cannot say too much on that score. They have a right, however, to interfere when they know the money they give is spent on amusement. The Chairman told his colleagues that he knows women in receipt of relief who go to picture houses two or three times a week, and that should surely be stopped. Relief should be given in kind, or money supplies either stopped or curtailed. It is a pretty pass when ratepayers have to find money for the amusement of recipients of relief. Every suspected case should be watched and promptly dealt with. The Guardians owe that to the ratepayers.

Is there a prospect of the electric light being introduced at Garforth? There was some talk about it at the last meeting of the Urban Council, but this is not the time for starting big schemes. The Council, however, should be very careful what they do in regard to the application of the Yorkshire Electric Power Co., who have asked them to support a bill to confer lighting powers on them. If the Company obtain what they desire they will have a monopoly in the district, and is it advisable for the Council to allow that? If there is to be any monopoly it should belong to Garforth itself and not to a Company existing for the express purpose of earning dividends, and not public convenience.

Barkston Ash has made a splendid response to the country's call for men, and practically every village in the district has now representatives serving with the Colours. At a meeting at Halton the other night one of the speakers pointed out the fine example of the Island of Lewis, which had sent 3,500 men, or one in eight of the population, to fight the country's battles, and it was stated that if Leeds were to contribute men in equal proportion it would raise a force of nearly 70,000. Leeds has a good many men serving in the Navy, Army, and Territorials, but it is not likely that the total number will be anything like that indicated.

Wetherby had, up to last week-end, contributed 114 men, or about one in twenty of its population, and it has the best figures for the district. Selby has a higher percentage—one in fifteen—having turned out 650 men, but it must be remembered that this is a special case, because at one very large works in the town employment is given to Reservists, who are drawn from all parts of the country, when a Wetherby reply's contingent is largely made up of natives. A good many recruits have, I understand, left Wetherby this week, so it's possible that its actual figures are now better than those of the Abbey Town.

How does Wetherby district fare as well? It is largely owing to the efforts of one man. When the call went forth for men Mr Mestrick, the agent for the Monsaga estates, who served in the South African War, determined that the district should do its duty, and he became a most valuable recruiting officer. Day and night he worked with the greatest enthusiasm, and whenever young men were in the cottage, harvesting field, and street—there he was to be found, exercising his persuasive powers, and the young men answered nobly to his call. One contingent, about forty-five in number, who left last week, were entertained to dinner in the inhabitants of the town, and then they were conveyed by a fleet of motor-cars to the headquarters at York, amidst scenes of the greatest enthusiasm.

And the dependents of these men will be well looked after. Mr Mestrick and those working with him will see to that. One young fellow, anxious to enlist, was troubled about throwing up his work, and he went to Mr Mestrick. Would he guarantee him work when he returned home? The answer was thoroughly satisfactory, and the young fellow is probably now clad in khaki. That is the way to get recruits.

It must not be forgotten that many young men in joining the Army are making sacrifices altogether out of proportion to those made by wealthy people, multitudes of whom have only a very slight inkling as to what their duty is. Send I hope that individuals, if all events, the persons who have the power and the means will see that the men who have thrown up everything in order to serve their country do not suffer. Many employers, who have been hard hit by the stagnation in trade, are doing their utmost to keep their businesses going and so prevent distress, and if other people in responsible positions give a substantial backing suffering will be reduced to a minimum.

A correspondent suggests that the Micklefield Colliery Fund might be utilised in the maintenance of the dependents of miners who have enlisted, and while it is possible the trustees, were they asked, would give consideration to the question, it must be remembered that the families indicated will be treated in precisely the same way as those of men belonging to other occupations. If they received equal treatment they could not very well expect more, and in a national crisis, where so many are drawing from a common fund, is it advisable that resources which may be needed at another time should be utilised for the benefit of a section?

Templenewsam people are apparently disinclined to take measures for the formation of a men's section of the Aberford Ambulance League. Not a single person in the large audience that assembled at Halton the other night could raise sufficient enthusiasm to support the appeal of the Rev. J. Miller Hamilton for the starting of an ambulance class, and the example of the Garforth men, a number of whom have joined the R.A.M.C., was not followed. It is possible that something may be done this winter, but no little enthusiasm is required to maintain an interest in this work.

At Halton, where, by the way, an hospital, with beds and all equipment, is ready for the reception of wounded soldiers or sailors—the ladies shame the men in their enthusiasm for ambulance work—an appeal was made to people not to give charity indiscriminately. In no place that I know is the advice so much needed, and in many instances in the past the generosity of people has simply been abused. If people stand by the Distress Committee there will be no danger of over-lapping and all needs will be met. During the coal strike there was considerable distress at Halton, and a number of residents gave to the needy ones with a generous hand. There was no system about the giving, however, and one poor woman confessed that, although her husband was a wage-earner, she had been better off during the industrial trouble than throughout the whole of her married life.

Kippax Education Committee were greatly concerned at their last meeting about the advances made to teachers' salaries by the Education Authority, and it looked as if there were some antagonism to the proposal. The County Committee have a scale for teachers' salaries, and, if the headmasters' reports on the staffs are satisfactory, advances are given every year until the maximum is reached. That is a very simple explanation, isn't it? It might be a bad job for some of the teachers if there were no scale. Personally I think teachers should be well paid, but I also think that a very high standard of efficiency should be demanded from them.

A good hint for Distress Committees comes from Oulton. In obtaining funds collectors will not receive large donations in the great majority of cases, because the people cannot afford to give large sums, but if they are willing to undertake the work they may easily get weekly contributions, which will eventually amount up to a tidy sum. At Oulton, I am told, the Boy Scouts make collections, and they receive, in coppers, sums of from 30s. upwards per week. This is something the scouts may do, and certainly very few would, I believe, give the job a miss. At nearly all the local collieries and large mills the men are subscribing to a weekly levy for the War Fund, and if a house-to-house collection were made in every village weekly, excellent results would, I believe, be obtained.

One of the Tadcaster fire-eaters—Mr Wailes-Fairbairn—in order to encourage enlistment offered bounties to the men on his estate, but his efforts have met with no favour from the authorities. He posted a notice to the following effect:—

"It is the duty of every unmarried man of right age and medically fit, to fight for his country; if he won't do this he is no man, and his neighbours should shun him and the women look down upon him. In any man in my employ who enlists for active service abroad for the period of the war, I will give a bounty of £5, and keep his pigeon-pen for him on his return. To any man in my employ who enlists for home defence, I will give a bounty of £2, and keep his place open for him."

Mr Wailes-Fairbairn was not the only person who offered bounties, and the practice called forth a rebuke from the authorities. "The crossing over on the part of private persons of giving bonuses to men who enlist is," we are told, "discountenanced by the Army Council, who, although recognising the patriotic and generous spirit shown by the donors, point out that more harm than good may be done to recruiting in the long run. Those not receiving bounties will naturally be discontented, and men may even hang back from recruiting in the hope of being offered a bounty." The better plan, as some employers are doing, is to guarantee whole or part wages while the men are on active service.

As Distress Committees to be formed in the various parishes in Tadcaster rural area? Hunslet District Council's plan is an admirable one. First of all, the Council was formed into a Committee, and then in each parish in the area a local committee was elected at a public meeting. By this means any distress that occurs will soon be known, and a good sum will be raised for relief purposes, inasmuch as a fund has been opened in each place. This plan seems to commend itself to the Tadcaster District Council, who should not let the opportunity slip of enlisting sympathy and support from all quarters.

Will Barwick adopt public lighting? A few years have elapsed since a generously-disposed lady purchased a powerful lamp, which was erected on the village cross, and she lighted the place free of cost. An unsympathetic gentleman—the agent of the lord of the manor—looked upon the putting of the lamp on the cross as a piece of vandalism, and he ordered its removal, and, of course, it had to be taken down. Since then the Barwickers have had to walk in darkness. Recently gas was introduced to the village, and there is a desire apparently on the part of some of the residents to see Barwick brought into line with Aberford by the adoption of public lighting. The Parish Council will, I suppose, discuss the matter first, but before anything can be done a parish meeting must adopt the Lighting Act. Should the project come before the ratepayers it will then be seen whether or not they are willing to pay a small rate for the dispelling of the darkness which enshrouds Barwick of nights.

Following Tadcaster Board's resolution refusing to support the Sedgefield's Union's proposal to utilise tramps as soldiers, the Selby Guardians have very properly taken a similar course, and it is surprising that so many Boards have given it their support. The Chairman of the Selby Board stated that the tramps "would not be worth the cost of carriage to the front," and I quite agree with him. They would form the worst fighting material any country could obtain.

THE MINERS' BATTALION.

Active progress is being made with the formation of the Miners' Battalion, which the West Yorkshire Coal Owners' Association have offered to provide as one of the regiments for Lord Kitchener's Army. Col. J. R. Shaw, of Cardey Hall, Doncaster, has received authorisation from the War Office to proceed with the raising of the battalion, which is to consist of 1,200 healthy men between the ages of 19 and 35, enlisted under Lord Kitchener's new army scheme for three years' service or the duration of the war.

Lord Kitchener has specially directed that the battalion shall be designated the "Pontefract Battalion of the King's Own (Yorkshire Light Infantry)." It had been contemplated in the initial stages that it should be known as the Coal Trade or Miners' Battalion, but this proposal has been over-ruled by the authorities.

The Earl of Mexborough has given £500 to the National Relief Fund.

Mr J. N. Crowther, of Thorner, has sent £1 to the West Riding Relief Fund.

The Misses Nussey, of Thorner, have given £4 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

Mr W. J. Sainsbury, of Thorner, has contributed a guinea to the Belgian Relief Fund.

A sum of £4 3s. 1d., collected at Bardsey Church, has been sent to Lord Harewood's Fund.

RECRUITING MEETING.—On Monday evening a public meeting was held at the Institute, Aberford, for the purpose of getting young men to offer their services to the country. Col. Gascoigne presided, and he was supported by Mr Lund (Bewa Hall), M. E. O. Simpson (Harewood Castle), M. J. H. Prater, and Mr Childe. Addresses were given by these gentlemen, and several recruits were obtained for the Army. Mr Hervey exhibited excellent limelight views of the countries in which the war is taking place, and gave a description of them as they were thrown on the screen.

TEADMOOR AND FIELD-MUSTED.—A meeting of the Provisional Committee appointed at the to-out conference of representatives of a number of West Riding Unions for the purpose of making provision for the treatment of the feeble-minded was held at Otley on Friday. It was decided that at a conference of West Riding Unions, to be held at Leeds on September 21st, intimation should be given that a combination of certain Unions was in process of formation. It was also decided to form a subcommittee of five members, with Mr Jno. Peate (Wharfedale) as chairman, and Mr E. C. Newstead (Clerk to the Wharfedale Board) as secretary, to collect information to lay before the next meeting of the Provisional Committee in order to give the Unions who were expected to join the combination some idea in actual figures of the capital outlay and the cost of maintaining an institution, Tadcaster Union is in the combination.

A LETTER FROM THE FRONT.—A nephew of Mr George Carver, of Scarcroft, writing from his home near Paris on Wednesday last, said:—We will leave Le Bourget to-morrow, as our house is situated between two forts and just behind a battery. We shall be obliged to leave everything behind us, and can only trust to Providence that the Germans will leave the house alone. In Paris German aeroplanes are dropping bombs, which generally miss their mark. This afternoon one flew over, and two English Tommies potted away at it, but couldn't reach. In England people do not realise what war really is, but here, where all the men up to 48 are called up, one can see the difference. It is surprising to see the French, who as a rule are an excitable lot, remain perfectly calm. If the Prussians get into Paris, not only will they have the men to tackle, but also the women. The latter will not let them have their own way. Living (price of food) has not gone up 1d., except meat.

SMITH BROS

HOLD A

LARGE STOCK of MATERIALS

— SUITABLE FOR —

Red Cross & Hospital Work.

SPECIAL DISCOUNT ALLOWED FOR QUANTITIES.

BRIGGATE & COUNTY ARCADE, LEEDS.

HARRY HAYLEY,

Yorkshire Athletic Warehouse,

12, King Edward St., LEEDS

Telephone 56,1

HAS NOW IN STOCK A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Jerseys, Knickers, Boots, Footballs,

ETC., IN ALL QUALITIES.

HOCKEY STICKS, 2/6 to 10,6.

A FINE SELECTION OF GOLF STICKS, BALLS, Etc.

Footballs as used in International, County, & Best Leagues.

FOOTBALL BOOTS, 4/11 to 11/6.

STOCKINGS - - 1/- to 2/6 Pair.

BOXING GLOVES, BOOTS,

DANISH GYMNASTIC SHOES, Etc

BUY ADGIE'S BOOTS

"BY TEST THE BEST."

THE NEW SEASON'S FOOTWEAR HAS NOW ARRIVED.

The Street, the Country Lane, the Drawing Room, the Fireside, all are represented in our new display of

SPRING FOOT STYLES.

Please Come Round and Inspect our Display

ALL AT MODERATE PRICES.

Note the Address— ADGIE'S Wholesale & Retail Warehouse

31, NEVILLE STREET, LEEDS.

A minute's walk from City Square, down Bishopgate Street, and through Railway Arches. First Warehouse on right hand side.

REGISTERED. OPTOLINE REGISTERED.

THE GREAT CURE FOR

COUGHS, BRONCHITIS, CONSUMPTION and GENERAL WEAKNESS.

Sold by all Chemists and Stores, 1/-, 1/6 and 2/6.

OR THE MAKERS, TELEPHONE 87 CENTRAL.

J. N. HORSFIELD & SONS, 81 & 83, Sweet Street, LEEDS.

Leeds: 'Phone No. 1949. Huddersfield: " 1609.

Watchmakers to the Admiralty.

William GREENWOOD,

Watchmaker and Jeweller,

92, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.

SPECIALITIES:—

DRESS, ENGAGEMENT, AND WEDDING RINGS.

W. G. makes a Handsome Present with every Wedding Ring.

Wedding Presents, Birthday Presents, and Presentations of every kind.

— AND AT —

3, DEVONSHIRE BUILDINGS, VICTORIA LANE, HUDDERSFIELD.

OUR GARDENS.

A Weekly Article specially Written for

Amateur Gardeners, Allotment Holders, &c.

By ALBERT CLARKE, Birkenshaw.

THE FLOWER GARDEN.

VIOLAS.

The value of popular flowers invariably suffers through the flooding of the markets with so-called improved varieties. Glowing descriptions appear in the trade catalogues, and it is to be feared that these descriptions are copied by some of the weekly garden papers. Our advice to readers is to stick to varieties that have proved themselves good, until they are certain that an improved variety is available. From time to time new white varieties have been boomed as "great improvements" on standard sorts. We have seen numbers of them, but for all-round value have seen none to beat the old White Swan. This old favourite is pure white, with the exception of a minute yellow eye. The individual flowers are large, and it is very free flowering. The habit is dwarf and compact, and it remains longer in bloom than any other white variety we have come in contact with.

Lady Hamilton is perhaps the best of the newer white varieties. It is a rayed flower, and has an ivory-like appearance. The habit of the plant is very good, and it flowers for a long time.

Fred Williams is one of the best varieties in cultivation. It is dwarf and free, and the flowers are round and flat.

Archie Grant is a splendid bedder. Rich indigo blue.

Maggie Mott is very compact. The colour is delicate mauve.

Royal Sovereign is an old yellow variety which would be hard to beat for bedding.

Moseley Perfection is a very large yellow variety. Early in the season this variety looks as if it would become grass and leggy, but when it commences to bloom, the growth becomes more compact, and although it is taller than Royal Sovereign, its rich colour and large blooms make it well worthy of cultivation.

Lady Chichester is one of the best of the tricolors and is very popular for bedding.

Cream King is another old favourite which flowers from April until the end of the year. It possesses all the good qualities necessary to a bedding variety and is very hardy. We have plants of it that have prospered for three years without raising cuttings.

Blue King is extremely free-flowering. Its only drawback is that the flowers are not of the best of shapes. It is the best variety we are acquainted with for growing in a shady position.

Edina is a deep, rich purple, and bears large, well-formed flowers. It is a sturdy grower and the flowers are borne on long footstalks. Good in every way.

Duchess of Sutherland is another old favourite. It bears pale mauve flowers and is of dwarf compact habit.

The above are varieties that have been tested and can be relied upon to give good results. There are many other good varieties, but it would be impossible in the space at our disposal to mention them all. Cuttings may be got in any time from now until the middle of October, but in districts where it is difficult to keep the cuttings through winter an early start should be made.

PANSIES FROM SEED.

For early flowering next year pansy seed may now be sown in a cold frame. The seed should be purchased from a reliable firm. Sow the seed in a cold frame, and when the seedlings commence to form the second leaves prick them into a prepared bed in the frame bottom. No manure is needed, and the seedlings may be treated as usually recommended for cuttings. Coddling would cause them to get drawn, and drawn plants rarely recover sufficiently to give good results.

VEGETABLE GARDEN.

Peas are liable to an attack of mildew at this time of the year. It should be checked immediately it makes its appearance. A dusting of sulphur will effect a clearance.

Onions may be harvested as soon as the tops are ripened. Thick-necked specimens should be bent over to hasten maturity.

Continue to earth up celery at intervals of about ten days. The earliest batch should now be ready for use. Even the outside stalks are useful. They make a delicious vegetable when boiled.

Kale may still be planted as other crops mature. This is one of our hardiest crops.

If not already done transfer a few parsley plants to cold frames for winter use.

POT PLANTS.

Preparations for the housing of such plants as azaleas, camellias, ryttsus, etc., must now be commenced. If possible, the glasshouses should be washed down before the plants are brought in. Azaleas are very liable to attack from thrip, and before they are housed it is advisable to make an effort to clean them. They may be laid on their sides and forcibly syringed, first with clear water, and later with a good insecticide. If a large number are to be treated it is worth while mixing a tub of insecticide in which each plant may be dipped. When housed they should be stood well away from the hot-water pipes. Feeding with soot-water may now be commenced.

BULBS FOR UNHEATED GREENHOUSE.

The practice of forcing bulbs has become so general that the fact that they may be grown successfully in an unheated greenhouse has almost been lost sight of. Forcing is only necessary when early flowers are wanted, and the naturally grown flowers are usually finer and keep their colour longer than the forced ones. Roman hyacinths, Dutch hyacinths, tulips, daffodils, crocus, scillas, lily of the valley, and in fact almost every kind of bulb, offered as "Dutch" readily adapt themselves to cool treatment. They should be potted and plunged in ashes in the usual way, and brought inside when growth commences.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS.

In disbudding the plants discretion must be exercised. Some varieties produce a large number of young shoots immediately below the bud; these should be removed a few at a time and not in the whole-sale manner sometimes practised. If the bud shows at a rather earlier date than is thought suitable it may be retarded a few days by allowing one or two shoots to remain on the plants for a few days.

About the time the buds show it will be noticed that many of the plants are making a number of basal growths, and in some instances young shoots will break out for a considerable distance up the main stem. This is caused by the natural check given to the flow of sap when the bud forms and direct upward growth is for the time being stopped. All these growths should be removed, as their progress would be made at the expense of the flower buds. Weeds, if allowed to grow in the pots, take up a quantity of nutriment that would otherwise be available for the plants. Lastly the incurved varieties are somewhat later in showing their buds.

From this time extra care must be taken to keep the plants scrupulously clean so far as insects are concerned. Our old enemy the greenfly besties itself at this time of the year, and if allowed to become established on the plants will do much damage. Constant use of tobacco powder and other insecticides will meet the difficulty. Earwigs, caterpillars, daddy-long-legs, and other destructive pests must be searched for every day. It should be remembered that a very small puncture in the side of the bud will prove sufficient to spoil the shape of the flower. Another danger to be guarded against is the wind. To secure to the plants should be safely secured to wires stretched from firm posts, and each shoot should be looped or tied to the stakes.

PROFITABLE POULTRY CULTURE

By RALPH R. ALLEN.

Lecturer to the Herts. County Council; Ed'or of "Monthly Hints on Poultry," &c.

(All rights reserved).

WAR CHAT—No. 4.

We have already dealt with the all-important order to "carry on." Today I purpose briefly explaining how one important firm has construed this duty.

Most of you have received from time to time booklets which have been written by me. It is just five years ago that I discovered that the addition of mustard to the morning mash was the greatest aid to digestion that had been brought to my knowledge. I published the fact of my experiment in a little booklet which was distributed broadcast. Its immediate effect was to cause others to experiment on similar lines, and within twelve months thousands had arrived at the same opinion as myself. It is impossible for the average man to be aware of the trend of experimental work and then the missionary work to make the results known. Throughout my experiment I had been using poultry mustard manufactured by that old-established firm, J. & J. Colman, Ltd., of London and Norwich. With their accustomed enterprise they associated themselves largely with my enterprise. Thanks to their publicity agency I was soon a well known and practical booklet for poultry-keepers published as well as further extending the knowledge of the efficacy of mustard as an auxiliary to poultry dietary.

It was intended to publish a poultry-keepers' account book this season. I recognised its practical utility to either poultry or market gardeners. It was intended to publish a first edition of 40,000 copies." War broke out. The Empire was involved in hostilities, trade was dislocated, and the so-ons of business were closed. To "carry on" was the order of the day. If Colman's Poultry Mustard was of utility and benefit during times of peace how much more does its efficacy be made evident during a time of war, when it is up to every poultry-keeper to maintain his maximum output in order to assist the national food supply. The order to the printers was for a first edition of 75,000 copies; that being the interpretation of "carry on."

The daily papers have recorded some of the enormous orders I have received and delivered from the Hertfordshire village of Sawbridgeworth. Confidently I anticipate a record mail from readers of this article in making application for a copy of the practical and at the moment really useful book.

"The Poultry-Keepers' Account Book" will be sent post free to every reader of this column who will favour me with an application for same. Seventy-five thousand copies are ready for immediate delivery. Knowing you as I know you I feel sure that huge as this edition is, it will soon be exhausted.

(Any enquiries concerning poultry keeping addressed to our expert, Captain Ralph R. Allen, Sawbridgeworth, Herts, will be answered through these columns free, but those requiring a postal answer direct, or sending birds for post-floreem examination must remit half-crown postal order. The name of the writer must in all cases be given).

ALLEN'S ROUP CURE, 2/1 Post Paid.
Each package contains a sufficiency to make 2½ gallons of medicine, and is a guaranteed cure for this dreaded disease. Prevention is better than cure, and practical poultry-keepers will occasionally give this preparation in the drinking water, and so make their flocks immune.
Full directions are given with each packet.
To be obtained only from R. R. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

ALLEN'S TONIC CAPSULES, 1/6 post paid
Generally called "THE POULTRY-KEEPERS' FRIEND." Immediately a bird is noticed off colour a capsule (iron, quinine, and cod-liver oil) night and morning will speedily put it right. For a day or two before and after shows.
To be obtained only from R. R. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

THE MOST PRACTICAL UTILITY POULTRY PAPER.
MONTHLY HINTS ON POULTRY
32 pages profusely illustrated, art paper, &c.
2/- per annum, post free, from
THE EDITOR, Sawbridgeworth, HERTS.
Write for specimen copy.

Pure-bred Laying Pullets 7/6 each.
We can offer you selected Rhode Island Red, White, Black, and Brown Leghorn, White Orpington, and White Wyandotte Pullets, at 7s. 6d. each. Unrelated vigorous Cockerels, from 15s. each. Approval.
ALLEN POULTRY Co., Ltd., Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

GARFORTH RESIDENTS AND THE WAR.

PUBLIC MEETING—RECRUITS FROM THE AREA.

SPEECHES BY COL. GASCOIGNE, ALD. C. H. WILSON, K.C. CHADE, AND MR. SIMPSON.

By the courtesy of the directors, a meeting was held in the Picture House, Garforth, on Tuesday night for the purpose of getting men to join the Army. It was a splendid audience of men, and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed. Mr J. W. Dobson (Chairman of the Urban Council) presided, and he was supported by Col. Gascoigne, D.S.O., of Lotherton Hall; Mr H. S. Childe, of Parlington Hall; Mr E. O. Simpson, of Hazlewood Castle; Mr T. H. Prater, of Aberford; and Ald. C. H. Wilson, of Leeds. Prior to the meeting the Garforth Band paraded the streets of the village, and before the speech-making commenced in the hall a number of excellent views dealing with the Army and Navy were screened.

The Chairman said that it was all very well to have our gallant Army in France fighting our battles, but help was needed, and it was for every man able to do so to get on his back on the firing line. Garforth, he was pleased to say, had done very well, indeed, and about ninety young fellows had gone from the place. (Applause). Some of the men who had enlisted had volunteered, and then they had their noble band of ambulance men. (Applause). These men had been training for years, and some people thought there was very much good in that, but they saw it now. The call came to all classes. One of his own sons and a nephew had gone, and he hoped that more of the young men of Garforth would answer the country's call. (Applause).

Colonel Gascoigne described how the war had originated, and stated that Britain had not gone to war for possessions or for money, but for the sake of honour, and that the bully of Europe would bully no more. (Applause). They were fighting, along with France, against a military organisation bigger than the world had ever seen. Germany had signed the treaty to maintain the neutrality of Belgium, and she had broken it for her own purpose. Now, why did this country want half-a-million men? In the past it had been the accepted boast that England could always hold her own with a voluntary army—an army which men joined at their pleasure, and every other country in Europe had conscription, so that when war broke out they had only to mobilize and they had millions at command. Britain had only a small army, and part of it was in India. It was, therefore, necessary to have half-a-million men to be ready for what might occur. The crisis was so urgent that the Prime Minister and other Ministers were to make speeches in different parts of the country to urge men to join the colours. Some who had large families could not go, but there was plenty of manhood up to 35 in the country to enable the Army to be raised. They could enlist for three years or for the period of the war, and if the war did not last long they would be discharged and return to their ordinary employment much sooner. He might be sure the country would not want to pay them for doing nothing. He pointed out that if France were beaten there was nothing, with the small British Army, to prevent the Germans invading this country. That was why they wanted a force of men to back up the Army. He then referred to Russians going to France, and was glad they had two strong divisions coming from India—the best fighting troops in India. The news that night was splendid, but they were not to allow that to make them slack at enlisting. The Prime Minister had told them they wanted every man they could get. Were the Germans to land in the North Sea it would not do with the Empire, and they would be in chains for evermore. One satisfaction was that they were fighting in another nation's country, and they had heard about that. They had heard about the sacking of Louvain and the horrors inflicted on the population of Belgium by the Germans, and if they landed in England they would do the same thing. Why, some of them might ask, was he not going to the war? He was too old. He had sent his name to the War Office (applause)—but they would not have him at present. His son was soldiering in India, and he had had a message from him asking if he could not give up his commission and join his old regiment, the Yorkshire Hussars, because he had heard they were going to the Front. (Applause). That would rest with the War Office. Every young man, if he had the right stuff in him, ought to enlist now. (Applause).

Ald. C. H. Wilson, who gave a rousing speech, declared that Germany had engineered the present war. They had been preparing for it for years—ever since the Franco-Prussian War, and everyone who had visited the country and seen the accumulation of stores, the feverish building at Heligoland, and the precautions that Germany guarded war, and war against this country. Apart from the question of maintaining the integrity of Belgium—applause—if Germany were to join her allies in Europe, England's turn would come with lightning-like rapidity. The Germans would cross to this country and destroy the mines and mills and deliver the engulfing people of starvation. It had been stated that Germans could not get here, and it was true that a German General said he saw five ways of getting into this country, but not one of getting out, but that was before the days of airships. The Germans could get into the country. He had every faith in the British people, but no one knew better than he did how slow they were to move. Unless they did waken up what had happened to Louvain would happen to them. Lord Roberts went from one end of the country to the other, but no notice was taken of what he said. Was he not right? Why did he (the speaker) not go? He was too old. He had served twelve years as a ranker. His son had joined the Royal Flying Corps. (Applause). Those who went to fight for the country would be well treated. Lord Derby and those who did not offer themselves would merit everlasting shame. The Germans had, by their conduct, forfeited the right to live, and after the horrors they had perpetrated on women they were not entitled to any consideration. (Applause). He believed that the Kaiser would be destroyed by his own people; those who were not slaughtered would turn and rend him. (Applause). Though they had the men, brains, muscle, and money the men here were not trained, and until they were trained for the country's purpose they would be useless. He urged men to volunteer for active service and not wait until they were ballotted for under the Militia Act. If the Germans were beaten and hounded from the face of the earth, and all her colonies annexed, what did it mean to them as workers. It meant increased trade. It meant more ships and greater exports and imports. He believed that there would be such a boom in trade as this country never dreamt of. Was not that worth striving for? They could not, however, let thousands come from India and Canada, etc., without offering themselves. Don't let it be said by their children or their sweethearts that they were afraid. (Applause).

Mr Childe, who has a son in the Army, made a very effective little speech. He said that all these years' there had been talk of conscription, and now was the time to redeem their honour. They had said that they would not have conscription, but that was the time came when they required an army they would come forward. The time had come, and that was what they were there for. He deeply regretted the remains held by the miners at Mons, and how they had flooded the pit rope. He knew that district well, and he might have friends among the men. Could they think of any of them not coming here? The only way to stop the Germans was for their lads to fight and drive them back. If they went they would respect them; if they stayed at home they could not. If they went away they would look after their families. If they came home they would have honour, and if they did not they would have greater honour still. (Applause).

Mr J. E. Simpson, in the course of a short speech, said that because they had tyranny and bloodshed it did not follow it was not going to be overcome. It must and would be fought and dealt with in just the same way as they would deal with any other force pitted against them. The German attack was directed not so much against France and Belgium as against this country. The younger Germans had been taught that their mission was up living ways to be the leaders of culture in the world, and so put an end to the domination of the British race. The officers drunk a toast to the day they would be in England. Could they allow such a thing of that kind? After outlining Lord Kitchener's policy, as stated by him, he appealed to the young men to enlist.

Mr Prater, in proposing a vote of thanks to the speakers, asked if any of the single men could hesitate to help in fighting the Germans who had blocked up the pit shafts and murdered the men in Belgium below, and who had sown mines in the North Sea to the destruction of life and shipping? He only wished that he could take a more active part in the business. He had taken part some recruits from Aberford to York, and he was ready to give any assistance in the matter that he could.

Mr E. R. Archer, in seconding, said he hoped that their efforts would stimulate recruiting.—The resolution was adopted.

Ald. Wilson proposed a vote of thanks to the Chairman, and J. W. Dobson replied.

The Chairman said that they were very much indebted to the Picture House Company for giving them the use of the hall, and he intimated that the directors intended to give the proceeds of the next night's performance to the West Riding Distress Fund.

A call having been made for recruits, twenty young men came forward, amid cheers, and gave their names to Mr R. Routledge, jun.

The proceedings terminated with the singing of the National Anthem and "Rule Britannia."

A WORD FOR SEACROFT.

People (writes the Vicar of Seacroft in his magazine) say sometimes that Seacroft is a dear place, and that we have very few who are ready and willing to help. The result of this last month make it impossible to say such a thing again. We have proved that when the time comes we have a large number ready and willing workers. The ordinary daily papers contain so much about the war that it is quite unnecessary to say much here. When the war suddenly broke out and the Yorkshire Hussars got the prospect of large numbers of wounded sailors and soldiers, Seacroft, like so many places, at once set to work to make all ready for their comfort. Immediately the call was made and heard, ought to enlist now. (Applause).

Ald. C. H. Wilson, who gave a rousing speech, declared that Germany had engineered the present war. They had been preparing for it for years—ever since the Franco-Prussian War, and everyone who had visited the country and seen the accumulation of stores, the feverish building at Heligoland, and the precautions that Germany guarded war, and war against this country. Apart from the question of maintaining the integrity of Belgium—applause—if Germany were to join her allies in Europe, England's turn would come with lightning-like rapidity. The Germans would cross to this country and destroy the mines and mills and deliver the engulfing people of starvation. It had been stated that Germans could not get here, and it was true that a German General said he saw five ways of getting into this country, but not one of getting out, but that was before the days of airships. The Germans could get into the country. He had every faith in the British people, but no one knew better than he did how slow they were to move. Unless they did waken up what had happened to Louvain would happen to them. Lord Roberts went from one end of the country to the other, but no notice was taken of what he said. Was he not right? Why did he (the speaker) not go? He was too old. He had served twelve years as a ranker. His son had joined the Royal Flying Corps. (Applause). Those who went to fight for the country would be well treated. Lord Derby and those who did not offer themselves would merit everlasting shame. The Germans

DURING THE WAR USE
COLMAN'S MUSTARD
AND SECURE MORE EGGS

"The Poultry Keepers' Account Book" and other literature, post free on application to
RALPH R. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth Herts.

PRICE LIST.
3lb. 2/6
6lb. 6/7
12lb. 12/2
24lb. 24/0
Carriage Paid.

BRITAIN REQUIRES MORE FOOD!

A MORLEY CASE OF TUBERCULOUS GLANDS CURED.

(Copy). 57, Commercial Street, Morley, near Leeds.

Mr Crosswaite,

Dear Sir,—I beg to write you a line to express our thankfulness for the splendid cure you have made of our son.

We had almost given up in despair the idea that his face would ever be right again, but thanks for your treatment, during the time he has been under your care, we could see week by week a gradual improvement, and now the wounds have completely closed.

I can assure you we are more than satisfied, and our only regret is that we did not come to you twelve months sooner. I shall always feel proud to recommend any case to you.

Yours truly,
WM. D. HOLROYD.

SKIN SPECIALIST'S MEDICAL HERBALIST
PROF. CROSSWAITE
64, KIRKSTALL RD.
MODERATE CHARGES. Hours 2 to 7
£10 REWARD.—This Reward will be paid by Mr. J. Crosswaite to the first person giving information leading to a conviction of a certain unscrupulous person at present calling upon householders in his name, and offering for sale Recipes, Medicines, Pills, Ointments, etc., falsely representing the same to have been prepared by Mr. Crosswaite.
Information may be lodged at the nearest Police Station or Detective Office, Town Hall, Leeds, or Mr. J. Crosswaite, 84, Kirkstall Road, Leeds.

Telegrams Scott, Selby. Telephone 194.
IF YOU REQUIRE
GENUINE RAW PERUVIAN GUANO, FISH GUANO, SULPHATE of AMMONIA, NITRATE of SODA, RAPE NUTS and DUST, RAPE MEAL, DECORTICATED GROUND NUTS and FLOUR, SUPER-PURE DISSOLVED BONES, PURE BONE MEAL and FLOUR, SUPER-PHOSPHATES (ask per cent.), BASIC SLAG, SULPHATE of POTASH, MURIATE of POTASH, GENUINE KAINIT, LAND SALT (in Truck Loads), ETC., ETC.
We shall be pleased to quote Prices for any quantity.
QUALITY and GOOD CONDITION of the above GUARANTEED.
PROMPT DELIVERY can be given either at Works here or at Buyer's Station.
M. SCOTT & Co
OIL MILLS, SELBY.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Public-houses are closed in London at 11 p.m. instead of at 12.30 a.m.

One thousand young men who were employed at the Shotton Ironworks have enlisted.

Mr and Mrs Patrick Calpin, 38, Albert Street, York, have ten sons in either the Army or Navy.

Mrs Glasspool, of Ashton, Bishop's Waltham, Hants, who has five sons at the Front, has received a letter of congratulation from the King.

The National Union of German Authors have pledged themselves never in future to translate any literary work emanating from a hostile country.

Mr Winston Churchill has affixed to the back of his motor-car a large placard, in familiar terms, appealing for recruits for Lord Kitchener's Army.

Although Leigh has a population of 46,000, there is no recruiting station there, the men having to go to Atherton, two miles away, to join the Army.

Lord O'Brien, who for 24 years was Lord Chief Justice of Ireland, died on Monday at his residence, Airfield, Stillorgan, County Dublin. He was 72 years of age.

The Hull Licensing Justices have decided to forbid, under the new Act, the consumption of intoxicating liquors on licensed premises and in registered clubs after 9 p.m.

On Saturday afternoon eight persons were injured in a collision between a train which had halted just outside London Bridge and another proceeding from Cannon Street to Addiscombe Road.

Mr Harry Fulford, the Bradford Golf Club professional, has set a good example by refusing to engage caddies over eighteen years of age on the Hawkeswortn links. Six of the Hawkesworth caddies have enlisted.

A man named John Mobun (64), a labourer, was overcome with fumes while working in a sewer manhole in Cliff Road, Darfield. Some plucky attempts were made to rescue him, but he was dead when he was got out.

The Board of Trade returns for August show that the imports amounted to £42,362,604, against £55,975,704 in the corresponding month of last year. The decrease for the like period shows a decrease of £19,889,488.

William Johnson, a farm labourer, aged 55, in the employ of Mr George Allen, of Kapton, was found dead in his bedroom on Monday morning. When found the deceased was suspended from a bedpost with a halter round his neck.

John Emery, a Grimsby skipper, was killed at Waltham, near Grimsby, through the overturning of a motor-car which he was driving. His wife and son and two friends, who were also in the car, were injured, his wife being seriously hurt.

Cumberland miners have enlisted in such numbers that some of the pits may be compelled to go on short time. The mining community has been profoundly stirred by the imprisoning of the Charleroi colliers in the shafts by the Germans.

The Rev. David Arnot, of South United, Free Church, Blairgowrie, was drowned on Saturday while bathing at Bulliemuir, Perthshire, where he was holidaying with his wife. Mr Arnot was secretary of the Scottish Christian Endeavour Society.

One of the German sailors in the Detention Camp at Frith Hall, Camberley, has died from pneumonia and was buried on Saturday. The coffin, covered with the Union Jack, was followed by a party of German sailors under an armed escort.

The Board of Agriculture and Fisheries have been officially informed that the importation of ruminants and swine from the United Kingdom into the United States of America has been suspended, owing to the existence of foot and mouth disease in this country.

The value of silence in the present war has already been demonstrated. It is proved beyond doubt by the commander-in-chief of German military orders that the enemy's headquarters did not know for certain that our Army was on the Continent two days after it had landed.

Mr George Craddock, of the firm of Messrs G. Craddock and Co., wire rope makers, Wakefield, has informed his employees that in future preference of employment will be given to those men who have served their country, and that they will always have the best situations.

The body of a man, evidently about 55 years of age, was found about midnight on Sunday in the River Colne at Little-Holme, Marsden. His watch was discovered. In the coat pocket was found an insurance card bearing the name, C. Pettitt. The card was issued at Longtown, Carlisle.

Lily Curzon, of Kedleston, addressing a political recruiting meeting at Hull on Monday night, said the Pinchbeck Napoleon of this war had succeeded in uniting all parties in the British Empire, and we were going to smash him up. Business could not be carried on with the Napoleon and his accursed system to the ground for ever.

A Post Office notice states that it is anticipated that it will shortly be practicable to forward recruiting arrangement under which postal orders are legal tender, and the public are informed that as far as the supply of other legal currency permits coin or currency notes will now be given in exchange for postal orders presented at any money order office.

Lord Rosebery, as Lord-Lieutenant of Linlithgow, addressed a large meeting at Broxburn, on Saturday, held to promote recruiting amongst the miners. He said if some great organiser deliberately planned the war, which he was loth to assert, the curses of humanity would pursue him to the end. We were fighting for the public law of Europe, which, if our enemies were conquerors, would be destroyed for ever.

The planters of Mauritius have presented a million pounds of sugar to the Navy, and a million to the Army.

Sir William Bull and Mr W. Ramsay are placing a rifle range in the grounds of their residence at Hazlemere, Bucks., for practice in shooting by any who volunteer.

Charles Howarshow (54), a shunter, of 31, Recreation Crescent, Hubberholme, has been killed at the Leeds Steelworks, Hunslet, through being crushed against a wall by a waggon.

"The Government of New Brunswick have offered the British Government one hundred thousand bushels of potatoes for distribution. This offer has been gratefully accepted.

William Ernest Smith, of Bingley, who was on his honeymoon at Morecombe, fell out of a boat and was drowned. The widow stated that the accident occurred through changing seats.

At Bradford on Friday Mary Elizabeth Thirnby (24), a single woman, a mill hand, living at 22, Amberley Street, was committed for trial charged with the wilful murder of her newly-born child.

Evelyn Lintott, the Leeds City international half back, has severed his connection with the club and resigned his position as school teacher at Bradford in order to enlist in the Leeds "Pals" Battalion.

Mr Richard Croker, the well-known American, has received news of the death of his wife in Austria. He has tried to make arrangements to enable him to attend the funeral, but so far unsuccessfully.

The name of the German Emperor, who had been proposed for two months ago as the next honorary member of the Pomeranian School teacher at Bradford in order to enlist in the Leeds "Pals" Battalion.

Mr Richard Croker, the well-known American, has received news of the death of his wife in Austria. He has tried to make arrangements to enable him to attend the funeral, but so far unsuccessfully.

The name of the German Emperor, who had been proposed for two months ago as the next honorary member of the Pomeranian School teacher at Bradford in order to enlist in the Leeds "Pals" Battalion.

Mr William Dophne, who has just died, at the age of 74, had held the office of verger at the Otley Parish Church for twenty-six years, and he succeeded his father, who filled the post for forty-seven years.

Reading a paper on smoking at a Dover War Relief Committee meeting, expressed the opinion that the ed. a day allowance to soldiers' wives for the support of each child was inadequate, and urged that the Government should consider the question.

Dr. A. C. Farquharson, of Durham, has been adopted by the North Leeds Liberal Two Hundred as prospective candidate. His son, Captain Farquharson is now serving as captain-surgeon in the Durham Light Infantry, and has volunteered for foreign service.

A great deal of destruction was done by a fire which occurred on Monday morning at the corn mill of C. S. Dickinson (Limited), Lincoln. One of the firemen, Harry Capes, was overcome by fumes while working in the premises, and was carried away in a serious condition.

The Wilson Iner Runo struck a mine in the North Sea on Saturday, and shortly afterwards foundered. All the crew were saved, but a number of passengers are missing. 245 having been rescued. The cruiser Pathfinder was also sunk by coming into collision with a mine, and many lives were lost.

Mr Robert Brodie Forman, a retired Liverpool merchant, probate of whose will has been granted in the Liverpool District Probate Registry, left £286,000. On the death of his widow, in whom is left £100,000 in trust for life, he left among other bequests £10,000 to the Liverpool University.

Lord Stamfordham, in reply to a telegram sent to the King by Mr. F. C. Charrington, on the subject of football during the war, points out that the Football Association is desirous of obtaining recruits for the Army, but the King's wish is that nothing having regard to the King's position as its patron.

A young woman, named Nellie Ballard, a pianist engaged at the Junction Inn, Mapplebeck, and Willie Ward (45), a gardener, of Wilmcote, were on Monday admitted to the Beckett Hospital, Barnsley, suffering from serious wounds. It is alleged that the young woman was stabbed in the breast with a carving knife, and that Ward cut his throat and also stabbed himself in the chest.

In Beulah food prices are very high, and bread is doled out by policemen. Quite recently, it has been searched, and any person who had laid in a stock of provisions has had it taken from him without payment. The electric light supplied to the city early hour, and the inhabitants have to use candles after eight o'clock. There were great rejoicings when it was announced that the Army had suffered Brussels, and processions of children are arranged in the streets. It is also stated that unemployment is causing a great deal of anxiety.

A verdict of "Accidental death" was returned at the inquest at Broadstairs on Monday on Sir Stephen Richard Piers, who fell 50 feet from the bedroom window at his hotel at Broadstairs early on Saturday morning, sustaining injuries which resulted in his death. At the conclusion of the evidence that the window was constructed casement fashion, the sill being under 23 ins. from the floor. Lady Furness stated that on the night of the accident, and while she was in her dressing-room Sir Stephen must have gone to the window and fallen out. Her husband was active and happy, and the last man in the world to think of injuring himself.

LADIES
BLANCHARD'S PILLS
Have maintained for 40 Irregularities, &c., their speciality without rival and never fail to effectually relieve. Sold by Chemists, or sent direct for 1/1½, 2/9, 4/6, 11/- (Stamps). BLANCHARD'S are the best of all Pills for Women. BLANCHARD'S PILLS, Dr. Blanchard, Dublin. Sold by Boots Branches, Taylor's Drug Co., Branches, and all Chemists, or post free, same price, from BLANCHARD'S, 139, Shaftesbury Avenue, LONDON. Free Samples and Testimonials Enclose Stamp.

TEMPLENEWSAM DISTRESS COMMITTEE FORMED.

PUBLIC MEETING AT HALTON.

LOCAL DISTRESS FUND OPENED.

On Friday evening a meeting was held in the Parochial Hall, Halton, for the purpose of forming a Distress Committee for Templenewsam and Thorpe Stapleton, and there was a good attendance of ladies and gentlemen representative of every part of the parish. Mr P. S. Marsden, of Whitkirk, presided, and he was supported by the Rev. B. Guyer (vicar), Rev. J. Mather Hamilton (Baptist Church, Whitkirk), Mr W. Verity, and Mr W. B. Pindar.

The Chairman said the object of the meeting was the relief of distress, if it should arise, not only in their own district, but, if they had anything to spare, in other districts which were not so fortunately circumstanced as they were. Mr Pindar was a member of the County Committee and of the local committee, and he was closely in touch with the work.

Mr Pindar said that that meeting was the outcome of a request addressed by the Local Government Board to the County Council in the beginning of August. The Government had established a committee, of which the President of the Local Government Board was Chairman, and the object was to advise in any measures that might be necessary to deal with cases of distress arising in consequence of the war. In the opinion of the committee it was desirable that local representative committees should be formed, whose function it would be to consider the needs of the locality and undertake the distribution of relief as required. The West Riding Committee, consisting of sixty members, at their first meeting decided that they could best accomplish their work if they acted through local committees, and they requested every Urban and Rural District Council in the Riding to set up a committee. The Honour Rural District Council had formed such a committee, and they thought the needs of the district could be best met by the formation of parish committees consisting of ladies and gentlemen who were intimately acquainted with the needs of the areas in which they dwelt, and they would work in co-operation with the District Council, the County Committee, and the National Committee in what was a common cause for all the people in the country. In the view of the Local Government Board it was much more important, however, that distress should be prevented, and it was much better to prevent it arising than to relieve it afterwards. (Applause). That was a sensible view to take. The most urgent demand on their help arose the demand of the dependents of those who were at the front risking their lives for the protection of the people at home. In addition to these, there were many people who could not go to the front —they could not all be in the fighting line, but they could do their share in other ways—and if the war was protracted industry might suffer seriously and cause distress among workers, and it would be their function to look after these sufferers as well. They, however, did not want a sport and to be done with it. It would want sustained effort as long as the war lasted, which they all hoped would not be long, and probably for some time after the war was finished they would still have demands made upon their help. If they all did their share he was sure they would pull through. (Applause).

The Rev. B. Guyer proposed that a Distress Committee be formed for the parishes of Templenewsam and Thorpe Stapleton to work in co-operation with the Rural District Council and the West Riding Distress Committee, and that a local Distress Fund be opened. He referred to the various funds that were being promoted, and inquired by what means, if they sent contributions, they could get a penny back for the benefit of the district. In regard to the local cases of distress, he said that it would be for the committee to find them out and report them, and the money would come to them from the central fund for distribution. They had, he said, to support the Central Fund, and they must be willing to do what they could, because there might be other districts in greater need than they were. They did not want to check individual charity, but there was always a danger that some people's hearts would be touched, and money would be helping people who would be assisted from the Central Fund, and that would destroy the object of the committee. One family, in that way, might receive more than another family equally deserving. It was for them to give to the Central Fund, and the local committee would see that the money was fairly and equally distributed amongst those who needed it. (Applause).

Mr Pindar explained that it would be for the meeting to say whether they would merge their fund in the Central Fund or not. In many districts they had decided to send 25 per cent. to the Central Fund of the West Riding, and keep 75 per cent. for local needs.

The Rev. J. Miller Hamilton, in seconding the resolution, pointed out that the needs and resources of districts varied, and he stated that the Island of Skye had sent out one in eight of the population to the war. The whole population was 28,000, and the men who had gone numbered 3,500. (Applause). A district like that was rich in men, but it was not rich in money, and they had to help such places. They had not the wealth of Leeds, but they had the manhood. Then at Thirsk and were out of ten in the population had gone, and there were few men left between the ages of 18 and 30. It had the highest percentage in England, and it was a super quality born. He quite agreed with Mr Guyer that there should be no going behind the committee to help people, but he urged that the relief given should be adequate. Suppose a woman got 9s. a week and 2d. each for three children, it would be only 10s. 6d. a week, and she would have to pay 4s. or 5s. for rent and rates. How much would she have left? If they did not send men they should send money, and if they gave money in their own district the amount should be adequate. (Applause).

Mr Pindar, in answer to questions raised by Mr Guyer, said the Prince of Wales' Fund was at present being utilized solely for making grants to the dependents of soldiers and sailors, but it might be used later for grants in aid of civil distress. Lord Harewood's Fund was for the same purpose, but the West Riding Fund was more comprehensive, for it was to give assistance in all cases of distress due to the war, both military and civil. The Leeds Lord Mayor's Fund was in the same position. With regard to the question of distress, he mentioned that this could be done by carrying out public works of various kinds by local authorities.

The Chairman was then put to the meeting and carried.

Mr J. A. Rhodes proposed that the following ladies and gentlemen be elected members of the Templenewsam Distress Committee:—Mrs Carr, Mrs W. G. Crossbweaite, Mrs Marsden, Mrs Ashmore, Mrs Hamilton, Mrs Strickland, Mrs Parker, Mrs Pickles, Mrs Dockray, Mrs Harrop, Rev. B. Guyer, Rev. J. Miller Hamilton, Messrs J. Armistead, S. H. Young, G. Dobson, J. Oxrid, T. Rippon, W. Baker, J. Pickles, and Fitton.

This was seconded and agreed to. The three District Councillors—Messrs Marsden, Verity, and Flanagan—and Mr Pindar are exofficio members.

Mr Smithson suggested that the question should be left with the committee. He also made a valuable suggestion as to getting people to promise a certain sum weekly, so that they would have an income assured so long as there was need for it.

The matter was left to the committee.

Mr Rippon said that they each had responsibilities, and he urged that in business as usual endeavour to keep in their employ those who were now working.

This was all the business for which the meeting was called, but the Rev. J. Miller Hamilton brought forward the question of men undertaking ambulance training, pointing out that forthcoth ambulance men had gone on active service, and the formation of a town guard. He suggested that a small committee should be appointed to deal with each department.

Mr Smithson, in regard to ambulance work said it was no use starting it unless it was intended to go on with it. He thought, however, there was scope in the district for it, but unless men were sufficiently interested in it to keep to the work it was not worth supporting. The question of a town guard, he said, required careful consideration.

As there seemed no disposition on the part of the meeting to take the questions up, the Chairman suggested that they should be left to the committee, and this was agreed to.

The proceedings terminated with a vote of thanks to the Chairman.

ROTHWELL DISTRESS COMMITTEE.

WORK IN THE DISTRICT—COLLIERY OWNERS AND RESERVISTS.

A meeting of the Rothwell and District War Distress Committee was held at the Council Offices, Rothwell, on Monday night—Mr J. Hirst (Chairman) presiding. There was a good attendance of representatives of the sub-committees from the various wards.

The Clerk to the Council (Mr W. Dodgson), who is one of the secretaries to the Committee, explained how the sub-committees should set about the work of pursuing enquiries relative to distress.

In answer to a question put by Mr J. Horner, Mr Dodgson said they, as a relief committee, could be as generous as they liked, but as far as the National Fund was concerned, there was a limit—the rate of consideration any woman, the wife of a soldier or sailor may receive. Mr Dodgson also promised to supply a list of applicants for relief to the various committees for them to work upon.

He announced the following list of subscriptions:—Mr J. Hirst £3 3s., Mr W. Wade £5 5s. (with another £5 5s. conditionally that the money contributed to Scarfoot dependents of those on active service be given back from another source), Rothwell Empire £5 5s. (with a promise of further support if necessary), Scarcroft Liberal Club £5, and Workingman's Club, Marsh Villa, Rothwell, £3 3s.; Mr S. Dobson, £2 2s.

The Rev. J. Miller Hamilton asked if machinery had been created for dealing with any immediate cases of distress.

The Chairman replied that an emergency committee had been formed to deal with such cases.

Mr S. R. Chadwick said up to the present the pits of Messrs J. and J. Charlesworth had worked better than had been anticipated, and he hoped they would continue to do so, but he failed to see that there was any abnormal distress. If the war continued long, and the supply of props failed, the pits would have to stop, while the building trade would also suffer. At the present time Messrs Charlesworth were giving 10s. per week to the wives of those who had gone to the front or enlisted, and an allowance of 2s. 6d. per child, with a supply of free coals. The men at the pits contributed threepence each per week, and if that sum came to £450, the firm would add the same amount. He hoped, however, distress would not be very acute. If distress became so, he would give all he was able. He asked if it was a fact that the relieving officers to the Guardians had the power to give relief in cases of distress without asking the Board.

Mr Butterick replied that the relieving officers were allowed to give relief in kind but not in money.

It was pointed out by the Rev. N. W. Thomlinson that when the collectors made the round of the district appealing for funds, the people said that there was no distress in the district, and refused to give. He asked if a resolution could not be passed to the effect that a surplus be given to the National Fund, as people might then be induced to give, and the collectors could appeal with more confidence.

The Rev. W. G. Sothby said he would second such a resolution, and the following resolution as drafted by the Clerk was unanimously passed:—"That in the discretion of this Committee money not required locally can be disbursed for other cases of distress arising directly or indirectly from the war."

A speaker who represented the Yorkshire Copper Works at Stourton, said they had plenty of work to do at the present time, as they were working actually for the Government.

Mr Lunn announced that the Middleton Company were giving 5s. to each women whose husband had joined the colours, along with 2s. for each child.

Mr J. Harrison announced that Mr Keitel, Rothwell, who was a naturalised English subject, had contributed a sum of £5 to the local fund.

CROSSGATES AND THE WAR.

ALD. C. B. WILSON, J.P., AND GERMANY.

ADDRESSES BY THE REV. E. BELL AND REV. H. MALLESON.

A meeting to obtain recruits for Lord Kitchener's Army was held in the Oakwood School room, Crossgates, on Friday, and it was well attended. Several speakers, including Captain Kelly, who is conducting the recruiting in Leeds, were announced to be present, but owing to the Lord Mayor of Leeds' campaign they could not attend. Ald. Darcy B. Wilson, J.P., of Scarcroft Hall, presided, and he was supported by the Rev. H. H. Malleson (vicar of Manston) and the Rev. E. Bell (minister of Crossgates Wesleyan Church).

The Chairman said that the war had come upon them so suddenly that there were many who did not understand the origin of it or why England had become mixed up in it. It was clear that the quarrel of Austria with Servia was got up by Germany to bring on a general war at a favourable moment to itself. It was known that Russia would go to war if Servia was attacked by Austria, and that France would support Russia. Germany was relying upon the belief that Russia was not ready, and France was not in a position to fight, while England was so taken up with its own affairs that it could not interfere. Fortunately, the latter was not true. In spite of Sir Edward Grey, and in spite of the efforts of France and Russia, Austria persisted in its demands against Servia and declared war. Germany declared war, and there was still no doubt about England. Germany did all she could to keep England neutral, but what did those proposals mean? They meant that we were asked to be a party to an agreement to hand over the colonies of France to Germany, and as regards Belgium, they meant that we were to barter away the obligation to keep our pledge. They were all delighted when Mr Asquith called it an infamous proposal. (Applause). It was all along foreseen and prepared for by Germany. For years past we had seen how her great and eloquent writers had said that Germany would become one of the most powerful nations in the world. The inevitable war had come, but not as we had thought, between France, Russia, Belgium, and England were fortunately on the same side. The Belgians had covered themselves with glory. The French had fought according to ancient traditions, and the British Army had surpassed itself in coolness and gallantry. The Germans, however, had attacked with such force of numbers that the French and the English had been pushed back to the walls of Paris. The British Army was second to none in the world, although it was a small army. Mr Asquith had affirmed the statement that the Indian troops were on their way. They were splendid soldiers, and would be a welcome addition to our troops. (Applause). Lord Kitchener had asked for 100,000 men, and up to the present reports had been favourable. He had got one-half the number required, and he wanted 250,000 more to put England in the place it should occupy by bringing to an end what he hoped would be a victorious war. Many, he knew, would like to join, but they were prevented by family ties. To the young men to whom they looked to help to crush the intolerable tyranny. In conclusion, he referred to the special battalion being formed in Leeds for business men, and said he hoped as a favourable opportunity the men of Crossgates would go forward and find a place in that battalion. The battalion, he knew, would do its duty and cover Leeds with a halo of reputation. (Applause).

The Rev. Edwin Bell, who aroused considerable enthusiasm, said he was delighted to be there and see so many men who meant business. There was one great regret, and that was that he was not between the ages of 18 and 35; otherwise he would have been in this business, which seemed to him to spread over a critical juncture in the history of the nation and the Empire, when by a stroke of the pen the Government could take over the railways, commandeer property, and if they liked, take the last drop of blood in their veins. They had a right to do that, as the welfare of the whole Empire was of greater importance than anything else. The existence of the Empire was at stake, and the Government had a right to claim every man she wanted. Our Government was not doing that. If his boy was old enough, and he did not wish to go to fight, he would not attempt to persuade him. Why they should be willing to fight was because the war had been forced upon them. Everyone had faith in the Government, and they would not have gone to war if the price of peace could have been paid without dishonour. The Chairman had shown there was a trend of circumstances working up for forty years. They should go to fight to be true to their obligations. President Garfield had said: "It is a fearful thing for one man to stand up in the face of his brother man and refuse to keep his pledge, but it was forty-five million times worse for a nation to do it. It breaks the mainspring of faith."

The German Chancellor had said "What, are you going to fight for a bit of paper." Yes, certainly if we put our name on it. (Applause). A solemn pledge given by any Government pledged it to its life. There were worse things than death; dishonour was worse than death. Consequently, as a nation they had pledged their word, and they had to keep to it, and he believed that England and Belgium would do it. (Applause). If this country was not true at this critical time—he did not speak of the Government, but of the people who made Governments—then she deserved to go under, and he believed they would go under and their good name would go forever. The reason why they should enrol their names was because they had to fight against a terrific power in Europe, whose motto was "Might is right, and the weak can go to the wall." There was a teaching going on in Germany dealing with super-man—that the unfit were no good and that there was no place for them in this world, and he was sorry he had to say it. Germany, which he had always thought was to its own country—the land of Luther—a land which had fought for learning and science—had now become a land of despotism, and was driving out the love of liberty and the fear of God it had in it. The people of Britain sang "Britons never shall be slaves," they would be next door to it if the German Emperor won the day. If Germany came out on top in this conflict they would call to the smaller nations and would aim it us, and then at America, as Mr Winston Churchill had pointed out in an interview with an American journalist. Unless they could go in and give Germany a good chastisement they might as well give up the sense of their freedom and liberty, and be at her beck and call.

The Rev. H. H. Malleson also gave a brief review of circumstances leading up to the war, showing how Germany had been preparing for the conflict for years. Everything pointed to the black treachery of England in joining in the war, went on to say that after much bloodshed the nations of the world would be healed by being Germanised. Was that the ideal of the men—Bismarck or Sir Edward Grey? Did they want their soldiers Germanised, so that they could fight women and children. Every able-bodied man who had any persistent claims upon him should go anywhere for his country, and should be ready to go now. They were slow, he said, in learning the lessons of history. Even if they had two or three million trained men in the country, not by conscription, the war would never have happened. There had never come before the country such a splendid call to service since the days of the Spanish Armada. Forty thousand Londoners had gone. He believed Germany understood that she was not dealing with a contemptible little army.

A vote of thanks to the speakers was proposed by Mr Thompson, seconded by Mr A. Lee, and passed.

A number of young men gave in their names for enlistment.

Ed. Wm. Mobley, a dockyard mechanic at Chatham, died on Monday from wounds self-inflicted with a razor. He had previously cut the throat of his wife, who is expected to recover.

NOTABLE WEDDING AT CARLTON TOWERS.

BARONESS BEAUMONT AND HON. B. F. HOWARD.

FATHER VAUGHAN'S INSPIRING ADDRESS.

The wedding of the Baroness Beaumont, daughter of Lady Beaumont, at Carlton Towers, Selby, and the Hon. Bernard Fitzalen Howard, elder son and heir of Lord Howard, of Glossop, took place at Carlton St. Mary's Catholic Church, near Selby, on Saturday.

The ceremony was first fixed for November, but owing to the war, and the fact that the bridegroom, along with his regiment, Lord Lovat's Scouts, has volunteered for foreign service, the original arrangement was departed from. The wedding accordingly took place quietly, only intimate relatives and friends being invited. In the district, however, the greatest interest was taken in the happy event.

The Bishops of Leeds (the Right Rev. Dr. Cowgill) conducted the service, and imparted the solemn nuptial blessing. He was accompanied by other clergy, including Father Bernard Vaughan.

The marriage unites members of two well-known Roman Catholic families. The Baroness Beaumont, who celebrated her 20th birthday on August 1st, is a person in her own right, the title having been called out of abeyance in her favour in 1806, the year following her father's death, by the late Queen Victoria. The Baroness was presented at Court two years ago, and her younger sister, the Hon. Ivy Stapleton, was one of the pretty debutantes of last year.

The bridegroom, who is 29 years of age, is connected with several well-known families, being a cousin of the Duchess of Norfolk and of the Marquis of Bute. He is a lieutenant in Lovat's Scouts, a regiment which (as is well-known) was raised by Lord Lovat, and which distinguished itself during the South African War. The regiment forms part of the Highland Brigade, under the command of Lord Lovat, and is at present stationed at Hurdingdon preparing for active service.

For the wedding the bridegroom was granted two days' leave of absence.

The bride, who was given away by Lady Beaumont, was prettily attired in white satin with gold brocade and Brussels lace veil, and her ornaments consisted of diamond stars. She carried a bouquet of white lilies.

The bridesmaids, the Hon. Ivy Stapleton (sister of the bride), Lady Muriel Howard, Miss Pillkington, the Hon. Frances Howard, and Miss Petre, were dresses of pale pink satin, trimmed with lace, with pale pink lace hats to match. They also carried bouquets of white lilies.

The bridegroom was accompanied by the Hon. Philip Howard, who acted as best man.

A reception followed at Carlton Towers, among the guests being Sir Kenneth and Lady Matheson, the Earl and Countess of Loudoun, Dowager Marchioness of Bute, Lady Langan, Cassandra Countess of Rosse, Lady Muriel Greville, Sir Thomas and Lady Kathleen Pilkington, Lady Dorothy Petre, Major and Mrs Tempest, Mr and Miss Middleton, and Lady Mowbray and Stourton.

The brief honeymoon was spent at Everingham Hall, kindly lent by the Duchess of Norfolk.

Father Bernard Vaughan gave an inspiring address, which was like a call to arms. He said that the bride and bridegroom had plighted their troth, each to each till death did them part. They had entered into a state of life at once solemn and sacred, and as Catholics they knew that they could bring himself could absolon divorce with a view to a second alliance. But what had anticipated the date originally fixed for the marriage? It was the violation on the part of the War Lord of Potsdam of a Treaty to which he had lent his name. Not only had he trampled on the treaty and invaded neutral territory, but he had had the base effrontery to plead that England did play the same foul game, and stab her ally and friend in the back. Because England would be party to no such base line of action, because she was true to her word and loyal to honour, she had replied to the Kaiser's appeal by a call to arms. There was something England prized more than life itself, and that was British honour and British freedom. The bridegroom, like a great section of the rest of the manhood of the country, had joined the colours, but before doing so he had pledged his troth to the lady whose hand and heart he had won by his loving words. She would encase him in the armour of love, and shield him with her prayer of devotion. Their prayers, too, would follow him to the front, and they begged God to send him back with the flag still flying, and England's honour untarnished and unstained. Never would England's sword be sheathed until the shout of victory was heard throughout the Empire, for they were fighting for truth and honour, for King and country.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament followed, the hymns "O Salutaris Hostia," "Ave Verum," and "Tantum Ergo" being sung. After the Benediction the "Divine Praises" were intoned, and the service concluded with the singing of the Psalm "Laudate Dominum."

All the seating accommodation in the beautiful little church was occupied during the service. The villagers and inhabitants of the district for many miles around assembled in the vicinity to witness the arrival of the bridal party and their return from church. Flags were displayed at the houses.

Wedding favours of white heather were distributed to the guests by the Hon. Ivy Stapleton and other bridesmaids.

BARKSTON ASH MEN FOR LEEDS CITY BATTALION.

CROSSGATES, BOSTON SPA, ROTHWELL, TEMPLENEWSAM, OULTON, GARFORTH.

The following local men have joined the Leeds City Battalion:—

Aaron, B., Bankcliffe Lane, Moor Allerton.
Appleyard, E., Osmondville, Osmondthorpe.
Armitage, S. L., Oakwood, Roundhay.
Allsop, J., Park Avenue, Oakwood, Roundhay.
Agutter, D., 6, Talbot Road, Street Lane, Roundhay.
Armitage, B., Oakwood, Roundhay.
Berry, A. B., Rosedene, The Avenue, Roundhay.
Berry, W., 38, Quarry Hill, Oulton.
Boulton, A., Railway Cottage, Old Manston, Crossgates.
Best, R., Junc., Hollyshaw, Whitkirk.
Best, R. E., Rosedene, The Avenue, Roundhay.
Bethell, W., 29, Marshall Street, Crossgates.
Beaumont, R., Rose Cottage, Crossgates.
Boulton, G. H., Springhead, Rothwell.
Brown, B., 42, Shrubbery Hill, Oulton.
Bowmen, R., Park Avenue, Roundhay.
Barnard, G. R., 37, Brookfield Avenue, Roundhay.
Batty, S. T. D., 5, Bridgefield Terrace, Rothwell.
Brook, H., 1, Carter Mount, Whitkirk.
Coultate, H., The Avenue, Roundhay.
Coolsoon, C. F. A., Clifton House, Roundhay.
Chapman, H., Royal Hotel, Boston Spa.
Charge, H. E., Oakwood, Roundhay.
Coggill, H., 4, Airedale Terrace, Stourton.
Chapman, H., The Hall, Roundhay.
Cuttle, W., 7, Carter Avenue, Whitkirk.
Clarke, F., Adel.
Charles, R. F., Woodland Cottage, Oakwood, Roundhay.
Crossland, J. B., Fernville View, Roundhay.
Chadwick, W., 86, Green Lane, Halton.
Clarke, A. T., Argeur, The View, Roundhay.
Cooper, W., Scarcroft, Thorner.
Cook, T., 5, Brooklands, East Keswick.
Dodgson, W., Oakwood, Roundhay, Halton.
Danks, T., 5, Carter Avenue, Whitkirk
Davison, The Lawns, Stourton.
Dimery, G. W., Shadwell Lane, Moortown.
Dobson, A. S., Mayfield, Boston Spa.
Dyson, W. G., Danebury Lodge, Barwick.
Dodgson, J. E., Old Park Road, Roundhay.
Edwards, F. A., Grange Villa, Roundhay.
Ellis, R. C., 18, Hollyshaw Lane, Whitkirk.
Dimery, J. E., Shadwell Industrial School.
Dimery, W. S., Shadwell Industrial School.
Denby, C. P., Springfield, Garforth.
Ferndale, G., Colton.
Firth, H. L., 24, Carter Mount, Whitkirk.
Flockton, F., 2, Bentley Square, Oulton.
Fawcett, J., Sandhill Villa, Roundhay.
Goodall, S. H., 15, Graveley Street, Halton.
Howorth, N., 12, Ayresome Avenue, Roundhay.
Hodgson, A. H., Wycliffe, Moor Allerton.
Hanson, T., The Street, Scarcroft.
Haddon, N. J., 136, Queen Street, Stourton.
Hampshire, J., Manston Gardens, Crossgates.
Ingleby, C. D., Woodville, Roundhay.
Ingleby, E. J., Woodville, Roundhay.
Ingle, H., 22, Ingleden Crescent, Roundhay.
Johnson, C.; The Drive, Roundhay.
James, F. B., Holmefield, Roundhay.
Kelly, K. G., 82, James Street, Wetherby.
Kerr, W. V., 28, Hill Top Mount, Roundhay.
Lake, T. W., Meynell House, Rothwell.
Lawson, L. L., Adel.
Leach, J., Rockfield, Halton.
Lewis, T., Sandringham, Oakwood, Roundhay.
Mawson, G., The Boundary, Street Lane, Roundhay.
Mawson, W. B., The Boundary, Street Lane, Roundhay.
Marsden, H., 22, Gledhow Wood Avenue, Roundhay.
Mawson, W. B., The Boundary, Street Lane, Roundhay.
Allerton, J. S., Brentwood, Roundhay.
Myers, H. W., 3, Bridle Path Cottages, Scarcroft.
Mawson, F. A., North Gates, Wetherby.
Morris, F., 3, Bridle Path Cottages, Scarcroft.
Nettleton, P., St. John's View, Oulton.
Noble, T., Bridle Path Cottages, Scarcroft.
Nelson, W. J., The Hollies, Rothwell.
Noddings, G. W., 52, Wood Lane, Rothwell.
Nottingham, J., Ledsham.
Oliver, A., Lidgett Lane, Gledhow, Roundhay.
Pickersgill, R., Melbourne House, Thorner.
Popplewell, J. W., Stanks.
Pregnell, F. C., Canal Gardens, Roundhay.
Pawson, A. G., Overdale, The Drive, Roundhay.
Pickersgill, J. P., Melbourne House, Thorner.
Richardson, N., Holly Bank Villa, Moortown.
Rouse, E., 49, Jodson Avenue, Roundhay.
Rymer, T. L., Church Fields, Rothwell.
Smith, R., Oakwood, Gillingham.
Sharman, E. P., Norwood, North Park Road, Roundhay.
Sommers, H., Rothwell.
Tannam, R. A., 6, Osborne Villas, Woodsford.
Turner, H. N., Danville, Halton.
Taylor, P., Jasmine House, Scarcroft.
Wainwright, F., Whitkirk.
Wood, J. A., Fairbourne, Surrey Hill, Halton.
Wood, M., Fernville View, Roundhay.
Whitley, B. G., Harewood Road, Collingham.
Wood, E. V., Ayresome Terrace, Street Lane, Roundhay.
Wilkinson, G., 13, Beulah Terrace, Crossgates.
Wilkinson, R., 13, Beulah Terrace, Crossgates.
Watson, H., Whitkirk View, Halton.

5 The Germans have sunk 13 British fishing vessels in the North Sea.

EVERY WOMAN
Should send two stamps for our 32 page Illustrated Book, containing Valuable Information how all Irregularities and Suppressions may be entirely avoided or removed by simple means. Recommended by eminent Physicians, as the only Safe, Sure, and Genuine Remedy. Never Fails. Thousands of Testimonials. Established 1862.
Mr PAUL BLANCHARD,
Clermont House, Dalston Lane, London.

LOOK HERE!
We have a REPUTATION to maintain, and we do it by giving you the BEST VALUE in Provisions, Groceries, &c.
Specialists in BUTTER, HAMS, BACON, CHEESE, &c.
Also FLOUR, FEEDING MEAL, POULTRY CORN &c,
T. B. SMITH & SON,
SUPPLY STORES,
GARFORTH.
Our Special Blends of Tea, 2/2, 2/-, 1/8 per lb., contain some of the Finest Teas the World produces.

Mr Ben William Castelow," retired licensed victualler, of Beulah House, Crossgates, left £6,023.

A collection at Stanks Primitive Methodist Chapel for the Lord Mayor's Fund realized £1 9s.

Dr. Bean has sent £5.

We understand that practically all the local men who have joined the Leeds City Battalion have passed the medical examination.

BOWLING.—A match was played between Crossgates and Garforth Conservatives at Garforth on Saturday, and Crossgates won by 189 to 139. Details (Crossgates names first):—J. Crossley 13 v. H. Dransfield 21, F. Hardcastle 21 v. H. Margetson 3, E. W. Jubb 21 v. W. H. Philipson 8, G. W. Burch 21 v. W. Cooke 13, C. Holliday 21 v. W. O. o, J. A. Rymer 16 v. H. Braham 21, I. Semper 19 v. W. Dixon 21, G. Danby 19 v. J. Barker 5, H. Bartrick 21 v. F. Sedgwick 10, and M. Hughes 15 v. T. Braham 21.

CARLTON

A number of the young men of this village have shown their patriotism by joining the colours, about sixty-five having enlisted.

GUARDIANS AND RELIEF.—On Wednesday the Wakefield Guardians approved the estimates for the half-year ending March next, which contained considerable increases, including £3,000 to make provision for extra indoor and outdoor relief in consequence of the war. Other increases are owing to the rise in the price of food and materials. Mr W. Moorhouse said the estimate, which was over £55,000, was the largest in the experience of the Board, being an increase of £5,443 over the corresponding half-year. Apart, however, from the £3,000 for war distress relief, and a County Council increase of £1,768, the estimate was of most satisfactory one, because the Guardians' increase only amounted to £738, which was accounted for by the increased number in the Union Infirmary, the house, and the children's homes, and additional out-relief.

GARFORTH

Miss S. Sissons, of Garforth, has given £2, and Mr T. W. Perry, of Garforth, £1 1s. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

A sum of £1 4s., collected at Garforth Primitive Methodist Chapel, has been sent to Leeds Lord Mayor's Fund. The Rev. S. S. Henshaw has sent two guineas.

THE LATE REV. C. T. WAKEFIELD.—After a brief but painful illness, the Rev. C. T. Wakefield, superintendent minister of the Lady Lane Circuit of the United Methodist Church, died on Friday at his residence, Stanley Lodge, Lavender Walk, Leeds. Mr Wakefield was just entering his sixth year in the Lady Lane Circuit. After the college course in Manchester, he commenced circuit work thirty-five years ago. Twenty-six of these have been spent in Yorkshire. He was an earnest and intelligent minister, a man of great activity, natural disposition, and great kindness of heart. He took a prominent part in the general business of the district. For about six years he was district secretary, and rendered distinguished service in that office. A year ago he was elected to the highest office, that of chairman, and rendered useful service. For several years Mr Wakefield was chairman and secretary of the Conference Scrutineers' Committee, a difficult and responsible office, the duties of which he discharged with great ability. In all his circuits he was prompt friends.

HALTON

Mr J. Houghton, of Halton, has sent £1 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

It is stated that there is a probability of the work of extending the tramway to Halton being commenced shortly

Mr and Mrs J. W. Crosthwaite have given £20 to the Leeds Lord Mayor's Fund, and Mr W. Strickland £10.

Miss Ivy Easton, of Halton, was one of the singers at a concert for soldiers, given in the Leeds Y.M.C.A. Hall, on Wednesday night.

ENLISTED.—A summons against a Leeds painter named Arthur Wallace for riding a cycle at Halton without a light, was withdrawn at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday, as the defendant had enlisted.

DRUNK.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Ephraim Briggs, labourer, of Halton, was summoned for having been drunk and disorderly at Halton on August 29th. Pc. Taylor said he heard the defendant, who was very drunk, making use of bad language on the Selby Road. He warned him of his conduct, but little further down the road defendant used more bad language. A fine of 5s. including costs was imposed.

KIPPAX

Mr and Mrs Braham and family wish to thank all kind friends for their sympathy in their sad bereavement.—Advt.

COLONEL F. DAVISON BLAND.—Colonel Francis Davison Bland, who has died at the age of 61 at his residence, Kippax Lodge, Malton, after an illness of over three months, at one time commanded the 3rd Battalion York and Lancaster Regiment. Since coming to Malton nearly four years ago he led a quiet, retired life, frequently indulging in his favourite pastime of angling, at which he was very skilful. He came of an old Yorkshire family, and was a cousin of Mr John Davison Bland, of Kippax Park, the ancestral home for many generations. The family of Davison was united with the Blands in the seventeenth century, when the eldest daughter of Sir John Bland married a Thomas Davison, of Bircklestone. Two generations later Thomas Davison (born 1741) assumed the surname of Bland, and his son, of the same name, married a daughter of the 10th Lord Stourton. Colonel Bland was interred at Scarborough on Friday, and the chief mourners included Mrs F. D. Bland (widow), Miss Madge Bland (daughter), Colonel Bland (brother), and Mr Ewen Davison Bland, of Kippax Park.

MICKLEFIELD

A SUGGESTION.—"A collier," who says he is about to join the battalion for Yorkshire miners, suggests that the surplus of the funds raised in connection with the Micklefield and Thorrhill Colliery disasters, should be devoted either to the National Relief Fund or to the support of the dependents of miners who go on active service.

MOOR ALLERTON

Mr W. S. Harper, of Moortown, has given £2 2s. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

At St. John's Church, Moor Allerton, a sum of £52 0s. was collected for the Lord Mayor's Fund.

METHLEY

A collection at Methley Church for the National Relief Fund realized £1 2s. 2d.

OULTON

OULTON HALL.—Major Calverley has offered to house and feed 12 Belgian refugees, women and children, at Oulton Hall. The Hall is unfurnished, but Major Calverley generously proposes to furnish four bedrooms, with a sitting-room and kitchen. A committee in the village will take care of the refugees, and Major Calverley will pay for all food and appoint a person to reside on the premises.

ROUNDHAY

A sum of £42 14s., collected at St. Edmund's, Roundhay, has been sent to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

Messrs W. H. Gilpin and Son, of Roundhay, have sent five guineas to Lord Harewood's Fund, and a guinea to the Belgian Relief Fund.

Mrs W. A. Wharam, of Roundhay, has sent five guineas to the Belgian Relief Fund, and Mrs Burrows, of Roundhay, has contributed 5s.

Mr W. T. Middleton, of Roundhay, has given £2 2s., and Mrs S. F. Thackray, of Roundhay, £1, and Mr M. Jackson, Roundhay, 5s. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

RELIEF.—Mr R. H. Barran, M.P., Roundhay, has given £10; Miss Mabel L. Reffitt, £5 5s.; Mr and Mrs Secker Walker, £5 5s.; Mr W. Derry, £5. Mrs Adel Bang, £3 3s.; Mr H. Baron, £2 2s.; Mr A. Rankin, £2 2s.; and Mr E. Terry, £1, all of Roundhay, to the Belgian Relief Fund.

WEDDING.—The wedding took place at Roecroe Place Chapel, Chapeltown Road, Leeds, on Wednesday, of Miss Edythe Rhodes, second daughter of Mr Paul Rhodes, builder, of Parkstone, Park Avenue, Roundhay, to Mr Ralph Huxley Newton, second son of Mr Christopher Newton, late of Buckworth, Hunts. The chapel was decorated with plants and flowers. The bride was dressed in white satin and a Brussels lace veil with a bridal bouquet of lilies. The other bridesmaids, Misses Gladys, Doris, and Betty Rhodes, were dressed in primrose satin and nigger brown hats and carried bouquets of brown and yellow chrysanthemums.

BOWLERS AND WAR FUND.—The Leeds and District Amateur Bowling Association played their annual charity match at the Gipton Wood Green, Roundhay, on Saturday, in aid of the Lord Mayor's War Relief Fund. Some sixty-four players participated in the contest, the teams being selected from the winners of this season's Preston Shield and Mosley Trophy Competitions (Chapeltown and Bramley Liberal) and the rest of the clubs in membership. The Competitions team won 17 of the 32 games, but lost on the aggregate scores by six points only, the totals being:—The Rest of Association, 388; Preston and Mosley team, 382.

SEACROFT

Ald. D. B Wilson, J.P., of Seacroft, has given £1 1s. 6d. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

SHADWELL

Mrs Philip Marsden, of Shadwell, has sent 10s. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

A sum of £1 4s. 5d., collected at Wike Church School, has been sent to Lord Harewood's Fund.

A sum of £2 10s., collected at Shadwell Wesleyan Church, and £1 5s., collected at Red Cat, Shadwell, have been sent to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

STOURTON

A sum of £1 9s. 5d. collected at Stourton Wesleyan Sunday and Saturday School has been sent to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

THE WAR.—The following notice, signed by Mr Kenneth Fraser, the general manager, has been posted at the Yorkshire Copper Works:—War with Germany. Lord Kitchener asks for 100,000 men. Will you assist? It is the duty of young single men between the ages of 19 and 35, who are not the sole support of their families, to enlist at once in the new armies, which are now being raised for the defence of our country. The positions of men leaving our employ to thus fulfil their duty will be kept open for them until the conclusion of the war. Steps have been taken to safeguard the dependents of those of our men who have already joined the Forces, and similar steps will be taken in regard to the families of the dependents of new recruits. No single men answering to the above description will be taken on during the continuance of the war. Enlist to-day!

WHITKIRK

Mr P. S. Marsden, of Whitkirk, has sent a guinea and Mr W. Atkinson, of Whitkirk, 10s., to the West Riding Relief Fund

LADY DOROTHY WOOD AND TEMPLENEWSAM.—In this month's "Lady's World" the following appears:—Lord Halifax's daughter-in-law, Lady Dorothy Wood, entertains for Doncaster at Templenewsam, the birthplace of Darnley, Mary Queen of Scots' husband, and a grand historic mansion, now getting spoilt by the grime and smoke of Leeds, which her husband, Mr Edward Wood, inherited from his aunt, Mrs Meynell-Ingram. Lady Dorothy is clever, and how a bright, lovable disposition. Like her only sister, Lady Gwendolen Guinness, she is splendidly educated, and though something of a blue stocking, was once described as the "nicest girl in society." She is quite a good-looking, a clever talker, and a first-rate linguist.

WOODLESFORD

Mrs Campbell, of Woodlesford, has given £1 to the West Riding Distress Fund.

THE LATE MR C. TOWNEND.—We regret to announce the death of Mr Charles Townend, plate-layer, of Rigby Street, South Milford, which died somewhat suddenly, and was interred at St. Mary's Church on Friday. Mr Townend had been a sufferer from heart trouble for three years. He was much respected. He leaves a widow and two sons to mourn his loss. There was a large number of mourners, friends, and neighbours at the funeral.

RECRUITING.—Colonel Dimas, speaking at Easingwold on Wednesday night, said that up to the present recruiting had been very satisfactory, especially at Selby, Wetherby, and Ripon. The recruits were not drawn from one class. Lord Kitchener's Army consisted of everybody, from those who lived in the hall to those who lived in the cottage, from those who lived on the land to those in the factories; they had had them from the railways, from the farms, and from the squires' houses. Now they wanted particularly those who worked in agricultural areas on the land.

KIPPAX PEOPLE AND THE WAR.

SPEECHES BY SIR J. C. RICKETT, M.P., THE VICAR, AND DR. INFIELD.

An open-air meeting was held on Cross Hill, Kippax, on Saturday evening, when a large crowd assembled anxious to hear news relating to the war. The meeting, however, was but the forerunner of a much better meeting which was held in the Wesleyan Schoolroom immediately after.

Mr E. Parkin, J.P., presided, and he referred to the struggle for right against might, and against militarism. militarism had been fostered and pursued unhesitatingly for purposes of aggression, the ultimate object of which was to crush England and destroy her supremacy. The neutrality of Belgium had not been respected. The treaty to which Germany was a party had been violated, and England, in her love for right and justice, was at war with Germany.

Dr. Infield stated his regret that extremely barbarous methods of cruelty had been resorted to by our enemy, and that indescribable brutality had been practised upon an innocent and defenceless people. The crushing of Germany was no child's play, and the very best endeavours of all our young men should be put forth to cope with the enemy. He was quite willing to do what he could and had volunteered his services, and if his ambulance men had done the same. (Cheers).

The Rev. E. B. Smith (Vicar) roused the large audience by his references to German methods of warfare. That a cultured nation like Germany should stoop to methods of barbarism such as they had read of, and that a small state like Belgium should be the target upon which Germany should wreak her vengeance was almost unthinkable, and it behoved every man for the Indescribable cruelty to the Belgium people, and end his days on the island of St. Helena.

Sir J. C. Rickett, the Liberal Member for Colne Valley, spoke on the cause of the war. He outlined the geographical position, and its advantage or disadvantage to each nation involved. England was fortunate in having the sea between her and the theatre of war, and a very powerful fleet to defend our shores, and keep open the trade routes, the result of which they saw. The people were being fed. Flour could be bought at the above normal, and at much less than it had been in times of peace very often. Sugar was dearer, because the best supply from Germany had been cut off. Germany was not so well placed. Her fleet was anchored at Wilhelmshaven. Food supplies, so far as the outside world was concerned, were isolated from her, and she would feel them more shortly. Germany's craving for expansion was very natural, but she had begun too late with her colonising. Germany's colonies were not worth much. France was much better off. She had some rich colonies, and had France been willing to concede some of these a war with Germany might have been averted. The fighting qualities of our Indian troops, which were being sent over to aid us, were good. These men would fight whether or not if they should be killed on the Monday they would apologise and promise to do better on Wednesday. They were more closely related to the English than were the Jews. The fall of Liege and Namur so soon was accounted for by the fact that these forts had been built to withstand the pounding of guns of much less power than the guns the Germans were using at the present time. In speaking of the wounds which our soldiers received, he stated that those were mostly leg wounds, caused by pieces of shell. The machine guns were terrible things and did a great deal of damage. What remained to be done? If our guns, he said, did not equal those of the Germans, they must have guns that would. Our factories would and must produce the guns required. Provision in the shape of pensions should be made for the wounded to the end of their days.

The Kippax Old Band headed the procession through the streets, and played "Rule Britannia" on the Wesleyan Schoolroom.

A number of Reservists from Kippax have been called up, and a number of young men have enlisted.

KIPPAX DISTRESS COMMITTEE.

SHOULD A LOCAL FUND BE OPENED?

A special meeting of Kippax Parish Council was held on Monday evening, along with two representatives from each church, Friendly Society, Medical Charities Committee, the Working Men's Clubs, and the local branch of the Miners' Union. Mr S. R. Silverwood presided. The object of the meeting was to elect a local Distress Committee, and the question of opinion was invited by the Chairman as to the best method of working.—The Vicar: We know we have only nothing done. In the relief fund principle prospective or immediate. We require to know something before we can do anything.—Mr E. Parkin, J.P.: The Tadcaster Council has been formed, and we have been asked to recommend four names that a local committee should be formed in each parish, and should work through the Tadcaster Committee. It is very likely that letters from applicants will be sent to us, and I am told that some workmen have been dismissed already. Such cases will have to be dealt with.—The Chairman: If we are to have a fund that will should be used for local cases.—Mr Arnold: Has the Council formed any resolution in regard to this question?—Mr Silverwood: The Council is right it best to ask representatives to attend this meeting for consultation and opinion.—The Vicar: The funds that are raised in Kippax will be comparatively small. Should cases of distress be reported, assistance from the National Fund would be required, and the question arises as to whether we have a just claim on the National Fund.—The Chairman: I do not like the idea of a local fund. Whatever we do it is left to Tadcaster we shall get very little.—Mr Atack: Who is to be judge of needy cases? Who is to distribute relief?—Dr. Chairman: The Tadcaster Committee will decide those matters.—Mr Plows: As to the local fund and the suggestion that it should be used for local distress, it is not the right thing. We are connected with the National Fund.—Mr Wm. Green: I understand that the money raised locally will be sent on to Tadcaster, and the local committee will forward information as to needy cases, and grants of relief will be sent on from Tadcaster.—The Vicar: We really ought to know more about the Tadcaster Committee's proposals, and I would like to suggest that this meeting be adjourned until we get information as the matter.—Mr Parkin: I have a form here containing particulars. It is required to know the state of employment. The Tadcaster Committee think it advisable to form a local Distress Committee in each parish. It would not be wise to agree to have one fund at present. We want to do the best we can. The question is one of administration. If the calls for relief are numerous, we may have to appeal to the National Fund. It is impossible at the present time to know what we shall need.—It was agreed to form a local committee of 12 members, but there were thirteen nominated, and these were allowed to stand. In addition to these thirteen, the four District Councillors are ex-officio. The secretary is Mr W. Cripwell (Clerk to the Parish Council), and the treasurer the Vicar.

The committee is as follows:—Mr J. Bowcrof, Mr S. R. Silverwood (Chairman of the Parish Council), Mr J. Cripwell, Mr C. Firth, Mr Wm. Green, Mr J. Smart, Mr A. Plows, Mr E. Norton, Mr D. Smales, Mr W. Medcalf, Mr J. Cooper, Mr J. Atack, and Mr T. Booth.—The Chairman: Now, shall we have suggestions as to methods of working?—The Vicar: Whether we form a fund to be exclusively used for local distress, or whether we join Tadcaster should not be decided by this committee.—Mr Wm. Green: More information is needed from Tadcaster. Would it not be advisable for this committee to meet and go through any correspondence that may come from Tadcaster?—I move they do meet, and that a general meeting be called.—Mr Parkin: What Mr Green suggests is the right thing to do. The committee elected can call a general meeting and that meeting can decide what to do with the money.—The Vicar seconded the motion and it was carried. The committee will meet on Monday evening.

CORRESPONDENCE.

MR E. H. FOSTER, J.P., AND RIFLE CLUBS.

(To the Editor).

SIR,—I think it is very desirable that a Rifle Association, with rifle range, should be formed in the districts (wherever possible) in the Barkston Ash Division. We have recently formed one in Horsforth, where I live, and already 240 men have joined the club, and it has been found necessary to arrange for the shooting to be in squads of thirty, each member being allowed to shoot twice in each week.

I am quite aware that there are people who are critical of the benefits of Rifle Associations, but that need not deter others who see what good use they can be made to serve. Any object, however good, will always have critics and opponents.

In Horsforth we are using it in three ways:—

1—As a recruiting centre, and we intend to make a point of getting all employers to have to get members enlisted in the branch of the service in which they desire to serve.

2—As a training ground for the young fellows, who have not yet attained the enlistment age.

3—Giving musketry instruction and company drill to men who are over the enlistment age, but who by reason of the extension of that age may be called upon to serve in the future.

We have secured two excellent musketry instructors, and the whole thing is carried out under proper discipline with service rifles, and is proving of great value.

The Hon. Rupert Beckett, D.L., who came over on Monday to open the range, expressed his pleasure at the result attained and the objects in view.

I shall be glad to send a copy of our rules or any other information to anyone who wishes to form in any district in the Barkston Ash Division with a view to forming a similar Rifle Association and range.—Yours, etc.

ERNEST H. FOSTER.

"The Ridges," Scott Hall Lane, Horsforth, Sept. 10th, 1914.

ATHLETES' VOLUNTEER FORCE.

(To the Editor).

SIR,—At a meeting of the Council of the West Riding Centre of the National Cyclists' Union, it was unanimously agreed to support the above scheme, and that steps be immediately taken to forward the movement.

A subcommittee was formed, and the secretary was instructed to confer with all the other athletic bodies with a view to joint action, and the calling of a great mass meeting of athletes at an early date.

This scheme interferes in no way with the recruiting for the Army; it should, therefore, appeal to all athletes who are debarred by age or physique from enlisting from joining the Regular Forces.

Those who are eligible to enlist in the Army are not accepted for enrolment in the Athletes' Volunteer Force, which is solely intended to provide facilities for civilians to become proficient in the handling of rifles and to learn the rudiments of military drill.

Further particulars of Mr T. A. Edge's scheme can be obtained from the hon. secretary,

A. GOODALL,

8, Monaster Terrace, Crossgates, Leeds.

FOR THE PRINCE OF WALES' FUND.—A praiseworthy effort by the committee of the Milford Junction N.E.R. Silver Band, South Milford, took place on Saturday afternoon at South Milford, in aid of the Prince of Wales' fund. The band had paraded the streets, athletic sports were held in the Cricket Field (kindly lent for the occasion). The following is a list of the officials:—Chairman, Mr Wm. Green; starter, Mr J. T. Whiteley; hon. treasurer, Mr John Carr; starter, Mr Alfred Johnson; gatemen, Messrs Hy Hume, W. W. Ledger, and Cook; judges, Messrs J. Bywell, J. Wolfe, J. Cooper, and J. Wilcox; and stewards, Messrs R. Sutton, E. Atkinson, H. Brooksbank, E. Brown, J. Warner, and J. T. Jackson. The prizes were given by the committee and a few friends. Results—Men's race—100 yards, flat race (open)—Heat winners: J. T. Whiteley (South Milford F.C.), Gill (Sherburn), J. Howie (Brotherton), and Smith (South Milford). Final: 1, Howie; 2 Hutchcroft, Schoolboys' obstacle race (open)—1 D. Sutton, South Milford; 2 R. Wilson, South Milford. Married men's race, 100 yards—Heat winners: Miss E. Armstrong, Miss E. Cawthorne, Mrs D. Terry, and Mrs W. Lowson. Final—1, Mrs Lowson, 2 Mrs Armstrong. Musical bicycle race (open)—1 J. T. Whiteley; 2 Joe Hill. Bowling at wickets (open)—1 R. Gibson, jun. (Hambleton); 2 H. Wilson (South Milford F.C.). Walking contest (open)—1 E. Brown (South Milford), 2 L. Butcher (South Milford). There was a fairly good company present, and a guide was held in the evening. The proceeds were as follows:—Gate £3 16s. 9d., collecting sheet £2 3s. 1od., entries £1 15s. 9d., Scouts' subscription 10s., subscriptions to prize fund £2 3s.—total £10 7s. 3d.; add Lord's assistance £1 10s. od.—net proceeds £8 17s. 6d.

MILTON'S ROLL OF HONOUR.—The young men who have answered the appeal for service in the Army, abroad or home defence, are:—Frank Atkinson, Norman Hanson, James Baker, Tom Dunwell, George Boston, John Neville, Ernest Bruce, John Jas. Newby, Ernest Chilton, George Lambert, Ralph Chilton, Robt. Riley, William Cockerham, A. Wilstrop, Addie Cockerham, J. Winship, Marshall Farrow, Louis Wilson, James Farrow, Clarence Wetherill, Gordon Gill, Wm. Thornton, Jas. Grimbley, and Arthur Jackson.

AMUSEMENTS.

LEEDS EMPIRE PALACE.

At the Empire Palace this week Harry Weldon heads the programme, and as the boxing "White Hope" he is immensely funny, while his bicycling turn is also worthy of repetition. Marie Kendall has some cheery patriotic numbers, and they go well. Howard Bros. are very clever with the banjo, and Solo's weird "lesson in temperance" amuses the audience. Others who contribute include the Falcons, comedy acrobats; Goodfellow and Gregson, comedy duo; George Busson, mimic; and Fred Laird, comedian. There are also some good cinematograph films.

There was a time when five West-end (London) theatres, variety theatres included, were presenting "Barrie" plays, and it can be said with confidence that there is no play of that famous author more typical of Sir James Barrie as his best than "The Twelve Pound Look," selected by Mr Frank Allen as the leading feature for next week in the Empire programme. Miss Kitty Colyer is no well-known to need any introduction to theatre-goers in Leeds, but her new numbers are likely to enhance and consolidate her great popularity. An artistic treat will be afforded by Mr Alfred E. West, for so long pianist to Mr Albert Chevalier, and composer of countless of that inimitable actor's musical mono logues. Pip Powell and Kate Vesey in "A Perfect Woman"—a sparkling duologue; Arthur Lerriss, Syd. Walker, and Woodhouse and Wells will give a good account of the humorous portion of the programme.

LEEDS HIPPODROME.

At the Hippodrome this week Miss Ella Retford is a great attraction, and on Monday night on the conclusion of her final song she was greeted with rounds of applause, but when she come back and added a clever verse suggesting that "Kaiser Willie" would soon have to "Get out and get under," the enthusiasm was such that Miss Retford had to come back and take a "curtain." The Flatt laugh is continuous during the efforts of Dale and O'Malley, the secret of whose success lies in their absurdity of their jokes and mannerisms. The Bramusas, a sepiette of juveniles, play inspiring tunes with a merry abandon; Cecil Lee performs feats that border on the miraculous; and Florrie Elliston makes an acceptable contribution.

Next week at the Hippodrome the principal turn will be given by David Devant, in mysteries and illusions, introducing startling new features. On Saturday, the 10th, there will be a special matinee of Devant's mysteries. Others billed to appear are Fred Barnes, the light comedy star; F. W. St. Clair, who will sing "Follow the drum," by which he has raised about £100 for National Relief Funds; De Wynne Bros., Four Curtiss, step dancers; and Josie Delaine, a versatile little lady.

BARKSTON ASH BOWLING ASSOCIATION.

The following Rest team has been chosen to meet the Winners of the Riley-Smith Cup (Garforth Working Men's) on the green of the latter club on Saturday next, Sept. 12th, at 2.30 p.m.:—

Messrs F. Hutchinson (President) and C.W. Lawson (hon. sec), H. Thomas, Caine, and Nicol (Hallam), A. Wetherall, Moverley, and Collins (Tadcaster), J. Firth and I. Semper (Crossgates), J. Fisher and J. P. Cowl (Crossgates Rec.), E. Walker and Collins (Garforth), J. Barker and Dransfield (Garforth Cons.), and H. Chapman (Halton Travellers).

The Winners have kindly invited the players to tea in the club room, after which a "smoker" will be held, and the Cup received by the President to the Garforth Working Men's Club, this being the second time they have won it.

FOOTBALL MATCHES AND REFEREES FOR SATURDAY.

LEEDS SENIOR LEAGUE.

Waterloo Main Colliery v. Methley Perseverance.

H. Fitzpatrick.

Fryston Colliery v. Mirfield United. G. T. Crippo.

Rothwell Parish Church v. Garforth White Rose. W. Thompson.

LEEDS JUNIOR LEAGUE.

Scourton United v. Bowers Allerton. F. Tyas.

Rothwell White Rose R. v. Glass Houghton Colliery. M. Jodl.

Thorpe Wesleyans v. Kippax Woodville. W. Pratt.

Methley Perseverance R. v. Oulton St. John's. J. T. Lawson.

FAMOUS HOUSE FOR ENGAGEMENT RINGS

£1/1/ £3/3/ £5/5/ £10/10/ to £100 each.

SEE WINDOWS

Diamonds

BEST SELECTION IN THE COUNTY

Dysons

ESTD. 50 YEARS.

24-25-26 BRIGGATE. LEEDS.

Watches

(EXPORT, RETAIL & WHOLESALE)

10/6 TO 50 GUINEAS.

THE ROUGHWEAR 15/- THE UNIVERSITY 30/-

OLD WATCHES & JEWELLERY TAKEN IN EXCHANGE.

RELIABLE HOUSE FOR REPAIRS.

Russell & Russell, Ltd.

(LATE A. C. WANSTALL),

Complete House Furnishers and Piano Dealers,

201-3-5, North Street, LEEDS.

ILLUSTRATED BOOKLET and Easy Payment Terms sent on receipt of a Postcard.

FRED BARBER,

Pork Butcher,

11. CALL LANE, LEEDS.

TEL. 1604.

JOHN TEALE,

Advertising Contractor & Billposter,

WHITE HOUSE, GARFORTH.

Bills posted and Handbills distributed on the shortest notice throughout the Barkston Ash Division on most reasonable terms.

EDMUND BOGG,

3, Woodhouse Lane, Leeds.

is the best shop for PICTURE FRAMING, RE-GILDING, AND ARTISTS' MATERIALS.

Large Stock of Engravings & Etchings on Sale.

ESTABLISHED 1871.

Ison's Eye & Ear Dispensary

LIMITED.

71, GREAT GEORGE ST., LEEDS

MR. THOS. ISON, OCULIST and AURIST.

THIS INSTITUTION WAS ESTABLISHED in 1871. The system of working is the provident one, each patient paying a small periodical fee whilst under treatment, and they may, therefore, justly expect to receive the prompt care and attention which in many instances in charitable institutions is too often omitted. The treatment is mild and safe character, without operation or the use of Ear Drums, Ear Cornets or other mechanical or painful appliances. Another advantage appertaining to this dispensary is its system of treatment by correspondence, by which sufferers at long distances, and in isolated positions can have the advantage of Mr. ISON'S advice and remedies forwarded through the post. No case is undertaken unless there be a reasonable hope of cure or benefit to the patient.

Attendance at Leeds every Tuesday, from 10 to 7 On Alternate Saturdays, Sept. 19 and Oct. 3. Hours to 1867. Other days by appointment.

TREATMENT WITHOUT OPERATION. ARTIFICIAL HUMAN EYES fitted from 15s. SPECTACLES AND EYE PRESERVERS, 3/6 to 10/6. Gold Frames from 20s.

Special Notice.—There are many cases of failing eyesight which can be speedily remedied by mild local treatment, thus dispensing with the use of glasses.

MARRIAGE.

BOOTH—HOLLINGWORTH.—On August 29th, at Bethesda Methodist Chapel, Leeds, by the Rev. Thomas Hollingworth, brother of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Thomas Booth, father of the bridegroom, Arthur Booth, of Rothwell, to Ethel Hollingworth, of Leeds.

DEATHS.

BRADLEY.—On September 3rd, at Rothwell, Mary Ann Bradley, aged 74 years.

CLARKSON.—On September 4th, at Rothwell, Mary Clarkson, aged 74 years.

DAWSON.—On September 4th, at Rothwell, Mary Dawson, aged 74 years.

HOLMES.—On September 4th, at Rothwell, Mary Holmes, aged 74 years.

The damage caused by the war in Belgium up to the present is estimated at forty million sterling.

RILEY-SMITH SHIELD CRICKET FINAL.

WELL-CONTESTED GAME AT BARWICK.

TADCASTER A DEFEAT GARFORTH WES.

On Saturday afternoon the final for the Riley-Smith Cricket Shield was played at Barwick, and a fine struggle between Garforth Wes. and Tadcaster A was witnessed by a fair number of spectators. Garforth were without Gent, one of their best bowlers, else is with the Territorials, and included in the Tadcaster team were C. Harrison and J. W. Garbutt, who have rendered good service with the senior eleven.

Garforth Wes. had first knock of the wicket, and V. Siberry and H. Ward were the first pair to exhibit their skill. Siberry started promisingly by sending the first balls he received from both Harrison and Smart to the boundary. Ward scored one and was then cleverly caught by G. Nettleton at point. Siberry, after two runs had been added, got before the wickets, and received marching orders, but a splendid partnership between F. Siberry and H. Goodall followed. Goodall, at 13, was missed by Nettleton at point, and he celebrated his escape by driving a ball from Smart out of the field. The score rose rapidly, and when it was 29 G. Nettleton went on to trundle in place of Smart. Subsequently Iredale missed Goodall in the long field, but Garbutt, by taking a chance offered by Siberry, with the total at 43, broke up the partnership. Eve another run was added Goodall, who had batted splendidly, and the batter then Smart's hands. Johnson and Brownridge did not remain long together, for the latter, after a run had been added, was clean bowled by Harrison. Herbert Siberry was given out Bowled six wickets were down for 45. Hewitt then joined Johnson, who had played very carefully, but they soon left. Hewitt was caught by Harrison and Johnson by Aldous, with the total at 51. Eight wickets were down, and things were not looking at all well for the Garforthians, but a remarkable partnership between H. Goodall and Harold Siberry put a better complexion on the game. Siberry made a boundary hit, and then he drove a ball to Iredale, but he declined to take the catch, and afterwards the batsmen scored three and lifted the leather over the hedge at the pavilion side for 4. Meantime Goodall contented himself with scoring two. Siberry again hit Harrison to the boundary for three, but the next ball dissolved the partnership, Harrison scattering Goodall's wickets. Nine wickets for 71 was the record. Balmer was the last man in, and he gave Taylor a splendid chance of distinguishing himself, but he dropped the leather. However, the innings soon came to an end, Iredale accepting a catch from Siberry. The total was 73. G. Nettleton was the best of the Tadcaster trundlers, capturing five wickets for 26, while Harrison had a fair 3, and Smart one for 16. The fielding of the Calcarians was faulty, and the missing of several of the batsmen was a distinct blot on their work.

Tadcaster opened their innings with Johnson and Aldous, and the bowlers were Ward and Brownridge. Johnson was soon given out low to Brownridge with only one on the board, but, with the advent of Hardison, the batsmen were on hand, and Brownridge, nine being scored off an over, but he gave place to Harold Siberry. Ward proved expensive, too, and when the score was over 20 H. Goodall went on in his place. Siberry had only one knocked off him in two overs, yet he was taken off, and Ward, whose day it distinctly was not, was given the leather at his end. The bowling, it must be said, was not well managed. Goodall bowled Aldous, who batted admirably for 18, and the second wicket was down for 25. Garbutt afterwards had a boundary hit off Goodall, and Harrison, whose fine, forceful play was the feature of the game, sent a ball from Ward over the pavilion hedge. Garbutt subsequently hit out wildly and had to retire, and he missed it, and it went into his wickets. Three for 33 runs was a good score, but better was to follow. Harrison continued to score freely, and Bejvenjide was again called on in place of Ward. Harrison immediately made a three hit off him, and then Taylor fried to do likewise. Herbert Siberry got the ball and he beat it, but Hewitt secured it, and four wickets were down for 46. E. Nettleton scored a single and brought his score up to four from a three overthrow. However, he sent the next ball into Ward's hands for his do. Iredale followed and opened with a two hit off Goodall, and Harrison drove the ball to the hedge at the other end of the field for 3, being the biggest hit of the match. Iredale despeeted the next ball to Herbert Siberry, and it was securely held—6 for 55—and, with only three more runs on, Shearsmith was run out. The finish proved a very interesting one, and as Harrison continued to find the boundary frequently, Ward was tried again. Seventy was on the board when Nettleton's wicket was got by Goodall, and J. Taylor was smartly caught by V. Siberry with only another run on. Three runs were required for victory when Smart went in, and Harrison put the result beyond all doubt by making a fine three hit. The Garforth fielding was better than that of Tadcaster, but the bowling was not up to the usual. Goodall had the best figures, securing 4 wickets for 21, while Brownridge had 3 for 22, and Ward one for 24 runs. Scores:—

Garforth Wes.
V. Siberry, Bow, b Harrison	7
H. Ward, c G. Nettleton, b Smart	1
F. Siberry, c Garbutt, b Harrison	8
H. Goodall, c Smart, b G. Nettleton	21
J. Johnson, c Aldous, b G. Nettleton	2
R. Brownridge, b Harrison	0
Hitt. Siberry, Bow, b G. Nettleton	0
A. Hewitt, c Harrison, b G. Nettleton	0
J. Goodall, b Harrison	2
Harold Siberry, c Iredale, b Nettleton	18
J. Balmer, not out	2
Extras	2
Total	73

Tadcaster A.
A. Aldous, b H. Goodall	18
R. Johnson, Bow, b Brownridge	0
C. Harrison, not out	33
J. W. Garbutt, b Goodall	3
H. Taylor, c Iredale, b Brownridge	3
E. Nettleton, c Ward, b Goodall	4
W. Iredale, c Hitt. Siberry, b Brownridge	2
A. Shearsmith, run out	0
G. Nettleton, b Goodall	5
J. Taylor, c V. Siberry, b Ward	0
A. Smart, not out	0
Extras	6
Total (for 9 wickets)	74

PRESENTATION OF THE SHIELD.

After the match the trophy was presented to Tadcaster by Mr. E. W. Herbert. He said that they would all agree the match had been a very good one, and whether the better team had won or not was a matter for the different partisans. Tadcaster had got the shield, although not no doubt thought they were the better side. So far as the match was concerned no one could grumble. It had been played in a good sporting spirit, and none of the decisions of the umpires had been complained of. He congratulated Tadcaster on their victory. It was an unique position for one to be asked to present the trophy to his own side, but he was pleased they had won. He must, however, sympathise with Garforth. Next year, if they joined the Competition, they would be in the Senior League, and would be playing against some of the best batting sides in the Division. He then presented the trophy to Mr Shearsmith, who was acting as captain in place of Mr. Rettlewell, who had received an injury and could not take part in the game.

Mr Shearsmith, in accepting the trophy on behalf of Tadcaster, said that it had been coveted very much by them. They had played in the final twice before, and the third time paid for it. Mr Johnson, the donor of the Shield, was a resident of Tadcaster, and he thought it would be appreciated on that account also. While he congratulated Garforth on their play, he thought they had not done themselves justice. He hoped they would have better luck next year.

Mr Fred Siberry, the Garforth captain, said that he was sorry they had not won, although they had played a good game. They had joined the Competition for next season, and would play in the Senior League. He thought that with a bit of luck they might have won the Shield. In order not to disappoint Tadcaster, he told them that they intended to lodge an objection to the result of the match.

On the call of Mr. Richardson (Saxton), a vote of thanks was passed to Berwick Club for the use of their ground.

The gate receipts amounted to £2 10s.

THE STORY OF SEDAN AND THE SIEGE OF PARIS.

WHAT FRANCE IS HOPING TO WIPE OUT.

To many of our readers, especially the young folks, the story of Sedan and the Siege of Paris will be interesting, in view of the present war. Forty-four years ago on September 1st, 1870, occurred the great battle practically decided the fate of the French Army in the Franco-Prussian War. The ostensible cause of the war had been the offer of the crown of Spain to Leopold of Hohenzollern, a prince belonging to the reigning house of Prussia. The claim was withdrawn, but France, who saw danger in a Prussian regime in Spain, insisted somewhat highhandedly on a formal renunciation of the claim from the King of Prussia himself. This was refused, and France declared war. It was obvious from the outset that Germany was much better prepared for war than was France, whose army was defective in everything. The German superiority was evident from the outset; the French army, which had its headquarters at Metz, was put at rest in the first week by the victory of the German third army under the Crown Prince. The northern army remained round Metz and the southern towards Nancy; and the former army, being overtaken by the Germans, was defeated at Courcelles, Marsa-la-Tour, and Gravelotte.

The events which ended in the defeat of Sedan arose primarily out of the investment of the northern army of Bazaine in the fortress of Metz. Bazaine's conduct in allowing himself to be invested has been much disputed. Treachery was rumoured, and after the war Bazaine was condemned by a court-martial, but it is agreed that no such charge could now be sustained. Bazaine had succeeded a few days before to the command of an army whose dislike of him was evident, and he had satisfied himself as to the inability of his corps commanders to handle their troops. He felt that a battle in the field would end only in disaster and that Metz would could inflict severe punishment on his opponents and hold a for superior force of the enemy in action for weeks. The investment began on the 19th, and out of the German troops 200,000 for it was formed a new German army, the army of the Meuse, which set off to discover the remainder of the French army commanded by Marshal Macmahon.

With one French army invested, the Government of the Empire grew anxious and sent instructions to Macmahon to advance with the other army to the relief of Metz. Had these instructions not been issued, it seems probable that, badly commanded though it was, the second army could have saved the investment of Paris. Macmahon, however, obeyed, and sent the Emperor Napoleon in the army, proceeded to march westwards. On August 27th the armies met, Macmahon's army of the army of the Meuse dispersing a body of French cavalry, and for some days subsequently fighting was general, the result being the French were driven North-Eastwards, while the Duke, right across the front of the third German army, which was coming rapidly up from the south. Thus Macmahon had eastwards had northwards the army of the Meuse, and, unfortunately for the army, but his line of retreat northwestward to Mezieres was still open. There was in addition an opportunity, had the French had a Napoleon, to hurl the army from the two divisions of the Germans, but Macmahon appears to have been too disheartened to attempt anything but a battle for the honour of the army, and accordingly he spent the last day of August in resting and refitting his troops.

On September 1st the fight began, and one of the first shells wounded the Field-Marshal. The next senior officer, Ducrot, who knew the country and had the confidence of the troops, took command.

It happened, however, that General Wimpffen, who had only joined the Army from Algiers on the 30th, held a secret commission to command the troops in the case of the death or injury of Macmahon. An act he did not avail himself of the commission, but when he found that Ducrot had issued orders for a retreat on Mezieres under protection of rear-guards, he countermanded the order, being convinced that the correct movement was towards Bazaine at Metz. The result of the double order was confusion, part of the Army being in retreat at the moment that part was advancing. In the battle that followed the French succeeded in uniting and quite day was well-nigh lost. A gallant fight, however, was offered by the French, amongst other notable events being the attack on the German artillery by a column of French infantry, who were almost wiped out, and the brilliant charges of the cavalry. These could not save the day, the French being hopelessly outnumbered and disheartened by repeated defeat. About three o'clock in the afternoon the great German advance began, to be met by another brilliant display of French bravery. Wimpffen rode back to the town to ask the Emperor to send out all available reinforcements, and on his way he saw the white flag appear on the church steeple. It was indeed a terrible day, but want up again, and Wimpffen, delayed by the appalling confusion, was too late to reach the Emperor. The soldiers, indeed, had not seen the flag and fought desperately, but the Emperor, who had fearlessly courted death during the fight, sent a parlementaire to the King of Prussia conveying his personal surrender, and it only remained for Wimpffen to make terms for his army.

These were passed thus:—Unconditional surrender of the French, 50 generals, 2,000 officers, 84,000 men, and an enormous quantity of stores. The French lost 17,000 killed and wounded, the Germans 9,000. The defeat sealed the fate of the Empire; there was an outburst of rage on the part of Parisians, and Gambetta declared the Republic—inevitable. Sedan remains the blackest day in the history of French arms, and to-day every Frenchman prays that this war may see the stain of it wiped from the escutcheon of the Republic.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION.

A GARFORTH W.R. MATCH.

DECISION TO CONTINUE FOOTBALL IN THE DISTRICT.

ALLERTON BYWATER, FRYSTON, AND ROTHWELL VIEWS.

A meeting of the Leeds Senior Association Football League was held in the Foresters' Rooms, Leeds, on Tuesday, and was presided over by Mr. R. Ellis, President of the League. The following clubs were represented:—Allerton Bywater Colliery, Rothwell Parish Church, Rothwell Rose, Fryston Colliery, Garforth Wes, Methley Colliery, Normanton, Methley, Harrogate, Cdderley, Clarence Iron and Steel Works, and Thornhill Lees Albion.

It was unanimously agreed that the League had sanctioned the postponement of the match Thornhill Lees Albion and Garforth White Rose, after hearing the explanation of the Thornhill Lees Club, who had acted on the advice of a representative of the County Association and warned all their players there would be no match.

The action was confirmed.

The Harrogate representative explained that owing to the majority of their players having joined the colours they would be unable to fulfil their fixtures.

Mr Joel said he thought Harrogate did not wish to withdraw from the League altogether, and ought to refuse them from all fixtures until they felt themselves able to continue.

It was resolved that Harrogate be permitted to withdraw until such time as they felt they could continue playing in the first week in September.

In informing the Harrogate representative of the meeting's decision, the Chairman said they were delighted to learn the reason for their withdrawal.

The question as to whether the League should continue its fixtures throughout the war was next considered. Mr Joel said with regard to the letter which had been received from the West Riding Association recommending that all Competitions—League or Cup—sanctioned by the Association be abandoned for the present, he did not think he should take it as an official intimation.

The Chairman asked for representatives' opinions as to whether they should be continued or not, and the reasons.

Mr W. Peacock (Clarence Iron and Steel Works) said the Methley Park Junior football would stop recruiting, as about seventy young men had gone from their works to enlist.

The Fryston Colliery representative said that formerly the employers had contributed a penny each week towards the club, but now the firm had taken that, and, with an additional twopence, the money was being given to a fund for the keeping of the dependents of those at the front. How were they to continue? He at least could guarantee the fulfilment of all the home matches, but he could not give one for away matches.

Mr Joel said he did not think the Fryston fixtures very formidable. He went on to say that as soon as the football season commenced they would people up and down the country drawing distinction as to who should be played and who should not. His only grievance was that if authorities responsible for the game did not give their consideration to the matter at the time they ought to have done. Many clubs were bound down to meet certain sums for the payment of grounds. If the recommendation of the County Association was carried out what was the County Association going to do for these clubs? He thought such clubs were entitled to some consideration, and seeing that football was the working-man's game, he took exception to the outcry against it for that reason. Taking it from a business point of view, there was something to be said for it and something to be said against it. However, he did not think they should rush into a game. He would like to think as the Government would. They had urged that all things of business should go on as far as possible. Many applications had been made for the game provided work for a number of people. They were, he thought, serving the interests of the country by keeping on as they ought to do than by rushing into public subscribing anything that tended to hit the mind. Mr A. Dixon (Allerton Bywater) said they were giving a penny each week to the War Fund. Fifty men had already gone to enlist. The men at the colliery were of the opinion that in playing football they were going against the call, but after a consultation with the agent they were playing men who were fit for the game, would enlist, as they were only working three days a week.

The Leeds representative said the feeling there was against football, but they felt they were doing something for the war by giving to the funds, and by not playing they were helping those who were fit for the game.

Mr Rollinson (Rothwell P.C.) said that at Rothwell they had two teams, and neither got support from colliery proprietors. They got about £4 to £5 every week, and the committee had to work for the money.

The Chairman said that what they wanted to know was if there was any reason why football should not be played.

Mr A. Dixon said they wanted some kind of a guarantee that clubs would be able to carry on.

Mr Joel suggested that when a club played a home match they should pay to the League a sufficient sum to guarantee a corresponding return match. In arranging the fixtures practically all clubs were down for home matches in the early part of the season, and away in the latter half.

Mr J. Bradley (Rothwell White Rose) moved that the League go on as arranged.

An amendment in the terms of Mr Joel's suggestion was moved by Mr Dixon, and on a vote being taken, five voted for the amendment and seven for the resolution.

Mr Dixon said that as a result he must ask the Chairman to accept his club's resignation. His club were fully prepared to go on, but they were not prepared to do so unless they had a guarantee that other clubs were.

The Chairman said it was quite evident that there were two or three clubs which were not prepared to give a guarantee to carry on, and the only honourable course was to withdraw.

Mr Joel suggested that as Allerton Bywater did not meet their first fixture until a week on Saturday Mr Dixon should see his committee and let him know the decision at a later date. This Mr Dixon agreed to do.

BARKSTON ASH FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION.

DECISION TO ABANDON COMPETITIONS

A special meeting of the Executive of the Barkston Ash Football Association was held at the Station Hotel, Crossgates, on Tuesday night to consider the question as to whether or not, in view of the war, the competitions in connection with the Association should be carried on this season.

Mr J. H. Clay, of Wetherby (President) was in the chair, and other members present were Messrs Harry Metcalfe, of Tadcaster (hon. sec.), Mr A. Flowith (Sherburn), Mr Inman (Aberford), and Mr Tankard (Barwick). Mr J. Conner, of Whitkirk (President of the West Riding Football Association) also attended.

It will be remembered that the West Riding Association decided to recommend that all competitions (both League and Cup) sanctioned by them or by any of the District Associations, should be abandoned for the present, and this was fully discussed.

The President spoke strongly in favour of the recommendation, and proposed that all the Barkston Ash Competitions be abandoned at present.

Mr Flowith seconded, and this was supported by Mr Conner and Mr Inman, and unanimously agreed to.

Mr G. E. Barker, the Selby representative, wrote stating that he had been called up to Lord Kitchener's Army.

THE WEEK'S MARKETS.

CORN.

SELBY, Monday.—A better show of new corn, and a fair demand. Prices firm. Wheat generally was in good condition, but the effect of the haldstorms has been to keep down some of the yield. Wheat 38s. to 41s., malting barley 29s. to 33s., oats 23s. to 25s., and rye 28s. to 29s. per qr.

PROVISIONS.

SELBY, Monday.—Eggs 9 or 10 for 1s.; butter 1s. 2d. and 1s. 3d. per lb.; chickens 3s. 6d. to 4s., and ducks 5s. to 5s. 6d. per couple.

POTATOES.

SELBY, Monday.—Plenty of potatoes offering, and prices slightly lower, but there was a fair demand. Some disease is showing in places. King Edwards 45s. to 47s. 6d., British Queens, Eclipse, and Up-to-Dates 40s. to 42s. 6d. per ton; retail 2s. 2d. to 2s. 6d. per hamper.

CATTLE.

WHITKIRK AUCTION MART, Monday.—Messrs Bartle and Son offered at their fortnightly sale 48 newly calven and calving cows, 59 fat beasts, 87 sheep, 224 pigs, and 15 calves. A small entry of dairy cows, a few of which were selected, the best making up to £26 7s. 6d., secondary to £21 15s., present calvers to £20 12s. 6d., and October calvers to £18 10s. The best fat heifers and bullocks were of good trade, and made up to 8d., secondary ditto 7½d. to 7¾d., cows to 6½d. per lb. Sheep ruled dear; small shearlings to 7d., ewes to 6d., and tups to 11d. per lb. Pork pigs made to 7s. 9d., and bonivers to 8s. to 7s. per stone. Young pigs 14s. to 23s., stronger sorts to 35s. each, breeding calves made to 34s., and veal calves to £4 5s. each.

SELBY, Monday.—At this auction mart to-day Messrs Richardson and Son disposed of 52 beasts, 22 sheep, and 31 pigs. There was only a small supply of stock, harvesting not yet being concluded. The beasts shown were only small in size, and badly graded but were very scarce. The prices all round were the same as last week; a nice trade for best calving heifers. Prices were as follows:—Fat bullocks up to £20 7s. 6d., fat heifers up to £20 5s., fat cows up to £19 15s., heifers in calf up to £20 17s. 6d., fat sheep up to £2 10s., fat lambs up to £1 11s., and pork pigs up to £6 each.

WETHERBY, Monday.—At this auction mart to-day Messrs Dibb and Preston had a fairly good show of well-finished beasts and sheep. The attendance of butchers was rather less than last mart, and trade ruled less than a fortnight ago. Best beef was very scarce, prices up to 9d. per stone, secondary quality from 8s. 6d. to 9s. per stone. Sheep met a good trade, making 9d. to 10d. per lb., and lambs made 8s. per head more money. Pigs made up to £20 10s. Numbers sold: 108 beasts, 291 sheep and lambs.

Mr R. Carr, of Wighill, had two well-finished bullocks, making £30 10s. and £28 7s. 6d.; Mr R. Shipley, Ilkley, sent four very weighty bullocks, making £28 17s. 6d., £27, £26 17s. 6d., and £26; Mr E. Liversidge, of Newsholme, had two fine bullocks, which made £24 15s., £24 10s., £23 15s., £23, £22 17s. 6d., and £22 17s. 6d. Mr R. Dutton, of Bilton, had two bullocks and a heifer, making £26 5s., £24 5s., and £23 5s.; Mr J. Bell, bullocks from Mr J. J. Thomlinson's Exors. made £22 17s. 6d., £22 12s. 6d., and £21 17s. 6d.; four bullocks from Mr T. Dawson, of Walshford, made £22 10s., £22 5s. 6d., £22, and £21 15s.; Mr R. O. Pick, of Bickerton, had four bullocks, making £22 2s. 6d., £19 10s., £20, and £19 12s. 6d.; Mr R. Shipley, jun.,

[ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.]

THE DOUBLE CHANCE.

By J. S. FLETCHER

Author of "The Threshing Floor," "When Charles I. Was King," "Dorcas Quayne," "The Pyramid," &c.

CHAPTER XV.

When Marshall Stead left Phillipa Mannersley in the morning-room at the Castle, he left perhaps the unhappiest young woman in England behind him. For fully a quarter of an hour Phillipa remained where she stood by the table, drumming upon it ceaselessly with her fingers and staring at the vacant space where the clothier had stood. She could not realise what had happened. She had never liked Stead, but she had never actually disliked him. She knew that her father liked and trusted him, and that had been enough for her. But she had always had an unspoken feeling, an instinct, that there was something behind Stead's smooth and quiet manner; now that he had revealed himself to her, she knew him not only for a schemer, but for a villain. She felt the blood in her veins turn to ice and then to fire as she remembered what had just occurred—she—she was to be the prize on the man's bargain! She felt shamed and humiliated to the very core.

And she had given him her word to keep confidence! She was to go about with the shameful secret, live with it, be with it always—that he was bartering his knowledge against her. She was to give up her life, herself, her all to him in exchange for divulging a secret which, if he had chosen an honest way, would have been no secret, which she had given him her word—her word!

"Oh, if only I had known what to whom—I could speak!" she said to herself. "Someone to whom I could turn and tell everything! But——"

And then the dreadful truth forced itself upon her once more—there was no one in the world. And as a girl of Phillipa Mannersley's stamp, a girl who had been brought up with the strictest notions of honour and duty, who, moreover, had equally strict and natural notions of her own, the mere idea of breaking faith was as dreadful as the idea of any inhumanity would be to an ardent realist.

She knew little of what she did, and she would not breakfast next morning. The distant relative who was staying with her (she had no near relation except her cousin Clinton) was anxious and troubled about her, but thought that she was still fretting over her father's death, and, before she came down Phillipa had formed a resolution, and early in the forenoon she left the Castle to carry it out. She was going to ask advice on a question of conscience, and so she went across the road and through the churchyard to the Vicarage to find the old Vicar, who had known her ever since she was born, and had a great affection for her. He was then buried in his study poring over one of his treasured books, and she plunged at once into the matter which had brought her there.

"Mr. Smail," she said, when she had dropped into her favourite chair at the old parson's side, "is it ever right to break one's word?"

The Vicar pushed his spectacles high up on his forehead and looked at her as if he wanted to hear more.

"I mean under any circumstances," she said.

"It is generally held that one should never break one's word under any circumstances whatever, my dear," replied the old man. "But, he added, thoughtfully, "I must confess that it has often occurred to me that there might be circumstances which would justify one in doing so."

"Supposing," said Phillipa, "supposing you had given your word to somebody whom you subsequently found out to be a man of very wicked indeed, and that that somebody might never to have exacted your word from you—what then?"

The old Vicar took off his spectacles and polished them thoughtfully.

"You mean, I suppose, my dear, a case where one's word has been given under—compulsion?" he said.

"Yes, yes!" exclaimed Phillipa, with great eagerness. "Yes—that's it—under compulsion! Where one has given one's word, you know——"

"Under a threat of what might happen to yourself, or to some other person, to your or the other person's hurt?" asked the Vicar.

"Yes, yes!" replied the girl.

Mr. Smail put his spectacles on again with calm deliberation.

"There is a certain school of theologians," he said, with a sly smile which Phillipa did not understand, "which would tell you that a promise made under such conditions is no promise at all; that a promise or vow exacted by force, or compulsion, is not binding on the moral or religious obligation. And I am not sure that I do not agree with that school," he continued, with a quiet chuckle. "I am quite sure that if a man came in here and held a pistol to my head and demanded that I should promise to give him his sermon next Sunday I should certainly promise, I should feel very reluctant to keep my promise."

"Oh, thank you, thank you—you are at war!" exclaimed Phillipa, and darted out of the room as suddenly as she had entered it, leaving the old Vicar to wonder what was the matter with her. She ran across to the Castle and into the hall.

"Send the lounging fellow out of the door, Dauncey, please," she said. "Tell them to be quick."

Within a quarter of an hour the man who, lying down to the ordinary, quickly wriggled and active, she had determined to lose no time in doing what she had made up her mind to do. And in the interval of hearing the Vicarage and getting into the brougham she had decided to tell Quinton Blood all that had passed on the previous night between Stead and herself. She felt that Mr. Blood, the people about Quinton was most to be trusted.

But Phillipa was not the girl to take a mean advantage. She was going to break her word to Marshall Stead, but she was also going to tell Marshall Stead that she was about to do before she did it. She would not speak behind his back. And so, when the brougham drew up at the offices of the colliery, and Phillipa stepped out, she turned to the unassuming house, entered the clothier's deputy's room, asked to see the principal.

There was scarcely a clerk in the counting-house who could remember ever seeing Miss Mannersley there before, and the young proprietress of Mannersley Main was treated with all deference. And Mr. Marshall Stead himself came out all business, deference, and politeness, and bowed her into his private office, where Phillipa at one glance saw that they were alone.

"I do not wish to sit down," she said, ignoring the chair which he placed for her. "What I have to say will not take long. I will—I have come to tell you that I unreservedly take back that promise which I gave you—and, rather, which you exacted from me—last night. I intend to make known all you told me—and at once."

If a sudden expression in the workings for beneath them had happened at that moment Marshall Stead could scarcely have been more astonished than he was. His usual sang-froid left him; he turned red and white, and finally a sickly grey; his mouth opened, and he was dumbfounded.

"Did—did—your word of honour!" he stammered.

"You extorted my word from me in the wildest of fashions!" she said, with a flash in her eyes. "I am advised that I am under no obligation to you to keep it. I am not going to do so. There is one thing more I have to say to you. After last night I know what sort of man you are. I will no longer have you in my employ. Mr. Quinton will pay you a year's salary—two—three years' salary, if necessary, and you will go."

Stead had recovered himself by that time. He allowed a little of his true self to peep out.

"So you mean your cousin to be hanged!" he said, with the sneer of the man who had coolly finds that his game is up.

"I would rather see my cousin hanged drawn, and quartered than owe his life to a man like you!" she exclaimed. "But I am not—said, for now I do not believe your story!"

"We—ell now," he answered, quietly. "You do ill to turn me into an enemy."

Phillipa made no reply but with her hand on the door she turned and looked at him.

"Remember!" she said. "I am serious here. I will not have you in my employ one hour longer."

Then she swept out, feeling very dignified and much older, through the counting-house and round to the general offices, and there demanded to see Quinton. And while she waited during the moment which elapsed before Quinton came to her, she realised that all the weight of her responsibilities had dropped clean away from her.

If Mark Quinton was astonished to see Miss Mannersley at the offices so soon after her father's death, he was much more astonished to hear that she was to go about with him. It had seemed to her that she would never be able to tell it to a human soul, but her indignation against Stead had roused her to such a pitch that she told the manager everything without hesitation. And when she finished with his hands tightly clenched in his trousers pockets, heartily wishing that he could kick Stead all round the room, and then hand him over to the colliers, heard her out, and said nothing to interrupt her.

"I am sorry for one thing to do, Miss Mannersley," he said, when Phillipa had finished. "You must not do this. You must not tell Stead what has happened, it will not surprise me if Stead attempts to clear out. Now I have particular reasons why Stead should not clear out—at least not of Mannersley. The fact of the case is, between ourselves, that the books of the colliery that has been done for years, and I do not want to lose control of Mr. Stead.

"You don't mean——" began Phillipa.

"Never mind what I mean just now," said Quinton, with a smile and a reassuring fashion. "Just excuse me a moment while I step into the outer office—there's a small matter I must attend to."

Left alone, Phillipa, who had no mind to look at the illustrations in the books of the old hand-loom, reflected on the events of the last eighteen hours. She had been supported by Quinton's presence, and now, at his departure, she felt nervous and frightened. Should not clear out—at least not of Mannersley. The fact of the case is, between ourselves, that the books of the colliery that has been done for years, and I do not want to lose control of Mr. Stead.

"You don't mean——" began Phillipa.

"Never mind what I mean just now," said Quinton, with a smile and a reassuring fashion. "Just excuse me a moment while I step into the outer office—there's a small matter I must attend to."

Left alone, Phillipa, who had no mind to look at the illustrations in the books of the old hand-loom, reflected on the events of the last eighteen hours. She had been supported by Quinton's presence, and now, at his departure, she felt nervous and frightened. Should Stead return? Should he—? And then she heard his step in the passage, and he came in.

"Here's a new development, Miss Mannersley," he said, with a quick look at her. "You know Joel Hall, the manager of the Jubilee Pit? He has just brought one of the miners here—that big man, Moses Pogmore, whom they call Black Moses. He has a story to tell which bears a very significant relation to what you have just told me. Shall I bring him in?"

"Oh, do, Mr. Quinton!" exclaimed Phillipa. "Do! Do! Bring him in!"

Jim Britten and Black Moses had evidently been in close proximity to the door, for they entered in the instant the handle was turned, Phillipa shook hands with Jim, and then with Black Moses, who had evidently considered that the occasion was one of circumstance in which he had put on his best clothes and a bowler hat which, being two sizes too small for him, looked like an enlarged schoolboy.

"Sit down, Britten—sit down, Pogmore," said Quinton, handing them chairs close to his desk, near which Phillipa was sitting. "Now, Moses, you've been telling Miss Mannersley that you've something to tell, and also wants to hear it. So fire away!"

Black Moses, like all the miners, had an admiration for Phillipa which bordered almost on worship, and consequently he grew courage, and, after various preliminary groans and coughs, expressive of his sense of gratitude for being invited to address such a lovely divinity, began to hold forth.

"Well, ye see, missie, likewise mem, which I'm not so much used to the ladies as I were this way," he said. "Ye see, mum, I live, as Jim there knows, at that end o' the village by brickfield, and we'rally, as no one else lives thereabouts. I've come to look on that there brickfield as my own, and did what little I could to desert island—I disremember his name. And sometimes of an evening, there being nought to do, and me not fond of sitting in public house, I take a stroll round the old building's, as is now tumble-down—there's a fine bit o' ruining now in them brickfields, ready just now I can't get a dog, more's the pity—and sometimes I sits down and smokes a pipe there. And that's how this here happened, sir," he said, turning to Quinton. "Weren't it, Jim?"

"Yes, that's it," replied Jim. "Now then, go on, Moses. Tell 'em Miss Mannersley what you've seen."

"Yes, and please tell 'em just your own way, Moses," said Phillipa. "And if you want a dog to go after rats I shall be pleased to send you one."

Then emboldened and feeling more at his ease, Mr. Pogmore proceeded to tell how that on the previous evening, about dusk, he had observed two men in conversation on the two insepitable fellows, Steve Grandidge and Jack Moorsom, with respect to a transaction which only two were having with Mr. Marshall Stead, from which conversation it appeared that Grandidge and Moorsom were in return for the evidence of Ginger King, on fines supplied to them by Mr Stead; and that during the time of their trial they were to keep sober; and that when things were settled they were to receive so much cole at their own price from Mr. Stead, and would further pay their passages to Canada. Which, the further evidence overheard, overheard, one checking the other in the matter of times, and so on.

"An' that there is the gospelled truth, s'elp me!" concluded Black Moses. "And if so be as I ought come up for that there little job, mum——"

"Then I shall be sure to hear it," said the inspector. "Come, sir, as I am known to be rather eccentric in speech and manner. If you have aught to say to me, pray do. I shall be obliged to you."

"Well, inspector," said Stead, somewhat insolently this time, "it will be in your recollection that on the night of the murder I called at the Castle, and was told by the butler that I could not see, for purposes of my own, I did not tell all I might have done at the magisterial inquiry."

"Ah! indeed?" said Inspector Cortelyon.

"No. When I entered the library, contrary to custom, I particularly observed that one of the windows opening on the lawn was open. Also, I observed, as soon as I entered, that the window opening down to the ground. That on the right hand side was open, and the blind, which usually hangs down, was rolled up and closed it, and drew down the blind."

Inspector Cortelyon took out a note-book.

"You have observed all this—a remembrance of what you tell me?" he said. "It will, of course, be important."

"Oh, by no means!" replied Stead. "I intend, of course, to relate all this at the adjourned hearing, but I wished you to know now."

"Just so," said the detective, who had taken down the words quickly. Mr. Stead."

"Well," continued Stead, "in turning from the window I observed something lying on a chair. Something, you understand, unusual."

"Ah! Unusual in that place—the library? And what was it?" asked Inspector Cortelyon, busy with his pencil.

It was a deer-stalker hat."

Inspector Cortelyon continued to write for a moment or two without looking up or betraying any undue interest.

"A deer-stalker hat? Ah! probably one of Sir Robert's," he said.

"No," replied Stead, who scarcely understood the detective's manner. "It was certainly not one of Sir Robert's! It was an old, much-worn, rather greasy hat—not at all the sort of thing that Sir Robert would have worn. It had been a good hat—it bore the name of a good maker—Heath, of Oxford-street."

Inspector Cortelyon smiled. "You would have been a credit to my profession, Mr. Stead," he remarked. "You know how to notice little things. Pray proceed."

"Well," continued Stead, who drank in compliment of any with avidity, "after—after the discovery of the dreadful event——"

"You mean Sir Robert's murder?" interrupted the detective, shortly.

"Yes, after that—and, of course, when the natural flurry had subsided—I remembered the hat," said Stead, "and I went back to the library and put it in my pocket—I took it home."

"Mention it to anybody?" asked Inspector Cortelyon.

"No."

"Why not?"

"I have always made it a rule," answered Stead, "not to tell my business to anyone until the right moment arrives."

"A very excellent rule. Go on," said the inspector.

"I come to the next point of my story," continued Stead. "I do not know whether you are aware of the exact position of my residence—I shall be pleased to see you to the top of less there one of those days—but close by it is a quarry which has long been out of use. It is very deep, and in one part of it part the railings are broken down. There are no lights about there, and a stranger wandering about or having his way could easily fall over the edge. Now, on the night of Sir Robert's murder——"

"Murder!" corrected the detective, laconically.

"As I was returning home," Stead went on, ignoring the interruption, "I heard groans proceeding from the quarry. I went to the assistance in the quarry lies between my house and some old cottages which were to be pulled down when the colliery was laid out. I procured help from the cottages, and a lantern, and went down into the quarry. There I found a man lying at the foot of a steep wall of rock over which he had evidently fallen. He was groaning, but unconscious. I—I—I am sorry to say—recognised him."

Inspector Cortelyon looked up with quickened interest. "Ah! you recognised him?" he exclaimed. "As whom?"

"As a certain Jim Britten, a journalist, from London, who for many years had from time to time pestered Sir Robert with a scheme for nationalising the mines. Sir Robert had in the case of an explosion, and had given him a great deal of annoyance," answered Stead. "In fact, the man had formerly left Sir Robert alone; and though Sir Robert did not believe in the scheme, Mr. Britten's visits, that's letters became almost threatening. My own impression is that he is not quite sane."

"What, you found him in the quarry—what then?" asked the detective.

"I had him conveyed to the cottage of a woman who pays me nursing, and took a room to spare, Mrs. Hardacre," answered Stead. "I sent for Dr. Herbert Hall, the police doctor found that Steinthal had broken a leg and some ribs, and that there was some injury to the head, but as a matter of fact, he has lost his memory."

Inspector Cortelyon closed his pocket-book with a snap. "Is that all you have to tell-tage?" he said.

"Oh, yes, and is being well looked after," answered Stead. "He will get away."

"Now then, what is your theory?" asked the detective.

"I believe he killed Sir Robert," replied Stead, slowly. "He had to hat or cap when he found him, and he left it behind. He was over. I have seen him in it, for he has visited Mannersley several times. He knew the Castle well—was in that way familiar with admission through that open window, and left by it after he had committed the murder."

The detective, who had put on his hat and picked up his umbrella, nodded. "I'm very much obliged to you, Mr. Stead," he said. "You are helping considerably to clear matters up. Now, you won't object to walking down to the police station with me?—to tell this to Illingworth."

"Oh, not at all!" replied Stead. "I am glad to do all I can to help to clear Sir Clinton of this dreadful charge."

He accompanied Inspector Cortelyon to the latter looked at them in surprise—Inspector Cortelyon gave a little nod to Jim Britten, summoned the little man from Scotland Yard managed to get between Stead and the door. He suddenly looked very big and powerful and strangely different.

"Now, Mr. Stead," he said, "it's no use muttering matters. Quite apart from what you've told me this morning, all of which I can quickly verify with my colleagues here, and I were going to call on you a little later, as we wished to see you on an important matter, you're—you're—impertinent, and you needn't waste time. The fact is, Mr. Stead, we hold a warrant for your arrest."

Stead, who had been staring at the detective as if he were trying to make out the sudden change in his manner, suddenly started back. "A warrant—for my arrest?" he exclaimed.

Inspector Cortelyon stepped out to answer in one word. "Forgery!"

(To be continued.)

SALT IN THE HOUSEHOLD.

Besides being a necessary ingredient in most kinds of cookery, an appetising addition to many articles of rus food, and the best preservative for meat, salt has many uses. Iron dross pute a trifle of salt in her starch, adds it in larger quantity to the water in which she washes gingham and other coloured fabrics, rubs it well into the spots where oxalic acid has been applied to remove iron stain to neutralise the acid, and removes the flat iron by rubbing it upon salt sprinkled on a bit of paper.

The housewife adds a pinch to the water in her lamp-set-holder that the flowers may have a longer lease of life, and in the coffee stains from the cups with it; has a portion put in whitewash to make it adhere more closely, and in the water in which she washes eggshells and other coloured fabrics, rubs it well into the spots where oxalic acid has been applied to remove iron stain to neutralise the acid, and removes the flat iron by rubbing it upon salt sprinkled on a bit of paper.

The housewife adds a pinch to the water in her lamp-set-holder that the flowers may have a longer lease of life, and in the coffee stains from the cups with it; has a portion put in whitewash to make it adhere more closely, and in the water in which she washes eggshells and other coloured fabrics, rubs it well into the spots where oxalic acid has been applied to remove iron stain to neutralise the acid, and removes the flat iron by rubbing it upon salt sprinkled on a bit of paper.

The housewife adds a pinch to the water in her lamp-set-holder that the flowers may have a longer lease of life, and in the coffee stains from the cups with it; has a portion put in whitewash to make it adhere more closely, and in the water in which she washes eggshells and other coloured fabrics, rubs it well into the spots where oxalic acid has been applied to remove iron stain to neutralise the acid, and removes the flat iron by rubbing it upon salt sprinkled on a bit of paper.

The housewife adds a pinch to the water in her lamp-set-holder that the flowers may have a longer lease of life, and in the coffee stains from the cups with it; has a portion put in whitewash to make it adhere more closely, and in the water in which she washes eggshells and other coloured fabrics, rubs it well into the spots where oxalic acid has been applied to remove iron stain to neutralise the acid, and removes the flat iron by rubbing it upon salt sprinkled on a bit of paper.

DISTRICT BREVITIES.

Dr. Matthews, of Harewood, has gone to the war.

* * *

Kippax and Wetherby led the way. They had recruiting meetings last week.

* * *

One Rothwell Councillor seems particularly anxious to get the new cemetery "into order."

* * *

Certain of the Garforth young men want a rifle range at the Cliff. Not a bad spot for the purpose.

* * *

The value of the livings of Sherburn and Church Fenton in 1660 was respectively £135 and £145.

* * *

Cowthorpe—a very small parish, celebrated for its Oak—has sent three gulneas to the National Relief Fund.

* * *

How many from Allerton and Eppax? Up to last week-end about 300 men had enlisted at Castleford recruiting office.

* * *

Tadcaster, as is well-known, has electric lighting, and it is proposed that Boston Spa should be illuminated in the same way.

* * *

All the beds on the female side of Wetherby Infirmary are occupied. There are not fifty inmates in the workhouse altogether.

* * *

Is it not a mistake to curtail or abandon Literary Society programmes? It is serious work for the most part, and not amusement.

* * *

An old lady of Selby, who has seen nearly ninety years, is knitting socks for the troops. She no doubt says this is her "little bit."

* * *

Rothwell's prospective neighbours. Lofthouse Park has been taken over by the Army authorities as a compound for German prisoners.

* * *

Wetherby has not the sword, although it has done well. Of 50 males residing in Collins Terrace, Grassiold, Margport, 36 have enlisted.

* * *

Who says Barwick is behind the times? For the past fortnight the village clock has been from seven to ten minutes in front of Greenwich time.

* * *

An effort was made to get Lord Charles Beresford to address meetings in Wetherby district this week, but he was down to speak at larger places.

* * *

The Rev. W. C. Poles (formerly of Selby), who is well-known in Sherburn, Hillard, and Monk Fryston, has been appointed Sheriff's chaplain at York.

* * *

Lost we forget! It is stated that at Tockwith on the church bell is only daily at noon to remind people to offer a prayer for our fighting men in France.

* * *

Holton folks, the other night, did not have sufficient enthusiasm to form a Town Guard. The majority did not know what the duties of such a force would be.

* * *

It seems that because there is no distress in the district Rothwell Guardians refuse to give to the funds. Let them remember that other districts are not so happily placed.

* * *

How many miners in the district will be found in the church parade daily at noon to-morrow? Have you not forgot what the Germans did to the underground workers in Belgium.

* * *

Just now the magistrates are busier. At Wetherby a man, who had no fewer than forty convictions against him, was fined 40s. or a month with sleeping out, was told to "make himself scarce."

* * *

Aberford, even as late as 1709, was reported to be "famous for nothing but the manufacture of pine." This is strange, seeing that coalmining has been carried on in the district for centuries.

* * *

Missing! The body of Frederick William Campey (28), brickkayer, of Hunt Street, Castleford, had been recovered from the Canal at Brayton. Anyone who saw Campey going to his parents' house at Bolsdall.

* * *

Well done! In regard to the cleaning of Seacroft Church the Vicar states that sixteen men did good service, and "fifteen of our lady friends gave up a whole day to the great dirt." Some of them are working for two whole days."

* * *

Hunting men in the Bramham Moor and York and Ainsty countries deplore the death of Major Sweetenham, a gallant officer, who at one time resided at Colton Lodge, Tockwister. He, like another hero—Captain Ledgard, of Thorpe—fell in the fighting line.

* * *

The church millstone! A feature of the recruiting meetings in the district has been the presence of clergymen and ministers, some of whom would greatly like to be at the Front. They have not, however, like a Vicar further north, started drilling recruits.

* * *

Well done! In regard to the cleaning of Seacroft Church the Vicar states that sixteen men did good service, and "fifteen of our lady friends gave up a whole day to the great dirt." Some of them are working for two whole days." The church has since another appearance.

* * *

"When rubbing opened at Colton While," says a fellower of the York and Ainsty, "little did one think that Major Sweetenham, who lived at Colton Lodge, had given up his life on the battle field. His death will be lamented by every follower in the York and Ainsty Hunt. A brilliant sportsman and a brave soldier has passed from us, and our sympathy is offered to his widow and family in the sad bereavement."

* * *

In Tadcaster school district last month the attendance returns showed an average of 87.24 per cent., as against 81.09 in the corresponding month of last year. The figures for the several schools were—Holgate, 94.41; Healaugh 95.45; Newton Kyme 94.73. Tadcaster boys 91.84, girls 83.25, Infants 83.88, and the Roman Catholic school 83.09.

* * *

How many local men will join the N.E.R. Battalion?

* * *

Measles, which is one of the most dangerous of children's diseases, is prevalent at Garforth.

* * *

Will a rifle club be started at Garforth? Why not start a company of Territorials?

* * *

Selby has supplied 650 men, including Reservists, for the Army since the war began.

* * *

In the Rothwell district the collieries are working fairly well, and there does not appear to be any distress.

* * *

A Distress Fund has been opened for Barwick and Scholes, and the committee expect they will be well supported.

* * *

Rothwell colliery-owners and men are working splendidly together in the present crisis, and both have been very generous.

* * *

Food is wanted. While the wheat crops in Barkston Ash are good, it is stated that disease among potatoes is common.

* * *

South Milford is doing its T'kittle bit." Twenty men have already joined the Army, and probably a few more will follow suit.

* * *

A singular accident occurred at South Milford. A horse kicked a man and sent him into a pond. It was a "flying kick" and no mistake.

* * *

In 1300 Sherburn had a considerable population of "spinners" instead of basket pins for wool-combing, and not the ladies' friend.

* * *

A sum of £100 has been sent by "Anonymous," Roundhay, to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

* * *

Whitkirk Rifle Club is now in full swing, and the enrolment have a chance of testing their skill. Will any of them undertake the "potting" of Germans?

* * *

A vigorous recruiting campaign is to be undertaken in the district, and it is believed that a great many farm hands, after the crops are in, will join the colours.

* * *

Good! At Oulton garments for the soldiers and their dependents are being made by workers who are paid for what they do. That is a good way to prevent distress.

* * *

No Gee-Gees! The Bramham Moor Hounds met on Friday morning at Ingmanthorpe at five o'clock. There were very few people out, owing to the scarcity of horses.

* * *

Barwick Council had an unique experience the other night. Owing to a misunderstanding only four members turned up at the meeting—two had gone away—and it had to be adjourned.

* * *

The Lord Mayor, who has given such a splendid lead to Leeds in various ways, and the Lady Mayoress have decided to hold a war concert promoted by the Ceneagates Foresters.

* * *

The Church Fenton case, in which a man said he did not know he was doing wrong by trespassing on the railway, should be a warning to others. The man appears to have had a narrow escape from death.

* * *

Money values were, of course, different then, but at one time the rent of land in Sherburn was 6d. per acre, and a labourer's wages were a penny a day. A penny, however, could buy a fat hen or two dozen eggs.

* * *

Tadcaster Guardians have not had a single application for relief from wives of men who have gone to the front. The people in the villages should see that soldiers' dependents do not in anywise suffer.

* * *

Brand Garforth, Crossgates, Whitkirk, Holton, Colton, Sandhill, Seacroft, Roundway, Moor-Allerton, Collingham, Wetherby, East Keswick, Thorner, Oulton, Scarcroft, and Rothwell are represented in the Leeds City Battalion.

* * *

The Board of Agriculture and Fisheries, have revoked the Order under which cattle, sheep, goats, and swine brought from Ireland are required to be detained and isolated for fourteen days or to be slaughtered after removal from the landing-place.

* * *

Woodhouse at the front! Mr F. Hopkinson, of Pontefract, and who has been conducting a sweets manufactory at Brussels, states that in the Germans' murder past his residence he found among the trophies a hurry painted Rothwell Valley Yorkshire Breweries."

* * *

Stockbridge ward! Hunter Council's new reading officer—Mr Steel, of Rothwell—has stated that he has been promoted to the rank of sergeant in the Army, and that his place has been licensed. He made this statement so that the Guardians could reduce his allowance.

* * *

In recent years Lofthouse Park, near Rothwell, has come to many purposes. Originally a gentleman's country seat, it was bought by the Leeds and Wakefield Tramways Company and converted, at considerable expense, into a place of public amusements. As such it failed to realise the hopes of the promoters, although successful sports meetings and flying exhibitions have been given there from time to time. There is a stone mansion and a large pavilion on the estate, which covers many acres.

* * *

Lieut.-Col. Stansforth, in command of the Yorkshire Hussars, states that Mrs Stansforth will be glad to receive gifts of shirts, socks, mufflers, waistcoats with sleeves, socks, pocket handkerchiefs, sleeping caps, leather laces, tobacco, pipes, cigarettes, chocolate, and meat lozenges, for the Yorkshire Hussars who have volunteered for foreign service. All parcels should be sent to her at Kirk Hammerton Hall, York, or Hammerton Station, North-Eastern Railway, and marked "Yorkshire Hussars."

Middleton Distress Committee

PUBLIC MEETING.

A public meeting was held in the Middleton School last evening for the purpose of forming a Local Distress Committee in connection with the West Riding Committee, and opening a distress fund with the object of relieving any distress which may arise on the result of the war. Mr T. Thomas (Chairman of the Hunslet Rural District Council) presided, and he was supported by Mr W. B. Pindar (the Clerk to the Hunslet Rural District Council).

The Chairman said he had been in all kinds of meetings, but he had never been in one like the present. It had never been registered of the enquiry as one for a meeting of this description. He was really delighted to see the most important men of Middleton present on such an important occasion. He could not tell them how he felt in regard to the matter; it was a matter not only for Middleton, but for Leeds or Yorkshire, but it was a universal question. (Hear, hear.) He was not asking for help for some, but he was asking for them to do something against the great distress that was thought would exist upon them. If they did that the wind blues now from Middleton to the war they could do something to help those who were sending here. At Middleton they were not in the same position as some; they had no distress at their own door at present, but it was for them to help others.

Mr Pindar explained the objects of the meeting, and the lines on which a local Distress Committee should be formed, and then called upon Mr C. H. Merricks to propose the following resolution:—"That a local distress committee be formed to work in cooperation with the Rural District Distress Committee and the West Riding Distress Committee, and through them with the Government Committee administering the Prince of Wales' Fund, for the purpose of alleviating any distress which may arise in consequence of the war, and that a local Distress Fund be opened."

In proposing the resolution, Mr Merricks mentioned a query put by Mr Thomas, and one also with regard to the men employed at the pit, those working underground were employed four days a week, and the top men were practically working full time. However, they must not think that there was no distress elsewhere. He knew some pitmen where the pits were only fairly working about even days a week. With regard to the men who had joined the forces, the owners of the Middleton Colliery had agreed to follow on the lines of the City Council scheme, and an arrangement at the pitmen's club at Middleton who had joined the forces would be all right, but it was for them to see to those who were not so well placed.

The resolution was seconded by Mr Thompson, and carried.

Miss Maude, who was asked by the Chairman to address a few words, said that in her opinion Middleton wanted nothing for relief either for soldiers or sailors. She thought it ought to go to other places where money was needed.

The following were elected on the committee:—Miss Maude, Mrs Glover, Miss Nicholson, Mrs Johnson, the Rev. A. E. Glover, Mr T. Thomas, Mr A. Dixon, Mr H. Hemphrey, Mr A. Crossland, Mr M. Batty, Mr W. Gibb, Mr C. Whitaker, Mr W. Thompson, and Mr T. Butterfield.

It was decided to allocate 25 per cent of the Fund to the West Riding Fund.

Votes of thanks were given to the Chairman and Mr W. B. Pindar.

WHITKIRK RIFLE CLUB.

OPENING OF THE RANGE.

On Wednesday evening the formal opening of the Range at Whitkirk in connection with the recently-formed Rifle Club took place, and the proceedings were marked by the greatest enthusiasm. Mr Stuart White (the President) performed the opening ceremony.

The club has a membership of over a hundred, and it is chiefly composed of residents of Cross-gates, Halton, Whitkirk, Thorner, Scarcroft, Colton, etc., having joined only in the last few months. The organization is going to be a very strong one. Mr J. W. Price, of Crossgates, is the hon. secretary, Mr H. E. Hoyland assistant hon. secretary, and Mr. H. J. Philp, of Whitkirk, hon. treasurer.

A good range has been secured, and the members shoot a distance of 25 yards, which, it is understood, is equivalent to outside ranges. The rifle used is a service pattern, converted to the requirements of the range.

Already the club has been affiliated to the Society of Rifle Clubs, and over advantage of belonging to this institution is that two members can compete for two Cups which are offered in what are practically national competitions. Of course, the club will have its own matches and competitions, but undoubtedly the members will gain their keenest zest in steady practice at the range.

On Wednesday night a Whitkirk team, consisting of Messrs Stuart White, Farrell, Hoswell, Bruce, and Kirkby, had a match with representatives of the Lower Wortley Club and Leeds Trams-ways Club, and the local men gave a capital account of themselves. Each man had ten shots, and the three best cards were—Sharman (Leeds) 95, Roberts (Lower Wortley) 94, and White (Whitkirk) 93. Leeds scored 374 and Whitkirk and District 345.

Subsequently the Leeds men were entertained to supper at the "Bryan Cow" by the members of Whitkirk Club, and among those who took part in the musical programme afterwards was Mr Tom Childs (Mr. Yorkshire proper), Mr Browning, of Whitkirk, won the sermonpartie.

LEADING GERMAN SOCIALIST KILLED.

The death of Dr. Ludwig Franck in the fighting near Louveille will be a great blow to the Socialist party in the German Reichstag (says the "Manchester Guardian"). Dr. Franck was looked upon as the coming leader of the party when the present veteran leadership has passed away. The German Socialist party has eminent orators, but either they have consciously shadowed the talents of the coming generation or the coming generation are not their equals. Dr. Franck was the only man of outstanding ability among the younger members of the party. He was only forty, but he had not only shown promise, but had already made his position both as an exceedingly eloquent speaker and also as a great Parliamentarian. He was the leader of the revisionist section. Like many other leading Socialists in Germany, he was a Jew by race, and in features somewhat resembled the famous Lassalle.

A QUARREL AT HALTON.

ASSAULT CHARGE DISMISSED.

On Tuesday at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions Robert Allinson, a drayman, of Halton, was summoned by George James Bulmer, a miner, of Halton, for assault.

It was stated by the prosecutor that about 10 p.m. on Saturday, August 29th, he came out of the Travellers' Inn, Halton, and saw two men, sons of Allinson, the defendant, talking together. He asked one of them for a knife to cut some tobacco. The defendant then said he would lend him his and cut his head almost off it. While prosecutor was cutting the tobacco defendant struck him a blow, knocking him down. When he picked himself up he defended himself until the arrival of P.C. Tasker. The defendant, he could give for the defendant's action was that a short while ago he gave evidence in the Leeds Police Court against his son.

Defendant said he was free of all attack by Bulmer.

P.C. Tasker, who gave evidence against both Allinson and Bulmer, who were also jointly charged with committing a breach of the peace, said that about 10.10 p.m. on Saturday, August 29th, he came across the two men fighting. Allinson was on the ground, with Bulmer on top. He separated them. Allinson got away, but he had a difficulty with Bulmer, who wanted to fight another man. There was a crowd of about fifty people.

The magistrates, after hearing the evidence of P.C. Tasker, dismissed the summons by Bulmer against Allinson, and fined each for the obstruction 5s. and costs.

ARKSTON ASH REVISION COURT.

GERMAN STRUCK OFF.

On Wednesday the Revising Barrister for Barkston Ash held a Court at Selby for the revision of the various lists in the townships of Barlow, Biggin, Birkin, Brayton, Burn, Burton Salmon, Burton-cum-Scilton, Camblesforth, Carlton, Cawood, Chapel Haddlesey, Drax, Ellerton Priory, Gateforth, Hambleton, Hemlington, Hillam, Hirst Courtney, Huddlestone-cum-Lumby, Monk Fryston, Newland, Ryther-cum-Ossendike, Selby, South Milford, Temple Hirst, Thorpe Willoughby, and Wistow.

The party agents—Mr Richard Lodge, for the Conservatives, and Mr W. J. Taylor for the Liberals—were in practice in agreement, having arranged, owing to the war, not to have any contentious cases.

Such lodger claims were allowed as follows:—Conservatives, 14; Liberals, 1.

One alien who was on the list, Mr Julius Koch, a German, residing in Selby, was struck off the register.

N.R. BATTALION TO BE RAISED.

THE COMPANY'S OFFER TO THE MEN.

The directors of the North-Eastern Railway Company have applied to Lord Kitchener for authority to enrol a North-Eastern Railway Battalion for his new Army. Already some 3,500 of the company's servants in various departments have enlisted in the Regulars or the Territorials, and men are still joining at the rate of 150 to 200 a day. For the new battalion, the proposal to which is made public to-day, it is the case of those who would prefer to enlist among men whom they know, about 1,100 men are wanted, and circulars have been issued to all the staff eligible, intimating that the scheme is now formulated, and inviting applications for the battalion. Whilst the company are most anxious to encourage recruiting, they recognise that they have important duties to perform both to the Government and to the public, and will have to retain enough men to efficiently work the line. Should, therefore, there be a rush of applications from one particular department those will only be enlisted who can be spared from it. Preliminary enquiries were made a few days ago as to the likely response to the proposal, which was found more than sufficient to justify the formation of the battalion.

The Company are prepared to undertake the following responsibilities in regard to such members of the permanent staff on enlist for the period of the war and their families or dependents —

(1). "Full salary or standard rate of pay will be paid to the end of the current pay period.

(2). Adequate provision will be made for wife and family during absence. For example, in the case of a married man serving abroad, the company will supplement the Government separation allowance and remittance of army pay by an amount which will make the family not less than four-fifths of the men's salary or standard rate of wage at the time he leaves work to join the colours.

(3). Special steps will be made for rendering assistance to the families of single men who are dependent upon them.

(4). Each man's position or another position equivalent in maximum salary or standard of wage will be kept open for him on his return, and as far as possible the period of absence with the colours will count as service with the company.

(5). Each man's contributions to superannuation and pension funds will be paid by the company.

(6). Families occupying company's houses will be allowed to remain in occupation wherever possible, and, if they have to be removed, the company will assist in finding a house and in removal, if necessary.

It is proposed that the battalion shall be attached as a service battalion to one of the five Territorial regiments in No. 2 District (York-shire, Durham, and Northumberland), Northern Command. The company will arrange for equipment, clothing, and outfit of the men, and will also provide for the maintenance of the battalion during training, and also a centre at which the training will be carried out.

GOOD USE FOR M.P.'S SALARIES.

There is some talk of wealthy M.P.'s who have no need for the official salary of £400 a year paid them by the State devoting this money to the Prince of Wales's Fund, states a gossip letter. M.P.'s who have been opposed to the system of paying members on purely party prejudice to a practical form. If fifty M.P.'s were to forgo their salaries in favour of the Prince of Wales's Fund it would mean the contribution of no less a sum than £20,000.

The Commonwealth of Australia Government have issued a proclamation prohibiting the exportation of wheat, meat, and flour to any place outside the United Kingdom without the authority of the Minister for Trade and Customs.

THE CHALLENGE!

Never Beaten

BRAITHWAITE'S

"The Firm with a Reputation."

ARE NOW MAKING A

SPECIAL SHOW OF NEW GOODS

In all the LATEST STYLES, for

SPRING and SUMMER WEAR.

LADIES' & GENT.'S BOOTS & SHOES in Immense Variety at Prices to Suit all Purses.

5,000 Pairs of Children's Boots & Shoes. Newest Designs.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—We are still offering a lot of Odd Pairs at Ridiculously Low Prices until Cleared

BRAITHWAITE'S, The Value for Money Boot Stores,

58, VICAR LANE, LEEDS.

Closed at 1 o'clock on Wednesdays.

RECRUITING IN BARKSTON ASH.

POLITICAL PARTIES' CAMPAIGN.

In consequence of a letter received from the Parliamentary Recruiting Committee, which is representative of the Conservative, Liberal, and Labour parties, a general recruiting campaign is to be undertaken in Barkston Ash by the Conservatives and Liberals. On Saturday Mr E. Foster, J.P. (Liberal candidate for the Division), Mr Harker (President), and Mr W. J. Taylor (agent) met representatives of the Conservative Party—Mr G. A. Bromet (hon. sec.), and Mr R. Lodge (agent)—and Selby, and they arranged to have joint meetings throughout the district, with a view to getting young men to enlist.

The following letter, signed by Ald. E. C. Bevelesbank, J.P. (Chairman of the Conservative Association), and Mr F. W. Sutcliffe (Chairman of the Liberal Association) has been addressed to the Chairmen of Polling Districts in the Division:—"In the present crisis it is the duty of all men of every political party to come together. We therefore ask you to call at once a joint meeting of the Conservative and Liberal Associations in your polling district and arrange for a joint meeting (if no meeting has been held) for getting recruits for the Army, and also to arrange for a committee for each of the villages."

A Recruiting Committee thoroughly representative of both parties, could be made useful, it is believed, in a variety of ways, and one important duty that would devolve on them would be to look after the dependents of the men who have gone to serve with the Colours.

The campaign opens on Monday with three meetings in Selby—at the shipyard and in the market-place during the day, and in the Museum Hall in the evening, and the speakers will be Mr J. G. Butcher, K.C. M.P., and Sir Lisle White, M.P. On Tuesday a meeting will be addressed at Gateforth by Mr Rowland H. Barran, M.P., and Mr G. C. H. Wheler, M.P., and at Monk Fryston. On Thursday addresses will be delivered by Mr Middlebrook, M.P., and Mr Wheler, M.P.

POINTS FOR BARKSTON ASH FARMERS.

THE BEST USE OF LAND

A useful pamphlet has just been issued by the University of Leeds and the Yorkshire Council for Agricultural Education, containing suggestions to farmers in Yorkshire in the present emergency. The subjects dealt with are wheat, catch crops, winter oats, ploughing up grass land, farmyard manure, and live stock.

As to wheat, it is suggested that this might take the place of first year's "seeds," especially if the intention were to leave these down for two or more years. Further, wheat might be taken instead of barley, or several acres of wheat where it has been the practice to take two corn crops in succession. In this case, however, some manure should be given to the wheat. Catch crops will give an increased amount of sheep feed in the spring, and, besides enriching the soil, will lessen the need for using concentrated foods, such as linseed cake, which will most likely be very dear in the near future. The most important and reliable catch crops for Yorkshire are winter tick-beans and winter or black tares, the former mainly for those who keep sheep, and whose system of cropping and sheep farming leaves roots for economical consumption of the crops.

Several points are urged in favour of winter oats, and on the subject of potatoes it is stated that a great deal of land in Yorkshire, well suited for growing potatoes, is now covered with inferior herbage. It is desirable (by agreement with the landlord) that this pasture land should be ploughed in the early winter, so that the turf may decay, and be ready for the next year's cropping—potatoes or oats. As there is some uncertainty about the supply of artificial manures, more especially potash manures, for next year's spring, it appears desirable that all farmyard manure made in the coming winter should be applied to crops to be grown in 1915, and not held over the summer.

The pamphlet also contains points about the breeding of live stock, and its detailed information should certainly be of value to farmers. Copies can be had post free on application to Professor Scott, The University, Leeds.

RECRUITING.—Seven young men from Monk Fryston have responded to Lord Kitchener's appeal to join the Colours. The names are as follows:—Walter Finn, John Fleeman, Jack Jameson, Wm. Luford, H. Kendall, F. Reynolds, and Thos. Pearson.

LOYAL LASCARS.

A striking example of loyalty and love on the part of our allied sons of the British Empire beyond the seas occurred at Tilbury Docks when the Lascar crew of the Indian liner had been converted into an hospital ship, and it was necessary to paint her hull white and with the Red Cross. No ship's painters were available, but the Lascar crew carried out the work, and when offered the usual bonus declined payment, saying they had worked for the King. So loyal an act on their own initiative surely deserves to be recorded.

The Rev. Canon Greenwood, of Grimston, has sent £5 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

ACCIDENT.—While cycling in the direction of Beamshorn on Sunday John Jones collided with a trap and was seriously injured. He was medically examined and afterwards conveyed home.

FORMERLY OF SELBY.—Mr W. Hill, who is at present chief goods clerk on the North-Eastern Railway at Goole, has been selected from a number of applicants for the post of chief goods clerk at Tweedmouth. Mr Hill entered the service of the company at Gateforth in 1891. He was subsequently for a time at Selby, and has been at Goole since 1899.

TRAWLER LAUNCHED.—A steel screw trawler was launched on Monday from the yard of Messrs Cochrane and Sons, Ltd., Selby. The dimensions are 124 feet by 24 feet, by 13 feet 3 inches moulded. The vessel has been built to the order of Mr A. Bannister, of Grimsby, and will be fitted with powerful triple expansion engines by Messrs C. D. Holmes and Co., Ltd., of Hull. As the vessel left the ways she was named Oregeum by Mrs Mcbain, wife of the captain, and part owner of the vessel.

REVISION COURT.—On Tuesday at Leeds Town Hall, Barkston Ash Revision Court was held for the revision of the voters' lists for the township of Adlecame-Escrup, Abeendley, Austhorpe, Barwick, Scholes, Garforth, Crossgates, Roundhay, Scarcroft, Shadwell, Preston, Sturton Grange, Swillington, Templenewsam, and Thorpe Stapleton. Mr Arthur Rollett was the Revising Barrister. The Conservative interests were looked after by Mr R. Lodge, Conservative agent, Selby, and the Liberal interests by Mr W. J. Taylor, Liberal agent, Selby. The business was of a routine character.

GUARDIANS' MEETING.—At a meeting of the Selby Guardians on Monday—Mr R. L. Waller presiding—it was agreed that owing to the war contracts should be accepted only by local tradesmen, instead of half-yearly. Already several contracts accepted last year have had to be altered. A letter was read from the Soldiers' Union as to the use of able-bodied vagrants in their country's service was received. The Chairman said he was afraid those people would not be worth the cost of their keep. After a discussion a resolution was adopted that no action be taken.

SELBY DISTRICT COMMITTEE.—The Selby District Sub-Committee appointed in connection with the West Riding War Distress Committee have made arrangements for receiving the names of Selby applicants entitled to relief. The subscriptions already received include the following:—£50 each from Mr William Liversidge, Lieut.-Colonel Hunsker, Mrs J. Millard, and Messrs Messrs Cochrane and Sons; £30 from Mr Thomas Liversidge; and £25 from each of the following:—Mr J. Bagshaw, Mr J. H. Tesser, Mr R. B. Parker, and Messrs M. Scott and Co.

PARTRIDGE SHOOTING.—A commencement has been made with partridge-shooting in the Selby district. The season has been favourable to the young broods, with the result that partridges are fairly plentiful. There have been no prolonged periods of wet weather, such as in some seasons have thinned out the broods. With the exception of the severe spring frosts there has been little change in the weather from one extreme to the other. The summer, however, will be remembered for its thunderstorms. In the East Riding district of Selby, as well as in the West Riding, there is every promise of an excellent partridge season.

RIFLE CLUB.—A meeting, convened for the purpose of forming a Rifle Club for Monk Fryston and Hillam, was held at the Institute on Monday evening. There was an enthusiastic gathering, upwards of 45 being present. The Rev. B. Hemsworth, M.A., presided, and he was supported by Mr H. L. Lyon, Hillam Hall. The Chairman stated that he and Mr Lyon had chosen a suitable place for a range, and he was in favour of establishing a club for the purpose of teaching young men how to shoot. After further discussion it was decided to form a club, and over 30 members were enrolled. The Rev. B. Hemsworth was elected President, and Mr H. L. Lyon vice-president, Mr B. Walker was elected secretary, and Mr B. Walker treasurer. Mr J. H. Lang was elected range officer, and a committee of nine were appointed. The President and vice-president generously promised to bear the brunt of the expenses.

BEST & BOOTH

Tailors & Costumiers,

119, KIRKGATE,

— AND —

143, BRIGGATE

(Corner of Market Street), :: LEEDS.

Ladies' Department—143, BRIGGATE.

Look Out for B. & B.

Teasdale's All Men Joining the Army SHOULD HAVE WITH THEM Teasdale's Chlorodyne Chlorodyne

A Safe Protector from common hazardous ailments—Cholera, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, etc. GIVES INSTANT RELIEF; EASES PAIN. A BLESSING TO HAVE SUCH A GRAND MEDICINE.

Brigadier Fortune, Royal Horse Artillery: "I thank you for the great benefit that Teasdale's Chlorodyne has not only done for myself, but also for many of my comrades to whom I have given it. It has indeed been a blessing to have such a grand medicine in my possession. I have used it in numerous cases of Dysentery, Rheumatism, Pains in the Back, Coughs, and Colds. It acted like a charm in every case."

Teasdale's Chlorodyne

THE MOST VALUABLE PRESENT YOU CAN GIVE TO A FRIEND GOING TO THE FRONT.

7½d., 1s3d., and Large Bottles, 2/6.

Can be had of Purvey, Cromgetons; Reinhard, Halton, and other Chemists; Goodall, Backhouse & Co., and Taylor's Drug Stores.

ASK FOR TEASDALE'S CHLORODYNE. Chlorodyne

LEEDS AND HOLBECK PERMANENT BUILDING SOCIETY.

96 ALBION STREET (Corner of Guildford Street, LEEDS).

DAILY from 10 to 3, Saturdays 10 to 1 and Saturday Evenings 6.30 to 8.

3½ PER CENT. INTEREST ALLOWED ON SUBSCRIPTION & PAID UP SHARES.

3 PER CENT. ALLOWED ON DEPOSITS.

WITHDRAWALS CAN BE MADE AT SHORT NOTICE.

PROSPECTUS ON APPLICATION.

Telephone No. 253. Jno. Exley, President. Wm. Malone, Manager & Secretary.

Telephone No. 1129.

RHODES & SONS.

COMMERCIAL AND . .

GENERAL PRINTERS,

"Skyrack Courier" Office,

2, Aire Street, LEEDS.

FINAL REDUCTIONS

— AT —

SMITH & PETTY'S

Summer Sale,

44, Lowerhead Row, LEEDS

☞ Three Doors from Briggate. ☜

FIVE PRICES:—

3s. 5s. 7s. 10s. 15s.

FOR

COSTUMES, DRESSES, RAINCOATS, &c., &c

Best Value ever Offered.

Genuine Bargains. See Windows.

Printed and Published by Arthur Knox Rhodes, of 16, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates, for the Proprietors of the "Boston Courier and Times" at their offices, 2, Aire Street, Leeds, in the County of York.

"The Rothwell Courier and Times" IS THE Only Weekly Newspaper PUBLISHED in the DISTRICT

Rothwell Courier & Times

AND

Methley, Oulton, Woodlesford, Carlton, Robin Hood, Lofthouse, Middleton, Stourton & Hunslet Chronicle

NO. 90—NEW SERIES Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 19 1914 ESTAB. 1873 PRICE—ONE PENNY

Joshua Tetley & Son (Limited), THE BREWERY, LEEDS.

NOW READY IN BOTTLE.

East India Pale Ale, 2/- per dozen Small Bottles

Extra Stout, 1/9 per dozen Small Bottles.

Special (Non-Deposit) Mild Ale, 3/- dozen Large Bottles.

Delivered Free to Families within 20 Miles of Leeds.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

EMPIRE PALACE, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.

TWO PERFORMANCES EVERY NIGHT AT 6.30 AND AT 9.

Early Doors Monday, Tuesday, and Saturday, at 6 p.m.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 21st, 1914.

The London Alhambra Theatre Present "KEEP SMILING."

The Brilliant Revue, Condensed Version, by the Great Whole Staff, the Magnificent Company of 50 Artistes.

LATEST WAR NEWS.

JENNY HARTLEY. NIAGARA & FALLS. SUNSHINE SISTERS, with Four Co-stars.

Prices, 10s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 5s., 2s. 6d., 1s., 6d., 4d., 3d.

HIPPODROME, LEEDS.

Performances Nightly at 6.30 and 9.

NEXT WEEK.

FLORENCE WRAY in "A LUCKY MISS." HAYDN WOOD AND CO. FERGUSON AND MACK. DU CALION.

Note Prices—10s. 6d., 3s., 2s. 6d., and 4d.

FRED BARBER, Pork Butcher, 11, CALL LANE, LEEDS.

TEL. 1804.

DRAINS TESTED AND REPAIRED. SANITARY WORK A SPECIALITY

Pump Repairs, Electric Bells, Glazing and Gasfitting.

James Smithies, Registered Plumber & Contractor.

Residence— 43, AUSTHORPE ROAD, CROSSGATES.

Wm. HELLIWELL, The Working Man's Friend, 212, Hunslet Rd., LEEDS

WATCH WINDOWS FOR GOOD HONEST VALUE.

Special Suits From 30/- NO FIT. NO PAY.

Established 1868. SPARKLING HOSIERRADE. As Exhibited & Demonstrated Everywhere. Obtainable from RETAIL OUTFITTERS & HOSIERS. REYNOLDS & BRANSON LTD. LEEDS.

For TOWN or COUNTRY. For BUSINESS or PLEASURE.

THE FABOR LOUNGE SUIT IS AT 45/-

Fabor

Is the Hall-mark of Perfect Tailoring.

LOUNGE SUITS from 35/-

COSTUMES from 2 Guineas.

Tailor Made & "Perfect Fit Guaranteed.

24, Queen Victoria Street, and County Arcade, LEEDS.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT JOTTINGS.

Rothwell Ash Division is making a fine called to work through parochial committees, response to the country's call. Hundreds of young men have gone to the Army from the district, and one more days are over the number more will be greatly increased. Recruiting meetings have already been held in many of the villages, and the response has been satisfactory, but the city has gone forth for many men, and the political parties have this week opened a recruiting campaign in the villages, appealing first to the rank and file, especially members of the Selby and Garforth. Every young man has a personal responsibility, and it is for each one to consider it.

In the Highlands, where there is still a small population in the glens—the deer have not completely ousted men yet—the season, I understand, are quite as enthusiastic as the men, and they have readily given both their husbands and sons to fight the country's battles. And let it be said, Rothwell Ash is not without its Spartan mothers, who would rather see their sons in the fighting line than skulking at home. Several families have given two and three members to the Army, and it would be interesting to know which family has the record for the district. One mother, who has not only one son fighting, acted as an eager recruiting agent in her own family circle, and every time her boy entered the house her query was "Well, have you done it?" Her son is of athletic, who has distinguished himself on more than one field of sport, and he has met the desire of the Spartan mother.

Another family, the six others of which are keen sportsmen—who will say that cricket and football do not count after their days done well. Two members have already joined the Colours, a third was greatly disappointed because he was rejected owing to defective eyesight, a fourth is an ambulance man, and I am probable that the fifth, if not the sixth, will enter the ranks of the second Army. And the father is working like a Trojan, helping recruits over difficulties, and looking after the dependents' men have left behind. All honour to them!

Many people overlook the fact that our Army are packed men—the best manhood of the nation, and not the scum of the country—and the raising of the height of recruits will make it still more select. Our men know that they are fighting for the civilisation of Europe, and they have to crush an enemy whose brutality and savagery have no parallel in civilised warfare. Think of this! An officer with our Army in the trenches with us, who came to us for promotion. One had no clothes on, having been outraged by the Germans. I have given him my shirt, and divided my rations amongst them.

Another poor girl has just come in, having had both her breasts cut off. Luckily, I caught the Uhlan officer in the act, and with a rifle at your service killed him. And now she is dead. Poor girl, I do not doubt she will die. She is very young, and only about 19, and has only her shirt on." And the horrors the Germans have perpetrated in Belgium have been even worse.

The miners in the district are doing well. From many of the collieries large numbers of men have gone in the Army—Garforth and its collieries, for instance, have sent out over a hundred men—and there is a shortage of the pits are working, despite the fact that the output is submitted to a voluntary levy of three-pence per week for the benefit of the Distress Fund. The Middleton men have, however, adopted a plan of their own, and if any employee is having gone to war, the Company have decided to give their wives 5s. each per week and 1s. per child, and the men are granting them 2s. per week. This means that a wife with two children will draw 10s. 7d., in addition to what the husband may give from his pay.

Barwick and Scholes are using their grip on the churches, which have been of such advantage to the parish in the past. When these churches were founded Crossgates was uncultivated, and, in issuing to a deacon as to the allocations of the annual income, I think that the Church Extension Committee ignored the claims of the whole of the district, which it may be safely assumed, never intended that Leeds should benefit by their benefactions. The Commissioners, however, have stated that they intend to take proper care of the value into consideration when making a new scheme, and that, of course, means that Crossgates, with its growing population and increasing rateable value, will get the larger share. That the residents who have paid for nothing will have their rates greatly increased.

Why are Kippax folks so suspicious of Tadcaster District Council? At a meeting held for the furtherance of a Distress Committee at Kippax one person remarked that he did not like the idea of Tadcaster's interference, but it is difficult to see where this comes in. Tadcaster District Council were asked by the West Riding County Council to form a Distress Committee, and having done so, they have apparently Garth rth, which is an urban area, has its own Distress Committee, and there the people have decided to send all the money collected to the West Riding Relief Fund. Presumably some of the Kippax people think they should have been asked to work directly with the West Riding Committee, and not through the Tadcaster District Council, but they are in exactly the same position as other rural dwellers, and they cannot complain. One hopes that there will be no distress to relieve, but should there be any suffering arising from the dislocation of trade, or scarcity in different districts, the busiest calls on the Central Fund will be from the places that most need assistance.

Eighteen shillings a week for an able-bodied workman is not a magnificent wage, yet eleven members of Tadcaster District Council, for some reason or other, voted against this sum being given to certain roadmen. I wonder what the working-men ratepayers in the district think about it. Public bodies should be models of conscientiousness, and they should set private firms a good example, and every person who thinks that an able-bodied Englishman should be paid a decent wage will rejoice that Mr Midgley's proposal was carried. It was pointed out that a family of seven—two parents and five children—with an income of 17s. per week, could not be justice to themselves, and that if they got three meals a day the average cost of each meal would be 2 pence. How some people can bring up families on such miserable wages is a mystery.

In Tadcaster Union the rates for the half-year are up by twopence. Money is not spent with any lavish hand at Tadcaster, and neither Guardians nor District Council will be accused of extravagance, but owing to possible distress arising from the war they have had to make some provision, and a halfpenny rate extra has been put down for that. The other three half-pence is called for by the County Council. Again the war is largely responsible for it, as the school children will cost something, and the police expenditure has gone up. Usually when there is an advance in demand the Tadcaster Guardians have something to say about it, but on Monday they were silent.

Will Barwick village come into line with Aberford? It will all depend on the decision of the parish meeting, which alone has the power to adopt the Lighting Act, and even after it may withhold supplies, because every year it has to vote the money to be expended in that way. Ratepayers outside the proposed lighting area would not have to pay, and they need trouble themselves about the scheme; it is entirely a question for the people who reside in the village. The estimated cost is not prohibitive, but it is doubtful the Barwick people will be such easy persuaded.

In Scholes, Whinmoor, and Barwick the stiles and footbridges are falling into a dilapidated state, and the Colonel do not seem disposed to do anything in the matter. They "must" repair the stiles and bridges, but it is held that the proper persons to do the work are the owners or occupiers of lands, and some of the gentlemen have refused to carry out repairs. The stiles and bridges are a great convenience to people, and the Council should not allow the question of their repair to drift longer. If they do not which no special owners on them cannot they compel the people alleged to be responsible to do the work? Let a test case be brought.

Wetherby, like Rothwell, is troubled about its lighting arrangements. Sometimes when the Man in the Moon is supposed to be hidden from human view, and when the gas lamps are lighted, he makes a welcome appearance, and the folk think that it is very kind of him to give them an extra illumination on these occasions. They should, however, control the Man in the Moon, who sometimes is absent when he is billed to appear, and the streets are plunged into darkness. It is gratifying to have to play at hide and seek with him, but some people believe that by carefully watching the action of the Man in the Moon they could be so arranged that the lamps would not be burning when the other light is available. Let the wonderful ones, then, destroy their little tallies, and have a game with the luminary.

The percentage of attendance at Sutton School last month was 79.12 against 93.15 for the previous August, and for Barlston R.C. School 97.43 against 98.67.

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

The fortnightly meeting of the Hunslet Board of Guardians was held at the Guardians Offices, Hunslet, on Wednesday afternoon, Mr T. Thomas (Chairman) presiding. Others present were Mr J. Austick (vice-chairman), Mrs E. A. Dickinson, Mother T. Cash, Dr. E. Groves, Messrs J. Butterick, T. G. Campbell, W. Schofield, D. W. Hargreaves, J. Flanagan, H. I. Pulford, W. A. Appleyard, W. Snead, W. Hemingway, J. W. Avery, with the Clerk (Mr F. W. Mee).

HOMES COMMITTEE

At a meeting of the Children's Homes Committee it was resolved that the advisability of recommissioning the Board to allow their dressmaker to go into Yorkshire, shoemaker, while silence at the war be put on the agenda for consideration at the next meeting.

The minutes were passed.

HOUSE COMMITTEE

The minutes of the House Committee showed that there had been one death in the institution during the fortnight. The Clerk reported that he had conversed with Dr Buck regarding the desirability of further limiting visits to the institution during the prevalence of scarlet fever, and that he advised that visits by, as well as to children, should be stopped for the present. It was resolved that visits to the institution by children be also suspended for three months.

The committee had under consideration the adjourned matter of providing and the desirability of making arrangements to put the work in hand shortly to help to save the distress contingent on the outbreak of the European War. It was resolved that the Clerk be recommended to put such of the painter's work as is necessary in hand this autumn and to authorise the contractors to make the necessary arrangements. It was further resolved that a sub-committee consisting of the chairman, vice-chairman, and Mr Snead, with the Clerk, be appointed to consider and report to the committee at the next meeting as to the work carried out by the Board.

The Chairman drew attention to the possibility of offering to the War Office the use of three wards with wash-house beds on the first floor of the northern end of the Aged and Infirm Female Pavilion, which at slight expense can be made well-ventilated and available for the accommodation of wounded soldiers and sailors, provided the Local Government Board will raise no objection to the temporary alteration and that the medical officers and his partner are quite willing to give their services in the matter. It was resolved that the Guardians be recommended to make an offer to the Secretary of State for War to set aside twenty beds in the said pavilion for the accommodation of wounded soldiers and sailors with or without an Army nurse in addition, and to give instructions that on the acceptance of the offer the necessary alterations be made so temporarily sever the rooms referred to and their conveniences from the rest of the pavilion at an estimated cost of about £10.

The minutes were approved.

VARIOUS

The Clerk reported to the Board that he had engaged Miss Hartley assistance in the relief department. Harry Dixon, Grove Road, Hunslet. It was reported that five persons in all who are unemployed owing to the war had received temporary relief during the period from September 9th to September 15th, out of a total of 100 persons who had been provided with work by the authorities at Leeds, twenty-three of whom were Hunslet men. The Clerk also announced grant to show their sympathy the staff attached to the Union had contributed a sum of £15 8s. 6d., which had been forwarded to the Lord Mayor of Leeds Fund.

A staff of £12 10s. has been sent to the West Riding War Fund, per Mrs Chapman.

Dudrick.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Fred Turner, labourer, of Burmack, was summoned for having been drunk and disorderly at Garforth. P.C. Jackson proved the case, and defendant was ordered to pay a fine of 5s. and costs.

Mr A. B. Bodouc, the Belgian Vice-Consul in Leeds, has received a letter from Mr William Hesketh, of the Lower Rooms, on behalf of the members of the Pontefract Lane Adult School, stating their readiness to give hospitality to an Belgian women and children of the school. They are prepared to find accommodation, board, and lodging. Mrs Rowland Barton will assist with food, clothing, and the use of motor cars.

MILITARY WEDDING NEAR SELBY.—The wedding took place, at Kellington Church, Whitley Bridge, on Saturday, of Lieut. Fenton, of the Selby Company, 4th Battalion West Yorkshire Regt of Territorials, son of Mr John Fenton, of Rosil Manor, Whitley Bridge, and Miss Poskitt, daughter of Mr Poskitt, farmer, of Kellington. A number of Territorials were on duty at Selby, formed a guard of honour at the station, and raised a rousing cheer as the newly married couple left for York. Lieut. Fenton's battalion began to be mobilised on the 4th inst., and the Selby Brigade—which has been accepted for foreign service.

N.E.R. RECRUITS.—All men in the North-Eastern Railway Company's service desiring to enlist must take with them to the recruiting office a certificate issued by the Company to the effect that their services can be spared. Any man joining the forces in the future who has not obtained such a certificate will be considered to have left the Company's service. Arrangements to keep his place open will not be made, and the allowance to dependents will not be granted. These stipulations have been rendered necessary by the War Office instructions to the recruiting officers that men in certain employment, such as ammunition factories, railways, etc., are not to be recruited unless the employer certifies that the individual can be spared without detriment to the public service in which he is engaged.

ACTION FOR LIBEL.

J. LYONS & CO., Limited (Plaintiffs)

v.

LIPTON, Limited (Defendants).

IN the HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE Mr. Justice Sankey, on September 8th, 1914, granted an Interim Injunction restraining Lipton Limited, their Agents and Servants, from speaking or publishing or writing and publishing any words to the effect or of the substance that J. Lyons & Co., Limited, or the Directorate thereof, is composed of Germans, and that by purchasing their commodities the public is assisting the enemies of Great Britain.

J. LYONS & CO., Ltd. (By Appointment to His Majesty the King) IS AN ALL-BRITISH COMPANY WITH ALL-BRITISH DIRECTORS, HAS 14,000 ALL-BRITISH SHAREHOLDERS, AND 160,000 ALL-BRITISH SHOPKEEPERS SELLING

LYONS' TEA

Cadby Hall, Kensington, London, W.

Yorkshire Penny Bank LIMITED.

Authorised Capital	£1,250,000
Paid-up Capital	£750,000
Reserve Fund	£750,000
Uncalled Capital	£500,000

DIRECTORS.

The Right Hon. THE VISCOUNT ST. ALDWYN, Director of the London Joint Stock Bank Ltd. Chairman.
The Hon. RUPERT E. BECKETT, M.P., Banker, Beckett and Co.
JOHN ALAN CUTHBERTSON, Esq., Director of the Union of London and Smiths Bank Ltd.
Sir EDWARD H. HOLDEN, Bart., Chairman and Managing Director of the London City and Midland Bank Ltd.
Sir THOMAS JACKSON, Bart., Director of the London County and Westminster Bank Ltd.
The Right Hon. THE LORD ROTHERHAM, Director of the London City and Midland Bank Ltd.
ARTHUR E. SEEBOHM, Esq., Director of Barclay and Co., Ltd.
ARTHUR STANLEY, Esq., Director of the Parliament and District Banking Co. Ltd.
A. V. VASSAR-SMITH, Esq., Chairman of Lloyds Bank Ltd.

JOHN CARRUS, } Joint General Managers.
T. F. POLLOCK, }

Report of the Directors to the 30th June, 1914.

To be submitted to the Shareholders at the ORDINARY GENERAL MEETING, to be held at 36, Kingstreet, E.C., on Wednesday, 15th July, 1914.

The Directors report that the deposits on the 30th June, 1914, amounted to £23,732,659 0s. 5d., as against £23,760,115 11s. 8d. on the 30th August, 1911, the date when the new Bank Buildings were opened, showing an increase in deposits of £1,150,586 0s. 6d. The cash in hand, at Bank of England, at short notice, and at Bankers' bills on the 30th June, 1913, amounted to £4,043,284, and on the 30th June, 1914, amounted to £4,965,284.

The percentage of cash in hand, at Bank of England, at short notice, and bankers' bills, to the deposits in December, 1911, was 13.8 per cent.; on the 30th June, 1913, 13.4 per cent.; on June, 1913, 20.4 per cent., and June, 1914, was 23.91 per cent. The total amount of Subscribed Capital, Reserve and Uncalled Capital on the 30th June, 1913, was £11,222,465 0s. 9d., and on the 30th June, 1914, was £11,672,561 10s. 9d. These securities are all written down to market value. The total amount of other accounts on the 30th June, 1913, was £4,813,909 11s. 6d., and on the 30th June, 1914, was £4,535,641 1s. 6d. All bad debts have been written off, and provision made for doubtful debts.

The Directors also report the Directors received the death of their general manager, Mr. H. R. Sellers, after a long illness, on the 30th March, 1914, who had been connected with the Bank for 28 years. They have appointed Mr. John Carrus, the assistant general manager, to be joint general manager with Mr. T. F. Pollock, the secretary, and Mr. H. J. Jackson, A. Pickard, the cashier, to be joint assistant general managers. The Directors have also appointed Mr. F. Nickerson, J. S. Taylor and G. E. Thornton to be district managers, whose services will be employed in the Bank. The Directors have much pleasure in stating that the business done by the Bank during the year has been very satisfactory, and they desire to express their appreciation of the services rendered by the officials of the Bank, which they trust will be continued during the period of the present year.

The auditors, Messrs. J. W. Clows and F. A. Hargreaves, chartered accountants, of Leeds, have retired, and offer themselves for re-election.

By order of the Board, ST. ALDWYN, Chairman.

Dr. Balance-Sheet, 30th June, 1914. Cr.

LIABILITIES	£ s. d.	ASSETS.	£ s. d.
To Share Capital— £50,000 Shares of £5 each, £3 10s. Paid-up	1,750,000 0 0	By Cash in hand, at Bank of England, and at Head Office and Branches	4,965,284 1 1
Capital Paid-up	1,750,000 0 0	Bankers' Bills	4,965,284 1 1
Reserve Fund	1,500,000 0 0	Consols	873,760 0 0
Amount due to Depositors and other Accounts	20,720,889 0 1	Local Loans	16,000 0 0
Uncalled Capital, £500,000.		Stock	16,000 0 0
		Other Securities	10,781,711 10 8
			11,672,561 10 8
		Loans on Securities and other Accounts	4,535,641 1 6
		Bank Premises Account	450,000 0 0
		Bank Premises	446,421 9 8
			23,750,889 0 1
	£30,220,889 0 1

(Signature) (Signature)

67 ALDWYN, Chairman; R. E. BECKETT, E. H. HOLDEN, HUGH F. SEEBOHM, A. A. G. TULLOCH, E. V. VASSAR-SMITH, Directors. JOHN CARRUS, T. F. POLLOCK, General Managers.

AUDITORS' CERTIFICATE.

In accordance with the provisions of the Companies (Consolidated) Act, 1908, we certify that all our requirements as Auditors have been complied with, and we report that, in our opinion, the Balance Sheet, as at 30th June, 1914, is full and fair Balance Sheet, and is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the Bank's affairs according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us, and as shown by the Books of the Bank with the branches not visited by us. We have examined the Securities of the Bank, and compared the Balance Sheet with the Head Office and principal Branches. We have also attended the Bank at the annual audit, and have received from the Directors and Officers of the Bank all the information and explanations we have required.

J. W. CLOWS, } Chartered Accountants,
F. A. HARGREAVES, } Auditors.

Audit Office, Leeds, 11th August, 1914.

LEEDS AND HOLBECK PERMANENT BUILDING SOCIETY.

96 ALBION STREET (Corner of Guildford Street, LEEDS).

DAILY from 10 to 3, Saturdays 10 to 1 and Saturday Evenings 6.30 to 8.

3½ PER CENT. INTEREST ALLOWED ON SUBSCRIPTION & PAID UP SHARES.

3 PER CENT. ALLOWED ON DEPOSITS.

WITHDRAWALS CAN BE MADE AT SHORT NOTICE.

PROSPECTUS ON APPLICATION.

Telephone No. 253 Jno. EXLEY, President. Wm. MAUDE, Manager & Secretary.

OUR GARDENS.

A Weekly Article specially Written for

Amateur Gardeners, Allotment Holders, &c.

By ALBERT CLARKE, Birkenshaw.

THE FLOWER GARDEN.

Flower beds and borders are now showing signs of the approach of autumn, and it will be quite a lot of care to prevent them assuming a shabby appearance. Decaying flowers and leaves, exhausted plants, weeds and other trash must be removed at least once a week, and with the object of maintaining neatness the lawns and grass edgings should be cut regularly. Autumn flowering plants should receive the necessary attention as regards staking and tying, and the application of liquid manure will assist the development of the flowers. This is specially important with tall, strong-growing subjects such as Michaelmas daisies, helianthus, etc. Gladioli should also receive liquid manure.

SEED SAVING.

Home saved seed is usually very fertile, and a little trouble in this direction will considerably reduce the following year's seed bill. Many kinds of plants seed freely, and although it is almost impossible to prevent cross-fertilisation where a number of shades of one subject have been grown together, there is no difficulty in obtaining some useful seed for popular plants for mixed borders. All the subjects that seed freely in the north are marigolds in variety, sweet Williams, Canterbury bells, antirrhinums, Shirley-sum, phlox pyppies in variety, clarkias, godetia, nasturtium, nemesia, candytuft, lobelia, alyssum, mignonette, pansies, and canary creeper. There are many others, and readers who try a few home-saved seeds will find the experiment very interesting. The pods should be gathered on a dry, sunny day, and on no account before they are approaching ripeness. They should be placed in thin paper bags, and suspended in a warm, dry room to ripen off. The bag mouth should be left open to hasten the drying process, a simple method of making this position being to pin the bags to a cord stretched across the room. When they are quite dry they should be taken out, cleaned, and placed in packets, each one containing a label. In the case of marigolds, antirrhinums, etc., good varieties should be marked by tying a piece of raffia to the stem whilst they are in flower. This is done for guidance when gathering the seed.

PESTIMONS.

Few plants have been improved more during recent years than the pestimon. Many of the new strains produce prolific flower spikes almost two feet long, and the flowers are large and packed closely on the stems. Strong plants will commence blooming in July, and continue until frost cuts them off in the autumn. Splendid effects may be obtained by planting them in large masses in beds or borders, and it is not necessary to mix other subjects with them except a few of dwarf habit to form an edging. They are easily raised from cuttings, and as they branch freely a large number of cuttings are available. They strike freely in a cool frame, and should be put in at once. Treat as recommended for violas.

LIFTING FADED "MUMS."

In many gardens early flowering chrysanthemums of the mosse and similar types are now commencing to bloom freely, and it is generally known that the plants may be lifted and potted up for flowering indoors. Where this is done the flowers are kept clean, and the plants may be used for house decoration if required. A few hours before being lifted the plants should receive a thorough soaking of water. This is very important, because if the soil is at all dry it will draw away from the roots and the plants will in consequence suffer severely. Pot moderately firm and shade from bright sun for a few days. A cool house they may be removed to a cool greenhouse.

VEGETABLES.

LATE PEAS.

Every autumn many complaints are made about late peas not filling their pods properly. The trouble could generally be traced to one or two causes. Either the soil is exhausted or it is too dry. In such case the remedy is obvious. If the former a thorough drenching with farmyard liquid manure will give the desired effect. Some writers recommend the use of artificial manure, but my remedy is counsel caution in this direction. Chemical manure usually contains a certain proportion of nitrates, and if a dull, damp spell of weather follows their use, the probability is that rank growth will ensue, and this at the expense of the pods. Continue to break up the surface of the soil at the sides of the rows, and when a few of pods are "set," pinch out the tops of the plants.

TWO USEFUL EARLY CHRYSANTHEMUMS.

We have two useful early white chrysanthemums in the house, and can recommend them to our readers for future cultivation. White, Countess and Framfield Early White are the varieties in question. The former are very disappointing last year, but this was the fault of the treatment and not the variety. We grew it as a bush plant and reaished very little disbudding with the result that the flowers were small and badly formed. They were produced so freely, however, that we decided to give it another trial, and this year it has been disbudded to about a dozen flowers on each plant with excellent results. Framfield early white has received similar treatment and is equally good. Both have strong, gracefully curled petals.

RULES FOR CHRISTMAS FLOWERING.

No time should be lost in dealing with bulbs intended for flowering at Christmas. They should be potted or placed in bowls at once. The cultivation of bulbs for producing flowers for cuttings is a very simple matter if approached in a business-like manner. The old system of planting them in pots entails a lot of unnecessary labour, and should be discontinued in favour of the boxing system. Tulips, Roman hyacinths, daffodils, and narcissus may be grown as well in boxes as they can in pots. About an inch of rich soil should be placed loosely in the box bottom. On this the bulbs may be stood almost close together. More soil should then be scattered amongst them until the box is almost full. Very little pressure is needed, except what can be given by pressing the finger tips amongst them, afterwards adding a little more soil if there is room. The boxes should be of sufficient depth to allow the tip of the bulbs to be just below the surface. Unless the soil is very wet a soaking of water may be given, and a few boats later a few inches of ashes may be placed over them. If ashes are not available a covering of ordinary garden soil may be substituted. This may appear to be a rough and ready method, but we can assure our readers that we have for many years treated thousands of bulbs in this way, and the results have been in every way satisfactory. If the flowers are required for conservatory decoration pots should be used. In other respects the treatment may be practically the same. One of the most important points in bulb cultivation is to guard against the soil getting dry after growth has commenced. The quality of the bulb has a great deal to do with the ultimate result. No amount of good cultivation would cause poor bulbs to give good results. On the other hand, good bulbs are almost certain to give good results if our suggestions are carried out. Another danger, which must not be overlooked, is attempting to force growth before sufficient roots have been formed to warrant warm treatment. Where this is done many of the bulbs will fail to bloom. It is to be feared that many failures have been recorded in this connection through this particular fault in cultivation.

SEEDLING FERNS.

In almost every greenhouse where ferns are grown, numerous seedlings may be found at this time of the year. Many varieties are very suitable for house decoration, and during winter, when the flowers are comparatively few, such ferns are very acceptable for table decoration. They are also useful in the house for standing on the soil in chrysanthemum pots to hide the bare stems of the plants. The freedom with which they grow in the pots or charcoal used as a covering for the greenhouse staging implies that they enjoy an open potting media, and it is a good plan to mix either of the ingredients mentioned with the soil for the potting, along with sweet leaf-mould. Put the seedlings in small pots and give them a warm, moist, and partially shaded position until they are established in the pots.

THE WEEK'S MARKETS.

CORN.

SEDAL, Monday.—Prices slightly lower, with a less keen demand. Many of the second and secondary samples go, to 37s. per qr. of 336 pounds; malting barley, 30s. to 34s. per qr. of 32 stones; feeding 23s. to 24s. per qr. of 24 stones; and rye, 28s. to 29s. per qr. of 20 stones.

PROVISIONS.

SEDAL, Monday.—Butter, 1s. 2d. to 1s. 3d. per lb.; eggs, 8.8 or 9 for 1s.

POTATOES.

SEDAL, Monday.—Little change in prices, with a middling trade. King Edwards 45s. to 50s.; Up-to-Dates, Bridges, and Reliables 40s. to 45s. per ton; rubbish, 25s. to 30s.

CATTLE.

SEDAL AUCTION MART, Monday.—Messrs. Richardson and Sons sold 85 beasts, 3 sheep, and 94 pigs. Most attention was given to the fat cattle. There was an improvement both in the numbers and quality. Prime beef made about 6s. per stone, and trade in some of the best lots equal to a shade above. Inferior beef was slow of sale. There was a good demand for medium and good quality sheep and pigs, and prices were firm. Sheep prices were not sufficient per head required—Best bullocks made up to £24 2s. 6d., heifers £24 5s., and cows £23 10s. Inferior bullocks sold at £19 to £21, heifers £19 5s., and cows £18 10s. Best bullocks in sail £19 to £21, cows in milk £20 to £23, sheep £3 15s. each pigs £2 5s. and small store pigs £1 10s. each.

TODCASTER, Monday.—Messrs. Thompson and Son had 1,000 head of cattle and calves, 600 sheep, and 200 pigs. The attendance of butchers and dealers was quite up to the average, and trade was brisk for all classes of stock. Best beef made from 6s. to 6s. 4d. per stone, cows and heifers had from 5s. 6d. to 5s. 8d. Sheep again sold well, and made from 6d. to 1s. 1od. per lb. Pork and store pigs made much money. Bullocks from £20 to £24 5s., and sheep from £3 10s. to £4. Naturally, the best bullocks and sheep made £24 5s. and £4 each. Best bullocks from Mr J. W. Watson, Clifford, made £24 15s. and £24 5s.; Mr J. Dunnington, Bramham, £24 15s.; Mr J. Dunnington, Headingley, had four good bullocks making £24 15s. and £24 5

TADCASTER GUARDIANS AND DISTRICT COUNCIL.

SHERBURN, BARKSTON, ASLERTON, STUTTON, AND ULLESKELF AFFAIRS

WAGES OF ROADMEN INCREASED.

The fortnightly meeting of Tadcaster Board of Guardians was held at Tadcaster on Monday—Mr Add E. C. Brook-bank, J.P. (Chairman), presiding. Other members present were the Rev. C. D. Ash (Sutton), Rev. Canon Greenwood (Bolton-on-Swale), Miss Rudkin (Newton Kyme), Messrs J. H. Schofield (Oxton), H. Green and B. Brabant (Garforth), J. H. Ingleby, J.P. (Tadcaster), R. Wright (Barwick), J. Harding and W. A. Dickenson (Kippax), W. T. Cass, Young (Aberford), J. Lashby (Kirkby Wharfe), F. Myers (Bilbrough), C. Ellis (Micklefield), M. H. Copley (Gipton), T. P. Fawcett (Austhorpe), H. E. Lowe (Ryther), T. P. Fawcett (Austhorpe), H. E. Lowe (Ryther), T. P. Fawcett (Austhorpe), H. E. Lowe (Gipton Preston), W. Wilson (Barkston-Ash), E. Parker (Ledsham), J. E. Cawthorne, J. J. Foster, and T. Hey (Sherburn), E. Midgley (Colton), T. H. Prater (Parlington), H. H. Sandy, F. Phillips, and Pearson (Allerton Bywater), A. Chippindale (Scholes), Walter Crosland, J.P. (South Milford), G. Webster (Huddleston-cum-Lumby), and J. Y. Shockley (Appleton Roebuck), with the Clerk (Mr. G. A. Bennet), the surveyor (Mr Scott), and the sanitary inspectors (Messrs Driver and Wood).

The treasurer was reported to have a balance of £5,857 10s in hand.

SICK HOUSE.

The master's report showed that during the fortnight there had been five admissions to the workhouse and three discharges. The inmates numbered 88 in the house and 7 on the children's boarding-out system, as at the corresponding date of last year. The stamps received during the two weeks were 50 at 2½ against 51 and 54.

The House Committee had the sum of £10 10s for supplies to the workhouse, and the following were accepted:—Meat, Mr Schofield (Tadcaster); flour, Messrs Rishworth, Ingleby, and Leftwich; groceries, Mr Hall (Tadcaster); coal, Micklefield Coal Co.; drapery, Nettleton Bros. (Tadcaster); boots and shoes, Mr Crossley (Tadcaster); brushes, Leeds Blind School; bacon, cheese and butter, Mr Holliday (Tadcaster); coffins, Mr Gaycock (Tadcaster); drugs, Mr Hall (Tadcaster). Billcough Home—Meat, Mr Harrison Bros.; flour, Messrs Rishworth, Ingleby, and Leftbourn; clothing and drapery, Nettleton Bros.

Applications were received for the post of charge nurse, and a candidate is to be interviewed.

In connection with the Yorkshire vagrancy scheme, it was decided that Tadcaster workhouse should be a head station.

In regard to the alterations at the workhouse communications were received from the Local Government Board and Messrs Bramley and Thornton, and the matter was adjourned.

RATES UP.

Mr Prater, on behalf of the Finance Committee, submitted the estimates for the half-year, and he stated they meant an increase in the rates of 2d. in the £—a ha'fpenny for Union purposes and 1½d. for county purposes. Provision had to be made for any increase that might occur, and the increase in the county charges were for the feeding of children, extra police, police pay, etc. The amount required would equal a rate of 1s. 6d. against 1s. 4d.

The Chairman said a liberal estimate had been made on account of the rise in the price of food stuffs and oatmeal, which they hoped would not be realised.

The estimates were adopted.

A number of parishes are in arrears, and they are to be dealt with if the money is not paid.

DISTRICT COUNCIL.

It was reported that the District Council treasurer had in hand a sum of £7,592.

The minutes of the Highways Committee showed that the surveyor had submitted a list of works that could be carried out to meet unemployment, and a letter from the County Council stated that the Road Board would not make grants for this purpose. The suggestion of the surveyor to improve the York Road was approved.—The surveyor was instructed to interview the two owners of street land for a road improvement at Ulleskelf.—Applications to open roads at Aberford and Sherburn were granted.—A letter was read from Station Parish Council calling attention to the bad state of a footpath to Tadcaster, and asking that it should be improved. The matter was referred to the surveyor, and the Clerk was instructed to write to the Parish Council that the matter was having attention.—With regard to surface drainage at Micklefield, the scheme was estimated to cost £210, and the Colliery Company are to be interviewed about the matter.

ROADMEN'S WAGES

The Highways Committee recommended that the wages of a number of men be raised from 2s 8d. to 2s. 10d. per day.

Mr Midgley stated that he thought they ought to deal with the whole question of roadmen's wages. A man at 2s. 10d. per day worked out at 17s. per week, and he proposed that every able-bodied man, under 50 years of age, employed on the roads, be paid at the rate of 18s. per week.

That, he said, was little enough. If they expected men to give a fair day's work they must give them a fair day's pay. He then take the case of a man and his wife and five children living on 17s. a week. It worked out at about a penny per meal if they had three meals a day. Was that sufficient to keep a man, his wife, and children upon? It was impossible, and if a man did a week's work he should be dependent on charity.

Mr Foster seconded.

The Chairman asked what sort of men the committee were dealing with. Were they old men?

Mr Phillips said some of them were 70 and some over.

Mr Wright: And some under 60.

Mr Midgley said that there were men under fifty getting 17s. a week.

The Chairman stated that the surveyor if there were men under 60 getting less than 2s. a day.

Mr Scott said there were a few. They had, however, men over 70 getting £1 a week.

Mr Midgley said he did not want to interfere with the men who had more, and his amendment stated not less than 18s.

On a division being taken, twelve voted for the amendment and eleven against, so the amendment was carried by one vote.

SANITARY COMMITTEE.

The Sanitary Committee had before them a scheme for dealing with the surface water at Micklefield, and it was referred to the Highways Committee.

A report on the housing conditions at Barkston was submitted, and notice was ordered to be served on various owners to remedy defects at their property. It was stated that the site for houses by the County Council was unsuitable.—Sewage dykes at Ryther are to be cleaned out.—A letter was read from the Local Government Board asking the position of Sherburn water supply scheme, and what they were doing in regard to other supplies. It was decided to reply stating Sherburn scheme had been referred to a special committee.—A letter was read from the Yorkshire Electric Power Co., who are promoting a bill for lighting powers, asking to be given the opportunity of discussing the matter. It was referred to the Law and Parliamentary Committee.—Aberford Parish Council wrote complaining of rubbish being tipped in a lane, and the question was referred to the inspector.

ESTIMATED EXPENDITURE

Mr Prater, on behalf of the Finance Committee, submitted the estimates for the half-year. They recommended a special ordinary rate of 2d. and a highways rate of 3½d.—agd. This is a total of 5½d., against 5d. The estimates were approved.

DISTRESS COMMITTEE.

A circular letter was read from the West Riding Distress Committee asking how people desired their subscriptions allocated—whether per money should be paid over to the National Fund, or that the matter should be left to the discretion of the West Riding Committee.

Mr Ingleby: How can we tell how the National Fund is to be distributed?

The Chairman: I don't think anyone knows.

Mr Wright said that at Barwick a Distress Committee had been formed, and there were to make a house-to-house collection. It was proposed to pay the money to the West Riding Fund.

The Chairman advised them to consider the amount they send.

BARWICK AND SCHOLES AFFAIRS

PROPOSED PUBLIC LIGHTING FOR BARWICK.

A meeting of Barwick-in-Elmet Council was held at the offices at Scholes on Monday night—Mr J. M. Rayner (Chairman) presiding. Other members present were Messrs R. Wright, A. Booth, J. Birch, and F. Lamb (Barwick), J. Pemberton, W. Wetherall, and F. Needham (Scholes), with the Clerk (Mr H. R. Clarke).

Mr Booth brought forward the question of public lighting for a portion of Barwick. He stated that gas was being introduced to the village, and there was evidently a demand for it, otherwise the Garforth Gas Co. would not have laid the mains. He had been told they had got 80 per cent of promises. There was a possibility that people might be in favour of public lighting, too, and he had drawn up a suitable lighting area, comprising practically the village of Barwick, and he thought three 24 lamps would be sufficient to light the area specified. With regard to the cost, it would be borne by a rate, which, in the event of the Act being adopted, would be paid by the people living in the lighting area. At Aberford the Garforth Gas Co. provided the lamps, cleaned and lighted them for 6d. per lamp. The lamps were lighted every night until about eleven to six months. Twenty-four lamps would cost Barwick £48 per annum, and he had ascertained that in the area specified a penny rate would raise £38, so that a 1d. rate would be required. He proposed that a committee composed of the Barwick Estate Trustees be formed to consider whether the area as mapped by him was the best and approach the Gas Co. in regard to terms. When they had done that they would have information to submit to the parish meeting, which alone could adopt the Lighting Act.

Mr Birch said it was a matter for the rates payers.

Mr Wright said he did not know there was any feeling in the village on the matter.

Mr Birch said he had heard one or two people speak about it.

Mr Booth said that some people would like public lighting, but the question would rest entirely with the parish meeting. They were not committing themselves to anything.

Mr Birch said he could second the resolution in order that it might go before the ratepayers.

The resolution was adopted.

The Chairman drew attention to the dangerous state of the footbridge over the beck at the bottom of the brickworks lane, Scholes, on the footpath leading to Whinmoor.—Mr Booth suggested that they should bring the matter to the notice of the District Council.—Mr Wright said that if it was not on a highway they would not do anything.—Nothing was done in the matter.

Mr Pemberton stated that he had received complaint about an alleged encroachment on the road at Scholes, and it was a matter for the highways surveyor to investigate. He proposed that the Clerk write to the District Council about it. This was seconded, and agreed to.

The question of the Clerk's terms of appointment was brought forward, and the minute was read, stating that the terms should be considered by the Council during the ensuing twelve months.—Mr Pemberton proposed that a committee be appointed to deal with the matter.—The Chairman said he thought notice should be given, but he was willing to let it be discussed if the Council desired.—Mr Pemberton then said it could be put on the agenda for next meeting.

A TADCASTER WOMAN'S TRAGIC DEATH.

UNAVAILING EFFORT TO AVERT ACCIDENT

An inquest was held at the York County Hospital on Monday on the body of Jane Cornwell (77), of Tadcaster, who died in that institution on Friday night as the result of injuries received by being knocked down by a motor car in Tadcaster.

Sarah Ann Braham, Hillside, Tadcaster, said the deceased was her sister and was a widow. She resided with witness and left the house on Friday evening at six o'clock in order to visit some friends. Her hearing was bad, but her sight was good, and she was in very good health for her age. Her daughter and she had left the house a man and two witnesses that her sister had been knocked down by a motor car. Deceased was taken into the house of Mrs Walters, where witness saw her. Deceased told the doctor that the best course would be to convey her to the York County Hospital. Deceased was removed to York in the car by which she had been knocked down.

Elizabeth Sherlock, 7, Sandfield Terrace, Tadcaster, said she met the deceased on Friday night in Mr Crossley's shop in Commercial Street, about a quarter to seven o'clock. They chatted together and deceased left suddenly and made a dash across the road. She had almost reached the centre of the thoroughfare when she turned round apparently to look for her shop. A motor car came along and knocked her down. Commercial Street was on the York side of the bridge over the river Wharfe, and Crossley's shop was almost at the foot of the hill on the right hand side of the road coming towards York.

Continuing, witness said the car was travelling on the left hand side of the road at a moderate speed. Deceased had her face to the car when she was on the pavement. Witness thought the deceased had an idea that she could get across the road before the car came up, and she could have done so had she not turned round to come back again. Deceased seemed to have been caught by the front part of the car, knocked down, and rolled over. The driver of the car put on the brakes sharply and pulled up, and the occupants of the car rendered every assistance.

Clarence May Withers, Commercial Street, Tadcaster, said the driver of the car tried to avoid the deceased, being under the impression that she was going straight forward, but through the woman turning round she was knocked down.

George Victor Williamson, 120, Warwick Street, Eccleston Square, London, chauffeur, said he was driving a touring car belonging to the Dalmeny Garage, and was hired by the Automobile Association. He was travelling four passengers, and he had come from Leeds. He had just got over the bridge and was about to proceed at the rate of 12 miles an hour when the deceased suddenly stepped off the footpath on witness's off-side. When she got into the centre of the road she was about three yards in front of the car. She turned round to the off-side to avoid her. At the same time the woman hesitated and stepped back in the same direction as the car. When the car struck the deceased witness, who had been driving at 12 miles an hour did not sound his hooter, as the whole thing happened so suddenly that his time was taken up in trying to avoid the deceased and also in applying the brake.

Dr McCarter said the deceased was admitted to the County Hospital about 8 p.m. on Friday. She was suffering from a fractured skull, a fracture of the right wrist, a broken rib on the right side, while a bone in the leg was fractured. Death occurred the same night at 10.20.

The jury returned a verdict that death was due to the injuries received as the result of being knocked down by a motor car, and that it was due to an accident.

BYRAM

Sir John Ramsden, Deputy-Lieutenant for the West Riding, was, on Saturday, given a commission as second-lieutenant in the embodied Norfolk (King's Own Royal Regiment) Yeomanry, of which His Majesty is Colonel-in-Chief, and the King of Norway Honorary Colonel.

CROSSGATES AND BARWICK CHARITIES.

WHAT THE CHARITY COMMISSIONERS SAY.

At a meeting of Barwick-in-Elmet Council on Monday evening—Mr J. M. Rayner (Chairman) presiding—the following letter was read from the Charity Commissioners concerning a proposed new scheme for administering the parochial charities:—

In reply to your letter of the 18th ult, I am to say that if the Parish Council are of opinion that it is necessary to send a deputation to this office, an interview can be had by appointment. It should be understood, however, that any question of apportionment between the urban and rural parts of the parish, whether as regards the portions of the Charity applicable to the rates or to the poor, must necessarily be settled on the basis of population, coupled perhaps with that of rateable value. The Parish Council must not suppose because the part of the parish under their jurisdiction retains the old name it has any superior rights in regard to the charity over the portion incorporated in Leeds. It should make a petition. It is proposed to fix for a term of years, as circumstances may alter, and in a few years the now rural portion may become as thickly populated as the urban part.

Mr Wright said that in view of that decision he did not think any good purpose would be served by sending a deputation, but he thought they should make a protest. Crossgates, as a matter of fact, would not receive any benefit, because the rates there were stationary for fifteen years, and its portion would go to the Leeds exchequer.

The Chairman: I think we should resent the attitude of the Commissioners.

Mr Wright: The result will be the same.

The Chairman suggested that they should ask the assistance of the County Council in this matter, and he had reason to believe that they would give it.

Mr Wright then proposed that a committee be appointed to write a letter of protest to the Commissioners and that a petition be sent to the County Council on the question.

Mr Birch seconded, and this was adopted.

Messrs Wright, Booth, Rayner, and Pemberton were appointed the committee.

TADCASTER PETTY SESSIONS.

TWO CASES.

At Tadcaster Petty Sessions on Monday the magistrates present were Mr C. B. Lamb (in the chair), and Mr J. H. Ingleby.

DID NOT APPEAR.

Henry Dawson, cooper, failed to appear in answer to a charge of drunkenness.

Sgt. Slack said the defendant was arrested, and he bailed him out to appear at last Court, but he had absconded.

The Chairman: Does he live here?

Sgt. Slack: He comes and goes and again.

P.C. Bennett said that on August 27th he was on the Wharfe Bridge at Tadcaster, and he there saw defendant, who was drunk, and he took him to the police station.

Fined 5s. and costs.

A GAS ATTACK WAS "QUITE EXCUSE."

Charles Nicholson, labourer, of Tadcaster, was charged with being drunk and disorderly at Tadcaster on September 12th.

Defendant said he had been drinking.

Sgt. Slack: Do you plead guilty?

Defendant: Yes.

P.C. Bennett said he was on duty in Mill Lane, Tadcaster, on Saturday, he saw defendant, who was drunk. When he spoke to him he began using bad language.

Defendant: I don't recollect swearing at all. I came right away to the police station.

The Chairman: Yes, you did that.

Defendant said that he was "sharp fresh." (Laughter).

Sgt. Slack: That is another condition of drunkenness I don't know.

Defendant made a statement as to the effect of drink on him.

The Chairman: You should not drink anything if you cannot stand it.

Sgt. Slack: He made it a decided nuisance.

On Saturday he was brought to the police station at 5.30, and the language was abominable until to o'clock at night. He promised now to be sensible, and if that could be brought about it would be a very good thing.

Fined 5s. and costs.

M.P. FOR OSGOLDCROSS AND SOLDIERS' ALLOWANCES.

NEED FOR AN INCREASE.

It is well-known (writes Sir Joseph Compton Rickett, M.P. for Osgoldcross), that a very large number of the recruits who have so far responded to the call are quite young fellows. We anticipated that the younger men would arrive first filled with the adventurous ardour of youth, for they have fewer responsibilities. But now we have to draw upon men in the prime of manhood, often married, and well employed. Their patriotism is assured, but their personal sacrifice is great. For these men the present Army provision is not enough, and they object to fall back upon organised charity of any kind.

From contact with them, I am persuaded that the only hesitation which checks an instant response is the inadequacy of the allowance for their families, and the risk of disablement or of death. The nation is in a generous mood, prepared to support Parliament in any fuller provision. For at the most such provision will be a comparatively small increase to the liabilities at a long and costly war. It should be given as a right, and if promised at once will remove the scruples of a justifiable anxiety, and vastly quicken recruiting. Such a ready response may prove the truest economy by helping to shorten the war. It will also remove a sense of disproportion in sacrifice between the rich and the poor. The Government of the country, I am sure, is only waiting for an expression of public opinion to give shape to a policy which is certainly just as well as generous.

GARFORTH DISTRESS FUND.

SUBSCRIPTIONS PAID TO SEPTEMBER 10th.

The following amounts were received up to September 10th to the Garforth Distress Fund:—

	£	s.	d.
Mrs. Gascoigne, Ledsham Hall...	10	0	0
Mr. J. Rowbotham ...	5	0	0
Rev. T. E. R. Willford, M.A. ...	5	0	0
Mr. T. P. Fawcett ...	5	0	0
Mr. J. W. Dobson ...	5	0	0
Mr. E. R. Archer ...	3	3	0
Mr. J. Bedford ...	3	3	0
Mr. R. Routledge ...	2	2	0
Mr. J. W. Kirk ...	2	2	0
Mr. A. Peaker ...	2	2	0
Miss. Milner ...	2	0	0
Mr. T. A. Watson ...	2	0	0
Mr. T. D. Thornton ...	1	1	0
Mr. E. W. Ogden ...	1	1	0
Mr. A. Dent ...	1	1	0
Councillor H. Gascoigne ...	1	1	0
Mr. H. W. Powell ...	1	0	0
Mr. B. Chadwick ...	1	0	0
Mr. W. G. Binder ...	1	0	0
Mr and Mrs. Joseph Hewitt ...	1	0	0
Mr. Jno. Ellis ...	1	0	0
Messrs. Garforth (Pickfield) ...	0	10	6
Mrs. Birkinshaw ...	0	10	0
Miss C. Brooke ...	0	10	0
Undergraund Workmen and Boys at Sisters and Isabella Pits...	7	2	3

The total, with 1s. 6d. from other sources, is £64 1s. 9d., £5 of which has been paid over to the West Riding Distress Fund.

THE RHODES WAY.

Very characteristic of the Great Empire Builder whose life is described by Gordon Le Sueur in "Cecil Rhodes: The Man and His Work" (Murray), is the following extract:

"Cecil Rhodes would walk in late to a meeting of the Rhodes directors, and the minutes of the last meeting having hardly been read, he would start on the agenda and run through them, giving his own views something like this: 'Of course, what we have got to do here is so and so. I think we are all agreed about that. Just enter that in the minutes (to the secretary) as proposed and carried; and now about so and so,' and he came right down to the root. 'That's all the opinion I want, I think,' he would add, and walk out, leaving his colleagues thinking over resolutions and amendments they intended to bring forward.

"On another occasion he and the German Empire had been conversing for quite a long time, the Kaiser being much interested, when Rhodes glanced at a clock and got up, and, without any apology, left the Palace, as Court etiquette demanded, he held out his hand to the Emperor, to the latter's amusement, and said: 'Well, good-bye; I've got to go now, as I have some people coming to dinner.'"

The scholars of Roudkhay School have contributed 16s. 8d. to the Leeds Relief Fund.

THE LADIES' COLUMN.

WATER AND A HEALTHY SKIN.

To ensure a clear, healthy skin, water should be taken freely between meals, not at meals. A glass of pure water taken upon rising and retiring, with six or eight glasses between meals, will, according to Health, wash the system of impurities and prevent wrinkles. Another beauty recipe is to eat two, instead of three, meals a day. Some authorities advocate going without breakfast, while others contend that the evening meal is unnecessary, but two plain meals a day have been found by many to relieve biliousness, biliousness, dyspepsia, and to reduce corpulency. If the stomach is rested, the overworked liver and other organs obtain a corresponding relief. Hot breads and many condiments will produce facial blemishes, which prove that a little care in eating is worth all the attention that can be given to it.

IN SWALLOWING ACCIDENTS.

The right treatment in the case of swallowing a foreign body, whether by a child or an adult, is to stuff the patient with a large amount of solid food, leaving a free passage; potatoes are the best. The foreign body becomes imbedded in the residue matter, and it generally passes through the intestines. A good adjuvant to the potatoes is slippery elm bark. Make the patient chew as much of it as possible; then let him or her swallow some ground elm bark. The mucilage of the elm protects the intestinal walls, and also renders the faces of the foreign body slippery, without increasing peristalsis.

EATING TOO MUCH.

"It is very doubtful whether the ordinary allowance of food is not too liberal in every case," says Dr Dalberg, in writing on "A Healthy Diet" in Cassell's Magazine. "Indigestion is not always due to errors in diet as regards quality, but it often is as regards quantity. Simple as this maxim appears, it is constantly being transgressed. There are very few people who indeed who do not eat more than they actually need. Every particle of food unconsumed in the corresponding amount of work on the part of the digestive organs, and it follows that excess of food means unnecessary waste, and of course with results more or less injurious. The guiding principle ought to be for everybody to reduce the amount of his daily food to the minimum on which health and vigour can be maintained, whilst in practice what we are trying to do is to eat as much as we dare without injuring our health."

WHEN NOT TO EAT.

A good dinner at night is necessary for those whose pleasure or work keeps them up very late, but for ordinary folk who dine at six or seven and go to bed about 10.30 only a light, wholesome repast should be taken, says the Family Doctor. The meal ended the day when muscles and nerves are more or less exhausted. A "tired stomach is a weak stomach" is a golden rule to remember. Yet how often one hears people say: "I've been rushing about all day and am tired to death; I must have a big meal to make up for it!" You may put the big meal into the stomach, but you cannot make the latter digest it. A belief lives strong in the hearts and minds of the majority of mankind, including persons of weak digestion, that a hearty steak will take place a meal gets up an appetite and helps the stomach to digest the food. But this is exactly what it does not do. Exercise spreads the blood through the body. For the proper digestion of food the blood is needed in the stomach.

PHYSICAL CULTURE OF CHILDREN.

All outdoor games that involve running and active movement of any kind are useful adjuncts in physical development. In no immense amount of exercise is taken under the guise of diversion. Battledore and shuttlecock was long a favourite amusement, is a capital indoor game where there is room to play it, and might be revived with advantage. Beanbags, or coloured bags filled with beans and aimed at a ring or other mark, and the form of quoits played on chipboard with rings of rope may be utilised to furnish exercise on rainy days. Especial attention should be paid to the exercise of those children are exercising indoors. The respiration is quickened, the lungs demand more air, and there should be a free supply of pure oxygen to meet it. Impure air poisons the delicate tissues of children more than the blood destroyed by passing through the lungs is unfit to be breathed again. If the impurities with which it is charged could be visible we would shrink from inhaling it, and wonder at our folly when by raising the window a fresh supply is at our command.

SODIUM CHLORATE IN DYSPEPSIA.

This drug has been very strongly recommended in dyspepsia, and especially in hyperchlorhydria and gastric ulcer. It should be given two or three times daily, diluted, and in warm solution, says the Hospital. The time should be midway between meals, so as to secure the action of the remedy on the mucous membrane. Not more than two drachms should be given in twenty-four hours. Large doses may cause methæmoglobinuria.

NICE DISHES.

OATMEAL SOUP.—Cut an oatcake into pieces at the joints, wash it all well, and put into a stewpan with two quarts of water, one carrot, one turnip, one onion, one dessertspoonful of celery salt, a bunch of herbs in a muslin bag, salt, and pepper. Bring to the boil gently, and simmer for three hours. Take out the meat, strain, and stand until next day. Then put into a stewpan, add one dessertspoonful of mixed curry powder, mixed smooth, and add a wineglassful of sherry. Stir until it boils, then put in a pound of meat, and, if liked, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley and one tablespoonful each of previously cooked carrot and turnip. Forcemeats, which can be bought for about eightpence each, are excellent for this soup.

ORANGES EN SURPRISE.—Cut off the tops of half a dozen tangerine oranges neatly, and scoop out the sections as carefully as possible, so as to avoid breaking the peel. Divide into pieces, and crush the contents of one of the oranges in a bowl, strain off the juice, and add to it a few drops of lemon juice and a very little maraschino and sugar to taste. Allow the rest of the orange sections in a manner in this for an hour, dividing them first in halves with a silver knife, and adding a banana, peeled and chopped finely. Make half a dozen preserved cherries, add these to the fruit, and pile in the orange skins. Cover with a spoonful of whipped cream sprinkled some chopped pistachio nut over the top and serve.

OYSTERS IN ASPERGE.—Two dozen oysters, two eggs, two tablespoonfuls of cream, one tablespoonful of flour, loz. of butter, a little salt. Make a light batter as follows: Beat the yolks with flour, and add the strained liquor from the oysters and a pinch of salt. Dry the oysters carefully on a clean cloth, and then dip them into the batter, being careful to cover them completely. Put the batter into a frying-pan with a little butter and boiling put in the oysters and fry until brown.

OYSTER RAGOUT.—Simmer two dozen oysters in their own liquor for a few minutes, then drain them upon a sieve; add to this liquor two tablespoonfuls of sauce, and two minced and boned anchovies, give it one boil, then put in the oysters for ten minutes, but do not allow them to boil. Serve upon a dish, and garnish with sippits of toast and thinly-cut slices of lemon.

BAKED BEETROOT.—Cut some well boiled beetroot into slices. Butter a fireproof dish, and lay the slices of beetroot in layers. On each layer put some small pieces of butter, salt and pepper to taste, and a very little onion juice—only enough to be suspected—and a few drops of lemon juice. When the dish is full pour over all a little white sauce, cover with breadcrumbs, and bake for twenty minutes.

Miss I. O. Ford, of Adel, has given £5 to the West Riding Distress Fund.

LOOK HERE!

We have a REPUTATION to maintain, and we do it by giving you the BEST VALUE in Provisions, Groceries, &c.

Specialists in BUTTER, HAMS, BACON, CHEESE, &c.

Also FLOUR, FEEDING MEAL, POULTRY CORN &c,

T. B. SMITH & SON,

SUPPLY STORES,

GARFORTH.

Our Special Blends of Tea, 2/2, 2/-, 1/8 per lb., contain some of the Finest Teas the World produces.

Bothwell Courier & Times

ESTABLISHED 1873.

CHEAP PREPAID RATES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS of the following classes:—

WANTED, FOR SALE, and TO LET.

Words. 1 week. 3 weeks. 6 weeks. 13 weeks.
20 ... 0 6 ... 1 0 ... 1 10 ... 3 3
30 ... 0 9 ... 1 6 ... 2 9 ... 5 0
40 ... 1 0 ... 1 8 ... 3 0 ... 6 6

42 Cash is not sent with advt. ordinary rates will be charged.

BUSINESS ADVERTISEMENTS.

Are charged at the following rates when ordered for not less than:

13 weeks, 1s. per inch per insertion.
26 do. do. do. do.
52 do. do. do. do.

RAILWAY NOTICE.

NORTH EASTERN RAILWAY.

EXCURSION TRAINS FROM LEEDS NEW STATION, CALLING AT CROSSGATES AND GARFORTH.

Monday, 21st Sept., 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, and Scarborough. Wednesday, 23rd Sept., 12.3 p.m. to Pocklington, Market Weighton, Driffield and Bridlington. 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, and Scarborough. 1.32 p.m. to Goole and Hull. Thursday, 24th Sept., 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, and Scarborough. Saturday, 26th Sept., 12.3 p.m. to Pocklington, Market Weighton, Driffield and Bridlington. 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, and Scarborough. 12.45 p.m. to Goole and Hull.

For further particulars see bills.

LOST

LOST BLACK and TAN BITCH, crossed Airedale and Fox. Answers to the name of "Stump." Finder rewarded.—Cliff Hospital, Garforth.

WANTED

FOR MOTOR ACCOMMODATION apply, Walker Bros., Grocer, Crossgates. 2 2494

WANTED HOUSE in WHITKIRK, end of October.—Apply Box 229, "Skipton Courier" Office, Leeds. 2 2256

WANTED Good GENERAL, age about 25. Three in family.—Apply, Mrs Haggarth, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates.

WANTED Strong, Healthy Girl as GENERAL. Age 18 to 25.—Apply, Mrs Pickard, Brotherton, Aberford. 2432

WANTED a Respectable GENERAL SERVANT. Small family. Good wages given.—Apply, Mrs Keates, Church Terrace, Wrange. 2132

FOR SALE.

SALE, PIANO (Rosewood case), cheap.—No. 16, Park View, Hunslet. 2111

FOR Sale, 8-DAY GRANDFATHER CLOCK, oak case.—Apply, J. J. Jackson, Watchmaker, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates. 1

CROSSGATES — DETACHED VILLA, of double-fronted, front position, opposite golf links; drawing and dining rooms, three bedrooms, attic, w.c., kitchen, pantry, wash kitchen, large gardens. Low rates.—Apply, A. Stephenson, Rose Dene, Austhorpe Road. 2 2300

MEDICAL.

TO MARRIED LADIES.

THE WIFE'S HANDBOOK, by Dr. Allsatt, should be read by all Married People. 2d. Post Free. Illustrated list of Malthusian Appliances, Rubber Goods, &c., Post Free, 3 Stamps.—(S) Dutton & Co., 84, Park Lane, Leeds.

LADIES! Woods's Challenge Remedy is the guaranteed under the sun of £100 to cure most cases. Safe, sure and certain remedy. For all cases of irregularities Challenge Remedy has no equal. Price 2/9, special 4/6. Consultation free or to call. Dispensed by Mabel WOOD, 66, Louis Street, Chapeltown Road, Ringtown. Only address—Mr and Mrs W. Leeds.

MARRIED LADIES.

Consult MRS. WOOD, the only reliable Ladies' Specialist on every experience. My remedies never fail. My Special Mixture or Pills are guaranteed to be the only reliable remedy known. Relief in a few hours after all other fails. Quick, Safe, and Sure. Price 4s. 6d. Special 4s. 6d., post free in plain wrappers, or stamp for particulars. Consultations by appointment. Only Address: Mrs WOOD, 31, Park Avenue, Blackpool.

DR. SKELTON'S
BRONCHITIS LOZENGES

Cure Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, Difficulties of Breathing, Consumption, and all Diseases of the Chest and Lungs.

Sold 1s. 1½ in Boxes at 1/1½ and 2/9 at LAING'S HERBAL STORES, 28, KIRKGATE, LEEDS.

All kinds of Herbs, etc. kept in Stock.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH, EXTRACTIONS, Etc.

Mr. J. DILWORTH'S
Dental Rooms,
CECIL HOUSE, BURLEY LODGE TERRACE, HYDE PARK ROAD, LEEDS.
Advice Free. Hours—10 to 8.
and at
16, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates,
Every Friday, 2 to 7.30 p.m. Other hours by appointment.

Painless Extractions. Nitrous Oxide Gas administered.

MR and MRS. TURNER
(Late Lane, Leeds,
and 36, Horton Road, Bradford,
Purchase Gent's Cast-off Clothing, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Cast-off Clothing. All Letters and Parcels receive immediate attention. Full value given for Old Gold and Silver. Trade Solicited.
Highest Price Given.
Tel. Nos.: Leeds, 3388; Bradford, 2417.

YOUR WEDDING
Should BE RIGHT whether it is Morning or Afternoon. We are in most linked of and we must thought of in the Use. has almost us; our charges BOCKTON, Chapel Lane, Off Town of Footsteps Streets, Dew, 1877 Central.
"WE NEVER SLEEP."

PUBLIC NOTICES.

I HAVE NOTHING TO SELL. I was a martyr to RHEUMATISM and GOUT for years. Having been positively cured by a simple and inexpensive remedy I shall be happy to communicate particulars of same to any sufferer on receipt of addressed envelope.—Apply to James Harris, Esq., Harehill, Aldermoor, Warwickshire.

OULTON AND WOODLESFORD WAR FUND.

ALL PERSONS in DISTRESS desirous of obtaining assistance from the above fund must make application in one of the following:—
A. SHARPE, 81, John Street, Oulton, Hon. Treasurer.
P. C. HIGGINS, Mayfield, Woodshaw, Hon. Secretary.

Established 37 Years.

WM. DENTON & SON,
23, COMMERCIAL STREET, ROTHWELL,
Estate Agents and Rent Collectors.
Estates Entirely Managed. Terms on application.
Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass, etc.,
Quotations for any kind of Insurance Free.

WAR RELIEF FUND!

GRAND CONCERT
Promoted by I.O.F. Lower Crossgates, In aid of the above Fund, under the distinguished patronage and presence of the Right Worshipful Mayor and Lady Mayoress of Leeds.
Simultaneous in the Recreation Hall and in the Wesleyan Schoolroom, Crossgates,
On FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2nd, 1914.

Artistes:—
Miss Kate Standeby, Mr Tom Harwood (Soprano), (Elocutionist).
Miss Eva Easton, Mr Geo. O. Carter, (Contralto), (Humorist).
Mr G. W. Rich (Tenor), William Hayle, (Violinist).
The Leeds Choral Society, The Amory Choral Society.
Clifton Prize Quartette.
Accompanists—
Mrs Tom Cooper & Mr E. W. Wayne Browning

Doors open 7 p.m. Commence 7.30.
Tickets: Two Shillings and One Shilling.

SUNSHINE VILLA THE AVENUE, HALTON.

SCHOOL FOR GIRLS. PREPARATORY SCHOOL FOR BOYS.
Principal—Miss LINDALE.
Term commences on WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 23rd, 1914.

THE PICTURE HOUSE, GARFORTH

Every Evening at 7.30.
Saturday, Two Houses at 5.30 and 7.30.

WEEK COMMENCING SEPTEMBER 21st

FIRST-RATE PROGRAMMES
OF
UP-TO-DATE PICTURES

LATEST TRIUMPHS OF THE CINEMA ART.

Children's Matinee, Saturday at 2.30.

Popular Prices—1/-, 9d., and 6d.

Telephone No. 1 Garforth.

ALFRED REED,
Late Matthews,
CAB and WAGGONETTE PROPRIETOR,
GARFORTH and BARWICK-IN-ELMET.
Cabs, Waggonettes and Landaus for Hire.
Large and Small Parties Catered for.

WHEN AT HARROGATE
THE BLACK SWAN HOTEL,
HIGH HARROGATE, FOR REFRESHMENTS
Wines, Beers, Spirits, Cigars of the finest quality.
Luncheons, Teas, Dinners.
Good Accommodation for Motorists and Cyclists.
Two Bowling Greens.
Large or Small Parties Catered for.
Proprietor—H. BELFORTH.

Window Cleaning, Paintwashing
Limewashing, &c., at Moderate Charges.
EXPERIENCED MEN SENT ANY DISTANCE.
FIRTH & KENYON,
GROVE ROAD, HALTON, near LEEDS.

THOMAS MIDDLETON
PAWNBROKER AND JEWELLER,
96, VICAR LANE, LEEDS,
(Top of LADY LANE, LEEDS).
ADVANCES MONEY TO ANY AMOUNT ON PORTABLE PROPERTY.

£0 10 0	for	2½	per month.
£1 0 0	„	5d.	„
£2 0 0	„	10d.	„
£5 0 0	„	1s.	„
£10 0 0	„	2s.	„
£25 0 0	„	1s. 6d.	„
£50 0 0	„	2s. 6d.	„
£100 0 0	„	3s. 6d.	„
£200 0 0	„	5s. 6d.	„

Sums above £200 by Special Agreement.
ONLY ADDRESS—
96 VICAR LANE, LEEDS.
PLEDGE OFFICE: 2, LADY LANE, LEEDS.

— TRY —
SANCFORD'S CROWN VINEGAR,
Pickles, Health Salt,
and Baking Powder.
ALL ABSOLUTELY PURE
SANCFORD & Co., Ltd.,
LEEDS.

SALES BY AUCTION.

WETHERBY AUCTION MART
ON MONDAY NEXT,
Messrs THOMLINSON & SON
will Sell by Auction,
50 to 60 Fat Bullocks and Heifers.
100 to 120 Prime Fat SHEEP
to be fat for and Store PIGS.
THOMLINSON & SON, Auctioneers.

ON MONDAY NEXT AT 12 O'CLOCK.
WHITKIRK LIVE STOCK AUCTION MART
(Near to Crossgates Station and within four miles of Leeds).
Messrs BARTLE & SON
Will sell by Auction, in strict accordance with the conditions posted in the Mart—
420 HEAD OF STOCK, viz.
75 NEWLY CALVEN and PRESENT CALVING COWS and STORE BEASTS.
65 PRIME FAT BULLOCKS, HEIFERS, and COWS.
20 VEAL and STORE CALVES.
200 PRIME FAT SHEARLINGS, HOGGS, and EWES.
130 BACON, PORK, and STORE PIGS.
Auctioneers' Offices: Garforth, near Leeds. (Tel. No. 26).

W. A. F. BURROWS & CO.,
Auctioneers and Valuers,
BOND PLACE, LEEDS.
(Opposite Yorkshire Penny Bank).
Sales of every description conducted on the most reasonable terms.
Valuations made for all purposes.
To Heads of Families, Private Buyers, Dealers, and others.
Various Stocks of Drapery, Boots, and Shoes, Hosiery, and Underclothing always on hand, and may be purchased privately at any time. Goods on View. Public Inspection Invited.

Messrs J. CUNDALL & SON,
AUCTIONEERS and TENANT-RIGHT VALUERS.
SHERBURN, E.R., YORK

H. E. WALKER,
STURTON GRANGE, GARFORTH,
Agricultural Merchant.
Molassine Meal.
Dairy and Calf Meal.
Feeding Cakes.
Poultry and Dog Foods.
Manures, Peat Moss, Oils, etc.
Best Quality & Prompt Delivery.

J. ROBINSON & SONS,
King Charles' Croft,
LEEDS.
Telephone No. 1522.
Catalogues free on Application.

CULTIVATORS, PLOUGHS, HARROWS, CHAFF & TURNIP CUTTERS, &C.
By all the Best Makers at Lowest Cash Prices

JOHN WATSON & Co.,
34, CALL LANE, LEEDS
See our Special Blue Lounge Suit
Made to Measure in Fine Quality Serge,
Easy Terms £2 2s. Cash 38/6
Well Worth 50/-
OUR SCARBORO' COSTUMES
Are made to Measure in all Wool Navy Coating Serge. Coat Lined Silk. Satin Collar, Lined Skirt.
Cash 30/- Easy Terms 33/6
Patterns and Particulars on Application.

TO BE CONTENT
With anything but the best is spectacles or eyeglasses is the wisdom of the unwise.
Thoughtful people recognise this fact, and value their eyes too highly to run unnecessary risks by wearing wrong glasses.
It is to such that this appeal is made; and if your eyes are causing you trouble, we ask you to call and talk the matter over with us, when we shall be pleased to advise you.
HEYWOOD,
Optologist,
20, DUNCAN STREET,
LEEDS.

PATENTS FOR INVENTIONS.

obtained by
JOHN E. WALSH, CHARTERED PATENT AGENT,
25, ROYAL EXCHANGE, LEEDS,
and CROSSLEY STREET, HALIFAX.
Ex Oldest Established in Leeds. Handbook Free, on British and Foreign Patents, Trade Marks and Designs.
Telephone: LEEDS 2738. HALIFAX 35Y.

Bothwell Courier & Times

SATURDAY, SEPT. 19th, 1914.

In our last issue we expressed the opinion that one result of the war would be the granting of a greater measure of liberty to the peoples of Europe, and it would seem that many people share this view. Mr. Lloyd George has an appeal to American and neutral Jews to believe in England's cause." The assurance I have been privileged to obtain from Sir Edward Grey, that he will neglect no opportunity of encouraging the emancipation of the Russian Jews, marks a turning point in their history, replacing, as it does, windy Russian rumours by a solid political basis of hope. Mr. Lloyd George's utterance of a politician in a crisis. I am in a position to state that it represents the attitude of all that is best in English thought. It is with confidence, therefore, that I appeal to American and other "neutral" Jews not to let the shadow of Russia alienate their sympathies from the indomitable island which now, as not seldom before, is fighting for mankind, and which may yet civilise Germany. Germany that Winston Churchill concluded a speech he delivered at a non-political gathering in London with the words:—"I shall hope, and I do not think my hope is in vain, that the time will shortly come together in our land and throughout our Empire may continue to work together not only in the military struggle, but try to make our country a more equal, more happy, and more prosperous land, where social justice and free institutions are more firmly established than they have been in the past."

Although this country has gone to war with the avowed object of smashing the vicious system introduced by militarism in Germany, a section of our people profess to believe that one outcome of the crisis will be the adoption of Conscription by Great Britain, but it is evident that they have not given the question serious consideration. Before such a drastic step was taken by any Government, it would have to be conclusively proved that the voluntary system is a failure, and in view of the response which has been made to the country's call, but even that is no argument in favour of Conscription. It was stated by a well-known Cabinet Minister that it would be possible to raise 400,000 men without applying the whip of compulsion, but his judgment of the young men of the country was at fault, as he would no doubt candidly admit now that the call for many volunteers will be had for the asking. Some districts are richer in men than others, and it is asserted that, in some instances, a larger percentage has been sent to serve with the Colours than would be possible under the German system. That is no argument in favour of Conscription. For ten years Mr F. E. Smith, M.P., has advocated universal service, but now that we have entered upon war without adopting such a policy he "hopes and believes we shall go through this war securing whatever forces are required as a volunteer nation." Moreover, the quality and speed of the men are important factors in the efficiency of an army, and would anyone have the temerity to compare the products of the Prussian military system with our own? Reports from the front of the shock tactics of the British are infinitely superior to the German conscript, and a Methodist parson, at the Front, writes:—"Our men are splendid. I thought I knew them, but I take off my hat to 'Mr Thomas Atkins' as the bravest and most heroic soul in the world." And Sir John French's "moving despatch," and, in fact, all the stories from France, are a tribute to the high qualities of Britain's fighting men. Many of the Germans are brave men and excellent soldiers, but, on the other hand, there are many who have absolutely no heart in their work and are ready, whenever danger arises, to run their dirty hides, because they know that their lives will be spared by a merciful enemy. No one could convince of any unit of the British Army doing such a thing; they would be to sorry to be considered cowards. Conscripted, and the masterly retreat of our Army in France, when it was threatened with annihilation, forms one of the most glorious military achievements in our history. The German may be as patriotic as this Britisher—that question need not be entered into—but the war has furnished ample evidence that the systems of military training produces totally different results. Can anyone believe that our soldiers, however hardly pressed, would ever be guilty of such horrible barbarities as were perpetrated in Belgium by the enemy? Militarism propagates the doctrine that "might is right," and what this may lead to has been demonstrated fully enough already. Our system is based on different principles, and the spirit of it was conveyed in the message given to our men from Lord Kitchener when they embarked for the Continent. Of course, people may believe that Conscription would not work in precisely the same way here, but there is always the danger of men becoming the slaves of a system, and even of the nation itself having to bend to it. Britishers have always held their freedom and liberties as their most precious heritage, but if they allow Conscription to be adopted they will have to modify their views very considerably. Employers and employees have hitherto been hostile to the system, because of the interference it would have with industry, and a nation which depends for its existence on its foreign and colonial trade cannot afford to overlook this aspect of the question. And what of the expense of Conscription? For years Continental nations have been groaning under the burden of armaments and the maintenance of huge armies, and the withdrawal of men from their ordinary work must have had some effect on their industrial and commercial development, so that the cost could not be measured by the actual amount spent on armies and war material. If it is likely, when the national expenditure is increasing year by year, that any British Government would impose heavy taxes for the making of conscript soldiers? Let those people who advocate Conscription ask themselves what it would cost the country. When taxation is levied for ameliorative purposes there is no end of grumbling, and it is likely that the taxpayer would willingly shoulder an enormous new burden? It is probable, however, that the Army will cost more in the future. The men who fight the country's battles have a right to the nation's gratitude, and a share that so many veterans have had to pass their last days in workhouses—and it is not only proposed to make the Service more attractive, but to make provision for those who are incapacitated. No one will offer objection to any scheme for improving the position of our fighting men, and whatever additional monetary help they receive will be no more than the reward they are entitled to. In regard to the Territorial Forces, an extension of the system would be of immense benefit to the nation, and many people would not object to young men undergoing training between the ages of 18 and 21 years. Whether such a thing is practicable has not been discussed by the authorities, but it seems unfair, as we have frequently contended, that one section of young men should voluntarily undergo training, while another section can stand aside and scoff at their fellows as "fireside soldiers." The value of the Territorial Army is now being seen, and if a larger number of men been trained before this date, the equipment of the new Army could have been accomplished in a much shorter time. Such a training as is given to the Territorial's would be very beneficial physically to thousands of young men, and it would likewise be a guarantee that, if a crisis arose, they would not be in the helpless position in which so many are now.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Communications intended for insertion must be authenticated by the name and address of the writer—not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. No notice will be taken of anonymous letters, and rejected communications cannot be returned.

Notice of Births and Deaths are charged 1s. each prepaid. They must be authenticated by the name and address of the sender.

Notices of marriages are charged at the rate of 2s. 6d. each

In Memoriam" Notices 1s. each, and 6d. extra for all matter up to four lines

MARRIAGE.

WHITE—SIMPSON.—September 14th, at St. James's Church, Crossgates, by the Vicar, the Rev. H. H. Malleson, Alfred Ellis, youngest son of Mr and Mrs J. R. White, Scarborough, late of Crossgates, to Gertrude, youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs Henry Simpson, Elmet Terrace, Crossgates. 2127

DEATHS.

COXWELL.—September 11th, at the York County Hospital (the result of a motor accident), age 77 years, Jane Coxwell, the eldest daughter of the late Thomas Bolland, of Tadcaster.

FILE.—William Albert, of Brandon Terrace, Shadwell, died Leeds Infirmary, 15th September.

LINDLEY.—September 12th, at St. Helen's, Adel, Emma Lindley, aged 80 years.

IN MEMORIAM.

WILSON.—In loving memory of our dear father, Jonah Wilson, of East Garforth, who fell asleep in Jesus, September 17th, 1913.

"Rest on, dear father, your labour is o'er,
Your willing hands will toil no more.
A sorrowful day, so sad to us,
When we laid one to rest that was loved by us all."

—Martha Annie and Charles Edward Stanley.

WILSON.—In loving memory of my dear father, Jonah Wilson, who passed peacefully away on September 17th, 1913.

"When days are long and friends are few,
Dear father how we long for you.
A sorrowful day, so sad to us,
When we laid one to rest that was loved by us all."

—From George and Ada Binns, Barwick.

WILSON.—In loving memory of Jonah Wilson, of East Garforth, who passed peacefully away on September 17th, 1913.

"If love and care could death prevent
Thy days would not so soon be spent;
Life was denied, for God could see,
Eternal rest was best for thee."

—From his wife and children.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT NEWS.

ROTHWELL

THE ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE ANGLING CLUB.—The annual match of this club took place at Low Dunsforth. The match was of 4 hours duration, and the winners were:—1, George Ward (3lb.); 2, R. Sidebottom (6¾oz.); 3, W. Wilson (7¾oz.); 4, W. Crossley; 5, C. Fox; 6, T. Beckwith; 7, J. Beckwith.

The Yorkshire Penny Bank, Ltd., has no connection in any way with the National Penny Bank, Ltd.

LEEDS WEST RIDING PETTY SESSIONS.—The magistrates at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday were Mr J. W. Mockill (in the chair), and Mr F. M. Lupton.

CHURCH LADS' BRIGADE.—On Sunday the members of the Rothwell Church Lads' Brigade were joined in a route march round the district by the Brigade from Lofthouse, and a collection was taken on behalf of the Belgian Refugees. The march was by way of Rothwell Haigh, Lofthouse Town End, Oulchwell Green, Carlton, and Rothwell, and the amount collected by the lads was £1 3s.

LOCAL DISTRESS FUND.—Under this heading last week a paragraph appeared in the "Rothwell and District Herald" announcing that the Committee of the North and South Wards had accepted the offer of the management of the Cosy Picture Palace to give half the proceeds of their two houses to be held every alternate Tuesday night. The paragraph should have read every alternate Wednesday night. The first of these special efforts will take place next week.

Patent for complete Valve Gear.—E. Walsh, chartered patent agent, of 25, Royal Exchange, Boar Lane, Leeds, and Crossley Street, Halifax:—Application completed—J. W. Rhodes, Leeds, improvements in mattresses, etc. Acceptance—G. W. Ibbotson and T. Tolson, Dewsbury, safety guard for laundry wringing machines. Patent sealed—W. J. B. Leech and A. Edwards, Leeds, treatment of hair fibres. Notification of cost. Patent renewed—William Colgater, Bilstonshaw, destroying cotton, etc., in woollen rags.

A SALVATION ARMY FUNERAL.—On Saturday the funeral of Mrs Cook, the wife of Sergeant Major Cook, of the Salvation Army, took place. The deceased, who has been connected with the Salvation Army for over thirty years, was highly respected, and the cortège, which was headed by the members of the bands of the Rothwell, Ardsley, and Garforth Corps, was followed by a large number of people. Prior to the interment, a service was held in the Army Hall, and was conducted by Major Lewis, of Leeds. Another short service was held at the graveside, when, as at the hall, special hymns were sung. On Sunday a memorial service was held, and an address was given by Captain Oliver, a former officer in the Rothwell Corps, who was on a visit to the town and who made special reference to the life of the late Mrs Cook.

REVISION COURT.—The Revising Barrister for the Normanton Division, Mr Stephen Henry West, conducted a Revision Court for the townships of Methley (in Methley and Micklethwaite polling districts), Oulton-with-Woodlesford, and Rothwell-with-Rothwell Haigh and Royds Green (North, South, and Stourton Wards) at the Oulton Institute on Saturday. Mr Garvet, agent for the Liberal Association, was present, along with Mr J. Stead (Rothwell), who represented the Liberal Association. Several claims were made by both sides and allowed. Among others objections were the joined owners, viz., Mr Joe Harrison (Rothwell), Mr Sharpe (Oulton), and Mr Sharpe (Methley), as well as Mr Wood Higgins. At the conclusion Mr Garvet moved a vote of thanks to the Revising Barrister, and this was seconded by Mr J. Stead, and passed.

PROTECTING THE STACKYARDS.—Mr G. B. C. Yarborough called the attention of the West Riding Standing Joint Committee, at their meeting at Wakefield on Wednesday, to the fact that at the present time stackyards were full of corn, and suggested that it was advisable these should be systematically inspected by constables whilst threshing. Fires, he said, in ordinary times were brought about in many cases by spontaneous combustion, and in other instances by tramps and evil-doers; but now it was quite possible they might be caused by the King's enemies, who, he thought, would very much object to trade in the United Kingdom. These stacks were a national asset, not merely the property of the farmers, and not a single blade of corn ought to be wasted. The Acting Chief Constable said he would issue instructions that duty to have the matter attended to.

PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHURCH.—Harvest festival services were held at the Primitive Methodist Church on Sunday. The preacher in the morning and evening was the Rev. W. G. Sotheby, the resident minister. In the afternoon a service of song, entitled "Queen of the Harvest," was rendered by the choir. Mr Eli Ward presided over a large attendance, and the singing was conducted by Mr J. Southwood. Appropriate recitals were given by the children of the Sunday School, and the solo portion was taken by Miss Ivy Thurwell. Mr J. C. Harrison presided at the organ. On Monday evening the choir rendered three anthems. "Evening shadows," "While the earth remaineth," and "Lift up your hand." The solos in the latter were taken by Mrs L. Thurwell and Mr A. Kilburn. On Monday evening the fruit and vegetables, which had been generously given by the congregation, were sold by auction, which was held on Saturday, was largely attended.

DEATH OF COLONEL A. H. CHARLESWORTH.—Colonel Albany Hawke Charlesworth, who died, as has been said, at his residence, Brooklands, West Didsbury, Manchester, on Wednesday, represented Wakefield in Parliament, in the Conservative interest, from 1892 to 1895. He was one of a former Member—Mr J. C. D. Charlesworth, who, in 1857 was return unopposed, but was defeated two years later by the late Mr William Henry Leatham—Col. Charlesworth was returned by the Conservatives and Unionists as their champion, on the retirement of Sir Edward Green. He was opposed by Mr J. T. Stevenson, a London actuary, and chairman of the New Sharlston Collieries. The Home Rule problem was then waged with great acrimony, being almost the only issue at the election, and Col. Charlesworth had the support of not a few moderate-minded Liberals. From the time of his return onwards Col. Charlesworth was a strong Unionist until December, 1910, when the present Lord Mayor of Leeds (Mr E. A. Brotherton), after having represented the city nearly nine years, was defeated by Mr. H. E. Kendall. Col. Charlesworth at that time resided at Chapel-thorpe Hall, near Wakefield, and was held in much esteem. He was associated with one of the principal Yorkshire industries being, until his death, one of the largest shareholders in the firm of J. and J. Charlesworth (Limited). Col. Charlesworth took a very active interest in the Volunteer movement, and was distinctly popular when he held command of the Wakefield Battalion. He enjoyed the implicit confidence of his friends. He was a keen all-round sportsman, being for many years a regular follower of hounds.

ALLERTON BYWATER

On Saturday afternoon Leek Lane footballers defeated Pontefract by five goals to two. Fryston Colliery beat Mirfield United by eight to one.

BOWERS ALLERTON

Bowers Allerton School had the highest attendance of all the schools in Kippax district last month, the percentage being 95.04.

On Saturday afternoon Bowers Allerton had a football match with Stourton United, and the latter were defeated by two goals to one.

CROSSGATES

Members of Crossgates Golf Club have sent £5 7s. 6d. to the Leeds National Relief Fund.

At St. James' Church, Manston, a collection for the Leeds Relief Fund realised £21 0s. 8d.

Miss Mary Dawson, of Crossgates, has given a guinea to the Belgian Relief Fund, while Miss E. Allinson, of Crossgates, has sent 5s.

A sum of £5 has been sent to the Lady Mayoress's Fund from Manston Church and Crossgates Wesleyan Church.

The net proceeds of the cricket match and sports promoted by Crossgates Foresters and Crossgates Wesleyan C.C. amount to £10 10s., which will be paid to the local Medical Charities Committee.

MINISTER'S SUDDEN DEATH—The death occurred on Saturday of the Rev. G. Searle, superintendent minister of the Richmond Hill Wesleyan Circuit. Mr Searle only came to the circuit about a week ago, having for the past four years been superintendent minister of the Shorley Bridge Wesleyan Circuit, and stationed at Consett. Mr Searle, who was about 64 years of age, leaves a widow, one daughter, and two sons.

WEDDING AT MANSTON CHURCH—On Monday afternoon, at Manston Church, the marriage was solemnized of Mr Alfred Ellis White, youngest son of Mr and Mrs J. R. Waite, of Scarborough (formerly of the Orchards, Crossgates), and Miss Gertrude Simpson, younger daughter of Mr and Mrs Simpson, of 15, Manor Terrace, Crossgates. Both bride and bridegroom are earnest church workers, the former having been a Sunday School teacher for six years, while the latter is secretary of Manston Church Sunday school, and consequently considerable interest was evinced in the happy event, there being a large congregation. The Rev. H. H. Mellieson (vicar) was the officiating clergyman. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in a beautiful gown of white silk, and her veil was surmounted by orange blossom, while as an ornament she wore a gold bracelet (the gift of the bridegroom), and she carried a shoal of lilies. The bridesmaids were Miss Jessie White (sister of the bridegroom) and Miss Muriel Simpson (niece of the bride), and they were pale blue dresses and white felt hats, while their bouquets were composed of pink asters. Their gifts from the bridegroom were wristlet watches. The bride was also attended by three pages—Masters Joey and Reggie Sowden (nephews of the bride) and Master Harold White (nephew of the bridegroom), and they looked very neat and smart in white sailor suits. The best man was Mr Ernest Walker, of Barnby. After the wedding the guests, numbering about forty, were entertained at the Cafe, Crossgates, by Mr and Mrs Simpson, and later in the afternoon Mr and Mrs Ellis White left for London, en route for Bournemouth, where the honeymoon is being spent. The bride's travelling dress was of fawn cloth, and a black velvet hat with blue flower and feather, a number of handsome presents were received by the bride and bridegroom.

GARFORTH

Mrs E. Sissons, of Garforth, has given £2 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

Mr Thomas William Percy, of Garforth, has given two guineas to the Leeds Relief Fund.

At the meeting at Garforth Parochial School on Tuesday night four recruits were secured.

IS THIS A LOCAL RECORD—Garforth has done well, and it is stated that about two hundred men have gone from the village and the collieries to the war. The record for Garforth is possibly held by the family of Mr Albert Rex, builder and contractor, who has three sons patriotic enough to have answered the country's call.

GARFORTH DISTRESS COMMITTEE—In another column a list of the donations received by the Garforth Distress Committee up to September 10th is inserted. Mr W. G. Bosher, hon. sec., has received the following amounts this week:—Mr R. Routledge, Colliery House, £5; underground workers, men and boys, Sisters and Isabella Pits (second contribution), £7 18s 4d.; Mrs H., Miss, and Mr Chas. Thompson, £2 2s.; Mr and Mrs Josiah Hewitt, £1; and Mr E. Gee, 2s. 6d.

INSURANCE COMMITTEE—The Tadcaster District Insurance Committee met at Garforth on Wednesday afternoon, and very few applications before it were present. Mr I. J. Dewhirst, C.C., presided. The question of remuneration for services rendered was considered, and a note from the Commissioners, which was read stated that the Act did not provide for any pay, not even travelling expenses. This was considered most unfair, and resignations are being submitted in consequence. Borough Committees, it was stated, are paid.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE—Garforth Council (mixed) School had the best attendance of the nine schools in Garforth education district last month, the percentage being 94·41 against 87·41 for the previous August. The percentage for the district was 87·05 against 87·83, and the figures for the various Garforth schools were—Garforth Council (infants), 87·79 against 83·05; East Garforth, 86·41 against 88·01; Garforth Parochial (mixed), 87·27 and 85·89; Garforth Parochial (infants), 65·43 and 78·65; and Garforth R.C., 76·34 and 91·11. Measles interfered with the attendance at the two last named schools.

BOWLING CLUB—Garforth Working Men's Club, which has won the Barkston Ash Cup for the second time, played the first of a Barkston Ash League on Saturday. Rain in the afternoon put a stop to play, but after tea, when the weather cleared up, a game of a 21 up was decided. All clubs were represented with the exception of Crossgates and Garforth Conservative. Garforth W.M. won by 84 points to 33. Details (W.M. scores first)—J. Whitby 11 v. H. Thomas (Halton) 9, A. Cockrem 11 v. W. Green (Halton) 1, F. Cockerham 11 v. G. Nicol (Halton) 3, T. Simpson 11 v. F. Hutchinson (Thorner) 2, M. Mason 11 v. A. Collins (Garforth) 4, C. Baxter 11 v. T. Chapman (Halton Tadcaster) 3, J. Freeman 11 v. C. Walker (Tadcaster) 7, W. Yeandle 7 v. E. Walker (Garforth) 1. A smoking concert followed and a very pleasant evening was spent. Mr Hutchinson (President of the Association) was in the chair, and, in an appropriate speech, he presented the cup to the captain (Mr J. Whitley). Songs were given by Messrs H. Thomas, G. Nicol, J. Fisher, T. Simpson, C. Cooper, J. Smith, and C. Simpson, and Mr Freeman recited "Kissing Cup." The accompanist was Mr Kaye, of Halton. Mr Fisher proposed a vote of thanks to the club, and Mr Green seconded. Other speakers were Messrs A. Cockrem, W. Yeandle, T. Simpson, and J. Marshall. A collection was made by Mr Fisher and Mr Cowl for the Belgian Distress Fund, and £1 was collected, and will be sent from the Garforth Working Men's Club by Mr Yeandle. Mr A. Cockrem has been very successful this season as he has won both handicaps in connection with the club. After outing 19 points in the first one, he had to owe 17 points in the second in a game of 21 up. On Saturday morning the final game was played, and the result was—A. Cockrem (owes 17), 38; T. Simpson (owes 11), 25.

GREAT PRESTON

At Great Preston School last month the percentage of attendance was 85.63 against 91.66 for the previous August.

HALTON

Lady Dorothy Wood, of Templenewsam, has given £5 to the Leeds Lady Mayoress's Fund.

FOOTBALL.—The Halton School Rugby team are strenuously practising for the opening of another season. The feature of these practices is the splendid form shown by Kenney, Hayes, and Burman; in fact, all the last season's players have shown an improvement, and of this season's recruits, Simpson, Nicholson, and Dawson are specially worthy of special mention. Simpson is a big strong lad, and is only 13 years of age; he is possessed of speed, pluck, and is very smart. Nicholson and Dawson are very clever, but are built on the small side. The principal aim of the Halton team is to play clean and clever football. It is to be hoped that the people will support the team as well as they did last year, as it is intended to play exhibition matches in Hull and other large Rugby centres. The lads are robust and intelligent, and will no doubt prove a credit to the village.

MR MORRITT'S VIEWS—At a meeting of the West Riding Standing Joint Committee, on Wednesday, Mr T. H. Morris in the chair, Alderman the Rev. L. B. Morris asked for a general order to allow the payment of a 5 per cent. commission on amounts collected under the Affiliation Orders Act, 1914, of 5 per cent. Mr Morritt (Lord of Auldbrow Lodge, and Chairman of the Skyrack Bench), said he had been asked to ventilate the matter. Speaking from his own experience of the working of the Act, he said it was quite clear that a loss would accrue to any one who took on the work at a 5 per cent. commission. He did not know whether the chairman of Bowes or the clerks were the proper persons to make representations to the Government on the matter. It was an admirable Act, and he would be sorry to see it not carried into effect. Apparently it could not be made effective (until) something had been arranged with regard to out-of-pocket expenses. The Chairman suggested that that various West Riding Standing Joint Committee should make what arrangements they could to carry out the Act until they saw how it would work later. Authority was given for the making of the general order.

KIPPAX

PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHURCH.—The Christian Endeavour meeting was held on Wednesday evening when the Rev. R. B. Forlow (circuit minister, Castleford), gave an address on "The Good Samaritan." The meeting was well attended.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE—The percentage of attendance for the Public Schools in Kippax district last month was 90.82 against 90.38 in the previous August. The figures for Kippax Schools were:—Boys, 91.53 against 91.00; Girls, 91.79 against 87.38; and Infants, 89.09 against 86.18.

PARISH CHURCH.—The Sewing League in connection with this church have met in the school room regularly, and in good numbers, and have willingly given their services in the making of garments for our soldiers and sailors, while socks, etc., have been knitted by willing hands of wives at their homes. The Sunday School scholars have also worked with enthusiasm in the knitting of scarves for the men who are fighting the country's battles.

LEDSHAM

The percentage of attendance at Ledsham School last month was 80.38 against 90.10 for the previous August.

MICKLEFIELD

The percentage of attendance at Micklefield School (mixed) last month was 91.12 against 91.25 for August last year, and at the Infants' School 89.23 against 94.37.

MOOR ALLERTON

Mr M. Rayner, of Moortown, has given a guinea to the Belgian Relief Fund.

Mrs Helen Briggs, of Moor Allerton, has given £5 to the Belgian Relief Fund, and the staff at Moorfield House has sent 10s.

METHLEY

The Scholey Hill Women's Adult School, Methley, has sent 10s. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

OULTON

OULTON AND WOODLESFORD WAR FUND.—Mr P. C. Higgins writes to us as follows:—"My attention has been called to a paragraph in your District Recivites relative to our workers. Several persons have given very generously to the fund. No person in connection with the fund is receiving any remuneration for his or her services, so no workers giving their help voluntarily."

MR AND MRS R. G. Thompson, of Roundhay, have sent £10 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

Roundhay Congregational Sunday School has sent 10s. 4d. each to the staff at the Mansion, Roundhay, £1 6s. 6d., to Leeds Relief Fund.

RAISE.—The following contributions have been made by Roundhay residents to the Belgian Relief Fund:—Mr and Mrs. England £2, Mr and Mrs A. E. Speight £2 2s., Mrs W. Kitson £2, to Miss B. Kitson £5, Mrs Hawthorn Kitson £5, Mrs E. Lupton £2½, collected by Mr H. Byram £2 1s. 6d., Mr J. W. Sykes £2 1s., Victor and Rita Lewis £2 2s., Mrs Taylor £1, and Mrs G. Wilkinson, 10s.

VOTES ALLOWED.—The revision of the voting lists for North Leeds, including Roundhay, took place on Wednesday. A question was raised on claims made by Mr Lodge in regard to the votes of gardeners and others occupying cottages in Roundhay Park and the staff. It was stated that men were engaged by the City Corporation they were told they were not compelled to go into the cottages because there were other men in the village and the Association's wish was that all had the opportunity to live there. The question having been argued at some length, the votes were allowed.

SCHOLES

At Scholes School last month the percentage of attendance was 88.86 against 92.86 for August last year.

SEACROFT

WHISHOUSE FARMER IN TROUBLE.—On Tuesday at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions John William Farrington Beck, a farmer, of Whishouse, was summoned for having been drunk and disorderly at Whinmoor on Saturday, September 5th. P.C. Stimpson stated that about 7.15 p.m. on the night in question he found the defendant lying across the footpath on the York Road in a very drunken condition. He took him into custody, and all the way to the police station Beck used bad language. The officer said he had had several complaints about defendant's language. A fine of 20s. and costs was imposed.

MURPHY ASLEEP.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday William Murphy, a labourer, of Seacroft, was summoned for having been asleep while in charge of a horse and cart at Whinmoor on Saturday, September 5th. P.C. Stimpson stated that about 3 p.m. on the day in question he was on duty at Whinmoor when he saw a heavy cart coming along the road and apparently without a driver. He stopped the horse, and the defendant, who had been asleep at the footrest of the cart, woke up. The officer took his name and address, but the address proved to be fictitious. A fine of 2s. 6d. and costs was imposed.

Seacroft Cricket Club has sent £6 6s., including £5 5s. from Mr George Dennell, to the Relief Fund.

The female staff at Seacroft Hospital have sent £7 12s. 4d., and the Seacroft Hospital Nurses' Recreation Club £2 12s. 6d. to the Belgian Relief Fund, while £1 10s. has been collected by "Barely," Seacroft Hospital.

STOURTON

ALLOWED TO GO.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Mary Ann Dixon, milkhand, of Stourton, Polly Jackson, and Florence Rossington, of Stourton, were summoned for doing wilful damage to turnips belonging to Walter Goldthorpe, of Middleton. As the prosecutor did not turn up the three women were allowed to go.

SWILLINGTON

THE SCHOOLS.—At Swillington Parochial School last month the percentage of attendance was 84.44 against 94.05 in the previous August. At the Swillington Common School the figures were 93.00 and 94.25.

WHITKIRK

Colton Bible Class has sent £1 to the Belgium Relief Fund, per Mr T. K. Diggle.

The Hon. E. L. Wood, M.P., of Templenewsam, has given £10 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

WOUNDED SOLDIERS.—On Tuesday in the House of Commons Mr Edward Wood asked the Under Secretary of State for War if he was aware of the delay in notifying relatives of wounded officers and men of the nature of their wounds after they had been told they were wounded, and whether all possible efforts were being made to accelerate the press and so relieve the anxiety of relatives? Mr Tennant: The difficulty of supplying information is due in a large measure to the frequent shifting of the base, but inquiry will be made and every effort used to accelerate the work.

WOODLESFORD

Mrs E. Ripley, of Woodlesford, has sent £1 to the West Riding Distress Fund.

BEGGING.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Harry Cook, described as a gun-smith, of no fixed abode, was charged with begging at Woodlesford on Sunday last. P.C. Hutchinson proved the case, and prisoner was sent to prison for seven days.

GARFORTH DISTRICT EDUCATION COMMITTEE.

ABERFORD AND A NURSING SCHEME.

EVENING CLASSES A FAILURE AT GARFORTH.

The monthly meeting of Garforth District Education Committee was held at the offices at Garforth on Wednesday evening—Mr John Wordsworth (chairman) presiding. Other members present were Mr J. W. Dobson (vice-chairman), County Councillor Dodgshun, Rev. B. Shepherd-Walwyn (Aberford), Messrs W. Y. K. Young (Letherton), E. Barker (Scholes), H. Cowsgrave, H. Chapple, J. Cowling and F. Richardson (Garforth), with the Clerk (Mr H. W. Powell).

Mr Dewhirst asked if there had been any disorganization of schools by Boy Scouts being away.

The Clerk said there were no Boy Scouts in Garforth—the men must foll through.

Mr Dodgshun: I am rather surprised. It has always been the case at schools.

In regard to the combined nursing scheme, the Clerk stated that he had had a letter from Mr Dixon (Woodlesford) stating that nothing was being done in Garforth and Aberford. He replied that he was sorry to hear it, as referred to there did not appear to be any prospect of anything being done. He wrote to the Vicar of Garforth, and to Mr Sam Smith, Mr Lund, of Bowis Hall. He replied that it was intended to start a nursing association, but no meeting had been held yet. He suggested that a meeting should be held at which a nurse could be appointed, and that in connection with the application all parties.

The Rev. B. Shepherd-Walwyn said the proposed area would give a three miles radius.

The Clerk: The difficulty would be about £100, and the grant per thousand population was between £2 and £3, but he thought a proportional district would be allowed more.

Mr Dobson said that on the population basis Aberford would get £40.

The matter then dropped.

Reports were received on various teachers' courses, and on the Leeds Training College, the latter being increased according to grade.

The question of the feeding of school children was again discussed, and the Clerk asked the members if they knew of anything in any district which could be done in the matter of any distress.

The Clerk reported that the attendance at the evening classes at Garforth has been very unsatisfactory. At Garforth 7 attended the classes, and at East Garforth 11. The Garforth class had been discontinued, but it attended the classes at East Garforth.

It was stated that 24 men had promised to attend the mining class, and only five had put in an appearance.

The Rev. B. Shepherd-Walwyn said that, owing to the war, the people did not seem inclined to carry out their ordinary interests.

Mr Barker: The game seems worth the candle?

Mr Dobson said it was not.

Mr Barker: It is a great pity. The boys have also upset everything.

It was decided to close the mining and girls' classes and to amalgamate the boys' classes at Garforth and East Garforth if feasible.

A report was received on the dressmaking classes at Aberford. The attendance had been very good, and the results satisfactory. There was a balance in hand of £4 7s. 1d.

Ten guineas have been sent by Mrs E. O. Simpson, of Hazelwood Castle, to the Belgian Relief Fund.

At Aberford School last month the percentage of attendance was 80.30 against 89.93 in the previous August.

ACCIDENT.—A collision between a motor car driven by a motor-cycle occurred at the corner of Fields Street, Selby, on Tuesday. The motor cycle, which was ridden by Mr Willie Foster, tailor, of Milford, sustained damage, the front fork being badly twisted. Mr Foster himself was very lucky in escaping injury.

THEFT OF FOWLS.—On Wednesday at Selby Robt. Harrington O'Connor (40), labourer, of no fixed abode, was charged with stealing four fowls belonging to Mr Robert Adams, farmer, of Brayton. Accused was seen at Selby in possession of the fowls, and he ultimately admitted to the police that he had stolen them from Mr Adams' farm. Superintendent Stafford said that the accused had formerly been in the Army, but since he left the service he had been a source of great trouble to his mother and sister who lived in Warwickshire. The man was now tramping about the country, and there was a previous conviction against him for larceny. The magistrates committed accused to prison for three months.

OULTON DISTRICT EDUCATION COMMITTEE

NO DISTRESS REPORTED.

The monthly meeting of the Oulton Education Committee was held at the Y.M.C.A. Buildings, Albion Place, Leeds, on Tuesday night, Mr G. M. Abbey (Chairman) presiding. Others present were Messrs B. Wood Higgins, J. H. Tomlinson, J. P. Allison, H. E. Catton, and S. H. Young, with the Clerk (Mr H. W. Powell).

The attendance returns for August were considered satisfactory. The average attendance for the whole district was 83.75 as compared with 79.21 for the same period last year. The returns for the various schools were as follows:—Woodlesford Council (mixed), 91.34 as against 84.44 last year; Woodlesford Council (infants), 86.82 as against 77.21; Oulton St. John's Church (mixed) 84, Oulton St. John's (infants), 87.43; Halton Council School (mixed), 84.26 as against 76.76; Halton Council School (infants), 91.45 as against 72.80; and Colton Council School (mixed) 81.36 as against 72.3.

The attendance at the Woodlesford Infants' School was affected by chicken-pox, and that at Hilton Infants' by whooping-cough and measles.

Mr Higgins reported on his inspection of Mr Parkin's house at Woodlesford with regard to a suggested alteration, and it was decided to forward the recommendation to the West Riding County Council.

With regard to the feeding of the school children, the Clerk said he had sent out circulars to each of the headteachers at the schools in the district asking them to let him know when any hearing of any distress that might arise. So far he had heard of no cases of any distress.

A letter was read from Mr W. B. Pindar, the Clerk to the Hunslet Rural District Council, asking the committee to nominate two representatives as members of the Distress Committee which has been formed for the Hunslet Rural District, and Messrs G. M. Abbey and B. Wood Higgins were appointed.

FOOTBALLERS AND THE WAR.

Football in relation to the war was discussed at Tuesday night's meeting of the Council of the West Riding County Football Association. The President (Mr J. Conner) remarked that a large number of their players had already joined the colours. There were certain cases where all the players of a club had joined, and where clubs had had to be disbanded on this account.

It was proposed, continued the President, to institute a roll of honour for those players and officials who had enlisted, and this would be kept as a permanent record. The various associations must be prepared to lose something, but they knew that they were doing some good for the nation.

Mr C. H. J. Marsden (Bradford City) expressed the opinion that an injustice had been done to professional clubs by the new List that appeared in the Press. These clubs had great liabilities, and if it was decided to stop football they should be exempted from the new List first. He did not think it was the wish of the Government that football should stop, as they knew it would mean that numbers of men—who were not able to go to the front—were having football matches to go to, would have nothing to do but hang about the streets, and several their fame in public-houses, and would perhaps take more drink than they ought to.

It was decided to institute a roll of honour, on the lines mentioned by the President.

A proposal by Mr H. Dyson, that steps be taken to register the Association as a limited liability company, or in some other way to insure the members of the Council against any individual monetary liability, was deferred for a month.

A ROUNDHAY MAN WHO WAS REJECTED

A correspondent—F. H., of Roundhay—writes:—As a disappointed slacker, active, and in good health, who has been rejected for the Regular Army and who has been informed that it is useless his attempting to pass the "P.U." Medical, simply because he has artificial teeth, I beg to submit that is is high time that something was done to have this arbitrary restriction modified.

By doctor's say that if you break your plate or lose your teeth while on active service you are helpless. In fact, one doctor I was worrying upon the subject actually said that you might lose your teeth while suffering from mal de mer when crossing the Channel to the front.

Without dilating upon the obvious fact that a man who smashes the trigger finger and sprains his ankle is also helpless, I say that the doctors forget that a man who has false teeth is portion fully exempt with them, and can still fight with his fingers or on his ankles. Personally, if I had been fortunate enough to be chosen for active service, I should have had with me a metal box packed upon the top of my kit, and in case of needing I should have placed my teeth in this box, put it next my heart—thereby possibly stopping a bullet with the box—and only put the teeth back in the mouth when it came to "dog biscuit" time.

I know personally three likely chaps in like case to myself—and there must be thousands of the population of the country similarly placed, largely because of their false teeth. What is the objection to allowing a man with false teeth to join the Regular Army, and after Battle Training him, and if he shows promise of making a good soldier, equipping him with a reserve set of false teeth at cost price, and leaving it to his commonsense not to bite enough nor to bite or break them. As it is, there must be thousands of young chaps, healthier than those with defective teeth, positively wasted because they have had the misfortune to be born of a sadderly quality—for their health's sake, to go through the disagreeable ordeal of having defective teeth replaced by better ones.

The children attending Hambleton School have sent 15s. (first week's subscription), to the Belgian Relief Fund.

FOR THE SOLDIERS.—Garments have been sent from Aberford for the wounded soldiers. In response to an offer by Mrs Lund, of Beech Hall, that she would provide material if the women of the village would make the garments, 20 garments have been made—84 night shirts, 88 nightingales, and 28 day shirts. With each night shirt was a pocket handkerchief given by Mrs Shepherd-Walwyn.

SWIMMING GALA.—There was a large attendance at the Selby Public Baths at the annual swimming gala. The proceeds were devoted to the Prince of Wales' National Relief Fund. The 50 yards handicap for members of Selby Amateur Swimming Club was won by Fred Firth (scratch), the second prize going to R. Watson (scratch), and the third to C. Stripe (six seconds start). The object diving competition was a good event, which created much interest. G. W. Greatorex proved the winner, while H. Everatt was second, and G. Pollard third. The comic event was won by J. Palmer. A polo match was played between Selby and Castleford, but it proved very one-sided, the home team being winners by 7 goals to 1.

AMUSEMENTS.

LEEDS EMPIRE PALACE.

At the Empire Palace this week the bill is headed by Edmund Gwenn and Hilda Trevelyan, who appear in J. M. Barrie's one-act play, "The Twelve-Pound Look." The acting of Miss Trevelyan as "Kate" proves much to the delight of the audience. It is, indeed, one of the cleverest performances that has been seen at this house for a long time. Kitty Godfrey is a dainty comedienne, her songs and dances proving highly popular. An amusing comedy duologue, "The Perfect Woman," is presented by Pip Powell and Kate Vere, and others appearing are Syd Walker, comedian; Wyott, the conversational juggler; Arthur Ferriss, in song studies; Alfred H. West, "patrol pianist"; and Woodhouse and Wells, comedians. The war pictures are, as usual, very attractive.

"Keep Smiling," direct from the Alhambra Theatre, London, has been secured by Mr Frank Allen for next week at the Empire Theatre, Leeds. The production, easily the biggest revue engr attempted twice nightly, will be presented by a magnificent company of London artistes and a small army of auxiliaries, the latter being mainly engaged in the intricate evolutions on the Great White Staircase, a feature which will probably become as popular on its introduction to Leeds as it did in London. Miss Daisy Dormer contributes a bright vocal number, supported by a male quartette; Miss Jenny Hartley sings and dances with attractive piquancy, whilst boisterous comedy is provided by the comedy tumblers, Niagara and Falls. The latest war news and pictures on the bioscope will complete the programme.

LEEDS HIPPODROME

At the Hippodrome this week David Dunant gives the principal turn, and his show occupies nearly an hour. One is bewildered with the rapidity with which illusion follows illusion. Two of his latest (and best) deserve mention. A German spy is found on a genuine motor-cycle, decoyed into a hut, and Mr Devant, with his "fluence," makes the motor-cycle, man, and noise disappear entirely. The other is very cleverly conceived postal illusion. Fred Barnes had to sing four songs on Monday night before the audience would let him go, including his famous one "The black sheep of the family." F. V. St. Clair, who is always topical, sings a rousing patriotic chorus song, "Follow the Drum," and sells copies of it for the local funds. Josie Delaine has a couple of good songs, and the others appearing are the Four Curtises, step dancers, and the De Wynne Brothers, "sang-frudl" athletes.

Next week at the Hippodrome the principal turns will be given by Florence Wray, in "A Lucky Miss," Heydn Wood and Co., Ferguson and Mack, and Du Calfon.

FOOTBALL FIXTURES FOR SATURDAY.

LEEDS SENIOR LEAGUE

New Worthy Gas Works v. Waterloo Main
Rothwell Parish Church v. Thornhill Lees Albion.	Mr. S. Fisher.
Mirfield United v. Allerton Bywater.	Mr W. Lofthouse.
Clarence I and S. Works. v. Rothwell W.R.	Mr. H. W. Ledger.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT JUNIOR LEAGUE

Oulton St. John's v. East Ardsley G.N.R. Mr H. Fitzpatrick.
Rothwell White Rose R. v. Allerton Bywater Inst.	Mr H. Milburn.
Kippax Woodville v. Bowers Allerton.	Mr. A. Blackburn.
Methley Perseverance R. v. East End Athletic	Mr R. H. Stead.
Swarcliffe United v. Holbeck White Rose.	Mr A. Holmes.

LEEDS CHURCH LEAGUE

Whitkirk St. Mary's v. St. Aidan's.	Mr J. Walker.

Mrs E. Oldham, of Barwick, has sent £1 to the Belgium Relief Fund.

A collection at Healaugh Church for the West Riding Distress Fund realised £12 2s. 10d.

Barwick School had the second best attendance in the schools in Garforth district last month with a percentage of 93.17 against 93.93 for the previous August.

HIS MISTAKE.—On Wednesday at Knaresborough John Cuthbert, ironmonger's assistant, Harrogate, was fined 2s. and costs, 8s. 6d., for fishing in the river Ure at Aldborough Park, without having previously obtained a license. It was stated that the defendant was seen fishing for trout with a rod and line. Defendant admitted he had no license, and said he had taken one out before.

LORD HAWKE AND A CRICKETERS' CORPS.—Lord Hawke has written:—The Yorkshire County Cricket Club has been asked to do all in its power to help the formation of a Cricketers' Corps, which has now received the sanction of Lord Kitchener. Drums, Ear Cornets or other mechanical or powerful appliances. Another advantage appertaining to this dispensary is its system of treatment by correspondence, by which sufferers at long distances, and in isolated positions can have the advantage of Mr ISON'S advice and remedies forwarded through the post. No case is undertaken unless there be a reasonable hope of cure or benefit to the patient.

Attendance at Leeds every Tuesday, from 10 to 7 On Alternate Saturdays, Sept. 19 and Oct. 3. Hours 10 to 5. Other days by appointment.

TREATMENT WITHOUT OPERATION.

ARTIFICIAL HUMAN EYES fitted from 15s.

SPECTACLES and EYE PRESERVERS, 3/6 to 10/6. Gold Frames from 20s.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—There are many cases of failing eyesight which can be speedily remedied by mild local treatment, thus dispensing with the use of glasses.

Gent's. 9ct. & 18ct. Bangle Rings

Large Assortment always in Stock at

J. WINTERHALDER'S,

Watchmaker, Jeweller, & Optician,

13, New York Street, LEEDS

(Opposite the Yorkshire Penny Bank, Kirkgate).

Repairs of all kinds a Speciality.

CATTLE STRAYING.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Elizabeth Ann Barker, a farmer, living at Headingley, was summoned for allowing eighteen head of cattle to stray on the highway at Adel, and was fined 10s. and costs. P.C. Askham proved the case.

FAMOUS HOUSE FOR

ENGAGEMENT RINGS

£1/1/ £3/3/ £5/5/ £10/10/

to £100 each.

SEE WINDOWS

Diamonds

BEST SELECTION IN THE COUNTY.

Dyson's

50 YEARS.

24-25-26 BRIGGATE. LEEDS.

(25 DOORS FROM BOND STREET)

Watches

10/6 TO 50 GUINEAS.

THE ROUGHWEAR 15/-

THE UNIVERSITY 30/-

OLD WATCHES & JEWELLERY TAKEN IN EXCHANGE.

RELIABLE HOUSE FOR REPAIRS.

Russell & Russell, Ltd.

(Late A. C. WAINSTALL),

Complete House Furnishers and Piano Dealers,

201-3-5, North Street, LEEDS.

ILLUSTRATED BOOKLET and Easy Payment Terms sent on receipt of postcard.

JOHN TEALE,

Advertising Contractor & Billposter,

WHITE HOUSE, GARFORTH.

Bills posted and Handbills distributed on the shortest notice throughout the Barkston Ash Division on most reasonable terms.

EDMUND BOGG,

3, Woodhouse Lane, Leeds.

Is the best shop for

PICTURE FRAMING, RE-GILDING, AND ARTISTS' MATERIALS.

Large Stock of Engravings & Etchings on Sale.

ESTABLISHED 1871

Ison's Eye & Ear Dispensary

LIMITED.

71, GREAT GEORGE ST., LEEDS

MR. THOS. ISON,

OCULIST and AURIST.

THIS INSTITUTION WAS ESTABLISHED in 1871. The system of working is the provident one, each patient paying a small periodical fee while under treatment, and they may, therefore, justly expect to receive the prompt care and attention which in many instances in charitable institutions is too often omitted. The treatment is of a mild and safe character, without operation or the use of Ear Drums, Ear Cornets or other mechanical or painful appliances. Another advantage appertaining to this dispensary is its system of treatment by correspondence, by which sufferers at long distances, and in isolated positions can have the advantage of Mr ISON'S advice and remedies forwarded through the post. No case is undertaken unless there be a reasonable hope of cure or benefit to the patient.

Attendance at Leeds every Tuesday, from 10 to 7 On Alternate Saturdays, Sept. 19 and Oct. 3.

Hours 10 to 5. Other days by appointment.

TREATMENT WITHOUT OPERATION.

ARTIFICIAL HUMAN EYES fitted from 15s.

SPECTACLES and EYE PRESERVERS, 3/6 to 10/6. Gold Frames from 20s.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—There are many cases of failing eyesight which can be speedily remedied by mild local treatment, thus dispensing with the use of glasses.

RECRUITING IN BARKSTON ASH.

CONSERVATIVES AND LIBERALS HOLD JOINT MEETINGS.

GATHERINGS AT SELBY.

The recruiting campaign arranged by the Conservative and Liberal parties in Barkston Ash was opened at Selby on Monday, and the principal speakers were Sir Lake White, M.P. (Liberal), and Mr J. G. Butcher, K.C., M.P. (Conservative).

In the afternoon there was a meeting of the workers at the shipyard of Messrs Cochrane and Sons, where both Mr Butcher and Sir Lake White delivered rousing addresses. Mr A. Cochrane, jun., presided. From the shipyard over 700 employes, out of a total of 750, have joined the Forces since the commencement of the war. The Chairman announced that his own body-guard, and was startling for orders to be received to his regiment. The contributions which the shipyard employes make to the Prince of Wales's Fund amount to over £200 weekly.

In the afternoon a meeting was held in Selby Market Place—Col. Hawdon presiding—and addresses were delivered by Sir Lake White and Mr Butcher. Upon the proposition of Mr Martin Harvey (President of the Barkston Ash Liberal Association), seconded by Mr R. Lodge, (Conservative agent), a vote of thanks was awarded to the speakers, and the proceedings concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

Major Broome, of the York War Office, who was present, took the names of a number of men who offered themselves for enlistment.

At the evening meeting there was a crowded audience in the Museum Hall, and Mr. Marc Sorn, J.P., presided. He was supported by Sir L. White, Mr Butcher, Mr E. H. Foster (Liberal candidate for the Division), Col. Hawdon, local clergy, and ministers, etc.

The Chairman said that in Selby they had not been idle in the matter of recruiting. The magistrates had formed themselves into a kind of committee of recruiting sergeants. In Selby over 200 recruits had been obtained, while in the neighbouring villages about 80 had come forward. That went for not much. (Applause). There was one point which he wished to mention, and that was the difficulty in which farmers found themselves. If they parted with their men, whom would they have to put in their place? They could not take any man from the streets to work the land.

Sir Lake White, M.P., who was warmly cheered, moved the following resolution:—

That this meeting of the people of Selby profoundly believing that we are fighting in a just cause for the vindication of the rights of small States and the public law of Europe, pledges itself unswervingly to support the Prime Ministers appeal to the nation, and all measures necessary for the prosecution of the war to a victorious conclusion, whereby a long and lasting peace can be assured.

"We are all one upon this cause," remarked Sir Lake. "We are all one in the House of Commons. (Applause). We are all one in the nation itself, and at one all one in the Empire of which we form a part." The speaker proceeded to emphasise the efforts made to maintain the peace of Europe, declaring: "Sir Edward Grey did his utmost. Along with the King and the President he did all night and all day to avoid our taking part, if possible, in this war. They failed to prevent war, and they did right to decide as they did when it came to a question of giving way or not to Germany. If we had given way I do not think we could as a nation have looked forward to having the reputation which the nation has held up to the present time, and honour was at stake; our duty was at stake; and Sir Edward Grey and the whole of the Government and the House of Commons recognised that they were bound in honour to support the nation in withstanding the threats of Germany." The speaker paid a high tribute to Belgium, and referred to her suffering and sacrifices—the burning of her towns and villages, the killing of her old men, her women, and her children, and the destruction of her monuments, the glory of the Belgians and the admired of all the world. For these acts Germany would be held up to execration as a barbarous nation; she had done deeds at which barbarians even would have been shocked. (Applause). It would be a sorry day for this country, and for all the small States of Europe, if Germany should prove victorious, but the nation and the empire were united in one Gargantuan fight until Germany had been brought to her knees. (Renewed applause). He hoped the day was not far distant when the armies of the Allies would enter Berlin, and compel Germany to make full recompense for the lives she had destroyed, and for the villages and towns she had burned to ashes. The Allies must require Germany to recompense Belgium for the loss she had sustained, and, further, must insist that in that neither in regard to her navy nor her army should Germany occupy the same position as she did prior to the war. (Applause). Germany must cease to be a menace to Europe, and, moreover, Sir Lake impressed upon the meeting the necessity for raising the additional 500,000 men who were now asked for by Lord Kitchener. If, he pointed out, at the end of the war, at the most decisive moment comes, we have this new army, we shall be able to dictate better terms than if Belgium still held the bulk of troops. He appealed, therefore, to the young men to give their services to their country, and to everyone else to give their money and their sympathy. (Applause).

Mr J. G. Butcher seconded the resolution in an eloquent speech, in the course of which he explained why the Empire was at war. "We are fighting," he said, "for the most righteous cause which ever inspired the determination of a free people. We are fighting because we are true to our plighted word to Belgium. Had we broken our plighted word we should have degraded ourselves, we should have incurred the contempt of mankind, we should not have had a friend in the whole world. How does Germany regard this Treaty? She says it is a mere scrap of paper. Any poor, true, the Ten Commandments are a scrap of paper. To us it means our honour, to Belgium her independence, and to France and Russia the defence of the public law of Europe. We are fighting to see that barbarism does not triumph over civilisation, and that democratic rule is not subdued by military despotism. We are at war to see that honour and justice are not trampled in the dust by an overwhelming and unreasoning brutality. We are at war to maintain our national independence." (Applause). Had England given in to the demands of those who urged her to remain neutral we should have been hounded before the tribunal of the cowards and traitors, and have met the fate which justly befalls cowards and traitors. He was proud to be associated with Sir Lake White on that platform. (Applause). In regard to the war the House of Commons—Conservative, Liberal, and Labour—was united and unanimous in the resolve to see the business through. As at home, so with the Empire. No greater tribute was ever paid to British rule than the way in which the Indians—of different race, blood, and faith—had shown their determination to stand with the Motherland for justice and right in this present great struggle.

Germany, despite her "culture," her music, her art, and her literature, had degraded herself to the lowest depths into which any barbaric Power ever entered. (Loud applause). She had violated every law of God and man; she had outraged every practice of civilised warfare; she had murdered unarmed men, and ravished and pillaged; she had spared neither the shrines of God nor the homes of man in the ruthless attempt at domination and dominion. She had won the sea with deadly mines, with the result that neutral ships had been sunk; she had not hesitated to drop bombs from the air on the defenceless homes of the people. Her troops had gone on the field of battle and massacred the wounded soldiers. "Crimes such as these," exclaimed the speaker, "cry aloud to Heaven for vengeance!" (Loud applause).

The resolution was carried with great enthusiasm.

Mr E. H. Foster moved a vote of thanks to the speakers in an interesting address, and Mr H. Cornell seconded the resolution, which was carried with enthusiasm.

MEETING AT GARFORTH.

SPEECHES BY MR R. H. BARRAN, M.P., AND MR E. H. FOSTER.

ABOUT 200 RECRUITS FROM GARFORTH.

At the meeting at Garforth on Tuesday night the Parochial Sea of Garforth presided. Mr J. W. Dobson (Chairman of the Garforth Urban Council) presided, and others present were Mr Rowland H. Barran, M.P. (Leeds), Mr E. H. Foster, J.P. (prospective Liberal candidate for Barkston Ash), County Councillor Dewhirst (Whinmoor Lodge), Mr E. Parkin, J.P. (Kippax), Mr F. W. Sutcliffe (Crossgates), Mr Richard Lodge (Conservative agent), Mr Sam Mr R. G. Meanwood (Leeds), etc. Mr J. Shannon, York (Liberal Unionist Association) was unable, owing to having missed his train, to be present.

The Chairman said that there was no political party in the country to-day; they were a united people. In this glorious work they had a recruiting meeting at Garforth, and twenty young men enlisted, and since then about 200 had gone forward. The miners of Garforth had done exceedingly well. About a hundred had gone from the colliery, and, in addition, a great many had gone from the district, and he might safely say that the total number who had gone was nearer two hundred than a thousand. (Applause). Britain, he said, must beat the Germans, and if it did not do so there would be trouble again in a few years. They had also their commerce to think of, and in Garforth they were suffering nothing in a line of business, local or otherwise, which they usually did trade were closed, and Germany had also captured a number of their customers, that being one reason why the pits had been working short time during the last few months.

Mr Rowland Barran, M.P., in proposing a resolution similar to that submitted at the Selby meeting, said that he wanted them to look at the war from the three standpoints—of honour, safety, and national prosperity. In regard to honour, they had had a reply from all parts of the Empire that the war had taken place, right, honourable course, and from all parts of the world expressions of admiration at the course adopted by England had come. (Applause). In regard to safety, the armament safety of nations they were fighting against cruel and brutal military despotism, and to understand the position they must look at what Germans had done in the past. Go back to the time of the France-Prussian War, when the victorious troops held Paris, and the King of Prussia was declared Emperor of Germany, the small German States came willingly or were forced to come into the German Federation. Since then they had been sold to German statesmen, diplomats, and soldiers that some of Germany's wife's dowry. The Germans had devastated Belgium. Why? Not only because they wanted to reach France, but because, if the war was successful, intended to crush Belgium, Holland, which they had diplomatically threatened. How would that affect England. After the had beaten France, and after Belgium, Austria had defeated Russia, they intended to annex Belgium and Holland, so that they could hold the whole of the coast line from Dunkirk to Calais. With the resources of the great ports at their disposal they would have built a fleet in a few years which might have equalled, or exceeded, that of Britain. What would have been the position of this country then? Germany had asked England to remain neutral, and they would only take the French coast-line. Why? It was evident that their next move would have been on England, and what had taken place in Belgium would have taken place here. England, however, struck when her honour was at stake, and it was necessary fight for their honour and self-preservation that they should have done so. (Applause). What did a military despotism mean? If there was one in England officials like the Lord Mayor and Sheriff of Leeds would not be elected, but would be nominated by the Government, and the Government would be entirely ruled by military. They were out to smash that system of government in Europe. (Applause). The free institutions of this country were the inheritance of centuries that had been published at ports. They delegated over small details, and probably both parties attributed too much weight to these details, but the liberties of the people of England were the inheritance of both political parties and of all classes. (Applause). They spelt to them the safety, independence, and prosperity of the country, and when they put the question had an answer to Germany's challenge had been given. From Canada 25,000 men had sailed and had been landed in France or England, thousands of Australians were on their way from Australia, and Boers were engaged in driving the Germans out of West Africa. Then a great Army of Indian troops had come to fight, and what did they come? Because they knew that English rule had been just; they had given them freedom in religion, etc., and ability out even-handed justice, and the whole Empire came forward to fight for the Empire because they desired to remain under the British flag. That was a very striking answer from 50 parts of the Empire, and it was a great satisfaction that they had behind them the good will of the whole civilised world. The war could not be finished early and quickly for the reason that all the people in the nation had for many years felt there should be found some way of reducing the intolerable burden of armaments in Europe—as Russia, the other night, Lord Charles Beresford said that the size of the military must be put a stop to—and they must not stop the war until they were able, with their allies, to dictate their own terms, so that Britain, and other nations should be free from the great burden of the cost of armaments in order that the money might be applied to social advancement. In order to do that they wanted a large army for the next 12 months; they wanted a large army to march through the gates of Berlin. (Applause). He appealed to young men to join the Colours, and he said that his own sons had volunteered for the Front and were going. He urged those strong enough and courageous enough to bear arms to join the Forces and play a part in the campaign which must end in a glorious victory. (Loud applause).

Mr E. H. Foster, in seconding the resolution, said that they had shut down all political work for the present. He was glad to be present on the night of the war—the visitation of the neutrality of Belgium, etc.—and said that there was only one honourable course for the country to pursue. (Applause). He knew that Garforth had done well, but Lord Kitchener, upon whom they must rely in these matters, had advised that in order to bring the war to a victorious end it was necessary to have a second half-million of men. That meant a great call for sacrifice on the young of the country. Referring to rifle clubs, and the letter he wrote in last issue of the "Courier," he said he had had a letter from Garforth asking for information. If they did start a club he advised them to get service rifles. In regard to the response by the Indian Empire to the country's call, he said that they were not worthy to rule that great dependency if they did not show the same spirit. (Applause).

Mr Richard Lodge, in proposing a vote of thanks to the speakers, said that politics were banned, and their only object now was to do what they could to secure the integrity of the Empire and the world. He hoped that in the campaign they had undertaken there would not be a jarring note in connection with any of the meetings. (Hear, hear). Britain had shown the Germans that they meant what they said and they must support the Prime Minister and Lord Kitchener in the object they had in view. He hoped that the Garforth call and land on sea, to come forward and join the Colours.

Mr Dewhirst, in seconding, said that he thought the war was only just beginning. What they had to do was to go to it—fight to the end and keep cool. So far the people of England had remained calm, and he hoped they would do so to the finish.

The resolution was passed, and a similar compliment was paid the Chairman, the meeting terminating with the singing of the National Anthem.

ROUSING MEETING AT WETHERBY.

MR LANE FOX'S MESSAGE.

SPEECHES BY LORD HALIFAX AND MR MIDDLEBROOK, M.P.

Wetherby, which has sent a large number of young men to the front, had a rousing meeting in the Town Hall on Thursday night, people of all shades of political opinion taking part in it. Mr J. S. Charlesworth presided, and, in addition to Lord Halifax and Mr W. Middlebrook, M.P., who presented were the Hon. Mrs. G. R. Lane Fox, Mrs Duncombe, Miss Bower, Mr E. H. Foster, J.P., Mr J. M. Dawson, Mr W. B. Hedgcock, Mr A. Stirling, Mr J. Hall, Mr H. Ellis, Mr J. Pearson, Dr. Hargreaves, Mr W. E. Lowe, Mr S. Stoughton Harris, Mr H. Crossley, Mr J. T. Allan, Mr R. F. Meyrick, and Mr J. Lee.

A telegram was received from Mr G. R. Lane Fox, the Member for the Division (who is on military duty) in the following terms:—"Please convey my best wishes to Wetherby. Hope the meeting will unanimously support the campaign against German brutality, and for the freedom of the British, and will soon send her young men to fight for them and their country." (Cheers).

The Chairman, in opening, pointed out that the war was more or less thrust upon the people, and was delighted that all parties were now combining in showing a united front to the enemy. Germans had been preparing for this war for many years. We, said Mr Charlesworth, "fighting a righteous war, and we are not going to allow these small States, dependent as they are upon our honour, to be taken by Germany." (Applause). The British fleet had come in for the brunt of the battle, and had come out of it gloriously. (Cheers). Waterloo would, in history, be a mere flash in the pan compared with the battle that was fought in the North Sea. Chairman was quite prepared to go if wanted, and thus add another to the ten members of his family now serving.

Viscount Halifax, who was cordially received, said the great duty was imposed upon us of ascertaining who was responsible for the war, who had brought misery and suffering to the people of Europe and then of not shrinking from the issue, however painful the result might be. No one could read the correspondence published without feeling that Germany was responsible for the war to Servia, which was the beginning of the present trouble, was an ultimatum which Austria would not have presented to Servia to accept. It was an ultimatum which had been previously submitted to the authorities in Berlin, and of which the Ambassador at Vienna had appeared to be cognisant. Sir Edward Grey's offer of an ultimatum that Sir Edward Grey, whose efforts in the cause of peace had been unwearied—(cheers)—communicated with the European Powers, asking them to join with him in mediation which might avert the incalculable horrors of war. We had every reason to be grateful that Sir Edward Grey—and he (Lord Halifax) was proud to call him his friend—(cheers)—that he stood up for the honour of England, and did not do that which would have precipitated the country into war without any one to face again. It was a shameful history, and more shameful still that we had it on the witness of Germans themselves that this war had been long prepared for and thought, and that it had all along been inevitable—undertaken for Germany's own aggrandisement.

We had seen, said Lord Halifax, Germany counting upon Russia's difficulties, which she supposed would give her time to crush France. We saw her massing her troops on the French frontier and entering French territory before the public knew that the nation had been violating the neutrality of Belgium, to which she and Austria were as much pledged as England, with the expectation that our own difficulties in Ireland would compel us to keep silence. And what of the conduct of the war itself? He (Lord Halifax) had been unwilling to believe the stories of terrorism attributed to be could not bring himself to think that any nation could so behave. But what were we to say in face of the official documents issued by the English and French Governments, showing the shutting down of mines at Charleroi and the suffocation of miners to prevent them coming up to fight, the placing of Belgian women and children in the front of German troops, the sacking of Louvain, the burning of Dinant, and the desecration of other towns to cover mistakes made by the German soldiers?

This war, said Lord Halifax, had got to be fought out to the finish. We must not sheath the sword until Germany had been made to pay for her conduct, until the provinces torn from France had been restored; until Europe had been delivered from the menace and burden of aggression. (Cheers). The German Emperor might talk of "our contemptible little Army"—(laughter)—he might cast away his British uniforms; he might call his infamous Berlin regiment the Hon. E. L. Wood (Lord Halifax's son), but both volunteered for foreign service.

Votes of thanks to the speakers were proposed by Mr E. H. Foster (the prospective Liberal candidate for the Barkston Ash Division), seconded by Dr. Hargreaves, and passed.

LORD HAREWOOD AND THE GERMANS.

"WE MUST BEAT THEM BOTH ON LAND AND SEA."

HON. E. L. WOOD, M.P., AND NATIONAL SERVICE.

Addressing a meeting at Harrogate on Friday night the Earl of Harewood said that for some days he thought he had seen that not had set in among a portion of the German Army, and he hoped the rot would not extend that before the time came to fight a bitter pitched battle we should have less difficulty in making them retire than they had in making our forces retire. We must beat the Germans both on land and on sea. (A Voice: "They won't come out!") We must force them out. (Cheers.) We were fighting with our backs to the wall for all that we held dear, fighting for our very existence as a nation, and we were helping the French because they were in the same boat as ourselves. (Hear, hear) After the way in which they had treated the Belgians he did not hesitate to say that we were confronted by a nation of savages—(hear, hear) —armed with the most scientific appliances of modern warfare. His Lordship mentioned that he had received a letter from a brother in Dorsetshire who had seen a number of Belgian refugees—they were non-combatants—and there was hardly one of those who had not been cut and mutilated by German soldiers. (Cries of "Shame!") "That," added his Lordship, "is what we have to expect if we let them get over here." (We propose to keep them there, mire-laying in the open sea, he said he had never been able to understand why the Admiralty did not issue a notification that those who were within a mile-and-a-half of the towns would be treated as pirates and be strung up to the yard-arm or whatever stood in the place of it. (Cheers).

Touching for a moment on recruiting, Lord Harewood said: "I am glad to be able to tell you that the West Riding is doing very well, not perhaps quite as well as the South of England, but still very well." (Hear, hear). Leeds has been splendid, and other large towns in the West Riding are waking up to a sense of their danger and to the necessity of raising every man possible at this juncture, and of training them as best we can to go to the front as soon as possible. (Cheers).

In the position I hold (he said) I think it my duty to allude to the difficulties which exists in our midst. It is common knowledge that there is still a very large number of Germans among us (A voice: "Kick them out!"). In my humble opinion the time has arrived when the Government ought to do. (Hear, hear.) Germans and Austrians, man and woman, ought to have been turned out of this country the instant the war began, and those who were allowed to remain, and who service in their own country—a pretty wide margin in German—should have been interned or imprisoned. It is perhaps not my place to find fault with our rulers, but the Government ought to attend to this matter, but this I know, that when these undesirable aliens are arrested they are let out by the Home Secretary on certain terms within a month or two, and they are then free to go and do their dirty like men, they should present them with the "Order of the White Feather."—Yours, etc.,

PRO PATRIA.

Whitkirk, September 15th, 1914.

END OF THE AUSTRIAN EMPIRE.

WHAT RUSSIA WILL DO.

With its united strength Austria is, from a military point of view, a mere scarecrow (says a writer). The disaffection of the Austrian Slavs is simply appalling. Before we are out of possession of the actual facts, we strongly suspect that every Czech, Pole, Slovak, Slovene, and Croat now serving in Austria's hosts is ready to throw down his rifle at the first available opportunity. The extensive spreads to the Austrian navy, which is mostly manned by the further progress of the Russian Army in Austria to afford further confirmation in the same direction. Russian Poland will doubtless be filled with Galicia. If successful in the war Russia will certainly annex the whole of Galicia, and the Bukowina, thus all Austria behind the Carpathians. The Polish party, including the greater part of Galicia, would be incorporated in new Poland. The remainder, which is mostly inhabited by Ruthenians, would be joined to little Russia.

When I was in Galicia some years ago, feeling amongst the Poles was very bitter against Russia. One could well understand it from the social consciousness of the Polish people from the manner in which the Austrian Poles, themselves ruled by Austrians and Germans, had been treated by the Government, sympathised with the Poles in Prussia, the aid of a stick, and I scarcely dare put my foot who, like the latter, the Russian Pole has enjoyed neither.

There is going to be a vast upheaval there when this war is finished. Pressing, and all important for us just now, as is the issue in the western field of war, the alteration of political frontiers in the west will be but slight. In the east states are going to arise. Austria-Hungary is going to be forbidden. In pieces, and Galicia will be one of the problems that will be before the diplomatists who have to decide the matter. Galicia is mostly Polish, but in the south it is largely Ruthenian. Now, the Pole is a Slav, and a strong dislike exists between the Russian, he hates the Prussian, but even still more does he hate the Ruthenian; and the latter returns the sentiment with interest. The animosity between the Pole and Ruthenian, both of whom are Slavs, is the startling negation of the idea of Slavonic brotherhood.

The Slavic family is not a happy family to-day, though temporarily united at present in hostility to the Germans. Holy Russia may pulse the kind father to them all at the present moment, but it will certainly be with mixed feelings that the Austrian Pole will welcome the conquest of Galicia by the armies of the Tsar. One imagines that the Russian Army, and Bohemians (Czechs) and Poles, as ready to lay down their arms to-day. No other is possible, especially when one thinks of the collapse of the Austrian army. Their attitude arises from their strong anti-German feeling, a feeling deeper than ours, for it is racial and fundamental. Neither of them care for the Russians, but, on the other hand, there is in both Bohemia and Poland a strong sympathy for Russia and England, and this may largely affect their attitude.

TIME TABLE FOR SEPTEMBER.

LEEDS, CROSSGATES, GARFORTH, KIPPAX, & MICKLEFIELD.

	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m		a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m
Leeds	4 54	5 7	6 30	6 35	6 50	8	0	8 15	8 30	9 13	9 50	10 15	10 35	10 35
Marsh Lane		5 11	6 33	6 38	6 53	8	3	8 18	.....	9 16	9 53	10 18	10 38	10 38
Crossgates	e	5 20	6 42	6 46	7 1	8	11	8 26	.....	9 25	10 2	10 32	10 36	10 46
Garforth		5 27		6 53	7 8			8 33	8 43			10 38	10 43	10 52
Kippax					7 13			8 38
Micklefield		5 38			7 22			8 49				10 45	10 49

	Y				A
Leeds	11 15	12 10	12 26	12 49	1	7	1 45	1 38	1 50	3 30	3 50	4	4 23	4 39
Marsh Lane	11 18	12 13	12 29	12 43	1	10	1 48	1 41	1 53	3 13	3 33	4	3 4 26	4 42
Crossgates	11 26	12 21	12 37	12 51	1	18	1 40	1 49	2	3 21	3 41	4	11 4 34	4 46
Garforth		12 28	12 44	12 59	1	25	.....	1 55	2	3 28	3 48	4	41 4 41
Kippax		12 35			1	32	.....			3 35			4 47
Micklefield

							Y
Leeds									3 54		4	47
Marsh Lane											4	50
Crossgates											4	58
Garforth											5	5
Kippax
Micklefield

	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Leeds	5 0	5 30	5 43	6 8	6 35	7	2	7 15	7 35	8 0	8 30	9 30
Marsh Lane		5 33	5 46	6 11	6 38	7	5	7 18	7 38	8 3	8 33	9 33
Crossgates	5 8	5 42	5 54	6 19	6 46	7	13	7 27	7 46	8 11	8 32	8 45
Garforth	5 14		6 1	6 26	6 53	7	20			8 18		9 52
Kippax				6 33
Micklefield	5 20		6	6 39		7	59			8 24		9 26

	C		B	A		C
Leeds	9 28	9 50	9 55	10 30	10 30	10 58	11 10
Marsh Lane	9 32	9 54	9 58	10 33	10 34	11 1	11 13
Crossgates	9 40	10 2	10 7	10 41	10 42	11 10	11 21
Garforth	9 48	10 8		10 48	10 50		11 28
Kippax	9 58				11 0		12 0
Micklefield	10 14			10 54			11 34

SUNDAYS.

	a.m	a.m	a.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Leeds	8	30	9	15	6	47	9	0	9	47	10	45
Marsh Lane	7	57	9	4	6	51	9	3	9	50	10	48
Crossgates	8	5	9	12	6	59	9	11	9	58	10	56
Garforth	8	12	9	19	7	6	9	18	10	5	11	3
Micklefield	8	18			7	15	9	25	10	12

MICKLEFIELD, KIPPAX, GARFORTH, CROSSGATES, & LEEDS.

	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	a.m	A	A	A	Y
Micklefield			6	7	8	16			8 50
Kippax					7	50
Garforth							8	10
Crossgates	5	16	6	16	7	17		7	57		8	56
Marsh Lane	5	23	6	23	7	23	7	28	8	3	8	17
Leeds	5	33	6	32	7	32	7	37	8	14	8	26
	5	35	6	35	7	34	7	40	8	16	8	29

	Y		A		A		A		A		A	Y
Micklefield			11	44	11	52			1	14	2	4
Kippax
Garforth	11	3			11	52	11	58			1	20
Crossgates	11	11	11	35	11	59	12	06	12	27	1	27
Marsh Lane	11	16	11	44	12	13	12	14	1	5	1	36
Leeds	11	19	11	46	12	9	12	17	1	8	1	39

	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Micklefield	3	33	4	15		5	11			5	57
Kippax							5	17			6
Garforth	3	39	4	21		5	19	5	25		6	4
Crossgates	3	46	4	28	4	41		5	31	5	37	6
Marsh Lane	3	54	4	36	4	51		5	39	5	46	6
Leeds	3	57	4	39	4	54	5	34	5	42	5	49

	C	Y	B
Micklefield
Kippax
Garforth
Crossgates	10	42
Marsh Lane	10	50
Leeds	10	53	11	10

SUNDAYS.

	a.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Micklefield	8	47	6	1	7
Garforth	8	53	6	8	7
Crossgates	9	0	6	15	7
Marsh Lane	9	9	6	23	7
Leeds	9	12	6	26	7

	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Micklefield		8	56		9	38
Kippax
Garforth		9	2		9	44
Crossgates		9	10		9	50
Marsh Lane	8	50	9	18	9	47
Leeds	8	53	9	21	9	50

	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Micklefield					11
Kippax
Garforth					11	40
Crossgates					11	50
Marsh Lane					11	55
Leeds					11	58

	a.m	a.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Micklefield	8	47	6	1	7
Garforth	8	53	6	8	7
Crossgates	9	0	6	15	7
Marsh Lane	9	9	6	23	7
Leeds	9	12	6	26	7

	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Micklefield		8	56		9	38
Kippax
Garforth		9	2		9	44
Crossgates		9	10		9	50
Marsh Lane	8	50	9	18	9	47
Leeds	8	53	9	21	9	50

	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Micklefield					11
Kippax
Garforth					11	40
Crossgates					11	50
Marsh Lane					11	55
Leeds					11	58

	a.m	a.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Micklefield	8	47	6	1	7
Garforth	8	53	6	8	7
Crossgates	9	0	6	15	7
Marsh Lane	9	9	6	23	7
Leeds	9	12	6	26	7

	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m	p.m
Micklefield		8	56		9	38
Kippax
Garforth		9	2		9	44
Crossgates		9	10		9	50
Marsh Lane	8	50	9	18	9	47
Leeds	8	53	9	21	9	50

[ALL RIGHTS RESTAVED.]

THE DOUBLE CHANCE.

By J. S. FLETCHER

Author of "The Threshing Floor," "When Charles I. Was King," "Daniel Quayne," "The Pinfold," &c.

CHAPTER XVII.

The two police officials watched Marshall Stead carefully as the inspector Cortelyon uttered the word which signified so much, each, in his separate fashion, was wondering how the cashier would take the news. Illingworth, having had but a limited experience, and not being over imaginative, was full of curiosity. The man from Scotland Yard had seen too much of life, as it related to his own profession, to attach much importance to the first signs shown by a man suddenly charged with a serious crime, but on this occasion he watched the effect of his announcement with keen like eye. He was prepared to see anything.

But the two watchers did see was first a blank stare of utter astonishment and next a rapidly-increasing look of incredulous wonder which overspread Marshall Stead's face. He looked from one to the other, as if he could not comprehend the meaning of what Inspector Cortelyon had said; then he smiled, as if some joke or trick were being played upon him.

"You don't mean that!" he said.

Inspector Cortelyon regarded him steadily. "I said exactly what is meant, Mr. Stead," he replied. "We didn't deal with these things in a joking spirit."

"But this is nonsense! exclaimed the cashier. "Utter nonsense! I suppose you've got some definite charge against me?"

"I'll be utter nonsense if we hadn't," replied the detective. "We not only have a definite charge but a definite warrant—you'd better charge him," he continued, turning to Illingworth, who immediately produced a document from a drawer. "Sit down, Mr. Stead—there's no need to stand."

The inspector himself sat down, and, producing his cigar-case, began to smoke, apparently forgetting all others, seeming to do so, observed that the chair which his visitor dropped into was between the door and himself. And he knew that he was as safely trapped as if he were locked up in the big safe at the office.

Illingworth, solemn and stolid, gave the prisoner the usual warning, and read over the charge. It was not a lengthy one, and the terms were plain and simple—perhaps too much so to the man who listened to them. Set at large charged with forging a cheque for seven hundred and fifty pounds, purporting to be drawn by Sir Robert Mannerley, and with converting the proceeds to his own use. The date of the transaction was about ten days before the murder.

Inspector Cortelyon watched the accused man's face very closely while Illingworth's monotonous tones were heard. He saw a subtle, almost indefinable change come over it, and for one brief moment he caught a flash of genuine surprise in Stead's eyes. And the man from Scotland Yard said to himself: "He's surprised at the 'forging,' but he's not frightened, and, by Heaven, he's guilty!"

Stead coughed slightly as Illingworth came to an end. He had taken a cigar from Inspector Cortelyon's invitation, but he now rose and began slowly but with steady fingers, to button his light overcoat.

"Of course, that's all nonsense!" he said. "Well, I suppose I shall have to appear before the magistrates?"

"And without doubt before a judge," replied Inspector Cortelyon, dryly.

Stead pulled the last button into place, and moved a step towards the door. "Very well," he said, "I'll be there whenever you want me, then."

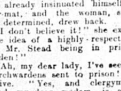
Inspector Cortelyon, without moving from his chair, smiled sardonically. "I don't know whether you think you're trying to bluff us or whether you're genuinely simple, Mr. Stead," he remarked. "Don't you understand that you're a prisoner?"

Stead looked from one to the other, and changed colour. "That I—that I am to be detained!" he asked.

"Certainly! You are going to be locked up, after you have been searched," answered the inspector.

"I intended to go to my lodgings," said Stead, slowly. "Can't I go if you, or both of you, accompany me?"

"No," answered Inspector Cortelyon. "I'm going there myself—I hold a search warrant."



Then Stead showed the first sign of collapse. He dropped into the chair from which he had just risen and became silent. The detective nodded to Illingworth.

"Get through with the searching," he said, in a low voice. "I want to see what he has on him and then to get off."

And while Marshall Stead, Mannerley's confidential teacher and churchwarden, sat, like a statue, Illingworth—

"A bit queer, certainly," agreed Illingworth. "Would have looked to find a few notes, eh?" continued Inspector Cortelyon. "Well, that seems all. Hallo—here's something else! What's this?"

He drew out from an inner pocket a scrap of paper a few inches square, which had been folded up in the form of a triangular note. On opening this some curious hieroglyphics appeared, at which both officials gazed with considerable speculation, not seeing any reason in them. An oblong frame had been drawn on the paper and in its midst were three signs, thus:

"That refers to something or other," said Inspector Cortelyon. "Here, I'll make a sketch of that, Illingworth, and then you can lock all these things up. Ask master, in the betting figures suggest a good deal, and this diagram may yield something."

With his sketch of the diagram in his pocket, and his cigar in his mouth, Inspector Cortelyon went out into the street and set off in the direction of the police station where Stead lodged. And as he came to the outskirts of the tuning village he encountered Mark Quinton, who, having seen Phillips Mannersley safely into her carriage, was on his way to consult somebody. He knew whom, about the cashier. His face brightened at the sight of the little man with the keen face and quiet attire.

"Ah, inspector!" he said. "I'm glad to meet you. I was just wanting someone to whom I could turn for advice. The fact is——" and he gave the detective a concise account of what had occurred at the office that morning, including Phillipa's story of the events of the previous evening. Inspector Cortelyon listened in silence and with an impenetrable countenance.

"What do you think of that?" concluded the younger. "Queer, isn't it?"

Inspector Cortelyon flicked the ash off his cigar. "I think," he said, "that it's just what I expected to hear, or something very like it. However, there's no need for any body to be concerned about Mr. Stead at present. We've got him."

Quinton looked his astonishment. "You've got him!" he said. "Got him where?"

The detective poked his old umbrella in the direction of the police station. "There!" he said, "locked up."

"Locked up!" exclaimed Quinton. "But—on what charge?"

"At present," replied Inspector Cortelyon, "on the charge of forging Sir Robert Mannerley's name to a cheque."

"Ah! then you have discovered some thing!" said Quinton.

"Yes, and a good deal," replied the detective. "I'm just going on to the house where Stead lodges. If you'll walk a little way I'll tell you all about it. You see, he confessed, as they turned back together, "as I told you the other day, I had suspicions of Stead for a considerable time, and a very little more yesterday afforded an immense illumination on the case. You will remember that from the night of Mr. Robert's murder until now the study and library have been rigorously sealed up, so that no one should have access to them but the police, which means practically Illingworth and myself. For many reasons this was necessary, but especially for one—that the mass of papers lying in, on, or about Sir Robert's desk should not be touched. Now, Illingworth and I have carefully gone through all those papers as we have found time to do it so, but it was only yesterday that we came to the end of our search—an end in a double sense. We found what I had been certain we should find—a clue. And where do you think we found it?"

He paused and, lighting another cigar, glanced up at the tall manager with a quizzical expression.

"I haven't the remotest idea," said Quinton.

"In the big waste-paper basket that stood on the right-hand side of Sir Robert's chair," answered the detective. "Likely place, wasn't it? But I've known less likely places of the sort."

"And this clue," asked Quinton, eagerly—"what was it?"

"It was two clues, as a matter of fact—a sort of two corroborations of one undoubted fact," answered the detective. "I say we had examined everything—Illingworth, as you may be aware, is a bit new to such a job as this—and we had watched and we found nothing, and so I began an inspection of the contents of the waste-paper basket, which, as you know, are extra-sized ones."

"Just so—just so!" exclaimed Quinton, excitedly. "And there, no doubt, you found something which you put together?"

Inspector Cortelyon laughed. "No," he said. "And I'm glad I didn't—it takes a long time to piece scraps of paper together. No—I found two letters, enveloped and sealed; one of them was stamped for post, the other was not. The stamped envelope was addressed to the manager of the Stedford Banking Co., Limited, the other lay in Marshall Stead. That one was endorsed, 'To be handed to Mr. Stead on his arrival.'"

"Go on—go on!" said Quinton, eagerly.

"I took it upon myself to open those letters," continued Inspector Cortelyon. "The one to the bank was a brief letter of a few lines; that to Stead was a somewhat lengthy document, and it contained a bank-note for one hundred and fifty pounds. And in those two letters, Mr. Quinton, unless I am greatly mistaken, experience is at hand to learn what I believe to be the truth of all this strange mystery."

"And that is——" said Quinton.

"That Stead is a consummate scoundrel," answered Inspector Cortelyon, quietly, "and I shall do within the next three days, be pleased not to honour any cheque upon any private account bearing a date later than May 25th inst.—Yours faithfully, ROBERT MANNERSLEY."

"And this," he continued, "is the letter to Stead, from the same address and of the same date. It's a sad letter, in my opinion.

"Dear Marshall Stead,—Although I feel phoned to you requesting you to call here to night, I feel that I cannot see you, and I am therefore writing this note, which will be given to you. I have suddenly discovered by accident, but on the most indisputable evidence and without proof, that you have forged my name to a cheque for £750. There is no doubt of your guilt, and my discovery has come to a finish and a head so suddenly. I am not sure whether the hand which forged this cheque may not have been the same which forged that in respect of which my unfortunate nephew has suffered.

"For the sake of your dead father and mother, I cannot bring myself to prosecute you. But you must go. I enclose you a note, which, I doubt not, will be found sufficiently feathered your nest well. Go at once—go where—and do what you like, but you have been merciful. I left for you as a father, and I am trying to act as your own father would have acted—may God forgive you!—ROBERT MANNERSLEY."

Inspector Cortelyon folded up these letters amidst his own and his companion's silence. Each one of them, if he had listened to a whole month, would have told him no more than this brief note.

"If Miss Mannerley hears that letter," said Quinton, "she will almost break her heart."

"Aye, sir, but it will soon be mended," answered the detective. "Joy is stronger than sorrow, and love than grief. And now I must get on with my business. You'll see and hear more before the day's over."

Then he went forward on his mission, and Quinton turned back to the village.

CHAPTER XVIII.

The woman in whose house Stead lodged—an old-fashioned farmhouse standing on one of the few ancient rhodes left in the valley—looked askance at Inspector Cortelyon when he knocked at her front door. Mrs. Gamp's thin rusty tall hat, his unusually old-fashioned garments, his Mrs. Gamp-like umbrella, made her consider him a suspicious character, and she only opened the door to the extent of a very few inches as she inspected him.

"Good-morning, ma'am," said the detective blandly and genially. "It is a beautiful morning. Mr. Stead lodges here, I believe?"

"No, he isn't," answered the landlady. "Just so, ma'am," said the inspector. "I did not mean that he resided here. I'm here of a question, but as an assertion. Mr. Stead is not at home. The fact is—though I don't want to shock your nerves, and I am sure I shan't, as I see you are a sensible woman—the fact is, Mr. Stead is locked up."

The landlady looked her scorn and disbelief, and made as if she would shut the door in the direction of the person where Stead lodged. And as he came to the outskirts of the tuning village he encountered Mark Quinton, who, having seen Phillipa Mannersley safely into her carriage, was on his way to consult somebody. He knew whom, about the cashier. His face brightened at the sight of the little man with the keen face and quiet attire.

"Ah, inspector!" he said. "I'm glad to meet you. I was just wanting someone to whom I could turn for advice. The fact is——" and he gave the detective a concise account of what had occurred at the office that morning, including Phillipa's story of the events of the previous evening. Inspector Cortelyon listened in silence and with an impenetrable countenance.

"What do you think of that?" concluded the younger. "Queer, isn't it?"

Inspector Cortelyon flicked the ash off his cigar. "I think," he said, "that it's just what I expected to hear, or something very like it. However, there's no need for any body to be concerned about Mr. Stead at present. We've got him."

Quinton looked his astonishment. "You've got him!" he said. "Got him where?"

The detective poked his old umbrella in the direction of the police station. "There!" he said, "locked up."

"Locked up!" exclaimed Quinton. "But—on what charge?"

"At present," replied Inspector Cortelyon, "on the charge of forging Sir Robert Mannerley's name to a cheque."

"Ah! then you have discovered some thing!" said Quinton.

"Yes, and a good deal," replied the detective. "I'm just going on to the house where Stead lodges. If you'll walk a little way I'll tell you all about it. You see, he confessed, as they turned back together. "as I told you the other day, I had suspicions of Stead for a considerable time, and a very little more yesterday afforded an immense illumination on the case. You will remember that from the night of Mr. Robert's murder until now the study and library have been rigorously sealed up, so that no one should have access to them but the police, which means practically Illingworth and myself. For many reasons this was necessary, but especially for one—that the mass of papers lying in, on, or about Sir Robert's desk should not be touched. Now, Illingworth and I have carefully gone through all those papers as we have found time to do it so, but it was only yesterday that we came to the end of our search—an end in a double sense. We found what I had been certain we should find—a clue. And where do you think we found it?"

He paused and, lighting another cigar, glanced up at the tall manager with a quizzical expression.

"I haven't the remotest idea," said Quinton.

"In the big waste-paper basket that stood on the right-hand side of Sir Robert's chair," answered the detective. "Likely place, wasn't it? But I've known less likely places of the sort."

"And this clue," asked Quinton, eagerly—"what was it?"

"It was two clues, as a matter of fact—a sort of two corroborations of one undoubted fact," answered the detective. "I say we had examined everything—Illingworth, as you may be aware, is a bit new to such a job as this—and we had watched and we found nothing, and so I began an inspection of the contents of the waste-paper basket, which, as you know, are extra-sized ones."

"Just so—just so!" exclaimed Quinton, excitedly. "And there, no doubt, you found something which you put together?"

Inspector Cortelyon laughed. "No," he said. "And I'm glad I didn't—it takes a long time to piece scraps of paper together. No—I found two letters, enveloped and sealed; one of them was stamped for post, the other was not. The stamped envelope was addressed to the manager of the Stedford Banking Co., Limited; the other lay on Marshall Stead. That one was endorsed, 'To be handed to Mr. Stead on his arrival.'"

"Go on—go on!" said Quinton, eagerly.

"I took it upon myself to open those letters," continued Inspector Cortelyon. "The one to the bank was a brief letter of a few lines; that to Stead was a somewhat lengthy document, and it contained a bank-note for one hundred and fifty pounds. And in those two letters, Mr. Quinton, unless I am greatly mistaken, experience is at hand to learn what I believe to be the truth of all this strange mystery."

"And that is——" said Quinton.

"That Stead is a consummate scoundrel," answered Inspector Cortelyon, quietly, "and I shall do within the next three days, be pleased not to honour any cheque upon any private account bearing a date later than May 25th inst.—Yours faithfully, ROBERT MANNERSLEY."

"And this," he continued, "is the letter to Stead, from the same address and of the same date. It's a sad letter, in my opinion.

"Dear Marshall Stead,—Although I feel phoned to you requesting you to call here to night, I feel that I cannot see you, and I am therefore writing this note, which will be given to you. I have suddenly discovered by accident, but on the most indisputable evidence and without proof, that you have forged my name to a cheque for £750. There is no doubt of your guilt, and my discovery has come to a finish and a head so suddenly. I am not sure whether the hand which forged this cheque may not have been the same which forged that in respect of which my unfortunate nephew has suffered.

"For the sake of your dead father and mother, I cannot bring myself to prosecute you. But you must go. I enclose you a note, which, I doubt not, will be found sufficiently feathered your nest well. Go at once—go where—and do what you like, but you have been merciful. I left for you as a father, and I am trying to act as your own father would have acted—may God forgive you!—ROBERT MANNERSLEY."

Inspector Cortelyon folded up these letters amidst his own and his companion's silence. Each one of them, if he had listened to a whole month, would have told him no more than this brief letter.

"If Miss Mannerley hears that letter," said Quinton, "she will almost break her heart."

"Aye, sir, but it will soon be mended," answered the detective. "Joy is stronger than sorrow, and love than grief. And now I must get on with my business. You'll see and hear more before the day's over."

Then he went forward on his mission, and Quinton turned back to the village.

CHAPTER XVIII.

The woman in whose house Stead lodged—an old-fashioned farmhouse standing on one of the few ancient rhodes left in the valley—looked askance at Inspector Cortelyon when he knocked at her front door. Mrs. Gamp's thin rusty tall hat, his unusually old-fashioned garments, his Mrs. Gamp-like umbrella, made her consider him a suspicious character, and she only opened the door to the extent of a very few inches as she inspected him.

"Good-morning, ma'am," said the detective blandly and genially. "It is a beautiful morning. Mr. Stead lodges here, I believe?"

"No, he isn't," answered the landlady.

"Just so, ma'am," said the inspector. "I did not mean that he resided here. I'm here of a question, but as an assertion. Mr. Stead is not at home. The fact is—though I don't want to shock your nerves, and I am sure I shan't, as I see you are a sensible woman—the fact is, Mr. Stead is locked up."

The landlady looked her scorn and disbelief, and made as if she would shut the door in the direction of the person where Stead lodged. And as he came to the outskirts of the tuning village he encountered Mark Quinton, who, having seen Phillipa Mannersley safely into her carriage, was on his way to consult somebody. He knew whom, about the cashier. His face brightened at the sight of the little man with the keen face and quiet attire.

"Ah, inspector!" he said. "I'm glad to meet you. I was just wanting someone to whom I could turn for advice. The fact is——" and he gave the detective a concise account of what had occurred at the office that morning, including Phillipa's story of the events of the previous evening. Inspector Cortelyon listened in silence and with an impenetrable countenance.

"What do you think of that?" concluded the younger. "Queer, isn't it?"

Inspector Cortelyon flicked the ash off his cigar. "I think," he said, "that it's just what I expected to hear, or something very like the—the murder?" she said, gazing at Inspector Cortelyon with frightened eyes. "You, sure don't mean that he's arrested for that?"

The inspector gave her a keen look. "Why is he anything to you?" he asked, suddenly.

"No," she said, shaking her head, "no nothing. But I knew his mother—I serve under her at the Castle. Oh—I hope it isn't that—Sir Robert was always so good to them both, and especially to him."

"Well, it isn't that—yet," replied Inspector Cortelyon, reassuringly. "He's arrested for forgery, that's all. And, of course, he might get off, so there's no need for you to distress yourself. And now let me have a look at his rooms, there's a good soul —I'm a bona man."

The woman led him along the hall to a sitting-room at the rear of the house—a room of some size, from which two French windows looked out upon a garden and orchard. It was a pleasant room, furnished after the style of a middle-class parlour, well-carpeted and had little attempt at ornament or decoration. There were a few old steel engravings and some other coloured prints on the walls, and a few books were arranged in a glass-fronted bookcase in one corner, but the selection was in vain for any particular signs of personality or for the things which a bachelor likes to gather about him. Everything was very neat, formal, and precise, just like Stead's attire.

"I expect something in here is your property," said, turning to the woman, who stood in the doorway holding the corner of her apron to her mouth, and watching him wonderingly as he looked about him. "Furniture and so on, I mean?"

"Yes," she answered. "At least, all but that desk there in the corner. Mr. Stead brought that with him when he came. All else is ours—my husband's and mine."

"Then I'll look at the desk," said Inspector Cortelyon. "Just as I expected—locked, of course. Well, I won't detain you. I'll leave the door open, so that I can call you if I want you."

The woman looked at him wonderingly again, and went off down the passage. In her pocket was a bunch of keys with which had been taken from Stead's pocket during the search, and approached the desk. Two of these keys would make and make and some capacity, which was fitted with a patent lock. He found the key and threw the top back, and began the search.

At the end of an hour Inspector Cortelyon, relocking the desk, had to confess to himself that, with the exception of one object, he had found nothing. The desk was a model of neatness and whatever papers were in it were all docketed and arranged in the most precise order. But those papers threw no light upon the matter which concerned the detective. There were private letters from friends; there were receipts for accounts paid; there were memoranda relating to church and Sunday-school matters—every thing was of a similar sort. There was nothing that gave him any clue.

The object which he thought worthy of attention was a blank sheet of paper which Stead himself had told him. He looked at over, and found that it corresponded exactly with the one found in the grate—the only thing that Stead said it was, and there was the maker's name which he had mentioned—"Jas. Whatman, Turkey Mill."

"He told me the truth there, any way," muttered the detective to himself as he put the paper with him. Then he looked round the room. With the exception of a sideboard there was nothing in which anything could be hidden, and that contained nothing but the usual silver, glass, and china necessary for a dining-room.

In deep thought, Inspector Cortelyon approached one of the French windows and looked out upon a kitchen garden in which things were looking bright and promising. He passed on to the window; that the orchard was a little orchard with a tumble-down wicket gate, a wealth of much too overgrown grass, and an old draw-well, surrounded by a low, moss-covered wall.

"Pretty place, pretty old place," mused the inspector; "I'm glad I've seen it before it's pulled down."

He went out into the passage and called for the landlady, who at his request took him into the garden. He looked all over, that, examined Stead's personal belongings, but found nothing more than was usual and natural in a bachelor's room. And, saying good-day to the landlady, he went off to the cottages where Stead had told him the man whom he had rescued from the river lived. There he was rewarded for certain problems within his own mind as to that matter, and he wanted to find out two or three things in addition.

From his first observations there was no doubt that Stead had had a true sense of humour, and to the beginnings of this second mystery. For here was the deer-stalker hat in its hard, battered, queer form, and here was a picture which Stead said the man had been carved. He went to the edge at the window, and looked down into the garden where the man was at work. A tall, rather gaunt man, with an outgrowing bush of bramble, which had doubtless been cut down, but still remains, doubtless on this event, and wondering if Stead really did find the hat in the bramble bush, the little row of trees.

If Inspector Cortelyon had found it a fairly easy task to get Stead's lodgings, he found it very difficult one to get into this cottage. Mrs. Hardacre, the wife of the man, stood at the open door of her dwelling as he entered the little garden, and she immediately put herself in the way of the faithful watchdog, which Stead had impressed upon her. She was a big and brawny woman, and she planted her hands on her hips and glared at the detective as he came up the path. Inspector Cortelyon accosted politely.

"Good-day, ma'am," he said, with great suavity.

"Day," responded the guardian, with asperity.

"You have, I understand, a man living here who is ill," said Inspector Cortelyon.

"Well, and what if I have?" demanded Mrs. Hardacre. "What business is it of yours, I should like to know?"

"Merely," said the inspector, assuming a more professional tone—"merely, ma'am, that I have called to see him."

Mrs. Hardacre looked at him with defiance. "Have you?" she said, decisively. "Well, then, you can go back to whence you came, for you won't see him. There!"

The inspector gazed at her. Most people who had had that specimen of Mrs. Hardacre did not.

"I am a detective officer from Scotland Yard," he said, "and it is my duty to——"

"I don't care if you're the Duke of Scotland; you're not coming into my house to worry my husband," she declared. "And you're not going to see my patient. And here's the door for coming this time of morning, and if you don't go I'll make you."

Inspector Cortelyon turned with relief to see that Phillipa Mannersley already, driven up the lane in his dog-cart, and he at once went to meet him. A short parley in the garden gate during which the irate lady in the doorway perceived the young doctor to be a friend, ended in surprise, resulted in the doctor's approaching her.

"Good-day, Mrs. Hardacre," said the doctor. "This gentleman is Inspector Cortelyon, of Scotland Yard. I am going to take him upstairs with me to see our patient."

But the woman refused signs of dissent or approval. "It's against orders, doctor," she said, grumblingly.

"Mr. Stead gave the strictest orders, as you know very well, that there wasn't nobody whatever to come in to see this man without his permission."

"But, my dear Mrs. Hardacre," replied the doctor, "but I'm afraid Mr. Stead can't be relied on any more. The fact is, Mr. Stead's——"

Mrs. Hardacre's manner underwent a sudden change. "Stead in prison!" she exclaimed. "Well, and I'm none surprised after his mysterious goings on. Lawks-a-massy! And who's going to pay me in future, I should like to know, for keeping this here stranger feller in my cottage? To be sure, Stead's paid up to now, but who'll do it all he can be showed? And I'd like to know who he is, an' all?"

"That, ma'am, is precisely what I am here to find out," said the detective. "And as to your being paid, you needn't distress yourself about that."

He followed Dr. Hibbert up the staircase and into the bedchamber, where the nurse whom Stead had secured came forward to meet them. She raised her hand.

"He's sound asleep, doctor," she said. "He'd a restless night, but he's been sleeping beautifully since noon."

"Let him sleep as long as he can," said the doctor. "Has he spoken of remembering more yet?"

"No, sir," replied the nurse.

Dr Hibert signed to the detective to go up softly to the bed. Inspector Cortelyon went there with the softness of a cat, and upon himself a swift inspection. Then, beckoning to the doctor, he went downstairs again to the garden, where a moment later Hibbert joined him.

"Well?" asked the doctor.

"Yes, that's Dr. John Steenthal," said Inspector Cortelyon. "I recognised him at once. He was once called as an expert in a case in which I was engaged. I'll see him as his people at once. Now about his loss of memory; what is it exactly? A temporary loss?"

"Exactly," replied the doctor. "A temporary loss caused by some sudden violent shock."

"Do you think that fall over the quarry caused it?" asked Inspector Cortelyon.

"I don't know, because the injuries to his head were slight, very slight indeed," replied the doctor. "I'm inclined to think it was a great mental shock——"

"In either case," asked the inspector, "do you think his memory will come back to him?"

"Yes, certainly," replied Dr. Hibbert. "I fully expect that it will come back just as suddenly as it went. A sudden shock might possibly restore it, but I don't think so."

"Then see that these women keep a strict watch, and make them see that they must communicate with you," said Inspector Cortelyon, "if he shows any sign of the return," said Inspector Cortelyon, "if he shows any sign of the return," said the inspector Cortelyon, dryly.

Stead looked from one to the other, and changed colour. "That I—that I am to be detained!" he asked.

"Certainly! You are going to be locked up, after you have been searched," answered the inspector.

"I intended to go to my lodgings," said Stead, slowly. "Can't I go if you, or both of you, accompany me?"

"No," answered Inspector Cortelyon. "I'm going there myself—I hold a search warrant."

Then Stead showed the first sign of collapse. He dropped into the chair from which he had just risen and became silent. The detective nodded to Illingworth.

"Get through with the searching," he said, in a low voice. "I want to see what he has on him and then to get off."

And while Marshall Stead, having been relieved of his papers and anything which it was considered undesirable he should have, found himself locked up, to reflect upon recent events.

Inspector Cortelyon hastily looked through the papers in Stead's pocket-book. They were few in number, and to an inexperienced eye would have seemed quite unimportant. There were two or three letters of a private nature, a few receipts, and some newspaper cuttings. But on the latter Inspector Cortelyon being opened out they all proved to be in reference to betting transactions on current races, and Inspector Cortelyon shook his head.

"Appropriate sort of literature for a Sunday-school teacher and churchwarden, eh, Illingworth," he said.

"A bit queer, certainly," agreed Illingworth.

"Would have looked to find a few notes, eh?" continued Inspector Cortelyon. "Well, that seems all. Hallo—here's something else! What's this?"

He drew out from an inner pocket a scrap of paper a few inches square, which had been folded up in the form of a triangular note. On opening this some curious hieroglyphics appeared, at which both officials gazed with considerable speculation, not seeing any reason in them. An oblong frame had been drawn on the paper and in its midst were three signs, thus:

"That refers to something or other," said Inspector Cortelyon. "Here, I'll make a sketch of that, Illingworth, and then you can lock all these things up. Ask master, in the betting figures suggest a good deal, and this diagram may yield something."

With his sketch of the diagram in his pocket, and his cigar in his mouth, Inspector Cortelyon went out into the street and set off in the direction of the police station where Stead lodged. And as he came to the outskirts of the tuning village he encountered Mark Quinton, who, having seen Phillipa Mannersley safely into her carriage, was on his way to consult somebody. He knew whom, about the cashier. His face brightened at the sight of the little man with the keen face and quiet attire.

"Ah, inspector!" he said. "I'm glad to meet you. I was just wanting someone to whom I could turn for advice. The fact is——" and he gave the detective a concise account of what had occurred at the office that morning, including Phillipa's story of the events of the previous evening. Inspector Cortelyon listened in silence and with an impenetrable countenance.

"What do you think of that?" concluded the younger. "Queer, isn't it?"

Inspector Cortelyon flicked the ash off his cigar. "I think," he said, "that it's just what I expected to hear, or something very like the—the murder?" she said, gazing at Inspector Cortelyon with frightened eyes. "You, sure don't mean that he's arrested for that?"

The inspector gave her a keen look. "Why is he anything to you?" he asked, suddenly.

"No," she said, shaking her head, "no nothing. But I knew his mother—I serve under her at the Castle. Oh—I hope it isn't that—Sir Robert was always so good to them both, and especially to him."

"Well, it isn't that—yet," replied Inspector Cortelyon, reassuringly. "He's arrested for forgery, that's all. And, of course, he might get off, so there's no need for you to distress yourself. And now let me have a look at his rooms, there's a good soul —I'm a bona man."

The woman led him along the hall to a sitting-room at the rear of the house—a room of some size, from which two French windows looked out upon a garden and orchard. It was a pleasant room, furnished after the style of a middle-class parlour, well-carpeted and had little attempt at ornament or decoration. There were a few old steel engravings and some other coloured prints on the walls, and a few books were arranged in a glass-fronted bookcase in one corner, but the selection was in vain for any particular signs of personality or for the things which a bachelor likes to gather about him. Everything was very neat, formal, and precise, just like Stead's attire.

"I expect something in here is your property," said, turning to the woman, who stood in the doorway holding the corner of her apron to her mouth, and watching him wonderingly as he looked about him. "Furniture and so on, I mean?"

"Yes," she answered. "At least, all but that desk there in the corner. Mr. Stead brought that with him when he came. All else is ours—my husband's and mine."

"Then I'll look at the desk," said Inspector Cortelyon. "Just as I expected—locked, of course. Well, I won't detain you. I'll leave the door open, so that I can call you if I want you."

The woman looked at him wonderingly again, and went off down the passage. In her pocket was a bunch of keys with which had been taken from Stead's pocket during the search, and approached the desk. Two of these keys would make and make and some capacity, which was fitted with a patent lock. He found the key and threw the top back, and began the search.

At the end of an hour Inspector Cortelyon, relocking the desk, had to confess to himself that, with the exception of one object, he had found nothing. The desk was a model of neatness and whatever papers were in it were all docketed and arranged in the most precise order. But those papers threw no light upon the matter which concerned the detective. There were private letters from friends; there were receipts for accounts paid; there were memoranda relating to church and Sunday-school matters—every thing was of a similar sort. There was nothing that gave him any clue.

The object which he thought worthy of attention was a blank sheet of paper which Stead himself had told him. He looked at over, and found that it corresponded exactly with the one found in the grate—the only thing that Stead said it was, and there was the maker's name which he had mentioned—"Jas. Whatman, Turkey Mill."

"He told me the truth there, any way," muttered the detective to himself as he put the paper with him. Then he looked round the room. With the exception of a sideboard there was nothing in which anything could be hidden, and that contained nothing but the usual silver, glass, and china necessary for a dining-room.

In deep thought, Inspector Cortelyon approached one of the French windows and looked out upon a kitchen garden in which things were looking bright and promising. He passed on to the window; that the orchard was a little orchard with a tumble-down wicket gate, a wealth of much too overgrown grass, and an old draw-well, surrounded by a low, moss-covered wall.

"Pretty place, pretty old place," mused the inspector; "I'm glad I've seen it before it's pulled down."

He went out into the passage and called for the landlady, who at his request took him into the garden. He looked all over, that, examined Stead's personal belongings, but found nothing more than was usual and natural in a bachelor's room. And, saying good-day to the landlady, he went off to the cottages where Stead had told him the man whom he had rescued from the river lived. There he was rewarded for certain problems within his own mind as to that matter, and he wanted to find out two or three things in addition.

From his first observations there was no doubt that Stead had had a true sense of humour, and to the beginnings of this second mystery. For here was the deer-stalker hat in its hard, battered, queer form, and here was a picture which Stead said the man had been carved. He went to the edge at the window, and looked down into the garden where the man was at work. A tall, rather gaunt man, with an outgrowing bush of bramble, which had doubtless been cut down, but still remains, doubtless on this event, and wondering if Stead really did find the hat in the bramble bush, the little row of trees.

If Inspector Cortelyon had found it a fairly easy task to get Stead's lodgings, he found it very difficult one to get into this cottage. Mrs. Hardacre, the wife of the man, stood at the open door of her dwelling as he entered the little garden, and she immediately put herself in the way of the faithful watchdog, which Stead had impressed upon her. She was a big and brawny woman, and she planted her hands on her hips and glared at the detective as he came up the path. Inspector Cortelyon accosted politely.

"Good-day, ma'am," he said, with great suavity.

"Day," responded the guardian, with asperity.

"You have, I understand, a man living here who is ill," said Inspector Cortelyon.

"Well, and what if I have?" demanded Mrs. Hardacre. "What business is it of yours, I should like to know?"

"Merely," said the inspector, assuming a more professional tone—"merely, ma'am, that I have called to see him."

Mrs. Hardacre looked at him with defiance. "Have you?" she said, decisively. "Well, then, you can go back to whence you came, for you won't see him. There!"

The inspector gazed at her. Most people who had had that specimen of Mrs. Hardacre did not.

"I am a detective officer from Scotland Yard," he said, "and it is my duty to——"

"I don't care if you're the Duke of Scotland; you're not coming into my house to worry my husband," she declared. "And you're not going to see my patient. And here's the door for coming this time of morning, and if you don't go I'll make you."

Inspector Cortelyon turned with relief to see that Phillipa Mannersley already, driven up the lane in his dog-cart, and he at once went to meet him. A short parley in the garden gate during which the irate lady in the doorway perceived the young doctor to be a friend, ended in surprise, resulted in the doctor's approaching her.

"Good-day, Mrs. Hardacre," said the doctor. "This gentleman is Inspector Cortelyon, of Scotland Yard. I am going to take him upstairs with me to see our patient."

But the woman refused signs of dissent or approval. "It's against orders, doctor," she said, grumblingly.

"Mr. Stead gave the strictest orders, as you know very well, that there wasn't nobody whatever to come in to see this man without his permission."

"But, my dear Mrs. Hardacre," replied the doctor, "but I'm afraid Mr. Stead can't be relied on any more. The fact is, Mr. Stead's——"

Mrs. Hardacre's manner underwent a sudden change. "Stead in prison!" she exclaimed. "Well, and I'm none surprised after his mysterious goings on. Lawks-a-massy! And who's going to pay me in future, I should like to know, for keeping this here stranger feller in my cottage? To be sure, Stead's paid up to now, but who'll do it all he can be showed? And I'd like to know who he is, an' all?"

"That, ma'am, is precisely what I am here to find out," said the detective. "And as to your being paid, you needn't distress yourself about that."

He followed Dr. Hibbert up the staircase and into the bedchamber, where the nurse whom Stead had secured came forward to meet them. She raised her hand.

"He's sound asleep, doctor," she said. "He'd a restless night, but he's been sleeping beautifully since noon."

"Let him sleep as long as he can," said the doctor. "Has he spoken of remembering more yet?"

"No, sir," replied the nurse.

Dr Hibert signed to the detective to go up softly to the bed. Inspector Cortelyon went there with the softness of a cat, and upon himself a swift inspection. Then, beckoning to the doctor, he went downstairs again to the garden, where a moment later Hibbert joined him.

"Well?" asked the doctor.

"Yes, that's Dr. John Steenthal," said Inspector Cortelyon. "I recognised him at once. He was once called as an expert in a case in which I was engaged. I'll see him as his people at once. Now about his loss of memory; what is it exactly? A temporary loss?"

"Exactly," replied the doctor. "A temporary loss caused by some sudden violent shock."

"Do you think that fall over the quarry caused it?" asked Inspector Cortelyon.

"I don't know, because the injuries to his head were slight, very slight indeed," replied the doctor. "I'm inclined to think it was a great mental shock——"

"In either case," asked the inspector, "do you think his memory will come back to him?"

"Yes, certainly," replied Dr. Hibbert. "I fully expect that it will come back just as suddenly as it went. A sudden shock might possibly restore it, but I don't think so."

"Then see that these women keep a strict watch, and make them see that they must communicate with you," said Inspector Cortelyon, "if he shows any sign of the return," said Inspector Cortelyon, dryly.

Stead looked from one to the other, and changed colour. "That I—that I am to be detained!" he asked.

"Certainly! You are going to be locked up, after you have been searched," answered the inspector.

"I intended to go to my lodgings," said Stead, slowly. "Can't I go if you, or both of you, accompany me?"

"No," answered Inspector Cortelyon. "I'm going there myself—I hold a search warrant."

Then Stead showed the first sign of collapse. He dropped into the chair from which he had just risen and became silent. The detective nodded to Illingworth.

"Get through with the searching," he said, in a low voice. "I want to see what he has on him and then to get off."

And while Marshall Stead, having been relieved of his papers and anything which it was considered undesirable he should have, found himself locked up, to reflect upon recent events.

Inspector Cortelyon hastily looked through the papers in Stead's pocket-book. They were few in number, and to an inexperienced eye would have seemed quite unimportant. There were two or three letters of a private nature, a few receipts, and some newspaper cuttings. But on the latter Inspector Cortelyon being opened out they all proved to be in reference to betting transactions on current races, and Inspector Cortelyon shook his head.

"Appropriate sort of literature for a Sunday-school teacher and churchwarden, eh, Illingworth," he said.

"A bit queer, certainly," agreed Illingworth.

"Would have looked to find a few notes, eh?" continued Inspector Cortelyon. "Well, that seems all. Hallo—here's something else! What's this?"

He drew out from an inner pocket a scrap of paper a few inches square, which had been folded up in the form of a triangular note. On opening this some curious hieroglyphics appeared, at which both officials gazed with considerable speculation, not seeing any reason in them. An oblong frame had been drawn on the paper and in its midst were three signs, thus:

"That refers to something or other," said Inspector Cortelyon. "Here, I'll make a sketch of that, Illingworth, and then you can lock all these things up. Ask master, in the betting figures suggest a good deal, and this diagram may yield something."

With his sketch of the diagram in his pocket, and his cigar in his mouth, Inspector Cortelyon went out into the street and set off in the direction of the police station where Stead lodged. And as he came to the outskirts of the tuning village he encountered Mark Quinton, who, having seen Phillipa Mannersley safely into her carriage, was on his way to consult somebody. He knew whom, about the cashier. His face brightened at the sight of the little man with the keen face and quiet attire.

"Ah, inspector!" he said. "I'm glad to meet you. I was just wanting someone to whom I could turn for advice. The fact is——" and he gave the detective a concise account of what had Garforth Cricketers and a Trophy.

GARFORTH WES.' OBJECTION TO TADCASTER A. SUSTAINED.

THE SHIELD GOES TO GARFORTH

On Thursday a meeting of the Executive of the Barkston Ash Cricket Competition was held at the Hotel Metropole, Leeds—Mr W. B. Pindar (President) in the chair. Others present were Messrs G. Umpleby (Crossgates W.), J. A. Popplewell (Halton W.), E. W. Herbert (Tadcaster), A. Flowith (Sherburn), G. H. Ambler (Church Fenton), T. Richardson (Saxton), H. White (Crossgates), W. Glover (Garforth), and E. D. Pawson (hon. sec.).

The hon. sec. read a letter from Mr F. Silvery, hon. sec. of Garforth Wes., as follows:—I am instructed by my committee to object to the result of our match on Saturday, September 5th, against Tadcaster A. on the following grounds:—C. Harrison has not played in three League matches as per rule 10, also G. Nettleton on the same grounds, and J. W. Garbutt having played five matches with the first team, breaking rule 5.

Mr Pawson said his record was that Nettleton had played in the Junior League on June 13th, June 27th, and July 25th; Garbutt had played on May 9th and May 23rd in the Junior League, and June 13th, July 16th, and August 1st in the Senior League. As to Harrison he had no record at all except in the deciding match.

Mr Herbert said that if he had no record of Harrison playing it was probably on account of the score sheets not being sent in. He had played against South Milford, Halton W., and Cawood, but in the last match he did not bat. To him it was a question of the interpretation of the Senior and Junior League rules. In reference to the match in question, they were in a hole. The team was chosen at the beginning of the week and not until Friday was it found out that six of their men were unable to play, some owing to illness, and others owing to having enlisted. They had, therefore, to play men who had qualified in the first team or scratch the match. His contention was that any player who played in three League match under the jurisdiction of the committee was eligible to play.

Mr F. Silvery (Garforth Wes.) referred the meeting to rule 10.

Mr Pawson said that the rule, in his opinion, had been broken.

After discussion, the President said that with regard to Nettleton and Garbutt both were qualified, but, in his opinion, Harrison was not.

Mr Herbert: He has played in three League matches including the deciding match.

The Hon. Sec.: The deciding match counts.

The President: Then Harrison was qualified.

Mr Flowith: Has Harrison played in a Junior League match?

The Hon. Sec.: No.

Mr Flowith: Then both are eligible.

The Hon. Sec.: That is my point.

Mr Flowith said they had broken the rule, and, in his opinion, it was a very unsportsmanlike action to get a Senior League man to play in a Junior League final.

The President said it was not a question of sportsmanship. It was a question of a broken rule.

Mr. Popplewell proposed that the Committee were of opinion that the Junior League rules were most distinctly for the Junior League, and that rule 10 had been broken. In his opinion, Tadcaster had not broken the rule intentionally. They had been placed in a very awkward position.

The resolution was seconded and carried.

Garforth Wes. have, therefore, been awarded the match and have secured the Riley Smith Shield and the medals.

It was arranged to hold the annual meeting on October 27th.

Rule 10 of the Junior League states that "unless the consent of the committee be obtained before-hand, a player shall not be qualified to play in a final match who has not played in three League matches during the season. Any club breaking this rule shall forfeit the match to their opponents."

THE USES AND VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Charcoal is one of the most remarkable articles in common use, and possesses many qualities not generally understood by the laity. As an absorbent of bad odours it has no equal. Placed around articles of food it prevents decay and preserves them for a time in all their freshness. In fine powder it is one of the most perfect dressings for malignant wounds and those where proud flesh is present. As a cure for headache it is invaluable, a teaspoonful in half a glass of water often affording immediate relief.

Councillor Marsden has given £20 to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

The percentage of attendance at South Milford School last month was 92.04 against 92.78 for August last year.

In addition to the names given the following have to be added to Milford's roll of honour:—Jno. Albert Bourke, Jos. Hannan, and Bert Wice, these men having recently joined the colours.

Mr and Mrs John Wm. Bevan, Saskatoon, Canada, wish to convey their very best thanks to all kind friends who have been so good in their sad bereavement at home, and the kindness shown in sickness.—Advt.

N.E.R. TIME-TABLE ALTERATIONS.—The North-Eastern Railway Company announce that the 11.5 p.m. train from Harrogate to Wetherby and the 11.45 p.m. train from Wetherby to Harrogate, which runs on Wednesdays and Saturdays during the summer months, will be continued until the end of October.

WETHERBY WOMAN KILLED.—At Saltaire Station on Wednesday morning Lena Miller (30), whose parents reside at Wetherby, attempted to enter the 6.26 train to Arnside whilst it was in motion. She fell between the platform and the footboard. The train was pulled up, and it was found that the young woman was dead, having sustained shocking injuries. She had been employed as a cook by Mrs Williamson, of Birk Leas, Shipley.

SELBY URBAN COUNCIL.—At a meeting of the Selby Urban District Council on Wednesday night a resolution was passed agreeing that 6d. per 1,000 gallons be charged for water supplied to the Territorials, who a short time ago were billeted in Selby. There was a large increase in the consumption of water while the troops, who numbered 6,000, were in the town. The Council decided to apply to the Local Government Board for sanction to purchase, for £900, two and a half acres of land on the south side of Flaxley Road as a site for working class dwellings. With reference to the purchase for £1,600 of land in Gowthorpe Street for carrying a new road across that side of the town to Flaxley Road, the Local Government Board have intimated that they will arrange for an inquiry to be held. Three employes of the Council are serving with the Forces.

CORRESPONDENCE

ROTHWELL LIBERAL CLUB.

(To the Editor).

Sir,—In perusing the "Rothwell Courier and Times" of September 12th, I read the report of the meeting of Rothwell Distress Committee, and I failed to find among the list of subscribers the name of the Liberal Club and the amount paid over. This certainly rather surprised me, as I was aware that £5 5s. had been voted by the committee on August 29th, and paid over by our treasurer to the fund at the beginning.

The committee will feel greatly obliged if you will insert this communication, so as to put the general public in possession of the fact that Rothwell Liberals are always to the front in matters of this kind.—Yours, etc.,

JOSEPH STEAD, President.

AN APPEAL TO SPORTSMEN.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The warm response to my appeal for field-glasses emboldens me—in this time of emergency—to suggest another way in which sportsmen can render practical assistance.

The supply of saddles is, for the moment, deficient, and the training of our reserve cavalry regiments is impeded and delayed. I appeal to owners of saddles to send them to the Chief Ordnance Officer, Woolwich Dockyard. The names and addresses of those who send saddles will be given to me and each generous donor will receive a personal letter of thanks from me.

Those who adopt this suggestion will be rendering a very real service to their country.

The War Office need gentlemen's hunting or colonial saddles in good repair with fair-sized seats complete, if possible, with girths and stirrups, also bridles and bits. Polo or pony saddles are not suitable.—Yours, etc.,

ROBERTS, F.M.

September 16th, 1914.

CHURCH FENTON CRICKET CLUBS.

(To the Editor).

Sir,—I shall be obliged if you will allow me a little space in your next issue to publicly take exception to the misleading statements and insinuations which are from time to time sent you by the correspondent of the Sycamore Club at Church Fenton.

In your issue of Saturday last three appears in the report of the season's doings of his club these words:—"The members of the club are proud of the fact that with one or two exceptions the team are Fentonites." As everybody knows, this is meant to imply that the Church Fenton Club does not play Fentonians. I would point out that the opposite is the case.

The Church Fenton Club has week by week during the season played Church Fenton men. Take the match for example between the Church Fenton Club and the Sycamore, played on August 1st, the result of which your correspondent seems so much to smart under, the teams were constituted as follows:—Church Fenton, ten residents, and one non-resident (the non-resident player is near resident, and previously only lodged half-a-mile away from the parish boundary). Sycamore, nine residents, and two non-residents (one of the non-residents lives outside the Barkston Ash Division altogether, and the other lives in another parish, and both are still non-residents).

Now, one might ask what excuse can be found for your correspondent in making such an insinuation. Well, there is an excuse, and it is this:—Several of the Sycamore players are what might be termed "real Kirk Fenton natives," that is to say, their fathers, grandfathers, or grandmothers were born and lived in the village. Some of these do not belong to the Church Fenton Club; not one of them, I believe, was born in the village, and your correspondent appears to share in the opinion expressed by one of the members of his club, that all such are foreigners, and cannot be real Fentonites. If this is not so perhaps some other explanation may be forthcoming.—Yours, etc.,

A. B. HOLGREAVES, Hon. Sec. and Treas., Church Fenton Club.

15th Sept., 1914.

Mr Ednelby, of Sherburn, has given 10s. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

Mr J. S. Leggott, of Shodwell, has given £5 to the Leeds Relief Fund.

SHERBURN SEWAGE SCHEME.—For sewer connections to the new main, apply to Thompson's, contractors, for all branches in the building trade. Estimates and information free.—Advt.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.—The percentage of attendance for the schools in Sherburn district last month was 90.03 against 92.90 in August last year. The figures for the local schools were:—Sherburn Endowed, 93.37 against 96.58; Sherburn Council (girls), 95.21 against 95.94; and Sherburn Council (infants), 80.79 against 84.61.

Colonel Francis Edward Wolfenstein, late King's Own Scottish Borderers, of Thorp Arch Hall, has been selected to command the 43th Brigade, 15th Division, now at Aldershot. The new Brigadier-General is well known in the Bramham Moor and York and Ainsty country, and formerly commanded the 1st York and Lancaster Regiment on active service in South Africa. Subsequently he was appointed to the King's Own Scottish Borderers. In 1905 he was appointed to command No. 6 District at Lichfield (Staffordshire, Notts, Derby, Staffordshire, Rutland, and Leicestershire), and retired from the Army in 1913.

ASKERTON CHORAL SOCIETY.—The third annual meeting of Askerton Choral Society was held in the Wesleyan schoolroom on Tuesday evening.—Mrs Lund, of Becca Hall, presiding. The balance sheet was read, and showed a balance in hand of £6 4s. The following officers were elected for the year:—President, Mrs Lund; vice-presidents, Mr E. O. Simpson, Mrs Whitehouse, and the Rev. Shepheard Walwyn; treasurer, Mr Gill; secretary, Mr H. Whitehouse. Mrs Lund moved and it was carried, that the concert be postponed for the present, owing to the crisis. It was decided to commence classes on the 5th October at the Institute, in preparation for the York Festival, which will be held next April.

LORD HAREWOOD'S OPINION.—In answer to a Jewish correspondent who wrote to Lord Harewood pointing out that he had been quoted as having stated, in the course of a speech, that the alien population should have been expelled from England forty-eight hours after war was declared, and protesting against such a statement emanating from a person of his lordship's standing, Lord Harewood has written as follows:—"In answer to your letter, dated 14th, I did not say on Saturday last, or any other day, that the alien population of England should have been expelled within forty-eight hours of the outbreak of war,' and I was not, as far as I have seen, reported as having said so. The word I used was not 'alien,' but 'German,' and I intended to include Austrians as well. I am still of that opinion, and shall remain so.

MARRIAGE.—A wedding of much interest to Church Fenton cricketers took place at the Parish Church on Tuesday, when Mr William Dixon, the popular fast bowler of the Church Fenton Club, was married to Miss Elsie Blakey, youngest daughter of Mr G. H. Blakey, of Station Farm, Church Fenton. The Vicar officiated, and a goodly number of friends assembled to witness the ceremony.

A VOTE.—On Monday at Leeds Revision Court the vote of Mr Herbert Greenwood Teale, solicitor, residing at the Hotel Metropole (formerly of Boston Spa), was objected to by the Liberals on the ground that Mr Teale did not reside there, nor within the seven miles radius of the city as prescribed. The Revising Barrister held that the Hotel Metropole was a sufficient residence, Mr Teale for a long time having occupied rooms there. The objection was therefore not sustained.

MISSING OFFICER.—Captain K. J. Roy, of the Middlesex Regiment, who has been reported in our columns as missing, is the eldest son of the late Rev. James Roy, vicar of Appleton Roebuck, and rector of Stockton-on-Forest, and Mrs Roy, York Lodge, Beaconsfield, Bucks. It is interesting to note that four out of Mrs Roy's five sons are engaged in the war, either on land or sea. Captain Roy was educated at St. Peter's School, York, and was well known in the district. He entered the Army in June, 1901, was promoted Lieutenant in 1903, and captain in 1910. The missing officer was for some time stationed in West Africa (Northern Territories, Gold Coast). While there he saw some active service, accompanying the expedition which went into the Tiuasi country.

The Countess of Harewood has given £10 to the Queen's Employment of Women Fund.

Lord Harewood has sent to the Prince of Wales' Fund £250 15s. 2d. from his West Riding Fund.

A sum of £18 18s. has been sent from Ryther to the West Riding War Fund, per Rev. W. C. Carter.

MARRIAGE.—The marriage took place at Harewood on Wednesday of Mr Tom Mallorie, of Arthington, and Miss M. Myers, of Stubb House, Harewood. The bridegroom is a member of a well-known family, who have been tenants on the estate of Lord Harewood for many generations. The bride's family have also a long record as tenants on the estate. Mr Mallorie, who is a well-known follower of the Bramham Moor and Ainsty Hunts, has volunteered for service at the front.

ANGLING.—Sport has been extra good at Ryther, on the lower Wharfe, Mr A. G. Sykes, the honorary secretary of the Hopwell A.C., writes us (save a correspondent) that during the week-end Mr Jack Horner collected a small pile of over 20s., and Messrs W. Barker, A. Light, V. Barker, and himself were also well among them. Leeds and Castleford anglers will regret to hear of the decease of Mrs Marshall, of the Woodman Inn, at the age of ninety-one, who has catered for her fishing friends for upwards of half a century. The old place will not seem half like itself without her.

BUY ADGIE'S BOOTS "BY TEST THE BEST."

THE NEW SEASON'S FOOTWEAR HAS NOW ARRIVED.

The Street, the Country Lane, the Drawing Room, the Fireside, all are represented in our new display of

SPRING FOOT STYLES.

Please Come Round and Inspect our Display

ALL AT MODERATE PRICES.

Note the Address— ADGIE'S Wholesale & Retail Warehouse

31, NEVILLE STREET, LEEDS.

A minute's walk from City Square, down Bishopgate Street, and through Railway Arches. First Warehouse on right hand side.

FINAL REDUCTIONS — AT — SMITH & PETTY'S Summer Sale, 44, Lowerhead Row, LEEDS

Three Doors from Briggate.

FIVE PRICES:— 3s. 5s. 7s. 10s. 15s.

FOR COSTUMES, DRESSES, RAINCOATS, &c., &c

Best Value ever Offered. Genuine Bargains. See Windows.

REGISTERED. OPTOLINE REGISTERED.

THE GREAT CURE FOR COUGHS, BRONCHITIS, CONSUMPTION and GENERAL WEAKNESS.

Sold by all Chemists and Stores, 1/-, 1/6 and 2/6.

ON THE MARKET. TELEPHONE 57 CENTRAL.

J. N. HORSFIELD & SONS, 81 & 83, Swout Street, LEEDS.

THE CHALLENGE! Never Beaten

BRAITHWAITE'S

"The Firm with a Reputation."

ARE NOW MAKING A SPECIAL SHOW OF NEW GOODS In all the LATEST STYLES, for SPRING and SUMMER WEAR.

LADIES' & GENT.'S BOOTS & SHOES in Immense Variety at Prices to Suit all Purses.

5,000 Pairs of Children's Boots & Shoes. Newest Designs.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—We are still offering a lot of Odd Pairs at Ridiculously Low Prices until Cleared

BRAITHWAITE'S, The Value for Money Boot Stores,

58, VICAR LANE, LEEDS.

Closed at 1 o'clock on Wednesdays.

BEST & BOOTH

Tailors & Costumiers,

119, KIRKGATE, — AND — 143, BRIGGATE (Corner of Market Street), :: LEEDS.

Ladies' Department—143, BRIGGATE.

Look Out for B. & B.

SMITH BROS

HOLD A LARGE STOCK of MATERIALS — SUITABLE FOR — Red Cross & Hospital Work.

SPECIAL DISCOUNT ALLOWED FOR QUANTITIES.

BRIGGATE & COUNTY ARCADE, LEEDS.

HARRY HAYLEY,

Yorkshire Athletic Warehouse,

12, King Edward St., LEEDS

Telephone 56,

HAS NOW IN STOCK A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Jerseys, Knickers, Boots, Footballs,

ETC., IN ALL QUALITIES.

HOCKEY STICKS, 2/6 to 10/6.

A FINE SELECTION OF GOLF STICKS, BALLS, Etc.

Footballs as used in International, County, & Best Leagues.

FOOTBALL BOOTS, 4/11 to 11/6.

STOCKINGS - - 1/- to 2/6 Pair.

BOXING GLOVES, BOOTS, DANISH GYMNASTIC SHOES, Etc

Teasdale's Chlorodyne

All Men Joining the Army SHOULD HAVE WITH THEM Teasdale's Chlorodyne

A Safe Protector from common hazardous ailments—Choleraic Diarrhœa, Dysentery, etc.

GIVES INSTANT RELIEF; EASES PAIN. A BLESSING TO HAVE SUCH A GRAND MEDICINE.

Brigadier Fortune, Royal Horse Artillery: "I thank you for the great benefit that Teasdale's Chlorodyne has not only done for myself, but also for many of my comrades to whom I have given it. It has indeed been a blessing to have such a grand medicine in my possession. I have used it in numerous cases of Dysentery, Rheumatism, Pains in the Back, Coughs, and Colds. It acted like a charm in every case."

Teasdale's Chlorodyne

THE MOST VALUABLE PRESENT YOU CAN GIVE TO A FRIEND GOING TO THE FRONT.

7½d., 1s½d., and Large Bottles, 2/6.

Can be had of PURDY, Crossgates; REINARD, Halton, and other Chemists; GOODALL, BACKHOUSE & Co., and TAYLOR'S DRUG STORES.

ASK FOR TEASDALE'S CHLORODYNE.

Leeds: 'Phone No. 1949. Huddersfield: " 1609.

Watchmaker to the Admiralty.

William GREENWOOD,

Watchmaker and Jeweller,

92, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.

SPECIALITIES —

DRESS, ENGAGEMENT, AND WEDDING RINGS.

W. G. makes a Handsome Present with every Wedding Ring.

Wedding Presents, Birthday Presents, and Presentations of every kind.

— AND AT —

3, DEVONSHIRE BUILDINGS, VICTORIA LANE, HUDDERSFIELD.

Printed and Published by ARTHUR KNOX RHODES, of 26, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates, for the Proprietors of the "Rothwell Courier and Times" at their offices, 13, Aire Street, Leeds, in the County of York.

"The Rothwell Courier and Times" IS THE Only Weekly Newspaper PUBLISHED in the DISTRICT

Rothwell Courier & Times

AND

Methley, Oulton, Woodlesford, Carlton, Robin Hood, Lofthouse, Middleton, Stourton & Hunslet Chronicle

NO. 91—NEW SERIES [Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper] SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 26 1914 ESTAB. 1873 PRICE—ONE PENNY

Joshua Tetley & Son (Limited), THE BREWERY, LEEDS.

NOW READY IN BOTTLE.

East India Pale Ale, 2/- per dozen Small Bottles

Extra Stout, 1/9 per dozen Small Bottles.

Special (Non-Deposit) Mild Ale, 3/- dozen Large Bottles.

Delivered Free to Families within 20 Miles of Leeds.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

EMPIRE PALACE, BRIGGATE, LEEDS

TWO PERFORMANCES EVERY NIGHT, AT 6.30 AND AT 9.

Early Doors Monday, Tuesday, and Saturday, at 6 p.m.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 28th, 1914.

LITTLE TICH, The Great Little Comedian with New Songs.
SMARTE BROS. RICH & RICH.
THE RIALS. CARANGEOTS.
ADAM TOMLINSON, Dialect Comedian.
ADELE MORAW, The Gay Parisienne.

Latest War News and Actual Films from the Front.

Prices, 10s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 2s., 1s. 6d., 1s., 6d., 4d., 3d.

HIPPODROME, LEEDS.

Performances Nightly at 6.30 and 9.
NEXT WEEK.

"COME INSIDE."

The great Revue, Featuring Bessie Clifford, BELLE NORA, ALBERTA FLAHEY AND TENOR.

Note Prices:—10s. 6d., 2s., 6d., and 4d.

FRED BARBER,
Pork Butcher,
11. CALL LANE,
LEEDS.
TEL. 1604.

DRAINS TESTED AND REPAIRED.
SANITARY WORK A SPECIALITY
Pump Repairs, Electric Bells, Glazing and Gasfitting.
James Smithies,
Registered Plumber & Contractor.
Residence:—
43, AUSTHORPE ROAD, CROSSGATES.

Wm. HELLIWELL,
The Working Man's Friend,
212, Hunslet Rd., LEEDS
WATCH WINDOWS FOR GOOD HONEST VALUE.
Special Suits
From 30/-
NO FIT. NO PAY.

Established 1870 SPARKLING HOSPERADE TRADE MARK
An Exhilarating & Refreshing Beverage.
OBTAINABLE FROM HOTELS RESTAURANTS & STALLS
REYNOLDS & BRANSON Ltd LEEDS.

For TOWN or COUNTRY.
For BUSINESS or PLEASURE.
THE FABOR LOUNGE SUIT
IS AT 45/-
Fabor
45/-
Is the Hall-mark of Perfect Tailoring.
LOUNGE SUITS from 35/-
COSTUMES from 2 Guineas.
Tailor Made & Perfect Fit Guaranteed.
24, Queen Victoria Street, and County Arcade, LEEDS.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT JOTTINGS.

Why not bring one off-order before the Skyrack magistrates? At one of the Rothwell schools, near a recreation ground, damage has been done, and annoyance given, by a gang of youths who apparently think they have a right to make free with public property. The complaint is not a new one—it received the attention of the Education Committee some time ago—and as the young fellows have not taken warning from what was said then, and have set at naught what is exhibited on a notice board, it is evident that an example will have to be made of them if they are to be checked. Personally, I do not believe in taking youths into Court, if it can possibly be avoided, but if they are defiant, they should get what punishment they seek.

Garforth Wes. have the honour of taking the second cricket trophy to Garforth. From the first I thought their objection to the player who made the score for Tadcaster was sound, and the Executive had, in my opinion, no option to sustaining the objection, because the rule is explicit enough. Tadcaster were no doubt very awkwardly circumstanced, and when it was decided to play Harrison the qualification must have been overlooked, because it is difficult to believe they would have jeopardised their chances by knowingly including an ineligible man in the team.

Despite all the agitation, very few new nursing associations have been started in the district, and it is left to Aberford to set an example to more populous parishes in the neighbourhood. It is stated an association is to be formed to undertake work in Aberford, Saxton, and Towton, and in such a scattered district a nurse will have considerable distances to cover in carrying out her important duties. Had it been possible, Aberford and Barwick village would have been a more compact area, but the question of administration enters into consideration, and the Barwick folks did not seem very enthusiastic about it. Without doubt a nursing association is an extremely valuable institution, and some parishes, after several years' experience, would not now be without a district nurse.

In attempting to excel a stunt in music, a young Wetherby woman risked her life and lost it. Many of us who have seen the same foolish thing have been more fortunate, but the fate of the Wetherby woman should serve as a warning. It is very fascinating to see a train one intends to travel by going slowly out of the station, and the first impulse is to make a rush for a carriage and open the door and attempt to enter the compartment. It may be an impossible to handle bear the door the chances are that the effort will succeed, but it depends entirely on that. It is, however, taking a big risk, and a vigilant railway-man is about the only person likely to take.

In regard to conscience money Chancell's decision to pay ald-shaved workmen under sixty years of age a wage of not less than 25s. per week—a number of men have over that figure—the query is made as to who is to decide whether or not a man is fit and able-bodied. Usually such duty is left with the responsible official, and he should have no difficulty in choosing his men. Sometimes one hears complaints about how a roadmen fitter gets such a lot of while some of them may be well-shaved, it is not advisable to believe what every individual says. If there are "shirkers" among the men they should be known to those who have the supervision of them, and they should be dealt with according to their merits or demerits. Garforth Urban Council are now paying their roadmen better wages than those employed in other adjoining districts, and I suppose they are satisfied with the service they get, otherwise they would not have granted them increases. It is always advisable to pay a man for his work, and if he does not, on his part, fulfil his obligations the authority has its course to pursue.

Barkston Ash has thousands of poultry-keepers, and literature is being sent to Parish Councils with a view to interesting more people in poultry-raising, which may be profitable if carried out on the sound lines laid down by our expert. One Council had the subject under consideration the other night, but they appear to think that it is not worth of attention, or that it does not come within the scope of their duties to give information on the question, because they decided to take no action. Hens, cocks and hens bring a big income to cottagers who have facilities for keeping them.

Will members of Tadcaster District Insurance Committee strike? According to a correspondence sent members are to send in their resignations in consequence of their inability to obtain any allowance, or travelling expenses, in connection with meetings. The Commissioners state that there is no money available for such a purpose. Tadcaster is a very large area, and the meetings of the Committee, I believe, are held alternately at Tadcaster and Garforth, and working-men representatives are apparently disinclined, or unable to bear the expense following attendance at the meetings. In some places allowances have been made to members of Insurance Committees, and this knowledge does not tend apparently to the contentment of members of the Tadcaster Committee.

At the end of the present month Mr Robert Routledge will, I understand, retire from the management of Garforth Collieries, after thirty-three years' service, and he will be succeeded by his son, who is probably best-known for the part he has played in the formation and management of the Garforth Ambulance League. Mr Routledge, sen., has for many years been associated with the public life of the district, and at the present time he is a member of Tadcaster Board of Guardians and Garforth Urban Council. Garforth, when he came to it, was a small place, but with the development of the collieries, which now employ a very large number of men at the three pits, it has grown until its population now exceeds 4,000. Mr Routledge was for a good many years on the Tadcaster District Council, and he was a member of the defunct Parish Council of Garforth, so that he may fairly claim to have done his share of public work.

So great a success were the Gilchrist lectures at Garforth last year that the Committee, which is a representative one, have decided to provide a course of five lectures this winter. Owing to causes it is not necessary to mention, it is possible the attendances will not be so large as at the last course—the large central hall at the Council School was filled on every occasion—but the promoters expect the residents to rally to their support in hundreds. The lecturers will be Mr W. Parsons, Principal of the Leeds Training College; Mr Albert Gilligan, B.Sc., F.G.S.; Professor Kendall (Leeds), Professor Garstang (Oxon.), and the Rev. Thomas Gough, B.Sc., F.C.S., all of whom have a high reputation. Professor Kendall's lecture on the geology of Garforth should be especially interesting to a mining population.

At a recent meeting of Kippax Education Committee something was said about the advancing of teachers' salaries, and certain of the members seemed to wonder why this question came before them at all. At the last meeting of Garforth Committee reports on teachers' work were received from headmasters, and they were all satisfactory, increases of salary being recommended. If a report is unsatisfactory the committee can recommend the withholding of an advance for that year, but it is rarely that such a thing occurs. The West Riding Authority has a scale for teachers, and all appointments are made under it.

Provided the collieries can keep going there is not likely to be much distress in the district in spite of the outbreak of the war. In certain places, I understand, farmers are complaining of a scarcity of labour, and the withdrawal of farm hands in order to join the army may account for this, so much as to all appearances those dependent on agriculture will be fully employed. In Tadcaster, from which over a hundred men have gone, there is a sufficiency of work, and from the larger villages no complaints have yet come. The collieries, which are working short time, give employment to several thousands of men, and if trade is good enough to keep them going the men will probably manage to get over the war period.

If the Charity Commissioners have made up their minds concerning the division of the Barwick charities, it is little use getting the assistance of the County Council, but it is possible they were throwing out a "feeler," and it will be too late to give up fighting when the new scheme is completed. Few of Crossgates residents are interested in the question, but the Leeds authorities are moving, they are not magnanimous enough to leave Barwick with its charities—and it is not unlikely they have made representations to the Charity Commissioners. My contention is that Barwick, to which the charities were left before Crossgates was in existence, is entitled to the larger share, but if the Charity Commissioners carry out the intention the Act of Parliament—and the officials of Crossgates residents are interested in the question, but the Leeds authorities are moving, they are not magnanimous enough to leave Barwick with its charities—and it is not unlikely they have made representations to the Charity Commissioners. My contention is that Barwick, to which the charities were left before Crossgates was in existence, is entitled to the larger share, but if the Charity Commissioners carry out the intention the Act of Parliament—and the income will go into the Leeds exchequer. This, of course, applies to the charity the income of which is used in the reduction of the poor rate.

Does Schools want public lighting? The village, which has two churches, a school, a pub, and a railway station Barwick cannot boast of that—has to go, but I believe it possesses lamps, and at the last Council meeting reference was made to the question. It would not cost much to light the "haven of rest," as it has been termed, and if there is any desire on the part of the residents to make the rates bear the cost they have only to say so. The power is in their own hands.

Is the lion's cage? At Lofthouse Park is to be utilised as a home for German prisoners, it is suggested that the refractory ones might be placed in the lion's cage. Our authorities, however, are not likely to emulate the Germans. At Munich French prisoners are placed behind iron bars and a sum equivalent to twopence is charged the public who want to see them. It is evident that the "stocking" of the Fatherland is well-night empty when this plan is adopted to raise funds.

A Robin Hood miner, however, has what he considers a better method of dealing with German prisoners. "My opinion," he says, "is that German prisoners should work for their rations, and not to be sent to a pleasure island—Isle of Man. Send them into the pits to work, and for every one sent Kitchener will get a recruit providing his earnings goes into the Relief Fund." This is an interesting suggestion, but what would the Miners' Union say? At one colliery, I understand, a German was employed, and the miners were not satisfied until he was sacked. Would the Robin Hood miners work alongside Germans? Moreover, there is danger enough in connection with our collieries without introducing more.

At the recruiting meetings in the district a great deal has been heard about a "wrap of paper," and it is interesting to know how the German people view their obligations with respect to the neutrality of Belgium. I have seen a letter written by a German lady, and in the course of it she states:—"We had assured Belgium on our word of honour, which still holds with us, that we only wanted her country to pass through, and that we would pay for everything and replace everything damaged, and pay for everything we used. this Belgium declained and placed herself at enmity with us. How the Belgians behaved will for ever be a blot in the history of the world. Where does greater barbarity exist among the wild men of West Africa? Had one not experienced it, it could not have been believed." This precious communication clearly shows how the German people have been fed with false news. Fancy the brutal Germans accusing the brave little Belgians of barbarity!

Crossgates has its students of the Old Book, and on occasion they can use their knowledge with purpose. "Let Britain's reply to the Kaiser's so-called proposals for a 'draw' be found in the First Book of Samuel, chapter 15, verses 32 and 33." Thus writes F. W., of Crossgates. I consulted the Book, and this is what I found:—"Then said Samuel, Bring ye hither to me Agag. The King of the Amalekites. And Agag came unto him delicately. And Agag said, Surely the bitterness of death is past. And Samuel said, As thy sword hath made women childless, so shall thy mother be childless among women. And Samuel hewed Agag in pieces before the Lord in Gilgal." The Allies must take note of this Crossgates suggestion.

Not only is the war upsetting business but it is seriously interfering with the education of our young men and women. In Garforth, where evening classes have been held for many winters, the attendances at the schools which were opened this month have been so disappointing that orders have been issued to stop certain classes, and, if possible, to amalgamate others. It is possible that a number of young men who intended to join the classes have joined the Army, but the girls have not gone to the Front as nurses, and they made a worse show than the men.

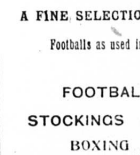
Owing to the number of youths joining the colours, Aberford motor-bike users unable to race a event on Saturday.

Fêtes.—The annual feast at Aberford took place last week-end, when the usual round-abouts, swings, etc., attracted a large number of people to the fair ground. Business was not quite so brisk as on previous years, although there was a good number of visitors.

Marriage.—The marriage took place in Leeds on Friday of Miss Ida Holmes, daughter of Mr Arthur Thomas Holmes, Aberford, Leeds, and Mr Lionel Holl Lawson, son of Mr Frederick William Lawson, of Adel. The bridegroom, who is a member of a family well-known in the district, is entering upon his career in the City, and Mr W. F. Snowdon was best man. The honeymoon is being spent at Scarborough.

Motor Smash at Adel.—Mr Wilfred Maude (39), joint partner in merchants' and Victoria Terrace, Hebden, died at Halifax on Wednesday night from injuries received earlier in the evening in a motor-car accident in Otley Road, Adel. The circumstances under which the accident occurred are not yet definitely known, but the accident happened shortly before 10 o'clock, at a dangerous point known as the Cross Roads, opposite the old Adel workhouse. Mr Maude, who was accompanied by three friends, was himself driving the car in the direction of Leeds when the mishap occurred. To what it was due is not yet clear, but it is suggested that one of the tyres burst, causing the car to overturn. By the side of the road there are wheel-marks on it is understood that for some distance the car had run on the grass, crossed a channel, and then recrossed the road, before finally overturning. All the occupants were pitched out, and when assistance came to hand, it was found that Mr Maude had been seriously injured, his head, chest, and feet being badly cut. He was carried to the surgery of Dr Henry Archbold Smith, of Holly Bank, in a semi-conscious state, and treated there, but refused to go to the Leeds Infirmary. Another motor was procured, and Mr Maude was driven to Halifax, but on the way home he expired.

ACTION FOR LIBEL.



J. LYONS & CO., Limited (Plaintiffs)
v.
LIPTON, Limited (Defendants).

IN the HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE Mr. Justice Sankey, on September 8th, 1914, granted an Interim Injunction restraining Lipton Limited, their Agents and Servants, from speaking or publishing or writing and publishing any words to the effect or of the substance that J. Lyons & Co., Limited, or the Directorate thereof, is composed of Germans, and that by purchasing their commodities the public is assisting the enemies of Great Britain.

J. LYONS & CO., Ltd. (By Appointment to His Majesty the King), IS AN ALL-BRITISH COMPANY WITH ALL-BRITISH DIRECTORS,
HAS 14,000
ALL-BRITISH SHAREHOLDERS,
AND 160,000
ALL-BRITISH SHOPKEEPERS
SELLING
LYONS' TEA

Cadby Hall, Kensington, London, W.

SMITH BROS
HOLD A
LARGE STOCK of MATERIALS
— SUITABLE FOR —
Red Cross & Hospital Work.
SPECIAL DISCOUNT ALLOWED FOR QUANTITIES.
BRIGGATE & COUNTY ARCADE, LEEDS.

HARRY HAYLEY,
Yorkshire Athletic Warehouse,
12, King Edward St., LEEDS
Telephone 56,
HAS NOW IN STOCK A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF
Jerseys, Knickers, Boots, Footballs,
ETC., IN ALL QUALITIES.
HOCKEY STICKS, 2/6 to 10/6.
A FINE SELECTION OF GOLF STICKS, BALLS, Etc.
Footballs as used in International, County, & Best Leagues.
FOOTBALL BOOTS, 4/11 to 11/6.
STOCKINGS - - 1/- to 2/6 Pair.
BOXING GLOVES, BOOTS,
DANISH GYMNASTIC SHOES, Etc

LEEDS AND HOLBECK PERMANENT BUILDING SOCIETY.
96 ALBION STREET (Corner of Guildford Street, LEEDS).
DAILY from 10 to 3, Saturdays 10 to 1 and Saturday Evenings 6.30 to 8.
3½ PER CENT. INTEREST ALLOWED ON SUBSCRIPTION & PAID UP SHARES.
3 PER CENT. ALLOWED ON DEPOSITS.
WITHDRAWALS CAN BE MADE AT SHORT NOTICE.
PROSPECTUS ON APPLICATION.
Telephone No. 253. JNO. EXLEY, President. WM. MAUDE, Manager & Secretary.

OUR GARDENS.

A Weekly Article specially Written for

Amateur Gardeners, Allotment Holders, &c.

By ALBERT CLARKE, Birkenshaw.

THE FLOWER GARDEN.

The fast shortening days herald the approach of autumn weather, and with a few exceptions flowering plants are assuming a rather depressing appearance. Sentiment must not be allowed to interfere with the routine work of the flower garden, and there should be no hesitation about removing plants that have finished flowering. It is important that spring-flowering plants and bulbs should be planted in good time, whilst the soil is comparatively warm. Where this is done the roots commence to work almost immediately, with the result that the well-matured subjects re-establish themselves before winter sets in.

BULBS

Where beds or borders are filled with bulbs, an effort should be made to carpet the surface with some dwarf subject such as Arabis, London Pride, or Violas. If this is done the bulbs, even if late in flowering, will be kept cool and moist, and will flower all the better for the shade. It produces a quantity of charming little white flowers in spring, and may be used effectively with all kinds of bulbs and hyacinths except white ones. The dark green foliage of the London Pride forms an excellent background to white flowered bulbs, and it grows so freely that the surface of the soil must quickly be covered. Free use of these dwarf plants may be made to curtail expense in purchasing bulbs, as half the usual quantity of bulbs will give the desired effect.

THE VEGETABLE GARDEN.

When late-sown vegetables are being grown an important duty, free use of the hoe, must be constantly attended to. The chances of success will be very small. Frequent showers cause the surface of the soil to get pasty, and it is only by constantly moving it that free aeration can be secured. Almost every gardener realises the importance of stirring the surface soil between growing crops during the summer months, but for some unexplained reason the work is discontinued when the days begin to shorten. We strongly advise our readers to persevere with the work as long as the soil remains in a workable condition.

Liquid manure plays an important part in the vegetable garden at this time of the year. Cauliflowers, late peas, scarlet runners, and other crops that take a long time to mature may be greatly assisted by a periodical application of this valuable food. Asparagus beds should also receive attention this month. Permanent crops of this description obviously require plenty of feeding. Horse-radish, mint, seakale, chibbols, and parsley will all repay for generous treatment. It is to be feared that the value of liquid manure is not generally recognised, but those who care to experiment with it will soon be persuaded of its value.

VEGETABLE MARROWS

Every one should be taken of this crop this week. The fruits remain useful for months if not cut and stored before they become over-ripe. The edible bearing qualities of the vegetable marrow results in many fruits being allowed to remain on the plant until the foliage commences to rot. In the face of a possible shortage of food supplies it would be sinful to allow a single fruit to run to waste. They should be cut while green, and stored in a cool, perfectly dry place until they turn hard. They may also be shredded from the end of a frost-proof room or shed until required for use.

STRAWBERRY BEDS

Strawberry beds should now receive a final clearing up. Remove all runners, weeds, straw, and the long-stalked old leaves. This will allow light and air to reach the crowns, and consequently assist them to get plump and ripe. A few of the strongest rooted runners may be planted on a rich piece of ground. They should be kept under observation when the foliage is in season next year, and any that fail to bloom should be pulled out. The remainder will prove excellent stock plants, and if all the runners are then wanted to provide plants for forcing it will be found advisable to remove the flower stems to divert the energy of the plant into the runners.

HERBS

Thyme, sage, marjoram, mint, parsley, etc., should be cut and dried at once if not already done. Care should be taken when cutting that the leaves are perfectly dry. Tie in small bundles and hang in a perfectly dry position until the leaves become crisp, then pass through a fine sieve and store in airtight boxes or bottles.

It is not too late to plant parsley in a cold frame for winter use. Strong young plants are best for the purpose, and they should be planted in fairly rich soil in a sunny situation. They need to be used until the end of October, and after that date free ventilation should be given on all favourable occasions.

PLANTS IN POTS.

BURMESE RHODODENDRONS.

The Burmese Rhododendrons are very popular amongst amateurs who take up the cultivation of orchids. "Amateur," writing from Cooper Bridge, says he has grown two plants of Dendrobium Nobile for some years, and has never been able to flower them. They grow freely, but instead of producing flowers, they develop aerial growths. The cause of this is not hard to find. This class of Dendrobe requires a season of rest. They should be grown during summer in a warm House, but as soon as growth is complete, that is, when no more young leaves are being made at the top of the young growths, they should be removed to a cool, airy house and kept dry for a few weeks. Water should be given if the stems commence to shrivel. Early in the new year the flower buds will commence to move, and the plants may then be returned to the warm house and watering may be recommenced. "Amateur" has evidently kept his plants in the warm house, and kept them continuously supplied with water. It treated as recommended above they are sure to make, and give a splendid show of flowers. An excellent companion plant to the above is Dendrobium Wardianum. It is not generally known that Dendrobiums thrive on ordinary House loam. The Wardianum does well, but it improves when its roots take a hold of the turf.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS

Preparations must now be made for housing the plants. Under no circumstances should the large-flowered varieties be allowed to remain outdoor after the buds commence to unfold, or the petals will assuredly damp in wet weather if left open. The greenhouse should be washed down and made clean and sweet before the plants are brought in. A thorough washing with carbolic soap will do away with green fly, mealy bug, etc., but it will destroy countless insects also. Continue to feed with liquid manure twice a week, and persevere with the disbudding. Keep the shoots carefully tied. High winds may spring up at any moment at this time of the year.

GENERAL REMINDERS

There is still time to sow calceolarias, calceolarias, and primula malacoides. Sow in gentle heat, but remove the pan former to a cool house as soon as the seedlings appear.

Early batches of cinerarias and cal ceolarias may require repotting. This should be attended to at once. It is not advisable to repot them later than early October. Keep them well supplied with weak liquid manure twice a week, and persevere with the disbudding. Keep the shoots carefully tied. High winds may spring up at any moment at this time of the year.

GENERAL REMINDERS

There is still time to sow calceolarias, calceolarias, and primula malacoides. Sow in gentle heat, but remove the pan former to a cool house as soon as the seedlings appear.

Early batches of cinerarias and cal ceolarias may require repotting. This should be attended to at once. It is not advisable to repot them later than early October. Keep them well supplied with weak liquid manure twice a week, and persevere with the disbudding. Keep the shoots carefully tied. High winds may spring up at any moment at this time of the year.

Schizanthus, in variety, Clarkia Elegans, Beauty of Nice Stocks, and Godetias, may now be sown for spring flowering. Grow them cool.

Midmission Carnation layers should be potted up if not already done. Keep them in the frame where they were layered, and at no time resort to excessive heat. Cool treatment gives the best results.

LOFTHOUSE PARK FOR WAR PRISONERS.

CONCERTS AND LION CAGES—A SUGGESTION.

Since the announcement made a fortnight ago, that if found necessary the War Office would convert Lofthouse Park into a compound for German prisoners of war considerable activity has been noticed at the park.

Men are busily employed clearing away the bushes in the gardens, and quantities of paling, wire, and other material have been taken to the spot.

The park, which is situated on the high road, near Rothwell, seems well adapted for the purpose of a compound. It is dry, with fine trees around, and it is already served with water and electricity, and is connected by telephone. It possesses its own private house, and the buildings in the centre of the park, which is a large public building includes a large dancing hall and a skating rink below, and the present extensive cooking arrangements can easily be supplemented.

There is excellent seating accommodation around the bandstand, and no doubt says a correspondent, concerts could be arranged—with military band—for the benefit of prisoners who behave themselves. Refractory prisoners, on the other hand, could be accommodated in the open-air lion cages.

Three British cruisers, the Aboukir, the Hogue, and the Cressy, have been sunk by submarines in the North Sea. The Aboukir was torpedoed, and while she lay disabled the Cressy and Hogue stood and were standing by to save the crew when they were also torpedoed. A considerable number were saved by H.M.S. Lowestoft and by a division of destroyers, trawlers, and boats.

INDIGESTION CURED.

SICKNESS AND VOMITING.

17, Shaw Lane,

Headingley, Leeds.

Dear Sirs,—I feel it a duty upon me to inform you, and through you the public, of the virtues of the WONDERFUL BENEFIT I have received from taking your Herbal Medicine. I was troubled with sickness and vomiting owing to Indigestion, and for nearly a month I could not keep food, and NOTHING WOULD STAY ON MY STOMACH. I gradually grew weaker and weaker. I grew afraid terribly soon prime in my body, my tongue was dry and furred coated, and in short I couldn't feel I could scarcely speak. Eventually, I got so weak that I COULD NOT WALK WITHOUT HELP from my wife and my friends said I was dying fast. The doctor said that no medicine in the world would do me good, and the only thing that could save my life was an operation. At that time I only weighed 5 stones and did not feel inclined to undergo the operation owing to being so weak.

Hearing heard a good account of your Herbal Medicine I decided to give your remedy a trial. During the first weeks of your treatment, my weight increased from 5 stones to 7 stones, and now I have been cured several weeks, I weight just over 9 stones. The soreness and acidity of the stomach, the pain in the back, and the dizziness have all left me, and I can honestly say that I NEVER FELT SO WELL OR SO STRONG IN MY LIFE. Thanking you for your kind and careful attention—I am, Sir, yours sincerely—

(Miss) L. TATE.

SKIN SPECIALIST
MEDICAL HERBALIST
PROF. CROSSWAITE
LEEDS

£10 REWARD.—This Reward will be paid by Mr. J. Crosswaite to the first person giving Information leading to a conviction of a certain unscrupulous person at present calling upon householders in his name, and offering for sale Recipes, Medicines, Pills, Ointments, etc., falsely representing the same to have been prepared by Mr. Crosswaite.

Information may be lodged at the nearest Police Station or Detective Office, Town Hall, Leeds, or Mr. J. Crosswaite, 84, Kirkstall Road, Leeds.

PROFITABLE POULTRY CULTURE

By RALPH R. ALLEN,

Lecturer to the Horbury County Council; Editor of "Scoring Hints on Poultry," &c.

(All rights reserved)

WAR CHAT—No. 6.

The Board of Agriculture and Fisheries has issued a leaflet, which appears to me to be most timely in respect to the matter of the utilisation of poultry keepers' local resources in the difficulties which have arisen owing to the war.

In this and many other leaflets I purpose to point out things in poultry culture that will enable poultry keepers who look to me for guidance.

"Where is abundance a danger at any time in the year," the leaflet reading continues in its general demand for other purposes, and are consequently high in price, that many poultry-keepers may be disposed to decrease the size of their flocks and devote their energies in this direction. Such a course would be against the best interests of both the individual and the nation, since the greater the amount of human food produced in the country the better will it be for all concerned.

"The increasing use of concrete floors has practically emptied the dust of feeding can be economised, and, moreover, the yield from each fowl will be increased to any appreciable extent.

"At the present time of year, with the new and early harvests over, there is no reason why any farmer in this district should keep and rear the land. Under such conditions the birds will be able to forage for a very large amount of the necessary food, food that would otherwise be wasted. With the poultry kept on the "free" system, instruction should be to distribute the birds over the land as far as possible. This can only be done as a general rule on medium-sized holdings and farms. The small plots allotted to small poultry-keepers are handicapped in this direction. Those who cultivate only a limited area of ground should make up their losses by growing as much food for their fowls as possible.

"Of the usual feeding stuffs a number are now high in price, and until the demand in other directions for poultry foods can be remitted from the list of poultry foods, or be used only to a limited extent.

"Our war is a war in which any of its products have forced upon it the basis of feeding, but, for some time to come it will be necessary to curtail the use of these foods. Even foods not required for human consumption, such as bran and middlings, are hopelessly out of the reach of many poultry-keepers. To a lesser extent they may also have to dispense with oats and barley. "There are, however, foods still to be obtained in the market. Though this is not an ideal poultry food, it will have to be used in larger proportions than heretofore. A number of smaller grains, such as flour, Manchurian millet, kaffir corn, buckwheat, and rice have not been seriously affected in price, and all are eminently suitable for poultry feeding."

(Any enquiries concerning poultry keeping addressed to our expert, Captain Ralph R. Allen, Horbury, near Wakefield, will be answered through these columns free, but those requiring a postal answer direct, or sending birds for postmortem examination must enclose half-crown postal order. The name of the writer must in all cases be given).

The West Riding Horticultural Chamber of Trades has decided to ask the Government to pass an Act to be called "Marchurian millet, kaffir corn, buckwheat, and rice have not been seriously affected in price, and all are eminently suitable for poultry feeding."

The Duke of Devonshire has granted the use of Ire Hall, Bolton Abbey, where he has entertained the King, as a home for Belgian refugees.

A fire occurred on the show ground of the Royal Agricultural Society of Australia at Melbourne on Tuesday, and damage estimated at £100,000 was done.

A seaman, named Annie Morgan, was at York on Tuesday sent to gaol for six months for failing to notify that she had nurse children in her house with infectious fever. They were not her children, and it was all efforts to trace one child, which person received from Pontefract, had failed.

The new members of Parliament were elected on polling day for Ripon, Sir Waldo Rumbold, Bart. (Conservative), will fill the vacancy in the House of Lords caused by the death of Sir Stephen Richard Cassel, Bart. Mr. T. Todd (Labour) secured the seat for Mr. A. H. Gill, who represented Bolton.

Dr. Oliver has been asked by Lord Kitchener to equip a hospital for convalescent soldiers and an equal number of sooks, to be distributed at the front. Her Majesty has issued an appeal to the women of the Empire to assist her in making this offering to the troops, to be ready, if possible, early in November.

DURING THE WAR USE
COLMAN'S POULTRY MUSTARD
AND SECURE MORE EGGS
"The Poultry Keeper's Account Book" and other literature, post free on application to
PRICE LIST.
2lb. ... 0/8
Dlb. ... 0/7.
1CWT. ... 2/10
5Cwt. ... 2/10
Carriage Paid
RALPH R. ALLEN,
Sawbridgeworth
Herts.
BRITAIN REQUIRES MORE FOOD!

ALLEN'S ROUP CURE, 21 Post Paid.
Each package contains a powder to make 2½ gallons of medicine, and is a guaranteed cure for roup, diphtheria, &c. Prevention is better than cure, and practical poultry keepers will ever-mindful of this precaution in the fowls' drinking water, and so render their birds immune.
Full directions are given with each packet.
To be obtained only from R. H. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

ALLEN'S TONIC CAPSULES, 1/6 post paid
Hitherto called "Poultry Kurzo Leaves." Immediately a bird is noticed off colour a capsule (iron, quinine, and cod-liver oil) night and morning will speedily put it right. Try one day before and after shows they are invaluable.
To be obtained only from R. H. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

THE MOST PRACTICAL UTILITY POULTRY PAPER.
MONTHLY HINTS ON POULTRY
32 page, profusely illustrated, art paper, &c.
2½ per annum, post free, 6d. each.
THE EDITOR, Sawbridgeworth, HERTS.
Write for specimen copy.

Pure-bred Laying Pullets 7/6 each.
We can offer you selected Rhode Island Red, White, Black, and Brown Leghorn, White Orpington and White Wyandotte, Matured Ist-hatched Pullets, at 7s. 6d. each. Unrelated Pigeons Collected. Full Guarantee. Approval.
ALLEN POULTRY Co., Ltd., Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

BARWICK AND SCHOLES WAR DISTRESS FUND.

A SPLENDID RESPONSE—£103 5s RECEIVED.

A meeting of the Barwick and Scholes District Committee was held on Thursday night at the Church School, Barwick—Mr. J. M. Rayner in the chair. Others present were Messrs. J. W. Birch, A. Booth, R. Murray, J. Pemberton, W. Smith, A. Townsley, R. Wright, and H. K. Clarke (hon. sec.).

The committee proceeded to collecting books, and those of the district were made were as follows:—Collected by Messrs. A. Booth and R. Wright, £3 15s; collected by Messrs. H. Pemberton and A. Townsley, £7 0s 6d; collected by Messrs. J. W. Birch, A. Booth, R. Murray, J. Pemberton, W. Smith, A. Townsley, and H. K. Clarke (hon. sec.).

The committee will be at the Church School, Barwick, on Thursday, October 1st, and it is hoped on that day the fund is to be closed. The list of subscribers received is as follows:—

BARWICK WARD.

Collected by Messrs. A. Booth and R. Wright.

	£	s.	d.
Mr. H. Tallon	0	0	6
Miss Tallon	1	0	0
Mrs. Wainwright	1	0	0
Mrs. A. E. Pemberton	0	10	0
Mrs. Dickson	0	10	0
Mr. A. Booth	0	10	0
Messrs. R. and M. Hoon	0	10	0
Mr. H. Townsend	0	5	0
Mr. F. Lindley	0	5	0
Miss North	0	5	0
Mr. Wright	0	5	0
Mr. J. Drake	0	5	0
Mr. T. Howson	0	5	0
Mr. F. Bishop	0	4	0
Miss L. Antcliffe	0	3	0
Mr. E. E. Taylor	0	2	6
Mr. A. Chippindale	0	2	6
Mr. G. Armitage	0	2	6
Mrs. Wessley	0	2	6
Mr. J. W. Willmshaw	0	2	6
Misses Saville and Rhodes	0	2	6
Mr. Geo. Robshaw	0	2	6
Mr. Jas. Robshaw	0	2	6
Mr. M. Rookes	0	2	6
Mr. Silvey	0	2	6
Mr. Sykes	0	2	6
Mr. Gallingworth	0	2	0
Mrs. Eaton	0	2	0
Mr. Eaton	0	2	0
Mrs. Duff and Miss Spink	0	2	0
Mrs. M. A. Hoon	0	2	0
Mr. C. Perkin	0	2	0
Mr. F. Swann	0	2	0
Mr. J. H. Walker	0	2	0
Mr. Geo. Hewitt	0	2	0
Mrs. Drake	0	2	0
Mrs. Dickenson	0	2	0
Mr. Thos. Thorpe	0	1	0
Mr. C. Robshaw	0	1	0
Miss. Perkin	0	1	0
Mrs. Gillum	0	1	0
Mr. Tom Braithwaite	0	1	0
Mr. W. H. Hoon	0	1	0
Mr. Geo. Pinder	0	1	0
Mr. W. Wise	0	1	0
Mrs. Roberts	0	1	0
Mr. M. Wilkinson	0	1	0
Mr. H. Jones	0	1	0
Mr. Gallingworth	0	1	0
Mrs. Perkin	0	1	0
Mr. Tankard	0	1	0
Mr. J. H. Garnett	0	1	0
Mrs. M. Barker	0	1	0
Mrs. Barker	0	1	0
Miss E. Thompson	0	1	0
Mr. Alf. Wilkinson	0	1	0
Mr. Hobson	0	1	0
Mrs. Wyke	0	0	6
Mr. C. Jones	0	0	6
Mr. Scargill	0	0	6
Mrs. Wilkes	0	0	6
Mrs. Balmer	0	0	6
Mr. Webster	0	0	6
	£11	17	0

Collected by Messrs. J. W. Birch and R. Murray.

	£	s.	d.
Mr. R. Murray	2	2	0
Mr. Geo. Green	1	0	0
Mr. Wrigglesworth	0	5	0
Mrs. Brierley	0	5	0
Mr. H. Dixon	0	5	0
Mr. J. Thorpe	0	5	0
Mr. J. D. Pinder	0	5	0
Mr. W. Hartley	0	5	0
Mr. J. T. Bowman	0	5	0
Mr. J. H. Ricks	0	5	0
Mr. E. Williamson	0	5	0
Mr. A. Bromley	0	2	6
Mr. and Mrs. Hobson	0	2	6
Mr. Dyson	0	2	6
Mr. H. Moorby	0	2	6
Mr. S. Braithwaite	0	2	0
Mr. J. Balderson	0	2	0
Mrs. Collett	0	2	0
Mr. G. B. Rhodes	0	2	0
Mr. E. Whitehead	0	2	0
Mr. G. Tordoff	0	2	0
Mr. W. Armitage	0	2	0
Mrs. Crowson	0	1	6
Mrs. Wilkinson	0	1	0
Mr. and Mrs. Collett	0	1	0
Mrs. Cheesborough	0	1	0
Mrs. Lumb	0	1	0
Mr. Howard	0	1	0
Mrs. G. Shead	0	1	0
Miss A. Shead	0	1	0
Mrs. Garbutt	0	1	0
Mr. W. Osbolme	0	1	0
Mr. T. Backhouse	0	1	0
Mr. S. J. Crowther	0	1	0
Mr. W. H. Poulter	0	1	0
Mr. T. Jowett	0	1	0
Mr. F. Jowett	0	0	6
Mr. H. Garnett	0	0	6
Mr. S. Kirk	0	0	6
Mr. D. Cooper	0	0	6
Mr. W. Jowett	0	0	6
	£6	12	6

Collected by Mr. Childe.

	£	s.	d.
Mr. H. A. Childe	10	0	0
Miss Childe	1	0	0
Servants of Patterton Hall	1	2	0
Messrs. R. and G. Childe	0	10	0
Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson	0	10	0
Mrs. Stuck	0	10	0
Mr. R. West	0	3	0
Mrs. Green	0	2	6
	£14	19	6

SCHOLES WARD.

Collected by Messrs. F. Puffett, J. M. Rayner, and A. Townsley.

	£	s.	d.
Mrs. Gray	20	0	0
Mr. and Mrs. M. Wood	10	0	0
Mr. J. M. Rayner	5	0	0
Mr. and Mrs. A. Townsley	5	0	0
Mr. A. Chippindale	5	0	0
Mr. J. Pemberton	5	0	0
Mr. and Mrs. A. Garnett	5	0	0
Mr. W. Dawson	5	0	0
Mrs. F. Puffett	2	0	0
Mr. W. Lawrence	1	1	0
Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Jessop	1	1	0
Mr. W. E. Farrar	1	1	0
Miss Chippindale	1	0	0
Mrs. H. Elsworth	1	0	0
Mr. A. Proctor	1	0	0
Mr. J. M. Haigh	1	0	0
Mr. W. H. Bean	1	0	0
Mrs. Furniss	1	0	0
Miss S. Dawson	1	0	0
Mrs. Walker Dawson	1	0	0
Mr. R. C. Oldham	1	0	0
Mr. I. M. Chippindale	1	0	0

Telegrams—"SCOTT, SELBY." Telephone—0194, SELBY.

M. SCOTT & Co.,

Seed Crushers, Grain and Tillage Merchants,

Established 1863 SELBY. Established 1863

Manufacturers of S.S. Pure Linseed & Pure Cottonseed (Egyptian & Bombay) Cakes. Pure Soya Cakes, & Special Soya-Cotton Cakes.

NO SECOND QUALITIES MADE.

NUTTED CAKE (for Sheep or Cattle), FEEDING MEALS of all kinds, MAIZE (whole or ground), FEEDING TREACLE, PURE LINSEED OIL for CATTLE, MACHINE OIL, etc. CAN DELIVER PROMPTLY.

Mr. F. C. Puffett	0	10	6
Mr. F. Hodgson	0	10	0
Mrs. Burley	0	10	0
Mr. Beatting	0	10	0
Mrs. W. Lawrence	0	10	0
Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Armitage	0	7	6
Mr. F. J. Pickles	0	5	0
Mr. W. Dobson	0	5	0
"A Pal"	0	5	0
Mr. and Mrs. A. Brown	0	5	0
Mr. Richardson	0	5	0
Mr. Alvin	0	2	6
Mr. Bramley	0	2	6
Mr. Nicholson	0	2	6
Mr. H. R. Clarke	0	2	6
Mr. Heggott	0	2	0
Mr. Cunningham	0	2	0
Mr. Hornsedale	0	2	0
Mr. J. Shilburn	0	2	0
Mr. F. Pool	0	1	0
Mr. J. Marsden	0	1	0
Mr. T. Whittaker	0	1	0
Miss Scargill	0	1	0
Mr. Lorryman	0	1	0
Mrs. Robshaw	0	1	0
Mrs. Horton	0	1	0
Mr. Shippen	0	1	0
Mr. Rycroft	0	1	0
Mr. C. Goodall	0	0	6
	£79	14	0

FOOTBALL NOTES.

TADCASTER DEFEATED—A STRENUOUS GAME.

Tadcaster had a York League match with another Leeds on the ground of the latter. The same lined up as follows:—Lowther United—Dodsworth, goal; Hanby and Dungate, backs; G. Frankel, S. Watford (captain), and E. Slater, half-backs; Fanthorpe, Mercer, H. Wackett, Shaw, and Sheppard, forwards. Tadcaster—Wilson, goal; G. Clayton and Wardley, backs; Hewitt, W. Clayton and Jolly, half-backs; Beaumont, Birdsall, E. Nettleton, Moss, and Ellerbeck, forwards. Lowther kicked off and made a brief attack. The visitors then got away, but offside play stopped them. Splendid passing between Sheppard and Shaw put the homesters in a good position, but Wackett shot outside. The same player a little later tried to rush the ball through, but Clayton cleared. The visiting centre forward was responsible for a clever movement, which he wound up by sending out to Ellerbeck, who shot wide. Soon after Ellerbeck gave the visitor's right winger, and a very speedy player, put his side in a very good position, but once more offside play spoiled a good movement. The homesters were not to be denied, however, for a rush through by Wackett ended in his scoring a clever goal. After Fanthorpe had tricked several opponents and kicked down the field, the visiting backs muffed and Wackett was very unlucky not to score. Fanthorpe sent in a beautiful shot, which the visiting custodian cleverly saved. Excellent passing by the homesters nearly resulted in a score. A capital centre by Beaumont was taken by Birdsall, but he shot wide when in a good position. Sheppard, after beating several opponents, sent into Shaw, who was given fine possession. The latter put in a shot which was very well saved by the custodian. Mercer went well down the field, and tested the visiting custodian, who saved, but before he had time to get back again Shaw had netted. Half-time:—Lowther United 2; Tadcaster, 0.

The visitors were the first to attack on the resumption, but the ball was eventually got away. Wackett raced down and looked a likely scorer, but he was well shot by the bar. Netherton went away finely, his shot being very cleverly stopped by the home custodian. Fanthorpe sent in a capital centre, which was received by Wackett, but the latter's shot was charged well out of his goal. Birdsall, Nettleton, and Moss broke away, but the home custodian effected a magnificent save. Ellerbeck went down again, and sent in a shot, which struck the upright. Beaumont received and centred well, for Moss to head in admirably. This roused the visitors, and they attacked with great determination from all over, but Hanby checked them. Lowther attacked, but the visiting custodian effected several clever saves. Shaw obtained possession and shot in very fine style, but a good shot. Netherton tried to break through, but Hanby held him. Fanthorpe took the ball down in promising fashion, but he ended with a weak shot. Wackett finished up a good movement by scoring the fourth goal. The visitors immediately went away, and after Beaumont had beaten Hanby he gave to Nettleton, who had nothing to do but shoot. A little later the same player had no one to beat but the custodian, but the latter effected a very clever save. Fanthorpe raced down and sent in a fine centre, which Shaw and Wackett then received and added the fifth goal. Tadcaster were defeated by five goals to two.

ROTHWELL W.R.'s WIN.

An interesting League game was played between the Rothwell White Rose team and Clarence Ironworks on the latter's ground at Hunslet. The sides were evenly matched, and the game was well contested. Clever forward play was met by a sturdy defence on both sides, though on a couple of occasions Sheard had the visitors' backs in a tangle, but he eventually shot wide of the goal. At half-time neither side had scored. The second half was equally well contested, but before long Appleby had worked Clarence's goal, and he made no mistake, giving the Rothwell team the lead, which they maintained until the end. Rothwell won by a goal to nil.

ROTHWELL P.C.—DRAWN GAME.

The match between Rothwell Parish Church and Thornhill Lees Albion, played on the former's ground, resulted in a draw of two goals each. The game commenced in a very promising style for the homesters, who netted the ball after a fine movement work. Hitchin was the scorer, and his achievement was due to a well timed pass from Morris. The visitors, nevertheless, played a fast game, and their efforts resulted in an equalising goal shortly before the interval came. The Rothwell forwards were a weak combination, and it was somewhat galling to their supporters to see so many splendid chances thrown away by bad shooting. After the equalising goal had been scored by Harley, the visitors displayed more keenness, and Bradley had his abilities well tried. His method of rushing out to save is often a little risky. Soon after the resumption the visitors gained the lead with an easy goal, and it looked for some time as though it would be of victory for Thornhill, but Stringer saved the situation about five minutes before the finish with a "beauty." The Thornhill custodian defended his charge well, and the skilful manner in which he sailed a slinging shot from Rodgers by throwing himself at the ball won hearty applause.

WATERLOO MAIN VICTORIOUS.

On Saturday afternoon, in the Leeds Senior League, New Worsley Gas Works were at home to the Waterloo Main Colliery. At the outset the homesters set up a keen attack, and by good dribbling forced their way to the Colliery goal, and the backs had to exert themselves to prevent a score. Still keeping up the pressure, the Gasworkers' forwards essayed several shots, but Haigh was safe in the Waterloo goal. Shortly afterwards, a good combined movement on the Worsley left wing gave Millard a chance, and he made no mistake with a good shot. The Waterloo men from their goal made desperate efforts to get on terms, but Glancy and Broughton played a fine game, and kept the New Worsley lead. Half-time: New Worsley Gas-works, 1 goal; Waterloo Main Colliery, nil. Waterloo played strongly on resuming, and quickly took the lead, Taylor and Barraclough scoring after fine individual efforts. Waterloo Main won by two goals to one.

LOCAL CLUBS AND F.A. CUP.

Next-week requires an early start in the qualifying stages of the F.A. Cup Competition, and Saturday will witness a number of interesting matches in the West Riding. In division 2 the following ties are decided:—Rothwell Parish Church v. Fryston Colliery; Glasshoughton Colliery v. Rothwell White Rose; Castleford Town v. Hollins Town; Woodhouse Britannia v. Lock Lane Woodville.

RUGBY NOTES

ROTHWELL DEFEATED BY NORMANTON.

On Saturday Rothwell journeyed to Rothwell, and they had an easy win. Walker kicked off downhill, and the visitors quickly attacked. Rodgers passed to Webster, who ran over and scored, Goodall's attempt failing short. Normanton were penalised, and Wilkinson failed at goal. Rothwell were compelled to act on the defensive, offside play spoiling a good chance to score. Rodgers found touch over and scored a try, Gorman failing to improve. Rothwell were penalised, and Gorman landed a goal. Rothwell gained a footing in the visitors' half, but had to retire early for the interval. Half-time:—Rothwell Normanton were leading at half-time by 11 points to nil, and they increased their lead substantially in the second, scoring and won by 3 goal, 8 tries (29 points) to nothing.

HALTON COUNCIL SCHOOL V. BURLEY NATIONAL.

Halton Council School met Burley National Schools' Rugby League with a match with Burley National. Kicking off against a strong wind, Jackson followed up and scored a brilliant try under the posts. Hayes' goal failed. Burley afterwards ran in and failed goals. Even play followed until Kenney picked up, and, passing several opponents, handed to Barman, who made a dash through, scoring under the posts, and Hayes converted. Burley afterwards showed improved form, and gave the homsters a warm time. Hayes, however, by good passing, showed his pace by leaving the opposition standing, scoring a capital try. Kenney continually proved a source of trouble to the opposing backs, his wonderful dodging tactics, added to his great strength, opening out play as only a class player can do. Wilson broke away from a scrum and scored a fine try. Further tries were scored by Barman and Hayes, the latter kicking one goal. Half-time:—Halton 4 goals, 7 tries (29 pts.). Burley, nil. On resuming Jackson scored a fine try, and Kenney, after breaking away, gave a wide pass to Hayes, who scored in the corner, the same player goaling. Immediately after the latter movement was repeated. Hayes fielded on his own line, and, beating several, gave Wilson opposition, scored; he also added the extra points. Jackson closed the scoring with a grand effort. Simpson was rather excited in the opening stages, but as the game progressed he settled down, and on several occasions was within an ace of scoring, and towards the close made an exceptionally fine effort. Wilson and Kelleby decided with their old time vigour. Much of the success of the Halton team was due to the forwards, who worked unfailingly throughout the game. Goals:—Halton 4, Burley, nil. Tries:—Halton, 7; Burley, nil. Score:—Halton, 7 goals, 12 tries (59 pts.); Burley National, nil.

FOOTBALL MATCHES AND REFEREES FOR SATURDAY.

LEEDS SENIOR LEAGUE

Garforth White Rose v. Methley Pers. Mr G. C. Earnshaw.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT JUNIOR LEAGUE.

East Ardsley G.N.R. v. Kippax Woodville. Mr G. Marsh.

East End Athletic v. Allerton Bywater Ins. Mr L. Jones.

Bowers Allerton v. Aberfs St. Mary's. Mr G. H. Griffin.

Glass Houghton Colliery v. Oulton St. John's. Mr F. Lawrer.

Holbeck White Rose v. Stourton United. Mr W. Thompson.

CHURCH LEAGUE

Markets District v. Whitkirk St. Mary's. Mr A. Beadnell.

The Public Prosecutor intimated to the Ramsgate magistrates on Tuesday that the confession recently made by Charles Eaton of the murder of a woman eleven years ago was patently untrue. He was detained as a lunatic.

OLDEST CLERGYMAN IN DARLINGTON ARCHDEACONRY.

DEATH OF THE VICAR OF WISTOW.

SERVED UNDER SIX ARCHBISHOPS.

We regret to announce the death of the Rev. Henry Greeves, the venerable Vicar of Wistow, which occurred at the vicarage early on Friday morning. The deceased, who was 85 years of age on August 5th last, had been on the ministry for the long period of 59 years. He was ordained a deacon in 1858, and priest in 1859.

The Rev. Henry Greeves came of a distinguished Norfolk family, being the son of the Rev. John Greeves, a Wesleyan minister, who was brother, the Rev. Frederick Greeves, D.C.L., was at one time president of the Wesleyan Conference. Incidentally it may be mentioned the deceased was appointed one of the curates of Selby Abbey, and remained there until 1860, leaving Selby he was appointed curate at Tow where he laboured until 1868. He then returned to Selby, where he was stationed until 1872, when he proceeded to Wistow. Two years later he was presented to the living of Wistow, and held it until his death.

Despite his great age the deceased was blessed hearty until quite recently, and his straight figure and supple walk hardly gave evidence the weight of years he carried. Until almost the end he was able to take an active part in the life of the township of Wistow, and was heavily involved in its political affairs. He was one of the committee who arranged the Coronation festivities, and was actively interested in the agricultural show from its inception, nearly 40 years ago. During the whole of this period he had filled the office of president. Not only was he president of the show, but he did all that lay in his power to promote the interests of the main industry of the people among whom he lived, and for whose good he laboured so long. Wistow was justly proud of its most distinguished inhabitant, and his leadership on all public occasions was looked for. During the long years of his vicariate he endeared himself to all.

The deceased was the oldest beneficed clergyman in the Diocese of York, and served under six Archbishops. He was ordained by the late Archbishop Musgrave, and the others under whom he served were Archbishop Longley, Thomson, Magee, Maclagan, and Lang. Two years ago, when the present Archbishop, in the course of his visitation of the Diocese, went to Wistow, he paid a graceful tribute to the Vicar's long services. His frame referred to the fact that the deceased for 40 years had laboured at Wistow in fulfilment of the great commission to his charge, ever-minister, with unceasing faithfulness, love, and care.

The deceased never wearied in the good work in which he was engaged, and during the time he was Vicar of the parish he succeeded in getting a Vicarage and parochial schools built, and the church restored. In 1908 he celebrated his jubilee as a clergyman, and the parishioners took the opportunity of showing the esteem in which they held their Vicar.

The funeral took place at Wistow Church on Monday. The Bishop of Beverley, who was accompanied by the Rural Dean (the Rev. R. G. Glennie, of Boston Spa), the Rev. Dr Sellowan (Selby Abbey), the Rev. T. Fawcett (Braxton), the Rev. W. P. Wright (Hemingbrough), and other clergy, conducted the impressive funeral service.

The chief mourners were Mrs. Greeves (widow), the Rev. H. R. Greeves (son), Vicar of Dolsby Main; the three daughters, and a number of other relatives. Among others present were Colonel and Mrs. Hinaller, Mr. Thos. Liversidge, Dr. G. B. Todd, Miss Todd, Mr. Mark Scott, Dr. A. J. Somers, Mr. A. E. Burton, Mr. W. D. Foster, Mr. F. W. Sykes, Mus. Bac., F.R.C.O., Councillor W. E. Lee, Mr. Jos. Tate, Mr. W. Gerrard, and Mr. Jas Dodsworth. A large number of residents of the district and inhabitants of Wistow were present. Members of the Selby St Germain's Lodge of Freemasons, with which deceased had been prominently associated, and the Wistow Foresters walked in the procession.

The first part of the service was taken in church, the lessons being read by the Rural Dean. The hymn sung was "Jesu, lover of my soul." The organ accompaniments were played by Mrs. Greeves. The prayers at the graveside were said by the Bishop of Beverley. The grave in the churchyard was lined with flowers. The coffin, on which were placed a number of wreaths, was borne on an open bier. Floral tributes were sent by the late vicar's wife, and daughters, the Rev. F. Bentley Greeves (Cudworth Vicarage), the grandchildren at Rempston, Bedford, Colonel and Mrs. Hinder, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Liversidge, Mr. A. T. Burton, Mr. Bellerby, Boothom, York; Mr and Mrs. Cheesman, Mrs Atkinson, Hill Field, Selby; Mrs. W. A. Bickis, Sh-field; etc.

A COLLINGHAM LADY'S MARRIAGE.

A LITERARY WEDDING.

A wedding of unusual interest will be by the Rev. C. Stancliffe, at St. Hilda's Church, Whitby, on Saturday. The bridegroom was Corporal Sergeant S. W. Hodgson, of the 5th Battalion Prince of Wales's (West Yorkshire Regiment), eldest son of Mr James Hodgson, stationmaster, at Whitby, and Mrs. Bidlock, and late youngest daughter of the late Robert Barnard, of Cosling Hall, Ripon, and Whitby, and Mrs. Barnard, of Whitby.

The bride groom, who has for 13 years served in the Army, and in Territorial Forces, and who is an efficient model for long service and good conduct, is a son of Mr. Hodgson, who is also a native of Whitby, and has been connected with the railway service for 40 years. He has also two brothers, who have gone on active service with the Territorials since the commencement of the war. He wore his khaki uniform, and the best man, Corpl. Herbert Birkett, of the 5th Battalion Yeomanry, and Drummer Leonard Birkett, of the bridegroom's company, as well as a number of officers, warrant officers, staff-sergeants, and colour-sergeants of the 5th Battalion, who journeyed from Stressall to attend the ceremony, were active service dress.

The bride was married in her travelling costume of velvet coating, with velours hat to match. She wore a gold wristlet watch, and carried a bouquet of white heather, with red, white, and blue streamers, both the gifts of the bridegroom.

The only bridesmaid, the sister of the bride, wore an amethyst cloth costume, with fancy vest of Bulgarian trimming and black velours hat with shaded amethyst roses. She also wore a gold wristlet watch bracelet, the gift of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a mole-coloured velvet gown, with white crepe trimmings, and Mrs. Birkett, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of violet silk, with hat to match.

The organist, Mr. Ungill, played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," and the newly-married couple passed out of the church under an archway of crossed bayonets, formed by the bridegroom's comrades.

A reception was afterwards held at the Station Hotel, and the bride and bridegroom subsequently left for York.

UNKNOWN MAN DROWNED AT KIPPAX.

BODY FOUND IN A BECK.

At Hardy Crowther, a basket-maker, of Mount Pleasant, Kippax, was gathering elderberries by the side of a beck in Brigshaw Lane, Kippax, on Saturday afternoon, he saw the body of a man floating face downwards in the water. He informed the police, and the body was taken out. The man, who was stiffly built, 5ft. 4in. in height, was apparently about fifty-five years of age. He was partly bald, with grey hair and grey moustache. He was wearing a dark suit, two waistcoats, a grey cap, and a grey cotton shirt.

The inquest was held in the Co-operative Rooms, at Kippax, on Tuesday by Mr. P. P. Maitland (Coroner).

The first witness was Henry Crowther, collier's labourer, of Mount Pleasant, Kippax, who deposed to finding the deceased about 4-10 p.m. on Saturday, while he was gathering elderberries in Brigshaw Lane. The body was partly covered in the water, only the head and shoulders being exposed.

The Coroner: How deep is the water in the beck?

Witness: The water is in pools, and in some places is about five or six feet deep.

The body, said witness, was supported by weeds and roots. There was no bank or hedge on the side of the beck to indicate that he had fallen in. The body was fully clothed, and the cap, which was missing, was subsequently found on the opposite bank, which was rather steep, being a drop of about six feet.

The Coroner: Did you touch him?

Witness: Yes, I tried to move him but he was fast, and I went and informed the police.

The Coroner: Did you think he looked like a pitman?

Witness: No, I thought he looked like one of the tramping class.

P.C. Alborough, stationed at Kippax, said he was informed of the finding of the body by the last witness, about 4.30 p.m. He went straight to the beck, which is about 150 yards away from Brigshaw Lane. In order to reach the beck, the deceased would have to cross some fields.

The Coroner: Would he be trespassing?

Witness: Yes.

The beck, said witness, was a boundary dividing Kippax from Allerton Bywater. The deceased was apparently about 55 years of age. He was wearing a black cloth jacket and trousers, two grey-tex black waistcoats, a grey cotton shirt, a pair of grey pants, a pair of black fine boots, and a black cotton muffler was also worn round the neck. The clothing was in good condition, and on the body was found a couple of red hand-kerchiefs, a small pipe knife, a wooden pipe, and three pence in copper. On the cap, which was found by the bank, was found any marks whereby the deceased could be identified. He had been recently shaved.

The Coroner: I thought I knew him, but I don't suppose I do.

Dr. Crossley: He has a familiar face.

P.C. Alborough said he took charge of the body by carrying him from the water into the cart.

Dr. Crossley gave evidence as to a post-mortem having held, and said he did not think the deceased had been in the water long. His left hand was well nourished, and he was apparently a healthy man. There was no blood in the stomach. Death, he thought, was due to asphyxia from drowning. There was nothing that he thought the deceased had suffered in the morning of illness. His hands did not show signs of hard work.

In summing up, the Coroner said they had nothing to show how the deceased got into the water. He would advise them to return an open verdict, although there was a slight suspicion of suicide with the cap being found on the opposite bank.

The jury returned a verdict of "Found drowned."

A SERIOUS OULTON CHARGE.

YOUNG MAN COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

On Tuesday at Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions, a well-dressed young man named Joseph Metcalf, described as a labourer, of no fixed abode, was charged with stealing 21s., the property of Sarah Ann Flockton, of Oulton.

Sarah Ann Flockton, of Bentley Square, Oulton, said that on Saturday, May 30th, prisoner came to lodge at her house. On the following Monday, June 1st, she placed 25s. in silver in a cupboard in the kitchen. In the course of the afternoon she was in the kitchen, and she thought there was no one in the house. She, however, heard some one moving about in a bedroom overhead, which was occupied by two lodgers named Mannion and Smith, who were at work. She at once went upstairs, and she saw prisoner with clothes belonging to other lodgers strapped up. She asked him what he was doing, and he replied, "Nowt wrong." She also asked what he was doing with clothes belonging to other lodgers, and she told him to go downstairs. He went, and she followed him downstairs to the kitchen, where there was another lodger, who had come in. The latter went upstairs to see what defendant had been doing and she followed them. Prisoner was left in the kitchen, and when she returned he had gone. Afterwards she went to the cupboard, and discovered that the money stated was missing.

Prisoner said he did not want to ask witness any questions.

P.C. Albert, of Woodlesford, said that when he charged the man with the offence he made no reply.

Metcalf was then charged with stealing a silver albert and a metal match box, which was valued at 2s., the property of James Mannion.

James Mannion, contractor, said he lodged with Mrs. Flockton. He left for work on the morning of June 1st, on which date he placed a silver albert and match box in a waistcoat pocket in his bedroom. The match box was the shape of a fiddle. He returned to his lodgings about eight o'clock, and he found his box and dressing case broken open, and the albert and matchbox were missing. He identified the matchbox produced as his property.

Detective Sergeant Wallis, who stated prisoner was serving a sentence at Manchester for another offence, said the defendant made a confession relating to the present case, which he took down in writing. The confession was produced.

P.C. Albert said that when he charged prisoner he replied: "It is right about the money, and I took the chain as well."

Prisoner was committed to take his trial on both charges at next Quarter Sessions.

CORRESPONDENCE.

MR W. ORMSBY GORE AND WELSH DISESTABLISHMENT

To the Editor.

Sir,—The measure which has characterised the Government's treatment of Welsh Churchmen throughout the whole reign of the Established Church Wales Bill was continued to a really intolerable climax, and the full "pound of flesh" demanded by the politicians is to be exacted from the already impoverished Church in Wales at the very moment of the conclusion of the war. We shall be, we believe, but soldiers a time of national rejoicing over the victories of our armies is for us to be a period of embarrassment and distress.

Disendowment, that is taking from the four Welsh dioceses the sum of £157,000 a year (nearly 4 millions sterling) is to take place upon the day of return of peace!

But fair play to the men the only blank row strikes us as. We Churchmen are credited by Lord Roseberry to make immediate preparations for an overwhelming defeat. We are to collect a church war chest, we are to call upon ladies, so as to be ready for disendowment, and the complete overthrow of our ancient constitution and organisation. Lastly, but not least, we are to give some time and attention to the problem—more by no means less difficult than the raising of the large sum of money required to carry measure prevented from taking part in the work by being called up for military duty. We can attend no conferences, and the work already in hand is now wasted. We are prevented by circumstances from helping our Church to weather the storm. Our senior bishop, the Bishop of St. Asaph, is serving as chaplain with one of the mounted brigades, many more from the Province of Wales. Many of the most trusted leaders of the Welsh Church are either on active service abroad, or with their regiments in English counties.

The Government called us to a political truce, and we trusted them—in vain. Under cover of a sham white flag they tried to wound our Church, and we are prevented from retaliating. Welsh Churchmen are as zealous as others in responding to the call of their country, and are prepared to sacrifice all for its cause, but they cannot help remembering that the Government took advantage of the national emergency to place upon the Statute Book a measure of most partizan vindictiveness against their National Church. They will remember it, and never forget it, and when Mr Asquith and his tail-train colleagues appeal for the sufferages of the people, the treatment of Welsh Churchmen must not and will not be forgotten.—Yours, etc.,

W. ORMSBY GORE.

September 19th, 1914.

NATIONAL RELIEF FUND.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The committee of the National Relief Fund is evidently anxious that no delay whatever should occur in the giving of such assistance as may be needed by the dependants of men at the front. As much misconception exists I should be very grateful if you would publish the following instructions:—

Those needing help should apply to the Local Representative of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Families' Association, or if the address is not known they should apply to the Mayor, or Chairman of the Urban Council or Chairman of the County Council as the case may be, who will either himself give the necessary help or will refer them to the nearest Branch of the Association.

General enquiries should be addressed to the head office of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Families' Association, 23, Queen Anne's Gate, London, S.W.—Yours, etc.,

WINGWOOD BESS,
Chairman, Executive Committee.

CHURCH LADS' BRIGADE

To the Editor.

Sir,—After working upwards of five thousand of its members to join the Colours, the office of the Church Lads' Brigade to raise and train a special C.L.B. Battalion of members and ex-members for the New Army is being exercised by the War Office. Details are now completed, and enlistment is taking place throughout the country. As the C.L.B. Battalion of the King's Royal Rifles it will form part of that distinguished regiment.

While the Church Lads' Brigade exists first of all for a religious object, its excellent military method is proving a national asset today, and the lessons of religion and patriotism, so unselfishly taught for twenty-three years by clergy and executive officers, are now bearing valuable fruit.

As Governor and Commandant of the Church Lads' Brigade, I would ask you to publish this letter in order that any ex-members not aware of the formation of this C.L.B. Battalion, may send their names without delay to the Secretary, Church Lads' Brigade headquarters, Aldwych House, Catherine Street, Strand, W.C.

At present over 1,600 applications to join this Battalion have been received at headquarters, and since it can only be 1,000 strong, the possibility of a second Battalion is being considered.—Yours, etc.,

GRANFELL, Field Marshal,
Governor and Commandant.

22nd September, 1914.

TADCASTER WESLEYAN CIRCUIT.

QUARTERLY MEETING AT WETHERBY.

At the September quarterly meeting of the Tadcaster Wesleyan Circuit, held at Wetherby, a very hearty welcome was accorded the Rev. J. Warren Midlwood, the newly-appointed superintendent minister, and Mr Charles Harrison, of Tadcaster, the newly-appointed lay agent.

A letter of condolence was directed to be sent to Mrs Cundall, of Appleton Roebuck, on the death of her husband. Tributes were paid to the high Christian character of the deceased, and to the splendid services which, in different ways, he had long rendered to the circuit.

The meeting heard with regret of the illness of Messrs H. Suter, W. Quarmby, and A. S. Allan. Messages of sympathy were sent to them.

The following gentlemen were thanked for their past services and re-appointed:—Education secretary, Mr S. Rowland; temperance secretary, Mr Wardman; class leaders' secretary, Mr A. S. Allen; Foreign Missions' treasurer, Mr. H. Suter; secretaries, Rev. J. Dingle Cocks and Mr. Arthur Kay; auditors, Messrs W. Quarmby and W. S. Padmore; and Aged Ministers' Fund treasurer, Mr H. Suter.

It was decided that the next meeting be held at Tadcaster on Wednesday, December 16th.

A STOURTON MAN'S PLIGHT.

MAGISTRATES' MERCIFUL VIEW.

On Tuesday at Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions Arthur Claderay, miner, of Stourton, was charged with stealing 24lb of coal, value 3d., the property of Messrs J. and J. Charlesworth, at Stourton.

P.C. Boyes said that on Friday, the 18th, he was on duty near the coal staith of Messrs J. and J. Charlesworth, at Stourton, and he saw defendant there. He came down the coal staith with a bucket in his hand, and he filled it with coal, which was lying on the ground. He charged him with stealing the coal, and he made no reply.

Defendant said that he had been out of work, he had no coal in the house, and the children were cold, and he thought he would go and get a little bit. If was the first offence he had ever committed, and he did not know what made him do it.

The Chairman said he had done a very foolish thing, but the magistrates were inclined to deal leniently with him. If what he said was true there was a small excuse for him, but the coal was not his, and when he took it He that it was theft.

Defendant was bound over to come up for judgment in six months if called upon.

HOW TO SWEEP AN INVALID'S ROOM.

We all know how untidy a sick-room becomes, and how annoying the dust of the sweeping is to the patient. "To remedy this," said a trained and capable nurse recently, "I put a little ammonia in a pail of warm water, and with my mop wring dry as possible go all over the carpet first. This takes up all the dust, and much of the loose dirt. A broom will take what is too large to adhere to the mop, and raise no dust. With my dust-cloth well sprinkled I go over the furniture, and the room is fairly clean."

SHADWELL

On Saturday Shadwell boys had a match with St. Charles' team, and the latter were beaten by seven goals to two.

THE WEEK'S MARKETS.

CORN.

SELBY, Monday.—Wheat prices are not so high, owing to the shipments that have arrived at the ports. For the samples shown there was an average demand. Wheats 37s. to 39s., secondary 35s. to 36s.; malting barley 29s. to 32s.; oats 22s to 23s 6d.; rye 29s. to 30s. per quarter.

PROVISIONS.

SELBY, Monday.—Eggs 8 and 9 for 1s., butter 1s 9d to 1s 4d per lb., chickens 4s to 5s per couple.

POTATOES.

SELBY, Monday.—A moderate demand for the large lot offered. Prices were:—Sowing kidneys 45s to 47s 6d; Snowdrops, 42s; Early Puritans, and Eclipse 40s to 42s 6d per ton; retail 2s. to 2s. 3d. per hamper.

CATTLE.

WHITSIDE AUCTION MART, Monday.—Larger supplies of stock, and a good attendance of farmers, butchers, and dealers. Some very good dairy cattle were shown, and trade ruled exceptionally brisk, the best making to £20 5s., and useful kinds £18 15s to £22. The 58 milk cows averaged £21 7s 6d each. Present calving cows, to £23 15s; November and January, to £21; sheep made little quotations; choice shortlegs, to 10d.; heavier kinds, 9d. to 9½d.; ewes, 7½d. to 8d.; and lambs, 10d. to 10½d. per lb.; cattle moved off quickly, choice heifers and bullocks making 8d.; good beef, 7½d. to 7¾d.; and cows, 6d. to 7d. per lb.; workers ruled a shade firmer, making 10s. per stone; store pigs were in large sella. Sow-sickled pigs making 70s. 6d., and stronger kinds to 73s. each; breeding calves made to 31s.; veal calves, to £2 9s. each. Numbers sold: 81 dairy and store cattle, 60 fat lambs, 123 sheep, 236 pigs, and 11 calves.

SELBY, Monday.—Messrs Richardson and Son disposed of 68 beasts, 74 sheep, 32 pigs. Only a moderate supply of stock, with the usual attendance of buyers. Best beef made up to 9s. per stone, good beef 8s. 6d. Fair trade for good in-calving Heifers and cows, best small to mutton making 10d. per lb. Lambs to 10½d. A sharp trade for pork pigs at 8s. per stone. Prices as follows:—Fat bullocks, up to £24 12s. 6d.; fat heifers, £18 2s. 6d.; fat cows, £21 12s. 6d.; store cattle, £12; cows in calf, £17 15s.; heifers in calf, £19 5s.; cows in milk, £21; fat sheep, £2 18s. 6d.; fat lambs, £2 6s.; bacon pigs, £8; pork pigs, £3 14s.; store pigs, £1 16s. 6d.

WETHERBY, Monday.—Messrs Thomlinson and Son had a splendid show of both prime beef and choice sheep. The attendance of buyers and dealers was considerably in excess of recent sales. Both beef and mutton met an improved demand and realised more money than last week, also better than a fortnight ago. The following prices realised will show the class of stock sold:—Best beef made from 9s. to 9s. 6d. per stone, medium sold 8s. 6d. to 8s. 9d. per stone; sheep and lambs met a good trade, prime sheep sold 10. to 10d. per lb. Numbers sold: 103 beasts and calves, and 293 sheep and lambs. Mr E. Liversidge, of Shawfield, sold 8 quality Malthy bullocks, making £209 17s. 6d, £26 12s. 6d, £25 7s. 6d, £25, £25, £24 7s 6d, £25, and £23 10s.; Mr R. Carr, of Wighill, sold a fine bullock at £26, and a heifer at £25 5s.; Mr. J. Cass, of Kirk Hammerton, sent five very good bullocks, which sold at £24 15s., £24 12s 6d, £24 2s 6d, £22 17s 6d, and £22 10s; Mr T. Dawson, of Walshford, sent two useful lots of mixed, making £23 12s 6d, £23 8s, £23, £22, and £21 15s; Mr L. Palfreman, of Goldsborough, sold four wealthy bullocks and three grand heifers at £24 12s 6d, £24, £23 5s, and £23 5s; Mr J. Helliers at £18 12s 6d, £17, and £16; Mr Richard Machin, junr., of Old Thornville, sent six fine wealthy bullocks, making £24 5s, £24, £23 15s, £23 15s, £24 2s 6d, £24 7s 6d, and £24 5s.; Mr T. J. Bell, of Wilsetop, supplied four very choice bullocks, which sold for £23 7s. 6d, £22 10s, £22, and £21 7s 6d; Mr J. W. Johnson, of Highfield, Ribston, four good bullocks, which made £23 12s 6d, £22 17s 6d, £22 12s 6d, and £22; Mr R. Dearlove, of Walton Lodge, two useful bullocks which made £21 10s and £21 15s; Mr J. Hoole, of Rickerton Grange, sold nine very choice quality bullocks, which evoked some very keen competition, making 9s 6d per stone, or £24 1s, £23 7s 6d, £23 12s, £22 15s, £22 8s, £20 17s 6d, £19 7s 6d, and £22 7s 6d; Mr W. Atkinson of Kirk Deighton House, sent two grand bullocks, realising £24 and £23 5s 6d; Mr R. Bielby, of Cattal, three prime fat beasts, which made £21 17s 6d, £19 10s, and £19 7s 6d; Mr J. Thomlinson's Exors., of Tockwith, three good bullocks, of 9s per stone, or £24 6s 6d and £24 5s; Mr Bennett, of Bilton, sent a useful bullock, which made £17 15s; Mr J. H. Elvidge, of Walton, sold five grand quality bullocks at £21, £20 7s 6d, £19 12s 6d, £19 10s, and £19 2s 6d; Mr E. Elwiss, of Ingmanthorpe House Farm, sold four black polled bullocks at £17, £16 12s 6d, £16 7s 6d, and £16; Mr W. Dunnington, of Marston Lodge, sent two nice quality bullocks, making £23 and £19 10s.; Mrs Kendall and Son, four good bullocks, which fetched £22 7s 6d, £22, £21 12s 6d, and £18 7s 6d.; two good bullocks from Easedike Farm, fed by the Auctioneers, made £26 2s. 6d., and £22 17s 6d. We had a capital lot of grand sheep and lambs. Thirty-five grand shearlings from Mr R. Machin, of Cattal Grange, made from 57s to 68s each; 25 good sheep from Mr F. Elwiss, of Ingmanthorpe, sold from 42s 6d for lambs, to 54s for ewes; 21 grand sheep from Mr J. W. Atkinson, of Highfield, sold up to 61s 6d each; Mr E. Liversidge's, of Shawfield Hall, 20 ewes and lambs, made up to 51s 6d each; Mr W. Walker, of North Deighton, to nice sheep made up to 63s 6d each; Mr E. Spink, of Kirk Deighton, to grand sheep, fetched up to 59s each; Mr Myers, of of Kingbeverley, five ewes made up to 42s each; Mr Walter Kendall, six sheep realised up to 70s 6d each; Mr T. Pawson, of Clifford, five sheep made up to 60s each; Mr J. Grainger, of Clifford, to sheep made up to 60s each; five ewes from Mr G. P. Wright realised up to 67s each, other good stock making satisfactory prices from the principal feeders in the neighbourhood.

NURSING IN OULTON AND WOODLESFORD.

CRITICISM OF A NEW PROPOSAL.

The following appears in Oulton Church magazine:—There is a movement, principally in Woodlesford, and worked now through the auxiliary of our Educational Committee, to replace our present nurses and our Nursing Association by paid trained nurses under a County Council Committee to give maternity and surgical help in the parishes of Oulton and Woodlesford. Now there are one or two considerations that must be satisfactorily settled before this should be carried out.

1.—Are our nurses not adequate to answer all the demands made?

2.—If there, or has there been any neglect of duty?

3.—Has any request for a nurse been made and not granted?

Now we all know very well how to answer these questions. We have had years of experience of the nurses, and though there are a few reasons for the increased efficiency of a trained nursing staff those reasons can be quite as answered in favour of our Association. It seems quite certain that no "trained paid nurse" under the County Council will undertake the household duties so ours do in maternity cases, and what can make up for this to a mother? Nurses in villages ought to be very much more than merely "efficient workers." The question of "cost" is also an important one, and actual figures ought to be put before us as to the probable outlay or increase of rates for it. Also it is useless to think, as most of us see, of keeping both a County Council district nurse and our nurses working at the same time in parishes such as ours, and if ours are adequate and sufficient, why change them?

CROSSGATES

A sum of £1 has been sent to the Lord Mayor's Fund by J. F. Cowgate.

STOURTON

On Sunday the Bishop of Richmond (as commissary for the Bishop of Ripon), admitted into holy orders, Henry Heaton Lawson, M.A., St. Andrew, Stourton.

LOOK HERE!

We have a REPUTATION to maintain, and we do it by giving you the BEST VALUE in Provisions, Groceries, &c.

Specialists in BUTTER, HAMS, BACON, CHEESE, &c.

Also FLOUR, FEEDING MEAL, POULTRY CORN &c,

T. B. SMITH & SON,

SUPPLY STORES,

GARFORTH.

Our Special Blends of Tea, 2/2, 2/-, 1/8 per lb., contain some of the Finest Teas the World produces.

LADIES

BLANCHARD'S PILLS

Are unrivalled for all irregularities, &c., they speedily obtain relief and never fail to effect a cure. They supersede Pennyroyal, Pil Cochia, Bitter Apple, but ULANCHARD'S are the first of all Pills for Women. Sold in boxes, 1/1½ by Boots' Branches, Taylor's Drug Co. Branches, and all Chemists, or post free, 15 stamps, from LESLIE BLATTH, Ltd. Chemists, 36, DALSTON LANE, LONDON. Free Samples and valuable Booklet sent Gratis. Id. Stamp.

An important naval capture has been made by the British cruiser Berwick. The German armoured merchant cruiser Spreewald, a Hamburg-American liner, was taken in the North Atlantic, with her two colliers. The latter had on board 6000 tons of coal and 180 tons of provisions for the German cruisers in the Atlantic.

Rothwell Courier & Times

ESTABLISHED 1873.

CHEAP PREPAID RATES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS of the following classes:—
WANTED, FOR SALE, and TO LET.

Words.	1 week.	3 weeks	6 weeks.	13 weeks
20	0 6	1 0	1 10	3 3
30	0 9	1 6	2 9	5 0
40	1 0	2 0	3 8	6 6

If Cash is not sent with advt. ordinary rates will be charged.

BUSINESS ADVERTISEMENTS.
Are charged at the following rates when ordered for not less than

13 weeks,	1s. per inch per insertion.
26 do.	10d.	do.
52 do.	8d.	do.

TENDERS

HUNSLET UNION.

TO PAINTERS.

THE Guardians of the Poor of the Hunslet Union invite TENDERS for certain PAINTING required at their CHILDREN'S HOMES at ROTHWELL HAIGH.

Forms of Tender, with a Specification of the work, may be obtained on application at my Office, where sealed Tenders addressed to me and endorsed "Painting, &c.," must be delivered by 10 o'clock a.m. on MONDAY, the 5th proximo.

The Guardians do not bind themselves to accept the lowest or any Tender.

By Order,
FRED W. MEE,
Clerk to the Guardians.

Union Offices, Hunslet, Leeds,
23rd September, 1914. 2

WANTED

FOR MOTOR ACCOMMODATION apply, WALTER JUBB, Grocer, Crossgates. 1 2299

WANTED Good DAY GIRL. Small family. —Mrs HOLLIDAY, Woodland, Tranquility, Crossgates. 2301

WANTED 3 Respectable Men as LODGERS. —Apply, Mrs FLOCKTON, 3 Bentley Square, Oulton, Leeds. 3 2305

WANTED HOUSE in WHITKIRK, end of October.—Apply Box 229, "Skyrack Courier" Office, Leeds. 1 2298

WANTED Good GENERAL, age about 25. Three in family.—Apply, Mrs HAGGARTH, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates.

GENERAL MAID, strong, required. Help given. Write stating age, references, wages, to Mrs MILNER-STEWART, Askwith. 3

WANTED COTTAGE in Country, near station or tram. Convenience for poultry preferred.—Apply, Toon, c/o Mr Pollard, Moor Allerton Hill, Leeds. 3 2411

CAPABLE GENERAL SERVANT. Three in family. No children. Comfortable home, Crossgates.—S. 241, "Skyrack Courier" Office, 2, The Street, Leeds. 2 2410

FOR SALE.

3½ ACRES Excellent FOG at Lidgett, Garforth.—Apply or address, P. INGHAM, The Poplars, Halton. 2305

CROSSGATES — DETACHED VILLA, (double-fronted), forming position, opposite golf links; drawing and dining rooms, three bedrooms, attic w.c., kitchen, pantry, wash kitchen, large gardens. Low rates.—Apply, A. STEPHENSON, Rose Dene, Austhorpe Road. 1 2300

MODERN DETACHED VILLA for Sale, containing dining and drawing rooms in the front, good entrance hall, kitchen, larder, and washhouse on the ground floor; three bedrooms, bathroom, lavatory with w.c., and box room on first floor; two large attics; large gardens back and front, with side coal place and w.c., splendid situation overlooking Golf Links. —Apply, J. BANKS, Austhorpe House, Cross gates. 2304

MEDICAL.

TO MARRIED LADIES.

THE WIFE'S HANDBOOK, by Dr. Allbutt, should be read by all Married People. 72 Post Free. Illustrated list of Malthusian Appliances, Rubber Goods, &c. Price Free, 2 Stamps. —(S) DAVIES & Co., 54 Park Lane, Leeds.

LADIES! Wood's Challenge Remedy is guaranteed under the sum of £100 to cure more cases than any other advertised remedy. For all irregular discharges Challenge Remedy has no equal. Price 2/6, special 4/6. Consultations free 10 to 10 daily. Hygienic Rubber WOOD, 20, Louis Street, Chapeltown Road. Requisites. Only address—Mr and Mrs W. Leeds.

MARRIED LADIES.

Consult MRS. WOOD, the only reliable Ladies' Specialist, 20 years' experience. My remedies never fail. They are Special Mixture or Pills are guaranteed to be the only reliable remedy known. Acts in a few hours after all else fails. Quick, Safe and Sure. Price 2s. 9d. Special 4s. 6d., post free in plain wrappers, or stamp for particulars. Consultations by appointment. Only Address: Mrs WOOD, 31, Park Avenue, Blackpool.

DR SKELTON'S
BRONCHITIS LOZENGES
Cure Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, Difficulties of Breathing, Consumption, and all Diseases of the Chest and Lungs.
Sold only in Boxes at 1/1½ and 2/9 at
LAMB'S HERBAL STORES, 23, KIRKGATE, LEEDS.
All kinds of Herbs, etc. kept in Stock

ARTIFICIAL TEETH, EXTRACTIONS, Etc.

Mr. J. DILWORTH'S
Dental Rooms,
CECIL HOUSE, BURLEY LODGE TERRACE, HYDE PARK ROAD, LEEDS.
Advice Free. Hours—10 to 8.
and at
16, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates.
Every Friday, 2 to 7.30 p.m. Other hours by appointment.
Painless Extractions. Nitrous Oxide Gas administered.

MR and MRS. TURNER
7 Lady Lane, Leeds,
and 36, Horton Road, Bradford,
Purchase for Cash, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Cast-off Clothing. All Letters and Parcels receive immediate attention. Full value given for Old Gold and Silver. Trial Solicited. Highest Price Given.
Tel. Nos.: Leeds, 3388; Bradford, 241.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

I, the undersigned, ELSIE SMITH, of QUARRY HILL, OULTON, near Leeds, hereby APOLOGISE to GEORGE FREDERICK RAYBOULD, of QUARRY HILL, OULTON, for the statement made by me to him on the 31st August last, and hereby EXPRESS MY REGRET if such statement has caused him any injury or annoyance.
Dated this 9th day of September, 1914.
ELSIE SMITH.

OULTON AND WOODLESFORD WAR FUND

ALL PERSONS in DISTRESS desirous of obtaining assistance from the above fund must make application to one of the following:—
A. SHARPE, Mr. John Street, Oulton.
Hon. Treasurer.
P. C. HIGGINS, Mayfield, Woodlesford.
Hon. Secretary.

GARFORTH WESLEYAN CHAPEL.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.

SUNDAY, SEP. 27th.
Two Sermons will be preached by the
Rev. A. Barritt,
Subject:—"Nature's Voice."
Evening, 6 o'clock.
Subject:—"Daily Bread."
In the Afternoon at 2.30, the Sacred Cantata, entitled
"A Song of Thanksgiving."
(By F. W. Peace),
will be rendered by an augmented Choir.
Albert Addy, Mr Barritt.
Collection after each service for Chapel Trust.

WAR RELIEF FUND!

Grand CONCERT

Promoted by I.O.F. Court Crossgates,
In aid of the above Fund, under the distinguished patronage and presence of the Right Worshipful The Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress.
Simultaneous in the Recreation Hall and in the Wesleyan Schoolroom, Crossgates,
On FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2nd, 1914.

Artistes:—

Miss Elsie Siddaby (Soprano).	Mr Tom Harwood (Elocutionist).
Miss Ivy Easton (Contralto).	Mr Geo. O. Cattle, (Entertainer).
Mr G. W. Riley (Tenor).	Mr William Hoyle, (Bass).

The Ladies' Contest Section of The Army Choral Society.
Clifton Prize Quartette.
Accompanists—
Mrs Tom Cooper & Mr. W. Alwyne Browning.

Ticket holders are requested to be in their places not later than 7.15.
No money taken at the doors before 7.15.
Tickets, 2s. and 1s.
Doors open 6.30. Commence 7.30.

GARFORTH AND DISTRICT MILKMEN'S AND COWKEEPERS' ASSOCIATION.

TO THE RESIDENTS OF GARFORTH AND DISTRICT.

NOTICE is hereby given that ON AND AFTER OCTOBER 1st THE PRICE OF MILK WILL BE RAISED TO 3½d. PER QUART. 2

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE ASSOCIATION, WHITKIRK BRANCH.

NEW CLASSES for LADIES will be given by Dr. Rountree in Whitkirk Schools, offers Course of Lectures 24s., including Book and Bandages.
Kindly send in the names to Mrs DOCKRAY, Hardcastle, Whitkirk, Hon. Sec.
Notice:—Those who are desirous to be held if a sufficient number of ladies come forward.

MISS AMY D. WADE,
TEACHER OF DANCING,
(Trained by Mr Cecil B. Taylor) begs to announce that classes for
MODERN BALLROOM and FANCY DANCING,
RECREATION HALL, CROSSGATES,
on WEDNESDAYS
Commencing OCT. 7th, 1914.
COMMENCING OCT. 7th, 1914.

At the CONSERVATIVE CLUB, GARFORTH, on SATURDAY mornings for Juveniles at 11. Commencing October 3rd.

Terms:—
Adults, £1 10s. 0d. for course of 10 lessons.
Juveniles, 15s. 0d. for course of 10 lessons.
Address:—Carter Mount, Whitkirk, Leeds.

THE PICTURE HOUSE, GARFORTH

Every Evening at 7.30.
Saturday, Two Houses at 6.30 and 8.30.

WEEK COMMENCING SEPTEMBER 28th.

FIRST-RATE PROGRAMMES OF UP-TO-DATE PICTURES.

LATEST TRIUMPHS OF THE CINEMA ART.

Children's Matinee, Saturday at 2.30.

Popular Prices:—2d., 4d., and 6d.

Telephone No. 1 Garforth.

ALFRED REED,
Late Matthews,
CAB and WAGGONETTE PROPRIETOR,
GARFORTH and BARWICK-IN-ELMET.
Cabs, Waggonettes and Landaus for Hire.
Large and Small Parties Catered for.

WHEN AT HARROGATE
CALL AT
THE BLACK SWAN HOTEL,
HIGH HARROGATE, FOR REFRESHMENTS.
Wines, Beers, and Spirits of the Finest Quality.
Luncheons, Teas, Dinners.
Good Accommodation for Motorists and Cyclists.
Good Stabling.
Two Bowling Greens.
Large or Small Parties Catered for.
PROPRIETOR: H. BEEFORTH.

Window Cleaning, Paintwashing
Limewashing, &c., at Moderate Charges.
EXPERIENCED MEN SENT ANY DISTANCE.
FIRTH & KENYON,
GROVE ROAD, HALTON, near LEEDS.

SALES BY AUCTION.

TADCASTER AUCTION MART.

ON MONDAY NEXT,
Messrs THOMLINSON & SON
Will Sell by Auction—
50 to 60 Fat Bullocks and Heifers.
100 to 120 Prime Fat SHEEP.
60 to 70 Fat and Store PIGS.
THOMLINSON & SON, Auctioneers.

ON MONDAY NEXT, AT 11 O'CLOCK,
GARFORTH LIVE STOCK AUCTION MART
20 CHOICE BULLOCKS and HEIFERS.
80 FAT LAMBS, SHEARLINGS, and EWES.
PORK and STORE PIGS
WM. ASH, Auctioneer

W. A. F. BURROWS & CO.,
Auctioneers and Valuers,
BOND PLACE, LEEDS.
(Opposite Yorkshire Penny Bank).
Sales of every description conducted on the most reasonable terms.
Valuations made for all purposes.
To Heads of Families, Private Buyers, Dealers, and others.
Various Stocks of Drapery, Boots, and Shoes, Hosiery, and Underclothing always on hand, and may be purchased privately at any time. Goods on View. Public Inspection Invited.

Messrs J. CUNDALL & SON,
AUCTIONEERS and TENANT-RIGHT VALUERS.
SHERBURN, E.R., YORK

YOUR WEDDING
Should BE NICE whether it is Motors or Carriages. To save the most talked of and the most thought of in the City. Ask about us; 25% our charges. BUCKTON, Claypit Lane (top of Cookridge Street). Tele. 1877 Central.
"WE NEVER SLEEP."

Established 37 Years.
WM. DENTON & SON,
23, COMMERCIAL STREET, ROTHWELL,
Estate Agents and Rent Collectors.
Estates Carefully Managed. Terms on application.
Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass, etc., Insurance Brokers.
Quotations for any kind of Insurance Free.

H. E. WALKER,
STURTON GRANGE, GARFORTH,
Agricultural Merchant.

Molassine Meal.
Dairy and Calf Meal.
Feeding Cakes.
Poultry and Dog Foods.

Manures, Peat Moss, Oils, etc.
Best Quality & Prompt Delivery.

J. ROBINSON & SONS,
King Charles' Croft,
LEEDS.
TELEPHONE No. 1522.
Catalogues free on Application.

CULTIVATORS, PLOUGHS, HARROWS, CHAFF & TURNIP CUTTERS, &C.
By all the Best Makers at Lowest Cash Prices

JOHN WATSON & Co.,
34, CALL LANE, LEEDS
See our Special Blue Lounge Suit
Made to Measure in Fine Quality Serge,
Easy Terms £2 2s. Cash 38/6
Well Worth 50/-
OUR SCARBORO' COSTUMES
Are made to Measure in all Wool Navy Coating Serge. Coat Lined Silk. Satin Collar, Lined Skirt.
Cash 30/- Easy Terms 33/6
Patterns and Particulars on Application.

Gent's. 9ct. & 18ct. Bangle Rings
Large Assortment always in Stock at
J. WINTERHALDER'S,
Watchmaker, Jeweller, & Optician,
13, New York Street, LEEDS
(Opposite the Yorkshire Penny Bank, Kirkgate).
Repairs of all kinds a Specialty.

EDMUND BOGG,
3, Woodhouse Lane, Leeds.
is the best shop for
PICTURE FRAMING, RE-GILDING, AND ARTISTS' MATERIALS.
Large Stock of Engravings & Etchings on Sale.

RAILWAY NOTICE.

NORTH EASTERN RAILWAY.

EXCURSION TRAINS FROM LEEDS NEW STATION, CALLING AT CROSSGATES AND GARFORTH.

Monday, 28th Sept., 12.30 p.m. to York, Milford and Scarborough. Wednesday, 30th Sept., 1.10 p.m. to York, Malton, Scarborough, Stamford Bridge, Pocklington, Market Weighton, Driffield, and Bridlington. 1.32 p.m. to Selby and Hull. Saturday, 3rd Oct., 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, Scarborough, Pickering, Whitby, Stamford Bridge, Pocklington, Market Weighton, Driffield, and Bridlington. 12.45 p.m. to Selby and Hull.
For further particulars see bills.

PATENTS FOR INVENTIONS.
obtained by
JOHN E. WALSH, CHARTERED PATENT AGENT,
25, ROYAL EXCHANGE, LEEDS,
and CROSSLEY STREET, HALIFAX
(late Chief Assistant Examiner, Handbook Free on British and Foreign Patents, Trade Marks and Designs.
Telephone: LEEDS 2718. HALIFAX 38Y.

THOMAS MIDDLETON
PAWNBROKER AND JEWELLER,
96 VICAR LANE
(Top of LADY LANE, LEEDS),
ADVANCES MONEY TO ANY AMOUNT ON PORTABLE PROPERTY.

£50 to £500	4½ per cent.
£1 0 0	5d.	,,
£2 0 0	10d.	,,
£3 10 0	1s.	,,
£5 0 0	1s. 6d.	,,
£5 0 0	1s. 8d.	,,
£8 0 0	2s. 8d.	,,
£10 0 0	3s.	,,

Sums above £10 by Special Agreement.
ONLY ADDRESS:—
96 VICAR LANE, LEEDS.
LEDGE OFFICE: 2, LADY LANE, LEEDS.

— TRY —
SANCFORD'S CROWN VINEGAR,
Pickles, Health Salt,
and Baking Powder.
ALL ABSOLUTELY PURE
SANCFORD & Co., Ltd.,
LEEDS.

TO BE CONTENT
With anything but the best is spectacles or eyeglasses is the wisdom of the unwise.
Thoughtful people recognise this fact, and value their eyes too highly to run unnecessary risks by wearing wrong glasses.
It is to such that this appeal is made; and if your eyes are causing you trouble, we ask you to call and talk the matter over with us, when we shall be pleased to advise you.
HEYWOOD,
Optologist,
20, DUNCAN STREET,
LEEDS.

ESTABLISHED 1871
Ison's Eye & Ear Dispensary
LIMITED.
71, GREAT GEORGE ST., LEEDS
MR. THOS. ISON,
OCULIST and AURIST.

THIS INSTITUTION WAS ESTABLISHED in 1871. The system of working is the provident one, each patient paying a small periodical fee while under treatment, and they may, therefore, justly expect to receive the prompt care and attention which in many instances in charitable institutions is too often omitted. The treatment is of a mild and safe character, without operation or the use of Eye Drums, Ear Cornets or other mechanical or painful appliances. Another advantage appertaining to this dispensary is its system of treatment by correspondence, by which sufferers at long distances, and in isolated positions can have the advantage of MR ISON'S advice and remedies forwarded through the post. No case is under taken unless there be a reasonable hope of cure or benefit to the patient.
Attendance at Leeds every Tuesday, from 10 to 7
On Alternate Saturdays, October 3rd and 17th, Huddersfield, October 9th.
Hours 10 to 7. Other days by appointment.
TREATMENT WITHOUT OPERATION.
ARTIFICIAL HUMAN EYES fitted from 15s.
SPECTACLES and EYE PRESERVERS, 3/6 to 10/6. Frames from 2/6.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—There are many cases of failing eyesight which can be speedily remedied by mild local treatment, thus dispensing with the use of glasses.

Rothwell Courier & Times

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 26th, 1914.

MR H. S. Clubb, of Barwick, has given £5 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

MR W. G. Jackson, of Boston Spa, has given £10 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

The juniors at Bramham Park have given 8s. 6d. to the West Riding War Fund.

MR C. Huggins, of Foggathorpe, has been appointed stationmaster at Hambleton.

A sum of £1 16s. 2d., collected, at Bramham Church festival service, has been sent to Leeds Infirmary.

The Rev. Maurice G. Lascelles, of Harewood, has given £5 to the Queen's Employment of Women Fund.

A sum of £7 13s., proceeds of collection at harvest festival at Beeberton Church, has been sent to the Belgian Relief Fund.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Communications intended for insertion must be authenticated by the name and address of the writer—not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. No notice will be taken of anonymous letters, and rejected communications cannot be returned.

Notice of Births and Deaths are charged 1s. each prepaid. They must be authenticated by the name and address of the sender.

Notices of marriages are charged at the rate of 2s. 6d. each.

In Memoriam "Notices 1s. each, and 6d. extra for all matter up to four lines.

MARRIAGE.

HARPER—HOWARTH.—On July 30th, 1914, at Kilapoi, Canterbury, New Zealand, by the Rev. W. Fairclough, Edward William, the only son of Humphrey and Ellen Harper, to Frances Ethel (Fanny), eldest daughter of James and Emma Howarth, late of Rothwell, Leeds, Yorkshire, England.

DEATHS.

BEDFORD.—September 21st, 1914, at Castleford, aged 72, William Henry, youngest son of the late Edward Bedford, of Moortown, Leeds, and brother of the late John Edward Bedford, of Chapel Allerton.

CRACKNELL.—September 23rd, at Crossgates, Ada, the beloved wife of Tom Cracknell.

IN MEMORIAM.

BROWNRIDGE.—In loving memory of our dear brother, who passed away on the 23rd September, 1913.
—From Walter and Grase.

WILKINSON.—In loving memory of Harry Wilkinson, who died Sept. 24th, 1907.
"Weary with sowing, in sorrow to reap.
Weary with labour, and weboming sleep."
—Wife.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT NEWS.

ROTHWELL

MR C. E. Charlesworth (Knaresborough), the Rothwell Colliery owner, has sent £10 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

FOOTBALL.—On Saturday afternoon Thorpe Wesleyans were defeated by Rothwell W.R. A. by 9 goals to 2. Rothwell Haigh U. overcame North Rovers by two to nil.

A sum of £2 15s. 8d. has been sent to the Lord Mayor's Fund by the Midland Railway traffic department staff, Hunslet and Stourton sidings, being the second weekly contribution.

LEEDS WEST RIDING PETTY SESSIONS.—At the Skyrack Court on Tuesday held at Leeds Town Hall the magistrates present were: Mr J. W. Mewdell (Chairman), Mr. J. Hives, Mr J. W. Dobson, Mr J. R. Cross, and Mr Evans.

CHURCH LADS' BRIGADE.—On Sunday the members of the Church Lads' Brigade, along with that of Lofthouse, had another march out and collection on pay day, the sum has been forwarded to the Belgian Consul in Leeds for the relief of refugees.

SEPARATION ALLOWANCES.—The announcement by the Government of an increased scale of garnishee and allotment allowances for families dependent upon soldiers and sailors will involve a revision of the West Riding scale before October 1st, and the West Riding Authority is at present in communication with the Central Office on the subject of revising the financial arrangements.

RUGBY FINAL MATCH.—As a result of the Rugby cup match played at Rothwell a fortnight ago between Mr A. Clark's team and Rothwell and District in aid of the local relief fund, a sum of £3 os. 4d. will be handed over to the local treasurer. The gate realised £4 14s. 10d., and a grant of £1 from the Rothwell C.C. made a total income of £5 14s. 10d. The expenditure amounted to £2 14s. 6d.

A NEW song, "The horses they leave behind," should have a large sale, the proceeds being for the benefit of the National Relief Fund. Mr Walter Ruben's music is of a tuneful and catchy nature, and Mr Harry Lee's words should arouse ready sympathy. The song should be popular at entertainments. Seventy-five per cent of the profits of the song will go to the Relief Fund, and twenty-five per cent to the Variety Artistes' Benevolent Fund.

PATENT list compiled by John E. Walsh, chartered patent agent, of 25, Royal Exchange, Leeds, 5 Park Lane, Leeds, and Crossley Street, Halifax:—Applications—W. Lumley and F. W. Charlesson, Leeds, improvements in cutting or trimming machines. Patents accepted—E. Stoop (Otis), suppo-mounts in golf tees; and J. M. Cobb, East Ardsley, improvements in screw pedestals. Patents renewed—John Shaw, Pontefract, tool washing apparatus; and John Shaw, Pontefract, excavating fire-clay, &c.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—On Sunday harvest thanksgiving services were held at the Salvation Army Hall, and were attended with great success. The services were conducted by Adjutant Horne, of Leeds, who gave appropriate addresses. In the afternoon an enjoyable musical service was given by the Lofthouse Wesleyan Quartette Party, under the leadership of Mr. Thompson. There was a fairly large display of fruit and vegetables, which were disposed of on Monday evening.

FOOTBALL.—Playing in the Leeds Amateur League, Rothwell Old Boys met a match with Botterill, Senior, and Co., at Hunslet, the result being a draw of one goal each. Losing the toss, Sidebottom kicked off for Rothwell, and their opponents were quick to attack and kept up a continual pressure throughout a greater part of the first half, which ended in Wilkinson scoring. Rothwell Smallwood in good secured by Sidebottom, owing to off-side play. In the second half the game was fairly well contested, but the Botterill full backs played a sturdy defensive game. However, only a few minutes before time Sidebottom kicked a goal with better luck. Taylor missed an easy chance.

WEDDING.—A pretty wedding took place at the Holy Trinity Church, Rothwell, on Saturday, the contracting parties being Mr Dick Oglesby and Miss Lilian Kirkby, both officers of the General Institution, Rothwell Haigh. The bride was attired in a beautiful white silk gown, trimmed with point lace, and veil wreathed with orange blossom, and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and tuber roses. She was given away by Mr Frederick Solomon (master). The bridesmaid—Miss Gertrude Amanda Livesey, of Ashton-under-Lyne—was charmingly dressed in shell pink satin trimmed with old lace, and a lace mop cap, with large bouquet to match. The bridegroom was attended by Mr H. C. Huggins (assistant master), as best man. After the ceremony the wedding party returned to the institution where they were met by a great number of officers and friends, and partook of Eight refreshment. The master, on behalf of the staff, spoke in very eulogistic terms of the happy pair, and wished them every happiness through life. The bridegroom suitably responded. Subsequently the bride and bridegroom left for the West Coast, where they are spending their honeymoon.

ALLERTON BYWATER

DRINK.—Simeon Collinson, miner, of Allerton Bywater, was charged at Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday with having been drunk and disorderly. P.C. Holmes said that on Saturday, the 12th, he was on duty at Great Preston, and there he saw defendant, who was drunk and using bad language. A fine of 5s. and costs was imposed.

POST DRIVER'S OFFENCE.—On Tuesday at Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions Harold Muscroft, post driver, Allerton Bywater, was summoned for using a motor-cycle without having an identification plate fixed to it on the 14th at Halton. P.C. Stothard gave evidence, and said that the defendant told him the plate broke off. Defendant said he lost it and had found it.—Fined 2s. 6d. and costs.

BOWERS ALLERTON.

A sum of £15 has been sent by Great Preston and Bowers Allerton Infirmary Committee to Leeds Infirmary.

CARLTON

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—Harvest festival services were held at the Primitive Methodist Church during the week-end. On Saturday a public tea, which was well attended, was held in the schoolroom, and this was followed by a cantata, entitled "The Lord is Beyond," given by the Bottomboat Choir. Mr R. Naylor, of Rothwell, presided, and the organist and conductor was Mr W. Simpson. On Sunday the morning and evening services were conducted by Mr Walter Thurwell, of Carlton. In the afternoon a musical service was given by the Robin Hood Free Church Choir. Mr Morris, of Outwood, presided.

CROSSGATES

Mr I. J. Dewhirst, of Whinmoor Lodge, has sent £25 to the West Riding Distress Fund.

CROSSGATES WORKING CLUB.—A match between teams chosen from members residing in Crossgates and Whitkirk was played on Saturday, and it resulted in a win for the Crossgates team by seven goals to nil. A collection made on behalf of the local Medical Charities Fund realised £2 5s. 6d.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—On Sunday harvest thanksgiving services were held at the Baptist Church, Whitkirk, and they were very successful, there being a good congregations. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, fruit, etc., and conspicuous among the decorations was a model boat, miniature corn, a sheaf in front of the pulpit. The preacher at both services was the Rev. J. Miller Hamilton, the pastor, and he gave excellent discourses appropriate to the occasion. At the evening service the soloist was Miss Alwalk, a fine singer, and the organist was Mr Jackson.

CONCERTS FOR THE NATIONAL RELIEF FUND.—The Crossgates Foresters have undertaken the biggest task in the concert line ever attempted in the district, for they have arranged two concerts in the Wesleyan School and in the Recreation Hall for Friday night, October 2nd, and there is every indication that both halls will be crowded, so excellent has the response of the residents been to the call of the ticket-sellers. The Foresters are to pay all expenses connected with the concerts, so that all money taken for tickets will go to the Relief Fund. Excellent artistes, as our advert columns show, have been engaged, and the Lord Mayor and the Lady Mayoress have promised to be present.

FAIRBURN

Mr T. E. Makin, of Fairburn, won first prize in the horse leaping class at Nidderdale Show on Monday.

GARFORTH

Misses A. and S. Bottle, of Garforth, have given £2 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

SAID HE was LOST.—Dan Taylor, miner, of Garforth, was charged at Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday with drunkenness. P.C. Stothard said that on Saturday, the 12th, he was on duty at Garforth and Halton, and he saw defendant, who was drunk, leaning against a lamp post. He said he was lost. Fined 5s. and costs.

WESLEYAN CHURCH.—The harvest festival services at the Garforth Wesleyan Chapel will take place on Sunday next, when the Rev A. Barritt will be the preacher at the morning and evening services. He will be remembered as having been at Garforth on a former occasion, when he preached two excellent sermons which were highly appreciated by all who were fortunate enough to be present. It is anticipated there will be large congregations on Sunday. A musical service will be given in the afternoon, particulars of which appear in our advert columns.

WORK FOR WOMEN.—In connection with the Work for Women Fund, for which H.M. Queen has issued an appeal, Mr J. W. Dobson, Chairman of Garforth Urban Council, asks for the support of the inhabitants of Garforth. "As Garforth distress has not been felt, but "in some of our large cities and towns many women and girls are thrown out of work, I know that Garforth people have the means of supporting other funds, but I hope I shall not make this appeal to you in vain." The object of the fund is to provide work for women and to prevent distress.

POOR RATE.—Summonses were issued by Garforth overseers against 125 residents for non-payment of rates, and on Tuesday thirty-three of them having failed to meet demands, had their cases dealt with by the Skyrack magistrates. Only four defendants appeared, three of which of the defendants, if appeared, had joined the Army, but they had not gone before the summonses were issued, and these cases were adjourned sine die. In all the other cases orders were made, being suspended for a fortnight in some cases and a month in others.

A GARFORTH MAN AT THE FRONT.—G. H. Lovett, of Garforth, who is with the Army at the Front, writes on September 16th as follows:—"The last mail I received was on the 23rd of August in which I stated that I was nearly everyone at Garforth was making enquiries after my welfare. I have many relations, besides friends, and I find it impossible to write to them, as writing paper is very scarce, and so is time, so I thought if I wrote to the "Courier" it would let everyone know that I was well. I am afraid I cannot give you any war news as it is all censored, but I can state that I have been in the thick of it from the start. The French people are very good to us, especially to our wounded. It is surprising how cheerful the troops are, especially when under fire, but when the battle is over one can read the thoughts that have been passing through their minds during the conflict. I have not met any other soldiers from Garforth. If there are any at the Front give my wife their addresses and she will forward them to me, and then I may be able to come across them. I don't know what I can write any more, but as soon as we are allowed to send news I will do so immediately through the columns of the "Courier." Good-bye for the present. I thank all kind enquirers. With relations please accept this as if I had written to them separately.

HALTON

Halton Wes. P.S.A. has sent 7s. to Leeds National Relief Fund.

Lady Dorothy Wood has given £10 to the Lady Mayoress's Fund.

MAINTENANCE ARREARS.—At the Skyrack Petty Sessions held at Leeds Town Hall on Tuesday Hannah Linley, of Halton, summoned her husband, George Arthur Linley, for not paying his wife's maintenance arrears, amounting to £2 7s. Defendant did not appear, and he was committed for a month.

THE EXCUSE.—John Waite, tobacconist, of Halton, was charged at the Skyrack Court at Leeds on Tuesday with failing to deliver up a spring movement licence. P.C. Taylor gave evidence, and said defendant removed two pigs to his premises at Halton, and he did not give up the licence. When he saw him about it he said that he thought the licence was available for six days, whereupon he told him he should have given it up as soon as the removal was completed. Fined 1s. for each pig and costs.

DRUNKENNESS.—On Tuesday at Leeds West Riding Police Sessions Herbert Armitage, cutler, of Halton, was summoned for using abusive language to Mrs Kellett. The latter said that on the 5th inst. she went to defendant, who lived next door, and had language to her. She declared that she did not reply to him, and that all she said was "Thank you."—Defendant said he was not guilty.—The Chairman: You must pay that to us.—Samuel Kellett was called, but said he was not there when the offence was alleged, and he was told to stand down.—John Bell was called for the defence, and Armitage said he used no filthy language. Fined 2s. 6d. and costs.

KIPPAX

Miss Barton, of Kippax, has solicited and received 3,512 cigarettes as well as tobacco, and has forwarded them to Buckingham Gate for distribution to our soldiers.

THE METHODIST CHURCH.—The members of the Christian Endeavour held their weekly meeting on Wednesday evening in the schoolroom. The newly appointed circuit minister (the Rev. R. Clement) gave an excellent address, and it was much appreciated by a fairly large gathering.

UNITED METHODIST CHURCH.—The harvest festival was celebrated at this church on Sunday, and the sacred edifice was beautifully adorned with fruit and flowers. The special preacher was the Rev. H. W. B. Chapman (circuit minister, Castleford). A special anthem, "Joseph and his brethren," was sung by the choir, under the leadership of Mr J. Radcliffe at the evening service. The solos were sung by Miss A. Goodall (contralto) and Mr J. Farrant (bass). In the afternoon the choir rendered the cantata "Ruth." The principal parts were sung by Miss Holliday and Miss E Smith (sopranos), Miss D. Radcliffe (contralto), Mr D. Smith (tenor), Mr J. Farrant and Mr H. Hollyhead (bass). Mr W. Halliday officiated at the organ. A concert was held on Monday evening and it attracted a good attendance. The Preston Wesley choir submitted the following programme:—Pianoforte duet, Miss D. Normanville and Mr Hogg; anthem, "Teach me, O Lord"; choir; recitation, Mr Hogg; glee, "Don't fret," choir; song, "Deathless army," Mr Finch; glee, "The chorister," choir; song, "The flight of ages," Mr Gill; glee, "Softly falls the shade," choir; recitation, Mr Hogg; glee, "Life and health," choir; song, "Roll on," Mr Finch; glee, "By the lonely vale of streams," choir; recitation, Mr Hogg; anthem, "I will by me down," choir; and the National Anthem by the choir and congregation, Mr G. Plows presided. The concert was preceded by a public tea, which was fairly well attended, and it was supervised by Mrs G. Goodall and Mrs S. Tillotson, assisted by young ladies connected with the church. Mr Farrant moved a vote of thanks to all who had rendered any service. Mr L. Plows seconded, and this was cordially passed.

PARISH CHURCH.—The members of the Sewing Guild who have met each Monday in the Church Schoolroom during the last four weeks for the making up of garments for our brave soldiers and sailors, have done exceedingly well, as also have the day-school girls, standard seven, supervised by the head teacher (Miss Webb), and the Sunday School class of girls, under the direction of Miss M. C. Plows and Mr E. Fleetman (teachers). The result of their labours and of those who have knitted socks at their homes was on view in the schoolroom on Wednesday evening. Neatly laid on a temporary platform were 54 shirts, 21 bed jackets, and 3 vests, whilst Dolphinholme were losing by pairs of socks, and midway between these was an elder down quilt made by the day-school girls. The 21 mufflers which the Sunday School girls had knitted completed the picture. The Vicar (Rev. E. B. Smith) expressed the feeling of gratitude that he and Mrs Smith had to all those who had so kindly responded to their invitation, and had come forward and worked so splendidly in the making up of the garments. Some of our brave soldiers and sailors doubtless would find comfort in the making of them, and consolation in the thought that while they were fighting our battles the people at home didn't forget them. He stated that the balance in hand would be spent in the purchasing of blankets, and of wool for the knitting of more socks. The balance sheet is as follows:—Subscriptions—Mr J. D. Bland £5; Medical Charities and Old Hall £4 12s. 9d., Mr G. G. Wheeler, M.P., £1 1s., Sir J. Compton Rickett, M.P., £2 2s., Mrs Hulland £2, Misses Nichols 10s., Mrs Prince 10s., Mr and Mrs Harold Green 10s., Mr Gough 10s., Mrs E. B. Smith 10s., A Sympathiser 10s., Mrs Wm. Lodge 10s., Mason at Garforth Hospital 10s., Mr and Mrs Lister 7s. 6d., Mr. Rhoades 5s., Mrs Medley 5s., Mrs Roberts 5s., Mrs Birkinshaw 5s., Mrs Cawood 5s., Mr. Goodall 5s., Miss Webb 5s., Mr G. Roberts 2s. 6d., Mr E. Bickerdike 2s. 6d., Mrs John Green 2s. 6d., Mr Oswald Hemsley 2s. 6d., Mrs Bickerdike 2s. 6d., Miss Handley 1s. 6d., Mrs. E. Bennett 1s.; total, £43 11s. 9d. Expenditure—Cost of material for shirts per order £10 5s. 6d., reels and pins 2s. 9d., carriage of goods 3s. 9d.—balance in hand, £26 4s. 4d.

MICKLEFIELD.

MICKLEFIELD WESLEYAN CHURCH.—On Sunday harvest thanksgiving services were held at the Wesleyan Church, and the Rev. C. E. Cook (the newly appointed minister) was the preacher morning and evening, and gave two excellent sermons. In the afternoon the choir rendered the service of song, entitled "Farmer Forest's thanksgiving." The connective readings were given by Mrs Cook, of South Milford, the conductor was Mr J. J. Wallis, and the organist was Mr W. H. Sutton. At the evening service Misses E and H Taylor were soloists, and "He shall feed His flock" and "Come unto Him" (C'Messiah") were sung most effectively. The services were continued on Tuesday, when a public tea was provided, after which a large number partook of a sumptuous repast. Afterwards there was a public meeting, presided over by Mr R. V. Harvey, of Peckfield Lodge, and he made stirring reference to the great Nonconformity of the country and appealed to the young people for service in the church. The Rev. H. C. Bassett (the new superintendent minister) and Rev. C. E. Cook gave stirring addresses. Miss Smith, of Kippax, sang very effectively "The land beyond" and "The flight of ages." Collections were made at all the services in aid of Trust Funds.

As a result of the recruiting meeting at Micklefield, nineteen young men have joined the Army.

RECRUITING AT MICKLEFIELD.—A splendid recruiting meeting was held in the Working Men's Institute, Micklefield, on Thursday night. The speakers were Mr W. Middlebrook, M.P., and Mr J. S. Shannon (York). The chairman was Mr F. W. Sutcliffe. A hearty response was given at the close of the speeches. Several recruits came forward, and as each presented himself the audience cheered. A vote of thanks was accorded the speakers, on the motion of Mr Linnecker, seconded by Mr Ledge. Major Broome attended as recruiting officer.

METHLEY.

On Saturday afternoon Methley P. were defeated by Glasshoughton footballers by two goals to one.

OULTON

Mr J. E. Davenport, of Oulton, has given £50 to the Leeds National Relief Fund and £10 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

On Saturday afternoon Oulton St. John's defeated Barwick-in-Ardsley G.N. footballers by three goals to one.

On Saturday the Scouts of the Oulton St. John's Troop again collected for the Oulton and Woodlesford War Fund, the amount realised being £1.

HARVEST FESTIVALS.—At Oulton Wesleyan Church the harvest festival was held during the week-end, and it was attended with great success. A student from the Headingley College, Mr Inman, was the pre-cher. On Sunday a special musical programme was provided in the afternoon, when the choir rendered the service of song, "The wanderer," the connective readings being ably rendered by Miss Sidebottom, of Rothwell. Mr W Waddington was the organist and sang the solo portion. On Monday evening a public meeting was held in the church, Mr Hadcroft, of Swillington, presided, and an address was given by the Rev. J. Wilson (the new superintendent minister of the circuit).

MOOR ALLERTON

Mr Herbert Ratcliffe, of Moortown, has sent £1 10s. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

Mrs Constable Hayes, of Moortown, has given £2 2s to the Belgian Relief Fund, while a sum of £5 5s has been given from Moortown Distress Fund.

ROUNDHAY

RELIEF FUND.—The following amounts have been sent by Roundhay residents to the Belgian Relief Fund:—Mr W. Jackson, £1 1s.

MRS R. H. BARKER, M.P., AND THE WAR.—Speaking at a meeting at Holbeck, on Tuesday evening, Mr Rowland Barran, M.P., said Britain was doing her duty and nothing but her duty in this fight for civilisation against barbarism. Germany's object was the annexation of Holland and Belgium and the French colonies, and if that end had been achieved the people of England would have been in imminent danger in a few years of having to fight in their own fields and towns as the Belgians were fighting today. (Hear, hear). The peoples of Austria and Germany had not the freedom and liberty of Englishmen and Frenchmen. The war on our side was to fight against a cruel and brutal military despotism. If by any chance we failed we delegated the glory, prosperity, and freedom of the country would be swept away for ever, but he believed the manhood of the country would rise and prevent the possibility of that disaster. He had no hesitation in calling upon mothers and fathers to let their sons go out. His own two sons had volunteered for active service. (Applause). There was no better cause to which to take upon themselves the burden or bring to all the dependents left behind. (Hear, hear).

SEACROFT

Mr J. M. Rayner, of Seacroft, has sent £1 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

From the parish of St. James', Seacroft, a sum of £3 has been sent to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

STOURTON

P.S.A.—On Sunday at the P.S.A. service held at the Primitive Methodist Chapel the address was given by Mr Haynes, of Kirkstall, Leeds.

A sum of £5 has been sent by the Yorkshire Copper Works (Ltd.) to the Belgian Relief Fund, and Mr Richard Fraser has given £1 1s.

FOOTBALL.—On Saturday afternoon Stourton United footballers and Farnley Amateurs played a drawn game of four goals each. Stourton—Rosevill and Hunsley Juniors scored three goals each.

NOON RAIL.—On Tuesday at Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions a Stourton householder was summoned by the Rothwell overseers for not paying his poor rate. The original order was made, being suspended for six weeks.

A MISCALCULATION.—On Tuesday at Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions Robert Bannister, beamer, of Leeds, was charged with using a bicycle on the road with no rear light on the Pontefract Road, Stourton. P.C. Bejes said that defendant was in charge of a horse and waggon on which there was no red rear light. Defendant, in his excuse said that he expected to be home before lighting-up time. Fined 2s. 6d. and costs.

WHITKIRK

Mrs P. S. Marsden, of Whitkirk, has sent £1 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

On Friday the Bishop of Knaresborough (as commissary for the Bishop of Ripon), licensed the Rev. Walter Hugo Littlewood, B.A., to the vicarage of Whitkirk.

WOODLESFORD.

MR A. E. Irvin, son of the Vicar of Woodlesford, has received his commission as temporary sublieutenant in the 8th Battalion of the Yorks and Lancashire Regiment, now in camp at Frensham.

STATIONMASTER'S NEW APPOINTMENT.—Mr W. H. Shaw, who for 15 years has stationmaster at Wetherby since November, 1899, is shortly removing to take up the responsible position of mineral inspector at Heathrope, Doncaster. During the time Mr Shaw has been at Wetherby the appearance of the station has been much improved, and each year a prize has been obtained in the stations' competition. The station has also been lighted by gas, the train service increased, and the staff increased, and many other little alterations have been effected which have been for the benefit of the public. Formerly Mr Shaw was a member of the York City Council, a director of the York Cooperative Society, a member of the Executive of the then Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants (now National Union of Railway men). He was selected on a special committee of the A.S.R.S. to settle the claim of the Taff Vale Railway Company against that society. He also served on the Signalmen's National and several N.E.R. committees. Frequently taking the chair at different gatherings, he was looked upon as one of the best advocates for the men's cause. The company showed their appreciation of his ability by appointing him to Ribblate station about 10 years ago. After a short stay there he moved to Wetherby.

HUNSLET RURAL DISTRICT COUNCIL.

ESTIMATES—TEMPLENEWSAM TOWN PLANNING.

The monthly meeting of the Hunslet Rural District Council was held at the Council Offices, Leek Street, Hunslet, yesterday afternoon, Mr T. Thomas (Chairman) presiding. Others present were Mr P. S. Marsden (vice-chairman), Mr D. W. Hargreaves, and Mr W. Verity, with the Clerk (Mr W. B. Pinder), the medical officer of health (Dr J. Buck), the sanitary inspector (Mr W. Whitehead), and the surveyor (Mr J. Nuttall).

The medical officer's report for the past four weeks showed that six births had been registered—two in Oulton-cum-Woodlesford, and four in Templenewsam. The deaths numbered five—three in Oulton-cum-Woodlesford, one in Templenewsam, and one in Middleton. During the period there were 14 cases of infectious disease—one of scarlet fever and one of diphtheria in Oulton-cum-Woodlesford, and one case of erysipelas in Templenewsam—all reported to be isolated.

A letter was read from the Rothwell Urban District Council asking the Council to elect a representative on the Joint Cemetery Board, and Mr Thomas was appointed.

The Yorkshire Electric Power Company wrote informing the Council that they are preparing another bill which they propose to bring before Parliament in the next session to enable them to supply electric light in the rural area, and they asked the Council for their support.

The Clerk said he thought it would be better to wait until they received a report from the District Councils' Association, and this was agreed to.

The Clerk presented his estimates of expenditure for the half-year. For general expenses the estimate was £2,000 as against £1,990 for the last half-year. The apportionment is as follows:—Oulton-cum-Woodlesford £812, Middleton £160, Templenewsam £570, and Thorp Stapleton £8.

With regard to the special expenses, the Clerk said it was necessary owing to the enlargement of the sewage works, to add £50 to the proposed call for Templenewsam. Last half-year it was £120, and now they were asking for £200. Middleton and Oulton-cum-Woodlesford were each asked £10 less. In the case of Middleton the call was £160 as against £170 and for Oulton-cum-Woodlesford £120 as against £160.

With regard to the Templenewsam town planning scheme, a letter was read from the Leeds Corporation, and some of the suggestions put forward by the Corporation were approved and will probably be included in the scheme. A meeting of owners of property is to be held at the Parochial Hall, Halton, on Wednesday at 10 a.m., when the views of owners of property in the district on the scheme will be heard.

Garforth War Distress Fund.

ADDITIONAL AMOUNTS RECEIVED.

Mr W. G. Booker, hon. sec. and treas. of the Garforth Distress Fund, states that the following additional amounts have been received:—

	£	s.	d.
Underground workmen and boys
Sisters' and Isabella Pits
(2nd collection)	7	0	6
Mr. C. Slater	2	2	0
Rev. Edward Rees	1	1	0
Mr J. Prime	2	2	0
Miss M. and Miss E. Bartle	1	1	0
Mr Walter Roberts	0	5	0
Miss Hammond	0	10	6
Miss Rudsdale	0	10	6
Mr. T. Morley	0	1	0
Mr E. W. Laycock	0	0	0
Messrs A. Smith and Son	1	1	0
Mr Walter Pease	0	10	0
Mr Wm. Handforth	1	1	0
Mr Albert Preston	0	5	0
Mr George Smith & Co.	2	2	6
Mr J. S. Wood	0	1	0
Mr H. C. Wood	0	1	0
Mr R. H. Long	0	1	0
Mr John Woods	0	2	6
Mr Telford	0	2	6
Mr Wm. Wilson	0	2	6
Mr Wilfred Lawrence	0	10	0
Mr W. G. Jackson	1	1	0
Dr. C. H. Sykes	2	2	0

Mr Oswald R. Lupton, of Stourton Park, Wetherby, has given £50 to the Scottish National Emergency Committee.

Mr Arthur Wade-Gery, Vicar of Barwick-in-Elmet, has given £5 to the Soldiers' Comforts Fund, Mrs Gaskell, of Helm's, Wetherby, £10, and Mr Pease in the cattle class and Mr J. C. Yorke's cup for bullock on sale.

Mr Thomas Ingle, solicitor, Leeds, Pro. R.S.C.A., writes:—"I am sure it requires no comment on our soldiers and sailors, and the needs. They are overflowing with enthusiasm, and they have to be supplied by us. Applications are coming in daily from the front and must be met. Applications for help from the wives and children have been very properly and promptly attended, and I feel that we must continue to apply to the generous Leeds public, and they never fail to have the rights of men at the Front had most for them

A ROTHWELL SOLDIER WHO ESCAPED FROM THE GERMANS.

MR WRIGHT STEADS SON'S THRILLING EXPERIENCES.

IN THE FIGHTING LINE AT MONS.

NINE DAYS IN A FOREST—A TRYING ORDEAL.

TREATED WELL BY GERMAN SOLDIERS.

Quite a number have recently crossed to Rothwell from the northern border, as Private Jos. Stead, son of Mr Wright Stead, of Churchfields, also is a member of Hunter's Barrel of Gourdelion, from the Front, whether after fighting at Mons he was able to walk into the hands of the German soldiers. He, however, received no wound, and, after many interesting experiences, is returned to England. He arrived at Rothwell on Sunday morning, and, although looking very much the worse for his trying experiences, although he is the height of the proverbial fine specimen of its hands of the British Tommy.

On Sunday night our representative had an interesting chat with Private Stead. He went out with his regiment, the Duke of Wellington's, to which he has been attached for ten years, to the Expeditionary Force. It received its papers calling upon one to report himself at the depot at Halifax on the morning of August 4th, and by the afternoon of the 5th, Halifax, we learn, were about ten all very well equipped and on their way to Dublin to join our Battalion.

We arrived in Dublin on the Saturday and remained there about a week, leaving for Cork by the Mail boat. We stayed outside the harbour at Haven, waiting for the pilot, we were some distance in an other troop-ship, evidently waiting for the pilot to come. After spent one night at Haven, which was being used as a rest camp, and the following day we continued on to Havre, where we remained for a few days prior to the frontier called Landrecies. From there we continued our march until we came within a few miles of Mons.

"It was on Sunday, August 23rd, that we came up with the united fighting. That night we were billeted in a village called Harmignies, Harmignies, which is about five miles from Mons, when the Germans commenced to shell the place. We were hurried out and marched down the street. At each corner, where a place is being entrenched, it is unwise to march in a body down the street, and we, and our platoon either side, to be one of the road of bursting shells. Half-a-dozen more our battalion was in the field of the trenches for about a couple of hours, only to go back again, and it was not until about ten o'clock on the Tuesday morning that we got our first fighting line.

"During the whole of the fighting German shells were bursting all around us, and we give the enemy the range. In the result of the battle our men were nearly all wiped out, and a total of twenty-four officers were also killed, a couple of officers and an adjutant was killed. We entered Mons with about 1,000 men, and we mustered only about 400 when we got to the other British troops.

"We retired through Mons on the Wednesday night, and we were billeted in the village of Jemappes, where we had the best night's rest we had had for a week. We were awakened at four o'clock in the morning by the order to fall in, and we were told to make for Bavay, which is on the French side, and about twenty miles away through the night until we came to a village, in which we were billeted, and where we had our first meal since the night before last. Two of the night were ahead to keep a look-out, as we had been told that the Germans were just in front. However, those two somehow got cut of and passed right through the enemy's lines, without knowing it, and subsequently came to Maubeuge. We did not get to Maubeuge owing to the firing, which could be heard only a short distance away, and we had to go round it, and we could see some fires, firing at anything we could by our hands on, such as blackberries etc.

"While in the forest, which was just on the border of a town about midway to Maubeuge, we had to remain there for nine days, and during that time we had no provisions, no equipment of any kind. Evidently we had been sent by some of the officers who had gone on in front, and who had not realised the necessity of us being provided with food. We were taken into the forest, where we had to remain for nine days, and the regular food we got during that time was a few biscuits and a little bully beef. We were also without water, and we had to get it from the streams in the forest

[ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.]

THE DOUBLE CHANCE.

By J. S. FLETCHER

Author of "The Threshing Floor," "Ellery Clift," etc. [illegible] Song," "Dennis Quigley," etc.

CHAPTER XIX.

Mr. Marshall Stead, left to himself and his own thoughts in the comfortable solitude of a not too spacious or overcrowded cell, felt that the situation in which he now found his hitherto confident personality placed was one which had great disadvantages. Until that moment he had never known any circumstances wherein it was to his momentary fall of resource all his life yet, at any rate, since his schoolboard, he had not experienced every succeeding day to his very good. He was sure now that he should make something out of this, if only he could regain his liberty. But the walls of his cell were so thick, to those of the old Castle, and the apertures for the windows were so few and so small, and so full of iron bars, and the door looked so as if it would never open again, that he wondered if escape were possible. Obviously, Mr. Stead was in what is vulgarly called a tight place; but being philosophic, he set about making the best of it, and all that was provided he sat on—and meditated matters.

Mr. Stead was a man of many moods, with a capacity for extracting comfort from circumstances of the most untoward character. Had he been placed in an open field with a policeman on each side of the hedge with a gravestone at his knee. He was eating bread and cheese, with a clasp-knife, and every now and then applying his lips moistened to the flask of whisky. He was, in a poor, washed-out, downtrodden-looking creature, whose face bore more than one mark of battle, but he had been known to be a good deal of the worst of it; and he had closed the door himself and faced the conqueror of the contest.

Dogger Tandy, a big, beny red-haired, sharp-eyed, sharp-nosed man, with a thin beard and moustache of the same colour, was a prostrated ugly yellow lumps of toward up on the other side of the table with a gravestone at his knee. He was eating bread and cheese, with a clasp-knife, and every now and then applying his lips moistened to the flask of whisky. He was, in a poor, washed-out, downtrodden-looking creature, whose face bore more than one mark of battle, but he had been known to be a good deal of the worst of it; and he had closed the door himself and faced the conqueror of the contest.

Dogger Tandy, a big, beny red-haired, sharp-eyed, sharp-nosed man, with a thin beard and moustache of the same colour, was

AMUSEMENTS.

LEEDS EMPIRE PALACE.

At the Empire this week the revue "Keep Smiling" is the principal attraction. The show as a whole is one of the best of its kind on the road, and is chockful of novel staging devices and breezy numbers, while the humour of Gilbert Child is quaint and forceful. Lulu Valli, an old pantomime favourite in the West Riding, is never long off the stage, and to her pleasing presence and versatility the production owes much of its success. Susie Belmore, whose vocalisation might very well be set up as a model for music-hall comedienne, sings a lilting patriotic song, and the genuine pathos of Jenny Hartley's poem, no less than her stirring recital, touches the right chord.

To-morrow (Saturday) there will be a special matinee at the Empire Palace in aid of the Prince of Wales' War Fund, and the artistes not only at the Empire and Hippodrome will appear, but others performing at halls at Manchester, Bradford, Sheffield, etc. It should be a grand performance.

Little Tich heads the programme selected by Mr Frank Allen for next week at the Empire, Leeds. Another engagement of especial interest is that of Mlle. Adele Moraw, who imports into her entertainment the true atmosphere of the Parisian Cabaret. A change from the humours of the ubiquitous Lancashire comedian is provided by Adam Tomlinson, whose accent is racy of Tyneside, whilst the Rials, a boy and girl, who contribute a clever item with no more elaborate accessories than a pair of rings and a few old hats. The Carangeots, a pair of clever Continental artistes, excel alike in stately or in whirlwind dancing, and a strong bill is completed by the drolleries of Messrs Rich and Rich, the eccentric acrobatics of the Smarte Bros., and a new series of war pictures on the bioscope.

LEEDS HIPPODROME.

At the Hippodrome this week the outstanding feature of the bill is the clever turn of Du Calion, who keeps up a continuous flow of witticisms the while he balances at the end of a long ladder. Imitative rather than original are the musical efforts of Haydn Wood and Dorothy Court, but if the numbers are rather hackneyed they are tunefully rendered, and make a popular appeal. Much good material in "A Lucky Miss" is wasted through the "thinness" of the denouement and the weak dialogue. Harry Wynn is a Welsh comedian with a happy vein of humour.

Next week at the Hippodrome the great thing will be the revue "Come Inside," featuring Bessie Clifford. In addition a first-rate programme will be submitted, well-known artistes having been engaged.

SHERBURN PETTY SESSIONS.

MILFORD, FENTON AND SHERBURN CASES

Yesterday at Sherburn Petty Sessions the magisterial power were the Rev. B. Hemsworth (Chairman), Major Allenby, Mr Walter Crosland, Mr William Crosland, and Mr H. S. Childe.

The jury lists were presented by the overseers of the parishes in the Upper Barkston Ash Division and were passed.

Henry Scarlett, miner, of Sherburn, was charged with assaulting John Broan on the 13th inst at Sherburn. Mr C. Kemp prosecuted, and said his client had been seriously assaulted by defendant. The complainant stated he saw defendant in the "Wheat Sheaf." A friend left him near the Council School, and defending said he would "put him through it." He threw a three-down and seized him by the throat and nearly choked him. He then kicked him two or three times on the head. John Lowson stated he heard a scuffle, and when he got up Scarlett was on the top of Brown, and he pulled him off. He found Brown was badly cut on the face, and took him home. Mrs Cromack stated she saw Scarlett kicking Brown. P.C. Parkinson stated he saw Brown some time afterwards and he was badly marked on the face. Defendant said he had two brothers at the war, and said he would like to go himself, and Brown said "You ought all to be shot." This vexed him, and they had a fight. Fined £3, including costs.

Mary Harrison, married woman, of Church Fenton, was charged with an assault upon Jane Jackson on the 17th inst. Mr Kemp defended. The complainant stated that the defendant came up to her and struck her with a pail on the face. They both went to the tap together, and both wanted the water. William Binns corroborated. Mrs Harrison said the pail must have longed to her and Mrs. Jackson put her bucket under it, and she put it away. Witness put her bucket under, and Mrs Jackson kicked it away. She denied striking complainant. The case was dismissed.

Joseph Woodley, miner, of Fairburn, was charged with game trespass on the 1st inst. Jas. Pass, gamekeeper, stated the defendant had no right where he was. The defendant said it was quite an accident. The trigger caught a button, and it made the gun to go off. Fined 5s. and 12s. costs. The same defendant was charged with firing a gun within 50 feet of the highway on the 1st inst. Defendant pleaded guilty. Fined 1s. and 4s. costs.

Frank Turley and Harry Lunn, miners, of South Milford, were charged with cruelty to a dog on the 19th ult. Mr Willey defended. John Copley, apprentice, said he had a dog, and whilst in Common Lane the defendants' two dogs set on his, and the defendants came up with sticks and thrashed his dog. When it was picked up it was blind and its tail was split. Cross-examined—He hit the dog with his cap. Percy R. Laighert stated he saw the dogs fighting, and then defendants "laid" Copley's dog out. Cross-examined—He did not interfere. He did not think it was necessary to fetch a policeman. (Laughter). Frank Turley, one of the defendants, stated Lunn and a man called Heseltine had a walk, and they met Copley, who had a roughish-lookin Irish terrier. They heard the dogs fighting when they got over the brow of the hill. He tried to part the dogs, and that had no intention of hurting Copley's dog. He heard Copley's dog was drowned afterwards. Wm. Thos. Hoseltine stated he saw the dogs fighting. He never saw a blow struck after the dogs finished fighting. The case was dismissed.

Francis Wyman, grocer's manager, of South Milford, was charged with embezzlement on the 19th inst. by Mr George Henry Moon, and Mr Arthur Willey prosecuted. Mr Claude Kemp defended. By Lawrence Moon, of East Keswick, deposed that prisoner had embezzled the sum of £1 7s. 6d. on the 19th inst. The prisoner was their manager at South Milford. On being formally charged the prisoner pleaded guilty. Mr Kemp made an impassioned speech for the defence, and said Wyman had a thirty years' excellent character. The defendant was bound over in the sum of £10 to come up for judgment if called upon in three months, and to pay the costs.

AN APPEAL TO TEMPLENEWSAM MINERS.

AN OFFICER'S STIRRING STORY OF THE WAR.

The owner of the Waterloo Main Collieries, Templenewsam—Mr Stringer—has received an interesting letter from his son, Lieut. Clifford H. Stringer, who is with the 5th Lancers at the Front. The officer also writes an appeal to the men at the collieries, and it has been reproduced —in handwriting being copied—on large cards and displayed at the collieries.

The appeal is as follows:—5th Lancers, 3rd Cavalry Brigade, Expeditionary Force, 15th Sept, 1914. "To the staff and employees at all our collieries. We are doing splendidly, but we want all of you. Every healthy, able man come along and help us to wipe out these Germans."

In his letter, which is dated Sept. 13th, Lieut. Stringer says:—The fighting is very hot in fact, every day we scrap. These last four days from daylight to dark, have been one incessant artillery duel. The casualties are mounting a great stand at ——— to cover their retirement, which commenced a week ago. All yesterday we had miraculous escapes from shell-fire, especially in one village where we were blocked. They poured shrapnel into it so quickly that in about seven minutes it was burned.

On Saturday this brigade (the 3rd cavalry brigade) had a very successful day hunting the Germans; killed about 100, including wounded, and bagged about another 100 prisoners. The regiment had a charge, but the German reply was a white flag.

The A squadron (mine) was cut off from the regiment for a fortnight owing to the enemy giving us a very hot time whilst we were doing a rearguard action. However, we fetched up about a week ago.

Whilst we were detached we had another most successful charge, and my troop rounded up 25 German infantry—we were 15. They fired at us, but were not two minutes before putting up the white flag!!

We have practically no horse-shoes, and our kit is getting very bad. We move so fast that it is useless to expect to see transport. I must say they get food to us pretty regularly, considering the difficulties. There is practically no food left for us in the villages, as the Germans have pillaged everything and left houses in a terrible state.

We shan't be long before we are back in Belgium. The cavalry, infantry, and artillery have done awfully well. The Germans are keeping their army in complete ignorance of the true situation, and their daily papers are lying to keep the end of the German action up. If they knew the truth they wouldn't fight on, I think.

The Germans seem to be very pleased when captured, they know they'll get plenty of food.

It is absolutely wicked to see the state they have left the country in; everything blown up, smashed and looted—photograph wires and poles cut down everywhere. Such a glorious country I never saw in my life.

Glad to hear the news from England, and that all are working so desperately hard for us.

I had only one man shot in the charge last Saturday. On several occasions it's the most marvellous thing in the world that we haven't all been annihilated in this regiment—A squadron in particular—time and time again by the German shell fire whilst we were doing our retirement from Belgium.

The men are grand and just love working these lances. The garrison gunners, with the "cow" guns yesterday had a very hard time, but managed to get their guns away from us right enough. I am sorry to say the weather has broken, we have had a lot of rain lately. Still, always merry and bright!

A great pal of mine in the Regiment was horribly shot the other day and he's only just married—Julie by name.

I am keeping wonderfully well. The fruit here saves our lives. To show how we've been on the move, only once during the month and a few days that we have been here have we been in the same place near it two nights running. That occasion was because the shells were too hot to enable us to move.

The general situation here is very favourable; but by no means does it follow that the war is nearly over, though it may be, one can never tell.

TEMPLENEWSAM WAR RELIEF FUND.

LIST OF SUBSCRIPTIONS TO SEPT. 22nd.

The subscriptions received by the Templenewsam War Relief Committee to the 22nd September amount to £49 18s. 1d., made up as follows:—

	£	s.	d.
Collected by Miss Peggie Pindar, Master M. Catton, and Master H. Catton	0	6	0
Collected by W. Verity	0	15	3
" J. Flanagan	2	1	3
" J. H. Pickles	1	4	3
" J. Armiveau	0	2	3
" W. Baker	2	3	7
" T. Rippon	0	18	0
" S. H. Young	0	3	6
" J. W. Parker	2	4	9
" P. S. Marsden	1	6	8
" C. E. Fitton	0	6	5
" Rev. J. M. Hamilton	0	10	0
" Rev. B. Guyer	6	12	9
" Mrs. Ashmore	0	14	10
" Mrs. Pindar	0	8	8
" Mrs. Wm. Green	0	8	8
" Miss Bell	0	3	0
" Mrs. W. G. Crossthwaite	0	18	10
" Mrs Dockray	0	12	6
" Mrs Strickland	0	11	3
" Nurse Harrop	0	18	0
G. L. Briggs and Sons and employés	1	5	6
Templenewsam Estate Employees	1	5	5
Woodman Inn Clubs	3	0	0
Subscribed by Staff at Office at their first meeting	0	19	0
	£49	18	1

W. B. PINDAR, Secretary.

As there seems to be some misunderstanding as to the allocation of the money, we cannot do better than give the explanation issued by the Templenewsam Committee in a circular:—The above committee has been formed to work in cooperation with the West Riding Distress Committee, and through them with the Government Committee administering the Prince of Wales' Fund, with the object of preventing and alleviating any distress which may arise in consequence of the war. The committee earnestly appeal for subscriptions to the local Relief Fund. This fund will be used in the first place to alleviate local cases of distress, both civil and military, but not less than 25 per cent. of the subscriptions will be forwarded to the Central Fund.

Mr Percival Scatchard, of Tadcaster, has given £10 and Mr H. P. Clinch £5 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

THE CHALLENGE!

Never Beaten

BRAITHWAITE'S

"The Firm with a Reputation."

ARE NOW MAKING A

SPECIAL SHOW OF NEW GOODS

In all the LATEST STYLES, for

SPRING and SUMMER WEAR.

LADIES' & GENT.'S BOOTS & SHOES in Immense Variety at Prices to Suit all Purses.

5,000 Pairs of Children's Boots & Shoes. Newest Designs.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—We are still offering a lot of Odd Pairs at Ridiculously Low Prices until Cleared

BRAITHWAITE'S, The Value for Money Boot Stores,

58, VICAR LANE, LEEDS.

Closed at 1 o'clock on Wednesdays.

REGISTERED. OPTOLINE REGISTERED.

THE GREAT CURE FOR

COUGHS, BRONCHITIS, CONSUMPTION and GENERAL WEAKNESS.

Sold by all Chemists and Stores, 1/-, 1/6 and 2/6.

TELEPHONE 89 CENTRAL.

ON THE MARKET,

J. N. HORSFIELD & SONS, 81 & 83, Swout Street, LEEDS.

Barwick and Scholes Distress Fund.

ADDITIONAL CONTRIBUTIONS

In another column we give a list of the amounts received by the Barwick and Scholes Distress Committee from residents, and since receiving it an addition has come to hand. The total donations collected to date are:—

	£	s.	d.
Collected by Messrs Booth and Wright	14	11	0
" Messrs Birch and Murray	£6	17	0
" Mr H. S. Childe	15	9	6
" Messrs Puffett, Rayner and Townsley	79	14	0
Total	£116	11	6

The additional amounts received are:—

Collected by Messrs Booth and Wright:—

	£	s.	d.
Mr T. A. Robshaw	0	10	0
Mr H. S. Booth	0	1	0
Mr S. H. Towers	2	0	0
Mr. Lockwood	0	2	6
Mr. Adamson	0	0	6

Collected by Mr Childe:—

	£	s.	d.
Mr G. Schofield (junr.)	0	10	0

Collected by Messrs Birch and Murray —

	£	s.	d.
Mr F. Knutton	0	1	0
Mr R. M. Wood	0	1	0
Mr B. Robshaw	0	1	0
Mr C. Mauncy	0	1	0
Mr T. Braithwaite	0	0	6

Mr Henry Barran has given £10 to the Lady Mayoress's Fund.

A sum of £1 5s., second collection at "Red Cat," Shadwell, has been sent to the Leeds Lord Mayor's Fund.

The Rev. W. Nicholson, of Selby, has accepted the call to the Sunniland Congregational Church, near Hull.

Mr H. Raine, of Ferrybridge, has been appointed stationmaster at Monk Fryston, and Mr J. Whitelock, of Monk Fryston, has been appointed stationmaster as North Skelton.

CAPTAIN J. SCATCHARD—Captain J. Scatchard, son of Dr Scatchard, Bowden Spa, who has been killed in action, had nine years' service in the Royal Army Medical Corps, and reached his captaincy in January, 1909. He served at Agra, Dehradun, Dalhousie, and Ranikhet, for five years. He was at Aldershot before going to the front.

HOSPITALITY TO BELGIAN REFUGEES.—Through the invitation of the Rev. B. Hemsworth, M.A. (Chairman of the Parish Council), a meeting of the parishioners of Monk Fryston and Hillam was held at the National Schools on Saturday evening to discuss an enquiry from the Lord Mayor of York's Committee as to whether hospitality could be offered in Monk Fryston and Hillam for Belgian refugees. The Rev. B. C. Hemsworth presided over a large gathering, and by having explained the object, a discussion took place in which several people present expressed willingness to help, and take in one or two refugees. In the end it was decided that it would be desirable to keep all families together as far as possible. A committee was formed, with the Rev B. and Mrs Hemsworth as hon. secs. pro tem., and these are to try and obtain two empty cottages at Hillam, which the committee will furnish to accommodate two families of six each.

NEW VICAR OF MONK FRYSTON—The Rev. E. T. Hull, rector of Fransfield, Gloucestershire, has been appointed vicar of Monk Fryston in succession to the Rev. W. M. C. Clarke. The Rev. Edward Thomas Hull was ordained in 1892, and from that year until 1894 was curate of Seagrombe, Cheshire. In 1894 he became curate of Hampton, Worcestershire, which position he retained for three years. From 1898 to the following year he was rector of Warmington, and then until 1910 occupied a similar position at Burdland. Thence he went to Stonehouse, remaining there until 1910, when he was transferred to Framilode. He became a Licentiate of Theology at Durham University in 1908. The Rev. W. Murray Charles Clarke, Monk Fryston Vicarage, was ordained deacon in 1874 and priest the following year. From 1874 until 1879 he was incumbent of Alleston, Ontario. In the latter year he returned to England, and became curate of Ramsbury, Wilts. In 1882 he was appointed vicar of St. Michael's, Tenterden, and in 1900 was presented to the living of Monk Fryston.

ROTHWELL CRICKET LEAGUE.

Rothwell brought their fixtures to a close on Saturday, when they played Outwood Friends on the Rothwell ground. The game was interesting throughout, and after a keen struggle the visitors bredged off a win. Scores:—

Rothwell—A. Tiffany, run out, 4; J. Newton, c Whiteley, b White, 14; C. Tiffany, Rew, b Hodgkinson, 21; H. Hodgkinson, b Carr, 16; W. Fox, b Hoyland, 9; H. Hemsworth, b Carr, 15; W. Nelson, b Carr, 0; S. Falkiner, b Pickard, 7; E. Longley, b Pickard, 2; C. Bedford, c Whiteley, b Pickard, 4; H. Banks, not out, 1; extras, 7; total, 162.

Outwood Friends—R. Hoyland, c Hodgkinson, b Banks, 13; W. Pickard, b Banks, 5; J. Lunn, c Fox, b A. Tiffany, 13; D. White, b Bedford, 53; A. Hargreaves, run out, 5; M. Wheeler, c and b Hodgkinson, 14; P. Carr, c Fox, b Bedford, 16; J. Colley, run out, 0; H. Whiteley, b Banks, 8; Walker, not out, 1; W. Finnigan, not out, 0; extras, 26; total (for 9 wkts.), 163.

For Rothwell W. Bedford annexed a couple of wickets at a cost of eighty-seven runs, and H. Banks took three for fifty-two. Of the visitors' trundlers W. Pickard was most successful, taking three wickets for nineteen runs, while P. Carr had three for sixty.

Today (Saturday) the deciding match of the League will take place at Rothwell between Carlton and Outwood.

TRAGEDY AND MIRTH.

The York and Ainsty continues to have good sport amongst the cubs. On Saturday they were at Ripley Castle, and found a fair show. The Park Wood hole held nine hounds got some very good work before they killed. Clayton Ghyll gave a brace of old foxes, no hounds did not do much, for they were stopped from going into the open. On Monday, at Clapgrove, they found a very nice show. Hounds ran for some time, but the cubs got to ground. They went on to the warren, found, and had some hard work before killing a brace. Compstone had the honour to blood Lord Furness's daughter, the Hon. Averil Furness.

On Tuesday, at Askham White, Mr Walker-Fairbairn had a grand show. Hounds divided this strong litter about for two hours and got hold of a brace. They then went to the strip of plantation by the park, found, and soon killed, owing on to Mr R. Appleton's. At Askham Bank, hounds found, getting a scurry in the open before running to ground.

YORK AND AINSTY HUNT.

ARTFORD'S ROLL OF HONOUR.—The total number of young men belonging to Hartford who have responded to the country's call is 24. Their names are:—A. Bishop, A. Inman, H. Kirby, R. Heard, E. Durham, F. Thorpe, C. Pike, W. Locke, J. Inman, W. Rhodes, F. Scott, T. Clinton, F. Richardson, C. Slyfield, J. Davidson, A. Reed, R. Nutton, J. Nottingham, B. C. Scott, A. Langthorpe, J. Davis, and H. Kaygill.

TRAWLER LAUNCHED.—There was launched on Tuesday from the yard of Messrs Cochrane and Sons, Ltd., shipbuilders, Selby, a steel screw trawler, the principal dimensions being 145ft. by 27ft. 2in. by 14ft. 9in. moulded. The vessel has been built to the order of Mr H. L. Taylor, of Grimsby, and will be fitted with powerful triple expansion engines by Messrs Amos and Smith, Ltd., of Hull. As the vessel left the ways she was gracefully christened Taipo by Mrs H. L. Taylor, of Grimsby, after which the party adjourned to the directors' offices, where the usual toasts were proposed and responded to.

ANOTHER TRAGEDY AT CHALONER'S WHIN.—Still another fatality has occurred on the North Eastern Railway, the present occurrence at the spot known as Chaloner's Whin. The victim was Thomas Culham, of Sheffield, an engine driver in the service of the Midland Railway Company. The accident occurred shortly before 3 o'clock on Wednesday morning while the deceased was driving an engine bringing a Midland fruit train into York. The circumstances of the engine does not quite exactly how the accident happened, but it is surmised that the deceased fell from the engine when passing the Chaloner's Whin cabin. There is a sharp curve in the line at this point, and it is thought that whilst the driver was looking out for signals, he lost his footing, and fell on to the line. The right was exceptionally foggy. The train was stopped by the fireman, and the driver's body was picked up. Culham was found to be dead, and was conveyed to York on a ——engine.

BEST & BOOTH

Tailors & Costumiers,

119, KIRKGATE,

— AND —

143, BRIGGATE

(Corner of Market Street), LEEDS.

Ladies' Department—143, BRIGGATE.

Look Out for B. & B.

Leeds: 'Phone No. 1949.
Huddersfield: " 1609.

Watchmaker to the Admiralty.

William GREENWOOD,

Watchmaker and Jeweller,

92, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.

SPECIALITIES:—

DRESS, ENGAGEMENT, AND WEDDING RINGS.

W. G. makes a Handsome Present with every Wedding Ring.

Wedding Presents, Birthday Presents, and Presentations of every kind.

— AND AT —

3, DEVONSHIRE BUILDINGS, VICTORIA LANE, HUDDERSFIELD.

FINAL REDUCTIONS

— AT —

SMITH & PETTY'S

Summer Sale,

44, Lowerhead Row, LEEDS

Three Doors from Briggate.

FIVE PRICES:—

3s. 5s. 7s. 10s. 15s.

FOR

COSTUMES, DRESSES, RAINCOATS, &c., &c

Best Value ever Offered.

Genuine Bargains. See Windows.

Teasdale's — All Men Joining the Army SHOULD HAVE WITH THEM — Chlorodyne

Teasdale's Chlorodyne

A Safe Protector from common hazardous ailments—Cholera, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, etc.

GIVES INSTANT RELIEF; EASES PAIN. A BLESSING TO HAVE SUCH A GRAND MEDICINE.

Brigadier Fortune, Royal Horse Artillery: "I thank you for the great benefit that Teasdale's Chlorodyne has not only done for myself, but also for many of my comrades to whom I have given it. It has indeed been a blessing to have such a grand medicine in my possession. I have used it in numerous cases of Dysentery, Rheumatism, Pains in the Back, Coughs, and Colds. It acted like a charm in every case."

Teasdale's Chlorodyne

THE MOST VALUABLE PRESENT YOU CAN GIVE TO A FRIEND GOING TO THE FRONT.

7½d., 13½d., and Large Bottles, 2/6.

Can be had of PURDY, Cross-gates; RENNARD, Halton, and other Chemists; GOODALL, BACKHOUSE & Co., and TAYLOR'S DRUG STORES.

ASK FOR TEASDALE'S CHLORODYNE.

BUY ADGIE'S BOOTS

"BY TEST THE BEST."

THE NEW SEASON'S FOOTWEAR HAS NOW ARRIVED.

The Street, the Country Lane, the Drawing Room, the Fireside, all are represented in our new display of

SPRING FOOT STYLES.

Please Come Round and Inspect our Display

ALL AT MODERATE PRICES.

Note the Address— ADGIE'S Wholesale & Retail Warehouse 31, NEVILLE STREET, LEEDS.

A minute's walk from City Square, down Bishopgate Street, and through Railway Arches. First Warehouse on right hand side.

Printed and Published by ARTHUR KNOX RHODES, of 26, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates, for the Proprietors of the "Rothwell Courier and Times" at their offices, 1, Aire Street, Leeds, in the County of York.

"The Rothwell Courier and Times" IS THE Only Weekly Newspaper PUBLISHED in the DISTRICT

Rothwell Courier & Times

AND

Methley, Oulton, Woodlesford, Carlton, Robin Hood, Lofthouse, Middleton, Stourton & Hunslet Chronicle

NO. 92—NEW SERIES [Registered as the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.] SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3 1914 ESTAB. 1873 PRICE—ONE PENNY

Joshua Tetley & Son (Limited), THE BREWERY, LEEDS.

NOW READY IN BOTTLE.

East India Pale Ale, 2/- per dozen Small Bottles

Extra Stout, 1/9 per dozen Small Bottles.

Special (Non-Deposit) Mild Ale, 3/- dozen Large Bottles.

Delivered Free to Families within 20 Miles of Leeds.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

EMPIRE PALACE, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.

TWO PERFORMANCES EVERY NIGHT. AT 6.30 AND AT 9.

Early Doors Monday, Tuesday, and Saturday, at 6 p.m.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 5th, 1914.

GEORGE FORMBY
In His Latest Dare-Devil Escapades.
VICTOR TRAVERS. EDITH ENGLAND.
HARRY ATKINSON.
HAIG & NOVELL. LA PIA.
TUCKER.
LILY LENA.
The Princess of Comediennes.
Latest War News and Actual Films from the Front.

Prices, 10s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 2s., 1s. 6d., 1s., 6d., 4d., 3d.

HIPPODROME, LEEDS.

Performances Nightly at 6.30 and 9.
NEXT WEEK.
SEPTEMBER MORN
Featuring Johnnie Fields and Sylvie Lynd.
Cast also includes—Leslie Mavis, Mabel Long, Kathleen O'Hanlon and Carl Rivkin, Peter McSweeney.
SHAUN GLENVILLE.
WAR! Latest News and Incidents in Pictures.
NAUGHTON & GOLD.
MDLLE. GOLDA.

Note Prices:—10s. 6d., 2s., 6d., and 4d.

FRED BARBER,
Pork Butcher,
11. CALL LANE.
LEEDS.
TEL. 1604.

DRAINS TESTED AND REPAIRED.
SANITARY WORK A SPECIALITY
Pump Repairs, Electric Bells, Glazing and Gasfitting.
James Smithies,
Registered Plumber & Contractor.
Residence:—
43, AUSTHORPE ROAD, CROSSGATES.

Wm. HELLIWELL,
The Working Man's Friend,
212, Hunslet Rd., LEEDS
WATCH WINDOWS FOR GOOD HONEST VALUE.
Special Suits
From 30/-
NO FIT. NO PAY.

Established 1883. SPARKLING HOSPERRIDE TRADE MARK
An Exhilarating & Refreshing Beverage,
OBTAINABLE FROM HOTELS, RESTAURANTS & DEALERS
REYNOLDS & BRANSON Ltd. LEEDS.

For TOWN or COUNTRY.
For BUSINESS or PLEASURE.
THE FABOR LOUNGE SUIT
AT ::
Fabor
45/-
Is the Hall-mark of Perfect Tailoring.
LOUNGE SUITS from 35/-
COSTUMES from 2 Guineas.
Tailor Made & Perfect Fit Guaranteed.
24, Queen Victoria Street, and County Arcade, LEEDS.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT JOTTINGS.

In the Crossgates, Garforth, Halton, Allerton and Bywater, Rothwell, Carlton, Scarcroft, and Tad caster districts there are many homing pigeon fanciers, who own valuable birds, and it is highly necessary, in order to protect their interests, that they should be up and doing. Sometime ago an order was formally made with regard to pigeons kept in restricted areas, but the order which is as follows, now extends to the whole of the United Kingdom:—

No person shall, in any area which may be prescribed by order of a Secretary of State, keep or have in his possession any carrier or homing pigeon unless he has obtained from the chief officer of police of the district a permit for the purpose (which permit may at any time be revoked), and the chief officer of police may, if he considers it necessary or expedient to do so, cause any pigeons kept in contravention to those regulations to be liberated.

It is time, then, that pigeon fanciers were consulting the local police.

The science lectures at Garforth, judging by the remarkably large audience at the first one, are evidently going to be as successful as the Gilchrist series delivered last winter. Owing to the war and the dull trade, I came rather hastily to the conclusion that the attendance would suffer, but the committee have done their work so admirably that I am bound to confess my fears were ill-founded—at any rate, the attendance on Monday evening was quite up to the standard of last season. The lectures have a high educational value, and it is not surprising to find people from the villages round about taking advantage of them. Thus Garforth is not only catering for itself but for its neighbours, too.

The lecturer—Mr. Parsons, Principal of the Leeds Training College, which is supposed to be the leading institution of its kind in the country—is an expert educationist, and he is a very able man, who has enhanced the value of his learning by his vivid experience. He gave the audience the benefit of his observations during a fortnight's visit to the Yellowstone National Park in America, and no doubt many heard the story of this wonderful region of the world for the first time. It was not the lecture he should have given, but interesting as "pot-holing" is, I believe the subject he chose the better of the two. There is, too, another way of looking at the matter. Mr Parsons' lecture on "The innermost recesses of Lakeland" will keep, and when another winter comes round the committee may persuade him to travel to Garforth and renew acquaintance with them.

People in this part of the world have a great admiration for Roundhay Park—and quite right, too, for is it not the finest park in the country—but what a party affair it appears when compared with the wonderful Yellow-stone National Park, which is between 3,000 and 4,000 square miles in extent. It is impossible for anyone to grasp the meaning of a pleasure park so large and containing so many natural features—hot springs, geysers, mountains, lakes, rivers, etc., and I have no doubt that a good many people who listened to Mr Parsons' description of this wonder land wished they had the time and the cash in order that they might make a trip to it and see the marvellous works of nature. Recently a Garforth gentleman told me that the lads of the place added a pond near his house, and secured all the fish in it—the fishes were microscopic in size—but in the lakes in the Yellowstone Park they would find sufficient fish to satisfy all their desire for slaughter. The water teems with fish, and they have only to be hauled out. Fishing in that part of the globe may not provide what is termed sport, but it has its advantages, and one is that you may catch a fish, and, without taking it from the line, cook it. Mr Parsons showed a slide of a fisherman, standing by a lake, and on his line was a fish, which he held above a hot spring, which does all the cooking that is required. It is possible that, as a result of the lecture, some folks who can afford it will make a trip to the Yellowstone National Park.

Barkston Ash has made an excellent response to the country's call, and I believe that sufficient men have joined either the Regulars or Territorials to have formed two battalions. One gratifying feature is that the great majority of the men who have enlisted did so before the recruiting meetings were held, and their realization of individual responsibility in the crisis is a manifestation of the patriotism of the recruits. Many others have not been convinced of the need for individual action, and the appeals made to them at the recruiting meetings are very necessary, because it is evident that they will not follow the fine example set by so many hundreds of lads unless they are persuaded.

The Templenewsam recruiting meeting was very disappointing, and one doubts that the ancient parish is doing its duty. It was stated by one speaker that twenty young men had joined the Colours, and five gave their names in at the meeting, but that is a poor record for a parish with a population of 3,500. Aberford, with less than a third of the population, has sent 23; Wetherby, with a thousand fewer inhabitants, has about 130 with the Forces; Eddingston, with about as many residents, has considerably over 100, and Garforth, with 4,000, claims to have sent about 200. What has come over the young men of Halton? Whitkirk has done fairly well, considering its small number of men eligible for service, and it is clear that if the parish is to stand as well as Garforth Halton must be up and doing. It is possible that twenty-five recruits may be an underestimate, but suppose the number were fifty it is small compared with the returns from some of the villages.

A number of young men from the districts—Crossgates, Whitkirk, Roundhay, Garforth, Rothwell, Shadwell, Collingham, etc.—are now in training at Colsterdale, and all honour is due to them. In some quarters there has been a tendency to scoff at them and call them all manner of silly names, but many of these men have made considerable sacrifices in order to serve their country, living the life of the ordinary soldier, and they are entitled to the gratitude of those who remain behind. They are a fine lot of men, and, after they have undergone their training, they should be fit for any work they are called on to tackle.

From Crossgates Wesleyan Institute sixteen promising lads have gone to work for their country, and one must admire the spirit manifested by them. All branches of the service have claimed tribute. One member has gone to the Navy as a wireless operator, some have joined the R.A.M.C., and the others have entered the Army or Territorials. The training received by some of the lads in the district in the Boy Scout movement—several "Silver Wolf" have undertaken service—will be of the utmost value to them now, and they will have opportunity of putting their knowledge to good use.

As the preacher saith, there is a time for everything. Owing to the crisis football in the greater part of the district has been stopped, and one wonders what the attitude of the public will be to the social functions which are usually held in rural districts in the winter time. A correspondent writes:—"I am no alarmist; neither am I one who objects to a certain amount of pleasure and play for young folk, so long as it is taken at a proper time. The present is anything but a proper time for dancing parties and balls. I regret that some of our young men are talking of holding dances, when they ought to be in training for taking their place in the ranks of those who are so nobly and bravely and patriotically defending their country and homes against the foe from the. If we should find the Germans knocking at our doors some day, where shall our pleasure and play be then? I call these gatherings an insult to the lads who are fighting so well in France, and the men who are responsible for these gatherings deserve to be debarred from any intercourse with their fellows."

Will Barkston Ash farmers follow suit? Agriculturists in the North and East Ridings have decided to offer gifts of corn, straw, potatoes, etc., to Lord Kitchener for the Army, and their example will no doubt be followed by farmers all over the country. One big-hearted son of the soil declared "that they would give to the point of sacrifice, because in the present crisis in the country's history, and in helping the nation they were helping one another." That is the proper spirit to show just now. Complaint has been made as to the giving of many wealthy people to the Relief Funds, but if the farmers carry out the scheme foreshadowed no one will be able to point the finger of scorn at them. In our own district every farmer may not, owing to limited resources, be in a position to contribute gifts, but I believe that in any movement organised in Barkston Ash, which is not a poor district, the agriculturists would be unrepresented. Will the farmers' organizations at Crossgates, Shadwell, Selby, Tadcaster, and Wetherby undertake the work of collecting gifts?

Many Garforth men are now with the fighting Forces, and some are already at the Front. One gallant soldier, who wrote to us last week, states that he is "in the thick of it," and he will do his duty. Time is precious, and paper is not plentiful, so this worthy son of Mars addressed his communications to "Home" through the columns of the "Courier," and he has promised, as soon as he is permitted, to let us have more of the fighting in France.

He has, it will be admitted, adopted an excellent way of communicating with his friends, and I hope that other men from the district, who are bravely upholding the honour of England, will follow a similar course. We all want to know what our Army is doing—and previous little news is allowed to filter through—but we would also like to have some information concerning our local lads, and if they send letters to the "Courier" I can promise they will be inserted. They might have the effect of inspiring dear friends of the writers' to lend a hand against the cruel Teuton.

More farmers have been prosecuted in recent years for failure to comply with the swine removal regulations than for any other class of offence, and I am inclined to put this down to carelessness or forgetfulness. Sometimes it is due to lack of knowledge—a Halton man, for instance, stated that he thought he was allowed six days in which to give up the licence after the completion of the removal—but comparatively few persons who buy or sell pigs are now ignorant concerning the regulations. It is the business of the police to see that the law is not violated, and if people forget to comply with it they usually find their neglect somewhat costly. It is hard lines when the fine and costs sweep away the profits of a pig deal on which the seller has been congratulating himself.

From Bowers Allerton Colliery, I understand, about forty men have joined the Army, a number having volunteered for service with the R.A.M.C. Generous provision has been made by the Colliery Company and their employees for the dependents of men who have gone to the Colours, joint action having been adopted as in the case at Middleton, and wives are given 10s., with 2s. for each child—the masters contribute half and the men half—which the Company meet the rent and coal charges. In the case of a woman, with five children, she receives 20s. per week, a supply of coal, and she sits rent free. In addition, she gets the separation allowance from the Government, so that she is amply provided for. The colliery is working well just now, and at Bowers Allerton they seem to be a very happy family.

The provision made for dependents by colliery owners and employees in the district is one of the pleasing features of what cannot be styled otherwise than a very bad business—the war. And it is well that it should be recognised. All parties have generously admitted personal responsibility at this time, and they have taken measures to meet it. The miner, accustomed to hard work and to facing danger, makes an excellent soldier, and the authorities are very anxious to secure his help to settle the Kaiser and his horde.

Three cases of three members of one family in the district having entered for Army Pay come to my notice. My George Wall, of Garforth, the well-known cricketer, who has fought for Micklefield in many friendly duels I remember, has three sons with the Colours, and the eldest, who is a non-commissioned officer, is at the Front. From the family of Mr Albert Rex, of Garforth, the Army has claimed similar tribute, and three sons of Mr Jack G. Beaumont, of Crossgates, who has himself done valuable work in connection with recruiting, have volunteered for active service and are now undergoing training. Many other families in the district have contributed two members to the fighting Forces, and others belong to all classes. May, they all come back safe and sound.

KINDNESS OF BRITISH SOLDIERS.

I have seen some sad sights out here (writes a Yorkshire R.A.M.C. man at the Front), but nothing sadder than the train loads of refugees fleeing down country. The people are simply terrified, and day after day during August the trains went by from the north conveying the women and children. Thousands travelled in open trucks, and it was tragic to watch the very old people, many of them invalids, and the young children. I have travelled with them in the trucks. Many of them bore up bravely, but the majority were broken. Husbands, fathers, brothers of the front—it was an awful ordeal for those women of Belgium and France. Truly war is the cruellest thing of all.

But there were bright spots amongst so much sorrow. The nights were cold, and several of my fellow-travellers by the same train they inexplicably took off their overcoats and wrapped them round the women and children and emptied their haversacks and drinking bottles. I have got out on trucks at the end of a journey, and each single man has had anything left to eat or drink. I only mention this by way of contrast. We deserve no credit for it—it is only how women and children have a right to be treated. The Germans put the women and children in front of their troops; they know well we won't fire on them.

Mr. W. H. Barker, of Collingham, has sent 100 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

On Saturday afternoon Shadwell Juveniles had a football match with Victoria boys in the Schools' League. There was no scoring.

The little village of Shillingstone, in Dorsetshire, with a total population of 573, has sent 70 men to the Colours. It would be interesting to know whether any other village of the same size has beaten this record.

Mr Goode, son of Mr C. N. Goode, of Bletsoe, Essex, and formerly Pickfield Lodge, South Milford, has joined the Yorkshire Hussars. Mr Goode went into partnership with Mr. Bates, Harlow Hall, Harrogate, in the purchase of the paper, "Poultry." Mr Goode has, however, relinquished his share in the paper and has gone back to his old hobby of breeding and exhibiting White Wyandottes.

HONORARY CANON WORTHY.—The Very Rev. Canon Worthy, priest-in-charge of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Selby, is lying dangerously ill at St. Mary's Presbytery. He has not been in good health during the past two years, but the present severe illness follows upon a chill contracted a short time ago. His condition has become so serious as to afford little hope of recovery.

SMITH BROS
HOLD A
LARGE STOCK of MATERIALS
—SUITABLE FOR—
Red Cross & Hospital Work.
SPECIAL DISCOUNT ALLOWED FOR QUANTITIES.
BRIGGATE & COUNTY ARCADE, LEEDS.

HARRY HAYLEY,
Yorkshire Athletic Warehouse,
12, King Edward St., LEEDS
Telephone 56,
HAS NOW IN STOCK A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF
Jerseys, Knickers, Boots, Footballs,
ETC., IN ALL QUALITIES.
HOCKEY STICKS, 2/6 to 10/6.
A FINE SELECTION OF GOLF STICKS, BALLS, Etc.
Footballs as used in International, County, & Best Leagues.
FOOTBALL BOOTS, 4/11 to 11/6.
STOCKINGS - - 1/- to 2/6 Pair.
BOXING GLOVES, BOOTS,
DANISH GYMNASTIC SHOES, Etc

BUY ADGIE'S BOOTS
"BY TEST THE BEST."
THE NEW SEASON'S FOOTWEAR HAS NOW ARRIVED.
The Street, the Country Lane, the Drawing Room, the Fireside, all are represented in our new display of
SPRING FOOT STYLES.
Please Come Round and Inspect our Display
ALL AT MODERATE PRICES.
Note the Address— ADGIE'S Wholesale & Retail Warehouse
31, NEVILLE STREET, LEEDS.
A minute's walk from City Square, down Bishopgate Street, and through Railway Arches. First Warehouse on right hand side.

REGISTERED. OPTOLINE REGISTERED.
THE GREAT CURE FOR
COUGHS, BRONCHITIS, CONSUMPTION and GENERAL WEAKNESS.
Sold by all Chemists and Stores, 1/-, 1/6 and 2/6.
OR THE MAKERS, TELEPHONE 5Y CENTRAL.
J. N. HORSFIELD & SONS, 81 & 83, Sweet Street, LEEDS.

Leeds: 'Phone No. 1949. Watchmaker to the Huddersfield: " 1609. Admiralty.
William GREENWOOD,
Watchmaker and Jeweller,
92, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.
SPECIALITIES:—
DRESS, ENGAGEMENT, AND WEDDING RINGS.
W. G. makes a Handsome Present with every Wedding Ring.
Wedding Presents, Birthday Presents, and Presentations of every kind.
— AND AT —
3, DEVONSHIRE BUILDINGS, VICTORIA LANE, HUDDERSFIELD.

OUR GARDENS.

A Weekly Article specially Written for

Amateur Gardeners, Allotment Holders, &c.

By ALBERT CLARKE, Birkenshaw.

THE FLOWER GARDEN.

The severe gale experienced about the middle of September gave a decided check to almost all kinds of autumn-flowering plants, and many will not recover in time to be of any practical use this year. Those which do give promise of bloom should receive every encouragement. Careful staking and tying, feeding, and the destruction of insect pests are perhaps the three most important points to be observed at present. Comparatively tender-stemmed plants such as dahlias and sweet peas are in most cases damaged beyond repair, and should be cut down. The loss of the dahlias will cause a great gap in many gardens. There need be no haste in lifting the tubers as they are better in the ground at present. Michaelmas daisies and border chrysanthemums are flowering nicely. A few flowers of the latter may have been damaged by wind, but may be removed without making any appreciable difference to the display.

Gladioli brenchleyensis is a splendid autumn flower. It has become almost a general practice to stake the corms in pots during spring. This causes them to bloom earlier, but we are inclined to favour the simpler method of planting them direct into their flowering position in April. This causes them to bloom in late September and the following month, when flowers are becoming scarce. The stems may be cut when two or three flowers open. The remainder will open in water.

Hollyhocks have been exceptionally fine this year. We have a large number of last year's seedlings which have practically stated that hollyhocks require a stiff, heavy soil. Our own experience has not borne this out. Hollyhocks may be grown to perfection on a light, sandy soil, providing ample supplies of manure are given.

CABBAGE.

Young cabbage plants raised from seed sown in August should now be ready to plant out. We find it an advantage to plant them in rather deep drills, and firm just above the root ball only. The seed should be about 18 inches apart, and if plenty of plants are available they may be planted a foot apart in the rows. If this is done every alternate plant can be pulled up in spring, and used as early greens. If the autumn is mild the plants may grow rapidly, and in some instances become rather leggy. Where this occurs a little fresh soil should be drawn to the plants and pressed firm.

BRASSICI.

Beet should be lifted and shook before frost reaches the roots. Extreme care should be exercised in lifting, as a scratch on the skin is sufficient to cause bleeding, and subsequently they are rendered useless. They should be stored in a cool, but frost-proof shed. There are several satisfactory methods of storing, perhaps one of the best being to pack them in sand or leaf mould. The roots should not be allowed to be quite clear of each other. It is an advantage to keep the leaves on, and when only a few are to be stored the following plan should be adopted. Place a layer of leaf mould against the wall, then a row of the roots, leaves outwards. Cover with leaf mould and repeat the operation until all are in position. It is not necessary to cover the leaves, and when the heap is complete the leaves will form a curtain in front of the roots and help to preserve them from varying temperatures.

POTATOES.

Potatoes should be lifted as soon as the haulm turns yellow, weather permitting. They should be laid on the surface to dry, but must not be allowed to remain longer than is necessary. Store in a cool, dark position, where frost cannot reach them. Any that are required for seed must be kept clear of frost. Those that are left in the ground will soon be ready for use, and when only a few are to be stored the following plan should be adopted. Place a layer of leaf mould against the wall, then a row of the roots, leaves outwards. Cover with leaf mould and repeat the operation until all are in position. It is not necessary to cover the leaves, and when the heap is complete the leaves will form a curtain in front of the roots and help to preserve them from varying temperatures.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS.

The bulk of the plants will now be ready for removing to the greenhouse. Any exceptions are the late varieties, which should be kept outside as long as possible. Before housing the plants, the greenhouse should be thoroughly cleaned. This is done to clear out insects and obtain the maximum amount of light. Beginners are often in doubt as to the best treatment for their plants after they are housed. These doubts arise from the fact that many chrysanthemums, although apparently in good condition before housing, quickly deteriorate after they are taken indoors. This is caused in several ways, but if confined to one, it is that of overcrowding, and faulty watering being a few of the most fertile causes. Beginners should get firmly fixed in their mind the fact that after housing the chrysanthemums will require less water, especially similar treatment and conditions to those it enjoyed outdoors. The watchword may be thrown wide open, except during windy or very cold weather. Fire heat will not be required for a few weeks yet. Each plant should be given sufficient room for light and air to get all round it. Watering requires great care during the first fortnight after housing. Many of the plants will do without water for days. This need cause no uneasiness. They will return to normal conditions in course of time. If the greenhouse is crowded with other plants, and it is not convenient to clear them out at present, many of the chrysanthemums may be kept outside for a week or two longer. This is sailing near the wind, as there is always a danger of severe frost when September goes out. Any plants with buds showing colours should be housed at once. It would be entirely failure to leave these outside. The heavy night-dews, followed by bright sunshine in the early morning, almost invariably causes the petals to get speckled, especially the large-flowered varieties. The mischief is not noticed until a few days after the plants are housed. Plants that are to remain outside for one month of time should have protection in case of frost. This may be given by stretching wire across them to receive a canvas covering.

QUESTIONS.

GREENHOUSE.

What can I grow in this position? I have a little glasshouse about 10 feet long. Both ends, north and south, are brick walls. Across the north end runs a brick shelf for heating purposes. What can I grow on this shelf to-night? There is plenty of sun except at midday. Can I grow a rose or two, something single, as I am a perfect—NOVICE.

You must with confidence attempt the cultivation of roses in the position you describe. Mrs W. J. Grant (climbing) is a remarkably pretty variety, and will bloom from 5 to 9 months in the year. The supports for the stems should be about six inches away from the wall. At a warmer point they would get roasted by the sun. You may place the trees in pots or prepare a compost to feed them. In either case provide good drainage and a compost as follows: 3 parts rough fibrous loam, chopped to about the size of a hen's egg, 1 part each of decayed manure and leaf mould. To each barrow-load of the above add a spadeful of bone-meal, a sprinkling of charcoal, and sufficient sand to make the whole porous. You can purchase good plants in pots for about half-a-dozen stalls, or plants from the open ground at half the price. The pot-grown plants are well worth the increased price. Pot plants may be got in now. If you decide to purchase from the open, they will wait until the end of October. Other good varieties for your purpose are Gloire de Dijon, Rêves, Marie Henriette, Climbing Druschki, and Climbing C. Testout.

As an alternative you might plant a few Paul Crampel Geraniums. They would soon cover the wall and would bloom all the year round. We have a similar wall with red-tiled borders and were given a liberal supply of old manure and one-sawed potting soil. About 00 per cent. produced double flowers, and the colours were superb. We have repeatedly stated that hollyhocks require a stiff, heavy soil. Our own experience has not borne this out. Hollyhocks may be grown to perfection on a light, sandy soil, providing ample supplies of manure are given.

CABBAGE.

Young cabbage plants raised from seed sown in August should now be ready to plant out. We find it an advantage to plant them in rather deep drills, and firm just above the root ball only. The seed should be about 18 inches apart, and if plenty of plants are available they may be planted a foot apart in the rows. If this is done every alternate plant can be pulled up in spring, and used as early greens. If the autumn is mild the plants may grow rapidly, and in some instances become rather leggy. Where this occurs a little fresh soil should be drawn to the plants and pressed firm.

BRASSICI.

Beet should be lifted and shook before frost reaches the roots. Extreme care should be exercised in lifting, as a scratch on the skin is sufficient to cause bleeding, and subsequently they are rendered useless. They should be stored in a cool, but frost-proof shed. There are several satisfactory methods of storing, perhaps one of the best being to pack them in sand or leaf mould. The roots should not be allowed to be quite clear of each other. It is an advantage to keep the leaves on, and when only a few are to be stored the following plan should be adopted. Place a layer of leaf mould against the wall, then a row of the roots, leaves outwards. Cover with leaf mould and repeat the operation until all are in position. It is not necessary to cover the leaves, and when the heap is complete the leaves will form a curtain in front of the roots and help to preserve them from varying temperatures.

POTATOES.

Potatoes should be lifted as soon as the haulm turns yellow, weather permitting. They should be laid on the surface to dry, but must not be allowed to remain longer than is necessary. Store in a cool, dark position, where frost cannot reach them. Any that are required for seed must be kept clear of frost. Those that are left in the ground will soon be ready for use, and when only a few are to be stored the following plan should be adopted. Place a layer of leaf mould against the wall, then a row of the roots, leaves outwards. Cover with leaf mould and repeat the operation until all are in position. It is not necessary to cover the leaves, and when the heap is complete the leaves will form a curtain in front of the roots and help to preserve them from varying temperatures.

EXCEPTIONAL CIRCUMSTANCES.

Ald. Booth said no one was pleased to make such a proposition, but the teachers should be ready to make the sacrifice if need be. Teachers would respond to the call, if it were made, but exceptional circumstances now existed.

Councillor Dugdale said it was not fair to expect people in business, in all kinds of professions, and the working classes, too, to make sacrifice at a time like the present, and not ask the teachers to be ready also. But they were desirous of saving money, and he would suggest a way in which they might bought they could save something like £10,000 a year out of the education rate. It was that in every place where there were two schools, and one could do the work reasonably well, one of them should be closed temporarily. There were many places, to his knowledge, where that could be done, with a consequent saving of probably £150 per year on the average at each place.

The Chairman suggested that the resolution should be amended so that it should not read that the teachers be given the preliminary notice of the possibility of increases being suspended. It might unsettle a great many of them, and cause them to look for other employment.

Alderman Booth said he could not accept that suggestion. The sub-committee had thoroughly discussed the matter, and had unanimously agreed to the resolution recommended.

The motion was carried as it appeared in the minutes.

SUPPLY OF SCHOOL MATERIALS.

The only other item in the minutes of the Elementary Sub-Committee which caused discussion was a recommendation that a 5 per cent. limit be allowed to persons bidding contracts for the supply of school materials in such cases where the supply which could not now be obtained had hitherto come from Germany.

Councillor Peel moved, briefly, and pointed out that where it was impossible to obtain the material contracted for substitutes must be obtained.

Councillor Dugdale seconded.

Alderman Hinchcliffe said the recommendation was not a business one. The contractors should be made to carry out their agreements. If it were the other way about they would not go to the committee and knock off so much of the money they agreed to accept.

Alderman Booth said that in some cases—in that of drawing materials, for instance—the increased cost was tremendous. Wherein they had been obtained from Germany they now had to be obtained from English firms whose price was 40 per cent. to 50 per cent. higher than those of German people.

Councillor Smith moved that the matter be referred back for further discussion, and this was agreed to.

SITE FOR NEW SCHOOL AT SELBY.

It was agreed to purchase as the site of a new school at Selby the land belonging to Lord Londesborough, the cost being 2s. 6d. per yard, working out at a total of £900.

PROFITABLE POULTRY CULTURE

By RALPH R. ALLEN,

Lecturer to the Herts. County Council; Ed'or of "Monthly Hints on Poultry," &c.

(All rights reserved).

WAR CHAT.—No. 7.

In this article the Special Leaflet No. 2, issued by the Board of Agriculture and Fisheries, continued.

Skim milk is a necessary part of the diet, and there is considerable difficulty in making up a mixture without barley meal, middlings, or bran, since these are usually the chief ingredients. In place of these foods, however, a larger quantity of potatoes can be given, together with steamed hay and clover hay chaff. It is in this direction that crops grown by the small occupier can be utilised. Lucerne, cabbages, turnips, peas, beet, roots of every kind, with the exception of potatoes, can all be turned to good account. The last named, if available, must be cooked. Green food can be fed either raw or cooked, and under circumstances about one-half should be given in each form. If the supply of garden produce is limited such natural crops as nettles and grass may be substituted, but these should be used only when no need for about half-a-dozen and added to the soft mash.

Other substances that can be added to the ration are brewers' grains, boiled swills, spent hops and yeast. The two first may be given as one-third of the soft mash, the last mentioned as one-fifth. These substances are deficient in certain forms of nutriment, and foods must be mixed with them. The soft mash soaked while grains may be added, and a small quantity of middlings should be used to bind the whole together into a crumbling state.

Silage is not often used for fattening poultry, but it has been employed with excellent results and is worth the attention of large poultry farmers. In feeding silage to poultry it has been found best to add to it 20 per cent. of whole grains. For this purpose any of the grain foods mentioned above may be used. Silage can be fed in place of the soft mash, but when this is soaked while grains may be added, and a small quantity of middlings should be used to bind the whole together into a crumbling state.

Silage is not often used for fattening poultry, but it has been employed with excellent results and is worth the attention of large poultry farmers. In feeding silage to poultry it has been found best to add to it 20 per cent. of whole grains. For this purpose any of the grain foods mentioned above may be used. Silage can be fed in place of the soft mash, but when this is soaked while grains may be added, and a small quantity of middlings should be used to bind the whole together into a crumbling state.

Animal food is required by the birds, and there is no better or cheaper way to feed this than by means of the fattening pullet's skim milk or butter milk. Wherever these can be obtained they should be fed liberally. They may profitably be mixed with the mash or may be given in a separate vessel in open fountains. In place of these, refuse from slaughter houses may also be employed, the blood and intestines being the most valuable.

(Any enquiries concerning poultry keeping addressed to our expert, Captain Ralph R. Allen, Sawbridgeworth, Herts, will be answered through these columns free, but those requiring a postal answer direct, or sending birds for post-mortem examination must remit half-crown postal order. The name of the writer must in all cases be given).

At a meeting of the Hull Corporation Parks Committee it was stated that Mr Christopher Pickering had given 114 acres of land at Pickering Park for a bowling lake. The object is to provide work for the unemployed during the winter months. The minimum value of the land is £2,000 per acre. The Local Government Board have sanctioned £3,000 for the scheme.

Mr. Lloyd George, addressing a meeting at Bangor on Tuesday, to promote the formation of a Welsh Army Corps, said that they were not recruits locked in training would be balanced by a similar number of recruits who had been trained and mustered. They would be prepared for any emergency, and that this was not a war for justice and right. We were getting a superior class of men as recruits, and if they had not come forward quickly and voluntarily it would in the War Office being subscribed to with speed. Already in Glamorganshire and Monmouthshire 40,000 had enrolled. He warmly praised the feats of the British Army.

DURING THE WAR USE

COLMAN'S POULTRY MUSTARD AND SECURE MORE EGGS

"The Poultry Keepers' Account Book" and other literature, post free on application to

PRICE LIST.
3lb. 2/0
8lb. 5/0
16lb. 9/0
56lb. 30/0
Carriage Paid.

RALPH R. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth Herts.

BRITAIN REQUIRES MORE FOOD!

ALLEN'S ROUP CURE, 2/1 Post Paid.
Each package contains a sufficiency to make 25 gallons of medicine, and is guaranteed a cure for this dreaded disease. Prevention is better than cure, and practical poultry-keepers will economically use this preparation in the fowls' drinking water, and so render their flocks immune.
Full directions are given with each packet.
To be obtained only from R. R. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

ALLEN'S TONIC CAPSULES, 1/6 post paid
Generally acknowledged to be a Popular Keeping Tonic. Immediately a bird is suffering from colour, a capsule (iron, quinine, and cod-liver oil) might save it. Capsules are quick and right. For a cure or two before and after shows they are invaluable.
To be obtained only from R. R. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

THE MOST PRACTICAL UTILITY POULTRY PAPER.
MONTHLY HINTS ON POULTRY
32 pages, profusely illustrated, art paper, &c. 2/- per annum, post free, from
THE EDITOR, Sawbridgeworth, HERTS.
Write for specimen copy.

Pure-bred Laying Pullets 7/6 each.
We can offer you selected Rhode Island Red, White, Black, and Brown Leghorn, White Orpington and White Wyandotte, March hatched Pullets, at 7s. 6d. each. Unrelated vigorous Cockerels, from 15s. each. Approval.
ALLEN POULTRY Co., Ltd., Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

RECTOR OF ADEL AND ART.

WHAT ARTISTS MIGHT DO.

The opening lecture of the session at the Leeds School of Art was given on Monday night by the Rev. W. H. Draper, rector of Adel. Mr. Draper said that in such an hour the faculties of art students could not but be with Yorkshiremen's hearts and minds could not but be very sensitive to the influences they saw at work. They could not but fear when they saw ruin not intelligent or scrupulous enough to turn aside from maiming or destroying some priceless masterpiece of passages they could not but feel hope as new nations asserting as from sleep, arrested in the pampered and amazing enjoyment of abundance of riches and compelled into the school of imagination to cease from wallowing in the mire and to think suddenly of issues of justice, of treasures, of ideals, of the underground, and of pouring out themselves and their possessions with the almost prodigality of sacrifice to maintain them. These students and artists and their friends unable to serve in the fighting ranks of soldiers and sailors might well be asked to keep watch and ward over the functions and opportunities of the arts of peace, and to help in the preparation of the forms and ideals which should be there when the fires of war were at last ready to be put out, and all its ardour and fury had cooled down.

Mr Draper dealt with the subject of "Art and Schools of Design," and commented upon the inauguration of a better epoch of matters, especially architecture, in Leeds. He thought the Leeds Training College was a sign of the beginning of better things, and expressed the opinion that some of the buildings put up two years ago would be considered an impossibility now.

THE WEEK'S MARKETS.

CORN.

SELBY, Monday.—Very small quantity of grain on sale. Prices of wheat were slightly easier. Wheats 37s. to 38s., secondary samples 35s. to 36s. Barley, barley grain, 40s. to 42s., oats 22s. to 24s., 23s. 29s. to 30s. per qr.

PROVISIONS.

SELBY, Monday.—Eggs 8 for 1s.; butter 1s. 2d. and 1s. 3d., per lb.; chickens 4s. to 5s. 6d., ducks 4s. 6d. to 5s. per couple.

POTATOES.

SELBY, Monday.—A smaller supply, with about an ordinary demand. Up-to-Dates and Up-to-Dates Eclipse 40s. to 45s., and King Edwards 42s. 6d. to 45s., warp King Edwards 30s. to 35s. per ton; small, 2s. 3d per bumper.

CATTLE

SELBY, Monday.—Fair supply and Scotch sent dispersed of 95 beasts, 48 sheep, and 50 pigs. A better supply of stock, and a good attendance of buyers. There was a fair trade at last week's prices, best beef making up to 10s per stone. Good calving heifers in demand. A rather slower trade for mutton. Pork in demand with a good demand. Prices as follows:—Fat bullocks up to £22 12s 6d, fat heifers to £20 7s 6d, fat cows to £18 15s 6d, calving cows and heifers to £21 0s 0d, forward cattle £7 0s 0d, cows in milk to £16, fat sheep to £16, Scotch sheep 7s 6d to 8s per stone, Scotch lambs, fat lambs 9s to 9s 6d, half-bred sheep-lings 8s to 8s 6d, Scotch sheep-lings 6s 6d to 7s, Scotch shearlings 6s to 6s 6d, Scotch shearlings 5s to 5s 6d, Norfolk pigs, 6d, to 6½d, and Scotch cows to 32s 6d. Calves £3 per made up to £5 each.

TUESDAY, Monday.—Messrs. Stephenson and Son held their usual sale of stock at the auction mart, when they had forward a large show of sheep and pigs, but only a moderate entry of cattle. Both sheep and pigs, butchers and dealers was well up to the average. The demand for all well-finished bullock and heifer beef was keen, and prices rule at last week's quotations compared very well with those of a fortnight ago, at from 8s. 6d. to 9s. per stone; secondary quality beasts and cows sold at about similar prices, and made 7s 6d to 8s per stone. Shearling sheep were penned in fair numbers, and met with a keen enquiry, and prices realised were about the last market were barely maintained at from 6d. to 1od per lb. Ewes were in good demand and made 7s 6d to 8s per stone. Fat lambs and Lambs were keenly sought after, and the prices realised were satisfactory and made to 10d. per lb. Pork in good demand, and the supply was small, and the prices given showed a decided improvement on a fortnight ago, and made from 8s. to 8s. 6d. per stone. Fat bullocks made from £18 to £20 each, fat heifers £15 7s 6d to £16 17s 6d, and heifers in-calf from £34 2s 6d to £40 12s 6d each. The principal lots of fat cattle and sheep from Mr S. Elvidge, Hundley Hall, made to 63s 6d each; from Mr J. T. Dearlove, Walton, to 59s 6d; from Mr J. Wilson, Gipton, Kyme, to 59s; from Mr W. Hills, Barkston Ash, to 52s 6d.; from Messrs Ireland Bros., Catterton, to 52s 6d.; from Mr J. Watson, Bow Bridge, to 47s. Rams from Mr T. Carlton, Harlewood, made to 31s each; from Mr S. Elvidge, Headley Hall, to 30s each; from Mr J. Dearlove, Walton, to 44s each. Pigs from Mr Broom made to £5 14s 6d each; from Mr Percy Askham, to 72s 6d; from Mr. Wilkinson, Bramham, to 71s 6d; from Mr Buttery, to 70s; and from General Nicholls, to 55s 6d. each. Store pigs made from 12s. 6d. to 20s. each.

TUESDAY, Monday.—Messrs Thomlinson and Son had their usual sale of prime fat stock, but the attendance of butchers and dealers was rather less than at last mart. A similar trade to last week's was ruled throughout the sale, best bullocks making from 8s 6d to 9s 4d per stone; secondary quality hardly so good to sell. Sheep made from 7s 6d to 8s per stone money, or from 9d. to 10d. per lb. Fat pigs made 7s. to 7s. 6d. per stone. Store pigs made few moves, and were not much enquired for. Best made up to £22 7s 6d, and sheep to 72s 6d each. Numbers sold: 152 beasts, 2210 sheep and lambs, and 416 pigs. Bullocks from Mr E. Stephenson, Bank, Healaugh, made £32 7s 6d, and three others made £28 12s 6d, £27 15s, and £27; Mr R Cass, Catterton, from Mr J. Watson, Bow Bridge, £27 15s, £25 5s, and £25 15s; Mr R Cass, Catterton, had four good bullocks, making £27 7s 6d, £26 15s, £26 5s, and £25 15s; and other choice bullocks from Mr L. Sampson, Newton Kyme, made from £22 10s to £25 2s 6d; Mr F Jackson, Bilton Park, sold two prime bullocks, making £25. £24 17s 6d, £23 17s 6d, £23 7s 6d, and £23; four ripe bullocks from Mr W. Swales, made £24 5s, £24, £23 2s 6d, £22 7s 6d, and £21; two very good bullocks from Mr J T Dearlove, Walton, made £27 and £26 5s; Mr J. Jackson, Catterton, had four very good bullocks, making £24 12s 6d, £23 12s 6d, £22 12s 6d, and £22; Mr J. Wilson, Gipton, Kyme, made £28 2s 6d, £27 2s 6d, etc.; eight good heifers from Mr Weddell, Hornington, made £20 2s 6d, £19 17s 6d, and £19; Irish and Highland bullocks from Mr C Gypson, Grimston, made £23 15s, £23 15s, £22 15s, £20, etc.; two bullocks from Mr J. Watson, Bow Bridge, made £23 15s, £22 17s 6d, £21 17s 6d, £20 15s, etc.; two bullocks from Miss Ramsden, Oxton Hall, made £22 and £19 7s 6d; two bullocks from Mr W Rooke, Bramham, £23 7s 6d and £20 7s 6d; two bullocks from Mr Smithson, Bramham, £22 2s 6d and £18 7s 6d; Mr C. Hawkswell, Syningthwaite, sent three bullocks making £25 15s, £25 12s 6d, and £24 17s 6d; three heifers and three bullocks from Mr

Telegrams—"SCOTT, SELBY." Telephone—0194, SELBY.

M. SCOTT & Co.,

Seed Crushers, Grain and Tillage Merchants,

Established 1863 SELBY. Established 1863

Manufacturers of S.S. Pure Linseed & Pure Cottonseed (Egyptian & Bombay) Cakes, Pure Soya Cakes, & Special Soya-Cotton Cakes.

NO SECOND QUALITIES MADE.

NUTTED CAKE (for Sheep or Cattle), FEEDING MEALS of all kinds, MAIZE (whole or ground), FEEDING TREACLE, PURE LINSEED OIL for CATTLE, MACHINE OIL, etc. CAN DELIVER PROMPTLY.

FOOTBALL JOTTINGS

GARFORTH DEFEATED BY MORLEY.

Garforth White Rose, who are trying their luck in the Leeds Senior League, entertained Morley (Perseverance), for the second of the spring plays in the back division. Although the homesters were playing uphill and against the wind they were the first to score. Pickersgill got the leather away on the left, and it was sent on to the centre and banged in. The cassolian cleared, but Tompkinson caught it on the rebound and netted. Methley, however, had nearly all the play, and after exerting pressure on the home defence for a considerable time, the centre forward, right inside, and left inside severed, the visitors leading at the interval by three goals to one. On the restart one of the Methley men sprinted, the backs did not attempt to hold him, and he scored a goal which should not have been registered. Immediately after Alcroma, the home forward, in his credit, put on the fifth goal. Garforth were not very enterprising, and threw away two fine chances of scoring. They were awarded a penalty, and although some of the players did not appear to be in the positions they could best fill. They were lacking in vigour and judgment, and the defensive lines were unreliable. Had the old team been available Methley would have been routed easily, but the combination is practically a new one, seeing that Gent, Howson, Gibson, Prime, and the Birches were out, some of them having joined the Army. Barr, Garforth centre forward, much progress the team will have to be strengthened, and the players will have to adopt more energetic tactics.

Arthur Wood, the popular captain and goalkeeper for the Wetherby Club, has been in a nursing home for some weeks, but has just left and is now convalescent. He will hardly be quite fit when his club gets into harness again.

F.A. CUP—LOCK LANE W. BEATEN.

Lock Lane Woodville and Woodhouse Britannia met in the preliminary round of the English Cup Competition at Bardsley Britannia started the game and the ball was at once rushed to the left, but Woodville easily only register a dead ball. Even play in midfield was followed by a free kick to Woodhouse, but the Woodville goalkeeper cleared in brilliant style and carried the ball to the centre, and after this, and forced a corner, but nothing came of it. A grand rush by the Woodhouse forwards was splendidly stopped by the Woodville goalkeeper, who saved well. Even play followed in midfield, neither side being able to claim any advantage. Woodville pressed after this, and a free shot by Stock hit the post. Afterwards Woodhouse pressed, and Brown saved in a beautiful goal, which gave the goalkeeper no chance. This was all the scene at half-time. Subsequently Britannia netted twice. Lock Lane, after showing was poor, were defeated by three goals to nil.

ROTHWELL W.R. V. GLASSHOUGHTON.

Rothwell White Rose went to Glasshoughton on Saturday last to play the homesters in the English Cup Competition, and they made a capital start, for Purfitt netted soon after the game began. Woodcock missed an open chance, resulted in Hodgson equalising with a fine shot. Subsequent play was contested chiefly in midfield, neither side showing any advantage. Woodcock pressed after this, and a free shot by Stock hit the post. Afterwards Woodhouse pressed, and Brown saved in a beautiful goal, which gave the goalkeeper no chance. This was all the scene at half-time. Subsequently Britannia netted twice. Lock Lane, after showing was poor, were defeated by three goals to nil.

ROTHWELL P.C. AND THE ENGLISH CUP.

Although they played a good game Rothwell Parish Church were beaten by Fryston Colliery in the first qualifying round of the English Cup Competition, the match was played at Robin-well before a fair number of spectators. The teams lined up as follows:—Rothwell P.C.—Good, Bradley backs, Doxford and Trommer; halfbacks, J. Gregory, Cook and Foster; forwards, Bolford, Morris, Hitchin, Stringer, and Scott. Fryston Colliery—Good, Stockdale; backs, Roker and Hebden; halfbacks, Frost, Jackson and Lister; forwards, Godley, Brandon, Burt, Dyer, and Shackleton. The game was started for Rothwell by Hitchin, who faced uphill. The visitors forced a corner, but defended in quick succession, but both of these were fruitless. For a spell the homesters attacked strongly, and a clever shot was put in by Stringer, but the ball just passed over the bar. Fryston played a fast game, and it was only the tenacity of the homesters' backs, Doxford and Trammer, that kept them out. Each time the Fryston forwards came rushing up the ball was smartly cleared from the danger zone by the backs. Once when the visitors were in a favourable position Shackleton made a mess of matters, Bradley sarling at the expense of a corner, from which Burt headed deftly into the net. Bradley had no chance to clear.

Rothwell afterwards pressed strongly, but once more the forwards proved themselves a disappointing combination. From a free kick Morris missed a grand chance with a practically clear field. Just before time the homesters had a vexatious experience. Bedford, who had entered grandly for Hitchin to score, was declared offside, and the goal was disallowed. Half-time came with the visitors leading by a goal to nil. On the restart the home supporters were confident of seeing their team straighten matters, but Fryston played a very keen game uphill, while Rothwell had to contend with the wind, which had veered round in such a fashion as to be a little awkward. However, the backs played strongly, and continually fed the forwards, who could, however, make little impression. Scott and Stringer worked well together in the front line, and the last named player kept feeding the left wing, and Scott after working his way well down the line put in some grand centres. Much exciting play was the outcome of these movements, but somehow Rothwell could not find the net. Towards the end Rothwell put on an extra spurt, but they could not equalise. Fryston won by a goal to nil.

RUGBY NOTES.

ROTHWELL AGAIN DEFEATED.

Rothwell had a Leeds and District League match at Stanningley on Saturday, and they were again beaten. Stanningley were the first to attack, and from a scrummage near the visitors' line Grattan scored an unconverted try. After this incident football in the first class was uninteresting, the passing of the Stanningley rum being exceedingly good. Rothwell tried hard to reduce the lead over them, but another good passing bout by Grattan, May, and F. Cundall ended in the latter getting over. Bailey in his attempt with the goal kick hit the upright, the ball rebounding into play. Just before half-time Swainson scored for Stanningley, and the homesters were leading by three tries at the interval. In the second moiety Stanningley doubled their score, adding three tries, while Rothwell had only a look-in. Stanningley won by six tries (18 points) to nothing.

Lofthouse Park is practically ready for the Alternative games as provided as they fondly hoped, but as privateers. Barbed wire fences, barriers, electric standards, etc., have been erected, and the trees and shrubberies in the centre of the park have been cut down. The accommodation provided will be for about 1,000 men.

The war is already exercising its influence in the world of fashion. Mechlin, Brussels, and Bruges lace is in great demand, and many makers and milliners are busily turning out Russian tunics and Cossack hats for the autumn season. Even those not escaped it, for the overcoats most in vogue are all cut in the style of the grey military great coat.

TUBERCULOUS GLANDS CURED.

19, Ebor Mount,
Hyde Park,
Leeds, 30th August, 1915.

Professor Crosswaite,
Dear Sir,

I thought it would interest you to know of THE VERY REMARKABLE SUCCESS YOUR TREATMENT HAD UPON MY YOUNGEST DAUGHTER, and your eyes suffering from TUBERCULOUS GLANDS.

Many of my friends advised me to consult a surgeon, but being opposed to the knife I emphatically declined to have my child tortured and perhaps disfigured for life.

You assured me, sir, after our consultation together, that it was possible to remove the substance without the aid of an operation. You were a true prophet.

The scar (what little is left of it) is gradually passing away, and before long it will entirely disappear.

I cannot adequately find words to express all I feel, but I assure you, sir, you have won our EVERLASTING GRATITUDE, and if at any time there is any service I can render you, be disposed, I shall be willing to bring my child to your consulting rooms and thus give ocular demonstration of the wonderful cure you have accomplished.

Trusting you may be spared for many years to come to carry on your splendid work.

Believe me, dear sir,
Gratefully yours,
H. DORRINGTON SMITH.

SKIN SPECIALIST
MEDICAL HERBALIST
PROF. CROSSWAITE
64, KIRK HALL PL.
CHAPEL ALLERTON
LEEDS

£10 REWARD.—This Reward will be paid by Mr. J. Croswaite to the first person giving information leading to a conviction of a certain unscrupulous person at present calling upon householders in his name, and offering for sale Recipes, Medicines, Pills, Ointments, etc., falsely representing the same to have been prepared by Mr. Croswaite.

Information may be lodged at the nearest Police Station or Detective Office, Town Hall, Leeds, or Mr. J. Croswaite, 64, Kirkstall Road, Leeds.

HWELL COURIER AND TIMES, OCTOBER 3 1914

A BARKSTON ASH SOLDIER'S STIRRING FIGHT.

HOW THREE BRITONS DISHED FIVE GERMANS.

A STOURTON WOMAN'S LETTER.

Private Matthew Ferguson, of the 20th Hussars, writing to his wife at Selby, says:—

"We don't get much time to ourselves, for we have got the Germans on the run and we won't let loop them at it, which I am sure we shall do, for I do not believe there is a soldier in the world to touch the British. They laugh when the shells are flying all around them. I suppose you have read about the Battle of Mons. It was out, and no mistake. We were at it for four days without rest, but what did we care? There were about five Germans to every one of us, and the best of it was that the battle started on Sunday and we had been fighting all day on Saturday and marched all night on Saturday.

"We got to our destination at half-past four on the Sunday morning and started fighting at ten o'clock on Sunday, just as we were getting a bit of hot dinner, and we never finished till Thursday.

"We did not care as long as we could beat the Germans. You can bet your life if it had been man to man we would have pushed them back into the North Sea. They don't like cold steel.

"I was on patrol duty the other day. I can't tell you the name of the place, but there was a chum of mine, an officer, and myself. We saw five German Uhlans going down the road. They were in front of us, so we got on the grass on the side of the road, and galloped right on top of them.

"They saw us when we were about eight yards away. They tried to get away from us, but we were too many for them. I got the first one with his sword, and as the German fell out of the saddle the officer's horse fell over him. That left me and my mate for the other four. Even then they would not face us. All the better for us. I got the next fellow. I put my sword right through him, and my mate did the same with another. Then we went after the other two. Both of us got up to one of them at the same time and he got both swords through him. He did try to defend himself for he got me on the lip with his lance and knocked two of my teeth out and took a piece out of my lip. It was not much, but he will not take any more pieces out for he got both our swords into him.

"While we were trying to draw our swords out, the last of the Uhlans got off his horse and tried to cut us in the woods.

"I fell off my horse in my haste trying to get up to shoot him. All the same I shot him through the head and he was as dead as a door nail when I got up to him. He was an officer.

"I have a few lot of officers. They don't ask you to go where they won't go themselves. That is where the Germans are let down. Their officers keep behind them and shove them on."

STOURTON WOMAN'S MOURNING TURNED TO JOY.

A Stourton woman who has been mourning her husband as being killed at the Front, since the end of August, was overjoyed on Tuesday to receive a letter from him asking to be remembered to all enquiring friends and relatives. He also asked her to send him out a newspaper.

It is stated that the day the woman received the letter she was about to draw insurance money.

A YORKSHIRE OFFICER'S LETTER.

A well-known Yorkshire cavalry officer who is prominent in hunting circles has sent an interesting letter written on 13th September, in the course of which he says:—

Now that the world's biggest battle has at last got going it seems we get a rest and retire behind the line to watch and wait results. We have been here two days, in a large and very complete chateau, with an excellent cellar and everything one could want. The rest is, I assure you, well earned. We got across the river at —— the day before yesterday, a bit before our time, and had to get back over a pontoon bridge somewhere else. Getter was pleasant, under a very unpleasant fire, too. At the head of the bridge was a gallant Engineer officer, repairing bits blown off and putting down straw so cool as a cucumber—the coolest thing I have ever seen. The poor fellow was killed just after my troop got across. No man ever earned a better V.C.

Luckily, though our casualties were not at all heavy under the circumstances, a good many fellows are to be seen sitting still holding their heads, which were almost split by the bursting. All the poor horses are looking quite cheerful after two days' rest, though they have been saddled up most of the time in case the line had to be reinforced quickly at any time. There is a ridge here, where they are picketed under the trees, and the men are catching fish; rather odd, as the long distance guns on both sides are hurling shells at each other over us, and the aeroplanes are buzzing over every minute.

The enormous battle is going well, as far as we can learn. It has been raging three days, but nothing decisive is likely to happen for another day or two. All successes and reverses become very local on the vast front a show like this takes place on. The Guards, who have done miracles throughout, were heavily attacked in mass three times last night, but beat them back and mowed them down by hundreds. They themselves were entrenched, and only 1st cloud fire. We have been in reserve for two days, a men and somewhat peaceful rule for the —— Brigade, ready to reinforce the fighting line and play the Soldier. We were reinforced badly by the —— Division, so are not likely to be wanted. There is not much room between opposing armies for cavalry when they insist on firing at each other at about 300 yards.

Thank you very much for the papers. The accounts are excellent, but I think a very wrong impression is given by the casualty reports. The "missing" look enormous, but I should think between 80 and 90 per cent. of these are merely detached, and fallen in with other brigades. If you lose touch with your own, it is more than likely you do not see it again for weeks, with these thousands of troops all on the move. Constantly I have half-a-dozen men attached to my small troop from various cavalry regiments of me, who have lost their units, and they often stay for days. The situation is intensely interesting to anyone here on the spot.

Make one in one in —— join the Army. This is a big show, and every man must be ready, I wonder, if every one realises at home how big it is. They say to-day the postal arrangements are right again.

P.S.—Just back from a conference of officers. All going splendidly. French reinforced to-day.

The French Canadians are sending a force of 5,000 to the front.

TADCASTER GUARDIANS AND DISTRICT COUNCIL.

SHERBURN, KIPPAX, BARKSTON, AND TADCASTER AFFAIRS.

The fortnightly meeting of Tadcaster Board of Guardians was held on Monday at the workhouse, at Tadcaster.—Mr J. W. Blackburn (vice-chairman) presiding. Other members present were the Rev. C. D. Ash (Saxton), Miss Bethell (Newton Kyme), Rev. Canon Greenwood (Tathwell), Messrs T. H. Prater (Parlington), Carlton (Stutton), J. G. Limoker (Micklefield), W. Simpson (Lead), R. Wright (Barwick), J. Wilsworth and H. E. Lowe (both of Pinsley), Watson (Newton), H. P. Clinch, J. H. Ingleby, J.P., and J. Nettleton (Tadcaster), A. Chippendale (Scholes), F. Phillips, H. Saxby, Pickersgill, W. Robinson (Allerton Bywater), H. M. Stoker (Towton), T. F. Fawcett (Austhorpe), W. B. Gray (Church Fenton), W. Crosland, J.P., and A. Johnson (South Milford). W. P. Nicholson (Newton Kyme), A. Park (Tadcaster), J. Lidley (Kirkby Wharfe), G. Webster (Huddleston-cum-Lumby), and J. Y. Wheatley (Appleton Roebuck), with the Clerk (Mr. to. A. Hewett), the surveyor (Mr Scott), and the sanitary inspectors (Messrs Driver and Wood).

The master's report showed that during the fortnight there had been five admissions to the workhouse and one death, and the inmates numbered 98 and 17 in the children's home—two against 105 at the corresponding date last year. The tramps relieved during the two weeks were 36 and 41 against 26 and 18 for the same period last year.

The minutes of the House Committee showed that a letter had been received from the Local Government Board enclosing plans of suggested alterations at the house, and it was to be submitted to the architects.—A letter with respect to the freedom of casual paupers was received from the Local Government Board.—It was decided to give a gratuity of £5 to a female officer who was ill.—A letter was read from the Doncaster Union stating that their premises were to be utilised by the military authorities, and asking if the Tadcaster Board could take any of their poor into the workhouse. It was recommended that eight women (not imbeciles) be received in the infirmary, and six men and twelve women into the workhouse.

The common seal of the Board was fixed to the contracts for the supply of provisions, the tenders having been accepted at last meeting.

DISTRICT COUNCIL.

The District Council treasurer was reported to have a balance of £8,881 12s. 1d. in hand.

The Highways Committee minutes showed that the scheme for dealing with surface drainage at Micklefield had been submitted by the surveyor to the Colliery Co., and the matter was adjourned pending the decision of the Colliery Co.—An alleged road encroachment at Scholes Co. was reported, and it was agreed that the property-owner produce title to the land said to be enclosed, and, on failure to do so, that the enclosing wall be pulled down.—Complaint was made from Sherburn that the rails on the Bishop Dyke bank had not been painted, and it was decided that the work be carried out immediately.—An amended estimate for kerbing and channelling on a road at Swillington was approved. The surveyor was instructed to repair a footpath at Sherburn at a cost of £4.—The Clerk was instructed to write the Selby Urban Commissioners anent their men depositing mud on the road sides, and asking them to clear it away in future. A guide post at Church Fenton is to be painted.

SANITARY COMMITTEE.

At a meeting of the Sanitary Committee the question of the repair of the pump at Allerton sewage works was considered, and a tender was accepted for the work.—The inspector reported that he had taken the Clerk's advice, and it was impracticable to extend the sewers to certain property.—The water scheme had been completed at Ledsham and the houses connected, but nothing had been done at Newton, and Mr Bland is to be written to.—Messrs Bromeg and Thorman are to be instructed to prepare a sewage scheme for Barkston.—The question of Sherburn sewage scheme was adjourned.—Owners at Sherburn are to be written to so that they may connect their property with the sewers. For the building of a mun hole at Tadcaster prices are to be obtained.—Notice is to be served on a Kippax owner to abate a nuisance arising from a full pipe.—Complaint was received from South Milford about a water-course being polluted with sewage, and the inspector is to report.—It was decided to ask a property-owner who has erected property at Scholes to carry out the plan as passed.—A report on the bacteriological examination of South Milford water was adjourned.

VARIOUS.

The Local Government Board sent a letter with respect to re-rating.

The common seal of the Council was affixed to a closing order for a house at Barkston.

SCIENCE LECTURES AT GARFORTH

THE YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK.

In Garforth there is clearly a demand for good lectures. Last winter, it will be remembered, a representative committee was appointed and several first-class lectures in connection with the Goldcrest Trust were delivered by men of outstanding ability—sports in their own particular line—and the large audiences that assembled to hear them provided ample evidence of thorough appreciation. It was not possible to obtain another series of Goldcrest lectures for this year, but the committee were by no means idle over their work, and they have succeeded in securing the services in Mr W. Parsons, Principal of Leeds Training College; Mr Albert Gilligan, B.Sc., F.G.S., Leeds University; Professor Kendall, Leeds University; Professor Garstang, M.A., D.Sc. (Oxon.); and the Rev. Thomas Gough, B.Sc., F.C.S., so that five lectures form the programme of the season.

The first lecture was delivered by Mr Parsons on Monday evening, and there was a gratifying attendance, the large central hall of the Council School being crowded. Mr J. W. Dobson (Chairman of Garforth Urban District Council) presided, in place of Colonel Gascoigne, who was unable to fulfil the engagement. He said that judging by the appearance of the hall he thought they might assume that the success they had with the lectures last winter would be repeated.

Mr Parsons was down on the programme to speak on "The Inanimate Scenery of Parkland," but he explained he was under the impression his lecture was to be given at a later date, and when the matter was brought to his notice he found he could not give the lecture advertised. He had long the slides to a friend who had gone on active service, and he could not get them back in time. Instead of speaking on the subject announced, he delivered a lecture on "The Yellowstone National Park" in America, and, illustrated as it was by fine slides, it proved very interesting, indeed. The park, he explained, is nearly the size of Yorkshire, and it is perhaps the most wonderful spot in the world. Previous to 1870 it was known to only a few gruvellers, and the yarns he talk with such wonderful stories about it that the government eventually sent out an expedition to survey the district, and the outcome was that they divided to set it aside for the benefit of the people forever. It is situated in three or four States, and is about 2,500 miles from New York. He briefly described the journey across the continent, in the course of which he had something humorous to say about Mirror Lake and St. Paul, and over the Prairie to the Rockies. Travellers pass below a large archway to the park, and go along a road by which great piles of volcanic rock are seen. Then he talked of Yellowstone, the headquarters of the military who patrol the large park, and the hotel, and the buildings were admirably depicted on the screen. The park contains the hottest springs, the most wonderful geysers in the world, and the most marvellously coloured canon, which is 1,500 feet deep and ten miles in length, high cataracts, and fish, which are easily caught, and he showed how it was possible to catch fish and immediately cook it in a hot water spring. Having dealt with the remains of the petrified forest, and the descriptions of the geysers—the most wonderful in the world—throwing up water to a great height and of the mud geysers, the heat, noise, and smell of which he understood, and then he exhibited several views of the grand canon, with its marvellous colouring. The park, he said, was also used for the preservation of animals, such as the buffalo, which the authorities have done their best to exterminate.

At the close Mr H. J. Denby proposed a vote of thanks to Mr Parsons for his delightful and interesting lecture, and also to the Chairman, and it was cordially passed. Mr Thornton was the lantern operator.

General Sir R. Baden-Powell delivered a telling speech in proposing a vote of thanks to the retiring Lord Mayor of the City of London on Tuesday. There are two great principles at work in this war, he said—on one side we have a great cause of blood and iron, and on the other a small train of players playing the game of their side.

TADCASTER PETTY SESSIONS.

TADCASTER MEN ON LAND AT HEALAUGH.

At Tadcaster Petty Sessions on Monday the magistrates present were Mr F. Waldes Fairbairn (in the chair) and Mr J. H. Ingleby.

The jury lists were passed for the following parishes:—Angram, Oxton, Wighill, Catterton, Colton, Towton, Stutton-cum-Hazlewood, Tadcaster East, Tadcaster West, Newton Kyme, Stutton, Grimston, Kirkby Wharfe, and Ulleskelf.

A TADCASTER OFFENCE.

Walter Wilson, labourer, of Tadcaster, appeared in answer to a charge of indecent conduct on the Wheatley Bridge, Tadcaster, on the 16th. P.C. Bennett stated the case.

Supt. Shack said he had had repeated complaints about this sort of thing at Tadcaster.)

The Chairman said that cases of this kind had been up before.

Supt. Shack said that on the last occasion a warning was issued that the next offender would be more seriously dealt with. It was a most serious offence.

A fine of 2s. 6d. and costs was imposed.

HEALAUGH GAMEKEEPER AND TADCASTER MEN.

Samuel Wells and James Shannon, labourers, of Tadcaster, were charged with game trespass on land belonging to Sir E. Brodelemain, at Healaugh, on Sept. 22nd.

James Spink, the accused's game-keeper employed by Mr Brodelemain, gave evidence, and stated that about 5.30 on the 22nd, when he was passing a field adjoining the estate he saw the defendants come down a wood. They did not see him, and they came up to within ten paces of him. One of them had a bag and implements for taking rabbits, and he was setting one when the other defendant saw witness and warned his companion. They thereupon picked up the bag and went off.

The Chairman asked if there were snares in the bag.

Witness: Yes. He was in the act of setting one when the other defendant saw me.

Wells: I was not there.

Witness: I spoke to him before he got away, but I could not overtake him.

Shannon: What was Wells doing?

Witness said he was setting a snare.

Shannon said he did not see Wells that afternoon.

The Chairman: Have you known these men long?

Witness: Yes, for years.

Wells again declared that he was not on the land.

Shannon: I can honestly say I was not on the land at all. The old gentleman had made a mistake.

Witness: There is no mistake about it.

The Clerk: Have you any witnesses?

Shannon: No, we never dreamt of being up for such a thing.

Wells gave evidence on oath, and said he was in Tadcaster at the time Spink said he was at the wood side.

The Chairman: Where were you in Tadcaster?

Wells: I was at the market corner. I spoke to a policeman at 5.30.

The Clerk: Then, why did you not bring witnesses to prove you were somewhere else?

Wells said he did not think about it.

The Chairman said they would adjourn the case for a fortnight for them to call witnesses.

Shannon said that he had no witnesses.

P.C. Bennett, the policeman to whom Wells said he spoke, was called, and said it was on the 21st and not the 22nd that he spoke to Wells.

Supt. Shack, in answer to the Chairman, said that both men had been up before.

The Chairman said that they did not believe defendants' statement that they were not on the land, and they would be fined 2s. 6d. and costs each.

Arrangements are being made at Rhyl for billeting 1,100 of the North Wales "Pals" Brigade, who will go into training in the town.

The death has taken place of Miss Dorothy Fisher, one of the oldest inhabitants of Leeds. She was born at Tickhill, near Doncaster, on March 21, 1812, and had thus lived in the reigns of five British Sovereigns. Early in her life had been spent in Yorkshire, and she had many interesting stories to tell. At the age of twenty she was the unwilling heroine of a tragic duel in which she lost her soldier lover. Two cousins were rivals in love, and it was for her they fought. Miss Foster remembered the return of the British troops after the overthrow of Napoleon. For many years she was a governess in Leeds.

SWILLINGTON DISTRICT RIFLE CLUB

AN APPEAL TO THE MEN OF THE DISTRICT.

A rifle club has been formed for Swillington and District, but at present rifle practice is not intended to be the essential feature of the organisation, but rather to drill more than once a week in order to drill more than once a week in order to undergo the training. Everyone hopes, of course, that these men will never be needed, but the value of this training would be immense if England should ever be compelled to call up every able-bodied man to repel an invader.

It is surely the duty of those who are sending sons to fight the battles for them and for their homes to give up this afternoon in the week so that if the call does come we shall (say) at a cost apparently be found to have heeded Lord Roberts' warning, "Be prepared."

In addition to this a rifle range is being prepared in the stables at Swillington House, and the rifles have been ordered. It is decided that the initial drill should be practice once a week, either before or after the drill. It was thought unfair that those who were actually making a sacrifice already to attend the drills should pay a subscription, so funds are urged to be raised, and the smallest donation will be thankfully received by the club's treasurer, Mr Owbridge.

The committee of the club earnestly ask those men in the village or district who have not already joined to think the matter over, and sincerely hope they will come to the conclusion that to make this sacrifice, which is so infinitesimal as compared with the tremendous sacrifices being made for all by our men abroad, is a thing worth doing. Those who intend to join should give to the cricket ground, Swillington Park, any Saturday at 4 p.m.

The club has already joined the Society of Miniature Rifle Clubs. A Boy Scout contingent has also been formed.

THE ADEL MOTOR FATALITY.

"SHOT OUT LIKE A CATAPULT."

An inquest was held at Halifax on Friday on Mr Walter Maude (38), rubber merchant, 18, Victoria Terrace, Halifax, who died, as reported in our last issue, from injuries received in a motor-car accident in Otley Road, Adel, near Leeds.

Mr Archibald Lees, engineer's merchant, of Halifax, who was seated in the rear of the car, said they were travelling at about 20 miles an hour when a tyre exploded. Immediately before he heard a loud report, but what caused it he could not say.

Mr Maude was found pinned under the car—no hyphen Ford. He was taken to the surgery of a doctor at Headingley, who attended to his injuries. After being bandaged Mr Maude preferred to go home rather than to the Leeds Infirmary, and he was taken to Halifax in a taxi, but on arrival he was dead.

Mr Alfred Charnock, timber merchant, Halifax, who followed in the wake of the accident, examined the car, said the tyres were in good condition and none of them had been burst. Judging from the tracks of the wheels, it appeared as though Mr Maude had turned the car two or three yards towards the road leading to Adel, and had then turned sharply back towards the main road.

There was a gradual rise about 12 inches deep on the road upon which the car had to cross, and of the existence of which deceased was evidently unaware. When the wheels got into this gutter it was supposed that the jerk caused Mr Maude to lose control of the steering gear, the result being that the car turned completely round and overturned.

Dr. Robertson, who examined the deceased soon after his arrival at home, said Mr Maude's skull was fractured and several of his ribs were also fractured.

The jury returned a verdict of "Accidental death."

At Dumfries Police Court on Monday afternoon Kate Hume, employed as a clerk in a Dumfries place of business, was charged with uttering a forged letter, the same purporting to have been written by Grace Hume, her sister, who is a nurse residing at Huddersfield. This was the letter which gave rise to what has come to be called the "Dumfries nurse hoax." Defendant, who is 17 years of age, seemed to feel her position keenly. Before she was asked to plead, the fiscal said the case could not be dealt with in that court, and she was remitted to the Sheriff.

THE ATTITUDE OF HOLLAND.

MR T. E. HARVEY'S INTERESTING OBSERVATIONS.

Mr T. E. Harvey, M.P., son of Mr William Harvey, of Roundhay—a well-known Barkston Ash Liberal—writes to the "Nation" as follows:—

Like most Englishmen, I had fancied Holland fortunate in her lot, at peace, and able to go about her business, whilst her bigger neighbours were doing their best to destroy each other. But even a few days had shown me how wrong I had been. From the train you could see little groups of soldiers bivouacking in the fields by the roadside; the immobile had been upset by mobilisation; even the hotel omnibus was commandeered for military uses. Placarded on the walls were the notices of the National Relief Committee, which offers help to those who have lost their work through the war—some 45,000 of these there are in Rotterdam alone—and in all the large towns there are branches of the Committee to meet the need.

In the Dutch linen and ladies goods, they say, are piled on the wharves, but cannot be shipped; the Dutch ships on the water are being turned into ships for French or English ports, and corn and coal, which is urgently needed in Holland itself, are held up for fear they should be sent on to Germany. The Dutch army has been mobilised since the outset of the war, and this involves a constant drain upon the national resources; while the financial confusion at first was so great that in Amsterdam and other large towns, paper money, available for a limited period, was issued in place of crowns and florins, and, in one instance, even to supply a temporary shortage in the small currency.

Holland has been stirred to its depths by the sufferings of its neighbours; thousands of Dutch homes have opened their doors to receive, sometimes a whole family, sometimes a woman or a child only. Even the Queen of Netherland Government itself is acting as host to a large number of the poorest Belgian refugees. Some 1,700 of these are now housed at Oldebrook, near Zeolle, on a heather-covered ridge, where, in peaceful times, the Dutch Army has its artillery training school. Hither refugees who cannot be at once received into private houses are sent from the frontier. It is not for nothing that the camp is so far from the frontier; the temptation to slip back across the border at night, in order to avenge themselves on the invaders, was too great for some of the men at Vlaie. It was necessary to safeguard the neutrality of Holland by removing this constant source of danger and irritation from the frontier.

Even as it is, the excitement on the borders of Belgium is so great that the troops have to be moved inland at frequent intervals and replaced by fresh detachments. These, in their turn, boil over with indignation at the stories they hear from fleeing refugees, and long to be fighting, too. And behind the burden of armed preparation for war, still a burden of wealth upon the whole people, there is the weight of dread lest, after all, they should be dragged in. "And the worst of it all is," as one said to me, "we do not even know when we may fight. Whichever side violates Dutch territory must bring us in against them, whichever happens to us."

They do not look forward cheerfully to the struggle, but calmly and doggedly they have been preparing for the worst. The outer defences are ready, and in three hours' time great belts of country around Amsterdam can be placed under water over which it is impossible for artillery. "If we have to fight we will drown friend and foe alike; we will let in the sea water, though the land be spoilt for a time." Such was the grim resolve of a lieutenant who said the words; he had been lamenting the horrors of the war, the burden and hardship to his own little business; he hated militarism and militarists, and just wanted his country to be left alone.

"We may be wiped out, but we shall fight," another quietly said. The response to the mobilisation orders showed the temper of the peaceful Dutch folk; out of 25,000 men in the Utrecht district all but five were at their place; in eight hours the whole mobilisation had been effected. They have no ambition but to live their own national life and independence, but no one can doubt how dearly they cherish that possession.

In some districts, especially round Utrecht, houses have been requisitioned to prepare for certain military exigencies. Here and there you can see fine trees cut down; they dare not wait to do it till it might be too late. In a long meeter ride of some eighty miles I noticed that practically all the cross bars of the signposts had been removed, the poles being left still standing. These were taken away, I was told, in a single night, as a precaution against sudden invasion.

FOOTBALL MATCHES AND REFEREES FOR SATURDAY.

LEEDS SENIOR LEAGUE

Wath v. Main Colliery v. Garforth White Rose.

F. Tyas.

Rothwell White Rose v. N. Wortley Gas Works.

H. Milburn.

Fryston Colliery v. Rothwell Parish Church.

F. Lewers.

East Ardsley United v. Clarence Ironworks.

H. Ward.

Thornhill Lees Albion v. Methley Pers.

W. P. Rhodes.

LEEDS JUNIOR LEAGUE.

Alwoltn St. Mary's v. Rothwell White Rose.

G. Murray.

Glyes Houghton Colliery v. Methley Perseverance.

C. E. Oak.

Bowers Allerton v. East Ardsley G.N.R.

Pearl.

Stourton Unite'; v. Great Preston W. Rose.

A. Blackham

Kippax Wesleyville v. Oulton St. John's.

L. V. Quince.

LEEDS AMATEUR LEAGUE.

New Blackpool Am. v. Rothwell Haigh M.

J. T. Lowson.

Green Lane Old Boys v. Rothwell Old Boys.

A. Wilson.

Sir George Riddell has telegraphed to Edinburgh that five hundred footballs are urgently required by the Ninth Scottish Division, Lord Kitchener's First Army, now training at Pirbright. An Edinburgh newspaper has undertaken to see that the request is fulfilled.

Baroness Marie von Neuberg, of Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, London, has been sentenced to 21 days' imprisonment in the second division at Marlborough Street for failing to register at an alien enemy registration office. A fine was imposed for neglecting to register her telephone. She admitted that her husband was a general commanding in the German Army Corps, and that her son was in the Officers' Training Corps at Westminster School.

The Prime Minister visited Dublin on Friday night to speak at a recruiting meeting. Mr Asquith said that it was unthinkable that one section of Irishmen was going to fight another; nor that Great Britain was going to fight either. He appealed to Ireland to supply an army corps. Old animosities were dead. We are a united nation, owning and paying to our Sovereign the allegiance of men who loved liberty. Mr John Redmond and Mr Birrell also spoke.

LOOK HERE!

We have a REPUTATION to maintain, and we do it by giving you the BEST VALUE in Provisions, Groceries, &c.

Specialists in BUTTER, HAMS, BACON, CHEESE, &c.

Also FLOUR, FEEDING MEAL, POULTRY CORN &c,

T. B. SMITH & SON,

SUPPLY STORES,

GARFORTH.

Our Special Blends of Tea, 2/2, 2/-, 1/8 per lb., contain some of the Finest Teas the World produces.

Rothwell Courier & Times

ESTABLISHED 1873.

CHEAP PREPAID RATES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS of the following classes:—
WANTED, FOR SALE, and TO LET.

Words.	1 week.	3 weeks.	6 weeks.	13 weeks
20	0 6	1 0	1 10	3 3
30	0 9	1 6	2 9	5 0
40	1 0	2 0	3 3	6 6

If Cash is not sent with advt. ordinary rates will be charged.

BUSINESS ADVERTISEMENTS.
Are charged at the following rates when ordered for not less than

13 weeks,	1s. per inch	per insertion.
26	do.	10d. do.	do.
52	do.	8d. do.	do.

RAILWAY NOTICE.

NORTH EASTERN RAILWAY.

EXCURSION TRAINS FROM LEEDS NEW STATION, CALLING AT CROSSGATES AND GARFORTH.

Wednesday, 7th October, 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, and Scarborough. 12.30 p.m. to Stamford Bridge, Pocklington, Market Weighton, Driffield, and Bridlington. 1.32 p.m. to Goole and Hull. Saturday, 10th October, 8.40 a.m. to Selby and Hull. 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, Scarborough, Pickering, and Whitby. 1.30 p.m. to Selby and Hull (Hull Fair).

For further particulars see bills.

WANTED

WANTED Strong DAY GIRL. No Sunday work.—Mrs Booth, 30, Holly-haw Lane, Whitkirk. 2419

WANTED a Capable GENERAL SERVANT —Apply, Mrs. Barry, Rectory, South Milford. 2420

WANTED 3 Respectable Men as LODGERS. —Apply, Mrs Flockton, 3, Aberdeen Square, Oulton, Leeds. 2 2305

WANTED Good GENERAL, age about 25. Three in family.—Apply, Mrs Hogarth, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates.

GENERAL MAID, strong, required. Help given, Write stating age, references, wages, to Mrs Miller-Speight, Ashwith. 2

WANTED Superior, Young GENERAL, aged 17 to 18. References.—Another maid kept.—Sent, 21, Shakebroke Avenue, Leeds. 3 2325

CAPABLE GENERAL SERVANT. Three in family. No children. Comfortable home. —Apply, Mrs Simpson, 15, Elmet Terrace, Crossgates. 2 2410

WANTED COTTAGE in Country, near station or tram. Convenience for poultry preferred.—Apply, Todd, c/o Mr Pollard, Moor Allerton Hill, Leeds. 2 2414

FOR SALE.

FOR Sale, Good SEMI-DETACHED VILLA, Whitkirk, 6 Rooms.—Box, 2330, "Skyrack Courier" Office, Leeds. 2330

MODERN DETACHED VILLA for Sale, containing dining and drawing rooms to the front, good entrance hall, kitchen, larder, and washhouse on the same floor; four bedrooms, bathroom, lavatory with w.c., and box room on first floor; two large attics; large gardens back and front, in-door place and w.c., splendid situation overlooking Golf Links. —Apply, J. Banks, Austhorpe House, Crossgates. 2 2374

MEDICAL.

TO MARRIED LADIES.
THE WIFE'S HANDBOOK, by Dr. Allbutt, should be read by all Married People. 7d. Post Free. Illustrated list of Malthusian Appliances, Rubber Goods, &c., Post Free, 2 Stamps.—(S) Davies & Co., 54 Park Lane, Leeds.

LADIES! Wood's Challenge Remedy is guaranteed under the sum of £100 to cure more cases than any other advertised remedy. For all cases of irregularities Challenge Remedy has no equal. Price 2/9, special 4/6. Consultations free 10 to 10 daily. Hygienic Rubber Requisites. Only address—Mr and Mrs. W. Wood, 20, Louis Street, Chapeltown Road, Leeds.

MARRIED LADIES.
Consult MRS. WOOD, the only reliable Ladies' Specialist, 20 years' experience. My remedies never fail. My Special Mixture or Pills are guaranteed to be the only reliable remedy known. Acts in a few hours after all else fails. Quick, Safe, and Sure. Price 2s. 9d. Special 4s. 6d., post free in plain wrappers, or stamp for particulars. Consultations by appointment. Only Address: Mrs WOOD, 31, Park Avenue, Blackpool.

DR SKELTON'S
BRONCHITIS LOZENGES
Cure Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, Difficulties of Breathing, Consumption, and all Diseases of the Chest and Lungs.
Sold in Boxes at 1/1½ and 2/9 at
CAMB'S HERBAL STORES, 25, KIRKGATE, LEEDS.
All kinds of Herbs etc. kept in Stock

THOMAS MIDDLETON
PAWNBROKER AND JEWELLER,
36 VICAR LANE, (Top of LADY LANE, LEEDS),
ADVANCES MONEY TO ANY AMOUNT ON PORTABLE PROPERTY.

£0	10	0 for	2½ per month.
£1	0	0 ,,	5d. ,, ,,
£2	0	0 ,,	10d. ,, ,,
£5	10	0 ,,	1s. ,, ,,
£3	0	0 ,,	1s. 6d. ,, ,,
£5	0	0 ,,	1s. 8d. ,, ,,
£8	0	0 ,,	2s. 8d. ,, ,,
£10	0	0 ,,	3s. 4d. ,, ,,

Sums above £10 by Special Agreement.
ONLY ADDRESS:
96 VICAR LANE, LEEDS.
LEDGE OFFICE: 4, LADY LANE, LEEDS.

MR and MRS. TURNER
7 Lady Lane, Leeds,
and 36, Horton Road, Bradford,
Purchase for Cash, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Cast-off Clothing. All Letters and Parcels receive immediate attention; their full value given for Old Gold and Silver. Trial Solicited.
Highest Price Given.
Tel. Nos.: Leeds, 3188; Bradford, 241.

YOUR WEDDING
Should BE NICE whether it is Hotons or Carnations. We are the most talked of and the most thought of in the City. Ask about us; we are charges. HOUGHTON, Claypit Lane, top of Cookridge street). Tele. 1877 Central.
"WE NEVER SLEEP."

PUBLIC NOTICES.

ROTHWELL URBAN WAR RELIEF COMMITTEE.

A MEETING OF THE GENERAL COMMITTEE will be held on MONDAY NEXT, the 5th October, at the COUNCIL OFFICES, ROTHWELL, at 7 p.m.

All members are respectfully requested to attend as private notices will not be sent out.

By order of the Committee,
H. J. Beeler,
W. Dobson,
Joint Hon. Secretaries.

ROTHWELL URBAN DISTRICT COUNCIL

NOTICE is hereby given that there will be an AUDIT and EXAMINATION of the ACCOUNTS of the Urban District Council for the year ending 31st March, 1914, on THURSDAY, the 29th day of OCTOBER, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon at the COUNCIL OFFICES, ROTHWELL, and that seven days previous to the said Audit all Books, Papers, Vouchers relating to such accounts will be open for inspection at the Clerk's Office, Rothwell, during Office Hours, on application to the undersigned. (Signed),

WALTER DODGSON,
Clerk to the said Council.

Dated, 2nd October, 1914.

GARFORTH AND DISTRICT MILKMEN'S AND COWKEEPERS' ASSOCIATION.

TO THE RESIDENTS OF GARFORTH AND DISTRICT.

NOTICE is hereby given that ON AND AFTER OCTOBER 1st THE PRICE OF MILK WILL BE RAISED TO 3½d. PER QUART.

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE ASSOCIATION, WHITKIRK BRANCH.

NEW CLASSES for LADIES will be given by Dr. Rhodes Haigarth on WEDNESDAY afternoons. Course of Lectures 4s., including Book and Bandages.

Kindly send in the names to Mrs Dockray, Hazelcroft, Whitkirk, Hon. Sec.

Note.—These classes will only be held if a sufficient number of Ladies attend.

MISS AMY D. WADE, TEACHER OF DANCING.
(Trained by Mr Cecil H. Taylor) begs to announce that she will hold Classes for MODERN BALLROOM and FANCY DANCING,
at the
RECREATION HALL, CROSSGATES,
on WEDNESDAYS.
Juveniles, 6.00; Adults 7.30.
COMMENCING OCT. 7th, 1914.

At the CONSERVATIVE CLUB, GARFORTH, on SATURDAY mornings for Juveniles at 11. Commencing October 3rd.

Terms:—
Adults £1 1s. 0d. for course of 10 lessons.
Juveniles £0 15s. 0d. for course of 10 lessons.
Address: Carter Mount, Whitkirk, Leeds.

THE PICTURE HOUSE, GARFORTH

Every Evening at 7.30.

Saturday, Two Houses at 6.30 and 8.30.

WEEK COMMENCING OCTOBER 5th.

FIRST-RATE PROGRAMMES OF UP-TO-DATE PICTURES.

LATEST TRIUMPHS OF THE CINEMA ART.

Children's Matinee, Saturday at 2.30.

Popular Prices:—2d., 4d., and 6d.

BRITISH PIANOFORTE BARGAINS.
16 Gns. COLLARD & COLLARD
or 10s. Monthly.
22 ,, CRAMER ,, 10s. ,,
12 ,, KIRKMAN ,, 8s. ,,
11 ,, WADDINGTON ,, 8s. ,,
21 ,, BARKER & CO. (overstrung) ,, 10s. ,,
Tunings and Repairs done at actual cost, in order to keep our staff fully employed. Estimates Free.
BARKER'S, NEW STATION STREET, LEEDS.

PATENTS FOR INVENTIONS,
obtained by
JOHN E. WALSH, CHARTERED PATENT AGENT,
25, ROYAL EXCHANGE, LEEDS,
and CROSSLEY STREET, HALIFAX.
Late Oldest Established in Leeds. Handbook Free. Fee or British and Foreign Patents,. Trade Marks and Designs.
Telephone: LEEDS 2738. HALIFAX 35Y.

Telephone No. 1 Garforth.
ALFRED REED,
Late Matthews,
CAB and WAGONETTE PROPRIETOR,
GARFORTH and BARWICK-IN-ELMET.
Cabs, Waggonettes and Landaus for Hire.
Large and Small Parties Catered for.

Established 37 Years.
WM. DENTON & SON,
23, COMMERCIAL STREET, ROTHWELL,
Estate Agents and Rent Collectors,
Estates Entirely Managed. Terms on application.
Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass, etc.,
Insurance Brokers.
Quotations for any kind of Insurance Free.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH, EXTRACTIONS, Etc.
Mr. J. DILWORTH'S
Dental Rooms,
CECIL HOUSE, BURLEY LODGE TERRACE, HYDE PARK ROAD, LEEDS.
Advice Free. Hours—10 to 8.
and at
16, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates.
Every Friday, 2 to 7.30 p.m. Other hours by appointment.
Painless Extractions. Nitrous Oxide Gas administered.

Window Cleaning, Paintwashing
Limewashing, &c., at Moderate Charges.
EXPERIENCED MEN SENT ANY DISTANCE.
FIRTH & KENYON,
GROVE ROAD, HALTON, near LEEDS.

SALES BY AUCTION.

WETHERBY AUCTION MART

ON MONDAY NEXT.
Messrs THOMLINSON & SON
Will Sell by Auction—
50 to 60 Fat Bullocks and Heifers.
100 to 120 Prime Fat SHEEP.
60 to 70 Fat and Store PIGS.
THOMLINSON & SON, Auctioneers.

ON MONDAY NEXT AT 12 O'CLOCK,
WHITKIRK LIVE STOCK AUCTION MART
(Near to Crossgates Station and within four miles of Leeds).
Messrs BARTLE & SON
Will sell by Auction, in strict accordance with the conditions posted at the Mart—
475 HEAD OF STOCK, viz.:—
400 NEWLY CALVEN and PRESENT CALVING COWS and STORE BEASTS.
65 PRIME FAT BULLOCKS, HEIFERS, and COWS.
20 VEAL and STORE CALVES.
300 PRIME FAT SHEARLINGS, HOGGS, and EWES.
150 BACON, PORK, and STORE PIGS.
Auctioneers' Offices: Garforth, near Leeds. (Tel. No. 26).

THE AUCTION MART, WHITKIRK.

The NEXT MONTHLY HORSE SALE will be held on WEDNESDAY, October 14th.
Entry forms free on application.
BARTLE and SON, Auctioneers.
Offices: Garforth.

ON WEDNESDAY NEXT, Oct. 7th, at One o'clock,
1, HIGH STREET, SOUTH MILFORD.
Three minutes' walk from the Railway Station.
MR WILLIAM ASH
Is instructed by Mr F. Wyman (who is leaving the district) to Sell by Auction the whole of the HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE, and Effects, including
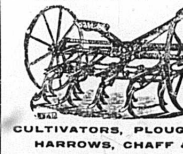
A WALNUT SITTING-ROOM SUITE IN LEATHER. 7 pc. 6in. BEDROOM SUITE. IRON FRENCH BEDSTEADS, FEATHER BEDS, BRUSSELS CARPET, HEARTHRUGS, CHINA ORNAMENTS, VASES, TEA SERVICE. Electro-plated forks and spoons. Useful culinary utensils, wringing machine, 2 water tubs.
Full particulars of which will be found in posted bills.

W. A. F. BURDOWS & CO.,
Auctioneers and Valuers,
BOND PLACE, LEEDS.
(Opposite Yorkshire Penny Bank).
Sales of every description conducted on the most reasonable terms.
Valuations made for all purposes.
To Heads of Families, Private Buyers, Dealers, and others.
Various Stocks of Drapery, Boots, and Shoes, Hosiery, and Haberdashing always on hand, and may be purchased privately at any time. Goods on View. Public Inspection Invited.



Messrs J. CUNDALL & SON,
AUCTIONEERS and TENANT-RIGHT VALUERS.
SHERBURN, E.R., YORK

H. E. WALKER,
STURTON GRANGE, GARFORTH,
Agricultural Merchant.

Molassine Meal.
Dairy and Calf Meal.
Feeding Cakes.
Poultry and Dog Foods.
Manures, Peat Moss, Oils, etc.
Best Quality & Prompt Delivery.

JOHN WATSON & Co.,
34, CALL LANE, LEEDS
See our Special Blue Lounge Suit
Made to Measure in Fine Quality Serge,
Easy Terms £2 2s. Cash 38/6
Well Worth 50/-
OUR SCARBORO' COSTUMES
Are made to Measure in all Wool Navy Coating Serge. Coat Lined Silk. Satin Collar, Lined Skirt.
Cash 30/- Easy Terms 33/6
Patterns and Particulars on Application.

J. ROBINSON & SONS,
King Charles' Croft,
LEEDS.
Telephone No. 1522.
Catalogues free on Application.

CULTIVATORS, PLOUGHS, HARROWS, CHAFF & TURNIP CUTTERS, &C.
By all the Best Makers at Lowest Cash Price.

Gent's. 9ct. & 18ct. Bangle Rings
Large Assortment always in Stock at
J. WINTERHALDER'S,
Watchmaker, Jeweller, & Optician,
13, New York Street, LEEDS
(Opposite the Yorkshire Penny Bank, Kirkgate).
Repairs of all kinds a Specialty.

Purveyors of Marmalade — To H.M. King George V.
Frank COOPER'S "OXFORD" MARMALADE.
The "Oxford" has a distinctive flavour, has the real home-made character, and gets latter than any other.
OBTAINABLE AT
Walter Judd's, Austhorpe Rd., Crossgates
:: ALSO ::
S. BORDER & Co., YORK.

TO BE CONTENT
With anything but the best ir spectacles or eyeglasses is the wisdom of the unwise.
Thoughtful people recognise this fact, and value their eyes too highly to run unnecessary risks by wearing wrong glasses.
It is to such that this appeal is made; and if your eyes are causing you trouble, we ask you to call and talk the matter over with us, when we shall be pleased to advise you.
HEYWOOD,
Optologist,
20, DUNCAN STREET,
LEEDS.

— TRY —
SANGFORD'S CROWN VINEGAR,
Pickles, Health Salt, and Baking Powder.
ALL ABSOLUTELY PURE
SANGFORD & Co., Ltd.,
LEEDS.

Rothwell Courier & Times
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3rd, 1914.

Disillusionment as coming to the German nation! News of the defeat of their so-called invincible army is filtering through, and it has come as a terrible shock to a nation nurtured in the simple faith that they were a chosen people, and the Kaiser a divine one, ordained through which "culture" might be conveyed to all the nations of the world for their healing. It is not difficult to imagine the women folks, and the grey-headed old men—the men who fought in '70 and created, not ignobly, a united Fatherland, and handed it to their sons—sitting in their homes to-day, waiting and hoping for the good news that never comes, and as they gaze upon the portraits of William I., Bismarck, and old Moltke, which adorn the walls of practically every German home, they cannot believe that their army, which to them is a splendid, unsurpassable thing, has met with a reverse. Britons believe in the destiny of the Empire—they have confidence in their own strength and the righteousness of their cause, but this German faith, simple as it is, is not founded upon that greatness which loves justice and hates oppression, but upon the handiwork of the military bully. One incident illustrates this. A German prisoner—a schoolmaster—in conversation with his captor, was asked how he thought the war would end. "We'll win," he answered promptly. "What makes you think so?" asked his captor. "The Kaiser says so, and he knows," was the German's reply. It is no use trying, by argument, to convince a people with such a faith in an individual; the only argument that will carry conviction is the sword. "We have a clear conscience," writes a German lady, who is not ill-disposed towards this country, "for before the war—which is not of our seeking—we have done no injury to anyone." And there must be thousands—if not millions—who think similarly. The mischievous teaching in the schools and universities is ignored; it is impossible for them to discern any harm in it. This, however, is young Germany's war. They have gloried in their army, whose invincibility they never doubted, and it had only to be set in motion to sweep the enemies of the Fatherland from off the face of the earth. An armed empire was their ideal, but there is a saying that those who live by the sword, perish by it, and the day of German's awakening is at hand. The young Prussians have the utmost contempt for the military resources of other nations, and they quote Bismarck, their hero, as saying that if an English army landed on the Continent he would send a policeman to arrest them. That is practically the mental attitude of young Germany. The bully, however, has proved to be not such a formidable one after all, and he is going to receive the punishment all bullies deserve—he is going to be soundly thrashed. However, the bully appears to have had enough already, for he magnanimously proclaims that he is willing to let the war stand as a "draw," as if it were a game of football, but he has got to take his thrashing, and, after that, of will be time to talk of peace. The Prussians have already discovered that their army is not invincible, that German-made plans for the British Empire are some what premature, and that the despised little English Army has thrown their whole military machine out of gear. Young Germany may well be anxious concerning the future. But what do that other section of the people—silent Germany—think about it? These millions of quiet and industrious men have been gathered from the factories and the field and sent into France and Belgium simply to be slaughtered. Everyone has read how they have been led up in close formation to the enemy's guns, only to be mown down, and people may well wonder how long these men will allow themselves to be used as cannon-fodder—a description applied to them by their own officers, who apply all sorts of opprobrious epithets to them. Were such treatment given to our fighting men by those who lead them we know very well what would happen. The suppression of the individuality by the machine in the German army makes the wonder how long can human beings stand it. And the amazing thing about it is that a great many of the men who are serving in the ranks to-day are far better educated and far more intelligent than those who command them. These those who command them. These men are not satisfied with the German empire. The class to which they belong is patriotic, and it is cultured, but it hates the officer caste and the high official caste, just as it distrusts the Socialist party. So that if disontent breaks out in the German army it will not be a case of the working-man alone. Cast-iron discipline will not as a check upon the discontent, but how long will the men manage to suppress the passion and hatred against militarism and all its works? If the Germans knew that the prime object of Great Britain is the smashing of militarism it cannot be doubted that three-quarters of them would either thrown down their arms or engage in a revolt against the tyrants who have caused so many of their compatriots to be blown to atoms on the battlefield. Before that can be done, however, a very heavy toll will have to be paid, and we may be sure that Great Britain's purpose is presented in no true light to the so-called German patriot, who, unlike the men who have rallied to the Colours in this country, only fights because he is forced. Wherever the German rulers look they see destruction staring them in the face: their army has been beaten; their trade has been destroyed; their population is starving, and sooner or later they will have a reduced territory to administer. They know the truth already, but they are keeping it from the nation, which is judiciously fed upon falsehoods and misleading statements, which have one and the same object. But the day of reckoning is coming. The Germans who hate militarism will have an opportunity of showing what sort of men they are—whether they are determined to shape their own destinies or allow a section, which has been the curse of the nation, to shape them for them. It will then be a humiliated Germany—not a noisy, pedantic, braggart Germany—and it may prove the turning point in the country's history. In the security of our island home—safe only by reason of the protection of our fleet and glorious Navy—we are witnessing the greatest European event since the French Revolution, and we can scarcely realize that a new age is upon us. Great results are coming. And Great Britain is playing a noble role. What would have happened had she stood aside? Germany, by means of her army and navy, would probably have had France subdued; and who could say what the fate of Belgium and Holland would have been? Militarism would have destroyed the freedom of Europe, and then our turn would have come. Britain is fighting the battle of civilization, and the Germans themselves will benefit equally with other nations as an outcome of the war.

THE COST OF THE WAR.

The revenue accounts issued on Wednesday give more idea of the cost of the war. The supply services to the end of September amount to £118,615,474, as compared with £73,486,911—roughly an increase of forty-five millions, which may be said to be the cost of the war to date. The balance in the Bank of England to-day is roughly a million more than it was this time last year. The accounts show that the Government have borrowed by means of Treasury bills and other advances about 63 millions.

A sum of 8s. has been sent to the Belgian Refugees' Fund by the children of Hambleton School.

A sum of £300, legacy of the late William Whiteley Holmes, of Ilyderg, Barwick, has been received by the treasurer of Leeds Infirmary.

Miss Isabella O. Ford, of Adel, has sent a parcel of clothing to the Belgian refugees. R.T., of Adel, has sent 10s. to the West Riding Distress Fund.

A sum of £218 4s. 6d., contributed by the bottom men at Nos. 1 and 2 Broom Pits, Middleton Colliery, has been sent to Leeds Infirmary, per Messrs W. Lunn and W. Lumb.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Communications intended for insertion must be authenticated by the name and address of the writer—not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. No notice will be taken of anonymous letters, and rejected communications cannot be returned.

Notice of Births and Deaths are charged 1s. each prepaid. They must be authenticated by the name and address of the sender.

Notices of marriages are charged at the rate of 2s. 6d. each

In Memoriam Notices 1s. each, and 6d. extra for all matter up to four lines.

DEATHS.

DIVERS.—On Monday, September 28th, 1914, John Richard Divers, at Pitfields, Carlton, aged 65 years.

HARDWICK.—September 30th, at Roseville Terrace, Manston, Ploxy, beloved wife of Fred Hardwick.

MYERS.—On the 28th September (accidentally drowned), at Fleet Mills, Oulton, aged 28, John William Myers, the beloved husband of Blanche Myers, and son of George and Mary Myers.

IN MEMORIAM

WARD—In ever loving memory of John Ward, of Bowers Allerton (late of Crossgates), who died October 5th, 1910, in his 75th year.
"From our hearts with words of love."
2322 From wife and family.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT NEWS.

ROTHWELL

LEEDS WEST RIDING PETTY SESSIONS.—The magistrates at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday were Messrs J. W. Mordill (Chairman), F. M. Lupton, E. Parkin, and W. Evans.

RATES.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday a Rothwell man was summoned by the overseers for non-payment of Court costs in connection with a summons previously heard for not paying the poor rate. Mr J. Harrison, assistant overseer, proved the case, and an order for payment was made.

WESLEYAN CHURCH.—On Sunday evening a patriotic service was held at the Wesleyan Church, when there was a large congregation. The sermon was preached by the Rev. N. W. Thomlinson, and the hymns sung were in keeping with the occasion. During the evening Mr Nelson Varley sang "Why do the nations" from the "Messiah." A collection was taken on behalf of the local distress fund.

JURY LISTS.—On Tuesday at the Skyrack Petty Sessions the jury lists for the townships of Leeds, Kippax, Great and Little Preston, Aberford, Parlington, Sturton Grange, Swillington, Garforth, Temperley, Middleton, Osmondthorpe, Alwoodley, Oulton-cum-Woodlesford, Rothwell-with-Rothwell Haigh, Barwick-in-Elmet, Wike, Adel-cum-Eccup, Scarcroft, and Thorner were passed.

Patent List compiled by John E. Walsh, Chartered Patent Agent, of 25, Royal Exchange, Boar Lane, Leeds, and Crossley Street, Halifax:—Applications—F. H. Green, Leeds, improvements in spring bearings for the rear wheels of motor and other bicycles; and William Chapman, Wrenthorpe, improvements in colliery tub or corve controllers. Patent granted—Edward Court, Wakefield, impovements in postal letter boxes.

FAMILY ALLOWANCES TO BE WEEKLY.—An Army Order issued on Wednesday night states that from October 12th allowances to families will be made weekly. From the same date, issues will be made every quarter of thirteen weeks by means of a new form of postal draft in cheque book form, each book containing 13 drafts. The books will be issued quarterly, in advance, to postmasters at the post offices where the money orders for the period are made payable. A payee may change the post office at which payment is made, by giving notice to the postmaster.

"CANADA'S GIFT."—Canada is making a splendid gift of flour to the Mother Country. It has been decided that the sacks, when empty, should be sold as souvenirs at 5s. each. Two-thirds of the sum will be devoted to the Prince of Wales' National Relief Fund, and one-third to the Belgian Refugees' Fund. The sacks are all marked "Canada's Gift." Applications for the sacks as souvenirs, accompanied by a remittance of 5s., should be sent to the Hon. Secretaries, National Relief Fund, Mansion House, St. James's Palace, London, S.W. Applications will be dealt with in strict rotation.

RECRUITING.—The work of signing on recruits for the West Yorkshire Miners' Battalion is proceeding apace at the Council Offices, Marsh Street, which is being used as a recruiting office for the district. During the fortnight that the office has been open for the purpose only 74 recruits have been registered. Of this number only about half-a-dozen are Rothwell men. A goodly number have come from Middleton. One man, who came from the Leeds Workhouse, is 6ft. 1in. Thursday was a day of fine physique, but unfortunately he is six years above the maximum age. The candidate was full of enthusiasm, and seemed greatly disappointed when he was informed that his age was the only obstacle. However, an effort is to be made to surmount this difficulty. The recruits are being paid 3s. per day until called up.

ALLERTON BYWATER

FOOTBALL CLUB.—At a meeting of the Leeds Senior League held at Leeds on Tuesday night, the representative of the Allerton Bywater Colliery A.F.C. was informed intimated that his club had decided to ask permission to withdraw from the League until the war is over. The permission was granted.

CONGRATULATIONS.—Castleford district has reason to congratulate itself on the result of its efforts to enlist recruits for the war. A recruiting station was secured for the town through the efforts of Mr W. A. S. Hewett, the Mayor, and over 1,000 recruits have already been accepted. Lord Kitchener having been informed of the fact has sent the following telegram to Mr Davies, headmaster of the Secondary School:—"Lord Kitchener congratulates Castleford on the patriotic response which it has made to the call for men to join the Army." With a population of a little over 43,000, but it has drawn recruits from all the villages in the district, including Allerton Bywater.

CARLTON

CRICKET.—The match between Carlton and Outwood, which is to decide the championship of the Rothwell and District Cricket League, is not yet finished. On Saturday the players met, the stumps being pitched at two o'clock. Carlton took their innings first and hoisted a score of 156. Outwood went in to bat shortly before half-past four, maintaining their stand until about half-past six, when the umpires decided to draw the stumps owing to the bad light—in fact, the moon was shining at the time. The board then showed seven wickets down for 93 runs. At first it was hoped to continue the match one night during the week, but some of the players had a difficulty in getting off owing to their seats, and it was decided to resume the match next Saturday.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—On Sunday the Carlton Wesleyans celebrated their harvest festival, and the services were of an enjoyable character. The special preacher both in the morning and evening was Mr William Denton, of Rothwell, who gave appropriate discourses. In the afternoon the choir rendered the anthem "Singing of Joy," and other arrangements in keeping with the occasion. The singing during prayer by Mr. H. Nash, Mr. S. Pickersgill (Carlton) presided. The solo parts were effectively rendered by Misses H. Cross and Schaley, Ethel Schaley, Norah Brown, and Messrs Joseph Spooner and A. Broad. A short address was given by Miss H. Schaley and Mr. G. Dixon, and the Misses A. and M. Broad and Messrs W. Anderson and H. Wood joined in a quartette. At the evening service Mr G. Dixon, a member of the choir, sang "Babylon." The church was beautifully decorated.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—The harvest festival on Monday there was a large company, the tables being presided over by Mrs Chesworth, Mrs Pickersgill, Mrs Firth, Mrs Marshall, Mr. Hiram Wood, Mrs Hepworth, and Mrs Wilkinson. Later in the evening the toasts were proposed and responded to in old English fashion. All the collections went to aid the Trust Funds.

CROSSGATES

A sum of £3 has been sent by W. G. Crossgates, to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

At a meeting held on Wednesday evening it was decided to begin the work of the Literary Society early next month.

In a mixed horseshoes competition at Crossgates Golf Links on Saturday afternoon the winners were Miss Johnson and Mr Cowling.

AMBULANCE CLASS.—The N.E.R. Ambulance Class at Crossgates has commenced work for the winter, and greatly increased interest is being shown in it. It has already a membership of about thirty, not half of whom are employees of the N.E.R. Co., and it is probable that a few more will join. The lectures are given by Dr. Hoggarth in a waiting-room at the station on Sunday evenings.

MISSION CHURCH.—Harvest thanksgiving services were held in Mission Church on Sunday. The Rev. H. H. Madeson (vicar) conducted the morning service, and the preacher in the evening, when there was a very large congregation, was Mr. one of the Leeds Parish Church clergy. Special hymns were sung, and the choir rendered the anthem "Four not, O lord." Mr J. Burnley, organist and choirmaster, presided at the organ.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—On Sunday the harvest festival was celebrated at Crossgates Wesleyan Church, and there were good congregations. The preacher was a student from Headingley College. In the evening the choir, conducted by Mr J. H. Hall, rendered A.R.C.O.'s setting of "Come to that thirsteth." In the afternoon a special musical service took place, and the choir, under the leadership of Mr J. H. Walker, gave an excellent rendering of the anthem "The Woman of Samaria." The soloists were Miss Colcroy (soprano), Mrs Wilby (contralto), Mr C. H. Walker (tenor), and Mr Wilby (bass). The organist was Mr Hall, deputised.

WESTERN DISTRICT RIFLE CLUB.—In connection with this club a quick-firing competition took place on Saturday, and it aroused considerable interest. Each competitor had to fire as many shots as possible in seven minutes. Results:—Mr J. Stuart White, 2 M. H. E. Sword, 3 Mr Haswell. A competition for the club's juniors was also held. Each competitor had to fire seven shots, the prizes being given by Mr J. Stuart White, and this was won by Master Ernest Firth, with a score of 30. Two records for the club were made on the same evening. Mr S. Kirby made a "possible" and "bull's-eye" cards—10 for 5 shots. Over 1,000 shots were fired in the course of the evening. A sum of £5 has been handed to the local Distress Fund Committee, being the proceeds of the competitions to date. It is understood that the members of the club have undertaken to hold weekly competitions, the proceeds to go to the above-named fund, and they hope to raise larger amounts.

GARFORTH

A sum of 10s. has been collected by First Class Girls and Second Boys at Garforth Parish Sunday School for the Belgian Relief Fund.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—On Sunday harvest thanksgiving services were held at the Wesleyan Church, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The sermons were preached by the Rev. A. Burdin, and he addressed large congregations. His subject at the morning service was "Nature's Crosses," and in the evening he delivered an excellent discourse on "Our daily bread." At a service held in the afternoon Mr Barrett gave a short address, and an augmented choir rendered "A Song of Thanksgiving" and "I Prosper in the Lord." Proceeds of the services for the Chapel Fund.

ASSIZES.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Mrs Hood, the wife of a labourer, of Garforth, was charged with having Harry Ernest Dunsby, for an assault upon his daughter, Lucy Dunsby.—The child, Lucy, stated that a week the previous Tuesday the defendant came into the house and struck her on the head with her left hand. Defendant said she had not tapped her in a temper.—Ada Hall, a teacher at the Garforth Council School, said that on the day in question she saw defendant in the playground of the school when she heard a noise in the porch, and on going out to see what was the matter she saw Mrs Hood thrashing the girl Lucy Dunsby. The Chairman told defendant that the Bench were to strike the child. Defendant admitted that she knew she had not, but she did it in a temper.—A fine of 2s. 6d. and costs was imposed.

FOR THE SOLDIERS.—In order that the soldiers in the temporary hospitals now being prepared by voluntary workers in the West Riding, Brigadier-General Mervin has issued a list of articles which are required, and the headquarters of the Voluntary Aid Detachments. All articles, therefore, should be forwarded carriage paid to the nearest depot, addressed to the officer in charge, with a full description of the goods forwarded (one to be returned to sender as receipt). It is desired that packing cases be returned, a fully addressed label should be enclosed with the goods, and it is hoped to ensure everything being sent promptly where most needed. It will be the means also of keeping classes of working committees together, and of saving the time needed to explain since expended. Local gifts should be sent to Mrs Trench Gossidger, Lodge-ton Hall, Aberford.

HALTON

It is stated that a start will be made with the tramway extension from the York Road terminus to Halton almost immediately.

The family of the late Mrs Rawling thank all friends for their kind expressions of sympathy in their recent sad bereavement, also for wreaths and flowers sent, viz., High Street, Halton.—Adv. 1326

LORD HALIFAX AND HIS ONLY SON.—Lord Halifax, the Hon. E. L. Wood's father, addressed a meeting at Dodsworth on Saturday. He said the war was going to be a very tough business, but we were going to win. We had to face sacrifices. He had hardly a friend or relative who had not already lost some one in the war. Every young man he knew had volunteered for the front, and he would not have it otherwise. He had only one son, and he was glad he volunteered. (Cheers.) Several officers from his own neighbourhood had been killed, but he had not heard of one of their widows who had regretted her husband's response to duty. "You miners in this respect are on all a noble example" proceeded his lordship, "for whenever there is an accident in the mine, be it ever so little, you are down to see what you can do to help, and if you were not there you would volunteer to risk your life in any others. You are showing the same spirit in the same thing for your country."

KIPPAX

On Saturday afternoon a League match was played at Ewe Arkilow between the U.N. football team and Kippax Woodville. The latter won by four goals to one.

LADIES' SOCIETY.—The Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Arthur Clayton and John Arthur, both of Kippax, were summoned for using foul and obscene language at Kippax on Saturday, September 19th. P.C. Dawson said about 10 p.m. on the night in question he saw both defendants under the influence of drink at Mount Pleasant, Kippax. When spoken to about their conduct they used foul language, complained of. Clayton was fined 5s. including costs, and Brotton 2s. 6d. including costs.

WESLEYAN CHURCH.—The weekly meeting of the Band of Hope connected with this church was held on Monday evening, when a very interesting address was given by Mr B. Pierson on "The two opportunities gained by abstinence." The meeting was well attended, and Mr J. Goodall presided. On Tuesday evening the Goodall presided. On Tuesday evening the Wesley Guild commenced the winter session with a musical evening and coffee supper. The following programme was submitted:—Duet, "For ever with the Lord," Mr Parker and Miss Dewhirst sang; "Make new friends but keep the old," Miss Walford; recitation, Mrs Parker; "When the cords of death," Miss A. Parker; song, "The Ship that never returned," Mr Parker; "Angels of Angels," Miss Jackson. Mr W. R. Tebb presided over a good gathering.

PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHURCH.—Harvest thanksgiving services were held at the church on Sunday, when the preacher in the evening, when there was a very large congregation, was Mr. H. Madeson (vicar) conducted the morning service, and the preacher in the evening, when there was a very large congregation, was Mr. one of the Leeds Parish Church clergy. Special hymns were sung, and the choir rendered the anthem "Four not, O lord." Mr J. Burnley, organist and choirmaster, presided at the organ.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—On Sunday the harvest festival was celebrated at Crossgates Wesleyan Church, and there were good congregations. The preacher was a student from Headingley College. In the evening the choir, conducted by Mr J. H. Hall, rendered A.R.C.O.'s setting of "Come to that thirsteth." In the afternoon a special musical service took place, and the choir, under the leadership of Mr J. H. Walker, gave an excellent rendering of the anthem "The Woman of Samaria." The soloists were Miss Colcroy (soprano), Mrs Wilby (contralto), Mr C. H. Walker (tenor), and Mr Wilby (bass). The organist was Mr Hall, deputised.

WESTERN DISTRICT RIFLE CLUB.—In connection with this club a quick-firing competition took place on Saturday, and it aroused considerable interest. Each competitor had to fire as many shots as possible in seven minutes. Results:—Mr J. Stuart White, 2 Mr H. E. Sword, 3 Mr Haswell. A competition for the club's juniors was also held. Each competitor had to fire seven shots, the prizes being given by Mr J. Stuart White, and this was won by Master Ernest Firth, with a score of 30. Two records for the club were made on the same evening. Mr S. Kirby made a "possible" and "bull's-eye" cards—10 for 5 shots. Over 1,000 shots were fired in the course of the evening. A sum of £5 has been handed to the local Distress Fund Committee, being the proceeds of the competitions to date. It is understood that the members of the club have undertaken to hold weekly competitions, the proceeds to go to the above-named fund, and they hope to raise larger amounts.

GARFORTH

A sum of 10s. has been collected by First Class Girls and Second Boys at Garforth Parish Sunday School for the Belgian Relief Fund.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—On Sunday harvest thanksgiving services were held at the Wesleyan Church, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The sermons were preached by the Rev. A. Burdin, and he addressed large congregations. His subject at the morning services was "Nature's Crosses," and in the evening he delivered an excellent discourse on "Our daily bread." At a service held in the afternoon Mr Barrett gave a short address, and an augmented choir rendered "A Song of Thanksgiving" and "I Prosper in the Lord." Proceeds of the services for the Chapel Fund.

ASSIZES.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Mrs Hood, the wife of a labourer, of Garforth, was charged with having Harry Ernest Dunsby, for an assault upon his daughter, Lucy Dunsby.—The child, Lucy, stated that a week the previous Tuesday the defendant came into the house and struck her on the head with her left hand. Defendant said she had not tapped her in a temper.—Ada Hall, a teacher at the Garforth Council School, said that on the day in question she saw defendant in the playground of the school when she heard a noise in the porch, and on going out to see what was the matter she saw Mrs Hood thrashing the girl Lucy Dunsby. The Chairman told defendant that the Bench were to strike the child. Defendant admitted that she knew she had not, but she did it in a temper.—A fine of 2s. 6d. and costs was imposed.

FOR THE SOLDIERS.—In order that the soldiers in the temporary hospitals now being prepared by voluntary workers in the West Riding, Brigadier-General Mervin has issued a list of articles which are required, and the headquarters of the Voluntary Aid Detachments. All articles, therefore, should be forwarded carriage paid to the nearest depot, addressed to the officer in charge, with a full description of the goods forwarded (one to be returned to sender as receipt). It is desired that packing cases be returned, a fully addressed label should be enclosed with the goods, and it is hoped to ensure everything being sent promptly where most needed. It will be the means also of keeping classes of working committees together, and of saving the time needed to explain since expended. Local gifts should be sent to Mrs Trench Gossidger, Lodge-ton Hall, Aberford.

HALTON

It is stated that a start will be made with the tramway extension from the York Road terminus to Halton almost immediately.

The family of the late Mrs Rawling thank all friends for their kind expressions of sympathy in their recent sad bereavement, also for wreaths and flowers sent, viz., High Street, Halton.—Adv. 1326

LORD HALIFAX AND HIS ONLY SON.—Lord Halifax, the Hon. E. L. Wood's father, addressed a meeting at Dodsworth on Saturday. He said the war was going to be a very tough

ROBIN HOOD.

The £3 14s. collected in the Hall-Way Field, Robin Hood, has been sent to the Infirmary.

ROUNDHAY

The Roundhay Bohemians have sent £2 10 to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

Lidgett Park Wesleyan Church has contributed £21 to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

The Alberton Masonic Lodge, Roundhay, has contributed £5 5s. to the Lord Mayor's Fund, per which the chief at The Hall, Roundhay, have given £10 10s.

Mr H. K. Woodcock, of Roundhay, who was recommended by the National Rifle Association and the Leeds University as an instructor in musketry, is now attached to the 7th Seaforth Highlanders, with Brigade, Aide-de-camp Colour-Sergeant Musketry Instructor.

EXAMINATION CLOSED.—Below the Registrar (Mr F. W. Gillington), at the Leeds Bankruptcy Court, on Tuesday, the case of Pale-thorpe, solicitor, of 7, Greek Street, Leeds, and Cuckoo-stone, Lidgett Park Road, Roundhay, again came up for public examination as a debtor. Mr Thorpe, for the debtor, said an arrangement had been made by which it was hoped to pay the creditors in full. The examination was closed.

MISSING.—Mr E. A. Brotherton, of Roundhay (Lord Mayor of London's secretary and intimation has been received that Lieutenant R. L. Ratcliffe, of the Prince of Wales's Own (1st West Yorkshire Regiment)—is missing. Lieutenant Ratcliffe, who is the eldest son of Harris-cliffe, who is the eldest son of Harris-cliffe, of Roundhay, and is therefore a brother-in-law of the Lady Mayoress. Lieutenant Ratcliffe was gazetted to Lieutenant two years ago. He went to France with other members of the Expeditionary Force.

AN EXPLOSION.—In the Harrogate district on Wednesday afternoon an accident which resulted in injuries to a boy named William Cattersee, aged thirteen, occurred. At about 4 p.m. the lad, along with several other boys, was playing on a disused clay quarry at Bilton Banks, on which there is a hut which has been used for storing explosives for blasting purposes. In some manner or other the lads got into the hut, and found there two detonators. One of these they placed on the ground, and threw stones at it. The packet suddenly exploded, and the boy Cattersee was injured in the face. His nose was cut, and he bruised and cut his eye. He was taken home, and Dr Begg was called in, ordering the boy's removal to the Infirmary. He was suffering from burns to both eyes.

SLAICROFT

OFFENCES.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Alton McLeod, a baker and pourer, of Leeds, was summoned for riding a bicycle along the York Road, Whinmoor, without a light, and was fined 1s. and costs.—Harry Lyth, a grocer's assistant, who was summoned for riding a bicycle without a light at the same place on Sunday, September 20th, was also fined 1s. and costs.

STOURTON

The Midland Railway staff (Stourton and Hunslet sidings) have sent £2 2s. to the (third) weekly contribution to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

Gaiety.—On Tuesday of the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions Samuel Hurst, labourer, of Hunslet, Charles Attle, labourer, Godfrey Gibson, pilleter, Albert Harris, pit hand, and Gilbert Jeffrey, labourer, of Stourton, were summoned for gaming with coins at Stourton on Sunday, September 27th. All the defendants appeared, with the exception of Jeffrey, who was represented by P.C. Sunday and Sergt. Matthews. fined 2s. 6d. and costs. The other defendants were fined 1s. and costs.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—The harvest festival services in connection with the Primitive Methodist Church during the week-end were well attended with great success. On Sunday afternoon an excellent sermon was preached by Mr. Jos. Lister and Mrs. Bedford rendered "Sing unto the Lord" very sweetly in the choir. In the evening the services for the Harvest were rendered by the augmented choir, under the conductorship of Mr. Bedford, and were admirably played by Mr. Masterton. Mr. H. Collinson presided over a good congregation. On Monday evening the choir gave a most enjoyable concert, the following items being rendered:—"The Farmer's Faith," Mr. A. E. Barrett; solo had charge of the singing, and Mr. J. Waterhouse was the accompanist. Recitations and readings were given by Mr. H. J. Sellers and Mr. Wm. Hall, pianoforte, presided. During the evening the fruit and vegetables which had been used for decoration purposes were sold.

WHITKIRK

On Saturday afternoon a match between St. Mary's football match with Kirkgate Excelsior, and the former won by four goals to three.

NO CONTROL.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday William Bottle, a young man, of Leeds, was charged for having in control of a horse by leaving it unattended. P.C. Taylor stated that about 3.40 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 21st, he saw the pony and trap, which had been left unattended by the defendant, at Holly-shaw Lane, Whitkirk. He waited beside it for about fifteen minutes until the defendant came out of the Auction Mart. A fine of 10s., including costs was imposed.

WOODLESFORD

GAMING.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Albert Jacques, Thomas Hardwick, Joseph Aveyard, and George Nash, miners, of Woodlesford, were summoned for gaming with coins at Woodlesford. Albert stated that about 11.45 p.m. on Saturday, September 19th, he was in Station Lane, Woodlesford, when he saw the four defendants, playing a game of pitch and toss under a lamp. The cards were in separate lots on a newspaper which had been spread out on the footpath. Witness went towards them, and when he got near them the defendants scrambled right on him, and they ran away. He subsequently caught Jacques, who said when he was told that he would be reported, "I had just one lucky card." Aveyard when spoken to said "I had nowt to gamble with." Nash said "It is hard luck; it is the first time I have played." Each of the defendants was fined 1s. and costs.

SIR F. MILNER AND THE WAR.—At a meeting for the purpose of promoting recruiting for Lord Kitchener's Army, held in the Drill Hall, Ferdinand Street (formerly of Nun Appleton) said no one had a greater horror of war than he had. He was essentially a peace man, but at the same time he was of opinion that if we were to have peace we must always be prepared for war. History had ever shown them that diplomacy had succeeded best when it had behind it a powerful Navy and efficient Army. He could not help saying that if we had paid greater heed to the warnings of that great British soldier, Lord Roberts, Germany might not have entered into the present war. Germany and Germany alone was responsible for this terrible war, which she was carrying on with a ferocity and a brutality that had scandalised Christendom. Germany placed a life that would last to eternity on her executioner.

A CARLTON SOLDIER WOUNDED.

A YORKSHIRE REGIMENT'S TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

GERMANS WON'T FACE THE BAYONET.

A Carlton lad—Private T. Wilson, of the 2nd K.O.Y.L.I., who is now in Stockhill Hospital, Glasgow, has been wounded whilst fighting for his country in France. Wilson is a native of Carlton, where his parents, who have now removed to Wakefield, resided for many years.

In a letter addressed to the "Courier and Times," the gallant soldier states:—

"I dare say you will have read all about the battle at Mons where the British lost so heavily. It was an awful day for our regiment, the Yorkshire Light Infantry. We took up a position on Wednesday, August 26th, at what they term trenches, where we awaited the advance of the Germans. About 6 o'clock firing commenced by our artillery. Perhaps they had been at it about an hour when the shells began to fall over our heads, of our own artillery behind us.

"Witnesses began to get very hot for us round our trenches, but still we wouldn't retire. We had to stop there, within five yards of us. We were under the awful fire of machine guns and big guns for over eight hours, waiting for them to come, but not a sign. At last the officer in charge ordered us which we would maintain them or in the trenches and be slaughtered, or run out and retire to what seemed certain death. We all chose the latter. We had to retire, leaving behind us our trenches to our savage German enemies.

"We jumped out of the trenches and ran for our lives, and we ran for a good few that I have been for a soldier to experience.

"My lucky star was not that day. Bullets flew over my head and over under my arms, but I was not touched. I was one of the fortunates I was not lucky, because when the roll call was called there were 685 men, killed, wounded, and missing, and 17 officers killed, 3 wounded, and 2 missing. Such was the luck of a good old Yorkshire regiment at Mons.

"The Germans suffered terribly that day. Although we retired. There were 25,000 British picked against 250,000 Germans.

"I have through a few more engagements without scratch until the battle of The Marne, when we gave them a terrible thrashing, but I was struck down with a German shell and got in the way of my knee, and I am now out of action in Glasgow.

"In closing I will say this about the Germans. They will face the French women and children, but they won't face a good old British bayonet charge."

NAVY AND KAISER BILL.

"HE REFUSES TO BE ENTERTAINED."

Mr George Padgett, chief electrician of H.M.S. Achilles, who will be remembered in this district as one who superintended the laying of the tram lines between Leeds and Wakefield, relates of his experiences with the Fleet as follows:—

"I suppose you are anxiously waiting to hear what we are doing. At times I should like to know myself. The Kaiser's boast when Bill and his Navy don't intend having any truck with us. We have several times invited him out, but nothing doing; he refuses to be entertained. We have had plenty of sprits, and really having a good time. Instead of bedtime coming once in twenty-four hours and getting over a lump, it comes once a day and sometimes twice, and quite a night, once or two of all. Plenty of the best Queensland canned remounts and an occasional gorge of prime salt pork, which above would see the German Navy off.

"The majority of us would like three yards of cargo to pack our kits in. Uniforms, and our kits have more entrances than one, but we slide through it all. I don't think this is going to be a long war. Our fellows with the Army seem to be making a most offensive move and when once the Germans have to retreat they will do it at a great sacrifice.

"Whatever their sacrifice is it will never compensate gallant little Belgium, and if I have one spark of fire left you can reckon on a one-ers, each one of you.

"But in spite of my jokes I shall be glad when it is over, for it is really very trying times for us all. But duty must be done. It was done by our forefathers, the fruits of which we have enjoyed, and now we must do the same for our children, even at a great sacrifice. It's grand to read of the response of everybody in every part of the loyalty of our Dominions, and the readiness."

SUCCESS.—Master E. R. Foster, aged 12 years, pupil of the Kirk Fenton Parish School, has gained two scholarships at the Tadcaster Grammar School, and the prizes were held on the 5th and the 23rd September.

The following amounts have been sent from Collingham to the Belgian Relief Fund:—Boby Wilson, 1s.; Mavis Allison, 1s.; C. Allison, 1s.; Harold Allison, 1s.; Mabel Allison, 1s.; and Uncle Percy Christie, Collingham, 1s.

MINSTHORPE RIFLE CLUB.—The members of the Monk Fryston Miniature Rifle Club commenced operations on Saturday evening last, when opened in an old quarry belonging to the Rev. B. Hemsworth, M.A. The latter was present at the opening, and, in a short speech, expressed the hope that nothing should happen to cause annoyance to anyone in the district. Fifteen members were present, and during the afternoon 365 shots were fired.

MASTER AND SERVANT CASE.—On Saturday at the Eastern Ainsty Petty Sessions at York Hanby Taylor, farmer, of Scarcroft, was summoned by William Taylor, labourer, of York, under the Employers' and Workmen's Act, for the sum of £4. Mr A. E. Wilster appeared for the defendant. The complainant stated he worked for defendant for ten weeks without receiving any wages, but defendant had bought him a suit of clothes. On entering his service defendant said he would pay him 10s. per week. Cross-examined by Mr Wilster, witness said he did light and heavy work, and defendant provided him with lodgings, food, tobacco, and two pints of ale a day. He never received three pints of beer from defendant. He did not say he would work for his meals. William Henry Wiley said complainant told him that he was working for his meals.—The Chairman: The Bench think this man would have been properly and justly treated if he was given more than his legal rights.—Mr Wilster, after consulting his client, said defendant would, as a gift, allow the complainant 10s.—The Chairman: We will dismiss the case then.

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

THE PRAYERS TAUGHT AT ROTHWELL.

SALART OF MASTER AND MATRON.

The fortnightly meeting of Hunslet Board of Guardians was held at the Union Offices, Hunslet, on Wednesday afternoon, Mr T. Thomas (Chairman) presiding. Others present were Messrs J. Gawtin, Dr. E. Groves, Rev. T. Cody, J. Butterick, T. G. Conyers, W. Schofield, J. K. Chappell, D. W. Hargreaves, W. A. Appleyard, W. Verity, J. Bannister, E. B. Pickersgill, H. T. Pullan, W. A. Lunn, W. Stead, J. W. Verity, G. W. Peary, and W. Hemingway, with the Clerk (Mr F. W. Meek).

CHILDREN'S HOMES.

The signatures of the Children's Homes Committee showed that its committee had under further consideration the question of painting, &c., required to be done at the Homes, and it was resolved that the Clerk be instructed to advertise for tenders and that the Board be recommended to authorise the committee to open and consider same.

A letter was received from the Bishop of Ripon respecting the prayers taught in the Rothwell Church Sunday School, stating that he thought it a matter to be dealt with privately between Mr Rice and himself, and had acted accordingly. The reply was considered unsatisfactory, and it was resolved that the Bishop of Ripon be asked for a definite reply to the complaints made to him.

HOUSE COMMITTEE.

At a meeting of the House Committee the master reported that six deaths had occurred in the Union during the fortnight.

The Clerk reported that he had only received one reply to four enquiries for offers for the Union and straw for the ensuing year. It was resolved that it be referred to the Farm Sub-Committee to consider, and advise as to the most suitable crops to be grown next year in order to obtain double the amount of food supplies. Also to consider the advisability of planting something useful on the land situated in the several airing courts.

The Clerk reported that an interview with Miss Gernard on the fifth September, when she expressed herself as unequal to resuming lectures next month or taking up again any of the duties of superintendent nurse. She intimated her willingness to resign at once if she can feel assured of a superannuation allowance. It was resolved that the offer of Miss Gernard to send in her resignation to take effect forthwith be accepted, and that the Board be recommended to pay to her the superannuation allowance (about £40 per annum) to which she may be entitled.

It was resolved that facilities be afforded as hitherto for suitable concerts to be given at the institution during the six months ending 31st March next, such concerts not being more frequent than once a month inclusive of the special Christmas entertainment and given on a suitable Thursday evening.

The minutes were passed.

NURSE'S RESIGNATION.

A letter was read from Miss Gerrard, the superintendent nurse of the workhouse infirmary, tendering her resignation owing to general ill-health, and she assured the Board of its gratitude. The letter pointed out that she had held the position at the Workhouse since July 12th, 1901.

Mr Conyers, chairman of the House Committee, moved that the Board accept the resignation with regret. Personally, he said, he was very sorry. She was an old servant, and it was coming to advancing age that she had been obliged to take the step she had done. Mr Appleyard seconded, and the resolution was carried.

SALARY OF MASTER AND MATRON.

A letter was read from the master and matron asking for an increase of their respective salaries, on the grounds that several of the indoor officers had had their wages increased by the Board, and that he and his wife had served under the Board for about six years.

In answer to a question the Clerk said that the present salary of the master was £70 per year, and that of the matron £40.

Mr Lunn moved that the matter go to the House Committee.

Father Cody seconded and said he thought if only fair that consideration should be shown to the master and matron, seeing that other officers had had their salaries increased.

Mr J. Butterick, in moving an amendment that the letter be allowed to lie upon the table, said he thought it a most inopportune time to raise the salaries of permanent officials.

Mr Schofield seconded, and on a vote being taken the amendment was lost, the resolution that the matter be referred to the House Committee being carried.

IN CONSEQUENCE OF THE WAR.

With regard to the proposal of the Guardians to offer a number of beds in their institution to the War Office for the sick and wounded, a letter from the Local Government Board stating that they appreciated the good intentions, but they were not prepared to give their assent.

A letter was read from the War Office acknowledging the offer of the Guardians.

The Clerk also read a letter from the Doncaster Union asking if the Guardians could supply spare accommodation for any of their inmates, as it was proposed by the military authorities that the institution be set aside for military purposes. The Clerk said that, after conferring with the Chairman of the Board, and the chairman of the House Committee, he had made an offer to the Doncaster Union to take in a number of their inmates. Since then he had seen that the Doncaster Guardians were trying to persuade the military authorities not to press them. However, should the military authorities make the demand, he should wire to the Doncaster Guardians for them to send on the number according to the offer.

Mr Pickersgill urged that the Board press the Local Government Board for sanction to utilise their spare accommodation for any purpose, and this was agreed to.

PRINCE OF WALES AND SELBY SUPPORT.—A letter from Mr Walter Peacock, treasurer to his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, received by the hon. sec. to the Selby District War Relief Fund. The letter states that his Royal Highness desires to express his gratification at the success attending the efforts of the committee, and wishes to convey to all the subscribers who are so generously responding to the appeal his warmest thanks for their kindness. His Royal Highness, the letter continues, is following as closely as possible the degrees of trade depression existing in the different parts of the country.

FAMOUS HOUSE FOR ENGAGEMENT RINGS
£1/1/ £3/3/ £5/5/ £10/10/
to £100 each.
SEE WINDOWS
Diamonds
BEST SELECTION IN THE COUNTY.
Dyson's
23 YEARS. 5 YEARS.
24.25.26
BRIGGATE.
LEEDS.
Watches
10/6 TO £50 GUINEAS.
THE ROUGHWEAR 15/-
THE UNIVERSITY 30/-
OLD WATCHES & JEWELLERY TAKEN IN EXCHANGE.
RELIABLE HOUSE FOR REPAIRS.

Russell & Russell, Ltd.
(Late A. C. WAINSTALL),
Complete House Furnishers and Piano Dealers,
201-3-5, North Street, LEEDS.
ILLUSTRATED BOOKLET and Easy Payment Terms sent on receipt of a Postcard.

40 FOR 6d EGGS
COVERDALE'S Egg-Producing
POULTRY POWDER
In the best Poultry Tonic on the market, and its use ensures WINTER LAYERS.
From none at all to 40 Eggs a week.
Thurston, near Driffield.
Dear Sirs,—My hens had not laid a single egg for more than a month, but the 1/6 packet of Poultry Powder you sent me has worked wonders. They are already laying 30 eggs a week, and increasing. I will certainly use it and recommend it.—Yours truly, J. LUND.
Sold in Packets 8d., 1/3, 2/-, and 3/9, post free, including a 96-page Booklet on "Profitable Poultry Keeping."
Coverdale's Poultry Powder, Ltd., York.
Agents—G. N. MOON, Grocer, etc., East Keswick, Wetherby, Aberford, Thorner, Crossgates, Tadcaster, South Milford, Barwick-in-Elmet, Boston Spa, Bramham, and Roundhay; W. H. SMITH & SON, 163, Headrow, Leeds; T. B. SMITH & SON, Gorforth; Mrs HUNT, High street, Tadcaster; G. HARGRAVE, Grocer Saxton; J. HIRST & Co., 279, Hunslet Road, Leeds; and DUNN & Co.'s Branches.

ESTABLISHED 1871.
Ison's Eye & Ear Dispensary
LIMITED.
71, GREAT GEORGE ST., LEEDS
MR. THOS. ISON,
OCULIST and AURIST.
THIS INSTITUTION WAS ESTABLISHED in 1871. The system of working is the prevident one, eight patients paying a small periodical fee whilst under treatment, and they may, therefore, justly expect to receive the prompt care and attention which so many instances in charitable institutions is too often omitted. The treatment is of a mild and safe character, without operation or the use of Ear Drums, Ear Cornets or other mechanical or painful appliances. Another advantage appertaining to this dispensary is its system of treatment by correspondence, by which sufferers at long distances, and in isolated positions can have the advantage of Mr ISON'S advice and remedies forwarded through the post. No case is undertaken unless there be a reasonable hope of cure or benefit in the first instance.
Attendance at Leeds every Tuesday, from 10 to 7
On Alternate Saturdays, October 3rd and 17th.
Huddersfield, October 9th.
Hours 10 to 7. Other days by appointment.
TREATMENT WITHOUT OPERATION.
ARTIFICIAL HUMAN EYES fitted from 15s.
SPECTACLES and EYE PRESERVERS, 3/6 to 10/6. Gold Frames from 25s.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—There are many cases of failing eyesight which can be speedily remedied by mild local treatment, thus dispensing with the use of glasses.

EDMUND BOGG,
3, Woodhouse Lane, Leeds.
is the best shop for
PICTURE FRAMING, RE-GILDING, AND ARTISTS' MATERIALS.
Large Stock of Engravings & Etchings on Sale.

TEMPLENEWSAM TOWN-PLANNING SCHEME

INTERESTING CONFERENCE AT HALTON.

PROPERTY OWNERS' QUESTIONS.

A special meeting for the purpose of hearing the views of owners of property affected by the Templenewsam Town-planning Scheme was held at the Parochial Hall, Halton, on Wednesday morning. Mr T. Thomas (Chairman of the Hunslet Rural District Council) presided, and he was supported by Messrs P. S. Marsden and W. Verity, along with the Clerk (Mr W. B. Pindar). From the Leeds Corporation were Mr Pullan, representing the Town Clerk; and Messrs Longbottom and Lonsdale, Engineer's Department. Representing the Hon. E. L. Wood, M.P., was Mr J. Farrar, J.P.; and others present were Mr J. W. Morkill, J.P., who owns property in the area, and Mr Godfrey.

The Chairman said—It is now just over 18 months since you were first invited to meet the Council to consider a proposal to make a town planning scheme for the area outlined on the map before you. The Council were much gratified on that occasion to receive your unanimous approval of the proposal, and they have spent a great deal of time and consideration in working out the details of the scheme which is now submitted, and on which they invite your views. May I take this opportunity of saying how much we are indebted, in preparing the scheme, to the assistance of Mr Farrer, who represents the principal landowner, and has taken a very active interest in the proceedings from the start. Also I should like to thank the Town Clerk of Leeds and the City Engineer for the very courteous manner in which they have at all times been ready to assist us, and for several practical suggestions they have made. If you will look at the map you will see that the scheme provides for the construction of 14 roads. The principal road is road No. 1, leading from Holbeck Hill by way of Primrose Lane to the Selby Road at Whitkirk. This roads practically bisects the area, and is intended to form an alternative route to the Selby Road for through traffic, and to assist in future development. It is proposed to make this road 55 feet wide. Road No. 2 is an arm branching off from road No. 1 at the top of Morrell Avenue, and leading to Crossgates Station. The need for an improved road to the station is generally admitted, and it is proposed to make this road 45 feet wide. Road No. 3 is also a road leading to the Railway Station from Whitkirk. This road will be 45 feet wide, and will be constructed with an even gradient throughout, enabling traffic to avoid the difficult and narrow road called Hollyshaw Lane. Road No. 4 is a continuation of road No. 2 to meet Cross Green Lane, 45 feet wide, and with the construction of this road it is proposed to do away with the very awkward turning in the existing highway. Road No. 5 is a continuation of Wilfred Avenue, 36 feet wide, to meet the Selby Road. No. 6 is a short branch, 36 feet wide, connecting Primrose Lane with road No. 1. Nos. 7, 8, 9, and 10 are extensions of existing streets at Whitkirk, all 36 feet wide, to meet road No. 3. Nos. 11 and 12 are 36 feet wide, and are intended to assist in developing the land in the south-east corner of the area. No. 13 is simply an extension of road No. 3 to meet the Selby Road. No. 14 is intended to link up the area with a new road through Osmondthorpe contemplated by the Leeds Corporation. The proposed width of this road is 60 feet. No. 15 is 36 feet wide, and is intended to form a means of communication between the area and the land on the south side thereof. Three other roads will be proposed by the Council, though they do not appear on the map. They are (1) A short extension of Hollyshaw Grove to meet road No. 3. (2) A road on the west of field No. 124 near the Cemetery, 55 feet wide, intended to communicate with the land on the south side of the area. (3) A road leading from the Selby Road in the direction of the Seacroft sewerage works.

In dividing the area into sites on which different classes of buildings may be erected, the Council had regard to the fact that the district is principally residential. In the area edged yellow it is proposed that the number of houses per acre shall not be more than eight, and in the area edged blue the number may be 14 per acre. Shops may be erected on the sites hatched yellow, and these are generally along the south of the main road. The land intended to be reserved for public open spaces is coloured green, and land reserved for allotments is coloured grey. Factories may be erected on the land hatched green, and public buildings on the land coloured purple. Any suggestions which the owners have to make with regard to the proposals will be most carefully considered by the Council before finally deciding on the scheme which they will submit to the Local Government Board, and a local inquiry will be held by the Board at which any person interested who feels himself in any way aggrieved by the Council's proposals will have the right to appear and urge his objections.

Mr J. W. Morkill remarked upon the reservation of certain portions for open spaces, and asked how the owner would stand in regard to them. Was it proposed to purchase the land from him, or was it proposed that he should give it?

The Clerk: If the owner is prepared to set apart the land as public open spaces he will obtain in return for that certain advantages in the scheme, and probably it will be a matter for bargaining between the Council and the owner for the purchase of the land.

Mr Farrer: Does any owner actually hind himself by the scheme to-day?

The Clerk: This meeting is more in the nature of a conference at which the Council desire to ascertain the views of the owners as to the scheme. This was not necessarily the final scheme to be presented to the Local Government Board, as if any suggestions which might be made were approved of by the Council, they would be embodied in the plan.

Mr Morkill: Suppose we don't assent to the proposals, are we bound to accept them when the final scheme comes before us?

The Clerk: We are not asking you to assent to the scheme to-day, only to discuss it.

Mr Morkill: With regard to the land for new roads, is that to be obtained from owners or is it for them to give it?

The Clerk: As a rule, the land required for a road would be given by the owner in return for the improvement which the construction would make for his estate.

Mr Morkill: If he gives the land who is to make the road?

The Clerk: The road up to an extent of 36 feet will be made at the cost of the owner, and the rest will be made by the Council. The Clerk added that the Road Board would not give a grant except for a main road.

Mr Morkill said he did not consider it fair, as it was no small matter for an owner to give the land and to pay for the construction of the road.

The Clerk: The owner would not have to pay for it all at once. If the road was constructed at once the owner would only be called upon to pay his share of the 36 feet width as buildings were erected and not before. He would only have to pay as the land was developed.

Mr Morkill said he would be prepared to sell the land for a more reasonable price for improvement than he would for the purpose of building.

Mr Farrar: Has the owner a right to give the land?

The Clerk: If the taking of the land injures the owner he is entitled to compensation.

Mr Morkill: A rate should be made to find everyone alike. The small owner might be in a difficult position in comparison to the large owner who could give the land.

Mr Farrar said he was not there to propose anything, as he would like some time to consider the scheme, although at present he was not opposed to it.

Mr Morkill: Like Mr Farrar, I am not opposed to it, yet I should like to consider it further.

The Clerk said probably owners would benefit to a great extent by avoiding back streets to the houses.

On behalf of Leeds Corporation Mr Pullan said the Corporation appreciated the way the Rural District Council had received their criticism in regard to the scheme, and assured them that in regard to the matter they had a friendly interest, and desired to carry out their scheme on a satisfactory basis. There would probably be three points on which the Corporation would like to meet the Council. The first was with regard to the main road. Another question was with regard to Hollyshaw Lane, and the third in connection with a road alongside the railway in connection with the scheme of the Corporation. The Corporation, he added, wished to adopt as friendly an attitude as possible.

The Clerk said that with regard to the points, the Council had very carefully considered them, and, with the exception of the proposed main road from the Selby Road, he thought his Council were pretty well in accord with the suggestions which the Corporation had made.

MANUFACTURE OF EXPLOSIVES AT STOURTON.

APPLICATION TO SKYRACK MAGISTRATES.

A REFUSAL—WILL THE WAR OFFICE INTERVENE?

A special sitting of justices for the Skyrack Division of the West Riding was held in Leeds on Monday to consider an application by Messrs Brotherton and Co., ammonia and tar distillers, for a licence to manufacture explosives at the Stourton Chemical Works, Rothwell Haigh. A similar application was made in July of last year, but no decision was then arrived at, the application being eventually withdrawn.

Mr Arthur Willey now appeared to renew the application, and he was opposed by Mr C. Scriven of the Yorkshire Copper Works, Limited, by Mr R. B. Hopkins (for the Aire and Calder Navigation Company), and by Mr Armitage, instructed by Mr Dodgson (for the Rothwell Urban Council).

Mr Willey said the applicants desired to manufacture picric acid. Since the case was last before the Court national circumstances had changed, and it was now absolutely necessary that large quantities of this explosive should be made somewhere, and made at once.

Mr Scriven: You will prove this?

Mr Willey: Oh, certainly. The War Office desire this material, and they must have it. A draft licence for this site has been issued by the Home Office, and if this application were refused the Home Office would hold an inquiry into whether the refusal was justified or not. I do not wish to minimise or challenge this Bench in any way, but if leave is not now given the War Office say they will make this picric acid at Stourton under the charge of one of their own officials. And, after all, the War Office can do pretty well as they like in the present emergency. Mr Brotherton, however, would like to proceed, if possible, with the full concurrence of the Bench of justices.

Mr Thomas Fairley, city analyst of Leeds, gave it as his opinion that the manufacture of picric acid could be carried out on the Stourton site without danger to the canal, copper works, or any other property in the area.

Cross-examined by Mr Scriven, the witness said a wall would divide the dry from the wet picric acid. It was possible that with an explosion of the dry acid the wet would go as well. Picric acid itself was an explosive, and the manufacture of picric acid in its wet state was already going on there. A year ago a sheet about two yards square was put down on the site, and a small shed. It remained there a week, and of the deposit under one per cent. consisted of copper.

Mr Hopkins, for the Aire and Calder Co., objected from Mr Fairley the admission that an explosion of five hundred pounds of picric acid would be like the bursting of fifty bombs.

Evidence was given by Mr H. Pickard, engineer, of the Aire and Calder Navigation, and Mr W. F. Reid, consulting chemist, of London. Mr Pickard urged that an explosion might cause the banks of the adjoining canal to break, thus liberating water for a stretch of two miles and three furlongs. It would take fully six months to repair such a breach, and in the meantime Leeds would be cut off from water traffic altogether.

Mr Reid considered that the proposed sheds were too near to other buildings, that the site was dangerous because of the close proximity of the copper works, that deposits of copper arising might form oxidising agents, and that, in fact, the limit within which the sheds would be built were very much charged with metallic oxides. There was also danger from the lime deposits on the site of the proposed sheds.

Mr Scriven emphasised the damage which would be wrought to the copper works in case of an explosion, and urged that the site was most unsuitable.

After a lengthy hearing, the Bench refused the application, on the ground that the site was dangerous.

It is stated that the Home Office will now be asked to grant a licence. Should they refuse to do so, it is possible for the manufacture of picric acid to be carried on at Stourton, or anywhere else, by the sanction of the War Office, and under the superintendence of one of their own officials. The acid is used in the making of lyddite shells, and large quantities are required by the British Government and our Allies.

STOURTON

FOOTBALL.—On Saturday afternoon Stourton United were defeated by Rothwell W.R. by two goals to nil. Stourton Athletic and West Hunslet Amateurs played a drawn game of three goals each.

CORRESPONDENCH.

CHURCH FENTON CRICKET CLUBS

To the Editor.

Sir,—I am sorry your Sycamore correspondent has not told us what constitutes a Fentonite the Fentonian, nor does he tell us why he used the insinuating words complained of.

If, as I hold, "residency" is a sufficient qualification for the title, then the members of the Church Fenton Club may feel doubly proud (if it is a thing to be proud of), in that the club has up to the present played more such men than has the Sycamore. Now, if your correspondent will openly state that the members of the Church Fenton Club are as fully entitled to be termed Fentonites or Fentonians as are the members of the Sycamore Club then I am willingly withdraw the accusation made.—Yours, etc.,

A. B. HOLDERNESS.
Hon. Sec., Church Fenton Club.

A SUGGESTION TO FARMERS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—As the question of unemployment may become acute during the coming winter, will you allow me a little of your valuable space to indicate a practical method of solving the problem, at least so far as the land is concerned.

In Great Britain alone there are over eleven million acres of arable land devoted to the production of cereals, root crops, cabbage crops, peas, beans, &c., and it may be safely said that practically the whole of the 11,000,000 acres are turned over with the plough. This is chiefly because agriculturists are under the impression that ploughing is the best and most economical method. As a matter of fact, ordinary ploughing is one of the most costly and most deceptive methods of cultivation. Would it not, therefore, be the height of wisdom—especially at this critical period in our national history—to substitute, in as possible, the superior method of cultivation by the spade?

Most people will probably consider this a mammoth task, and will be appalled at the idea of turning over more than absorb all the profits from the land. Such, however, is not the case.

The plough merely turns over roughly four or five inches of the crust at a cost of 15s. to 25s. per acre, while the spade or fork will not only break up the soil to a depth of about twelve inches, but will also bring about a much finer tilth, at a cost of 40s. to 55s. per acre.

The result (provided, of course, that crops have not been so crowded as to become suffocated later on), is that two, three, and often four times more produce can be secured from dug land than from ploughed land. This important extra 60 of labour would be more than met by the heavier and better crops; and there would be the advantage of having the soil in a deeper, better, and more fertile condition for the succeeding crops. In addition to this, dug land is always freer than ploughed land from insects, pests, and weeds, an important item not to be overlooked.

Assuming that one man can dig an acre of land in sixteen days (or, in other words, sixteen men can dig an acre in one day), it is not difficult to see that a vast army would be required during the winter months to dig the eleven million acres of arable land in Great Britain, and thus make them yield crops that can never be obtained by ordinary ploughing.—Yours, etc.,

JOHN WEATMAN.

Park View, Isleworth, W.

PREMATURE BURIAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—With reference to a sudden death reported in your issue of the 18th Sept., may I say that of all existing organisations none, from a humane point of view, is more important than that for the prevention of burying people alive. To those who doubt the existence of the facts, and to others who are sceptical as to the existence of trance, catalepsy, or other death simulacra, sometimes known as human automatism, such a movement appears unnecessary, Utopian, and a waste of energy. On the other hand, those who have carefully examined the evidence brought together by numerous authorities, including medical men, hospital surgeons, and scientific observers, lose their scepticism in the amount of cumulative evidence which bests the path of their researches. Surveys ranging from Scandinavia, Germany, and Russia, to Spain, Portugal, Italy, Russia, and Turkey, where exposure and death is frequently followed by prompt burial than in these islands), the discoveries often being accidentally made during the preparations for the funeral. It may be reasonably inferred that in those cases that some, if not many, do not escape, and are buried whilst in a state of suspended animation. This catastrophe is most likely to occur on the battlefield, and it is much to be feared that many a soldier is buried alive.

Every session the Association for the Prevention of Premature Burial presents a Bill to Parliament to prevent these terrible tragedies by requiring the proper certification, unexpiring, and dangerous system of death examination and certification. Free literature on this momentous subject will be sent on receipt of a stamped addressed envelope. Thanking you in anticipation of your customary courtesy and kindness.—Yours, etc.,

JAS. R. WILLIAMSON.
100, Cheddington Road, Upper Edmonton, London, N., 24th Sept., 1914.

RAPHAEL'S MADONNA MODEL.

Raphael's model for his famous Madonna was a baker's daughter named Fornarina. The famous artist fell in love with La Fornarina, but her father objected to the girl posing, we are told by Dr. A. S. Rappoport, in "Famous Artists and Their Models" (Stanley Paul and Co.).

"Raphael understood, as soon as he had set eyes on the lovely daughter of the Fornarino, that he would have to win her, or else the necessary model would for ever be lost to the artist, more also than his mind to have her. Being unable to break the obstinacy of the Signor Fornarino, Raphael decided to address himself to Pope Leo X., and to ask the Holy Father to interfere on the artist's behalf, for the holy sake of art. The Pope knew too well what such a beautiful model would for the brush of Raphael and the world of art, Leo X., the noble Prince of Medici, the cultured, the refined, from the height of his infallibility the head of Christendom granted the request of the prince of artists. No Roman, no devout Catholic, would dare to disobey a wish expressed by the Holy Father, for, to the pious the Pope's wish was equal to a command. Leo X. sent a line to the Fornarino, and at once all the latter's scruples vanished. The Holy Father had spoken, and the girl was allowed to go to the atelier of Raphael."

NEWS OF THE WEEK

Over 27,000 men have been enrolled in Lord Kitchener's Army in Birmingham.

There are four brothers named Nisbeth in the Bavarian army, and all are royal Jews.

Lord Kitchener has accepted an invitation to become Rector of Edinburgh University.

Bishop Blyth, who since 1887 has been the Anglican Bishop of Jerusalem, has resigned.

The Queen has given two hundred yards of dress material to the wives of soldiers at Aldershot.

Nine postmen have joined the Army from Pontefract, and letters are being delivered by Boy Scouts.

A Dutch committee has been formed at the Hague for the purpose of restoring the library of Louvain.

James Johnson, a young man, was fined 40s. and costs at Barrow-in-Furness for being drunk in charge of a loaded motor-car.

Out of a scattered population of 200 the little village of Dove Holes, near Buxton, Derbyshire, has sent thirty to join the colours.

The number of applications for necessitous children at Hull has increased since the outbreak of the war from 1,000 to 10,000 per week.

The Russian Minister of the Interior has published the figures of the Russian harvest, which show a return of more than four thousand million poods.

The orders for military clothing which have been placed in Walsall are of so extensive a character that they will take, it is stated, more than six months to complete.

Fred Kears, a farmer, was at Grimsby, on Monday, charged with making a false declaration, and was sentenced to three months' imprisonment and hard labour.

It is definitely stated in northern shipping ports that alien enemies on our coasts are systematically making the German fleets acquainted with the movements of British shipping.

Michael Schwartz, of Oberauben, President of the Socialist Unions in Bavaria, has been given the Iron Cross for bravery. He is the first German Socialist to be decorated by the Kaiser.

Joseph White, a retired lieutenant of the Royal Navy, and his daughter Clara Cecilia were remanded at Chatham on a charge of housebreaking and theft from a neighbour at Chatham.

At the inquiry on Monday into the death of General Delarey, the constable who fired the fatal shot stated that he fired at the right wheel of the motor-car, with the intention of bursting the tyre.

Mr and Mrs Thomas Thorpe, of Weeland Cottages, Pontefract, have 5 family record, for of their eight sons seven are serving in the Army, the eighth, aged fifteen, being too young for enlistment.

A British private in Marseilles says we owe our efficiency in the field to our superior feeding. Our men go into battle as fit as possible. Every detail of commissariat is perfect, even down to the marmalade.

The Imperial Merchant Service Guild have raised £7,500 to be used for the relief of seamen and officers and their dependents in occasional circumstances arising out of service in merchant ships during the war.

A Territorial despatch rider named Lowell Jones was shot dead by a sentry at Little Crosby, near Liverpool, on Monday, probably through the noise of his motor-cycle, did not apparently hear the sentry's challenge.

A young Belgian woman while going through a trapeze performance at a Belgian hippodrome on Saturday evening fell and suffered injuries from which she died. Her companion escaped with slight injuries.

Councillor William Cartledge, the son of a farm labourer, and himself in early life a farm servant, has been selected by the Liberal members of the Blackburn Town Council as their nominee for the mayoralty.

Whilst two soldiers were examining a rifle on the Bisley ranges, on Surrey Day, one day, the weapon went off, and the bullet passed through the body of a mason named William Foster, who died in a few minutes.

A coastguard named MacLeod was fatally bayonetted by a sentry at a signal station near North Berwick, the soldier mistaking him on one enemy. The sentry is now undergoing a watch when the sentry ran him through.

Although no decision has, apparently, been arrived at, it is believed that the new Irish Parliament reassembles there will be no State ceremony. Should this prove correct the new session will be inaugurated by Lords Commissioners.

The coal contracts for the Danish State railways have been allotted between the Northumberland and Scottish mines. Contracts to the extent of 40,000 tons have been placed in Northumberland, and in Scotland to the extent of 60,000 tons.

The famous Austrian violinist, Fritz Kreisler, who is a lieutenant in the Landsturm, has been wounded in the right arm. The surgeons dare that a complete cure can be effected. Kreisler, who is suffering from neuritis, was fighting in Galicia.

Ruth Armitage, twenty-six, widow, of Wakefield Road, Almondbury, Huddersfield, was found by her son, on Monday, dead on the heathrug in front of the fire in her home at Fenay Bridge. About six weeks ago she had a seizure which had affected her left side.

A verdict of "Felo de se" was returned at an inquest held on Monday on John E. Pfeiffer, assistant-manager of the Holborn Viaduct Hotel. It was stated that the deceased spoke Russian, German, French, and Swedish fluently, and had never been known to smile.

Karl Gustav Ernst (42), hairdresser, has been remanded at Bow Street Police Court on the charge of obtaining and communicating the formation calculated to be useful to the enemy. Extraordinary allegations were made of an organised system of espionage.

A verdict of "Death from misadventure" was returned at an inquest in London on Giovanni Maria Palmi, the well-known business manager of the Gaiety Theatre, who died on the 18th from financially embarrassed by the war, and to induce sleep had taken an overdose of veronal.

Sir Edgar Gilbert, C.B., principal of the Ulster Unionist Council meeting on Monday, at Belfast, said that when the war was over he intended to raise a force of 100,000 men. Provisional Government, whose first act would be, if necessary, to repeal the Home Rule Act as regarded Ulster.

Despite his age, over 70 years, Sergeant Mawson, of Knaresborough, still maintains a fine soldierly bearing. He has enrolled about 100 men, and 30 of these have joined the Colours. A recruiting sergeant thousands of recruits passed through his hands in the chief West Riding towns, including no fewer than 1,000 in Leeds alone.

A little story from Brussels affords some comfort under the present circumstances. Before the Germans occupied Brussels, the Government, as is known, was transferred to Antwerp, and the Burgomaster of the capital, who stayed on to look after the interests of the inhabitants, wrote upon the door of one of the closed buildings:—"Belgium closed pending an extension of premises."

The seed crushing merchants of Hull have sent in a protest against the holding of the Hull Pleasure Fair this year, holding the view that Hull is in the danger zone and that the brilliant lights of the Fair might attract the airships of the enemy. The Corporation Committee reply that the military authorities have been consulted and no objection has been raised, and it has been decided to hold the Fair as usual.

Four brothers named Murfield, natives of Whitby, who were on H.M.S. Hogue, were saved.

Jane Clementson, aged seven, has been killed by a motor car in Clayton Street, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

Mr. Bridlington Guardians on Saturday decided to supply the Workhouse inmates with war newspapers.

A patriotic concert organised by Madame Melba at Sydney, proved a brilliant success, realising over £1,800.

A soldier of the Scottish Rifles, Patrick Foley was run over and killed by a motor bus at Farnham on Saturday night.

Colonel Hughes, Minister of Militia at Quebec, has resigned office in order to go to the front with the Canadian contingent.

It is authoritatively stated that some nine hundred French Roman Catholic priests are serving as privates in the French army.

The Johannesburg Chamber of Mines has given a donation of £30,000 for the provision of a Union of South Africa hospital ship.

John Wilson (59) and Catherine Dignall or Wilson (47), his wife, were burnt to death in a fire at a tenement at Balgrayhark Street, Glasgow.

The grand stand and pavilion on the Clyde Football Club's ground at Glasgow were on Monday destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at £3,000.

Private George Cheetham, of Owlergrave Road, Darnall, Sheffield, on Friday very pluckily saved a child from drowning in the River Foss at York.

A Wombwell miner, Pat McGowan (23), was fatally injured by being knocked down by a motor bus, driven by J. W. Charlton, on Saturday night.

An Austrian named John Verdos was at Nottingham, on Monday, sentenced to two months' imprisonment for giving false information as to his place of residence.

By the sale of Union Jacks and flags of the Allies in the streets of Grimsby on Saturday, £1,000 was raised for the National Relief Fund. The effort was promoted by local journalists.

At Nottingham a Socialist orator named Arthur Lewis Cox was bound over to be of good behaviour for six months for using seditious language tending to create a breach of the peace.

George Newton Spencer, a shipping clerk employed by a Hamburg firm, was remanded at the Guildhall, London, on Monday, on a charge of unlawfully inciting a person to trade with the enemy.

The Government has placed with the chief firms of High Wycombe an order for 47,000 chairs and 4,000 stools, the total value of which is about £70,000. Another order is for two million seat pegs.

Mr Daniel Meyer, who for three years has been Mayor of Bexhill, has resigned office. He is a German by birth, and a naturalised British subject, but he thinks the town should have a Mayor who is British born.

The war census of Paris shows that the number of households is 701,000, as compared with 762,434 in 1911. The actual population numbers 4,867,944. Of the total population 940,087 are women and 272,471 children.

An open verdict was returned at an inquest at Ilford, on a young labourer named Arthur Stale, of Brook Street, Rastrick, whose body cut in two was found near a public level crossing at Waterhouse sidings, Ilford, on Sunday night.

EVERY WOMAN
Should send two stamps for our 32 page Illustrated Book, containing Valuable information about all irregularities and Suppressions may be entirely avoided or removed by simple means. Recommended by eminent Physicians, as the only Safe, Sure, and Genuine Remedy. Name Facts. Thousands of Testimonials. Established 1862.
Mr PAUL BLANCHARD,
Chemical House, Dudden Lane, London.

Telephone No. 1129.

RHODES & SONS,

Commercial and General Printers
Lithographers, .
Bookbinders, &c.

ORDERS BY POST OR TELEPHONE PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

Magazines, Periodicals, &c., Bound to any Pattern.

2 AIRE STREET LEEDS.

Posters,
Handbills,
Circulars,
Business Cards,
Balance Sheets,
Fixture Cards,
Catalogues,
Ball Programmes
and . .
Every description
of . .
General and Commercial
Printing.

CARE OF POLISHED FURNITURE.

Polished furniture is best preserved by washing it occasionally with a little clear warm water and drying it with a linen cloth and never applying furniture polish until it has been thus treated. Of course, hot vessels and hot dishes should never be placed on polished wood surfaces. An unsightly white mark is the result of such carelessness. Prevention is better than cure, but the white mark can be cured by rubbing it with a rag damp with whisky, and as soon as the mark has disappeared, rubbing the part thoroughly with another rag soaked with linseed oil.

TO REMOVE THE SMELL OF ONIONS.

Nothing smells so disagreeable as the odour left on the hands after peeling onions. An effectual way to remove this is to rub the hands thoroughly with mustard, and then afterwards washing them with soap and hot water and rinsing well.

HARVEST DRINKS.

GINGER BEER.—Ten pounds of loaf sugar, six ounces of powdered ginger, six gallons of water, ten lemons, half a teacupful of yeast, two slices of toasted bread. Boil the sugar and ginger in water for one hour. When it is cold, add the juice and peel of lemons, also yeast on the toasted bread. Let it stand in a tub covered with a linen cloth for two or three days, then strain it through a thick cloth and bottle it. It will be ready to drink in four or five days after it is bottled.

BARLEY WATER.—Take four ounces of pearl barley and boil it in four quarts of water for several hours until the barley is quite soft, then strain it, and if too thick add boiling water until it looks like cream. Add sugar and lemon to taste. This is a very nourishing drink.

OATMEAL WATER.—In two quarts of cold water, put one pint of fine or coarse oatmeal and one pound of lump sugar. Boil for half an hour. Allow it to cool. Then, to the rind and juice of two lemons add one quart of boiling water; when cold, strain, and mix with the oatmeal previously boiled. This will be found a most refreshing and first-class drinking beverage. More cold water can be added if required.

LEMON DRINK.—One lemon, one pound of lump sugar, half an ounce of cream of tartar, quarter of an ounce of ginger, and a little tartaric acid. Pour one gallon of cold water on and let stand one night, then it is ready for straining. The above is a most refreshing drink and inexpensive.—Mark Lane Express.

CUSTARD.

A SUMMER PUDDING.—Over four tablespoonfuls of fine white breadcrumbs pour a pint of nearly boiling milk, and add a little butter and a good tablespoonful of sugar, or sweeten to taste. Leave it covered until cool, then mix in the yelks of two eggs, and a little more milk if too stiff to stir easily. Whip the whites to a firm froth and stir them lightly in. Add a little vanilla, turn it into a buttered pie-dish, and bake gently until it sets. Meanwhile, slowly stew either raspberries or red currants, or both, and serve them in a separate dish. Rice is also used as a good substitute for the rice or blancmange usually served with stewed fruit.

GRENADAINE.—Put in a piedish which very will no more than half fill mix together two tablespoonfuls of washed rice, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a little salt, and three teacupfuls (about one pint) of nearly boiling milk. Bake it in a slow oven for about three hours, stirring the rice which will be most swollen and the milk absorbed. Remove the skin, on the rice place a close double layer of ripe, stoned greengages sprinkled with sugar. Cover closely with a greased paper pressed down by a flat dish, and return to the oven for about twenty minutes, or until the fruit begins to soften. Meanwhile beat two eggs, add rather more than two teacupfuls of milk, and sugar to make it fairly sweet. Pour the custard over the fruit, and bake slowly until set. When the rice is not too rich, it is equally good as a cold sweet.

[ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.]

THE DOUBLE CHANCE.

By J. S. FLETCHER

Author of "The Threshing Floor," "When Charles I. Was King," "Daniel Quayne," "The Firebird," &c.

CHAPTER XXI.

The inspector set off for the hall door, and the motor brougham which was awaiting him there, with such haste that he had already taken his seat when Quinton caught him up.

"May I come with you?" he asked. "I daresay I shan't be in the way, and, in any case, just are going in my direction."

"Come, by all means," answered Inspector Cortelyon. "I have hold the man where I want to go. You may come with me if you like."

"Yes," said Quinton. "Where is that?"

"I am going to Arnold Strand's lodgings," replied the detective. "And I hope I may find those diamonds there."

"You do?" exclaimed Quinton, slightly incredulously. "You really think to get them?"

"Certainly. I figure it out this way," said the inspector. "Robert Strand, I can see, was very much in the late Sir Robert Mainwaring's confidence. In fact, he would be likely to have treated him more like one of the family—almost like a son, in fact."

"I should say so," said Quinton. "What next?"

"What more likely, then, that the Baronet should take him into his confidence about those diamonds?" said Inspector Cortelyon. "It is extremely likely that he would do so. What is absolutely certain is that Strand provided himself with a duplicate key of the safe, so you have just seen. All this is only serving to elucidate a mystery which is apart from the mystery."

"You said just now that you knew where the diamonds were," said Quinton. "Does that mean—"

"Ah, I spoke rather heedlessly, interrupted the inspector. "I don't know here and that I have a very good idea where they will be found; as Strand was arrested and locked up so speedily, I don't think he will have had time to move them. I believe I shall find them in the orchard at his lodgings."

"What, planted?" said Quinton.

"Just so," replied Inspector Cortelyon. "And I believe that a certain diagram now in my pocket-book refers to that very spot. It's a very curious thing, but a lot of men like Strand, if they secrete something of value, cannot refrain from making a more or less elaborate diagram of its whereabouts, and preserving it instead of trusting to memory. Now, in this case—"

And he proceeded to tell Quinton about the diagram, and by the light of the carriage reading-lamp showed it to him.

"In the orchard," he said, "there is a dotted line, that circle and ellipse represents it. The orchard has a tumble-down wicket gate—these strokes evidently represent that. I believe the stuff find the diamonds hidden between the well and the wicket-gate."

Quinton made no answer to this; it seemed to him that Strand might have found a much more likely place wherein to bestow the stolen diamonds, and that he was more the sort of man to bury them in a hole than in a hole in the ground. But he reflected that Inspector Cortelyon was an astute man, who had good grounds for what he believed, and he looked forward with interest to the next stage of the matter.

The inspector had ordered the motor brougham to stop at some distance from Strand's lodgings; he wanted, he said, to approach the house quietly.

There ought to be a man of mine somewhere about," he said, as they drew near the gardenside front of the house. "I've had the place watched ever since I heard of Strand's escape, and whom I've put on to it that he might come here. And now that I know about the diamonds, I shouldn't wonder if he's hanging about."

A man's figure suddenly rose out of the darkness from behind a clump of laurel.

"Is that you, Perrett?" said Inspector Cortelyon. "Anything happened?"

"Not yet, sir," replied Perrett. "Nothing's happened."

"Well, I'll send someone to relieve you presently," said the inspector. "I must have an eye on this place all night. In the meantime, you can borrow a lantern from the house and bring it round to the orchard at the back—there's something I want to look at, examine. Come this way, Mr. Quinton—we needn't go in by the house people."

The inspector led the way round the house to the little orchard which lay in front of the windows of Strand's sitting-room.

"Now, here's the place," he said, laying his hand on the crazy wicket. "You'll see when Perrett brings that lantern that—the dotted line—"

He stopped, suddenly grasping Quinton's arm. In the darkness, tall and clinging, of the wicket-gate, a man was seen; two or three were just of the ground in the centre of the orchard and more actively away.

"Hi—stop—stop!" exclaimed the detective, rushing forward. "Come to him, Mr. Quinton—you're more active than I am. Hi, Perrett! Perrett!"

The figure in front crashed through the fence at the opposite side of the orchard and was seen, in the dim light, to fall. Inspector Inspector Cortelyon, had darted forward; strong, athletic, and in good trim, he meant to grab the fellow dead or alive. But the darkness he caught a foot in the hedgerow and fell heavily; when he rose, the sparse, judging by the sound of his footfalls on the road, was across the field behind the orchard. He ran on, the inspector and Perrett bolting in his rear.

They had rolled in a deep ditch at the far road which, as Quinton knew, lay the river. In being city the height of summer, the trees were in full leaf, and the darkness made exceedingly difficult to see anything. But the last cover even in broad daylight; at that hour of night, of course, nothing was to be seen. The three men paused at the edge of the wood and listened intently.

"He's got a good chance of getting him here," said the detective, peering about him in the darkness. "He can hide easily enough in these woods. Now, you just lower yourself in that fall, Mr. Quinton."

"I shouldn't be hard—I'd some skin off my face," answered Quinton. "I'll just climb it. I see what you're driving at—you mean that he'll have hidden for that night."

"Do you think it was Strand?" asked the detective, still hanging about the edge of the wood—as if he were afraid.

"No," answered the manager. "It was not Strand—I'm certain of that. It was a much smaller man than Strand, and very agile."

"Well, we might as well go back and see what he was after," said Inspector Cortelyon. "He won't be coming this way again, that's any good here. Hurry on, Perrett, and get that lantern."

When they reached the orchard Perrett had procured a lantern, and Inspector Cortelyon proceeded to examine the ground lying between the little wicket-gate and the old well.

"Here you are!" he suddenly exclaimed, drawing his companions' attention to a small circular spot, the top of which had been a small gardening trowel. "What luck! If small gardening trowel. "What luck! If small gardening trowel. "What luck! If I'm not much mistaken, there's something under this, where these stones have been planted, Mr. Quinton, and whoever the man that we have just seen is, he is a confederate of Strand's and knows where Strand's got to. Confound it—I'd have given a pension to lay hands upon him."

At that moment a voice sounded from the road outside the orchard.

"Is Inspector Cortelyon there amongst you?"

"Yes," answered the inspector. "Who's that?"

"Mr. Illingworth sent me to find you, sir," replied the voice of the posting constable upon whom Strand had successfully carried out his plan of escape. "Dr. Hibbert wants you urgently at the cottage, where the escape man's lying, sir."

Inspector Cortelyon muttered something to himself and left the orchard, followed by Quinton and Perrett.

THE HOME OF TO-DAY

SEND FOR CATALOGUE

SEND FOR CATALOGUE

We Can

COMPLETELY FURNISH

Dining Room,
Bedroom,
Drawing Room,
Hall & Library.

Carpets, Linos.,
Curtains, Blinds,
and every necessary detail
Fitted Free.

ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES.
FREE MOTOR DELIVERY TOWN OR COUNTRY.
IF YOU REQUIRE ANY FURNITURE FOR ANY ROOM IN THE HOUSE, VISIT

MILLER'S NORTH ST LEEDS

AND YOU WILL BE WELL SATISFIED.

"Where is Dr. Hibbert?" he asked the constable.

"Gone on to the cottage, sir. He begged you would join him there at once," replied the man.

"You don't know what he wants?" asked the detective.

"Well, sir, I heard something said about the man's being come to his senses, and something about a confession, but Mr. Illingworth spoke very low, and I couldn't quite think they're going to take his deposition, sir, because Mr. Chalmers, the magistrate, lives close there."

"All right," said Inspector Cortelyon. "You'll stay here, Perrett, and when Mr. Quilliam [it's only round the corner of the waste. Now, Perrett, you know what you have to do, and where you can find me if you want me."

He moved swiftly away in the darkness, and Quinton, after a second to the driver of the motor-brougham, whom they passed at the end of the lane, followed him. Inspector Cortelyon was obviously upset, but he spoke on coming within sight of the lights in the cottage window.

"Now—stop—hush," exclaimed the detective, rushing forward. "Not to him, Mr. Quinton—you're more active than I am. Hi, Perrett! Perrett!"

The figure in front crashed through the fence at the opposite side of the orchard and was seen, in the dim light, to fall. Inspector Inspector Cortelyon, had darted forward; strong, athletic, and in good trim, he meant to grab the fellow dead or alive. But the darkness he caught a foot in the hedgerow and fell heavily; when he rose, the sparse, judging by the sound of his footfalls on the road, was across the field behind the orchard. He ran on, the inspector and Perrett bolting in his rear.

They had rolled in a deep ditch at the far road which, as Quinton knew, lay the river. In being city the height of summer, the trees were in full leaf, and the darkness made exceedingly difficult to see anything. But the last cover even in broad daylight; at that hour of night, of course, nothing was to be seen. The three men paused at the edge of the wood and listened intently.

"He's got a good chance of getting him here," said the detective, peering about him in the darkness. "He can hide easily enough in these woods. Now, you just lower yourself in that fall, Mr. Quinton."

"I shouldn't be hard—I'd some skin off my face," answered Quinton. "I'll just climb it. I see what you're driving at—you mean that he'll have hidden for that night."

"Do you think it was Strand?" asked the detective, still hanging about the edge of the wood—as if he were afraid.

"No," answered the manager. "It was not Strand—I'm certain of that. It was a much smaller man than Strand, and very agile."

"Well, we might as well go back and see what he was after," said Inspector Cortelyon. "He won't be coming this way again, that's any good here. Hurry on, Perrett, and get that lantern."

When they reached the orchard Perrett had procured a lantern, and Inspector Cortelyon proceeded to examine the ground lying between the little wicket-gate and the old well.

"Here you are!" he suddenly exclaimed, drawing his companions' attention to a small circular spot, the top of which had been a small gardening trowel. "What luck! If small gardening trowel. "What luck! If I'm not much mistaken, there's something under this, where these stones have been planted, Mr. Quinton, and whoever the man that we have just seen is, he is a confederate of Strand's and knows where Strand's got to. Confound it—I'd have given a pension to lay hands upon him."

At that moment a voice sounded from the road outside the orchard.

"Is Inspector Cortelyon there amongst you?"

"Yes," answered the inspector. "Who's that?"

"Mr. Illingworth sent me to find you, sir," replied the voice of the posting constable upon whom Strand had successfully carried out his plan of escape. "Dr. Hibbert wants you urgently at the cottage, where the escape man's lying, sir."

Inspector Cortelyon muttered something to himself and left the orchard, followed by Quinton and Perrett.

When he was ten years old he could blow all the tails and ride Tip to water while leading two others, which was more than any recruit could do. When he was fifteen and had a decent education at the good schools, our dear old Captain (rest be to his soul) held a consultation with the Colonel and the adjutant, and Billy was called in at the end of it and asked if he would like to enlist.

It required a special order from the headquarters at Washington, but Billy got his heart's desire.

Well, we loved him as the best of buglers, but we loved him for more than that.

When I was down with the malarial fever at Fort S——, although I was reckoned a surly fellow enough little Billy brought me grapes, and he must have paid through the nose for them, the poor little angel! And I guess one fellow always had some sort of the same experience. He used to sing, too, and the boys would be cleaning up for Sunday morning inspection, and Billy would chirp up something jolly, and we'd yell a chorus, and then he'd sing quietly some homelike song and we'd forget the snow on the prairie and the trouble to get wood and the hall ration, and the boys wouldn't join in that chorus, but just keep on wiping the dust from the carbines, and some of them might be dropping something on the barrel that would turn to rust very soon.

Well, well! Custer was there, and that meant fun and fighting—more of the last than the former, and down we went in the chill of a late autumn afternoon, just our old group, under the Captain, to do something.

I don't recollect now what it was—maybe to break up a small village—maybe to bring in a chief. Anyhow, the captain didn't seem from his manner to think it was going to be very serious, but whatever it was, and Billy kept chirruping away as he rode behind the captain, as jolly as if we were going to break up the whole Sioux nation.

We took up a trot after getting out of the post, and made for the Canadian River, and we kept at a trot for a long time, saving when we halted every hour four or five minutes to tighten girths and breathe the horses—good practice.

Whether the guide blundered or the captain, as some may say, was obstinate and stuck to his opinion, it is needless to argue here—the "big chiefs" would attend to that afterward, but instead of keeping to the trail and going the ordinary way down to the ford, we branched off and struck right into a wandering line of bluffs.

The devils saw us before we knew they were any where near, and the first thing we knew we were greeted with a terrible yell and over a Comanche managed to make.

The old captain just realised the state of affairs. He devoted just 30 seconds to cursing the guide, and then began business.

We were near the river, and our immediate safety was to get across that. Forming us up—for we had already opened out—he put us on the Indians. The old man charged in one direction, feinted and, forcing in columns of fours, turned to the river, and, swimming and struggling, we reached the other bank.

There we formed as dismounted skirmishers, while the reserve held the horses behind the bluff and waited the coming of the Indians, but they either thought we were stronger than they, or, as is likely, remembered the Indian principle, "Never fight in the dark."

At any rate they did not come, and the roll of us in the grey of the morning was called in whispers.

We were pleased to find that only two of us had dropped from our saddles, and we hoped we had hit some of the enemy in the few minutes' fight, but before daylight it was whispered along the line "Billy's missing."

The poor little rascal! He had always had a fancy for riding Tip when he could, because the brute was the hardest-mouthed, unmanageable beast in the troop, and Billy—as they say—fancied himself on his riding, and Tip was no worse with us than others.

At last morning came, and we looked across the Canadian, and there was never a sign of a Comanche.

The captain was as grim as a judge, and spoke quite softly as he drew his sabre and faced the centre of the troop.

"Men," he said, "I was sent out here with you to scout for cattle thieves round the ranches here. Something has happened which is no fault of yours or mine, to make me break through my instructions. I don't know that I regret that I had that war ran into last night in the darkness, but one of you, the most cherished comrades is either dead among the bluffs over there or else a prisoner, and I am going to disobey my instructions, and find Billy."

All the afternoon and on into the evening till the sun sank we followed the bullet-holes in the west of us, and it grew chilly and dreary—all that after noon we rode quietly on.

A parting gleam of gold and crimson just tinged the horizon when the captain halted, and sounded with the scout.

To our delight Billy rode ring through the open library window. I entered his studio; he received me coldly, but on hearing that I was Strand's friend before. I was once mixed up in a case with him. He is a bit of a crank, and I should say not too well balanced, and, like all of a certain class of inventors, he could be awkward to deal with."

"I have heard of him, of course," said Quinton. "He used to pester Sir Robert a good deal."

Dr. Hibbert was awaiting them at the cottage door. Within stood Illingworth and an elderly gentleman whom Inspector Cortelyon recognised as one of the magistrates whom he had met with on the Hibbert case, and Perrett bolting in his rear.

"I am glad you have come," he said. "The patient has come to his senses, and wants to make a confession. He seems to have managed to fall out of bed this evening in the momentary absence of the nurse, and the shock has restored his memory. But there is a state of unconsciousness—his heart is seriously affected, and I am afraid of collapse. He is very urgent that a magistrate should take his deposition, and Mr. Chalmers is here, ready to do so, had the man won't speak until he has seen you. So will you come up with me?"

Inspector Cortelyon followed the doctor upstairs to the sitting-chamber which he had previously visited. The sick man was lying in an attitude which suggested indifference as to all that was around him. He looked apathetically at the detective as he walked gravely up to the bed, and greeted him in an unconcerned voice.

"I hear that you were here, Cortelyon," he said, "and I thought I would rather speak first to you of what I have to say than to strangers. You know how I came here?"

"Yes," answered the inspector. "You fell over a cutting, and had a nasty accident, and lost your memory."

"Yes," answered the patient, with a grim smile, "and then everything came back to me, and I remembered my head, and that has brought my memory back. Oh, yes, I remember everything now. But I do not want to make a deposition before a magistrate, Cortelyon—it is quicker matters up."

"But why such haste?" asked the inspector, answered the man. "You look incredulous; but I know what there is to do, and what I want you to do for me. Mand me that wash-book, if you please."

The detective handed him the garment he pointed out, and from one of the pockets he took a piece folded paper, from which he produced a pawnticket. This he passed over to Inspector Cortelyon.

"This refers to a case of mathematical implements of some value; you will see where they are pawned," he said. "But inside is the formula of a new explosive. As I am going to die, you can hand it over to any of your chief men interested. It will revolutionise warfare. Now let me see, the magistrate."

At the detective's signal Dr. Hibbert fetched up the three men waiting below, and at the sick man's wish Illingworth independently began to take down his deposition. It was not long, but he those who heard it in possessed a deep significance, and it made Inspector Cortelyon think to a good deal more certain conclusions to where he had come.

"My name is Julius Steinthal, and I hold several scientific degrees from German and English universities, dictated the patient. I have devoted my life to science, and at one time was well off. Lately I have been extremely poor, and having no friends, I have lived in the Bowton lodging-houses. I have no property.

"During the last year or two I have vainly endeavoured to perfect a motor-car battery propeller a new patent of immense value. I particularly brought this invention before the notice of Sir Robert Mainwaring, with whom I have, in better days, stayed as a guest. I considered that he treated me with neglect. Finally I parted money and came to Manwaring to make a personal appeal to him. I chanced to meet him near the Castle. He absolutely declined to entertain my offer, and was very haughty towards me. I wandered about the fields until nightfall, and then, being desperate, resolved to make a last appeal to him. I approached the Castle by the back way, and knowing the door entered by the open library window. I entered his study; he received me coldly, but on hearing that I was Steinthal that before. I was once mixed up in a case with him. He is a bit of a crank, and I should say not too well balanced, and, like all of a certain class of inventors, he could be awkward to deal with."

"I have heard of him, of course," said Quinton. "He used to pester Sir Robert a good deal."

Dr. Hibbert was awaiting them at the cottage door. Within stood Illingworth and an elderly gentleman whom Inspector Cortelyon recognised as one of the magistrates whom he had met with on the Hibbert case, and Perrett bolting in his rear.

"I am glad you have come," he said. "The patient has come to his senses, and wants to make a confession. He seems to have managed to fall out of bed this evening in the momentary absence of the nurse, and the shock has restored his memory. But there is a state of unconsciousness—his heart is seriously affected, and I am afraid of collapse. He is very urgent that a magistrate should take his deposition, and Mr. Chalmers is here, ready to do so, had the man won't speak until he has seen you. So will you come up with me?"

Inspector Cortelyon followed the doctor upstairs to the sitting-chamber which he had previously visited. The sick man was lying in an attitude which suggested indifference as to all that was around him. He looked apathetically at the detective as he walked gravely up to the bed, and greeted him in an unconcerned voice.

"I hear that you were here, Cortelyon," he said, "and I thought I would rather speak first to you of what I have to say than to strangers. You know how I came here?"

"Yes," answered the inspector. "You fell over a cutting, and had a nasty accident, and lost your memory."

"Yes," answered the patient, with a grim smile, "and then everything came back to me, and I remembered my head, and that has brought my memory back. Oh, yes, I remember everything now. But I do not want to make a deposition before a magistrate, Cortelyon—it is quicker matters up."

"But why such haste?" asked the inspector, answered the man. "You look incredulous; but I know what there is to do, and what I want you to do for me. Mand me that wash-book, if you please."

The detective handed him the garment he pointed out, and from one of the pockets he took a piece folded paper, from which he produced a pawnticket. This he passed over to Inspector Cortelyon.

"This refers to a case of mathematical implements of some value; you will see where they are pawned," he said. "But inside is the formula of a new explosive. As I am going to die, you can hand it over to any of your chief men interested. It will revolutionise warfare. Now let me see, the magistrate."

At the detective's signal Dr. Hibbert fetched up the three men waiting below, and at the sick man's wish Illingworth independently began to take down his deposition. It was not long, but to those who heard it it

AMUSEMENTS.

LEEDS EMPIRE PALACE.

At the Empire Palace this week Little Tich gives the leading turn, and his latest songs are typical of his inimitably comic style. He has had a great reception. Adolfo Moreaw, a "gay Parisienne," is exactly an artiste of parts, but her songs hardly seem to do her justice. The Rials are really clever in an unobtrusive way with a pair of rings and a few old hats. Smarte Bros., acrobatic eccentrics, are another couple with clever business. Others in the bill are The Carangeots, in an effective dance scena; Rich and Koch, and Adam Tomlinson, the Tyneside comedian.

George Formby will be top of the bill at the Leeds Empire next week. Another outstanding feature of the programme will be the beautiful art dances of La Pia, whose "Spirit of the Waves"—included in her selection for Leeds—was an extraordinary West-end success. Another item of especial interest is the turn presented by Tuckey, the singing violinist, who, in addition to fine violin playing, dances or sings impartially, and gives a very diverting impression of a musical lady in full action. Lily Long, who has a prominent position on the same bill, contributes some smart songs. Edith England is a contralto who uses a voice of rich quality with a depth of feeling and artistic expression, whilst Victor Travers, and Haig and Novel further strengthen the comedy side of a strong and varied programme.

LEEDS HIPPODROME.

At the Hippodrome this week "Come Inside," a sparkling revue, full of good things, pays a welcome return visit. Miss Bessie Clifford, as Miss Astor Walderie, the American girl, who is doing a lightning hustle round the world, has had a great ovation, and Mr Horace Jones and Miss Winifred Hare also help materially. Miss Hare, attired as a Belgian Lifeguardsman, sings the soldier's song, "It's a long way to Tipperary," and the audience does not need asking to join in the rousing chorus. There are several good vaudeville artistes also appearing.

Next week at the Hippodrome the principal feature will be the Fun Show, "September Morn," in which a company of thirty artistes will appear. These will include Johnnie Fields, Sylvie Lynd, Leslie Mavis, Mabel Long, Kathleen O'Hanlon, Carl Revkin, and Peter McSweeney. Beautiful scenery, magnificent dresses, catchy tunes, and novel dances characterise the production. Others billed to appear are Naughton and Gold, "comedians"; Shaun Glenville, Irish comedian; and Mdlle. Golda, the charming Australian soprano.

A THORPARCH OFFICER WOUNDED.

HIT WHEN SAVING THE GUNS.

Lieutenant A. L. P. Griffith, of the Royal Artillery, the popular football player and Yorkshire County representative, who was also chosen thrice to play for England, but was unable to do so on account of knee trouble, has been wounded at the front, and is now in the English Base Hospital at Rouen.

Lieut. Griffith was orderly officer to Colonel Hull, commanding the 30th Brigade Royal Field Artillery. He was wounded by a rifle bullet in the forearm, but is progressing favourably. When wounded he was encountering for a position for the two guns of a detachment of which he was temporarily in command, and which was supporting the brigade of Guards.

The enemy were in full force, so that the British had to retire, the Guards passing through the artillery, who were nearly cut off. The shell and rifle fire during the retirement of the guns was appalling. One team of horses was swept away, but by leaving one waggon both guns were brought clean away under the command of a senior officer, who rejoined his section.

Lieut. Griffith is a son of the Vicar of Thorparch.

HEARTLESS FRAUDS—A WARNING.

The war has brought in its trail a new and peculiarly heartless kind of fraud—that of obtaining money by false pretences from anxious relatives of officers reported by the War Office to be "missing" on the plea of being able to get information from them.

One victim of such a fraud is the mother of a young officer who was reported as missing after the Battle of Mons. A man, who described himself as a valet, called upon her at her residence in London and informed her that he had seen the missing officer at Brussels. He added that he had to return to Brussels early next morning, and before starting would call at 6 o'clock and bring with him a letter from the officer. He apologised for being obliged to call so early, explaining that the boat train left at 8 o'clock. Before leaving he asked for some money, saying he had not suffered for the passage. The lady, believing his story—she was even moved to tears at having "news" of her son—gave the man some money. The family expected the stranger to call on the following morning, as he had promised, but he did not appear, and nothing has been heard of him since.

It may be pointed out that if fraud of this kind can be practised, it is equally easy for persons to call on relatives and pretend that they have been sent to take money over to the Continent, and relatives of missing soldiers, wounded officers, and warned to be on their guard.

Major J. W. Dent, of Ribston Hall, has sent £20 to the Belgian Refugees' Fund.

Several of the King's horses have been entered for the Wetherby Steeplechases on October 19th.

A sum of £92 2s. 1d., collected by Mr F. Lee in Wetherby and district has been sent to the Belgian Relief Fund.

A sum of £3 16s. 10d., collected at Thorner Wesleyan Church, has been sent to the Leeds National Relief Fund.

WISTOW GIRL SENT UNDER CONTROL.—On Monday at Selby Magistrates' Court, Wistow was summoned for not sending her daughter, aged 13, to school in compliance with an attendance order made by the Court. An attendance order made a week before had not been complied with, and the child had only been 12 times in school out of a possible 40 attendances. Evidence was given that the girl was not under proper control and that generally defective, and that her surroundings were not in her best interests. An application on the part of the education authority that the girl be sent to a certified industrial school was acceded to by the Bench.

CORRESPONDENCE.

GARFORTH FAMILY RECORDS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Seeing your note in last issue asking for records in regard to men responding to the country's call, I may state Mr Samuel Buckhouse, of Church Garforth, has only two sons, and both have left a happy and comfortable home to serve the country, and in addition a son-in-law has gone. No greater sacrifice can be asked for when one realises the fact that their services at home at such an age are most useful. This family name, like that of Mr A. Rex, is amongst the oldest in Garforth, and familiar to the whole village. The eldest son is a valuable worker in the Wesleyan Church, Garforth, and most highly esteemed.—Yours, etc.,

T. W. BRAHAM.

4, Hildertherpe Terrace, Garforth.

AN OULTON DROWNING MYSTERY.

THE INQUEST AND VERDICT.

An inquest was conducted at the Oulton Institute on Tuesday by the West Riding Coroner (Mr P. P. Maitland) on the body of John William Myers (58), of Fleet Mills, Oulton, whose body was recovered from the Aire and Calder Canal early on Tuesday morning.

Evidence was given by Blanche Myers, of Fleet Mills, Oulton, who stated the deceased was her husband. On Monday he accompanied her to the Methley Railway Station, where she left him about 6 p.m. to go to Castleford. He was then in good spirits, cheerful and affectionate. She heard the following day that he was dead. The deceased, she said, was a strong man and enjoyed good health. So far as she knew he had had no trouble of any kind.

Joseph Harry, landlord of the United Kingdom Hotel, Methley, stated that about 6 p.m. on Monday the deceased came to his house and had tea with him, remaining until 11 p.m. Witness then went with deceased and bade him "Good night," the deceased going away in the direction of the canal towing path, which was his nearest way home. He was quite sober when he left and seemed in good spirits.

James Derrick, boat hauler, living at Lemonroad Farm, Methley, said that about 11.25 p.m. on Monday he was sitting in his home, which is situated near to the Aire and Calder Canal, when he heard someone come along the towing path singing "Love me, and the world is mine." When the footsteps were about opposite his house witness heard a big splash. He at once ran out to the lock, which is about 100 yards away, and obtained a rope and a boat hook, and then proceeded to the towing path to where the sound had come from. He could see no sign of anyone in the water, and after searching with the boat hook and the drags, the body was recovered about 12.15 a.m. Myers was then quite dead.

Answering the Coroner, witness said that no one else was near at the time when he heard the splash.

A verdict of "Accidentally drowned" was returned.

LOFTHOUSE COMPOUND FOR GERMAN PRISONERS

The work of converting a portion of Lofthouse Park, near Rothwell, into a compound for German prisoners is proceeding as rapidly as possible. The section of the West Riding Royal Engineers who are engaged upon the task do not expect to get it finished for several days, and it is not likely that any prisoners will be taken to Lofthouse until towards the middle of the present month.

The premises are being extensively altered for the purpose of accommodating a thousand men, though the first batch of prisoners will probably not number more than 500.

The large ballroom, the skating rink, and eight detached pavilions formerly devoted to side shows are being adapted for use as dormitories, and two large rooms and the verandah are to be set apart for the serving of meals.

The prisoners will be allowed to roam about in a restricted area in the park, and the most formidable obstacle to any attempt on their part to escape will be provided by an encircling barbed wire fence, which is to be about 10 feet in width and of consolidated entanglement.

Tadcaster and District Licensed Victuallers' Association has sent £5 5s. to the Leeds National Relief Fund.

On Saturday afternoon Tadcaster footballers were defeated by Leather United (York) by three goals to two.

The employees of John Smith's Tadcaster brewery at Boroughgate, Leeds, have sent a fifth weekly donation of £2 12s. 7d. to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

A WAR WEDDING.—Private Mark Franklin, who recently joined the 14th Batt. West Yorks. Regiment, at York, was granted special leave on Tuesday to be married. Private Franklin since his enlistment has served as a clerk in the recruiting office, Fulford Road, York, and has become very popular amongst his comrades. He is a native of Tadcaster, as also is his bride, Miss Mary Josephine Owen, who was a nurse at the Tadcaster Workhouse Infirmary. The couple were quietly married at Tadcaster in the presence of a few friends, the bridegroom wearing his uniform. On Wednesday he left for Leighton Buzzard, where his battalion is stationed.

TADCASTER GUARDIANS AND DONCASTER POOR.—At a meeting of the Doncaster Board of Guardians on Saturday a letter was read from the West Riding Territorial Headquarters requesting the use of the main building at the Workhouse for the billeting of soldiers. It was stated that the accommodation would be required by October 2nd. The Clerk (Mr Marshall) said he had communicated with 26 other Unions with regard to obtaining the necessary accommodation for the Poor Law inmates, but whilst the response had been a generous one, the accommodation offered was not quite sufficient. The Visiting Committee considered that it would be risky with the winter coming on, to remove the old people to other workhouses, and they recommended that the military authorities be requested to find accommodation elsewhere. The Chairman (Mr Howden) disagreed with the recommendation of the Visiting Committee, and moved that a committee be formed to review the matter. The recommendation of the Visiting Committee was adopted by a large majority. At the meeting of Tadcaster Guardians a letter was received from Doncaster asking if any of their poor could be accommodated at Tadcaster workhouse, and it was decided to offer to take a number.

THE LATE MR W. B. WALKER.

WELL-KNOWN PUBLIC OFFICIAL DEAD.

For some four or five months Mr Walter Burgess Walker, 68 years, late of 12, Conference Road, Armley, Leeds, formerly inspector of Foods and Drugs to the Leeds City Corporation, had been ailing, and on September 18th he, together with his married daughter, Mrs Charlotte Austin, of Neville Hill Farm, Osmondthorpe, went to Cleethorpes for the benefit of his health. Here he was attended by Dr. W. C. McKane, for some time, until removed to the Grimsby Bargate Nursing Institution, to undergo an operation for cancer. Dr. Richardson, of Leeds, was summoned, and the operation commenced on Sunday, with either administered as an anaesthetic. Immediately the operation was commenced, Mr Walker's breathing began to toll and he died within half a minute.

Death was stated to be due to shock, the effect of the operation, at Tuesday's inquest conducted by the Grimsby Borough Coroner, and a verdict of death from misadventure was returned.

Dr. McKane said death was a blessing in disguise, as the deceased would have suffered terrible pain.

GARFORTH WAR DISTRESS FUND

ADDITIONAL SUBSCRIPTIONS.

In connection with Garforth War Distress Fund the subscriptions already acknowledged total £94 14s. 2d. The following additional amounts have been received.

	£	s.	d.
Underground Workmen and Boys, Sisters and Isabella Pits (4th contribution)	6	17	5
W. P. Nicholson	3	3	0
A. E. Carr	3	0	0
Dr. C. H. Sykes	2	2	0
Wm. Tate	2	2	0
T. B. Smith	2	2	0
Wm. Geo. Jackson	1	1	0
R. Richardson	1	1	0
Alfred Smith and Son	1	1	0
Herbert Smith	1	1	0
Herbert Morley	1	0	6
E. W. Loyecka	1	0	0
Miss L. Abbott	0	10	6
T. B. Rhodes	0	10	0
Walter Pease	0	10	0
Wilfred Lawrence	0	10	0
H. C. Wilmot	0	10	0
Three Friends	0	8	0
A. E. Gisburn	0	5	0
Geo. Batty	0	5	0
J. W. Mayer	0	5	0
Geo. Copley	0	5	0
Mrs. H. Rex	0	5	0
Albert Preston	0	5	0
Richard Taylor	0	5	0
George Smith (Main Street)	0	2	6
Jno. Woods	0	2	6
J. G. Telford	0	2	6
Hy. Preston	0	2	6
J. H. Watson	0	2	6
Mrs. Stott	0	2	6
R. Ewen	0	2	0
Small Sums	0	2	0
Chas. Bennett	0	1	0
J. S. Fox	0	1	0
R. H. Long	0	1	0
Wm. Geo. Bastow, Hon. Sec. and Treas

BARWICK AND SCHOLES DISTRESS FUND

ADDITIONAL CONTRIBUTIONS.

In our last issue donations given to the Barwick and Scholes Distress Fund were acknowledged, the total being £110 11s. 6d. Since then the following amounts have been collected by Messrs J. Birth and R. Murray:—

	£	s.	d.
Mr F. F. Baxter	1	1	0
Mr F. Bevan	0	5	0
Mr W. Tomlinson	0	5	0
Mrs. Warrington	0	2	6
Mr G. Joynes	0	2	0
Mrs A. Faulkner	0	2	0
Mrs Milner	0	1	0
A Friend	0	1	0
Mrs A. White	0	0	9
Mrs. Day	0	0	6
Mrs. Baxter	0	0	6
	£2	1	0

GARFORTH AND THE QUEEN'S FUND.

SUBSCRIPTION LIST OPENED.

A meeting in connection with Queen Mary's "Work for Women" Fund was held in the Conservative Club, Garforth, on Monday afternoon. It was attended by about twenty ladies, and Mr J. W. Dobson (Chairman of the Urban District Council) presided.

The Chairman stated the object of the Fund, which, he explained, was to be used for providing work for women thrown out of employment owing to the war, it being felt that it was far better to prevent distress than to relieve it.

It was resolved that a subscription list be opened at once, and that the same be closed on October 12th. The ladies present promised to receive subscriptions, which will be handed over to Mr Dobson, who has undertaken the duties of honorary secretary and treasurer. The following subscriptions were promised at the meeting:—

	£	s.	d.
Mr J. W. Dobson	2	2	0
Mrs T. P. Fawcett	2	2	0
Mrs C. R. Baker	1	1	0
Mr and Mrs. Charleson	1	1	0
Mrs. Cauldwell	1	1	0
Mrs. Bedford	1	1	0
Mrs. Walter Simpson	1	1	0

REVISION COURT.—On Wednesday Mr J. Douglas Forster held a court at York for the purpose of revising the lists of voters in Acaster Malbis, Dringhouses, Hutton Wandsley, Long Marston, Rufforth, Tockwith, and other places in the Thirsk and Malton Division. The following were the additions and new claims allowed in local villages:—Acaster Malbis.—Conservatives: 1 occupier claim allowed. Dringhouses.—Conservatives: 2 lodger claims allowed. Liberals: 1 occupier claim allowed. Hutton Wandsley.—Conservatives: 2 occupier claims allowed. Long Marston.—Liberals: 1 occupier claim allowed. Rufforth.—Conservatives: 1 lodger claim allowed. Tockwith.—Conservatives: 2 occupier claims allowed. Liberals: 3 occupier claims allowed. The Conservatives had 38 and the Liberals 37 ownership claims allowed.

DOYLE

The Noted China House

The Last Touch of Table Refinement—TASTEFUL Table Ware

Doyle China and Glassware productions undoubtedly give to a table just that last touch of refinement which spells that difference between the ORDINARY table and the table that is DIFFERENT. If you are interested in table ware of the BETTER kind will you come and walk through our Showrooms? You will find here much that will interest you apart from your immediate requirements—and the VARIETY will surprise you.

59, Boar Lane, LEEDS.

Established 1885. By Royal Appointment. Established 1885.

GENERAL

Accident Fire and Life

Assurance Corporation, Ltd.

PERSONAL ACCIDENT and SICKNESS Policies at all Lowest Rates and conditions. Low Premiums.
FREE FIRE INSURANCE every sixth year to householders and private property owners.
COMBINATION POLICIES covering the requirements of householders in connection with risks of Fire, Burglary, and accidents to servants.
THREE POPULAR FORMS of Life Policy, including guaranteed options.
Workmen's Compensation, Motor Car, Burglary, Fidelity Guarantee, Driving Accidents, Live Stock, Plate Glass, and Farmers' Insurances.

Chief Offices—General Bldgs., Perth, Scotland. General Buildings, Aldwych, London, W.C. The Oldest and Strongest Independent Office. Assets exceed £2,500,000. Claims paid over £7,000,000.
General Manager F. NORIS-MILLER, J.P.

JOHN TEALE,

Advertising Contractor & Billposter,

WHITE HOUSE, GARFORTH.

Bills posted and Handbills distributed on the shortest notice throughout the Barkston Ash Division on most reasonable terms.

MONK FRYSTON

WESLEYAN CHURCH.—Very successful harvest festival services were held on Sunday and Tuesday. The chapel interior was very tastefully decorated with corn, fruit, greenery, and flowers by willing workers, and able and appropriate sermons were preached to good congregations by Mr Searle, of Headingley College. On Monday, even for the Prince of Wales' National Relief Fund, and realised £5 6s. 8d. Harvest hymns were heartily sung. Mr A. Hemingway presided at the organ. On Tuesday a visit was paid by the Rev. Geo. Allen, B.A. (superintendent of Place Mission), Leeds, and in the afternoon he preached an eloquent and stirring sermon to a good congregation. Then followed tea in the schoolroom, and a good number of friends attended. The ladies who presided at the tables were Mesdames Atkinson, Dixon, Walker, Coldwell, and Cundall. In the evening Mr J. W. Taylor, of Leeds, delivered an excellent lecture on "The Duke of Wellington," and a large gathering listened with rapt attention to his remarks. The Chairman was the Rev. C. E. Cook, of South Milford, and at the close he thanked Mr Taylor for his interesting lecture. Satisfactory collections were taken on behalf of the Trust Funds.

IMPROVEMENTS AT SELBY.—A Local Government Board inquiry was held by Mr W. O. Meade King at the Selby Town Hall, on Wednesday, with regard to the Selby Urban District Council's application for sanction to borrow £3,800 to purchase property for the purpose of making a new road from Gowthorpe Street to Flaxley Road. Councillor T. S. Ullathorne (Chairman of the Urban Council) and members of the Council were present in support of the application. There was no opposition. The inhabitants of the two districts proposed to be connected by a district road instead of the present circuitous one, attended in support of the proposal, and the local Trades and Labour Council also supported the scheme. Already in the Flaxley Road district they have constructed 42 dwellings, and in the Gowthorpe Street district 30 are in course of erection. Of the 3,474 square yards of land to be purchased 978 square yards will be required for the road, and other portions not required can be resold. On the site are three cottages and other buildings, including a cinematograph picture house. In the Flaxley Road district the West Riding County Council propose to build a new elementary school for 750 children, as already mentioned in our columns; and Councillor Mark Scott (chairman of the Education Sub-Committee) informed the inspector that provision was to be made so that the school could be attended by the immediate town children. The new road would be a great facility in relation to the new school. The inquiry was closed, and the inspector will report to the Local Government Board.

A collection at Wighill Church for Leeds Infirmary has realised £8 3s. 6d.

BEST & BOOTH

Tailors & Costumiers,

119, KIRKGATE,

— AND —

143, BRIGGATE

(Corner of Market Street).

LEEDS.

Ladies' Department—143, BRIGGATE.

Look Out for B. & B.

Teasdale's — All Men Joining the Army SHOULD HAVE WITH THEM — Chlorodyne

Teasdale's — Teasdale's Chlorodyne

A Safe Protector from common hazardous ailments—Cholerale Diarrhœa, Dysentery, etc.

GIVES INSTANT RELIEF; EASES PAIN. A BLESSING TO HAVE SUCH A GRAND MEDICINE.

Brigadier Fortune, Royal Horse Artillery: "I thank you for the great benefit that Teasdale's Chlorodyne has not only done for myself, but also for many of my comrades to whom I have given it. It has indeed been a blessing to have such a grand medicine in my possession; I have used it in numerous cases of Dysentery, Rheumatism, Pains in the Back, Coughs, and Colds. It acted like a charm in every case."

Teasdale's — Teasdale's Chlorodyne

THE MOST VALUABLE PRESENT YOU CAN GIVE TO A FRIEND GOING TO THE FRONT.

7½d., 1s¼d., and Large Bottles, 2/6.

Can be had of PURDY, Crossgates; RENNARD, Halton, and other Chemists; GOODALL, BACKHOUSE & Co., and TAYLOR'S DRUG STORES.

Teasdale's — ASK FOR TEASDALE'S CHLORODYNE. — Chlorodyne

THE CHALLENGE!

Never Beaten.

BRAITHWAITE'S

"The Firm with a Reputation."

ARE NOW MAKING A

SPECIAL SHOW OF NEW GOODS

In all the LATEST STYLES, for

SPRING and SUMMER WEAR.

LADIES' & GENT.'S BOOTS & SHOES in Immense Variety at Prices to Suit all Purses.

5,000 Pairs of Children's Boots & Shoes. Newest Designs.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—We are still offering a lot of Odd Pairs at Ridiculously Low Prices until Cleared

BRAITHWAITE'S, The Value for Money : Boot Stores, :

58, VICAR LANE, LEEDS.

Closed at 1 o'clock on Wednesdays.

Money Saving is Money Making

Special Show in the Latest Styles and Shades of Ladies' & Children's Winter Coats, Costumes, and Skirts, at Most Reasonable Prices.

Winter Coats from 8s. 11d. Raincoats from 6s

SMITH & PETTY,

44, Lowerhead Row, LEEDS

Three Doors from Briggate.

MOURNING ORDERS EXECUTED IN 12 HOURS.

LEEDS AND HOLBECK PERMANENT BUILDING SOCIETY.

96 ALBION STREET (Corner of Guildford Street, LEEDS).

DAILY from 10 to 3, Saturdays 10 to 1 and Saturday Evenings 6.30 to 8.

3½ PER CENT INTEREST ALLOWED ON SUBSCRIPTION & PAID UP SHARES.

3 PER CENT. ALLOWED ON DEPOSITS.

WITHDRAWALS CAN BE MADE AT SHORT NOTICE.

PROSPECTUS ON APPLICATION.

Telephone No. 253. JNO. EXLEY, President. WM. MAUDS, Manager & Secretary.

Printed and Published by ARTHUR KNOX RHODES, of 26, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates, for the Proprietors of the "Rothwell Courier and Times" at their offices, 14 Aire Street, Leeds, in the County of York.

"The Rothwell Courier and Times" IS THE Only Weekly Newspaper PUBLISHED in the DISTRICT

Rothwell Courier & Times

AND

Methley, Oulton, Woodlesford, Carlton, Robin Hood, Lofthouse, Middleton, Stourton & Hunslet Chronicle

NO. 93—NEW SERIES [Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.] SATURDAY, OCTOBER 10 1914 ESTAB. 1873 PRICE—ONE PENNY

Joshua Tetley & Son (Limited), THE BREWERY, LEEDS.
NOW READY IN BOTTLE.
East India Pale Ale, 2/- per dozen Small Bottles
Extra Stout, 1/9 per dozen Small Bottles.
Special (Non-Deposit) Mild Ale, 3/- dozen Large Bottles.
Delivered Free to Families within 20 Miles of Leeds.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

EMPIRE PALACE, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.
TWO PERFORMANCES EVERY NIGHT, AT 6.30 AND AT 9.
Early Doors Monday, Tuesday, and Saturday, at 6 p.m.
MONDAY, OCTOBER 12th, 1914.
VESTA TILLEY.
The Idol of the Masses.
JACK WARMAN. TWO TOMBOYS.
HARRY LEYBOURNE.
BOBBIE & BEATY.
LONA WAYNE. ARTOIS BROS.
BARRETT & KNOWLES
The Green Lizard and his Friend, with Piano attached.
Latest War News and Actual Films from the Front.
Prices, 10s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 2s., 1s. 6d., 1s., 6d., 4d., 3d.

HIPPODROME, LEEDS.
Performances Nightly at 6.30 and 9.
NEXT WEEK.
THE TWO BOBS.
LES ANDRES.
THE THREE LASCELLES.
J. P. LING.
MINNIE MACE.
DAVID POOLE.
MIGNON KLISE & EDDY FOY.
ROMAIN NOISET on "THE DEVIL'S TABLE."
Note Prices:—10s. 6d., 2s., 6d., and 4d.

FRED BARBER,
Pork Butcher,
11. CALL LANE,
LEEDS.
TEL. 1604.

DRAINS TESTED AND REPAIRED.
SANITARY WORK A SPECIALITY
Pump Repairs, Electric Bells, Glazing and Gasfitting.
James Smithies,
Registered Plumber & Contractor
Residence:—
43, AUSTHORPE ROAD, CROSSGATES.

Wm. HELLIWELL,
The Working Man's Friend,
212, Hunslet Rd., LEEDS
WATCH WINDOWS FOR GOOD HONEST VALUE.
Special Suits
From 30/-
NO FIT. NO PAY.

Established 1883
SPARKLING HOSPERRIDGE
An Exhilarating & Refreshing Beverage.
Obtainable from Hotels, Restaurants & Stalls.
REYNOLDS & BRANSON Ltd. LEEDS.

For TOWN or COUNTRY.
For BUSINESS or PLEASURE.
THE FABOR LOUNGE SUIT
AT
Fabor 45/-
Is the Hall-mark of Perfect Tailoring.
LOUNGE SUITS from 38/-
COSTUMES from 2 Guineas.
Tailor Made & Perfect Fit Guaranteed.
24, Queen Victoria Street, and County Arcade, LEEDS.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT JOTTINGS.

Like Templenewsam, Rothwell does not appear to figure well in the recruiting returns, it was complained that comparatively few of the able-bodied young men have answered the country's call, and that a miserably small number has had the pluck and enterprise to join the Miners' Battalion. What have the young men to say to that? A few erstwhile residents, including Private Stead, are serving with the regulars, and some have joined the Leeds City Battalion, but it is asserted that, all told, Rothwell has not fifty representatives in the Forces. One would like to know what the actual numbers really are, because it is unfair to criticize a place without the figures before one, but it is evident there is something amiss, as I have heard repeated complaints anent the reluctance of young men taking their places in the ranks. Garforth has sent out about 200 men—a splendid response to the country's call—but at no public meeting has the number from Rothwell been announced, so far as I know.

Without the venerable figure of Mr J. W. Blackburn, of Astley, in the vice-chair, the Board Room at Tadcaster will appear somewhat strange. He was, I believe, the oldest member of the Board—he had 74 years to his credit—although he was not senior so far as service was concerned, and, as he came up hale and hearty year after year, it looked, as if like Tennyson's brook, he would run on for ever. He was at the last meeting, and it was singular that on his last appearance among the members he should have been called upon to discharge the duties of the chair. On the way home he was in his usual good humour, and he told me about the men at the Colliery who had volunteered for service at the Front, and what provision had been made for them. Little did we think when we bade him goodbye at Garforth that that was the last we should see of him.

For many years Mr Blackburn represented Swillington on the District Council, and, if I mistake not, he was always returned unopposed. He was very peculiar deserved the confidence and respect of the people among whom he lived, and a few years ago an effort was made to get him appointed a magistrate as a reward for his public work. The petition was signed by practically every person in the on the district, but the honour which was his due went to a man who never did anything for the public and who, I believe, never troubled to associate himself with the Skirrack Bench. As a public man, he was a keen fighter, and a few years ago he was as well to the fore in the debates at the District Council and the Garforth Urban Committee, where many a words battle took place, but he was always on excellent terms with his colleagues, and this was demonstrated by the fact that year after year, since the retirement of Mr T. B. Smith, he was unanimously elected to the chairchair. In business, too, he trodden a great and enterprising, and his versatility was remarkable—he seemed to manage a big farm as well as he could a colliery, and he was as expert at buying or selling stock as he was at conducting a huge coal business. He was a man of parts, and the Tadcaster District Council is poorer for his passing.

Crossgates has distinguished itself. When it was suggested by the directors to promote two concerts for the National Relief Fund, I stated that they would get about £30, but my estimate was a long way out, inasmuch as the total is likely to be more than double that amount. The people gave a splendid backing to the promoters, and when two (were 300 and 400) turned out in support of the Fund, one had to admit that there was hope for Crossgates after all. It was a great night for the village, because it was the first time a Lord Mayor had condescended to visit it in an official capacity, and it is no secret that the folks were delighted with Mr Brotherton and the Lady Mayoress, who had such a reception as will make them always think kindly of Crossgates.

If there is any expense in connection with a town-planning scheme for Schools, which shows that not appear to have got very far as yet, it will have to be borne by the whole rural district, and it is possible some of the representatives of other townships may object to this. The object of a town-planning Scheme is to protect it against Leeds, the boundary of which has been extended to about Stanks Bridge, and if such a thing can prevent further encroachments by the city authorities it will pay the whole area, because every time a slice of the district is chopped off the rateable value drops. It may be many years ere Leeds makes a move in the direction of Schools, but it is well to be prepared, so that when the attack comes it may be resisted with some hope of success.

The proceedings at Barwick Council meeting the other night were somewhat amusing. One member proposed that a committee should be appointed to consider the terms of the Clerk's appointment, but no colleague could be found to second it, although the Chairman allowed ample opportunity for this to be done. Then appear to figure well in the recruiting returns, it was proposed that the question should be It is complained that comparatively few of the settled by the Council at once, but, no satisfied young men have answered the country's call, apparently are the majority of the members that and a miserably small number has had the the official is receiving no more than he is enenterprise and pluck to join the Miners' Battalion. titled to, that they defeated the resolution, and the Council could get no further with the question. Whether or not the majority adopted the best plan to give effect to their views, it is a fact that the Clerk, who should have had a substantial advance when Crossgates was part of the parish, is no better paid than some assistant overseers I know, and they follow other occupations.

Complaint is frequently made about women taking possession of smoking compartments on trains, and excluding the lords of creation from what they look upon as their own peculiar quarters, but the fair sex are difficult to convince that they are offending. Have they not been told over and over again that their presence graces a gathering, and if they are welcome at a social function, they may argue, why not in a railway carriage? A Crossgates man, on seeing a number of women in a smoking compartment, said to several others before they entered:—"Now, lads, smoke up!" And they did. But the ladies were accustomed to the fumes of tobacco, and they were not in anywise inconvenienced. This irritated the Crossgate man. Quite a different case was that of a lady, sitting in a position of splendid isolation among a number of smokers, who asked the men if they would kindly refrain from burning the weed. The men looked amazed. What impudence! And in a smoking compartment, too. The lady's attention was directed to a conspicuous label on the window, but she was not put out of countenance, for she calmly replied:—"Yes, I noticed that, but I thought you gentlemen would stop smoking when you know that I did not like it." Her appeal, however, fell on deaf ears, and for the remainder of the journey she was ignored.

The Garforth, Kippax, Ledstone, and Castleford trains carry the largest proportion of women who invade smoking compartments, and they may have a good reason for seeking what are regarded as the preserves—not exclusive—of the other sex. Not long ago I read an article on the work of clearing the interior of rail way carriages, and the writer stated that he had had it demonstrated to him that the "smoker" were the cleaner of the two classes of compartments. Tobacco acts as a disinfectant, and the fumes of the weed have apparently the same effect upon certain kinds of life that bees have upon burning—they keep within a given radius. If that is so, the ladies may only be safeguarding themselves, and not, as some foolish males may imagine, seeking the company and conversation of men. Of course, many women enter "smokers" without looking at the notices of compartments, and more than once I have seen them, as soon as they realized where they were, hastily remove themselves and their belongings to other quarters.

Men, as a rule, do not like to be discourteous to ladies, but they are sometimes sorely tried. The other day a really crowded smoking compartment, and the seat on one side had five occupants, while on the other were two men and a lady of very ample proportions, who had a pile of parcels alongside her. No one made a move, and the poor man looked helplessly about him. The lady was in possession of three places, and he could not have a seat, although it was a "smoker." Now, if is very tantalizing to be put in such a position, and how to get what one requires without ruffling the offender's equine tact. "Shall I put your parcels on the shelf?" suggested the amiable young man. "Won't it?" "Don't," declared the lady, and her powerful arm encircled her possessions, but, as a concession, she removed herself a few inches along the seat, and the new-comer was permitted to perch himself on the edge of the cushion.

South Milford fanciers, whose show is the largest promoted in the district, have decided, in view of the advice offered to poultry breeders by the Board of Agriculture, to have their exhibition on that it will be "Business as usual." The decision, in my opinion, is a sensible one, because the Society is engaged in important work, and it, by their efforts, the members can do anything to develop that country industry, by inducing more people to keep fowls, they will be doing good, because it will increase the food supply. Within recent years greater interest has been displayed in poultry-keeping, which, if conducted on sound lines, may be made a profitable hobby, but a great deal requires to be done before the country produces anything like the poultry it should. A feature of the South Milford show is the bread-making competition, and what is more desirable than that the women should be able to bake bread of first-class quality? A larger entry than ever should be obtained in this section.

In Tadcaster Union the paupers relieved in 1913 was 421, and in 1914, 385; the expenditure for the respective years being £1,235 and £3,076. The figures for Wetherby were 246 and 198, £1,770 and £1,651. Selby's figures were 277 and 232, and the expenditure £2,295 and £2,172. It will be noticed that there was a decrease in both the number of poor relieved and the expenditure in all three Unions for the year ending January 1st, 1914.

What a terrible plight, according to the Germans, the district is in. A newspaper—"Kolnische Zeitung"—states that we are all starving and we are even wasting the food we possess. "The British," it says, "tread not corn so fondly about the scarcity of foodstuff in Germany. Let them look at home, and they will behold a pretty picture of the havoc this criminal war is already causing in their country. We know for a fact that in Leeds, where quantities of Danish produce have arrived, the warehousing conditions are chaotic. Butter, melting for want of ice or refrigerating chambers, is running along floors and walls in sickly yellow streams. Mountains of eggs are rotting, poisoning the air around, and rats by the thousands are gnawing away at the bales of pork and lard bulk. Meanwhile British soldiers in the field are living on dry bread and putrid tinned meat, and John Bull at home finds his breakfast and dinner table costing him more daily. That is the 'practical' British management." Hoch!

AMUSEMENTS.

LEEDS EMPIRE PALACE.

At the Empire Palace this week the principal turn is given by George Formby, who is as entertaining as ever. Lily Lena, this not wholly piquante, has two or three songs that just suit her style and clothes one might say. Another song with a patriotic flavour and a rising chorus is sung by Edith England, who has a good contralto voice. Blanche Beard to advantage in attractive song. Miss Beard, set in artistic surroundings, are very effective, notably that which illustrates "The spirit of the ages"; Harry Atkinson with his mouth imitates the harp, the 'cello, and other stringed instruments with wonderful fidelity; Tuckett, a capable violinist-and eccentric fiddler, is a big favourite, and among the comedians and dancers are Hoig and Nocel, as well as Victor Travers.

Leeds theatregoers will have an opportunity next week of again welcoming their popular idol, Miss Vesta Tilley, who will be featuring at the Empire those stirring patriotic numbers which none but Vesta Tilley can present in quite so acceptable a manner, or with such inspiriting effect. Other features are the Two Tombays, the only ladies presenting the amusing trembling entertainment from across the world over as the "Humpoli-Bompoli" act. Barrett and Knowles, with their miniature piano, and Lona Wayne in a study of a shrewish wife greeting an errant husband in the small hours, the Artois Bros. in a comedy bar act, Bobbie and Beaty, a bright comedy duo, and Jack Warman, a comedian with some imitations, and an especially happy one of T. E. Dunville, will complete an excellent programme.

LEEDS HIPPODROME.

At the Hippodrome this week the principal feature is the Fun Show entitled "Spoopidar Mesh." It has many good points to commend it, and the music is a delightful feature. The lilting tunes are much above the average. There are thirty artistes, including Johnny Dobbs in the chief comedy part; Sylvia Landi, Mabel Long, Leslie Mavis, Peter McSweeney, and Kathleen O'Hanlon and Carl Rickie, who are covering all special mention. Gladys Dearing, Nagomi and Gold are well-known comedians, who gain a cordial reception, and Sharp Glenville has a couple of patriotic Irish songs, which breathe just the proper spirit. The Mortelles, French acrobatic experts, perform some daring feats on a ladder; and two good songs are sung by Millie Fields, the Australian soprano. Cowan and La Crollera, whip experts, give a clever show.

Next week at the Hippodrome the Two Bobs make a re-known return after a successful tour in Australia. "On the Devil's Table" is a novelty to be staged by Romain Noiset. Others on the bill are Les Andres, international dancers; the Three Lascelles, juvenile comedy act; J. P. Ling, comedian and mimic; Minnie Mace, comedienne; David Poole, ventriloquist, and Mignon Elise and Eddy Foy.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—On Sunday the Harvest Festival was held at the Wesleyan Chapel, South Milford, and appropriate sermons were preached at both meetings and evening services by the Rev. H. C. Bassett. In the afternoon a service of sacred song, "Sharing the harvest," was well rendered by the choir. The conductor was Mr J. Russell, and his son Mr J. H. Russell presided at the organ. The consecutive readings were given by Mrs Cook, wife of the town resident Wesleyan minister, while Mr J. Benson presided. Good singing services marked all the services. There was not quite as much corn, fruit, flowers, and vegetables for decoration as in former years, the congregation refraining to do so owing to the chapel having been recently painted and decorated, this work having been well executed by Mr James Bissell, painter. The chapel had quite a bright appearance. What harvest decoration had been made was tastefully contrived. On Monday evening the festival was continued, when addresses were given by the Rev. C. E. Cook (South Milford) and Mr Richardson (Leeds). Mr Rd. Batty acted as chairman, and Mr Harry Batty presided at the organ. The collections at all the services were in aid of the Trust Funds.

SMITH BROS
HOLD A
LARGE STOCK of MATERIALS
— SUITABLE FOR —
Red Cross & Hospital Work.
SPECIAL DISCOUNT ALLOWED FOR QUANTITIES.
BRIGGATE & COUNTY ARCADE, LEEDS.

HARRY HAYLEY,
Yorkshire Athletic Warehouse,
12, King Edward St., LEEDS
Telephone 56,
HAS NOW IN STOCK A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF
Jerseys, Knickers, Boots, Footballs,
ETC., IN ALL QUALITIES.
HOCKEY STICKS, 2/6 to 10/6.
A FINE SELECTION OF GOLF STICKS BALLS, Etc.
Footballs as used in International, County, & Best Leagues.
FOOTBALL BOOTS. 4/11 to 11/6.
STOCKINGS - - 1/- to 2/6 Pair.
BOXING GLOVES, BOOTS,
DANISH GYMNASTIC SHOES, Etc

BUY ADGIE'S BOOTS
"BY TEST THE BEST."
THE NEW SEASON'S FOOTWEAR HAS NOW ARRIVED.
The Street, the Country Lane, the Drawing Room, the Fireside, all are represented in our new display of
SPRING FOOT STYLES.
Please Come Round and Inspect our Display
ALL AT MODERATE PRICES.
Note the Address— ADGIE'S Wholesale & Retail Warehouse
31, NEVILLE STREET, LEEDS.
A minute's walk from City Square, down Bishopgate Street, and through Railway Arches. First Warehouse on right hand side.

REGISTERED. OPTOLINE REGISTERED.
THE GREAT CURE FOR
COUGHS, BRONCHITIS, CONSUMPTION and GENERAL WEAKNESS.
Sold by all Chemists and Stores, 1/-, 1/6 and 2/6.
OR THE MAKERS, TELEPHONE 5Y CENTRAL.
J. N. HORSFIELD & SONS, 81 & 83, Sweet Street, LEEDS.

Leeds: 'Phone No. 1949. Watchmaker to the Huddersfield: " 1609. Admiralty.
William GREENWOOD,
Watchmaker and Jeweller,
92, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.
SPECIALITIES:—
DRESS, ENGAGEMENT, AND WEDDING RINGS.
W. G. makes a Handsome Present with every Wedding Ring.
Wedding Presents, Birthday Presents, and Presentations of every kind.
— AND AT —
3, DEVONSHIRE BUILDINGS, VICTORIA LANE, HUDDERSFIELD.

OUR GARDENS.

A Weekly Article specially Written for

Amateur Gardeners, Allotment Holders, &c.

By ALBERT CLARKE, Birkenshaw.

GARDENERS AND THE WAR.

For several years before the war broke out there was a decided scarcity of young gardeners in this country. Even old parts of the country we hear of young gardeners having enlisted in Kitchener's army. This means that in time to come the scarcity will be still more pronounced. For the time being gardening is under a cloud, and in many large private places the staff has been reduced as much as 50 per cent. Employers have a perfect right to economise if they wish to do so, but we could quote instances where men have been discharged and are now in poor circumstances, whilst their former employers are giving large sums of money to the distress funds. Surely this is a perverted idea of patriotism.

The writer of these notes has voluntarily vacated the position of head gardener at Ockroyd Hall. For the present we shall be able to devote considerably more time and attention to the compiling of these notes, and in the near future hope to commence a series of experimental gardening operations, the results of which will be brought to bear upon our Fernley efforts. We are now more at the call of our readers, and shall be pleased to answer all enquiries promptly. In extreme cases of gardening difficulties a personal interview could be arranged. We are anxious to be of the greatest possible service to our readers, and cordially invite them to write us at the office of this journal. The knowledge gained during 30 years' practical experience is at their command.

THE FLOWER GARDEN.

ROSES.

The planting season is close upon us and it may be worth while to consider the preparation and improvement of the soil. Roses prefer a stiff will of a somewhat clayey nature. This kind of soil is very retentive of moisture, and organic manure is held by it for a long time. If the site intended for rose, has been freely manured for several years the addition of more manure may easily do more harm than good. Wood ashes, burnt earth, a little bone-meal may be given, and if a quantity of old garden rubbish is available this may be burnt and the ashes added also. Half a pound of basic slag to the square yard of ground may also be given. If the ground has not recently been manured a free dressing of stable manure and half-mould will prove beneficial. Light, gravelly soils are not suitable, for rose growing but may be much improved by the addition of powdered clay, cow, or pig dung, and the top-spit from an old pasture, where the soil is of a heavier nature. Tea and hybrid-tea roses are most suitable for this class of soil. Hybrid perpetuals must have a stiff loam. One of the most important points in connection with the cultivation of roses is to plant them on ground that has been deeply trenched. The subsoil must not be brought to the surface, but it should be thoroughly broken up. Roses invariably make rapid progress when planted upon a grave. This is because of the great depth of disturbed soil beneath them. November is the best month for planting roses, but the preperation of the ground should be commenced at once.

Established beds are usually mulched with manure at least once a year. This will give excellent results for a long time, but eventually the soil (especially if it is heavy) will turn sour. About every fourth year a dressing of lime should be forked in instead.

BULBS.

Bulb merchants are complaining bitterly about the slackness of trade. In almost every case their bulbs were ordered before the war broke out, and as bulbs cannot be kept over for another year those that are not sold will be a total loss. May we appeal to those who can afford it, to purchase their bulbs as usual? Generally speaking, bulb merchants are a deserving class of men, and are serving a very good purpose by helping to sustain interest in the grand old hobby of gardening. Dutch bulbs are exceptionally fine this year—in fact, we have never been better. Planting and potting may be attended to at any time from now until the end of November, but the sooner they are in the greater are the chances of success.

WINTER TOMATOES.

Tomato plants intended for winter fruiting should now be blossoming freely. The atmosphere should be warm and buoyant, or the fruit will not set freely. The pipes should be kept hot and the ventilators open day and night. In the daytime they may be opened wide, but in the evening only a small chink of air is needed. The day temperature may range from 60 to 70, and a 5 degrees fall is permissible at night. It will be readily understood that the fruit does not set as freely now as in the summer time, and fertilisation must be assisted by distributing the blossom with a camel's hair brush or a rabbit's tail. Feeding may be commenced as soon as a few fruits are set.

ORCHIDS—PLEIONES.

There are few prettier or more interesting orchids than the Pleiones or, as they are commonly called, the Indian Crocus. They have now finished their growth for the season, and the leaves are commencing to decay. This cessation of growth implies that little or no water is required by the roots at present. The plants may be removed to a cool house or pit, and in a short time the leaves will drop off. Towards the end of the year numerous flower buds will make their appearance, and when this occurs rather more warmth and moisture will be required. P. Maculata and P. Wallachiana are well-known and popular varieties. The flowers appear in the heart of the young growth, and if required for cut flowers should be plucked, not cut, or the young growth may get damaged.

AZALEA INDICA.

Indian azaleas are very subject to attack from thrip. Before being housed they should be dipped in some reliable insecticide. A position should be found for them where they will not come in direct contact with the heat from the pipes, or they will drop most of their leaves. Newly imported plants should be firmly potted in peat, and should be syringed every day to keep the foliage fresh. The bulk of these plants come from Holland and are grown in the fields. The change to the comparatively dry atmosphere of the ordinary greenhouse is not conducive to their welfare, but if syringing is carried out as recommended they will soon recover from the check of removal.

GENERAL REMINDERS.

Cinerarias should not be shaded after this date. Any that require repotting should be attended to at once.

Schizanthus seed may still be sown for producing plants to flower in spring. Earlier sown plants may require repotting into four-inch pots. Use a light, rich loam, and a generous sprinkling of old engine ashes and soot mould. See that the insides of the pots are perfectly clean before they are used. Stand the plants in a shallow cold frame.

Cyclamen may now be removed to a greenhouse shelf. Keep the foliage moist, and when the plants are growing freely, never let them want for water.

Gloxinias, achimenes, tydeas, gesneras, and caladiums should now be dried off prior to storing them away for the winter. Young gloxinias that have not bloomed may be kept growing on a warm house shelf.

HERBACEOUS PERENNIALS.

Many of these hardy border plants have now finished their season of growth and flowering, and may be cut down. It is a mistake to leave the old growth on after it gets shabby, as it acts as a protection for slugs and other pests. The herbaceous border ought to look bright for a few weeks yet. Michaelmas daisies, perennial sunflowers, late spikes of delphiniums, chrysanthemums, and such others are all blooming freely. Should if these are to be seen to the best advantage, the border must be kept clean and neat. A good watering with liquid manure will assist the plants to continue flowering.

ZONAL PELARGONIUMS.

Double and single zonals that have been flowering in the greenhouse all summer usually get rather leggy at this time of the year. If space is required, the plants may now be discarded after a sufficient number of cuttings have been taken. Select sturdy, short-jointed shoots for propagating purposes, and strike them in small pots filled with a light, sandy compost. Stand the pots on a greenhouse shelf and avoid direct draughts. If the old plants are wanted for future use, gradually reduce the supply of water, and remove the old leaves as they turn yellow. They may be stored in a light frost-proof shed.

FARMERS IN WAR TIME.

THE PROPOSED EXTENSION OF WHEAT GROWING.

"Inferior grass land, and its utilisation in the present emergency," was the subject of a lecture delivered on Saturday to members of the Boroughbridge Agricultural Society by Mr. Potts, B.Sc., Assistant Lecturer on Agriculture in the University of Leeds.

This society is one of the oldest of its kind in the country, having been established in 1825, and is therefore able to consider up-to-date problems in the light of long experience. The meeting was held although the Public Hall at Boroughbridge had been requisitioned for the meeting, the farming community was not in a very responsive mood, questions at issue had led the promoters to expect. Mr. Albert Green presided, supported by Colonel Maude and others.

Drawing attention to the importance of keeping up our food supplies, and to the prospect of higher prices for wheat, Mr Potts pointed out that only one-fifth of the wheat consumed in this country is produced at home; and that one-half of the wheat and rye produced in the world is grown in Russia, Austria, Germany, and France, all of which countries have their able-bodied men in the war. He also discussed the advisability of increasing the crops of oats and potatoes. The use of inferior grass-land, we should regard, as (1) there is much of it, and (2) no class of land has been so much neglected. There are two million acres more grass-land in England than 30 years ago. Could one-fourth of this be brought back into cultivation, he added, it was not advisable to plough out really good grass-land, the best land for corn growing, though it might be for early potatoes in order to obtain short limited crops.

Dealing with the different kinds of inferior grass-land, he suggested that it was not the cold, strong land on the very poor heritage that should receive attention, but rather the kind which a farmer felt was capable of better things. There was, for instance, the land improved by basic slag; it was improved physically by the development of the clover roots, and chemically by the nitrogen scored up in it. Such land could be laid down again when necessary with a good mixture of grass and clovers, with the inclusion of white clover. As to grass land with a thick turf, which did not respond to artificial manures, this could be improved by time or compost, though the process was slow. Such land, he observed, would be greatly benefited by being ploughed out and put through a course of cropping. With regard to the great difficulty caused by an attack of wire-worm on this type of land, he advocated burning and burning the turf, but another method, he said, was to give a good application of lime, and put rape cake in the soil to attract the wire-worm. As to the reduced food available for live stock, he thought this difficulty might be overcome by improving the remaining grass land. Capital, however, would be the first item, and there would be less stock to buy, also there would be a better realisation of produce. He maintained that farmers were fortunate to gain and very little to lose by ploughing-out inferior grass-land—not to do it in wholesale manner, but to pick and choose according to circumstances. The farm had its reserves no less than the nations at war. There was a tremendous reserve of plant food stored up in the clovers and turf of inferior grass land, and he submitted that the time had come to make use of it in the interests of the nation and the farmer alike.

In the discussion that followed, Mr C. W. Clarke said he was of opinion that farmers would never thoughtfully and well until they had experimented with what should be kept up to 40s. a qr. With a glut of wheat from Canada down would go the price. He agreed that there were thousands of acres which might be improved by being ploughed out, but where was the labour to come from? He certainly hoped would have to look to Canada for wheat, and to that end the Navy must be kept up.

The Chairman commented on the loss that would accrue from having the land fallow for a year.

Col. Maude agreed with Mr Clarke that if the Government would grant a bonus or subsidy to give stability to prices, and see that wheat did not go below 40s to 45s. farmers then the farmers might make an effort to break up poor land. This, he considered, was a matter for capitalists, not farmers.

PROFITABLE POULTRY CULTURE

By RALPH R. ALLEN,

Lecturer to the Herts. County Council; Editor of "Monthly Hints on Poultry," &c.

(All rights reserved).

WAR CHAT.—No. 8.

In this article the 8p old Leaflet No. 2, issued by the Board of Agriculture and Fisheries, and commenced in loose columns two issues back, is concluded.

Some Hollow scraps can be used successfully by adding them to the soil mash, but it must be remembered that they are generally composed of fattening substances. The supply is more or less limited, and therefore cod-livers should be made to procure a supply from hotels, institutions, &c. They can usually be obtained for a nominal sum.

Since ordinary meals must be largely dispensed with, the ration will be on the bulky side, and hence special precautions should be taken to overcome any bad effects. Exercise is essential, and is best ensured by burying corn or seed in the litter of the house, thus inducing the birds to scratch for it. The aim should be to keep the birds actively hungry all day, giving them the largest meal about an hour before they go to roost. By adopting a plan of this kind every ounce of food consumed will be utilised, and there will be no waste due to the birds shelling up an over-sea of fat.

"Feeding poultry will be rather more expensive than has been the case during recent years, and the greatest care should be taken to ensure that nothing is wasted. Food given should be supplemental to that which fowls can obtain by foraging.

"All mashes should be fed in troughs, and only sufficient be given to satisfy the birds. Grain, except when buried in the litter, should be given in the same way. All foods should be placed in receptacles from which rats or hawks, since these vermin cause great loss, not only consuming large quantities, but spoiling a great deal more than they eat.

"It is not possible to make any radical changes in the feeding of chickens, but a larger amount of green food may be employed, and the young birds should be given as much liberty as possible. Arable land is rather better for this purposes than pasture, since it usually provides much more natural food, which is excellent for the chickens and reduces the cost of feeding very considerably."

(Any enquiries concerning poultry-keeping addressed to me, Ralph R. Allen, Sawbridgeworth, Herts, will be answered through these columns free, but those requiring a postal answer must enclose a penny stamp for postage examination must remit half-crown postal order. The name of the writer must in all cases be given).

OFFICER WHO WAS KNOWN AT ROUNDHAY

A member of the University of Leeds figures in the list of officers killed in France, in the person of Mr. E. W. Wilson, who belongs to an old Westmorland family.

Lieut. Wilson's nearest male relative is Mr. E. W. Wilson, formerly of the Leeds Inland Revenue, and well known at Roundhay. The officer was only 21 years of age.

Mr M. E. Sadler, made a speech at Batley on Monday evening on the cause of the war. He expressed the view that the Kaiser, who was a bloodthirsty man, and an attractive personality to some people, was one not accustomed to contradiction, had been persuaded to embark in a speculative adventure. Mr Sadler considered that this was an account for the inability of intellectual men in Germany to understand why England was taking part in the war.

DURING THE WAR USE

COLMAN'S MUSTARD

AND SECURE MORE EGGS

"The Poultry Keepers' Account Book" and other literature, post free on application to

RALPH R. ALLEN,
Sawbridgeworth
Herts.

PRICE LIST.
2lb. 2/8
1lb. 1/4
½lb. 10/2
¼lb. 2/6
Carriage Paid.

BRITAIN REQUIRES MORE FOOD!

ALLEN'S ROUP CURE, 2/1 Post Paid.

Each package contains a sufficiency to make 24 gallons of medicine, and is a guaranteed cure for this dreaded disease. Prevention is better than cure, and practical poultry keepers will occasionally give this preparation in the fowls' drinking water, and so render their flocks immune.

Full directions are given with each packet.

To be obtained only from R. R. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

ALLEN'S TONIC CAPSULES, 1 6 post paid

Generally called "The Poultry-Keepers' Friend." Immediately a bird is ailing off colour a capsule (iron, quinine, and cod-liver oil) night and morning will speedily put it right. For a day or two before and after shows they are invaluable.

To be obtained only from R. R. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

THE MOST PRACTICAL UTILITY POULTRY PAPER.

MONTHLY HINTS ON POULTRY

32 pages, profusely illustrated, art paper, &c.
Specimen copy, post free, 2d.

THE EDITOR, Sawbridgeworth, HERTS.
Write for specimen copy.

Pure-bred Laying Pullets 7/6 each.

We can offer you selected Rhode Island Red, White, Black, Buff, Silver Sebrights, White Orpington and White Wyandotte. March-hatched Pullets, 7s. 6d. each. Unrelated vigorous Cockerels, from 15s. each. Approval.

ALLEN POULTRY Co., Ltd., Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

THE PRINCE OF WALES' FUND OWN PATRIOTIC SONG.

"THE HOMES THEY LEAVE BEHIND." Music by Walter Rubens, Words by Harold Begbie. The entire profits of this song will be devoted to the National Relief Fund and the Variety Artistes' Benevolent Fund and Institution, the former receiving 75 per cent., the latter 25 per cent.

"THE HOMES THEY LEAVE BEHIND." Will you help them by purchasing the song? (Price 1/- post free). Band parts are published at the nominal charge of 2/- net, by the Publishers of the song, Enoch and Sons, 14 and 140, Great Marlborough Street, London, W.

THE WEEK'S MARKETS.

CORN.

Saturday, Monday.—An average attendance with a moderate show of grain. Wheats 37s. to 38s., secondary 35s to 36s, barleys 29s to 32s, fine oats 23s 6d to 24s 6d, medium samples 22s to 23s, fine 28s to 29s per qr.

LEEDS, Tuesday.—At the markets to-day there was an average attendance of millers, merchants, and maltsters. American wheat, owing to heavy arrivals, was 6d. lower on the week. Indian steady, but late arrivals from the market are in demand at a shade easier level. Barley and oats steady.

PROVISIONS.

SELBY, Monday.—Eggs 7 and 8 for 1s; butter 1s 2d to 1s 4d per lb.; chickens 3s 6d to 4s 6d per couple.

LEEDS, Tuesday.—Eggs, Yorkshire 18s. to 18s. 6d., Portadowns, 9d. to 17s. 3d., Irish (best) 15s to 16s, Hungarian (blues) 14s. to 14s 3d, do. (reds) 14s 9d. Butter: Danish 142s to 144s., Finnish 138s. to 139s.

POTATOES.

SELBY, Monday.—Farmers are holding off for better prices. A modifiable demand experienced. Sand Dukes 40s. per ton, Snowdrops 45s, King Edwards 45s to 47s 6d, warp King Edwards 50s to 55s per ton. Retail, 2s. 3d. per hamper.

CATTLE.

LEEDS, Tuesday.—Smaller supplies of both cattle and sheep. Trade slow, cattle making less money, 10s to 20s per head off. Fat sheep 7d. to 9d., calves 8½d. to 9d. per lb. Pigs 7s. 3d. to 8s 3d per stone. Numbers at market:—Cattle 810, sheep 1,855, calves 84, pigs 36.

WHITKIRK AUCTION MART, Monday.—Messrs Bartle and Son had increased supplies of stock at the fortnightly sale, the duties consisting of 134 newly calvers, calving, and store cattle, 77 fat beasts, 159 fat sheep, and 150 pigs of bacon. Good attendance of farmers, butchers, and dealers. A good show of dairy cattle, and a steady trade. Best newly calvers cows sold for £26 to £28, useful kinds to £20 10s, secondary and medium sorts £14 to £17 5s, present calvers to £24. Newly calved heifers £20 17s 6d, 18 to 22 months' old store heifers and bullocks £8 to £11 each. A rather slower demand for fat cattle; best bullocks and heifers 7½d. to 7¾d. good beef 7¼d to 7¾d. cows 6d to 7d per lb.; bullocks to £23 7s 6d, heifers to £19 2s 6d, and cows to £18 5s. Sheep made from 6d to 7d per lb. Choice shearlings to 9½d, heavier kinds 9d to 9¼d, ewes 7d to 7½d per lb. A quick trade for pork pigs, which made up to 8s. per stone; young pigs 7s 6d to 8s, stronger kinds to 48s each. Breeding calves made £1 8s to £2 2s each.

SELBY, Monday.—Messrs Richardson and Son disposed of 85 beasts, 40 sheep, and 50 pigs. A similar quantity of stock as last week, with the demand slow. Prices 10s to 20s lower. Sheep and pigs were practically at last week's rates. Prices as follows:—Fat bullocks up to £21 17s 6d, fat cows up to £18 10s, fat calves to £16 5s, store cattle to £13 10s, heifers in calf to £10 5s, cows in milk to £16 15s. Fat sheep to £1 2s each, weaned pigs to £8 2s 6d, pork pigs to £8 15s, gilts in pigs to £4 4s, and small store pigs to 14s 6d per head.

WETHERBY, Monday.—Messrs Thomlinson and Son had forward a splendid show of prime fat beasts, sheep, and pigs, with an attendance of butchers and dealers up to the auction mart. Best bullock and heifer beef met a good sharp trade in favour of the vendor, making 8s to 8s 6d, and a few extra choice sorts 8s to 8s 6d. Choice shearling sheep a fair trade, making to 10½d per lb.; heavy sheep and ewes 8½d to 9d. Store calves 14s to £2 5s, and yearlings and lambs, and 19 pigs. Mr E. Liversidge, Sicklkirk, Tockwith, sent eight well-finished bullocks, making £23 7s 6d, £23 5s, £23 2s 6d, £22 10s, £23 7s 6d, £23s, £24 2s 6d, and £24; Mr J. H. Hoole, Bickerton Grange, sent eight fine grand bullocks, making £23 5s 6d, £24 5s, £24 2s 6d, £23 17s 6d, £23 15s, £23 15s, £23 12s 6d, and £20 2s 6d; Mr J. Robinson sent two grand bullocks, making £23 and £23 5s; Mr J. W. Atkinson, Highfield, sent four wealthy bullocks, making £23 7s 6d, £23 2s 6d, £22 5s, and £18 12s 6d; Mr T. Jar. Wright, made £24 15s and £22 12s 6d; two well-finished bullocks, from Mr Cullingworth made £20 and £20 17s 6d; three bullocks from Mr T. J. Kinson, Kirk Deighton House, made £21; four grand bullocks from Mr T. Jackson, made up to £21; four very choice bullocks from Mr J. Burniston, realised up to £21; three grand quality bullocks from Mr T. Dawson made £23 5s, £22 10s, and £22; two fine heifers from Mr A. Kendall made to £20 5s; two very choice bullocks from Mr W. Rooke made £21 and £21 5s; two fine bullocks from Mr Jas. Rose to £20 5s; two very choice bullocks from Mr C. E. Cass made £22 7s 6d and £21 17s 6d; from Mr L. Sampson, Newton Kyme, four very choice bullocks made £23 5s, £23 2s 6d, £21 17s 6d, £21 15s, and £21 5s; three well-finished bullocks from Mr J. J. Thomlinson's farms made £23 2s 6d, £23 2s 6d, and £22 10s; four grand quality bullocks from Mr W. L. Kendall, made £22 17s 6d, £22, £18 10s, and £18 12s 6d; two bullocks from Mr T. J. Hall, Wilstrop, made up to £22 17s 6d; from Mr J. Bellbe, to £19 10s.; from Mr Dunnington, two grand bullocks made £23 and £22 10s, and £21 17s 6d; five wealthy bullocks from the auctioneers made £23s 12s 6d, £22 7s 6d, £22 5s 6d, £22, and £21 5s; Mr J. Pearson had a fine-ling sheep from Mr J. Spencelev made to 71s 6d each; Mr Machin, to 69s; Mr W. L. Kendall, to 69s; Mr Jas. Rose, to 59s 6d; Mr J. N Atkinson, to 51s; Mr B. Thomlinson, to 45s; Mr Stead, to 43s 6d; Mr R. Fearby, to 61s 6d; Mr Myers, to 54s; Mr Wm. Hobbs from Mr E. Liversidge to 49s each; Mr Barnitt, to 37s 6d; Mr T. Blaken, to 36s 6d; Mr Jas. Rose, to 35s 6d; Mr Wm. Hobbs, to 45s; Mr C. Maw, to 35s 6d; Mr W Dunnington, to 52s 6d; Mr W. R. Sturdy, to 48s 6d; Mr Myers, to 41s 6d. Store pigs made to 10s 6d.

ROTHWELL

LANGUAGE.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Sam Wilkinson, a collier of Rothwell, was summoned for having used obscene language. P.C. Womack stated that on Saturday, September 26th, about 8.30 p.m. he was in Windmill Yard, Rothwell Haigh, when he heard the defendant using the language complained of to a neighbour. On going to him he found him to be drunk. Defendant was fined 2s. 6d. and costs.

The Board of Agriculture and Fisheries have made arrangements for the appointment in each county or groups of counties of a Farm Produce Sales Committee who will invite farmers to submit samples and quote prices of the various classes of farm produce which they wish to sell for the use of his Majesty's forces.

GENUINE EAST INDIA RAPE NUTS.

A WELL-TRIED AND RELIABLE

AUTUMN TILLAGE.

M. SCOTT & Co., Seed Crushers, SELBY.

Prompt Delivery can be given to Rails Selby.

Ask your Manure Merchant for particulars.

FOOTBALL JOTTINGS

FOOTBALL IN BARKSTON ASH

Mr Harry Metcalfe, of Tadcaster, who is hon. sec. of Barkston Ash Association, has not had a long reign. He has joined the Royal Army Medical Corps, and he has left Tadcaster. For some time, I know, Mr Metcalfe has contemplated joining some unit of the Forces, and he interviewed the authorities at York a few weeks ago. He goes with my very best wishes, for he is not only an excellent sportsman but a thorough good fellow, and I know he will prove himself an efficient R.A.M.C. man. He will probably meet other Barkston Ash volunteers, who went to Strensall a fortnight ago.

It is intended, I understand, to circularise the clubs who intimated their intention of joining the Barkston Ash League with a view to finding out the possibility of starting the competition next month. When it was decided to stop the League's first football in the district I thought it was a mistaken policy, and the conditions have not changed. Many local clubs have joined the Colours a few weeks ago Aberford could not raise a team owing to players leaving—and it will probably be very difficult to start an efficient League now. However, it is a question for the players themselves. If the clubs rod up in sufficient numbers to form a competition there is no reason whatever why they should not go ahead.

LEEDS SENIOR LEAGUE—LOCAL RESULTS

On Saturday afternoon Garforth White Rose defeated Waterloo Main Colliery by four goals to one, Rothwell F.C. were beaten by Fry-ston by a similar score, Methley Perseverance and Thornhill Lees Albion played a drawn game of a good each; and Rothwell White Rose overcame New Wortley Gas Works by four to nil.

GARFORTH W.R. WIN

Garforth W.R. tackled the Waterloo Main team at Osmondthorpe, and success crowned their efforts. A strong up to the mark forwards the Waterloo end, and, after a smart but fruitless attack by the home team, play settled down in the home half, and the clever defence of Platts and Haigh that kept Garforth out for some time. A penalty was given against Platts, and Birch gave the visitors the lead. At this juncture Haigh, the home goalkeeper, was put out of action after a collision with an opponent. Some tricky work by Birch, Tomkinson, and A. Pickersgill close on half-time ended in Birch again scoring. Garforth were leading by two goals on all at half-time, and they subsequently improved their position by scoring twice, whilst the homesters had to be content with a single goal.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT JUNIOR LEAGUE

In this competition on Saturday afternoon Kippax Woodville beat Oulton St. John by a good to nil, Great Preston W.R. defeated United 4 goals to 2, Whitkirk St. Mary's overcame Athofts St. M. overcame Rothwell White Rose A. by 7 to nil, and Methley Church Lads accounted for Glasshoughton C. by four to two.

In the Wakefield League Methley M.M. defeated Pontefract by three goals to two, while in the Leeds Amateur League Rothwell O.B. beat Green Lane O.B. by two nil.

TADCASTER DEFEATED—TWO PENALTIES

Tadcaster had a match on Saturday afternoon with Bramley's team at York. The team lined up as follows: Rowntree—A Plant, goal; J. Chaplin and G. Dalby, backs; G. P. Scott, H. Hall, and W. Newby, half-backs; H. Rookledge, J. Rookledge, T. Holmes, L. Bell, and T. Johnson, forwards. Tadcaster—Lowery and Goodall; Husband and Goodman, backs; G. Clayton, W. Clayton, and Hewitt, half-backs; Ellerbeck, Moss, Nettleton, Gowland, and Beaumont, forwards. The homesters won the toss, but the captain elected to play from the pavilion end of the field. Play gave the visitors the advantage of the wind, and they also had the sun behind them. The opening exchanges were uneventful, but soon the home forwards gave ally was expected as an instant charge, but, as things turned out, it was evident the lion had not seen the men in front of him. Two lights of our men and horses on the sky-line, and when the bullet hit he must have ascribed it to them. At any rate he began to lash circle through the tangled vines in their direction.

"From their elevation they could follow his movements. Every time he showed a bit of terror and appeals for help. Some began frantically to run back and forth. Some of them had to run away; there was nowhere to go! The only thing that saved them was the thick and spiky character of the cover. The lion, instead of charging straight and fast, was picking an easy way.

"We were directly in front as we were able, leaping from rock to rock, and thrusting recklessly through the tangle. About half-way up I jumped to the top of a high, conical rock, and thence by good luck caught sight of the lion's great yellow head advancing steadily about eighty yards off. It looked as good a sight as I could and pulled trigger. The recoil knocked me clear off the boulder, but drive a snapshop. Clifford Hill and I knew that I had hit. At once Clifford Hill and I jumped up on the rock again; but the lion had vanished from sight. Clifford Hill, who was ten yards to my right, saw the fur fly, and we all heard the snarl as it was struck. Then we saw the carcass at an instant charge, but, as things turned out, it was evident the lion had not seen us at all. He was in the midst of a bush

DEATH OF MR J. W. BLACKBURN, OF ASTLEY

VICE-CHAIRMAN OF TADCASTER DISTRICT COUNCIL.

GENERAL MANAGER OF BOWERS ALLERTON COLLIERY.

FUNERAL AT SWILLINGTON.

We regret to announce the death of Mr James W. Blackburn, of Astley House, Astley, the general manager of Bowers Allerton Collieries, at the age of 74 years. He was one of the best known men in the district, and his passing will be regretted by a very wide circle of friends and those who have been associated with him in public work. His death was somewhat sudden. He was at the meeting of the District Council at Tadcaster on the Monday, presiding in the absence of the Chairman, and on the Tuesday, the day on which he was taken ill, he was in Leeds, where he went every week on business for his firm. On his return home he complained of feeling unwell, and on Wednesday he became worse, and took to his bed. On the Friday, however, he seemed much better and made the remark to the doctor "I am pounds better." In the evening, when his son William was with him, he rambled continuously about his work, but about 2 a.m. on Saturday he never spoke, falling off into a gentle doze from which he never awoke, and passed away at 4.30 on Saturday afternoon. He leaves a widow, a daughter and three sons, the two eldest being connected with Bowers Allerton Colliery and the younger with Messrs Brotherton and Co.

The deceased gentleman commenced his career as an apprentice at Messrs Kitson's, the engineering firm in Hunslet, where he gained a knowledge of engineering that stood him in good stead in after life. From Messrs Kitson's he took up a position with Mr Joshua Bower who then owned the present colliery at Allerton. In the early seventies the colliery was sold to a company—the Bowers Allerton Company, which, however, had not a long existence; in fact, about five years after it had been taken over by the company, the present owners had bought it. Mr Blackburn was at the colliery when the first change was made, but about a year later (1874 or 1875) he left and settled down in Hull, as the representative of the Manston Colliery Company. In August of 1879 Messrs T. and R. W. Bower took over the colliery, and the deceased was appointed general manager to the firm, and he maintained the position until the time of his death.

Mr Blackburn, who was a very fluent speaker, was well-known throughout the district as a local preacher, being connected with the United Methodist Free Church, the members of which were in the early days called the "Reformers." For fully fifty years he was active in this sphere. He was very popular at Castleford, and it is said that he preached the one-thousandth sermon at the Whitwood Mere Chapel for over 20 years, while he was the recipient of an illuminated address from the members and members of that place of worship.

He took a great interest in the mission at Bowers Allerton, of which he was practically the founder, and where he attended on the Sunday previous to his demise.

The deceased gentleman was a prominent member of Tadcaster Board of Guardians and District Council for many years, and he was ever ready to take his full share of the work. He was a member of all the principal committees, and so highly were his services valued that several years ago his colleagues did him the honour to appoint him vice-chairman—a position to which he was repeatedly unanimously elected. He also presided at, and attended the long meeting of the Council at Tadcaster, and, in the absence of the Chairman, he conducted the business. He displayed a keen interest in education, and while being associated with the management of local schools, he took a leading part in the work of Kippax Education Committee, of which body he was vice-chairman. His activities, however, were seen in many directions. In all parochial work he was ever to the fore, and he acted as Chairman of the Great and Little Preston Parish Council, in addition to serving on Swillington Parish Council. In politics, he favoured the Unionists, frequently presiding at Conservative gatherings, and when the late Tom Mallalieu, the parliamentary honours he worked very hard in his behalf.

The remains were interred at Swillington churchyard on Tuesday afternoon in the presence of a large gathering of mourners and friends. A striking tribute of respect was paid to the deceased gentleman by the residents of Bowers Allerton—employees at the colliery—who, practically all turned out, and they walked in front of the hearse all the way to Swillington Church. The hearse was covered with wreaths, and, in addition, a carriage was laden with tributes of a similar character. Three o'clock—the hour fixed for the interment—struck, and a few minutes afterwards the tolling of the bell announced the approach of the mournful procession. The surpliced choir and clergy—the Rev. J. Gregory (curate of Great Preston), and the Rev. H. T. Pattinson, B.A. (curate of Oulton St. John's) walked to the church gate, and there they met the cortège. The first portion of the burial service was read by the Rev. J. Gregory, and as the coffin was carried into the church on the shoulders of members of the Whitwood Mere United Methodist Church, the organist played Chopin's "March Funebre." The 90th Psalm was sung by the choir, and the lesson was read by the Rev. H. B. Chapman, Castleford, after which the hymn "Now the labourer's task is o'er" was sung. As the procession was proceeding and left the church the organist played "O Rest in the Lord."

The grave had been lined with ivy and white chrysanth-mums, and, after the committal service had been read by the Rev. H. T. Pattinson, the hymn "Jesu, Lover of my Soul" was sung.

The chief mourners were Mr W. S. Blackburn (eldest son), Mrs Peck (daughter), Mr and Mrs Walter Blackburn (son and daughter-in-law), Mr and Mrs Harry Blackburn (son and daughter-in-law), Mr and Mrs Hubert Peck, Masters Clement and Norman Blackburn, Mr Percy Blackburn, and Miss Blackburn, Mr Peck, Miss Peck, Mr G. M. Gommersall, Harrogate), Miss Gommersall, Mr and Mrs H. Gommersall, Mr F. Maude, Mr Braithwaite, Mrs Tillotson, Mrs H. Jackson, Miss Lee, Miss Bulloch (maid), Mr R. W. Bower, Mr W. H. Atkinson (secretary of the colliery), Mr J. Mellors (H.M. Inspector of Mines), Mr and Mrs Butler (Burnley), Mr Woodbridge (colliery manager), Mr E. Schofield, Mr and Mrs Fisher, Mr and Mrs Robinson, Mr and Mrs Laing, Mr and Mrs Oxbridge, Mr and Mrs Colley, and Mr J. Holdsworth (formerly manager at Methley).

Others present were Mr and Mrs Curtis (Fryston), Mr J. Hargreaves (Moor Allerton), Mr J. P. Mountain (Leeds), Mr J. Redpath (Castleford), Mr W. Prince, and Mr J. Prince (Allerton), Mr R. Eaves (Garforth), Mr E. Phillips (Allerton), Mr Kemp (Shipley), Mr M. Waterhouse (Stanningley), the Rev. J. Davis (United Methodist Church, Castleford), Mr M. Waters (Castleford), Rev. E. B. Smith (vicar of Kippax), Mr J. Harding (Kippax), Mr R. Routledge, sen. (Garforth), Mr J. W. Dobson (Chairman, Garforth Urban Council), Mr E. Parker, J.P. (Chairman of Kippax Education Committee), Mr J. Woodsworth (Chairman of Garforth Education Committee), Mr H. W. Powell (Clerk to Garforth and Kippax Education Committees), Mr G. A. Bennett (Clerk to Tadcaster District Council), Mr J. Farrant (Kippax), Mr J. T. Lygo (Woodlesford), Mr J. E. Davenport (Oulton), Mr Hessling (Leeds), Mr T. Scott Butler (Wigan), Mr W. R. Tebb (Kippax), Mr G. W. Drake (Castleford), Captain Madgin and Mr Colby (Castleford Salvation Army), Rev. W. G. Softley and Mr C. S. Handforth (representing Rothwell Primitive Methodist Church), Messrs M. Plows, G. Plows, C. H. Hilbery, Goodall, S. Hallsworth, and T. Collinson (Kippax United Methodist Church), Messrs C. H. Wilson, F. Wheatley, W. Wheatley, E. Butler (Wigan), Mr W. R. Tebb (Kippax Primitive Methodist Church), Mr G. Jennings (Castleford), Mr Thrippleton (Leeds), Mr A. Newsome (Leeds), Mr J. B. Beadman (Keighley), Mr F. Long (Leeds), Mr J. Wallis (Leeds), Mr A. Long (Leeds), Mrs A. Lowther (Little Preston Hall), Mr L. Webster (Kippax), Mr W. Askew, Mr M. Wilson (Methodist United Methodist with Bowers Allerton Colliery and the younger with Messrs Brotherton and Co.

The wreaths were numerous, a large number having been sent by the men at the pits.

The list was as follows:—From the widow, Mr W. S. Blackburn and family, Mr and Mrs Walter Blackburn and family, Mr and Mrs Harry Blackburn, Mrs Peck (daughter), Mr J. Ray and family (Great Preston), Mr and Mrs Walton and family, Mr and Mrs E. Schofield, Mr H. Dyer, Mr Thomas Bower, Sir Charles and Lady Lowther, Mr Hubert Peck, and Mr Leonard Peck, the Misses Mabel and Marjorie Peck (grandchildren), Mr J. Mellors and family, Mr R. W. Bower, Mr and Mrs Beain (Methley), Allerton Colliery underground officials, the office staff, Primrose Hill Colliery underground officials, underground officials of Victoria Pit, Shipping and Coal Company, Hull, under-ground workers Messrs Bower, surface workers of the Victoria, Albert, and Lowther Pits (two wreaths), surface workers of the Primrose Hill Colliery, the farm men and coal leaders of the firm, Messrs J. Dawson and Sons (Leeds), the teachers of the Bowers Allerton Mission Sunday School, the young men of the Friday night Bible Class (Bowers Allerton), James Morgan, Miss Bullock, the members and teachers of the United Methodist Church (Methley), Kippax United Methodist Church, Whitwood Mere United Methodist Church, Rothwell Primitive Methodist Church, Garforth United Methodist Church, Swillington and Great Preston Unionist Association, and the Swillington Parish Council.

SHERBURN PETTY SESSIONS

KIPPAX MEN IN TROUBLE.

At Sherburn Petty Sessions on Thursday the magistrates present were the Rev. Holmes Smith (Chairman) and Mr Walter Crosland.

A poor rate for Newthorpe of 1s. 11d. and 11½d. in the pound was allowed.

Arthur Clayton and John Britton, miners, of Kippax, were charged with having been drunk and disorderly on the 10th ult. in Main Street, Ledsham. P.C. Wickham stated he found defendants very drunk and disorderly. Britton threatened to kick him. Each defendant was fined 20s. and 5s. 6d. costs.

Fred Foss and Fred Westerman, miners, of Brotherton, were charged with being drunk and disorderly on the 4th ult. in High Street, Brotherton. Each defendant was fined 10s. and 5s. 6d. costs.

Mr John Redmond, at Wexford, on Sunday, said the National Volunteers should be under the control of the Irish Government. To lift in the hands of a few mischief-makers. The volunteers might find themselves the tools of the enemies of Ireland.

The Coalbrookdale Ironworks, which held an exclusive patent for Great Britain for the manufacture of horseshoes by mechanical means, and did an immense business, have stopped two shifts in consequence of German competition. The works have been reopened this week with an order from France for one and a half million horseshoes.

WICK COUNCIL AND CLERK'S SALARY

MEMBERS REFUSE TO DISCUSS THE QUESTION.

A meeting of Barwick-in-Elmet Council was held at the Council Room, Scholes, on Monday evening—Mr J. M. Rayner (Chairman) presiding. The other members present were Messrs J. Booth, J. Birch, R. Wright, A. Robshaw, and E. Lamb (Barwick), and Messrs W. Wetherell, J. Pemberton, and W. Needham (Scholes), with the Clerk (Mr H. B. Cooke).

A letter was read from the Clerk to Tadcaster District Council in answer to a request that the Council should be represented on Scholes Town Planning Committee. It was stated that Scholes was ably represented by Mr Chippendale, and there was no necessity for a representative of the Parish Council being on the committee. Mr Wright said he raised the question at Tadcaster under the impression that if Scholes ward was town-planned the parish would have to meet the expense, but he was informed the cost would be spread over all the district. Consequently if everyone else paid he would be prepared to pay. He would have a representative from every parish.

Mr Dennison, secretary to Garforth Gas Company—Your letter of August 11th was brought before the directors at their meeting on Sept. 2nd, when they instructed me to express their regret at the misunderstanding which has arisen respecting the five fittings at Barwick. They desire me to point out that the course they adopted is identical to that adopted at Garforth and Aberford, and it is imperative that we should follow the recognised rule in this respect. —The Chairman: Is that satisfactory to Barwick representatives?—Mr Wright: It will have to be. (Laughter).

Mr Pemberton, in accordance with notice given, moved that a committee be appointed to go into the question of the Clerk's appointment. He suggested that five members should form the committee.—No one would second the proposal.—The Chairman said the position was not satisfactory from the standpoint of the Council or the Clerk. This matter came up from time to time, and it was not a very pleasant position to place the Clerk in, and he thought they should settle it once and for all.—Mr Robshaw: It has to come up during the twelve months.—Mr Pemberton said that was the reason for his proposal.—The Chairman said he should like the Council to deal with it forthwith.—Mr Pemberton said that ratepayers had mentioned the matter to him, and he thought it his duty to bring it forward, but if other members did not think it necessary while he took into it he stood alone.—The Chairman said that the Council might deal with it at once, and if Mr Pemberton had any facts or figures bearing on the question he was glad they would be placed before them.—Mr Wright said that unless the question was to be settled he should enter his protest against it. That was the third or fourth time it had been up, and he was about tired of discussing it.—The Chairman: If it is discussed to-night I take it that it will be closed.—Mr Pemberton said that he thought the figures before Crossgates was taken into Leeds and the figures for Scholes should be given so that the members would have some idea what they were discussing.—Mr Wright: Every member knows near enough to guide his conduct to-night.—Mr Birch said they could not alter the appointment until next annual meeting.—The Chairman: Whatever we decide cannot have any effect until the annual meeting.—Mr Booth: The annual meeting does not feel obliged to accept what is done to-night.—Mr Booth said the annual meeting would consist of the same people.—Mr Needham said he thought Mr Pemberton should give them the information. If he brought forward a proposition he should be ready with particulars.—Mr Pemberton said that was altogether wrong. He brought the matter forward because it was in the minutes that it should be dealt with during the year, and he proposed the appointment of a committee so that the figures could be got out. One half of the district had been taken away, and there could not be the same amount of work in connection with it. He did not think this should be a whole time job.—Mr Wright said the Clerk had not last half of his time. He admitted that in collecting the amount of money had dropped 47 per cent., but there was nearly the same area to go over.—Mr Pemberton said he guaranteed that two-thirds of the work had to be taken away because the collection of rates in Crossgates was house-to-house, and out there they got practically half the rateable value from the railway, and they were large farms. He guaranteed that the work in connection with the place did not take half-a-day a week.—Mr Wright: It is ridiculous.—Mr Pemberton: If a committee was formed they would find that not half but two-thirds of the work has been taken away.—The Chairman: Do you move a resolution?—Mr Pemberton said he had moved one already, and he would not move another.—Mr Robshaw said he thought the sooner this matter was settled the better, for it was putting the Clerk in a very funny position. He moved that they go into the question.—Mr Pemberton seconded.—This proposal, however, was defeated.—Mr Needham then put forward another resolution, but the Council having decided to discuss the matter, it is old not be accepted.—The Chairman: I think the Council should have fixed the question whether or not the Clerk is paid too much. I have made up my mind.—Mr Wright: So have I. I was satisfied with the appointment when made, and that is why I opposed the resolution.—The matter then dropped.

TEMPLENEWSAM COUNCIL.

FOOTPATHS—PUBLIC SLAUGHTER-HOUSE.

The Templenewsam Parish Council met on Monday evening at the Council School, Halton.—Mr J. H. Tomlinson (Chairman) presiding. The other Councillors present were Messrs W. Baker, G. D. Crosthwaite, J. A. Dixon, H. E. Catton, and C. E. Goodall, with the Clerk (Mr Vernon Greaves).

Correspondence was read from the Automobile Association, in which it was stated that two danger signals had been forwarded and required fixing in close proximity to the school.—After a short discussion it was decided to report the receipt of the same to the District Council, and ask them to undertake the fixing.

Mr Dixon reported, on behalf of the Footpaths Committee, that as a rule the footpaths had been inspected, and wanted attention. He also stated that there were plenty of ashes to be obtained, and now was the time to have the footpaths repaired.

A resolution, proposed by Mr Catton, and seconded by Mr Crosthwaite, was passed as follows:—That the Footpaths Committee be empowered to put the footpaths in a proper state of repair for the coming winter.

It was reported by Mr Goodall, on behalf of the Allotments Committee, that the water had been laid on to the field, but the stand pipe wanted a proper protection.

A resolution was passed to the effect that the up and stand pipe be wrapped with felt and lead in so as to protect it from the frost, and Mr Goodall was appointed to see to this being done.

There was some discussion about the need for a public slaughter-house in the village, but it was reported that this was a matter which the District Council had in hand.

Several accounts were passed for payment, and a precept was issued on the overseers for £25.

CORRESPONDENCE.

INTERESTING SWILLINGTON COMMON COMPETITION

To the Editor.

Sir,—During the month of May I gave my upper standard boys a potato to grow in their own gardens, or home, offering a prize for the best return.

The boys, as well as their parents, have taken a great interest in the competition, and on Tuesday, the 6th of October, the whole of each root was to be brought to school. There has been a great amount of talk among the scholars and also their parents, and I have often heard very glowing accounts of this special root of potatoes.

When the weighing-in time came everyone in school was very anxious to see the result, which was as follows:—

	No. of Weight.	Potatoes.	Value
	1st.	11b.	7½
1—Martin Green	53
2—John Crossley	11lbs. 4½ozs.	36	28
3—James Parker	11lbs. 2ozs.	29	25

The potato grown was the Arran Chief.—Yours, etc.,

JOHN M. BOYES

Swillington Common, October 9th, 1914.

MONK FRYSTON'S ROLL OF HONOUR

To the Editor.

Sir,—I notice in last week's issue that a reader wants to know how many men Monk Fryston has sent to the Army. Since the war broke out the following have gone:—Lieut. Ferry, John Fleming, John Jamieson, W. Luford, H. Kendall, Thos. Pearson, C. Stoker, F. Simmons, and T. Baker.

The following, who are natives of the village and whose parents now reside at Monk Fryston, are serving with the colours:—Chaprnis, J. Berry, J. Lewis, G. Fery, J. Fern, and W. Jamieson—making a total of 15. South Milforthians are naturally proud of their number (25), and great credit is due to them for their young men responding so nobly to the call. At the last census the population of South Milford was returned at 1,022, and Monk Fryston 530, giving honour where honour is due, I think Monk Fryston has done as well as South Milford.—Yours, etc.,

UNION JACK.

DEATH OF CANON WORTHY, SELBY

AN ESTEEMED PRIEST.

The Very Rev. Canon Thomas Worthy, principal-designate of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Selby, died early on Saturday at the age of 64.

His health had failed considerably during the past two years, but within the last fortnight he was struck down by severe illness which followed upon a chill contracted through having been caught in heavy rain. He had only just returned from his annual holiday when the illness developed, obliging him to take to his bed. His condition became serious, and early last week the last Sacraments were administered. On Friday he lapsed into a pitiable unconscious condition, and the end came peacefully.

Canon Worthy had been scarcely three years in Selby. He was appointed by the Bishop of Leeds to Selby in succession to the late Canon Cordon, and took up his duties at St. Mary's on October 21st, 1911. The greater part of his ministerial life he spent as principal of the Shibden Industrial School, Halifax. He held the post for many years, and was so devoted to the work that he relinquished it with very great reluctance. On taking charge of the Selby Church he told the congregation that he had not long to live, and on several occasions since had made remarks to similar effect. An arduous task, his friends say, has been undertaken by the Canon, and took up his duties at St. Mary's on October 21st, 1911. The greater part of his ministerial life he spent as principal of the Shibden Industrial School, Halifax. He held the post for many years, and was so devoted to the work that he relinquished it with very great reluctance. On taking charge of the Selby Church he told the congregation that he had not long to live, and on several occasions since had made remarks to similar effect. An arduous task, his friends say, has been undertaken by the Canon, and took up his duties at St. Mary's on October 21st, 1911.

The deceased prelate was a native of the Diocese of Leeds.

An impressive funeral was witnessed at Selby on Tuesday, when the remains of the late Rev. Canon Worthy were laid to rest. Solemn Requiem Mass was sung at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church by the Bishop of Leeds (the Right Rev. Dr. Cowgill), who was assisted by Canon Heafson (Castleford).

Among the clergy present at the funeral were the Right Rev. Monsignor O'Hagan, V.G. (Leeds), the Right Rev. Monsignor Pearson (Knaresborough), Dean Shine (Leeds), Canon Earnshaw (St. Patrick's, Bradford), Canon Hogg, Canon Wood, Canon McAuliffe (Leeds), Canon Foley (Halifax), Canon McCabe (Whitby), Father Corcoran (Shibden), the Rev. R. J. Dunford (resident priest at Selby), etc. Mrs Worthy (aunt of the deceased) and other relatives were among the chief mourners.

In addition to the Catholic congregation there were many friends of the deceased canon present at the service, including the Rev. Dr. Solloway (vicar of Selby), the Rev. H. A. Marcon (curate of the Abbey), Mrs. Hawdon, and others. The church was draped in mourning. Over the coffin, which rested on a catafalque in front of the altar, were placed the deceased's robes, biretta, and the chalice. The choral parts of the Mass were sung by a choir of priests, led by the Rev. E. Carr, of Batley Carr. The Bishop's secretary, the Rev. J. Hawkeswell, officiated as Master of Ceremonies.

The Very Rev. Canon Earnshaw delivered a touching address on the passage, "Carefully study to present thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed" (2 Timothy, II.). Canon Earnshaw said that well might they repeat the pathetic words of the Pope, the Vicar of Christ, in his letter on the war, that they placed at the head of nations for the salvation of human society should forget their differences, remembering how much misery and mourning accompany this mortal life, and not render it more desolate and unhappy. Here death had invaded the ranks of the clergy, and taken from their midst one of the most devoted and gifted leaders of the Lord's army. They would not surmount that blot without feeling the deepest sorrow, and their sorrow would be felt by all who knew Thomas Canon Worthy. He would be mourned throughout the dioceses, Ferry, John Fleming, John Jamieson, W. Luford, H. Kendall, Thos. Pearson, C. Stoker, F. Simmons, and T. Baker.

The following, who are natives of the village and whose parents now reside at Monk Fryston, are serving with the colours:—Chaprnis, J. Berry, J. Lewis, G. Fery, J. Fern, and W. Jamieson—making a total of 15. South Milforthians are naturally proud of their number (25), and great credit is due to them for their young men responding so nobly to the call. At the last census the population of South Milford was returned at 1,022, and Monk Fryston 530, giving honour where honour is due, I think Monk Fryston has done as well as South Milford.—Yours, etc.,

UNION JACK.

DEATH OF CANON WORTHY, SELBY

AN ESTEEMED PRIEST.

The Very Rev. Canon Thomas Worthy, principal-designate of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Selby, died early on Saturday at the age of 64.

His health had failed considerably during the past two years, but within the last fortnight he was struck down by severe illness which followed upon a chill contracted through having been caught in heavy rain. He had only just returned from his annual holiday when the illness developed, obliging him to take to his bed. His condition became serious, and early last week the last Sacraments were administered. On Friday he lapsed into a pitiable unconscious condition, and the end came peacefully.

Canon Worthy had been scarcely three years in Selby. He was appointed by the Bishop of Leeds to Selby in succession to the late Canon Cordon, and took up his duties at St. Mary's on October 21st, 1911. The greater part of his ministerial life he spent as principal of the Shibden Industrial School, Halifax. He held the post for many years, and was so devoted to the work that he relinquished it with very great reluctance. On taking charge of the Selby Church he told the congregation that he had not long to live, and on several occasions since had made remarks to similar effect. An arduous task, his friends say, has been undertaken by the Canon, and took up his duties at St. Mary's on October 21st, 1911.

The deceased prelate was a native of the Diocese of Leeds.

An impressive funeral was witnessed at Selby on Tuesday, when the remains of the late Rev. Canon Worthy were laid to rest. Solemn Requiem Mass was sung at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church by the Bishop of Leeds (the Right Rev. Dr. Cowgill), who was assisted by Canon Heafson (Castleford).

Among the clergy present at the funeral were the Right Rev. Monsignor O'Hagan, V.G. (Leeds), the Right Rev. Monsignor Pearson (Knaresborough), Dean Shine (Leeds), Canon Earnshaw (St. Patrick's, Bradford), Canon Hogg, Canon Wood, Canon McAuliffe (Leeds), Canon Foley (Halifax), Canon McCabe (Whitby), Father Corcoran (Shibden), the Rev. R. J. Dunford (resident priest at Selby), etc. Mrs Worthy (aunt of the deceased) and other relatives were among the chief mourners.

In addition to the Catholic congregation there were many friends of the deceased canon present at the service, including the Rev. Dr. Solloway (vicar of Selby), the Rev. H. A. Marcon (curate of the Abbey), Mrs. Hawdon, and others. The church was draped in mourning. Over the coffin, which rested on a catafalque in front of the altar, were placed the deceased's robes, biretta, and the chalice. The choral parts of the Mass were sung by a choir of priests, led by the Rev. E. Carr, of Batley Carr. The Bishop's secretary, the Rev. J. Hawkeswell, officiated as Master of Ceremonies.

The Very Rev. Canon Earnshaw delivered a touching address on the passage, "Carefully study to present thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed" (2 Timothy, II.). Canon Earnshaw said that well might they repeat the pathetic words of the Pope, the Vicar of Christ, in his letter on the war, that they placed at the head of nations for the salvation of human society should forget their differences, remembering how much misery and mourning accompany this mortal life, and not render it more desolate and unhappy. Here death had invaded the ranks of the clergy, and taken from their midst one of the most devoted and gifted leaders of the Lord's army. They would not surmount that blot without feeling the deepest sorrow, and their sorrow would be felt by all who knew Thomas Canon Worthy. He would be mourned throughout the dioceses in the distant parts of the world, in the distant farms of Canada, and the cities of the United States, for his life's work had affected hundreds spread over the globe, who, that day, deplored the bereft of their labours. All who heard the sad news would feel that there had been taken way from them a priestly workman, who carefully studied to present himself approved unto God, a workman in God's vineyard "that needeth not to be ashamed."

LOOK HERE!

We have a REPUTATION to maintain, and we do it by giving you the BEST VALUE in Provisions, Groceries, &c.

Specialists in BUTTER, HAMS, BACON, CHEESE, &c.

Also FLOUR, FEEDING MEAL, POULTRY CORN &c,

T. B. SMITH & SON,

SUPPLY STORES,

GARFORTH.

Our Special Blends of Tea, 2/2, 2/-, 1/8 per lb., contain some of the Finest Teas the World produces.

At the lengthy procession to the cemetery the school children, the sisters at the school, the clergy, and congregation, and boys from the Shibden School took part. The last named boys sent a choice wreath.

The Rev. R. J. Dunford officiated at the graveside.

ROTHWELL DISTRICT DISTRESS COMMITTEE

REFUSAL TO MAKE A GRANT TO THE BELGIAN FUND.

A meeting of the Rothwell and District General Distress Committee was held at the Council Offices, Rothwell, on Monday night.—Mr G. W. Blakey presiding. Two Councillors present were Messrs S. R. Chadwick, T. P. Wade, W. Wade, W. Lunn, W. Robinson, W. Speak, R. McCullaugh, J. Horner, and others who attended included Miss Stumpy, the Rev. W. G. Softly (Rothwell), the Rev. W. C. Allen (Stourton), Mr J. Southwart, Mr F. F. Moore (house), Mr H. G. Martin, and Mr J. Butterick, with the hon. secretaries Messrs W. Dodgson, and H. J. Butler.

The following statement of accounts, made up from the reports of the ward committees, showing the amounts received, and the amounts paid out to dependents was read by Mr Dodgson:—Received into the Central Fund £48 13s. Received from the North and South Wards £30 19s. 7½d., Stourton Ward £24. Carlton £13 10s., Thorpe £14. 7s. 11½d.—a total income of £110 10s. 7d. The amounts paid out by the different committees are as follows:—North and South Ward £1 10s., Stourton Ward £13 8s. 6d., Carlton 14s. 8d., Lofthouse 15s., and Thorpe 19s. 6d.—a total of £16 7s. 8d. This, however, will be repaid by the Soldiers' and Sailors' and Families' Association.

The Chairman announced that the Rothwell Gas Company had decided to give £10 10s. to the fund.

The Clerk reported that the money paid out could not be claimed from the Soldiers' and Sailors' Families Association unless a detailed list showing the names of the amounts paid to each person were forwarded, and a resolution calling upon the secretaries of the different wards to supply the necessary information was accordingly passed.

Mr J. Butterick said he had been asked by the Rev. N. W. Thompinson to make a suggestion that the committee make a grant out of their fund to the Belgian Refugee Fund. He himself thought it a very reasonable suggestion. They required houses and some furnishing and other things, and he suggested that a grant be made of about £10, and further that they should spend another £10 in providing them with bedding and things of that sort. As yet they had made no grant to the National Relief Fund.

Mr Martin said he was prepared to move a resolution that £10 be given to the Refugee Fund—the National Fund, and not to the fund in Leeds, as his contention was that Leeds was a wealthy city.

Mr Butterick, who said they should send the money where it was most needed, seconded the resolution.

The Rev. W. C. Allen asked if it was permissible as the money had not been raised for that object? Then, had they not better wait until they saw the amount of money they had.

Mr Blakey, who said he did not favour the suggestion, said they had plenty of time yet to consider the matter, although no one had more sympathy with the Belgians than himself, who had been driven from their homes than he had, and they were indebted to the Belgians, but, at the same time, the money they had received up to the present was not much.

Mr Butterick said the amounts read out did not represent the total amount in the hands of the treasurer. The money they had was not required for the present, and if any one needed any sympathy it was the Belgian people. It was an international question, and they should do their best for every single individual, never minding the nationality they belonged to. If they did not vote the money to the Belgian Fund they would vote a sum to the National Relief Fund, and in question of that sort they should surely be tied down by the rules and that they could not move. They wanted to do the best for the greatest number.

Mr Martin said if the money was granted to the Belgian Relief Fund it would go out and say they had put the money to a good purpose.

Mr Bowan said he thought the money they had should be held back for a short period. The time when the money was most needed would be when the war was over.

The Rev. W. G. Softley asked if they were in order to vote a grant for the purpose required. Personally he was not in favour of voting the money away.

Mr Lunn said the resolution passed at the last meeting with regard to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Families Association admitted of the present resolution being in order. He thought money would be needed in the district. He also thought that such committees should force the government to provide for people who came back from the war unable to earn their living. Instead of the Government doing that they would leave the people nursing at the corridors of the workhouse or selling matches at the corner of Belgrave, Leeds.

On a vote being taken seven voted in favour of the resolution and nine against.

Mr Martin moved a resolution that the Government be urged to do all in their power to provide for dependents of soldiers who had gone out to the front from other places in connection with the war, and also for soldiers who had returned and were unable to gain their own living.

Mr Bowan seconded.

Mr Horner said that of Thorpe they had moved a resolution in the same terms but more drastic.

Mr Martin said he would withdraw his resolution in favour of Mr Horner's, and Mr Horner gave notice to bring up the motion at the next meeting.

Mr Butterick also gave notice to raise the question of granting a sum to the Belgian National Fund at the next meeting.

The Sunderland steamer Riversdale arrived at Cardiff on Monday with a portion of the Canadian gift of flour to Great Britain.

A fire occurred in the hold of the Messageries Maritimes steamer Medoc in the Royal Albert Docks, London. The vessel had to be submerged in order that the fire might be extinguished.

EVERY WOMAN. Should send two stamps for our 32 page Illustrated Book, containing Valuable Information how all Irregularities and Superfluous (no matter how arising) may be entirely avoided or removed by simple means. Recommended by eminent Physicians, as the only Safe, Sure, and Genuine Remedy. Never Fails. Thousands of Testimonials. Established 1865.

Mr PAUL BLANCHARD, Claremont House, Dalston Lane, London.

Rothwell Courier & Times

ESTABLISHED 1873.

CHEAP PREPAID RATES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS of the following classes:—
WANTED, FOR SALE, and TO LET.

Words.	1 week.	3 weeks	6 weeks.	13 weeks
20 ...	0 6 ...	1 0 ...	1 10 ...	3 3
30 ...	0 9 ...	1 6 ...	2 9 ...	5 0
40 ...	1 0 ...	2 0 ...	3 3 ...	6 6

If Cash is not sent with advt. ordinary rates will be charged.

BUSINESS ADVERTISEMENTS.
Are charged at the following rates when ordered for not less than

13 weeks,	1s. per inch per insertion.
26 do.	10d. do.	do.
52 do.	8d. do.	do.

RAILWAY NOTICE.

NORTH EASTERN RAILWAY.

EXCURSION TRAINS FROM LEEDS NEW STATION WITH BOOKINGS FROM CROSSGATES AND GARFORTH.
Monday, 12th October, 8.40 a.m. and 12.45 p.m. to Goole and Hull (Fair). Wednesday, 14th October, 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, Scarborough, Pickering, and Whitby. 1.32 p.m. to Goole and Hull (Fair). Saturday, 17th October, 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, Scarborough, Pickering, and Whitby. 12.30 p.m. to Stamford Bridge, Pocklington, Market Weighton, Driffield, and Bridlington. 12.45 p.m. to Goole, and Hull.
For further particulars see bills.

WANTED

WANTED a Strong GENERAL for Farm-house.—Cocksford, Haddenwood, Tadcaster. 3 2426

WANTED 3 Respectable Men as LODGERS. —Apply, Mrs Flockton, 3, 18 Bentley Square, Oulton, Leeds. 2 2363

WANTED Daily or Morning GOVERNESS, for first lessons, two children.—Mrs Sykes, Barwick-in-Elmet. 2449

WANTED CHEST OF DRAWERS, cheap, not painted.—Apply, by letter only, to W. Barker, Bow Hill, Barwick-in-Elmet. 1 2434

GENERAL MAID, strong, required. Help given. Write stating age, references, wages, to Mrs Miller-Speight, Askwith. 1

WANTED Superior, Young GENERAL, aged 17 to 18. References. Another maid kept.—Hirst, 21, Shiplebrook Avenue, Leeds. 2 2345

CAPABLE GENERAL SERVANT. Three in family. No children. Comfortable home. —Apply, Mrs Simpson, 13, Elmet Terrace, Crossgates. 1 2410

GENERAL SERVANT wanted. No baking. Three in family. Good personal references necessary.—Apply, Green, Desmond, Whitkirk, nr. Leeds. 3 2444

WANTED COTTAGE in Country, near station or tram. Gas-cooker for poultry preferred.—Apply, Tomb, c/o Mr Pollard, Moor Allerton Hill, Leeds. 1 2411

WANTED (for the period of the War), CLERK to assist at Whitkirk Mart on Fortnightly Sale Days.—Apply, by letter, Bartle & Son, Auctioneers, Garforth.

FOR SALE.

FOR Sale 11 STORE PIGS, 10 weeks old.—L. Brook, Temple Thorpe Farm, Knottrop, nr. Leeds. 2425

FOR Sale, 3 WHITE LEGHORN COCKERELS (Whitaker and Tootill's strain), 2 White Orpington Cockerels (Cook's strain), 1 White Wyandotte Cock, price 7/6 and 6/6 each.—Apply, Mr Nicholson, Sturton Grange, Garforth. 3

MODERN DETACHED VILLA for Sale, containing dining and drawing rooms (9 the front), good entrance hall, kitchen, larder, and washhouse on the same floor; four bedrooms, bathroom, lavatory with w.c., and box room on first floor; two large attics; large gardens back and front, outside coal place and w.c., splendid situation overlooking Golf Links. —Apply, J. Binns, Austhorpe House, Crossgates. 1 2304

MEDICAL.

TO MARRIED LADIES.
THE WIFE'S HANDBOOK, by Dr. Allbutt, should be read by all Married People. 7d. Post Free. Illustrated list of Malthusian Appliances. Rubber Goods, &c., Post Free, 2 Stamps. —(S) Davies & Co., 54 Park Lane, Leeds.

LADIES! Wood's Challenge Remedy is guaranteed under the sum of £100 to cure more cases than any other advertised remedy. For all cases of irregularities Challenge Remedy has no equal. Price 2/9, special 4/6. Consultations free 10 to 10 daily. Hygienic Rubber Requisites. Only address—Mr and Mrs Wood, 20, Louis Street, Chapeltown Road, Leeds.

MARRIED LADIES.

Consult MRS. WOOD, the only reliable Ladies' Specialist, 20 years' experience. My remedies never fail. My Special Mixture or Pills are guaranteed to be the only reliable remedy known. Acts in a few hours after all else fails. Quick, Safe, and Sure. Price 2s. 9d. Special 5s. 6d., post free in plain wrappers, or stamp for particulars. Consultations by appointment. Only Address: Mrs WOOD, 31, Park Avenue, Blackpool.

THOMAS MIDDLETON
PAWNBROKER AND JEWELLER,
96 VICAR LANE,
(Top of LADY LANE, LEEDS),
ADVANCES MONEY IN ANY AMOUNT ON PORTABLE PROPERTY.

£0 10 0	for	2½d.	per month.
£1 0 0	„	5d.	„ „
£2 0 0	„	10d.	„ „
£3 10 0	„	1od	„ „
£5 0 0	„	1s. 0d.	„ „
£7 10 0	„	1s. 8d.	„ „
£8 0 0	„	1s. 8d.	„ „
£10 0 0	„	3s. 4d.	„ „

Sums above £10 by Special Agreement.
ONLY ADDRESS:—
96 VICAR LANE, LEEDS.
PLEDGE OFFICE: 4 LADY LANE LEEDS.

Gent's. 9ct. & 18ct. Bangle Rings

Large Assortment always in Stock at
J. WINTERHALDER'S,
Watchmaker, Jeweller, & Optician,
13, New York Street, LEEDS
(Opposite the Yorkshire Penny Bank Building)
Repairs of all kinds (1)

PUBLIC NOTICES.

PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHURCH, ROTHWELL.
Opening of New Organ and Re-opening of Church after alterations,
On SATURDAY, October 10th, at 3.30 p.m.
PUBLIC TEA, 5.0, Sixpence each.
Organ Recital at 7 by H. Nelson, Esq., of Durham.
Chairman: Dr. Hirst, Esq., J.P.
Tickets Sixpence each.
Sunday, Oct. 11th, 10.30 and 6.0.
Rev. W. G. Sellon.
2.30, Contata, "MIRIAM," by P.M. Prize Choir, of Bramley.
Chairman: W. Jopling, Esq.
Further Special Services at 10.30, 2.30, and 6.0 on Sundays, Oct. 18th, 25th, and Nov. 1st.
Full particulars on programmes—one penny each.

Established 37 Years.
WM. DENTON & SON,
23, COMMERCIAL STREET, ROTHWELL.
Estate Agents and Rent Collectors.
Estates Entirely Managed. Terms on application.
Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass, etc.,
Insurance Brokers.
Quotations for any kind of Insurance Free.

THE PICTURE HOUSE, GARFORTH

Every Evening at 7.30.
Saturday, Two Houses at 6.30 and 8.30.

WEEK COMMENCING OCTOBER 12th.

FIRST-RATE PROGRAMMES OF UP-TO-DATE PICTURES.

LATEST TRIUMPHS OF THE CINEMA ART.

Children's Matinee, Saturday at 2.30.

Popular Prices:—2d., 4d., and 6d.

BARKER'S BRITISH PIANOS.
SPECIAL BARGAINS IN ENGLISH OVERSTRUNGS.
COLLARD & COLLARD, superb case ..... only 16 Gns.
MEECHAM Upright Grand ..... only 17 Gns.
WADDINGTON, perfect condition only 18 Gns.
KIRKMAN ..... only 11 Gns.
CROWLEY, the best English Overstrung ..... only 28 Gns.
UPRIGHT GRAND, in costly Rosewood case ..... only 15 Gns.
CHAPPELL, Upright Rosewood only 30 Gns.
BRINSMEAD, Latest Overstring only 30 Gns.
BARKER & CO., Overstring Upright Grand ..... only 45 Gns.
2 SECOND-HAND PIANOS, iron frames ..... only 14 Gns.
BABY GRANDS, by Chappell & Steinway. Offers solicited.
We must clear from our stock the following PIANOS by BECHSTEIN, SCHIEDMAYER, RUD IBACH, STEINWAY, RITMULLER, KAPS, and several other GERMAN OVERSTRUNG UPRIGHT GRANDS. These will be sold UNDER COST.
ANGELUS BRINSMEAD PLAYER PIANO, only 95 gns.
BARKER'S,
NEW STATION STREET, LEEDS

EVERY MOTHER AND GIRL SHOULD ATTEND
THE TWO
FREE LECTURES ON BLOUSE, SKIRT, and COAT-MAKING, by
MISS JAY
at the
CROSSGATES & DISTRICT RECREATION HALL, CROSSGATES.
TUESDAY, OCTOBER 13th, 1914.
Afternoon and Evening at 2.15 and 7.30.
The "Beacon" Perfect Fitting Patterns given free.

MISS AMY D. WADE,
TEACHER OF DANCING,
(Trained by Mr Cecil H. Taylor) begs to announce that she will hold Classes for MODERN BALLROOM and FANCY DANCING,
at the
RECREATION HALL, CROSSGATES,
on WEDNESDAYS.
Juveniles, 4.15. Adults 7.30.
COMMENCING OCT. 7th, 1914.
At the CONSERVATIVE CLUB, GARFORTH, on SATURDAY mornings for Juveniles at 11.
Commencing October 3rd.
Terms:—
Adults £1 1s. 6d. for course of 10 lessons.
Juveniles 4s. 6d. for course of 10 lessons.
Address: Carter Mount, Whitkirk, Leeds.

PATENTS FOR INVENTIONS, obtained by
JOHN E. WALSH, CHARTERED PATENT AGENT,
25, ROYAL EXCHANGE, LEEDS,
and CROSSLEY STREET, HALIFAX.
Is Oldest Established in Leeds. Handbook Free, or British and Foreign Patents, Trade Marks Mrs Wood, 31, Park Avenue, Blackpool.
Telephone: LEEDS 2738. HALIFAX 35V.

Telephone No. 1 Garforth.
ALFRED REED,
Late Matthews,
CAB and WAGGONETTE PROPRIETOR,
GARFORTH and BARWICK-IN-ELMET.
Cabs, Waggonettes and Landaus for Hire.
Large and Small Parties Catered for.

Window Cleaning, Paintwashing
Limewashing, &c., at Moderate Charges.
EXPERIENCED MEN SENT ANY DISTANCE.
FIRTH & KENYON,
GROVE ROAD, HALTON, near LEEDS.

MR and MRS. TURNER
7 Lady Lane, Leeds,
and 36, Horton Road, Bradford,
Purchase for Cash, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Cast-off Clothing. All Letters and Parcels receive immediate attention. Full value given for Old Gold and Silver. Trial Solicited.
Highest Price Given.
Tel. Nos.: Leeds, 3188; Bradford, 2417.

SALES BY AUCTION.

TADCASTER AUCTION MART.
ON MONDAY NEXT,
Messrs THOMLINSON & SON
Will Sell by Auction—
50 to 60 Fat Bullocks and Heifers.
100 to 110 Prime Fat SHEEP.
60 to 70 Fat and Store PIGS.
THOMLINSON & SON, Auctioneers

CHURCH FENTON
Close to Railway Station.
SALE OF HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE, including TWO OAK SECRETAIRES, OLD OAK BRASS DIAL CLOCK, &c.
Messrs THOMLINSON & SON
Are instructed by the representatives of the late Mr. Jno. Poulter to Sell by Auction on Friday, October 16th, 1914.
THE Whole of His HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE, including —
Walnut Suite, 2 Oak Secretaires with well appointed interior fittings and in very good order, Oak Long-Cased 24 hours' Clock, with brass dial, 2 Bedsteads, 2 Feather Beds and Pillows, Oak Folding Dining Table, Hairmattress in very good order, various volumes of Books, including 4 volumes of Hume's "History of England," various Pictures, Ornaments, and other household utensils, etc., etc.
SALE TO COMMENCE AT 1 O'CLOCK.
Auctioneer's Address: Ferry Tadcaster.

NEXT WEDNESDAY AT 12 O'CLOCK
THE AUCTION MART, WHITKIRK.
Messrs. BARTLE & SON
Will hold their MONTHLY HORSE SALE on WEDNESDAY NEXT, October 14th, when they will offer
50 VALUABLE HORSES, CARRIAGES, HARNESS, &c.
Further entries should reach the Auctioneers, Garforth, not later than noon Tuesday next.

ON MONDAY NEXT, AT 11 O'CLOCK.
GARFORTH LIVE STOCK AUCTION MART
20 CHOICE BULLOCKS and HEIFERS.
80 FAT LAMBS, SHEARLINGS, and EWES.
PORK and STORE PIGS.
WM. ASH, Auctioneer.

W. A. F. BURDOWS & CO.,
Auctioneers and Valuers,
BOND PLACE, LEEDS.
(Opposite Yorkshire Penny Bank).
Sales of every description conducted on the most reasonable terms.
Valuations made for all purposes.
To Heads of Families, Private Buyers, Dealers, and others.
Various Stocks of Drapery, Boots, and Shoes, Hosiery, and Underclothing always on hand, and may be purchased privately at any time. Goods on View. Public Inspection Invited.

Messrs J. CUNDALL & SON,
AUCTIONEERS and TENANT-RIGHT VALUERS,
SHERBURN, E.R., YORK

H. E. WALKER,
STURTON GRANGE, GARFORTH,
Agricultural Merchant.
Molassine Meal.
Dairy and Calf Meal.
Feeding Cakes.
Poultry and Dog Foods.
Manures, Peat Moss, Oils, etc.
Best Quality & Prompt Delivery.

JOHN WATSON & Co.,
34, CALL LANE, LEEDS
See our Special Blue Lounge Suit
Made to Measure in Fine Quality Serge,
Easy Terms £2 2s. Cash 38/6
Well Worth 50/-
OUR SCARBORO' COSTUMES
Are made to Measure in all Wool Navy Coating Serge. Coat Lined Skirt. Satin Collar, Lined Skirt.
Cash 30/- Easy Terms 33/6
Patterns and Particulars on Application.

J. ROBINSON & SONS,
King Charles' Croft,
LEEDS.
TELEPHONE No. 1522.
Catalogues free on Application.

CULTIVATORS, PLOUGHS, HARROWS, CHAFF & TURNIP CUTTERS, &c.
By all the Best Makers at Lowest Cash Prices

ARTIFICIAL TEETH, EXTRACTIONS, Etc.
Mr. J. DILWORTH'S
Dental Rooms,
CECIL HOUSE, BURLEY LODGE TERRACE, HYDE PARK ROAD, LEEDS.
Advice Free. Hours—10 to 8.
and at
16, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates,
Every Friday, 2 to 7.30 p.m. Other hours by appointment.
Painless Extractions. Nitrous Oxide Gas administered.

TENDERS

HUNSLET UNION.
TO PAINTERS.

THE Guardians of the Poor of the Hunslet Union invite Tenders for certain PAINTING WORKS required at their GENERAL INSTITUTION at Rothwell Haigh.
Forms of Tender, with a Specification of the work, may be obtained on application at my Office where sealed Tenders addressed to me, and endorsed "Painting, &c.," must be delivered by 10 o'clock a.m. on WEDNESDAY, the 21st instant.
The Guardians do not bind themselves to accept the lowest or any Tender.
By Order,
FRED W. MEE,
Clerk to the Guardians.
Union Offices, Hunslet, Leeds,
October 5th, 1914.

GARFORTH URBAN DISTRICT COUNCIL.

THE above Council invite TENDERS for the various works required to be done in connection with the MAKING of STABLES in the basement of their premises at Garforth Mill, together with the erection of a wall leading from the corner of such basement to the boundary wall belonging to the North Eastern Railway Company.
Plans can be seen and applications for specifications and further particulars must be made to Mr Thomas Abbott, the Council's Surveyor, at the Council Offices, Garforth.
Sealed tenders to be forwarded to the Council Offices, on or before Tuesday, the 20th day of October, 1914, endorsed "Tender for Stables," and addressed to
ALBERT EDWARD CARR,
Clerk to the Council.
Council Offices, Garforth,
8th October, 1914.

Purveyors of Marmalade — To H.M. King George V.
Frank COOPER'S "OXFORD" MARMALADE.
The "Oxford" has a distinctive flavour, has the real home-made character, and goes further — than any other. —
OBTAINABLE AT
Walter Jubb's, Austhorpe Rd., Crossgates
:: ALSO ::
S. BORDER & Co., YORK.

If your Hearing is Defective, read this :-

The adjustable Earphone, for which we are the sole agents throughout Yorkshire, will enable you to hear perfectly.
There are many thousands in use already, and delighted wearers are daily thanking us for the help they are deriving.
Recommended by the Medical Faculty.
A personal demonstration is invited, and will place no obligation upon you.
CALL OR WRITE FOR BROCHURE.
HEYWOOD,
Eyesight Specialists, and Earphone Experts,
20, DUNCAN STREET, LEEDS.

— TRY —
SANGFORD'S CROWN VINEGAR,
Pickles, Health Salt, and Baking Powder.
ALL ABSOLUTELY PURE
SANGFORD & Co., Ltd., LEEDS.

YOUR WEDDING
Should BE NICE whether it is Morning or Carriages. We are the most talked of and the most thought of in the City. Just about us; get our charges. BUCKTON, Claypit Lane (Corner of Cloudesley Street). Tele. 1877 Central.
"WE NEVER SLEEP."

Rothwell Courier & Times

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 10th, 1914.

In recent years, even in this country, the tendency to worship bigness as a sort of fetish has become very pronounced, and the larger a concern or a thing was the greater was its claim upon the admiration of the people, who too readily assume that quality and size are synonymous terms. The public are, however, not discriminating, and, although bigness means the concentrating of power at a centre, the evils that frequently arise from it are enormous. The destruction of initiative, the subjection of the individual for the aggrandisement of the powers that control the machine, and the consequent discontent among those closely affected are frequently the results of the craze for bigness, whilst another, cruel in its destructiveness, is the crushing and ruining of rivals who cannot withstand the economic pressure exerted on them. All this is sometimes asserted to be the outcome of the genius of organization, but that is a fallacy, inasmuch as organization may be more perfectly carried out in smaller concerns than in the larger—compare our small army with the huge German machine!—because human beings, however great, have their limitations, and they cannot be expected to control efficiently what they cannot master. It is the same in regard to administration. One of the principles upon which the State is established is that the people should govern themselves, and right from Parliament to the Parish Council we have numerous representative bodies charged with the work of administration. Each body has its own functions to perform, but each and all are, to a greater or lesser extent, subject to the influences of public opinion. That is why public work in this country has been so admirably carried out, how it has been so free from the abuses so rampant in other countries, and the honour of doing something for nothing is highly prized by every public-spirited community. During the past twenty years, however, the advocates of big things have had more of their way than has been good for the country, and the application of the principle of centralization to public affairs has been at variance with the policy hitherto pursued by the nation. Centralization removes from the public influence administration which should be directly under its control, and no doubt some people would gladly see foisted on the country a system of German control. It has already done incalculable harm by destroying the interest of the people in what directly concerns themselves, and it has been proved over and over again that centralization serves to still public spirit. It is often stated that a saving of money is effected thereby, and that greater efficiency is obtained, and while in some directions it is possible to prove that, it cannot always be substantiated, because it practically puts an end to a great deal of voluntary work, inasmuch as the representatives cannot master the details connected with huge concerns, and the power goes into the hands of officials.

Not very long ago the Prime Minister undertook the advocacy of the value of small communities when Morley was threatened with attack by the Leeds Corporation, and the other day at Cardiff he appeared as the champion of small nations. Between the two many people will profess to see no parallel, but the same principle operates, and a small community has just as much right to live as a small nation, doing its own work in its own way without interference from some powerful neighbour. The British Empire is composed of many nationalities, and in practically every English-speaking colony—Canada, Australia, South Africa, and New Zealand—the home country, profiting by the blunders of British statesmanship over the United States, has the good sense to leave them to manage their own affairs. They have been thrown on their own resources, instead of being tied to the apron string of the mother land, and they have become strong and self-reliant members of an intensely patriotic family. And in these great dominions over the seas self-government is in operation, for every province reflects the opinion of its own people in the legislative bodies. The British Empire is an example as to how a free people should be governed—they govern themselves. And Mr Asquith speaks for the right of small nations to live. It is unthinkable in these days that the existence of small countries should be threatened, because of the over-powering ambition of one State, which would swamp whole nations in order to achieve its own ends. Great Britain was once a comparatively weak nation, but, owing to its geographical position, its great mineral resources, and the genius of its people, it has become the most powerful in the world. Holland and Spain have had their days of greatness, and, although their glory has departed, they are each doing their work in their own way. Belgium—the home of art treasures and fine cathedrals, and of one of the bravest races in the world —has been absolutely devastated by enemy simply because the Belgians demonstrated that, little people though they are, they have a code of honour unknown to the German bully, whose carefully-concealed object was really the annexation of the country. If once the principle for which the Prussians are contending were admitted, only the great and powerful, the rich and strong, would have a right to live; the poorer folks would simply have an existence as hewers of wood and drawers of water for the other section; and the Christianizing work of twenty centuries would be nullified. This shows how easily it is to work from nations to individuals, and there is a great deal more behind Mr Asquith's words than at first appears. No nation would be safe were Germany to succeed in its designs, and life would become intolerable. Happily, there is no indication that the Prussian armed hordes will manage to foist their "culture" upon the free peoples of Europe, but a tremendous effort will be required to overthrow the enemy, and, done and for all, put them in their proper place.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Communications intended for insertion must be authenticated by the name and address of the writer—not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. No notice will be taken of anonymous letters, and rejected communications cannot be returned.
Notice of Births and Deaths are charged 1s. each prepaid. They must be authenticated by the name and address of the sender.
Notices of marriages are charged at the rate of 2s. 6d. each.
In Memoriam" Notices 1s. each, and 6d. extra for all matter up to four lines

DEATHS.

BEWITT—October 6th at 3, William Street, Fryston, aged 67 years, Henry, the beloved husband of Jane Bewitt.

BUNNETT.—On Oct. 6th, at Holywell House, Shadwell, Gaunt A. Burnett, builder, in his 66th year.

MATHERS.—Oct. 5th, at Moortown Lea, Martha, widow of William Mathers, aged 70.

RAWSON.—October 5th, aged 56, Bertha Elizabeth, eldest daughter of William and Annie Rawson, of Westfield, Osmondthorpe.

WALKER.—October 5th, at Prospect Villas Wetherby, aged 71, Mary Elizabeth Hodgson Walker.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT NEWS.

ROTHWELL

LEEDS WEST RIDING PETTY SESSIONS.—The magistrates at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday were Mr F. M. Lupton (in the chair), Mr C. Holliday, and Mr W. Evans.

Mr J. Baldwin, of the Bowling Green Hotel, and Mr J. Oakland, of the Black Bull Inn, Rothwell, have each given a guinea to the Leeds Lord Mayor's Fund. Mr Oakland has also contributed a guinea to the Belgian Relief Fund.

PARISH CHURCH.—On Sunday the harvest festival services were held in the church. In the morning the preacher was the Rev. H. E. Wrenfee (curate), and in the evening the Vicar (the Rev. R. G. Wynne) officiated. The pulpit, lectern, font, and altar were tastefully decorated with flowers. The collections for the day amounted to about £6.

PATENT LIST compiled by John E. Walsh, Chartered Patent Agent, of 25, Royal Exchange, Boar Lane, Leeds, and Crossley Street, Halifax:—Applications—John Haworth, Leeds, improvements in blankets, rugs, wraps, &c.; Joseph Rafferty, Doncaster, improvements in means for communicating on trains. Patent sealed—J. B. Froggatt, Harrogate, collapsible show pen for animals, &c.

PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHURCH.—During the past few weeks great changes have been made in the interior of the Primitive Methodist Church in the way of re-decorating and alterations. The principal work, however, has been in connection with the new organ, which is to be opened on Saturday, when a special service will be held in the afternoon. The organ is to be opened by Mr J. R. Senior, J.P., and a sermon will be preached by the Rev. F. Winterburn, of Hull. In the evening a recital will be given on the new organ by Mr H. Nelson, of Durham, and the soloist will be Miss G. Keighley. For full particulars see our advt. columns.

DISTRESS FUND.—The North and South Wards Committee of the Rothwell and District War Fund have collected about £40. The half proceeds of the first two special performances at the Cosy Picture House realised £2 5s. 4d. The following is the list of subscribers of 5s. and upwards to the Committee's fund:—Rothwell Liberal Club £5; Rothwell W.M. Club (Marsh Villa) £5 5s., Dr. H. Stevenson £5, Rothwell Wesleyan Church (special collection) £5, Mr A. Barraclough £5, Mr A. W. Thomlinson £1, Mr J. Butterick 10s. 6d., Holt and Denton 10s., Mr S. Stainer 10s., Mr T. A. Idle 10s., Mr Dobson 10s., C. Ward and Son 10s., Mr Walter Copley 6d., Mr H. Wormald 7s. 6d., Mr A. W. Senior 5s., Mr T. W. Young 5s., Mr H. Asquith 5s., Mr Taylor 5s., Mr J. Southwart 5s., Mrs Jarvis Batty 5s., Mr G. Caygill 5s., Mr J. W. Hanks 5s., Mr J. T. Craven 5s., and Mr Richard Batty 5s.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—Success attended the harvest thanksgiving services held at the Wesleyan Church on Sunday, as a result over £7 will be handed over to the choir and organ funds. Special sermons were preached in the morning and evening by Mr W. Denton, and to the afternoon the principal service "Service of Praise," The Rev. N. W. Thomlinson presided, and delivered a short and appropriate address. The musical items were as follows:—Violin solo, Mr C. Barthram; song, "Beyond," Miss M. Marshall; anthem, "Till the earth remaineth," choir; song, "Thanksgiving," Mrs Newton; recital, "Toby," Miss E. Marshall; song, "The Lord is my Shepherd," Miss E. Blackburn; violin solo, "Nearer my God to Thee," Mr C. Barthram; song, "Lead, Kindly Light," Mr T. Kale; anthem, "Ye shall dwell in the Land," choir; song, "Crossing the Bar," Miss M. Marshall; song, Mrs Newton; anthem, "Hark! hark! my soul," choir. Mr T. A. Idle accompanied the singing at the organ, and Mr J. Idle was the conductor.

THE ESTATE OF COL. A. H. CHARLESWORTH.—Colonel Albany Hanke Charlesworth, M.A., V.D., of Brookhurst, West Didsbury, Manchester, a director of the firm of Messrs. Charlesworth (Limited), colliery proprietors who died on 9th September last, left estate of the gross value of £530,250 6s. 3d., of which £401,440 10s. 1d. is set personalty. The duty on the property at this valuation, according to the new Budget rates, will amount to about £90,000. The testator left £1,000 to Lady Victoria Mexandrina Murray, £1,000 to Florence Counts Fowlie, £500 to his god-daughter, Jane Alexander, £500 to William Pitfield, £100 and an annuity of £52 to his butler, Alfred Rolls, he bequeathed £1,000 to his wife, Mrs Eleanore Charlotte Charlesworth, and he left to her also his furniture, motor-cars, etc., and directed that her annual income during widowhood shall be made up to £2,000. On the death of her on marriage, he left to her £4,000 a year during the remainder of her life. Other bequests are £500 to Kennett Champain Barkley, £50,000 upon trust for his son, Lieut. Albany Kennett Charlesworth, £50,000 upon trust for his daughter Mary, £34,000 upon trust for his daughter Eleanor (it being stated that she had already transferred to her shares in a limited company to the value of £16,000). The residue of his estate he left to his said son Albany.

ALLERTON BYWATER

Allerton Bywater Infirmary Committee have sent £15 to Leeds Infirmary, per Mr W. B. Brown.

MINERS SERVING THE COUNTRY.—Alluding to the fact that between 12,000 and 13,000 of their members were serving the country, Mr H. Smith, President of the Yorkshire Miners' Association, told the Executive at Barnsley that the Association, by exempting all these from payment of contributions whilst on service and by deciding to pay full death claims in respect of those killed in action, and of wives who died while their husbands were on war service, was incurring a heavy liability, but would bear it.

BARWICK

The treasurer of the West Riding Distress Fund acknowledges receipt of £60 from the Barwick-in-Elmet (War) Distress Committee, and £60 from the same place for the Prince of Wales's Fund.

TEACHERS AND THE RELIEF FUND.—At a meeting of the Backstool Ash Teachers' Association held on Saturday at Barwick, it was decided to ask all the head teachers in the schools in Barkston Ash to have a monthly collection among their school staffs, and forward the amounts to the treasurer of the Association, Mr H. E. Lowe, Spofforth National School, near Harrogate, who will send the same in bulk to Sir John Horsfall's West Riding Relief Fund.

DISTRESS FUND.—A meeting of the Barwick (War) Distress Committee was held on Thursday evening at the National Schoolroom, Barwick. Mr J. M. Rayner presided, and there were also present: Messrs. J. W. Birch, A. Booth, R. Murray, F. Puffett, W. Smith, A. Townsley, R. Wright, and H. R. Clarke, hon. secretary. The committee decided that a cheque for £120 be sent to Sir John Horsfall as the first quota equally between the Prince of Wales' Fund and the Sir John Horsfall West Riding Fund, and that a small balance in hand should be retained by the treasurer until a few outstanding subscriptions had been received. Mr A. Townsley was appointed hon. auditor.

FOR THE BELGIAN RELIEF FUND.—A whist drive was held in the National School, Barwick, on Wednesday evening, in aid of the Belgian Relief Fund. There were 18 tables occupied, and when the cards were pitched it was found that the winners were as follows:—Ladies—1, Miss Frances Hewitt (166), satchel; 2, Mrs W. Smith (178), purse; 3, Miss Marion Helm (169), inkstand. Gentlemen—1, Mr W. Smith (174), safety razor; 2, Mr Drake (172), cigarette-case; 3, Mr Hy Thorpe (168), match box. The consolation prizes went to Mr Norman Schofield (playing as a lady), scent bottle, and Mr Mark Hobson, ash tray. A hearty vote of thanks was passed at the suggestion of Mr A. Booth, seconded by Mr R. Wright, to the promoters of the drive. Those were Messrs Leighton Smith, Frank Pullan, Fred Wright, and Alfred Bramley. A sum approaching £3 5s. will be available for the Belgian Fund.

BROTHERTON

A sum of £30 has been sent to Leeds Infirmary by Brotherton Infirmary Committee.

CROSSGATES

Two free lectures on blouse, skirt, and coat-making are to be given in the Recreation Hall on Tuesday.—See advt.

WESLEY GUILD.—The opening meeting of the session of Crossgates Wesley Guild was held on Wednesday, when the Rev. E. Bell gave an address on the "Parables of Prayer."

We have received a guinea for the Belgian Relief Fund from Mr W. Bramley, The Woodlands, Crossgates, and we have forwarded it to Mr A. B. Balfour, the Vice-Consul for Belgium at Leeds.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—On Sunday harvest thanksgiving services were held in the Primitive Methodist Chapel at Stanks, and they were well attended. The preacher for the day was Mr B. Warhurst. In the afternoon the choir rendered the cantata "Saviour of men" before a large congregation. The principals were Miss Stringer, Mrs Tattersall, Mr A. Withy, and Mr C. H. Walker, while the conductor was Mr Holdsworth, the organist Mr Harry Johnson. The chapel was tastefully decorated with flowers, fruit, etc.

LEAGUE OF YOUNG LIBERALS.—On Monday evening a meeting of the Crossgates branch of the League of Young Liberals was held at the residence of Mr Wood, of Tranquility. Mr J. Batty (President) was in the chair, and there was a fair attendance of members. Mr Wood read a very interesting paper on the growth of Germany and Austria, and a discussion followed. Refreshments were served to the members by Mrs Wood, and at the close of the meeting a very cordial vote of thanks was passed to Mr and Mrs Wood.

GARFORTH

The ratepayers of Garforth will be pleased to know that the district rate for next half-year will be 9d. less than that of last half-year.

Mr J. Beevers, of the Miners' Arms, Garforth, has given 10s. 6d. to the Leeds Lord Mayor's Fund, and 10s. 6d. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

Among the members of Leeds University who have joined the Army are two Garforth men—Messrs Dobson and Thompson, both of whom have been given commissions.

The Rev. J. W. Massey, who has been curate at Garforth for two-and-a-half years, has been appointed to a curacy in London. He is very popular with all classes in Garforth, and his going will be regretted.

CANADA'S GIFT.—We have been sent a first list of the purchasers of the sacks in which Canada's gift of flour to the mother country is being received, and the only local purchasers are Messrs. T. B. Stillitz and Son, of Garforth. The sacks, which are all marked "Canada's Gift," are interesting souvenirs, and they cost 5s. each. Two-thirds of the money received will go to the Prince of Wales' Fund, and the remainder to the Belgian Relief Fund. Applications should be addressed to Mr Hedley F. Le Bas, joint hon. sec., National Sack Fund, York House, St. James's Palace, London.

GARFORTH WESLEYAN CHURCH.—The opening meeting of the session of the Wesley Guild to be place on Monday night—Mr W. Dibb presiding. The Garforth Orchestral Band contributed several selections, which were highly appreciated. Miss E. Calvert, of Halton, sang in fine style "There's a land" and "Where my caravan has rested." Miss Westerman, of Garforth, elocutionist, recited "The last token" and "The Rehearsal" very effectively. Light refreshments were partaken of. A thoroughly enjoyable evening was brought to a conclusion by the Orchestral Band rendering the French, Belgian, Russian, Japanese, and the English National Anthems.

GREAT PRESTON

Mr W. Dodsworth, of the New Inn, Great Preston, has given 10s. 6d. to the Leeds Lord Mayor's Fund and 10s. 6d. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

HALTON

A number of Belgian refugees have been housed in cottages at Templenewsam.

The employees of the Waterloo Main Colliery have contributed £10 11s. (first collection) to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

DRUNK.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Mark Wilson, a labourer, of Halton, was summoned for having been drunk and disorderly at Halton on September 23th. P.C. Taylor proved the case, and Wilson was fined 7s. 6d. and costs.

HARD LINES.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Alfred Hilkary, a labourer, of Leeds, was summoned for riding a bicycle at Halton without a light, on September 27th. P.C. Stothard proved the case. Defendant said it was a windy night and it was difficult to keep a light in. If there had been no wind he could have been half-an-hour before lighting up time. A fine of 1s. and costs was imposed.

DISMISSED.—On Wednesday at Knaresborough Ernest Whitehouse, carter, Harrogate, was charged with selling an advertisement plate, valued at 5s., the property of Frederick A. Coosthwaite. Mr J. Lomas Walker (solicitor) defended. Supt. Fearnside stated that the defendant was stealing from the premises of the Three Horse Shoes Inn, Killinghall, about 11.45 p.m. on Monday, an enamel "Pratt's Spirit" advertisement plate, the property of the landlord of the hotel. At the time and date named Police Sergeant Salter and Police Constable Davis were standing near the hotel. They saw the accused and another man coming from the direction of Ripley on a dray. When they reached the hotel, accused stopped the horse, jumped off the dray, took the plate, which was resting against the wall, placed it on the dray, and drove off. When questioned accused replied: "I don't know why I took it as I have no use for it." Police Constable Davis conveyed accused to Harrogate Police Station, where, in reply to the charge, he said: "Nothing but right, in a way, but not intentional; but I took it all the same." Evidence was given by Mr Crosthwaite, P.S. Salter, and P.C. Davis. Mr Lomas Walker submitted that there was no felonious intent. Defendant had no use for the plate. He had enlisted in the Yorkshire Hussars, but was held up on account of picking up the plate, and had been confined to a cell for one night. The case was dismissed. Mr Crosthwaite formerly resided at Halton.

KIPPAX

A special service for women was held in the Parish Church on Thursday afternoon, when an address on "Autumn" was given by the Vicar.

CONCERT.—A patriotic concert was given in the Wesleyan Schoolroom on Wednesday evening by the Carlton Street Wesleyan Choir, Castleford—Mr J. B. Hollis presiding. The following programme was submitted:—Opening chorus, "Hurrah, hurrah, for England," choir; pianoforte solo, "Battle marsch of Delhi," Miss N. Davies; song, "The veteran's song," Miss Davies; chorus, "The sea is England's glory," choir; monologue, "My husband's baby," Mrs Dodd; chorus, "Hearts of oak," choir; violin solo, "Raymond," Miss J. Davies; chorus, "Follow the drum," choir; solo, "You want to be a soldier, little man," Miss Padgett; solo and chorus, "Rule Britannia," choir; chorus, "Men of Harlech," choir; song, "Jessie's dream," Miss N. Smith; duet, "Peace and quietness," Messrs Padgett and Davies; chorus, "The lads in navy blue," choir; song, "Land of hope and glory," Miss Bellamy; monologue, "Defective memory," Mrs Dodd; solo, "Mine is the country," Miss G. Jameson; violin solo, "Faust," Miss Hollis; chorus, "Jack's the boy for work," Miss Wainwright; chorus, "Red, white, and blue." The proceeds of the concert are to be given, one half to the Belgian Relief Fund and half to the Prince's Fund.

WESLEYAN CHURCH.—Harvest thanksgiving services were held on Sunday at the Wesleyan Church, and the preacher in the morning was the Rev. E. Bell, of Crossgates, and in the evening the Rev. J. E. Clegue. In the afternoon the choir gave the cantata "Garnered grain," under the leadership of Mr H. Gummerson. The organ accompaniments were played by Mr R. Sherburn, and the solos were sung by Mrs G. Schofield (soprano), Mrs. W. Varley (contralto), Mr C. E. Nicholson, Mr W. Sheperd, and Mr B. Tebb (basses), Mr T. Butterworth, and Mr E. Mosby (tenors). A special solo was given by Miss Dorothy Hewitt (soprano). Mr George Wilkinson presided. The anthem "Praise ye the Lord" was sung at the evening service, and a solo was contributed by Mr C. E. Nicholson. The decorations of fruit and flowers were tastefully arranged. The services were in aid of the Trust Fund.—The Band of Hope meeting was held on Monday evening, and Mr R. Bullock, of Bowers Allerton, gave the address. Mr J. Goodall presided over a good attendance.—The address at the Wesley Guild meeting was given by the Rev. Ed. Rees (foreign minister)—Mr W. R. Tebb presiding. The address, which was much appreciated, was on "Christian Courage." There was a good attendance.

MIDDLETON

The staff of Middleton Colliery Co. have sent £2 10s. 6d. to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

MOOR ALLERTON

Mrs Mann, of the Chained Bull Hotel, Moor Allerton, has given 20s. to the Lord Mayor's Fund, and the Misses Mann have contributed a guinea to the Belgian Relief Fund.

AUTOMOBILE ENGINEER'S AFFAIRS.—A meeting of the creditors of Lawrence Fawcett, automobile engineer, Harrogate Road, Chapeltown, was held at the Law Institute, Albion Place, Leeds, on Tuesday. The statement of affairs disclosed total liabilities of £1,410, and net assets £1,142, leaving a deficiency of £268. The debtor ascribed his failure to "bad trade," shortage of capital, with the consequent inability to take advantage of cash discounts, and the peculiar circumstances occasioned by the war. A resolution was passed appointing Mr Charles H. Baker, accountant, Albion Street, as trustee, with a committee of inspection.

OULTON

RATES.—The rates for the ensuing half-year are the same as last year—6s. 8d., and special expenses rate 6d., equivalent to a rate of 9s. 4d. in the £.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—The harvest thanksgiving services were held in the church on Sunday. The altar, pulpit, and lectern were tastefully decorated with flowers, etc. In the morning the sermon was preached by the Vicar (the Rev. W. R. Capel-Cure, M.A.), and in the evening the preacher was conducted by the Rev. R. H. Hall, rector of Barwick-in-Elmet. The collections, which were in aid of the Convalescent Homes, amounted to £1 10s. 6d. in the morning, and £1 16s. 6d. in the evening.

ARRIVAL OF REFUGEES.—On Friday night the first party of Belgian refugees, five in number, arrived at Oulton, and were housed in their new quarters at the Hall. Some special provision has been made for them, through the kindness of Major Calverley. The party were brought from Leeds in a wagonette. On Sunday morning they attended the Catholic Chapel in Joseph Street, Hunslet. Through some misunderstanding a number of people gained admission to the Park on Sunday afternoon with the hope of seeing the refugees. However, a notice has been posted up at the entrance to the Park stating that it is closed.

DRUNK.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Mark Wilson, a labourer, of Halton, was summoned for having been drunk and disorderly at Halton on September 23th. P.C. Taylor proved the case, and Wilson was fined 7s. 6d. and costs.

HARD LINES.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Alfred Hilkary, a labourer, of Leeds, was summoned for riding a bicycle at Halton without a light, on September 27th. P.C. Stothard proved the case. Defendant said it was a windy night and it was difficult to keep a light in. If there had been no wind he could have been half-an-hour before lighting up time. A fine of 1s. and costs was imposed.

DISMISSED.—On Wednesday at Knaresborough Ernest Whitehouse, carter, Harrogate, was charged with selling an advertisement plate, valued at 5s., the property of Frederick A. Crosthwaite. Mr J. Lomas Walker (solicitor) defended. Supt. Fearnside stated that the defendant was stealing from the premises of the Three Horse Shoes Inn, Killinghall, about 11.45 p.m. on Monday, an enamel "Pratt's Spirit" advertisement plate, the property of the landlord of the hotel. At the time and date named Police Sergeant Salter and Police Constable Davis were standing near the hotel. They saw the accused and another man coming from the direction of Ripley on a dray. When they reached the hotel, accused stopped the horse, jumped off the dray, took the plate, which was resting against the wall, placed it on the dray, and drove off. When questioned accused replied: "I don't know why I took it as I have no use for it." Police Constable Davis conveyed accused to Harrogate Police Station, where, in reply to the charge, he said: "Nothing but right, in a way, but not intentional; but I took it all the same." Evidence was given by Mr Crosthwaite, P.S. Salter, and P.C. Davis. Mr Lomas Walker submitted that there was no felonious intent. Defendant had no use for the plate. He had enlisted in the Yorkshire Hussars, but was held up on account of picking up the plate, and had been confined to a cell for one night. The case was dismissed. Mr Crosthwaite formerly resided at Halton.

KIPPAX

A special service for women was held in the Parish Church on Thursday afternoon, when an address on "Autumn" was given by the Vicar.

CONCERT.—A patriotic concert was given in the Wesleyan Schoolroom on Wednesday evening by the Carlton Street Wesleyan Choir, Castleford—Mr J. B. Hollis presiding. The following programme was submitted:—Opening chorus, "Hurrah, hurrah, for England," choir; pianoforte solo, "Battle marsch of Delhi," Miss N. Davies; song, "The veteran's song," Miss Davies; chorus, "The sea is England's glory," choir; monologue, "My husband's baby," Mrs Dodd; chorus, "Hearts of oak," choir; violin solo, "Raymond," Miss J. Davies; chorus, "Follow the drum," choir; solo, "You want to be a soldier, little man," Miss Padgett; solo and chorus, "Rule Britannia," choir; chorus, "Men of Harlech," choir; song, "Jessie's dream," Miss N. Smith; duet, "Peace and quietness," Messrs Padgett and Davies; chorus, "The lads in navy blue," choir; song, "Land of hope and glory," Miss Bellamy; monologue, "Defective memory," Mrs Dodd; solo, "Mine is the country," Miss G. Jameson; violin solo, "Faust," Miss Hollis; chorus, "Jack's the boy for work," Miss Wainwright; chorus, "Red, white, and blue." The proceeds of the concert are to be given, one half to the Belgian Relief Fund and half to the Prince's Fund.

WESLEYAN CHURCH.—Harvest thanksgiving services were held on Sunday at the Wesleyan Church, and the preacher in the morning was the Rev. E. Bell, of Crossgates, and in the evening the Rev. J. E. Clegue. In the afternoon the choir gave the cantata "Garnered grain," under the leadership of Mr H. Gummerson. The organ accompaniments were played by Mr R. Sherburn, and the solos were sung by Mrs G. Schofield (soprano), Mrs. W. Varley (contralto), Mr C. E. Nicholson, Mr W. Sheperd, and Mr B. Tebb (basses), Mr T. Butterworth, and Mr E. Mosby (tenors). A special solo was given by Miss Dorothy Hewitt (soprano). Mr George Wilkinson presided. The anthem "Praise ye the Lord" was sung at the evening service, and a solo was contributed by Mr C. E. Nicholson. The decorations of fruit and flowers were tastefully arranged. The services were in aid of the Trust Fund.—The Band of Hope meeting was held on Monday evening, and Mr R. Bullock, of Bowers Allerton, gave the address. Mr J. Goodall presided over a good attendance.—The address at the Wesley Guild meeting was given by the Rev. Ed. Rees (foreign minister)—Mr W. R. Tebb presiding. The address, which was much appreciated, was on "Christian Courage." There was a good attendance.

MIDDLETON

The staff of Middleton Colliery Co. have sent £2 10s. 6d. to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

MOOR ALLERTON

Mrs Mann, of the Chained Bull Hotel, Moor Allerton, has given 20s. to the Lord Mayor's Fund, and the Misses Mann have contributed a guinea to the Belgian Relief Fund.

AUTOMOBILE ENGINEER'S AFFAIRS.—A meeting of the creditors of Lawrence Fawcett, automobile engineer, Harrogate Road, Chapeltown, was held at the Law Institute, Albion Place, Leeds, on Tuesday. The statement of affairs disclosed total liabilities of £1,410, and net assets £1,142, leaving a deficiency of £268. The debtor ascribed his failure to "bad trade," shortage of capital, with the consequent inability to take advantage of cash discounts, and the peculiar circumstances occasioned by the war. A resolution was passed appointing Mr Charles H. Baker, accountant, Albion Street, as trustee, with a committee of inspection.

OULTON

RATES.—The rates for the ensuing half-year are the same as last year—6s. 8d., and special expenses rate 6d., equivalent to a rate of 9s. 4d. in the £.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—The harvest thanksgiving services were held in the church on Sunday. The altar, pulpit, and lectern were tastefully decorated with flowers, etc. In the morning the sermon was preached by the Vicar (the Rev. W. R. Capel-Cure, M.A.), and in the evening the preacher was conducted by the Rev. R. H. Hall, rector of Barwick-in-Elmet. The collections, which were in aid of the Convalescent Homes, amounted to £1 10s. 6d. in the morning, and £1 16s. 6d. in the evening.

ARRIVAL OF REFUGEES.—On Friday night the first party of Belgian refugees, five in number, arrived at Oulton, and were housed in their new quarters at the Hall. Some special provision has been made for them, through the kindness of Major Calverley. The party were brought from Leeds in a wagonette. On Sunday morning they attended the Catholic Chapel in Joseph Street, Hunslet. Through some misunderstanding a number of people gained admission to the Park on Sunday afternoon with the hope of seeing the refugees. However, a notice has been posted up at the entrance to the Park stating that it is closed.

ROUNDHAY

Mr Peter Summerton, Wingfield, and Messrs W. H. Gilpin and Son, The Mansion, Roundhay, have given £5 5s. each to the Lord Mayor's Fund. Mr Summerton has also given £1 1s. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

THE GRAND JURY.—On Wednesday at Leeds Quarter Sessions the Grand Jury included: Messrs C. J. Berry, hide and leather factor, Park Villas, Roundhay (Foreman); C. Birdsell, iron merchant, Park Avenue, Roundhay; G. W. Brown, clothier, North Park Avenue; F. W. Crowther, wholesale clothier, Street Lane; F. Fairbairn, restaurant proprietor, Park View Crescent; J. H. Gilligrass, jeweller, Park Villas; W. Heningway, meltster, Wetherby Road; W. H. Iredale, wholesale clothier, Devis Avenue; G. H. Lupton, manufacturing chemist, Park Crescent; D. Joynt, clothing manufacturer, North Lane; C. B. Reffitt, gentleman, Oakwood Grove; and W. P. Reed, tailor, Street Lane.

STOURTON

HELPING THE BELGIANS.—The members of the Stourton P.M. Chapel are each week contributing a sum of money, along with the other chapels in the circuit, towards the upkeep of a house for a family of Belgian refugees.

MISSION SERVICES.—A special mission, which has been held each night during the week up to Thursday (inclusive), was commenced at the Primitive Methodist Chapel on Sunday. The services were conducted by the Rev. W. S. Spencer (minister), and a good work has been done, especially among the young people. At the Sunday evening service the choir sang the anthem "Hark! hark! my soul." At the P.S.A. service held in the afternoon Mr Spencer gave the address.

A MEMBER'S DEATH.—The wife and relatives of Private Benjamin Ford, of the 2nd West Riding Regiment, have been informed in a note from Lord Kitchener that Ford has met his death at the front. He was killed by a bullet in the early hours of August 24th at the battle of Mons. He was called up on August 4th. At the time of going on active service he was employed at the Yorkshire Copper Works, Stourton, but he had been previously employed as barman at the Black Swan Hotel, in Vicar Lane, Leeds. His widow, who until the outbreak of the war resided in Bishop Virginia Street, Leeds, is left with two children.

SEACROFT

A FOOTPATH.—At a meeting of Leeds Corporation on Wednesday the Town Clerk reported the receipt of a complaint that a right-of-way over Corporation land leading from Foundry Lane to Killingbeck Hospital had been closed. The Town Clerk added that the Corporation had no intention of closing the footpath. The stile had been removed by the tenant, and now that attention had been drawn to the matter it was about to be restored.

WHITKIRK

One guinea (second contribution) has been sent by Colton Bible Class to the Belgian Relief Fund.

CARELESSNESS.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Percy Otty, a contractor, of Leeds, was summoned for removing gates from the turnpike road, Whitkirk, without a licence. P.C. Taylor proved the offence, and a fine of 10s. and costs was imposed.

WOODLESFORD

Mr H. Sheldon, of the Midland Hotel, Woodlesford, has given 10s. 6d. to the Leeds Lord Mayor's Fund, and 10s. 6d. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

LANGUAGE.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Thomas Ward, quarryman, of Woodlesford, was summoned for having used obscene language. P.C. Coldwell stated that on the 27th ult. he heard the defendant, who was in Alma Street, making use of the language complained of to the police. A fine of 2s. 6d. and costs was imposed.

Mr F. Lee, of Wetherby, has collected £2 10s., and sent it to the Belgian Relief Fund.

On Saturday Aberford footballers defeated Barwick on the latter's field by 5 goals to 0.

A sum of 13s. 3d., collected at Ledsham Grammar School, has been sent to the West Riding Distress Fund.

The many friends of Mr H. S. Spark, late of the Old Hall, Church Fenton, and now of Wirksloe, Taunton, will be interested to know that his only son, Mr Durbin Spark, is cadet of the Cambridge University Contingent, O.T.C., senior division, was on September 10th gazetted as temporary second-lieutenant to the 3rd Battalion Prince Albert's Infantry, now stationed at Woking, Surrey. Mr Spark, junr., is to be congratulated on his appointment, and no doubt his many friends, and particularly the members of the Boys' Club, over which he so successfully formed at Church Fenton, will wish him success.

BELGIAN REFUGEES.—A family of Belgian refugees, father, mother, and four young children arrived in Monk Fryston on Tuesday evening, and were heartily welcomed by the villagers. The Rev. B. and Mrs Hemsworth very kindly escorted them from York. They belong to the neighbourhood of Malines, and on their arrival here had only been in England 5 days. A cottage is being got ready for them at Hillam. In the meantime they are being housed in a small room adjoining the Concert Hall, where everything possible is being done to make them they seem very happy in their unfamiliar surroundings. They cannot speak English, but gratitude is expressed in their eyes and by gestures.

SINGING CONTEST.—The annual match for the Frol Child Trophy and other prizes promoted by the Leeds Jubilee Club, and open to members of clubs affiliated to the Leeds Amalgamated Society of Male Voice Choirs, was held at Ulleskelf on Sunday. The competition was divided into two sections, an individual contest and team contest. For the former there were 240 entries, and for the latter 10 teams entered. The weather was fine, and fair sport was enjoyed. The chief prize-winners were:—1, cup, gold medal, and £1 15s., Silver City, with 5lb. silver W. H. Smith Goribaldi, 4 lb. 8[oz.; 3, J. Pattison, Robin Hood, 4lb. 6oz.; 4, R. Smith, Keighley, 4lb. 13oz.; 5, Bradford No. 1, Bradford, 4lb. 3oz.; 6, H. Hopton, Castleford, 2lb. 2[oz.; 7, G. Bastiek, Bradford City, 1lb. 13oz.; 8, W. Austin, Beckett's Arms, 1lb. 12oz.; 9, T. Myers, Robin Hood, 1lb. 11[oz.; 10, G. Starkey, Star of the East, 1lb. 11[oz. 11, E. Atkinson, Beeston Hill Liberal, 1lb. 10z.; 12, J. Green, Granville, 1lb. 9oz. In the team competition the winners were:—Bradford City A team, 7lb. 10z.; 2, Keighley, 6lb. 7[oz.; 3, Leeds Robin Hood, 6lb. 11[oz.

OULTON AND WOODLESFORD AFFAIRS

WEBSTER CHARITY SCHEME.

A special meeting of the Oulton and Woodlesford Parish Council to consider the Webster Charity Scheme, which is in operation in the district, was held at the Harold Hall, Oulton, on Tuesday night—Mr H. Parkin (Chairman) presiding.

Each member of the Parish Council had been supplied with a copy of the scheme, which has already been outlined in this journal.

Mr T. H. Myton asked who were the present co-opted trustees holding office.

The Chairman said that the trustees were Major Calverley, the Rev. W. R. Capel-Cure (Vicar of Oulton), the Rev. A. J. E. Irvin (Vicar of Woodlesford), and Mr C. F. Badeley.

Mr Myton, in calling attention to the fact that every co-opted trustee be appointed for a term of five years, asked when the present trustees were elected.

The Chairman replied that at a meeting in January last Major Calverley was appointed in the place of Mr Selwyn Calverley, and Mr Badeley was elected in the place of the late Col. Hoyle.

Mr Parkin also announced that the money had been transferred from New Consols to New Zealand stock, which brought in three per cent., an increase of 1 per cent.

The discussion then dropped.

Other business was the appointment of a representative of the Parish Council on the West Riding Distress Sub-Committee, and Mr Smith was elected.

GARFORTH URBAN DISTRICT COUNCIL

HEALTH OF THE DISTRICT.

On Wednesday night the monthly meeting of Garforth Urban District Council was held at the offices at Garforth—Mr J. W. Dobson (Chairman) presiding. Other members present were Messrs R. Routledge, jun. (vice-chairman), R. Routledge, sen., H. Bell, and W. Wall. A letter was read from the Local Government Board, stating that it had been allowed to have a water meter at the mill premises.

At a meeting of the Highways Committee the tenders for pulling down the mill chimney were considered, and it was decided that nothing be done at present.

At a meeting of the Lighting Committee it was decided that the Gas Company's Gas Co. that there were recent cases where lamps have been neglected owing to there being no mantles, and that if they were not repaired the Council would not pay for them.

HEALTH OF THE DISTRICT.

The medical officer reported that since last meeting there had been four cases of enteric fever, making a total of seven since the first case was notified. All the cases were mild, and, with the exception of one, they had been removed to the hospital. Some cases of measles and whooping cough had occurred, but the attendance as shown by the school registers was satisfactory.

Eight births—6 males and 2 females—and two deaths—both children—were reported during the month.

NEW PATH

The Chairman stated the Finance Committee had gone through the estimated expenditure for the half-year, and it was stated to be £1,305 against £1,163 for the previous half-year. A rate of 1s. 4d. was agreed to, 7d. for the last half-year, was recommended.

The recommendation of the Committee was adopted.

SANITARY AND OTHER MATTERS.

Mr Gascoigne asked the sanitary inspector to give a little more supervision to the cleaning of the middens. He thought if he followed the men round an improvement would be produced.

Mr Abbott said he did follow them round, and he pointed out that stenches were caused by people putting water into the ashpits, although they had no business to do so.

The list of persons excused from paying the district rate on the ground of poverty was gone through, and it was stated the amount excused was £17 14s. 10d.

It was decided to advertise for tenders for carrying out alterations at the mill premises.

IN OUR VILLAGE

A bright morning last week, the sun giving us of its best, telling of a summer slowly retreating before the wind and falling leaves of the coming of autumn. The church bell had just solemnly tolled its message to us of the departure to "Rest in Peace" of one of our long known villagers, who had died that morning, after a long illness, whose memory of a kindly life well lived and of work quietly done will remain with us.

From the "house of the dead" came out one of our mothers, well-known and respected by every one of us, who had been there to perform those last kindly and neighbourly offices so valued amongst us at such times.

I bade her "Good morning," and she stopped for a few minutes' chat in the warm sunshine. I enquired about her lads—she has eight children, seven sons and a daughter—and in a few minutes her flood of joy and sorrow flowed down in many tears.

It was a commonplace story of domestic heroism, of which our villages are so full, of struggle for bread and life's necessities when the children were young, with a husband always ailing—in this case blind as well as body—which reached a crisis when he was certified for an asylum, and one or two of the lads had to go out to work.

From then onwards her own earnings were supplemented by their wages, and as they grew up things were better. With all a hard-worked, self-sacrificing mother's pride, she told me how one lad, after a young man, had saved enough to take him to a training college for a year; her daughter was a pupil-teacher, and all the lads were doing well, and the home became almost home in the best sense.

Then came this war with its message to our young manhood, and the sound of it came to our village, and to the two men in this home. Of the eight there were only five left at home—four lads and a girl. One lad was just entering a college, two were earning the money to keep the home going, and the other was about 18 years of age. The father was again at home, feeble and still ailing, but safe enough, though he could do little or no work. All were to join the Army and had to be paid, and with all the little savings long since swallowed up, the prospect for th, winter was one of "enough but nothing to spare."

When the country's insistent call came two went off to volunteer, and the third only begins his career at college because his mother so earnestly begs of him to stay and "go on" with his life's work "for her sake!" We are proud of these two young men, and as on this bright morning so reminiscent of summer days blended with sombre sorrow by the brown leaves and the falling bell, one's feelings become unique in a mixture of sorrow, joy, and pride, the latter easily winning, as I meet the Vicar, who tells me that there are nearly 40 out of our village, whose names he has placed in the church porch, gone to answer the call of King and country.

It had been a great wrench to this mother to let her lads go—so much of her own life was invested in them, after many tears and many prayers such as a mother only will utter, had marked the way of her offering to the call of duty. It was probably deeper far to her than to the lads. She had known the mysteries of life and death for them, and had often fought the last grim enemy, but now seemingly there was a call stronger to her than all else, and how proud those lads are of their mother, and how straight they are going to be, and full of hope to be a credit to our village.

One or two of "our forty" have paid brief visits during intervals of hard training, and we have made them proud to belong to us, and sent them back to their work strong to do as Englishmen should. We in this village have not much to spare in our way, but now this call of our loved country has come we shall make her proud of her humble children, because we give much that is very dear to us.

HENRY WARREN.

A SELBY SOLDIER'S LETTER

"ENEMY ARE COWARDLY."

Writing to his father, Mr J. H. Haynes, at the George Hotel, Selby, George Haynes, who is with the 2nd Coldstream Guards, says:

"I am not allowed to let you know too much in fact, you will know pretty nearly as much as I do myself. We have had a time.

"Although the Germans are superior in numbers, we still continue to have slightly the better of them. The enemy are cowardly. They are cowardly. White flags are pretty frequently exhibited by them, only to be abused.

"We have kept in touch with them the whole time we have been here, so you can guess that things are pretty brisk. Our casualties were numerous, but the Germans' were tremendous. We have been in very tight places time after time. The only thing I really want is some cigarettes, as we have had none issued since we landed here. It is certain it cannot continue long at the pace it is going now."

FOOTBALL.—On Saturday Shadwell lads had a football match with Sheepscar school team at Moortown, and the villagers won by two goals to one. In the Samuel Cup Competition Shadwell have been drawn to meet Ivy Leaf.

AN OYSTER ACCEPTED.—The Belgian Consul in Leeds (Mr A. B. Balfour) has received an offer from Mr Tom Coates to furnish six cottage houses in the Kirkstall Road district, Leeds, with oysters for a year, with the exception of bedding, linen, and crockery. The offer has been accepted.

STONE-THROWING.—On Tuesday at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions Charles Clough, a Leeds labourer, was summoned for alleged for throwing stones to the danger of the public. P.C. Whitehead spoke to cycling along the York Road, Barwick, when a stone which had been thrown by the defendant missed him. Defendant said he was in a field and was throwing a stone at a tree. He hit the trunk, and the stone went to the highway. A fine of 2s. 6d. and costs was imposed.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—Harvest thanksgiving services were held in the Aberford Church on Thursday and Sunday, when the Rev. W. W. Maclagan, of Castleford, officiated. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and there was a large congregation. The choir, under the leadership of Mr. Freeborn, rendered in admirable style the anthem "The Lord is loving unto every man." The offerings, which were in aid of the Royal Agricultural Benevolent Society and Archbishop's Western Canada Fund, amounted to £3 4s. The services were continued on Sunday, when the Vicar officiated at the morning service, and the Rev. C. D. Farrar, of Micklefield, at evensong. The choir again rendered the anthem. There were good congregations. The offerings, which were on behalf of the Sunday Schools, amounted to £7. The Vicar proposes to forward one guinea for the assistance of the Church Army Association in connection with H.M. forces. Fruit sent for the decoration of the church was forwarded to Beckett's Hospital.

FAMOUS HOUSE FOR ENGAGEMENT RINGS £1/1/ £3/3/ £5/5/ £10/10/ £ to £100 each.
SEE WINDOWS
Diamonds
BEST SELECTION IN THE COUNTY.
Dysons
ESTD. 50 YEARS.
24-25-26 BRIGGATE, LEEDS.
Watches
(5 GOOD RELIABLE LINES)
10/6 TO 50 GUINEAS.
THE "ROUGHWEAR" 15/- THE "UNIVERSITY" 30/-
OLD WATCHES & JEWELLERY TAKEN IN EXCHANGE.
RELIABLE HOUSE FOR REPAIRS.

Russell & Russell, Ltd.
(LATE A. C. WANSTALL),
Complete House Furnishers and Piano Dealers,
201-3-5, North Street, LEEDS.
ILLUSTRATED BOOKLET and Easy Payment Terms sent on receipt of a Postcard.

40 FOR 6d EGGS
COVERDALE'S Egg-Producing POULTRY POWDER
Is the best Poultry Tonic on the market, and its use guarantees WINTER LAYERS.
Price 1s. per tin all to 40 Eggs a week.
Dear Sirs,—My hens had not laid a single egg for more than a month, but the 3rd packet of Poultry Powder you sent me has worked wonders. They are already laying 2 eggs a day, and increasing. I will certainly use it and recommend it to my friends.—(Mrs.) LUND.
Sold in Packets 8d., 1s. 3, and 5s. 9 post free, including a 64-page booklet on "Profitable Poultry Keeping."
Coverdale's Poultry Powder, Ltd., York.
Agents—G. H. MOON, Grocer, etc., East Keswick, Wetherby, Aberford, Thorner, Crossgates, Tadcaster, South Milford, Barrowgate, Boston Spa, Bramham, and Roundhay; M. H. DICKINSON, 158, Meadow Lane, Leeds; T. B. SMITH & SON, Garforth; Mrs HURST, High Street, Thrustater; G. HARGRAVE, Grocer, Saxton; J. HIRST & Co., 272, Hunslet Road, Leeds; and TAYLOR'S DRUG Co.'s Branches.

ESTABLISHED 1871.
Ison's Eye & Ear Dispensary
LIMITED.
71, GREAT GEORGE ST., LEEDS
MR. THOS. ISON,
OCULIST and AURIST.
THIS INSTITUTION WAS ESTABLISHED in 1871. The system of working is the provident one, each patient paying a small periodical fee +Valet under treatment, and they may, therefore, justly expect to receive the prompt care and attention which in many instances in charitable institutions is too often omitted. The treatment is of a mild and safe character, without operation. We use no Ear Drums, Ear Cornets or other mechanical or painful appliances. Another advantage appertaining to this dispensary is its system of treatment by correspondence, by which sufferers at long distances, and in isolated positions can have the advantage of Mr ISON'S advice and remedies forwarded to their address. No case is undertaken unless there be a reasonable hope of cure or benefit to the patient.
Attendance at Leeds every Tuesday, from 2 to 7. Or, Alternate Saturdays, October 17th, and 31st.
Hours 2 to 7. Other days by appointment.
TREATMENT WITHOUT OPERATION.
ARTIFICIAL HUMAN EYES fitted from 15s.
SPECTACLES and EYE PRESERVERS, 3/6 to 10/6. Gold Frames from 10s.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—There are many cases of failing eyesight which can be speedily remedied by mild local treatment, thus dispensing with the use of glasses.

DR. SKELTON'S BRONCHITIS LOZENGES
Cure Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, Difficulties of Breathing

CROSSGATES AND THE WAR RELIEF FUND.

FORESTERS' PROMOTE TWO CONCERTS —A RECORD EFFORT.

FIRST VISIT OF THE LORD MAYOR TO CROSSGATES.

Crossgates residents made a splendid response to the appeal of the members of Court Crossgates, I.O.F., in behalf of the Lord Mayor's Relief Fund on Friday night, when excellent concerts were given in the Recreation Hall and the Wesleyan Schoolroom. Whatever the Foresters undertake they usually do well, but on this occasion they surpassed themselves, and they set up a record for the district which will probably stand for many years. Desirous that the district should contribute a substantial amount to the Relief Fund, the members of the Court a few weeks ago decided to promote two concerts, and the following were elected a committee to carry out the arrangements:—Messrs A. H. Whitfield (C.R.), A. K. Rhodes (Chairman), A. H. Cam, H. Mann, J. Dilworth, J. Berry, J. W. Powell, J. Fisher, J. Dobson, H. Oxnee, A. Withy, and H. Stott. A great amount of work was involved, but the committee did it so well that the concerts passed off without a hitch. The Foresters, always generous when the call comes to them, agreed that all the expenses should be paid by themselves, and they were given the use of the bills free and no charge was made by Messrs Barker and Co., of New Station Street, Leeds, for the two fine pianos, so that all the money realized from the sale of tickets will go to the Fund. And if the Foresters were generous, the residents were sympathetic, and the ticket-sellers—the members of the Court—received such gratifying support that their task was rendered a pleasant one. Over five hundred persons paid for admission at the Recreation Hall, and over three hundred at the Wesleyan Schoolroom, the accommodation in both rooms being taxed to the utmost. The concerts, too, were under the patronage of the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress, and no doubt their support was a factor in the success of the effort.

The committee were happy in the selection of artistes, and a very popular programme was submitted. The Artistes' Committee were Messrs H. Dixon, J. Johnson, and A. Withy, and the stewards were Messrs H. B. Lewis, C. Beckhouse, H. Fidgett, A. Beaumont, and members of the committee. The selling of the programmes was undertaken by Mrs J. Berry, Mrs A. K. Rhodes, and Mrs A. Withy (Wesleyan Schoolroom), and Mrs J. Dilworth, Mrs J. Johnson, and Mrs Cam (Recreation Hall). Both halls were profusely decorated with flags and bunting, the national colours predominating. At the Wesleyan Schoolroom the audience was very appreciative, although there was not probably quite as much enthusiasm as at the Recreation Hall. The Ladies' Contest Section of the Armley Choral Society, conducted by Mr H. H. Pickard, sang with fine taste "Distant Bells" (Mackenzie), the peal of the bells being admirably imitated, and they were equally successful with the part song "Three fishers went sailing," which was given with excellent expression. Miss Elsie Suddaby (soprano), who possesses a beautiful voice, and who is a great favourite at Crossgates, was unfortunately suffering from a retained throat, and she did not do herself full justice in the song "In a child's small hand" (Engelhardt). Instead of singing again, she gave a piano selection, and, being a brilliant pianist, she so delighted the audience that she had to respond to demands for more. Mr William Hayle, the principal bass in the Leeds Parish Church, was undoubtedly the most popular of the vocalists, and he used his fine voice to excellent purpose in the singing of "Drake goes west." He was encored, and replied with "Young Tom o' Devon." His second effort was "Sambre woods," which was loudly applauded. Mr Tom Harwood, the elocutionist, was very happy in his choice of "Marmion's" stirring tale "The last shot" roused the audience, and, of course, he was recalled, giving that delightfully humorous piece "The same old tie." "The ballad of John Nicholson" was rendered with equal dramatic power, and this was followed (in an encore) by a capital picture house sketch, which created roars of laughter.

The Clifton Prize Quartette (Messrs H. Dove, W. R. Holloway, G. H. Hoyle, and M. Chapman), who opened the second part of the programme with "Comrades in arms," were popular, and their rendering of Sullivan's "The long day closes" was very fine, indeed. They were recalled, and sang with great success "Here's life and health." Miss Ivy Easton (contralto), who was the only local singer in the programme, has a voice of remarkable strength and range for one so young, and for her interpretation of "Augus M'Donald" she was called back and gave "The land of heart's desire." Her second song was "Little grey home in the West." Mr G. W. Riley, principal tenor at Lewis Parish Church, made a successful appeal with "The soldier's grave," responding to an encore with "Let me like a soldier fall," and a similar compliment was paid for his singing of "For you there." The humorist was Mr G. O. Cattle, and he undoubtedly has a great reputation. Starting with a few funny stories, he caused much laughter with his song "Hurrah for England," and, of course, he had to return, his sketch relating the adventures of a sweep being equally good. Not less appreciated was his song "The ideal home," which, as well as "My beauty exquisite," aroused the greatest merriment. Mrs Tom Cooper and Mr E. W. Alvane Browning were the accompanists.

In the course of the evening Mr T. K. Diggle, on behalf of the Court, thanked the trustees for the free use of the schoolroom and the hall, Mr Barker for the use of the pianos, the artistes, and all who had in any way contributed to the success of the concerts, which, he said, would raise "over £50. Subsequently the Lord Mayor (Mr Broderick) and the Lady Mayoress (Mrs Ratcliffe) entered the room, and they had a very cordial reception. They were supported on the platform by Mr Diggle, Mr I. J. Dewhirst, C.C., Mr H. Ratcliffe, Mr Walter Thompson, and the Rev. B. Guyer (Whitkirk).

The Lord Mayor said that he desired to commend the generous manner in which Crossgates had contributed to the Patriotic Fund. It reflected great credit upon the residents, and he would say for the people of Leeds—and the whole country that never had there been such a generous and whole-hearted response to a fund. They all felt that they should do everything in their power to help the men fighting the country's battles and those dependent on them. It was their desire that the troops should be well looked after, and that their dependents should have the best care and attention. He was very proud of the way in which Leeds had responded on that great national occasion, he was proud that Crossgates belonged to Leeds, and he was proud to see the determination on their part to do their best in that great national emergency. He stated that that afternoon 130 Belgian refugees had been received in Leeds. These people were people they should love and think highly of. The Belgians' only desire had been to be left to conduct their own affairs in an honest way, but their wish was denied them. Owing to the terrible war and the terrible enemy these poor people had been disturbed in a manner disgraceful to civilization. (Applause). Their peaceful occupations had been thrown aside without consideration, and it was for them to see that everything that could be done should be done for these people. They would do everything they could to make their surroundings happy and comfortable. In Crossgates he supposed there were no suitable cottages available for the accommodation of these people, but if there were, any he would be glad if anyone would let him know. If he could find a row of houses in a colliery district, where the pits were working short time, that would be best. He desired that the Belgians should not be placed in detached houses, but all together, and if possible have a small colony. They heartily appreciated the work of the Court on behalf of the Prince of Wales' Fund, to which the whole of the proceeds from the sale of tickets would go, and he congratulated the members on their generosity in bearing the expense of the concerts, and the people on the splendid response they had made. (Applause).

On the call of Mr A. K. Rhodes, County Councillor Dewhirst proposed a vote of thanks to the Lord Mayor and the Lady Mayoress. He said they were delighted to see them, and he mentioned that it was the first time the Lord Mayor had visited Crossgates since it became part of the city. They were a loyal people in Crossgates, and they had forty ladies who met there three or four days a week to make garments. (Applause).

The Rev. B. Guyer, in seconding, said that they were very grateful to the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress, and he remarked on the cordiality of their reception.

The resolution was passed, and cheers were given for the Lord and Lady Mayoress, and "For he's a jolly good fellow" was sung.

The Lord Mayor, in reply, said he knew that Crossgates would do what was expected of it. In regard to the work of the women, he said it was highly appreciated, and the manner in which they had come forward was very kind. It had been a delight to him to be with them, and he was sure it had given the Lady Mayoress great pleasure. (Applause).

At the Recreation Hall the same programme was given, encores being frequent. During the interval the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress arrived, and were introduced by Mr A. H. Whitfield, Chief Ranger.

The Lord Mayor, in a brief address, said he was proud of the patriotism of Crossgates. He had been surprised and delighted with the eagerness and readiness of the response made to the public taking care that such hospitality was forthcoming. Owing to the conduct of our enemies, these worthy people had been rendered helpless and homeless, and it behoved all of us to palliate their unhappy lot so far as lay in our power. (Applause).

Cheers were heartily given for the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress, who afterwards left to visit the Wesleyan Schoolroom.

The programme in both halls was opened and closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

BRAMHAM MOOR HUNT.

IN WETHERBY DISTRICT

The Brumham Moor hounds met on Friday morning at Thorparch, chiefly to account for the foxes on the Wetherby Racecourse. They found several foxes at Thorparch, and a couple and a half of hounds took a fox into Burnett's Wood, and out towards Wetherby. After drawing Horn Beck and Formby came up with his fox on a turnip field at Burnett's Wood, and killed him. In Burnett's Wood there was a brace, one going back into the cover, and hounds ran hard with the other over Wetherby Racecourse, past Boggart House, into Champagne Wood, and after several turns round the cover he was killed. Another fox went away, but Farrelly took hounds to the other side of the racecourse on to Banks Wood.

There was a fox in cover, but a fox went away to Ainsty Lodge, Wetherby, and hounds ran on nicely pointing to Ingmanthorpe Grange, but Farrelly stopped them. Hounds then went on the racecourse to try a drain, where a breed of foxes has been, and there was a fox at once with Farrelly. A marvellous little terrier was sent for from Thorparch, Mr Birkmyer's terrier being too big for drains.

As soon as Farrelly's terrier got in he gave tongue, and he was soon worrying at something, and after waiting some time a fox bolted, and hounds went away with a rare scent towards Wetherby, over the railway, to Burnett's Wood, and thence on to Horn Bank, where he got to ground. Another bolted, but went back into the drain, and Farrelly was sent for, and they soon had him out and killed. Trying another drain with the course where the fox had to gallop this little terrier said "Yes" once more. The fox was only about four yards in, and as Farrelly put him out to the mouth of the hole, and the huntsman pulled out the terrier holding on to the fox, and hounds soon killed the latter—a very fine old dog fox.

The mask and brush were presented to Miss Crossley, aged 23 years, who was present on her pony. Hounds accounted for two more, hounds then went on to draw Spring Wood, where they found a brace of old foxes, and one went to the racecourse to try and get out some foxes, but they did not succeed. Hounds did not return to kennels until eleven hours after leaving.

WHEN ROUNDHAY PARK LAKE WAS FORMED

COMPLETED IN THE YEAR OF WATERLOO.

Whilst the suggestion to undertake the construction of a lake on the lower side of Woodhouse Moor is being considered by the authorities, it may be recalled that it was a similar object—that of providing work for the unemployed—that the lake in the Roundhay Park was made a hundred years ago.

As the name of the lake—Waterloo—implies, the work was completed in the year of Waterloo, 1815. When Mr Thomas Nicholson, of Chapel Allerton, a London banker, bought the Roundhay estate in 1803 there was neither lake nor pond—nothing but a stream which meandered through the "Gorge" as it does to this day, and gradually made the disused workings of an old quarry. It was by doing further excavating in the neighbourhood of that quarry and by blocking up the valley, that the lake as it exists at present was created.

The work was begun towards the close of the Napoleonic wars at a time when distress in Leeds was acute; and by the time it had been completed, Mr Nicholson, who was owner of the estate, had paid out £15,000 in wages.

COMING OF AGE CELEBRATIONS.

GIFT FROM ACASTER SELBY.

Friday was the 21st birthday of William F. Victor Milner, only son of the Right Hon. Sir Frederick Milner, formerly of Nun Appleton, and godson of Queen Mary. Ald. Milner, of Leeds, who bought the Nun Appleton estate, was father of a succession of William Milners who lived to do good and who earned the love of their people by unostentatious kindness and true fellowship. The worthy Alderman of Leeds, who bought the estate and his son upset it, refused the baronetcy which was bestowed later on the said son for his public services.

The present William, the eighth from the Aldbrean whose forbears were William for many generations, spent his 21st birthday with his aunt, Miss Milner, at Heworth Moor House. His father and his sister, Mrs York, and his niece, Diana York, spent the afternoon at Heworth, but all festivities have been postponed in consequence of the war till happier times. Mr Milner is at present a graduate at Oxford. His chief recreation is gardening, a taste inherited from generations on both sides of the family. He has made a rock garden in his aunt's small grounds which is the admiration of all visitors, and he has given an old-world character to the place which delights all who care for traditions.

Amongst gifts already received none is more valued than a beautiful attache case given him by the scholars, past and present, of the tiny school at Acaster Selby, built and supported by his great-grandfather, Sir William Mordaunt Milner, and saved with great difficulty by his father, Sir Frederick Milner. The headmistress, Miss Goodrick, and her scholars have made the presentation through Miss Milner, who had hoped to receive them at Heworth Moor House to make it in person, but Government regulations made it impossible to reach York after the school closes in these shortening autumn days.

WHEAT TESTS AT GARFORTH.

OFFICIAL REPORT.

An official report dealing with the results of tests with different varieties of wheat, conducted at the Manor Farm, Garforth, states that the 1914 experiment was carried out on a field of medium loam soil. The previous crop was "seeds"—a mixture of rye grass and clover—which followed a crop of oats, after swedes. The "seeds" were grazed late into the spring of 1913, and mown in the middle of June. The second crop was grazed, and dung, at the rate of eight tons per acre, was applied during August. All the varieties were drilled, at the rate of three bushels per acre, on October 22nd, 1913, with the exception of Little Joss, which was not sown until November 5th. Previous to being drilled the seed was pickled with bluestone (sulphate of copper), half-a-pound of which, dissolved in a gallon of water, was used for each sack (four bushels) of grain.

The plots were each a quarter of an acre in extent, except those of iron and Grenadier III., which were each one-eighth of an acre. The yields per acre were as follows:—Little Joss 53¾ bushels, value per acre £14 12s. 2d.; Garton's Victor 52¼, value £13 18s. 0d.; Webb's standard red 50 bushels, value £13 13s. 1d.; Carter's standard master 49½ bushels, value £13 6s. 9d.; extra squarehead II., 49¼ bushels, value £13 1s. 1d.; iron, 49¼ bushels, value £13 1s. 3d.; squarehead master 49 bushels, value £13 2s. 4d.; sum 473 bushels, value £126 14s. 6d.; Grenadier III. 47¼ bushels, value £12 7s. 8d.; Berwick grey chaff 47 bushels, value £12 2s. 8d. There is no difference in value between standard red and Little Joss, squarehead master, Berwick grey chaff and sum are worth perhaps 6d. per quarter less than standard red. While Grenadier III. and extra squarehead II. are worth from 1s. to 1s. 6d. per quarter less than standard red. On the whole, the samples are very good. They are not quite so bold as last year's, and there is no thinner in the grain, and will give a slightly higher yield of flour. Following are the average yields per acre of the eight varieties which were tested in each of the three years:—1912 crop—Squarehead 44 40 bushels, Little Joss 47 bushels, Webb's standard red 44¾ bushels, squarehead master 44¾ bushels, squarehead II. 44 bushels, Berwick grey chaff 44 bushels, iron 42¾ bushels, Carter's white standup 43¾ bushels.

Staffordshire last week headed the list of the most successful recruiting counties in the Northern District.

The Birmingham Small Arms Factory is running day and night, so extensive is the Government demand for Army rifles.

Sergt. Alfred Hordon, 10th Battalion Royal Fusiliers, and a blind dog's delight, of Colchester, fell asleep in a chair at the sergeants' mess, and was found dead in the morning. At the inquest it was stated that he had felt the strain of high pressure work.

In Asiatic Turkey an earthquake has destroyed the towns of Isbarta and Burdur.

Mr Henry Gallwey Wyatt has expressed his willingness to stand for East Galway as a "pledge-bound member of the Irish Nationalist Party" to act in co-operation with Mr Redmond.

ECZEMA CURED—MORLEY CASE.

54, Hope View,
Gilfoyd Parade, Morley,
29th July, 1913.

To Mr Crosswaite,

Dear Sir,—Kindly accept my grateful thanks for the SPLENDID CURE YOU HAVE MADE OF MY SON, Dan Hockett.

HE was troubled with ECZEMA FOR OVER 2 YEARS and CURED in FIVE weeks.

I have TRIED MANY OTHER THINGS but they none did him any good whatever, but I am thankful to say that YOUR TREATMENT HAS CURED him.

Yours gratefully,
MRS DAN HOCKETT.

SKIN SPECIALIST & MEDICAL HERBALIST
PROF. CROSSWAITE
64, KIRKSTALL Rd. Leeds
MODERATE CHARGES & Hours 10

£10 REWARD.—This Reward will be paid by Mr. J. Crosswaite to the first person giving information leading to a conviction of a certain unscrupulous person at present calling upon householders in his name, and offering for sale Recipes, Medicines, Pills, Ointments, etc., falsely representing the same to have been prepared by Mr. Crosswaite.

Information may be lodged at the nearest Police Station or Detective Office, Town Hall, Leeds, or Mr. J. Crosswaite, 84, Kirkstall Road, Leeds.

A SPOFFORTH SOLDIER WOUNDED

HIT BY A SHELL.

Gunner H. Jenkinson, Royal Garrison Artillery, whose parents reside at Spofforth, writing from a hospital in France, says he was wounded on 26th September, a shell hitting their gun, killing three men and wounding five.

Jenkinson was wounded in the left foot, thigh, arm, and face, but he hopes to be well again soon. He pays a tribute to the kindness of the French sisters, and says he is well cared for.

A METHLEY POSTMAN'S ORDEAL

"ACCOUNTED FOR A FEW GERMANS."

Albert Ellwood, who was prior to the war a postman at Methley, and is a private recently in the 2nd Battalion King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, is now among the wounded in the 1st General Hospital at Brixton, London. He has written to his brother, Mr Walter Ellwood, of Carlton Street, Castleford:—

"I received your letter and 'fags,' but I could not manage to reply as we were in the thick of it at the time, and I thought the position shortly after. I have been knocked about a bit, but I can't grumble, it might have been worse.

"My left leg is fractured above the knee, my jaw is broken, and I have a bullet wound in the back on the left shoulder blade, so I suppose I shall be a few weeks before I am ready to go back.

"I think I accounted for a few Germans before I was put out of action. We are being well looked after in this hospital.

"I received the 'fags' I can tell you—the first English smoke for a week or two, so you can guess how I enjoyed 'em."

A WOODLESFORD CO.'S REPRESENTATIVE'S STORY.

BELGIANS BURIED ALIVE BY GERMANS.

Mr Leonard Lockwood, who for twelve years has lived in Brussels as the representative of Bentley's Yorkshire Breweries, Woodlesford, has returned to this country after an exciting dash from Brussels to Ghent.

On Friday morning last he left the Belgian capital armed only with an American passport—which, unfortunately for him, mentioned, most emphatically that he was a British subject—and an identification certificate from the Burgomaster's office. In a "growler," which was one of a procession of sixteen, Mr Lockwood, with several strangers, began the journey by road from Brussels to Gramont. Scarcely had the conveyance left the city when the party was stopped by the German patrol, which was watching the Charleroi Canal. Probably owing to the German sergeant's ignorance of French, and also to the imposing American consulate heading to Mr Lockwood's passport, difficulties here were overcome, but three times subsequently the carriage was stopped.

When nearing Ghent the luggage was searched, and then a Flle farther on the sergeant in charge of a bridge refused to allow the party to proceed. It was now that Mr Lockwood found it necessary to adopt some less transparent scheme. Passing as the father of a lady who was travelling in the same conveyance, and who said she was going to fetch her children from Ghent, he went back some distance and persuaded a refugee to lend him his passport. The journey to Ghent after that was comparatively simple, but of the sixteen coaches which set out from Brussels only four completed the thirty miles to Ghent.

Of his experiences in Brussels since the war began, Mr Lockwood is eloquent. He said that he is thoroughly convinced that the stories of Belgian atrocities are absolutely true. Thousands of refugees from the ruined villages have poured into Brussels during the last month, and he has talked with many of them. Some, he says, have had their hands cut off at the wrists. Others are glad to talk of the terrible happenings and to swear vengeance on the Germans.

"The worst case I know of," said Mr Lockwood, "occurred in Schaffen, near Diest. There the Germans formed the villagers up in a circle, took two of the men and buried them alive, just leaving their heads sticking out of the ground. Then the soldiers stood round and watched until the heads ceased twitching and the pobres failed."

In Aerschot, too, where the Germans fired on each other from different sides of the River Meuse, more German brutality was displayed. From every tenth house in the town the Germans took a hostage, and these were put in the Market Square. The men were placed on one side, and the women and children on the other. Then, before the eyes of their relatives, the men were shot.

Mr Lockwood is not at all sanguine about the fate of Brussels, since Burgomaster Max has been made prisoner. The Germans would be glad, he thinks, to purchase the peace of Brussels, but until recently the Burgomaster had kept the populace well under control. Now that he is a prisoner there is a different feeling already making itself felt.

"The people," said Mr Lockwood, "gather in the Grande Place, looking for Max, and they are getting more and more excited because he is missing. There are bands of demonstrators walking the streets, and when bad weather comes, and they feel the pinch, I am afraid they will act desperately."

HAREHILLS MAN'S INTERESTING LETTER

"We have just come out of the firing line in a wood which we have been in for eight days, wet through," writes Private A. Burrow, of the 1st King's Liverpool Regiment, to his parents, at 8, Compton Mount, Harehills, Leeds. "We lost heavily. The place was nothing but one long trap, the Germans shot at killing twelve at a time. The Germans are a cowardly lot. At one place where we attacked them, they waited till we got within 200 yards, went to capture them they opened fire on us, but we captured 100 and killed between 200 and 300."

Describing the long retreat from Mons, Private Burrow says:—"We marched back to within fifteen miles of Paris, and we had great take up a position between two hills about five miles apart. We were stuck in a wood, and our artillery were in the valley, the Brigade on our right and the French on our left.

"The Germans were advancing on our front, and we had to stick to this position and not retire on any account. The first day we lost heavily. The German artillery swept the wood with shells, and we were lying there and could do nothing. On the third day the German Infantry advanced, and we woke up one morning to find them in trenches 200 yards from us. We had to stick, and we fought for 48 hours, and then they retired, and we got relieved by the Scots Guards. We have been resting here for four days, all well earned. We have five recommended for the V.C."

ROTHWELL AND DISTRICT CRICKET LEAGUE.

CARLTON WIN THE CUP.

The deciding match for the championship of the Rothwell and District Cricket League was concluded at Rothwell on Saturday. The teams, Carlton and Outwood, had met on the previous Saturday, when the game had to be stopped at a most interesting stage owing to bad light. Carlton had knocked up 158, and when the wickets were drawn Outwood had 7 wickets down for a total of 93 runs. On Saturday the when the teams again met Colley and Thompson went on to resume their innings, the latter was bowled by Sykes for a "duck," a fate which met Hargreaves, who followed. Thompson's figures were 31, and he managed to get to a total of 106 runs. Of the trundlers Sykes had the best average, securing 7 wickets for 32 runs, W. Newton and Bingworth, for Carlton, had 2 for 17, and 1 for 38 respectively. For Outwood Lunn captured 3 wickets for 24 runs, Pickard 2 for 43, Carr 2 for 29, and White 1 for 32. Scores:—

Carlton.
W. Newton, b Pickard	30
J. Illingworth, c Whiteley, b Pickard	0
L. Brown, c Walker, b Carr	1
E. Fozzard, b White	1
R. Butterworth, b Pickard	52
H. Cowling, b Carr	0
W. Sykes, b Pickard	12
G. Brown, c and b Lunn	30
J. Bingworth, c Hoyland, b Lunn	4
W. Brown, b Lunn	1
S. Lawrence, not out	15
Extras	12
Total	158

Outwood
Dixon, c and b Sykes	10
Hoyland, c Fozzard, b Sykes	4
Lunn, b Sykes	0
White, c Cowling, b Sykes	23
Pickard, lbw, b Newton	14
Carr, c Butterworth, b Sykes	27
Walker, b Newton	0
Colley, b Illingworth	19
Thompson, b Sykes	0
Hargreaves, b Sykes	0
Whiteley, not out	2
Extras	7
Total	106

The Cup was presented to the winners by Mr E. Boothroyd, of Oulton, who was introduced by Mr Wilcock, of Carlton.

In handing the trophy to the captain, Mr Boothroyd said he stood in an unique position in regard to presenting cups. Two years ago he was asked to present the Rothwell Charity Cup, which took him about Saturdays to perform. On this occasion he had been two Saturdays. However, there was one thing he wanted to do, as an old cricketer, and one who took a great interest in local cricket—to draw attention to better fielding. They opened their daily papers and saw the reports of someone who had been scoring well or of some fine bowling, but they saw no account of the fielding, which was all important. Good fielding gave heart to the bowler and disheartened the batsmen. Referring to the teams, Mr Boothroyd said that at one an odd cricketer, and one who took a great interest in local cricket, to draw attention to better fielding. They opened their daily papers and saw the reports of someone who had been scoring well or of some fine bowling, but they saw no account of the fielding, which was all important. Good fielding gave heart to the bowler and disheartened the batsmen. Referring to the teams, Mr Boothroyd said that at one period Carlton never had been successful in winning the trophy, but their friends at Carlton never had won it, and he had great pleasure, on behalf of Mr Calverley, in presenting them with the Cup. He also paid a tribute to Mr G. Brown, Carlton's oldest cricketer, and related an incident how when playing in a team against Mr Brown, he (the speaker) just prevented him making 100 runs by catching him out when he had got 97.

The Cup was accepted by Mr Newton, on behalf of the Carlton team, who said that during the season his club had been first at the top and then at the bottom, but eventually they had come out on top. The whole team had done their share in winning the trophy, but he did not think they had won the cup by that match, and as all roads pointed to London all the matches had pointed to this one. He himself had been playing in League cricket for 21 years, and it had taken him all that time to win a cup. He had handled a shield and medals, but never a cup.

Mr Pickard also spoke for the Outwood team.

AN INTERESTING STORY OF K. OF K.

In his sermon at Southlands Chapel, York, on Sunday, the Rev. Stanley Parker told a good story of Lord Kitchener. It appears that when down for a total of 93 runs. On Saturday the Rev. F. H. Bateson, the Chaplain-General of the Methodist Forces in the Army, was in India, he asked from the Commander-in-Chief the favour of this bold chaplain to see if it were genuine and not merely the language of cant, and he was satisfied; and then he said, "Bateson, pray," and Mr Bateson knelt down with the Commander-in-Chief and his officers and prayed. And when they rose from their knees the Commander-in-Chief gave not half-an-hour but two hours to the careful consideration of the propositions that were made, and at last, as Mr Bateson was leaving the room, one of the aides-de-camp said to him: "Do you know, sir, what you have done?" He said "No." And then he said, "You have made the Commander-in-Chief your lifelong friend." "And we are glad," added Mr Parker, "that at the War Office today we have a man who admits the power and place of prayer."

TO SAVE TIME AND LABOUR.

When dusting, soak the duster in paraffin, then wring out and dry in the air. There will be no unpleasant smell, and the duster will gather up the dust easily and give a brilliant polish to mirrors and the picture-glasses.

TEST FOR DAMPNESS.

To ascertain whether a room is damp or not, place a weighed quantity of fresh lime in an open vessel in the room and leave it there for twenty-four hours, carefully closing the windows and doors. At the end of twenty-four hours re-weigh the lime, and if the increase exceeds 1 per cent. of the original weight it is not safe to live in the room.

TO STORE FURS FOR THE SUMMER.

Shake the furs thoroughly, then wrap them in newspaper. Place them in a cardboard box lined with newspaper, fill the corner of the box and tie down. Then paste over with newspaper. Moths have a strong dislike to printers' ink.

ROUNDHAY

The scholars of Roundhay National School have sent 5s. to the Lord Mayor's Fund, and a sum of 10s. was collected at Leeds Golf Links by Phyllis and Alma Gilpin.

Telephone No. 1129.

RHODES & SONS,

Commercial and General Printers Lithographers, Bookbinders, &c.

ORDERS BY POST OR TELEPHONE PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

Magazines, Periodicals, &c., Bound to any Pattern. . .

Posters, Handbills, Circulars, Business Cards, Balance Sheets, Fixture Cards, Catalogues, Ball Programmes and . . Every description of . . General and Commercial Printing.

2 AIRE STREET LEEDS.

LADIES
BLANCHARD'S PILLS
Are unrivalled for all irregularities, &c., they speedily afford relief and never fail to alleviate all suffering. They supersede Pennyroyal, Pil Cochia, Bitter Apple, &c. "BLANCHARD'S are the Best of all Pills for Women." Sold in boxes, 1/1½ by Boots' Branches, Taylor's Drug Co. Branches, and all Chemists, or post free, same price, from LESLIE MARTYN, Ltd. Chemists, 24, DALSTON LANE, LONDON. Free Sample and valuable Booklet, post free, 1d. Stamp.

(ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.)

THE DOUBLE CHANCE.

By J. S. FLETCHER

Author of "The Threshing Floor," "The Charles II. Coin Ring," "Daniel Quayne," "The Firebird," &c.

CHAPTER XXII.

Both Quinton and the detective were very quiet as they went back to the motor-brougham, and for some time neither man spoke. Then the manager said:

"I suppose you do not wish to go up to the Castle again to-night, and I don't think I shall. It's getting late, and there's no need to trouble Miss Mannersley with all these horrors before morning."

"Just so," agreed Inspector Cortelyon. "There isn't."

"Then we'll get the farmer to take us to my rooms, and you shall have a whisky-and-soda and a cigar," said Quinton. "You want-ired."

The detective made no secret of the fact that he was tired, and when they reached the manager's rooms he dropped into a chair as if glad to rest.

"I'm not only tired," he said, as he took the tumbler which Quinton had mixed for him. "I'm disappointed. I fully expected to hang Marshall Stead!"

"That's a remarkable remark, isn't it?" said Quinton, smiling.

"Not from a professional point," answered the inspector. "No, I had fully made up my mind that Stead was guilty."

"You quite believe Steinthal's confession, then?" asked Quinton.

Inspector Cortelyon nodded as he lighted a cigar. "Quite," he said. "Quite. It's the plain truth. And now, of course, putting a lot of things together, I begin to see how Stead worked it all so cleverly. Marshall Stead turned them to his advantage."

"You mean that you can reconstruct the crime and the surroundings of that evening?" asked the manager.

"I think so. Stead doubtless arrived in the village very soon after Steinthal had rushed from it," answered Inspector Cortelyon. "The open door of the chemist's shop gave him an idea that something was wrong. My own belief is that Steinthal left the shop door open, and that Stead saw what had happened and closed it. I also believe that it was during the next few minutes that two things took place. One was that it was then that the finger-prints were made on the secret staircase, into which he locked, to see if anybody was astonished there; the other, that it was then that he abstracted the diamonds from the safe in the library."

"Why?" After Sir Robert's death?" exclaimed Quinton.

"Certainly. It was a grand double chance for Stead. Sir Robert's murder relieved him of an always possible danger—the danger of detection as regards the forgery. I have no doubt, we shall find that he has been a most accomplished hand in that direction;—and it gave him the opportunity of accusing Steinthal, which Sir Robert had double-locked from him. I have no doubt whatever that Stead, in the character of his pitiful, Mr. Quinton, when he came into the study in response to your call for help. Ah! I wish I could get hands on him!"

"He surely can't be far away," said Quinton. "He can't have got off from the midst of the neighbouring villages, and if he's walked across country he's sure to be recognised."

"Ayes, if we could only have caught that fellow who was in the orchard to-night!" said the detective. "He rather, if we could have followed him. I'll swear anything he'd have had on straight to Stead. Stead's lying hid somewhere about."

"Until he can get off, I suppose," said Quinton. "Of course, I don't know anything about such things, but it seems to me that it is quite easy for a man to wait until night-fall and then to get quietly away from a place."

"In all desperate cases," remarked the detective, "there's a weak point in the criminal's behaviour, and his supply of ready cash," replied the inspector. "But Stead hasn't gone away from Mannersley—he's hidden somewhere about. We shall find him yet—and those diamonds too. That's all I want to see—I've lost all interest in the other case."

"Dr. Hibbert, sir," announced Quinton's handsby, ushering the young doctor into the study room.

Hibbert came in, looking tired and fagged, and nodded to both men. He threw off his gloves and laid them on the table.

"Help yourself to whisky-and-soda, Hibbert," said Quinton. "Cigars in the cupboard. I know you don't smoke cigars."

"I'll smoke a pipe," said Hibbert. He filled himself a pipe, and, swallowed half the contents of the tumbler almost absolutely. "I say," he continued, looking round at the others, "Steinthal's gone!"

Inspector Cortelyon showed no sign; Quinton looked perplexed.

"Gone?" he said, inquiringly. "Gone?"

"Dead!" answered Hibbert, laconically. "Just after I left him."

The detective puffed out a cloud of cigar smoke and looked at the doctor attentively.

"How was it?" he asked.

Hibbert sat down and lighted his pipe; it was plain that he had been upset.

"I'll tell you what I told Chalmers and Illingworth and I went downstairs. Of course, Illingworth knew Steinthal was dying, and was sending, and I wanted to consult with Chalmers about some formality or other. I don't understand, but I'm told there is one, so I went to Chalmers. Steinthal was worse than seven or eight minutes, but he was just dying when I left him. Suicide, of course."

"Suicide?" exclaimed Quinton.

"Capable of possession," answered Hibbert. "He was capable of everything. He must have had it concealed somewhere, but I can't think where, unless it was in a hollow tooth."

Inspector Cortelyon thought of how the man's claw-like hands had fingered the old man's throat, and he said nothing.

"Well, I'll go," said Hibbert, finishing his whisky-and-soda. "I thought I'd just drop in to tell you."

There was a short silence after the young doctor had gone. The detective seemed in no mood for conversation, and Quinton watched the wrinkled face with some curiosity.

"I suppose this will put off Miss Clinton Mannersley's release, inspector?" he remarked at last.

"Oh, yes," answered the detective. "Of course—of course. That was only a question of time."

"It is a pity that the other affair—you know what I mean—still hangs over him," said Quinton.

Inspector Cortelyon smiled oracularly. "When I catch Marshall Stead," he said, "that other affair will hang over Sir Clinton. Stead was the man."

He rose to go, saying that he still had work to do.

"Well, matters are clearing up, at any rate," said the manager, shaking hands.

"What will I charge you?" answered Cortelyon.

But on the morrow, and the next day, and the next, no news came to him which brought him any nearer the fugitive. The Mannersley mysteries were by that time noised abroad all over the country, and sightlant watch was being kept everywhere for Stead, but Stead had apparently disappeared into space. Not a clue had been caught up in a flying machine and carried off to Central Africa.

Inspector Cortelyon left no stone unturned in Mannersley itself. Certain that the cashier had some accomplice or confederate in the place, he turned his attention to the two colliers whom Black Moses had heard in conversation with respect to rebutting Ginger Jim's evidence. But those gentlemen had disappeared. And the detective was not surprised to learn that their disappearance took place on the same afternoon or evening of the day on which Stead had effected his escape from the police-station. They were both single men, living in lodgings; from all the other local constables they had simply disappeared suddenly, without reason or excuse, and nobody in the village had noticed their departure. The superior Cortelyon felt that this had a good deal to do with Stead's disappearance, but the two men seemed to have vanished just as inexplicably.

The detective had no reason to complain of want of help—the fact was that every man in the colliery village seemed to imbibe the idea that he was especially fitted to be a detective, and began to take upon himself duties for which Nature had not quite fitted him. Several bold spirits, considering that it would be a pity to waste the opportunity of exercising their undoubted gifts, stayed away from their work for shift after shift, and instead of going down into the bowels of the earth to get coal, went about the surrounding country trying to catch Stead. Most of these expeditions wound up at some roadside inn, where witnesses were vanished and methods explained, and none of them ended in the triumphant capture of the cashier.

On the evening of the day before that on which Sir Clinton Mannersley was to be again brought before the magistrates, Quinton received the Inspector Cortelyon looked somewhat disturbed.

"I have just called on Mr. Illingworth," he said, "but as he has gone out into the country and won't be back until late, I came to see you, Quinton."

"Yes?" said Inspector Cortelyon. "Anything wrong?"

"No, and I said there may be to-morrow," answered the manager. "You know I get to know a good deal of what the men are thinking, and what I think is that they, through edge-winds. And I have heard something this afternoon which rather alarms me."

"About the case coming to-morrow, I expect," said the inspector.

"Yes," said Quinton. "I don't suppose more than one-third of the men will go down to-morrow. There'll be a tremendous crowd in the village, though, I should think. Some of the men are for stopping the cab and taking the horses out and drawing the cab to the Castle themselves."

"Oh!" said the detective. "Then I'm afraid they'll be disappointed. There won't be any Sir Clinton there, as a secret, of course—Sir Clinton's here already. He was brought over quietly this evening, and he's at the police-station now. Of course, he knows that he will be discharged to-morrow. No one everybody knows that. The most intelligent of the men know it."

"Yes, but—it's the other affair," said Quinton, hesitatingly. "That's where the danger is, inspector."

"What danger? What other affair?" asked Inspector Cortelyon.

"The previous affair—and his escape," explained Quinton, "and the men that Sir Clinton—amongst the men that Sir Clinton, after his discharge, will be immediately rearrested and sent back to the county gaol for trial. I have no doubt we shall find that he has been a most accomplished hand in that direction;—and it gave him the opportunity of accusing Steinthal, which Sir Robert had double-locked from him. I have no doubt whatever that Stead, in the character of his pitiful, Mr. Quinton, when he came into the study in response to your call for help. Ah! I wish I could get hands on him!"

"He surely can't be far away," said Quinton. "He can't have got off from the midst of the neighbouring villages, and if he's walked across country he's sure to be recognised."

"Ayes, if we could only have caught that fellow who was in the orchard to-night!" said the detective. "He rather, if we could have followed him. I'll swear anything he'd have had on straight to Stead. Stead's lying hid somewhere about."

"Until he can get off, I suppose," said Quinton. "Of course, I don't know anything about such things, but it seems to me that it is quite easy for a man to wait until night-fall and then to get quietly away from a place."

"In all desperate cases," remarked the detective, "there's a weak point in the criminal's behaviour, and his supply of ready cash," replied the inspector. "But Stead hasn't gone away from Mannersley—he's hidden somewhere about. We shall find him yet—and those diamonds too. That's all I want to see—I've lost all interest in the other case."

"Dr. Hibbert, sir," announced Quinton's handsby, ushering the young doctor into the study room.

Hibbert came in, looking tired and fagged, and nodded to both men. He threw off his gloves and laid them on the table.

"Help yourself to whisky-and-soda, Hibbert," said Quinton. "Cigars in the cupboard. I know you don't smoke cigars."

"I'll smoke a pipe," said Hibbert. He filled himself a pipe, and, swallowed half the contents of the tumbler almost absolutely. "I say," he continued, looking round at the others, "Steinthal's gone!"

Inspector Cortelyon showed no sign; Quinton looked perplexed.

"Gone?" he said, inquiringly. "Gone?"

"Dead!" answered Hibbert, laconically. "Just after I left him."

The detective puffed out a cloud of cigar smoke and looked at the doctor attentively.

"How was it?" he asked.

Hibbert sat down and lighted his pipe; it was plain that he had been upset.

"I'll tell you what I told Chalmers and Illingworth and I went downstairs. Of course, Illingworth knew Steinthal was dying, and was sending, and I wanted to consult with Chalmers about some formality or other. I don't understand, but I'm told there is one, so I went to Chalmers. Steinthal was worse than seven or eight minutes, but he was just dying when I left him. Suicide, of course."

"Suicide?" exclaimed Quinton.

"Capable of possession," answered Hibbert. "He was capable of everything. He must have had it concealed somewhere, but I can't think where, unless it was in a hollow tooth."

Inspector Cortelyon thought of how the man's claw-like hands had fingered the old man's throat, and he said nothing.

"Well, I'll go," said Hibbert, finishing his whisky-and-soda. "I thought I'd just drop in to tell you."

There was a short silence after the young doctor had gone. The detective seemed in no mood for conversation, and Quinton watched the wrinkled face with some curiosity.

"I suppose this will put off Miss Clinton Mannersley's release, inspector?" he remarked at last.

"Oh, yes," answered the detective. "Of course—of course. That was only a question of time."

"It is a pity that the other affair—you know what I mean—still hangs over him," said Quinton.

Inspector Cortelyon smiled oracularly. "When I catch Marshall Stead," he said, "that other affair will hang over Sir Clinton. Stead was the man."

He rose to go, saying that he still had work to do.

"Well, matters are clearing up, at any rate," said the manager, shaking hands.

"What will I charge you?" answered Cortelyon.

But on the morrow, and the next day, and the next, no news came to him which brought him any nearer the fugitive. The Mannersley mysteries were by that time noised abroad all over the country, and sightlant watch was being kept everywhere for Stead, but Stead had apparently disappeared into space. Not a clue had been caught up in a flying machine and carried off to Central Africa.

Inspector Cortelyon left no stone unturned in Mannersley itself. Certain that the cashier had some accomplice or confederate in the place, he turned his attention to the two colliers whom Black Moses had heard in conversation with respect to rebutting Ginger Jim's evidence. But those gentlemen had disappeared. And the detective was not surprised to learn that their disappearance took place on the same afternoon or evening of the day on which Stead had effected his escape from the police-station. They were both single men, living in lodgings; from all the other local constables they had simply disappeared suddenly, without reason or excuse, and nobody in the village had noticed their departure. The superior Cortelyon felt that this had a good deal to do with Stead's disappearance, but the two men seemed to have vanished just as inexplicably.

The detective had no reason to complain of want of help—the fact was that every man in the colliery village seemed to imbibe the idea that he was especially fitted to be a detective, and began to take upon himself duties for which Nature had not quite fitted him. Several bold spirits, considering that it would be a pity to waste the opportunity of exercising their undoubted gifts, stayed away from their work for shift after shift, and instead of going down into the bowels of the earth to get coal, went about the surrounding country trying to catch Stead. Most of these expeditions wound up at some roadside inn, where witnesses were vanished and methods explained, and none of them ended in the triumphant capture of the cashier.

On the evening of the day before that on which Sir Clinton Mannersley was to be again brought before the magistrates, Quinton received Inspector Cortelyon looked somewhat disturbed.

"I have just called on Mr. Illingworth," he said, "but as he has gone out into the country and won't be back until late, I came to see you, Quinton."

"Yes?" said Inspector Cortelyon. "Anything wrong?"

"No, and I said there may be to-morrow," answered the manager. "You know I get to know a good deal of what the men are thinking, and what I think is that they, through edge-winds. And I have heard something this afternoon which rather alarms me."

"About the case coming to-morrow, I expect," said the inspector.

"Yes," said Quinton. "I don't suppose more than one-third of the men will go down to-morrow. There'll be a tremendous crowd in the village, though, I should think. Some of the men are for stopping the cab and taking the horses out and drawing the cab to the Castle themselves."

"Oh!" said the detective. "Then I'm afraid they'll be disappointed. There won't be any Sir Clinton there, as a secret, of course—Sir Clinton's here already. He was brought over quietly this evening, and he's at the police-station now. Of course, he knows that he will be discharged to-morrow. No one everybody knows that. The most intelligent of the men know it."

"Yes, but—it's the other affair," said Quinton, hesitatingly. "That's where the danger is, inspector."

"What danger? What other affair?" asked Inspector Cortelyon.

"The previous affair—and his escape," explained Quinton, "and

CORRESPONDENCE.

PRINCE OF WALES AND THE NATIONAL RELIEF FUND.

To the Editor.

Sir,—On the 6th August I appealed to the nation to assist me in founding a National Fund to prevent and alleviate military and civil distress arising in consequence of the war. To-day, after the lapse of exactly two months, I am happy to say that the Fund has reached the splendid total of £2,900,000 sterling. I wish to take this opportunity of thanking once more the many thousands of generous subscribers who have helped me to achieve this grand result.

I have delegated the responsibility of administering the Fund to the Executive Committee which I have appointed on the advice of the Prime Minister, and I count upon the committee to see that assistance in emergency shall be adequate and given with the least delay in circumstances permit.

I trust that the portion of the Fund which is to be applied to relief of civil distress may be as large as possible, flow into productive channels, such as enabling schemes for trade and female employment and assistance to industrial training, for it is as repugnant to me as it must be to the recipients that assistance should be distributed only in the form of doles. What men want is work and what the young people need is training.

The sum which has already been raised is stupendous, and I am confident that the generous British public will continue to do their utmost to alleviate the distress which war inevitably brings in its train.—Yours, etc.,

EDWARD.

Buckingham Palace, October 5th, 1914.

CHURCH FENTON CRICKET CLUBS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I was hoping the last had been written on the above, but as the Fenton Club's correspondent has appeared on the scene again, one or two assertions he made against me I feel it my duty to reply. I am, however, sorry he still thinks the word "resolution" was used to imply that the members of the Fenton Club were not entitled to the name. I must again say most emphatically the word was never intended to be used against the Fenton Club. There was a reason, I admit, but it had no connection with the club. I cannot explain this at present publicly, or I would most willingly do so.

As to the members of the Fenton Club being a fourth entitled to the name of Fenonians or members of the Swinnow Club, I never denied nor disputed this. They are certainly Fentonians.

If you, however, will allow me, I should like to see now a report of a match played some seventy ago, when no fewer than 7 of the opposing men were subscribers, and therefore, both clubs may now feel proud of the fact that two more consulting entirely of Fentonians can be turned out each week. Trusting this may be to the satisfaction of the Secretary of the Fenton Club, and therefore end the controversy.—Yours, etc.,

GEO. H. ASHLEY.

Hon. Sec., Church Fenton Swinnow C.C.

October 7th, 1914.

GARFORTH WAR DISTRESS FUND

ADDITIONAL SUBSCRIPTIONS.

In connection with the Garforth War Distress Fund the subscriptions already acknowledged total £146 os. 6d. The following additional amounts have been received:—

	£ s. d.
Collected in box per Miss Barber, assisted from last week's list	0 14 0
Underground Workmen and Boys at Indoors and Sisters	1 0 0
Pits (5th contribution)	0 19 0
Mr J. Clapham Bottle	10 0 0
Garforth Picture House (1st Benefit)	2 0 0
Mr Jon. Carr Simpson	0 0 0
Mr George Barber	0 5 0
Mr. J. H. Bowsare	0 5 0
Mr F. B. Beverit	0 2 6
Mr. Sidney Backhouse	0 2 6

Further subscriptions will be thankfully received and acknowledged.

Information about Maintenance allowance by the War Office to the wives and families of soldiers and sailors serving with the Colours may be obtained from

W. G. BOSOMS,
Clerk to the Sub-Committee, Council Offices, Garforth.

KIPPAX DISTRICT EDUCATION COMMITTEE

THE LATE MR J. W. BLACKBURN.

The monthly meeting of the Kippax District Education Committee was held in Kippax on Wednesday—Mr E. Parkin, J.P. (Chairman), presiding. The other members present were Mr J. Cowell, Mr Wm. Hall, Mr W. Mellor, Mr A. Atack, Mr J. Farrar, and Mr I. Robinson, with the Clerk (Mr H. W. Powell).

The Chairman referred to the death of Mr J. W. Blackburn, the vice-chairman. He said his connection with the committee extended over a period of 20 years, and during that time he had attended the meetings remarkably well. They should all feel the loss sustained by his death very much. He was a man who took a keen interest in religious life and in commercial life, and he gave liberally to deserving causes. He was a very considerate man, and struck one right, so far as he understood them, he would always defend. The many people who attended the funeral on Tuesday was a splendid illustration of the esteem and respect in which he was held.

A vote of condolence with the widow and family was passed by the Chairman.

Mr James Robinson, in seconding, referred to Mr Blackburn as a most valuable influence was forthcoming, and one who took a deep interest in religious work. He had helped on many occasions, and in him and others his advice was sought he was always willing to give it.

Mr Atack, in supporting the resolution, spoke of knowing Blackburn for 40 years. He was a man who undoubtedly possessed fine qualities, and he would be missed in many quarters.

Mr J. Harding also supported, and the resolution was passed.

The Clerk stated that the second-hand volumes of "The Pathfinder" had been purchased for the use of Mr Howell's class of boys.

Miss Dale has received the position as teacher in the Kippax Council School on account of ill-health. Miss Dalton and Mrs. Richardson were appointed temporary teachers.

Mr R. W. Veitch and Mr Stovell are serving the country in the military spheres.

A request was for the head teacher (Mr. Veitch) as to a rearrangement of the Christmas holidays was granted. The schools are to break up on the 24th of December until the 11th of January.

The Clerk emphasised the importance of helping on to entire any case or cases of disease there might be in the district among school children.

The members thought that there was not any distress at present, employment being fairly good.

The Clerk stated that the schools in the district were on the top in attendance, the percentage being 94.05.

Mr Atack: Do they give us anything for being on the top?

The Clerk: Yes, tea and do likewise.

The evening classes at Ness Allerton are being better attended as a result of a public meeting held recently.

At the evening classes at Kippax Council School the attendance is fairly well maintained.

OULTON AND DISTRICT BILLIARD LEAGUE.

DECISION TO GO ON WITH THE COMPETITION.

The annual meeting of the Oulton and District Billiard League was held in the Rothwell Institute on Tuesday night—Mr. F. T. Wheeler in the chair. The statement of accounts was read, showing a deficit on the two years' working of £3 13s. 9d.

The question of continuing the League was discussed, and it was at length agreed that the League should be gone on with, and that the entrance fees be raised as follows—Senior League, from 5s. to 7s. 6d.; and Junior League, 2s. 6d. to 3s.

At present the following clubs constitute the Senior League:—Rothwell Institute, Oulton Institute, Hopetown, and Carlton. The Junior League was gained by Rothwell Institute, Oulton Institute, Rothwell Working Man's Club, Rothwell Temperance Hall, and Hopetown.

It was decided to invite Rothwell Working Men's Club and Methley to join the League.

Each club promised to appoint its own officers and to see to the gathering in of subscriptions.

Major Calverley was re-elected President, Messrs A. Shaw and G. Wilkinson were appointed hon. secretaries, and Mr J. A. Batty treasurer, and Mr J. J. Veitch (Kippax) auditor.

The prizes are to be as usual—Senior League 10s., and 5s. for the runners-up; Junior League 5s. and 2s. 6d. for the runners-up. There will also be four special prizes.

A BOGUS COLLECTOR AT MIDDLETON.

ANOTHER WARNING.

At the meeting of the Rothwell and District Distress Committee on Monday night, Mr W. Lunn said he had been told of a man who had been going from house to house in Middleton, collecting for the Belgian refugees. At each house he said he had returned from the Front and was collecting funds for the refugees. But he was given three pence he put down a bit in a pocket book which he carried with him, and if he received 6d. he put down 2s. 6d. Any idea of collecting for a friend, saying that he was only collecting money. The clothing he asked to be sent to the Hall. This man, said Mr Lunn, was not collecting for refugees, neither had he been to the Front or anywhere else where they had been any fighting. He (Mr Lunn) asked people to be very careful when such people came round.

SEACROFT CRICKET CLUB

ANNUAL GATHERING.

The annual smoking concert in connection with Seacroft Cricket Club was held on Wednesday night at the Lion and Swan Inn, Seacroft, and about 50 members and friends were present. The gathering was presided over by Mr F. Hollis, in the absence of the President (Mr. D. B. Wilson), with Mr C. R. Berry as vice-chairman.

The Chairman, in a bright, little speech, paid a tribute to the splendid work done by the committee and other officials of the club, and in the admirable manner in which their efforts had been backed up by the players.

The hon. secretary's report showed that the season had been highly successful both from a playing and social standpoint. The first team had secured won the championship of Parish Church Sub Section League, and the second team were the runners-up in the Junior League.

The prizes were given as follows—Field prizes—Batting, G. Stead, 2; D. Burton, 1; bowling—G. Stead, 2; D. Burton, Second team—Batting—Lindley, 2; R. Grant—Bowling—Lindley, 2; Linley, 2; W. Linley. The fielding prizes were won by H. Atack for the first team, and J. Hall for the second team.

Mr F. Taylor, the hon. treas., in presenting the financial statement, revealed a very healthy exchequer. The receipts showed an increase, and the balance which had been carried on to the next season's book had realised a profit of over £6.

Mr F. Ackroyd (vice-president), in proposing the toast of "The Seacroft Cricket Club," paid a tribute to the captaincy of the first team, and the general all-round play of the eleven.

Mr D. Burton (captain), in responding, expressed the opinion that if the players stuck together there was no reason why next season should not see both cups at Seacroft.

Mr. Ackroyd, part of the entertainment was ably sustained by Messrs A. Withy, W. Stead, E. Robinson, and L. Shaw, whilst Mr J. Walker was the accompanist.

At the close a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the artists, the Chairman, vice-chairman, and others who had contributed to an enjoyable evening.

The club is drawing to a close with tickets sold for the smoking concert to the National Relief Fund, and it is expected that many quarters will be disposed of, and much more the result of the effort.

FLOWERS OF THE ARCTIC

Most people believe that the Arctic region is bare and lifeless. That is a mistake. Mr. Ashley Fullerton in Chambers's Journal tells, among other things, that flowers are plentiful. The view of the topmost country, as seen while coasting along the Arctic shore in July and August, is normally a view of long grassy slopes profusely adorned with many quarters. In a midwinter thaw-period in a spot of rest blossoms, and a little white heather, where shrubs make serviceable fuel, is quite common. There are even blueberries seventy miles up the Coppermine. On Herschel Island, off the north coast of the Yukon Territory, there is a floral popularity every summer. It includes the wild rose, which grows nowhere else but in the north. Blue and white daisies, forget-me-nots, bluebells, the dainty nemoile and many quarters, all of them small and wonderfully delicate, and huddled in moss, spring abundantly from the otherwise barren soil. Their beauty is short-lived, but cheering to the numbered sailors and whalers who come around from Behring Sea to Mitchell every year.

Mr B. Greaves, North View, Shadwell, has given £5 5s. to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

A sum of £22, part proceeds of Newthorpe Charity Sports, has been sent to Leeds Infirmary by Mr W. Bromley.

Telephone No. 1129.

RHODES & SONS,

COMMERCIAL AND . .

GENERAL PRINTERS,

"Rothwell Courier and Times" Office,

2, AIRE STREET.

LEEDS.

YORKSHIRE SOLDIERS AT THE FRONT.

A BROTHER'S PATHETIC STORY.

A BRAVE LEEDS MAN.

Writing to his mother, Lance-Corporal Matthews, of the 9th Lancers, had a pathetic story to tell of the death of his brother, Private Matthews. He states:—

I suppose you will have heard before this of poor Harold's death. He was killed in action last Sunday, September 20th, by a shrapnel shell. It happened we were digging a trench so as to get cover from the German fire, when a shell burst overhead and killed Harold and wounded a lance-corporal. I joined the regiment here Monday, September 21st, and the first thing I heard was of his death. He had not the slightest pain, but was killed outright. We could not get his body until Tuesday morning, as the German fire was so terrific on the part where he lay. We managed to get at him by 9.30 on Tuesday morning, and buried him in Passey Churchyard. At 10 a.m. my squadron leader read part of the burial service over him and put his name in a bottle and placed it among the stones. The firing is so terrific that no one knows who is going down next. We always have plenty to eat and drink, so we are all right that way.

Private G. Sampson, who is serving with the 18th Hussars, writes to his sister, Mrs G. Whiting, 20, Middlecroft Road, Maltor, as follows:—It is rather hard for us when we are working so long and cannot send good news away, as you will know that it puts new life in us to hear of our good day's work we have done. Never mind, better days in store I hope. As Lord Kitchener says, "Do your duty; love God, honour the King," which I can do with a good heart. So far the battlefield is like a playground to me. I cannot help but smile to see their fancy shots plough the ground up. And our officers call us up. Our general is one of the finest leaders you could wish to have; a perfect man. The colonel is a very heart-feeling man, and it is a pity to see good men suffering such hardships as they are doing. For myself it just suits, if my health keeps all right.

"I have never had my clothes off since I left England six weeks ago," writes Private J. C. Hird, of the Cameron Highlanders, to his sister at Maltor. "As you can tell how I look—it is so cold at night. We are in the thick of it, you don't know as much on you do, and yet we are in the middle of it."

"I am proud to write on behalf of a Leeds man who saved my life," writes Colour-Sergeant Clark, of the Scots Greys. "We were at Mons, where, after fighting four days, we got the order to retire. I had my horse shot under me, and was taken prisoner. The Leeds man was taken prisoner also. He was real company for me. We, numbered nine altogether. Three of us were English, four were French, and two were Belgians. The Leeds man, who spoke French, asked if anyone had a knife. It was a good job there was one. The Leeds man took the knife and stuck a German guard in the back with it. Then he gave the word to escape, and stopped behind until we were out of danger, when he made his escape himself. I think this was a very brave act. My name is Clark, with the Belgian Army at Marche, and were supplied by them with rifles and ammunition. Afterwards I got wounded in the leg, and was taken to hospital at Rouen, where I got my Leeds friend shot-after. When I got back to England I found the name of the Leeds man among the missing. But do we two right a soldier who behaved me the photograph of the man which he had sent to me. I received as if the King had given me a V.C., or as if the world were mine. But I was sorry when to hear of what happened to him. I thought my heart would break. I was told he had been taken prisoner stripped of his clothes, and tied to a pole to be shot. But just as it happened the Belgians came on the scene at that moment, and in the thick smoke of the shells he managed to convey a message to a man on a motor-bike for General French, who sent us well-over sports. Another letter that was from Leeds to Robert Barnes, who is at present in hospital at Dinant suffering from fever.

"I had a narrow escape," says a soldier in a letter to a Fulford friend. "For I was struck by a bullet on the buckle of my belt. It glanced off, otherwise I should not have had much of a chance. I have cut off the buckle, as a curio. The night I got wounded my company made an attack on the German trenches. We numbered 200, and they shook four. We shifted them out with the bayonet, and they scattered for their lives. We had very heavily. We returned to our trenches, but just before we reached them the German artillery opened fire on us with shrapnel. I can remember falling on a bank, but this is all I do know, until I found myself in the hospital train for the boat at Havre. I was unconscious for about two days. I believe we killed 30 and 40 wounded so far as I can find out. I am not sorry to get this bit of a rest, as we have had a terrible time of it during September, especially during the battle around Soissons. It is on now for the fourth week. The Germans have sent all their best troops against the English to try and break through, but they will not succeed now, although they are about four times our numbers. One day alone they made 22 counter-attacks on us.

DOYLE

Ware Noted China House

Half the Art of Table Decoration lies in the use of Good Table Ware—DOYLE Ware.

Those who appreciate the artistic decoration of the table realize that it depends upon the attractiveness and the good style of the China and Glassware used. There is character and individuality in DOYLE productions, and from the point of value giving no BETTER value could possibly be obtained than HERE.

89, Bear Lane, LEEDS.

JOHN TEALE,

Advertising Contractor & Billposter,

WHITE HOUSE, GARFORTH.

Bills posted and Handbills distributed on the shortest notice throughout the Barkston Ash Division on most reasonable terms.

EDMUND BOGG,

3, Woodhouse Lane, Leeds.

is the best shop for

PICTURE FRAMING, RE-GILDING, and ARTISTS' MATERIALS.

Large Stock of Engravings & Etchings on Sale.

Established 1885. By Royal Appointment. Established 1885.

GENERAL

Accident Fire and Life

Assurance Corporation, Ltd.

PERSONAL ACCIDENT and SICKNESS Policies of all kinds. Liberal Benefits and conditions. Low Premiums.

FREE FIRE INSURANCE every sixth year to householders and private property owners.

COMBINATION POLICIES covering the requirements of householders in connection with risks of Fire, Burglary, and accidents to servants.

THREE POPULAR FORMS of Life Policy, suitable for all requirements.

Workmen's Compensation, Motor Car, Employers' Liability Guarantee, Driving Accidents, Loss Stock, Plate Glass, and Farmers' Insurances.

Chief Offices—General Bldgs., Perth, Scotland. Branch Offices—Aldwych, London, W.C. The Oldest and Strongest Independent Office. Assets exceed £1,250,000. Claims paid over £7,000,000.

General Manager: R. DONALD-WILLIS, J.P.

BEST & BOOTH

Tailors & Costumiers,

119, KIRKGATE,

— AND —

143, BRIGGATE

(Corner of Market Street), LEEDS.

Ladies' Department—143, BRIGGATE.

Look Out for B. & B.

Teasdale's Chlorodyne

All Men Joining the Army SHOULD HAVE WITH THEM

Teasdale's Chlorodyne

A Safe Protector from common hazardous ailments—Cholraic Diarrhœa, Dysentery, etc.

GIVES INSTANT RELIEF; EASES PAIN. A BLESSING TO HAVE SUCH A GRAND MEDICINE.

Brigadier Fortune, Royal Horse Artillery: "I thank you for the great benefit that Teasdale's Chlorodyne has not only done for myself, but also for many of my comrades to whom I have given it. It has indeed been a blessing to have such a grand medicine in my possession. I have used it in numerous cases of Dysentery, Rheumatism, Bolins in the Back, Coughs, and Colds. It acted like a charm in every case."

Teasdale's Chlorodyne

THE MOST VALUABLE PRESENT YOU CAN GIVE TO A FRIEND GOING TO THE FRONT.

7½d., 1s½d., and Large Bottles, 2/6.

Can be had of PURDY, Cromgrains; RENNARD, Halton, and other Chemists; GOODALL, BACKHOUSE & Co., and TAYLOR'S DRUG STORES.

ASK FOR TEASDALE'S CHLORODYNE.

THE CHALLENGE!

Never Beaten.

BRAITHWAITE'S

"The Firm with a Reputation."

ARE NOW OFFERING

THE BEST VALUE IN YORKSHIRE

— IN —

BOOTS & SHOES for Present Wear.

We are SPECIALISTS IN "FOOTWEAR for the COUNTRY."

Large Variety of Leggings, Gaiters, Slippers, & Dress Shoes.

FARMERS' BOOTS. NAVVIES' BOOTS. PIT BOOTS.

BOOTS THAT WILL TURN THE WET

SPECIAL NOTICE.—We are still offering a lot of Odd Pairs at Ridiculously Low Prices until Cleared.

BRAITHWAITE'S, The Value for Money Boot Store,

58, VICAR LANE, LEEDS.

Closed at 1 o'clock on Wednesdays.

Money Saving is Money Making

Special Show in the Latest Styles and Shades of Ladies' & Children's Winter Coats, Costumes, and Skirts, at Most Reasonable Prices

Winter Coats from 8s. 11d. Raincoats from 6s

SMITH & PETTY,

44, Lowerhead Row, LEEDS

Three Doors from Briggate.

MOURNING ORDERS EXECUTED IN 12 HOURS.

LEEDS AND HOLBECK PERMANENT BUILDING SOCIETY.

96 ALBION STREET (Corner of Guildford Street, LEEDS).

DAILY from 10 to 3, Saturdays 10 to 1 and Saturday Evenings 6.30 to 8.

3½ PER CENT. INTEREST ALLOWED ON SUBSCRIPTION & PAID UP SHARES.

3 PER CENT. ALLOWED ON DEPOSITS.

WITHDRAWALS CAN BE MADE AT SHORT NOTICE.

PROSPECTUS ON APPLICATION.

Telephone No. 253. Jno. EXLEY, President. Wm. MAUDE, Manager & Secretary.

We waited until they got within 200 yards of us, and then opened rapid fire. They soon broke and ran, and the dead lay piled up, so they did not gain very much as our losses were scarcely anything. We slept in twos to numbers when not in the trenches for protection against shell fire. Washing and shaving have been things of the past. We had a job to get sufficient drinking water. The country we have been passing through has been properly wrecked; towns blown to pieces; graves everywhere."

MILITARY ROLL OF HONOUR.—In addition to those whose names have been already given by us, the following Milford men have joined Kitchener's Army—George Dyke and Frank Reynolds.

SOUTH MILFORD AND DISTRICT FANCIERS' SOCIETY.—At a meeting of this Society at the White Swan Hotel, South Milford—Mr G. H. Ambler, of Church Fenton, presiding—the question of pet animals was under consideration. In view of the appeal from the Board of Agriculture to poultry keepers to make special efforts to increase the supply of eggs and poultry, it was decided to hold the above of poultry, pigeons, and rabbits this year. The society will also offer three prizes for white bread. Notwithstanding the war the committee trust that the public will extend their support to them as in past years.

Printed and Published by ARTHUR KNOX RHODES, of 26, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates, for the Proprietors of the "Rothwell Courier and Times" at their offices, 2, Aire Street, Leeds, in the County of York.

"The Rothwell Courier and Times"
IS THE
Only Weekly Newspaper
PUBLISHED in the DISTRICT

Rothwell Courier & Times

AND

Methley, Oulton, Woodlesford, Carlton, Robin Hood, Lofthouse, Middleton, Stourton & Hunslet Chronicle

NO. 94—NEW SERIES "Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper." SATURDAY, OCTOBER 17 1914 ESTAB. 1873 PRICE—ONE PENNY

Joshua Tetley & Son
(Limited),
THE BREWERY, LEEDS.
NOW READY IN BOTTLE.
East India Pale Ale, 2/- per dozen Small Bottles
Extra Stout, 1/9 per dozen Small Bottles.
Special (Non-Deposit) Mild Ale, 3/- dozen Large Bottles.
Delivered Free to Families within 20 Miles of Leeds.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

EMPIRE PALACE, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.

TWO PERFORMANCES EVERY NIGHT. AT 6.30 AND AT 9.

Early Doors Monday, Tuesday, and Saturday at 6 p.m.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 19th, 1914.

GERTIE GITANA.
The Star that never Falls to Shine.
GEORGE CARNEY & Co. in the Screaming Absurdity "The Fool of the Force."
DEVON & EARLE. MILLIE PAYNE.
MAY ERNE & CHESTER. ERMAKOV.
MARRIOTT EDGAR.
The Genial Duchess, from the Grand Theatre Portsmouth.
Latest War News and Actual Films from the Front.

Prices, 10s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 5s., 2s. 6d., 1s., 6d., 4d., 3d.

HIPPODROME, LEEDS.

Performances nightly at 6.30 and 9.
NEXT WEEK.
FRED KARNO Presents "Perkins, M.P."
VIVIANA & Co. in "The Toy Shop."
SYD MAY. KAY & GEE.
BELLA AND JULES TERRY.
HORACE WHEATLEY.
WAR! Latest News and Incidents in Picture.
THE HESSEYS.
GEORGE ROSS.

Note Prices:—10s. 6d., 1s., 6d., and 4d.

FRED BARBER,
Pork Butcher,
11. CALL LANE,
LEEDS.
TEL. 1604.

DRAINS TESTED AND REPAIRED.
SANITARY WORK A SPECIALITY
Pump Repairs, Electric Bells, Glazing and Gasfitting.
James Smithies,
Registered Plumber & Contractor.
Residence:—
43, AUSTHORPE ROAD, CROSSGATES.

Wm. HELLIWELL,
The Working Man's Friend,
212; Hunslet Rd., LEEDS
WATCH WINDOWS FOR GOOD HONEST VALUE.
Special Suits
From 30/-
NO FIT. NO PAY.

Established 1815 SPARKLING HOSPERRIDGE TRADE MARK
An Exhilarating & Refreshing Beverage.
OBTAINABLE FROM HOTELS, RESTAURANTS & DEALERS
REYNOLDS & BRANSON Ltd. LEEDS.

For TOWN or COUNTRY.
For BUSINESS or PLEASURE.
THE FABOR LOUNGE SUIT
IS AT
Fabor 45/-
Is the Hall-mark of Perfect Tailoring.
LOUNGE SUITS from 35/-
COSTUMES from 2 Guineas.
Tailor Made & Perfect Fit Guaranteed.
24, Queen Victoria Street, and County Arcade, LEEDS.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT JOTTINGS.

When the women of Barkston Ash read the speech delivered by Mr Lane Fox, M.P., at Boston Spa, they will have an opportunity of passing judgment on themselves. Mr Lane Fox, who is going on active service with his regiment, said:—"Those misguided mothers, who, very often with the best possible intentions, did so much to induce their sons not to join the Army, were really, in the end, doing the most selfish thing they could. After all, if they thought of it, life was only a short thing, and what was the use of prolonging it by a few shameful days if they realised that at the back of it there was a shameful moment when their country called for them and they would not go."

All mothers in Barkston Ash, to their honour be it said, have not attempted to hinder their sons joining the colours, and, in one case at least, one woman—she is not a working-man's wife—actually urged the only son she had at home to enlist. Even now I can almost imagine hearing her query—"Well, have you done it?"—every time her boy, who is now undergoing training, entered the house. Other women I know have two or three sons in the Army, and very proud they are of their lads who have so nobly answered the country's call. They have their anxieties, but they have joys which the "misguided mothers" Mr Lane Fox spoke of can never possess. This is a matter for individual decision—one man cannot discharge another man's duty, but there is one thing that should not be forgotten. If conscription were in force in this free land every eligible male, whether he liked it or not, or whether his mother liked it or not, would have to bear arms, whereas now every man who joins the Army is a volunteer inspired by the highest patriotism.

Between South Milford and Monk Fryston there is, for the reason I suppose that they are neighbours, keen rivalry, and Milfordians, naturally proud that they have sent a good number of men to the Army, are inclined to discount the alleged value of the efforts of Monk Fryston. This roused a Fryston correspondent, and he accordingly put the thing in black and white. If his figures are correct, honours, I think, are easy, because the percentage is nearly the same. Readers can work the figures out for themselves. Milford, with a population of 1022, has given 28 of her sons, and Monk Fryston, with 530 inhabitants, has sent 15.

It is stated that within a radius of a mile of Crossgates fifty young men have joined the Army and Navy, and this may appear very satisfactory, but it all depends upon what population is included. If Crossgates, Temperance-farm, and Seacroft are comprised in the area the proportion is not a large one, because the population is about 7,000, and it would be very interesting were the exact figures for the three places given. At a public meeting at Halton recently it was distinctly stated Templenewsam had not done its duty.

The members of Crossgates Wesleyan Institute, which imposes no religious test upon those who join it, are an extremely happy family, and this was demonstrated at the annual meeting the other night. The membership is ten down on the year, but in a place with a large "flooting population" this is no surprise; it may be up twenty next year if the members care to issue invitations to their friends. No doubt the outstanding feature of the year was the offering of thirteen lady members to the country's service, and very proud is everyone connected with the Institute of these young fellows, whose photos are to be framed and put in the place of honour in the billiard room. A fine feeling existed among the members and so busy are the times no one need doubt the success of the Institute.

Templenewsam Ratepayers' Association, like other institutions, is finding business quiet. There was practically nothing to do at the last meeting, and from this one would judge that local affairs are so admirably managed that there is no room for complaint. It seems that a little oneness exists about the entrance to the district's recreation ground at Whitkirk, and if it persists the Selby Road, it is evident that full advantage will not be taken of the squire's generosity. However, it is too early for anyone to form an opinion on the usefulness of the field, and the Association very wisely postponed further consideration of the question.

Garforth and Kippax have a large number of residents who will not pay their rates until they are compelled, and they are bringing odium on the villages. The overseers are personally responsible for the calls made upon them by Tadcaster Guardians, and if the money is not forthcoming by a given date they are liable to prosecution; in fact, several years ago the Garforth overseers had the mortification of finding themselves before the magistrates at Tadcaster, and they are determined not to go there again. It is, therefore, clear that if ratepayers do not meet legitimate demands promptly the overseers will be in "Queer Street," and to avoid entering that road they are compelled to summons dilatory ratepayers. Of course, these people are very foolish, because they have to pay the money, and if they allow themselves to be prosecuted, they have to meet the costs of the summons as well. I am convinced, from what I have seen, that the great bulk of the people who are summoned could promptly meet the demands made upon them if they were to show a little foresight and care.

Tadcaster Guardians are being asked to support a movement which has for its purpose the urging on the Government the necessity of making adequate provision for maimed soldiers and sailors and the dependents of men who lose their lives in their country's service. Mr Chippindale, of Scholes, stated at the meeting he saw no reason why any difference should be made between the case of a man killed in a factory and a man killed in the war, and that is a just view. If an employer is liable for compensation why should not the Government be equally liable in the case of the men they employ? Pensions are given to men permanently disabled, but they certainly are not adequate, and greater provision is needed. There is nowadays a greater recognition of the responsibility of the State to the individual, and it will be an eternal disgrace if, after the war, the country allows her disabled soldiers to gain a livelihood by begging or howling base laces from door to door. A committee will report to the Tadcaster Board on the question. Hunslet Guardians are supporting the movement.

Why should it not be done in every town and village? In Tadcaster a roll of the men who are now serving in the Navy and Army has been prepared, and the people of ancient Calcaria have every reason to be gratified at the manner in which the young men have come forward at this national crisis. The names of the men have been printed in a little pamphlet of eight pages, the last of which bears the prayers, one of which is for the protection and guidance of the men, and I find that sixteen are now serving in the Navy, and about 150 in the Army and Auxiliary Forces. This is a way of showing the countrymen that they have brought honour on themselves and on the place to which they belong, and it likewise is a proof that their action is highly appreciated by those among whom they live. Every parish has a committee who could undertake the compilation of such a list, and it should be published so that all may know the names of the men who have come to the country's aid in her hour of trial. Lists have already been inserted in this journal, and we shall be pleased to publish lists from parishes if they are sent to us.

The appreciation of the late Mr J. W. Blackburn, general manager of Bowers Allerton Collieries, given by Ald. E. C. Brookshank, at the meeting of the Tadcaster Board of Guardians on Monday, was a remarkably good one. He described very faithfully some of the prominent characteristics of the late gentleman—his business ability, his geniality, and his sense of humour—and, although it was an occasion for solemnity, one could not help smiling at Mr Brookshank's statement that, in meeting the vice-chairman at York Market, he was as a child compared to him at cattle dealing. Without in the least exaggerating, Mr Blackburn was a wonderful man, and he did not always get credit for his remarkable natural ability. He was trained as a mechanical engineer, yet he mastered the intricacies of a great industrial concern like the Bowers Allerton Collieries, which he managed with great success, and he could give points to many farmers, having at one time the management of one of the largest farms in the county. Had he not been possessed of great ability he would not have died a rich man. He was very fond of a joke, and his hearty laugh, invariably followed by an "Aye, dear," reverberated several times, will be long remembered by those who were associated with him.

Members of the District Council are wondering who Mr Blackburn's successor will be. It has been understood for a good many years—since the resignation of the late Mr John White, of Appleton Roebuck—that while Mr Brookshank had the chairmanship, the second position should go to a member on the other side of the Union. If this unwritten rule is adhered to, good sense and stability are the chief considerations, as they ought to be, the list of gentlemen eligible could soon be whittled down. Mr Walter Crosland, J.P. (South Milford) and Mr T. Hey (Sherburn) are two of the oldest members of the Board of Guardians, and Mr E. Parker (Ledsham), Mr E. Parkin, J.P. (Kippax), Mr J. W. Dobson (Newthorpe), Mr T. H. Prater (Parlington), Mr A. Chippindale (Scholes), and Mr R. Wright (Hillam) have many years of service to their credit. Some of these, gentlemen, I know, care not anxious for promotion, but a good vice-chairman can easily be selected from the list I have given. If, on the other hand, it was decided not to adhere to the unwritten rule, outstanding men on the other side are Canon Greenwood, Mr Sykes, and Mr Ingleby, J.P. (Tadcaster). The appointment will be made at next meeting.

In some parts of the district, owing to the long drought, there is a great scarcity of water, and this is bringing home to farmers and others the desirability of having a public supply. For several years Tadcaster District Council have had this business under consideration, and it was thought at one time that the Kiddal scheme would be carried through, but there has been an unreasoning prejudice against it, and seemingly it has been abandoned, although the resources of the well and the quality of the water are well-known. It appears now that the Council have decided to test water on a site near Scholes Station—it has long been known there was plenty of water at the spot—and if the test is satisfactory a scheme to supply Scholes, Barwick, Aberford, Sherburn, Micklefield, Church Fenton, Saxton, and other places will be prepared. If satisfactory the Council are making a move.

It is easy now to judge what the consumption of water in any district will be, provided it has been mentioned how much water per day can be got at Scholes, no one can tell the yield of the springs, until pumping operations have been completed. With plenty of water in the district, it would surely be unwise to go to Leeds for a supply, and it is to be hoped that the Council will not play with the Scholes scheme as they have done with that at Kiddal.

RECTOR OF BILBROUGH SUED.

REPAIRS TO A TRAP.

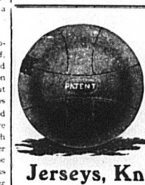
Walker Pratt, Fossbridge, York, coachbuilder, sued the Rev. Basil Rowland, of Bilbrough, at York County Court on Tuesday, for £4 15s., due to him for repairs done to a trap.

Mr Norman Crombie appeared for plaintiff and Mr A. Wood for defendant, who was not present in court.

Walker Pratt stated that Mrs Rowland first went to his shop in the early part of the year, and said that she and her husband had been recommended to take their trap to plaintiff's shop for repairs. Mr and Mrs Rowland took the trap down the next day, and Mr Rowland explained what he wanted done to it. Plaintiff told him that as near as he could estimate the cost would be £4, and that amount replied that that was all right. Plaintiff beg defendant a trap of his own to use until defendant's was ready. There had never been any suggestion that the trap belonged to Mrs Rowland. Mr Rowland and his daughter had been down once to see how the work was progressing, and the former gave the man who was painting the trap sixpence with which to get a drink.

Mr Wood said that the trap belonged to Mrs Rowland and not to her husband. Unfortunately Mr Rowland had got into difficulties and had been obliged to file his petition in bankruptcy. His wife mortgaged all the furniture and other things, including the trap. She had subsequently sold Pratt that the trap belonged to her, and that she was to be charged with it.

Mr Crombie produced a postcard written by the defendant to plaintiff in which he stated that he would pay half the debt then, if the balance were allowed to stand over until November.



His Honour gave judgment for the plaintiff, saying that defendant's actions all pointed to the trap being his, and ordered £4 2s. 6d. and the costs to be paid by defendant to plaintiff within a fortnight, and the balance within three months.

A SHADWELL BOY'S FATE.—A letter has been received by Mr. Percy Dixey, superintendent of the Shadwell Industrial School, from Rainham W. Murgatroyd, one of his old boys, who is now in the front. He mentions that another old Shadwell boy, named Rosedale, has been killed in action.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—The harvest festival was held at Selby Abbey on Friday night. The choir, robed in white, and the clergy, in their surplices, filed in to the strains of the anthem "Fear not O land" (C. Harford Lloyd). The National Anthem was sung at the close, of the service.

WEDDING.—A wedding of great local interest took place at Selby Abbey on Wednesday afternoon, the bridegroom being Mr Andrew H. Blakey, of Bentherpe Hall, near Howden, a well known East Riding agriculturist, and the bride, Miss G. W. Tyson, only daughter of the late Mr J. O. Tyson, of Park Street, Selby, founder of the well known agricultural engineering firm of Messrs Tyson and Son, Selby. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr Jack Tyson, and the best man was Mr J. Gooder. The newly-married couple left later for London, where the honeymoon is being spent. The Rev. Dr. Solloway (vicar) officiated. The bride was attired in a grey costume, with hat to match, trimmed with ostrich feather, and carried a choice bouquet. There was one bridesmaid, Miss Edith Blakey. A reception was held at the home of the bride, Park Street.

SMITH BROS
HOLD A
LARGE STOCK of MATERIALS
— SUITABLE FOR —
Red. Cross & Hospital Work.
SPECIAL DISCOUNT ALLOWED FOR QUANTITIES.
BRIGGATE & COUNTY ARCADE, LEEDS.

HARRY HAYLEY,
Yorkshire Athletic Warehouse,
12, King Edward St., LEEDS
Telephone 56,
HAS NOW IN STOCK A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF
Jerseys, Knickers, Boots, Footballs,
ETC., IN ALL QUALITIES.
HOCKEY STICKS, 2/6 to 10/6.
A FINE SELECTION OF GOLF STICKS, BALLS, Etc.
Footballs as used in International, Coun'ty, & Best Leagues.
FOOTBALL BOOTS, 4/11 to 11/6.
STOCKINGS - - 1/- to 2/6 Pair.
BOXING GLOVES, BOOTS,
DANISH GYMNASTIC SHOES, Etc

BUY ADGIE'S BOOTS
"BY TEST THE BEST."
THE NEW SEASON'S FOOTWEAR HAS NOW ARRIVED.
The Street, the Country Lane, the Drawing Room, the Fireside, all are represented in our new display of
AUTUMN FOOT STYLES.
Please Come Round and Inspect our Display
ALL AT MODERATE PRICES.
Note the Address— ADGIE'S Wholesale & Retail Warehouse
31, NEVILLE STREET, LEEDS.
A minute's walk from City Square, down Bishopgate Street, and through Railway Arches. First Warehouse on right hand side.

REGISTERED. OPTOLINE REGISTERED.
THE GREAT CURE FOR
COUGHS, BRONCHITIS, CONSUMPTION and GENERAL WEAKNESS.
Sold by all Chemists and Stores, 1/-, 1/6 and 2/6.
OR THE MAKERS, TELEPHONE 5Y CENTRAL.
J. N. HORSFIELD & SONS, 81 & 83, Sweet Street, LEEDS.

Leeds: 'Phone No. 1949. Watchmaker to the Huddersfield: " 1609. Admiralty.
William GREENWOOD,
Watchmaker and Jeweller,
92, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.
SPECIALITIES:—
DRESS, ENGAGEMENT, AND WEDDING RINGS.
W. G. makes a Handsome Present with every Wedding Ring.
Wedding Presents, Birthday Presents, and Presentations of every kind.
— AND AT —
3, DEVONSHIRE BUILDINGS, VICTORIA LANE, HUDDERSFIELD.

OUR GARDENS.

Specially Written for this Journal
— BY —
ALBERT CLARKE.

THE FLOWER GARDEN.

At the moment of writing the soil is very dry and quite unsuitable for the reception of plants, bulbs, and shrubs. As soon as the spell of fine weather breaks the work of planting wallflowers, bulbs, and other bedding subjects should be proceeded with as quickly as possible. The soil is very warm at this time of the year and this is very conducive to the production of new roots. Early planting is important from the fact of it ensuring the establishment of the plants, etc., before severe frosts occur, and thus the danger of heavy losses is minimised.

BORDER CARNATIONS

Rooted layers of border carnations should receive attention as soon as the soil is in workable condition. They require a deeply cultivated bed, but animal manure may be dispensed with. If the soil is poor, it may be improved by the addition of some fresh loam. This should be worked in at the digging proceeds. Charcoal dust, wood ashes and even burnt earth may be lightly forked in after the main digging is completed. Carnations stand the winter well on light soils, but on heavy ground many die off during severe weather. It is a good plan to raise the beds a few inches above the ground level where the soil is heavy. This helps to drain off the surplus moisture. Many growers go to the expense of putting the layers into 3 or 4-inch pots and wintering them in a cold frame. The pots are plunged to the rim in ashes. A suitable compost for potting them into is made up as follows:—Three parts fibrous loam, one part decayed leaves, and a sprinkling of sand and charcoal dust. The roots will run freely in this provided care is exercised in watering the compost getting to wet. It must be remembered that carnations are hardy plants and every opportunity should be taken to give them free ventilation. A little shade may be required on sunny days for a week or two after potting, but this should not be overdone, and the lights may be entirely removed from the frame every evening until severe frosts threaten. A little frost will not hurt them, but a few hours heavy rain would, and the lights should be drawn over them during wet weather. By giving plenty of air on all favourable occasions the soil will be kept hard and sturdy, and may be planted in their flowering quarters early in the spring. Firm planting or potting is very important.

ROSES

Where new plantations are to be made, the preparatory work should now be pushed forward. If possible the trees should be planted before the ground gets wet and pasty. Selecting a site for rose beds the necessity of protection from severe winds should be taken into consideration. A south aspect, with protection from east, north, and north-west winds, is the most desirable position. If such a position is not available one nearly approaching it should be selected. Where such protection is not present it may be obtained by erecting rustic fencing and planting bramble roses in quantity. They are nearly all robust growers and will soon produce sufficient growth to provide adequate shelter for the more tender varieties planted in the beds in front. A screen of this description not only acts as a protection, but it greatly improves the general effect. As a matter of fact we should strongly recommend the introduction of arches and pergolas even where extra protection is not really necessary. A rose garden planted solely with dwarf trees looks flat and formal. The introduction of arches or pergolas should be carefully thought out before operations are commenced. During recent years there has been a decided leaning towards overdoing it, and the result has been far from satisfactory. Some of the pergolas we have seen are really hideous things. The wood used is far too heavy, and is placed too close together. A fence or pergola is not expected to be a thing of beauty of itself. It is intended as a framework or support for the plants with which it is to be covered. We have already dealt with the preparation of the soil. Summed up in a few words this amounts to deep digging, heavy manuring, efficient draining, and if the soil is naturally light, the addition of sufficient clay or heavy loam to make the beds solid and retentive of moisture. Exceptionally heavy soils may be improved by the addition of powdered mortar rubble, wood ashes, leaf mould, sand, and road scrapings. Bold digging and bone meal are also essential. Newly arrived bundles of rose trees should be opened out immediately. If the roots are dry they should be soaked in water for an hour or two before planting. When planting a little fibrous loam should be placed under and over the roots. This is done to prevent them coming in direct contact with the manure. As soon as new root action commences the manure will be available, and they soon find their way into it. Firm planting is another important point. Treading around the trees will give about the right degree of firmness.

DAHLIAS

As soon as dahlias are cut down by frost they should be lifted carefully with a fork, preserving as many roots as possible. Named varieties should have their labels fixed securely to them. This will save much annoyance later on. Pick the soil out from between the tubers, and store in a cool, frost-proof shed.

LAWNS

Continue to mow the lawn until growth ceases. It is a great mistake to allow the grass to grow long in the autumn and keep it on until spring. When this is done the blades are very tough during winter and is difficult to cut when spring comes round. The roller should also be freely used when the lawn is in suitable condition.

PLANTS IN POTS.

All kinds of plants of a more or less tender nature should now be given a position where they can be protected according to their requirements. During the summer months the cold frames are used for the accommodation of cinerarias, calceolarias, primulas, cyclamen, schizanthus, perpetual-flowering carnations, and many other subjects too numerous to mention. Most of these plants will now require the protection of a greenhouse, where a little fire heat can be given if frost threatens. Primulas should have a light position, and should not be subjected to cold draughts. In a miscellaneous house they should be given the warmest corner. Cyclamen also should be placed as near the light as possible. These are charming plants when well grown. Any that are showing flower buds should be treated to weak liquid manure about once a week. A light dressing with ebonised manure will also be of assistance to them. On bright days they relish a light spraying overhead with clear water.

American carnations that have been grown with out fire heat should have a little given them in the evening. Just enough to take the chill off the house is sufficient. Overheating invariably leads to an attack of insect pests, and consequently, weak, drawn plants. Such plants can never give satisfactory flowers.

QUESTIONS

"Amateur," one of our readers, inquires how to treat bulbs f r pot culture. The ordinary daffodil, tulip, etc., may be potted in the following compost:—two parts loam or old potting soil, passed through a half-inch riddle, 1 part leaf mould, 1 part rotten manure, and a liberal sprinkling of sand. Place the bulbs fairly close together in the pots, and press moderately firm. The tips of the bulbs should show above the soil when potted. Stand the pots close together either in a cold frame, or outdoor, and give a good watering. A few hours later, cover them with fine ashes to the depth of three or four inches. They should stay in the ashes until they have made an inch or two of growth. Then take them out and pot them in a cool position for about a fortnight. They may then be placed in a heated greenhouse to force. Never allow them to suffer from want of water, and give liquid manure once a week after the flower buds appear.

PROFITABLE POULTRY CULTURE

By RALPH R. ALLEN,
Lecturer to the Herts. County Council; Editor of "Monthly Hints on Poultry," &c.

(All rights reserved).

WAR CHAT.—No. 9.

Though only a month has elapsed since I drew attention in these columns to my recent publication—"The Poultry Keepers' Account Book"—thousands of copies have been sent out, and hundreds of letters of appreciation have been received.

"To be able to keep an accurate account of all eggs laid during twelve months," writes one poultry-keeper, "is a boon and blessing to all who keep fowls." This little booklet enables you to do that, and, what is more, the whole record for a year is before you at a glance, as it only occupies two pages, so cleverly is space utilised.

"Never before have I quite understood how to take stock," writes another enthusiast, "but by following the printed insructions on page 8 it is quite a simple matter, even if one is no scholar."

It was my aim in publishing this brochure to bring poultry keeping to as near perfection as possible. Without some system of accounts it is impossible for you to know whether your hobby is paying you, or not one does not want to be bothered with an elaborate system of accounts. Judging by the letters I have received, "The Poultry Keepers' Account Book" has achieved its object, permitting, as it does, exact accounts to be kept with a minimum amount of trouble.

"I used to make my accounts up weekly," writes a third, "only, too frequently, items escaped me memory, and I carry your book in my pocket and enter not only my eggs daily but also all money I receive or pay at the moment. My accounts will, therefore, in the future be true ones, although not nearly the bother they have been in the past."

There must be thousands of readers of this column who are in a similar position to the last correspondent. Anxious to keep accounts, their good intentions are frustrated by cumbersome and tedious, consequently it becomes neglected. In the future this need not be; all that is necessary is to address to me a postcard, asking for a free copy of the "Poultry Keepers' Account Book," and it will be sent you promptly by return; what is more, the booklet will also be sent free of charge to your poultry-keeping friends as well.

Some thousands have written, have already been despatched; do not let that statement prevent YOU writing for a copy. The first impression was 75,000 copies. Huge as the edition was, another will be prepared should the demand warrant it. It is not policy when you have a good thing to benefit the poultry industry, particularly gratuitously, to limit its circulation in any way.

(Any enquiries concerning poultry keeping addressed to our expert, Captain Ralph R. Allen, Sawbridgeworth, Herts, will be answered through these columns free, but those requiring a postal answer direct, or sending birds for post-mortem examination, must remit half-crown postal order. The name of the writer must in all cases be given).

DURING THE WAR USE
COLMAN'S MUSTARD
AND SECURE MORE EGGS

"The Poultry Keepers' Account Book" and other literature, post free on application to
RALPH R. ALLEN,
Sawbridgeworth
Herts.

BRITAIN REQUIRES MORE FOOD!

ALLEN'S ROUP CURE, 2/1 Post Paid.
Each package contains a sufficiency to make 2 gallons of medicine, and is a guaranteed cure for this dreaded disease. Prevention is better than cure, and practical poultry-keepers will occasionally give this preparation in the fowls' drinking water, and so render their flocks immune.
Full directions are given with each packet.
To be obtained only from R. R. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

ALLEN'S TONIC CAPSULES, 1/6 post paid
Generally called "The Poultry-Keepers' Friend." Immediately a bird is noticed off-colour a capsule, tonic, quinine, and cod-liver oil night and morning will speedily put it right. For a fowl that is off before and after shows they are invaluable.
To be obtained only from R. R. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

THE MOST PRACTICAL UTILITY POULTRY PAPER.
MONTHLY HINTS ON POULTRY
32 pages profusely illustrated, art paper, &c.
1½ per annum, post free.
THE EDITOR, Sawbridgeworth, HERTS.
Write for specimen copy.

Pure-bred Laying Pullets 7/6 each.
We can offer you selected Rhode Island Red, White, Black, and Brown Leghorn, White Orpington, and White Wyandotte, March-hatched Pullets, at 7s. 6d. each. Unrelated vigorous Breeding, from 15s. each.
ALLEN POULTRY Co., Ltd., Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

CROSSGATES INSTITUTE ANNUAL MEETING.

SEVENTEEN MEMBERS ANSWER THE COUNTRY'S CALL.

The annual meeting of the Crossgates Wesleyan Institute took place in the billiard room at the Institute on Saturday night, and there was a good attendance of members. Mr J. E. Broadbent (President) was in the chair.

In his report, the hon. sec. (Mr. B. Kemp) stated that that was the sixth year of the Institute's existence, and the membership had been well maintained. The chess section had made marked progress, but unfortunately they had lost some of their best players, who had gone to the Army. Seventeen members of the Institute had answered the country's call, and that number represented 20 per cent. of the membership.

Mr J. H. Walker, the hon. treas., stated that the Institute had 47 adult members, against 52 for the previous year, and 23 junior members against 34, while they had four members for the half-year against one. The subscriptions for the year totalled £14 17s. 6d.; the receipts from the large billiard table were £6 10s. 4d. against £7 7s. 4d. in the previous year; the amount from the small table was £12 7s. 10d. against £12 18s. 8d.; and the total for both tables was £18 18s. 2d., as compared with £20 6s. 0d. The total revenue for the year was £36 15s. against £38 0s. 10d. for the previous year. Owing to the cleaning and decorating of the rooms, the expenditure had increased, the work mentioned having cost £3 15s. 1d. They made a grant of £10 to the trustees of the church, and then had depreciated their property by £7 7s., so that they had a net loss on their year of £4 0s. 8d. If, however, they deducted the sum for depreciation, there was a profit of between £3 and £4. He stated that the billiard tables were in good repair, one having cost £6 6s. 0d., and they sold some of the equipment for £3 1s. 0d., so that the actual amount spent in this way was £9 7s. 0d. The present value of the tables, &c., was £30 10s. 0d., showing that they had depreciated them to the extent of £33 1s. 4d.

The report was adopted.

The President said that they were all very proud of the Institute, and when they brought friends to see it they said they envied them in the possession of such premises. They regretted that the proposed sale of the church had done, and to be allowed to meet in these premises was a privilege they all valued. A few weeks ago when the country's call came to the young fellows of Bridgeford Ash, he was sorry to see in the "Courier" a letter from someone who complained of the young men of the district not coming forward to serve their country. They appeared to have had very much got his facts clear, because, on making enquiries he (Mr Broadbent) found that within a mile of Crossgates upwards of 50 young men had gone and were doing their "bit" for their country.

The Rev. E. Bell said that they were delighted to have such premises where the young men could meet, and he wished to congratulate every member who had contributed them on the reports that had been presented, and he was pleased they were going on so well. He would do anything he could to help the Institute. (Applause).

Mr Broadbent moved that a grant of two guineas be made to the Belgian Relief Fund.—Mr Nowell seconded, and this was agreed to.

Mr E. J. Walker proposed the appointment of Mr J. H. Walker, A.R.C.O., as President, paying a high tribute to the work he had already done as hon. treas.—Mr R. Kemp seconded, Messrs Withy and Long supported, and the election was unanimously passed.

Mr Walker, in reply, said the Institute had been doing good work, and he thought the influence of it had been felt outside. They had a good many young men who had gone to serve the country. He was sorry he had to report a decrease of ten members, and he desired to see an advance during the coming year. The Institute was an excellent institution—they had members who belonged to the Church of England and other denominations, and they would gladly welcome the young men of the district into their midst. (Applause).

Other officers appointed were:—Ex-president, Mr J. E. Broadbent; vice-president, Mr S. H. Young; hon. treas., Mr J. H. Walker; hon. sec., Mr B. Kemp; hon. auditors, Messrs F. R. Carleton and H. Johnson; committee—Messrs. A. Morgan, J. Selman, A. Wilks, J. M. Armistead, C. Nowell, T. Rogers, W. Bugmann, E. C. White, A. Umpleby, W. Thompson, F. W. Jubb, E. Holliday, and H. Fidgett.

Votes of thanks to the retiring officers and committee were accorded, and then followed a concert, which was for members and afterwards a billiard match between married and single members was played.

TEMPLENEWSAM RATEPAYERS' ASSOCIATION.

RECREATION GROUND—TOWN PLANNING—DISTRESS COMMITTEE.

On Friday evening a meeting of Templenewsam Ratepayers' Association was held at the "Brown Cow," Whitkirk.—Mr J. M. Armistead (President) in the chair. There was very little business to transact.

A discussion ensued on the children's recreation ground at Whitkirk, and the President said that he and the hon. sec. had been round it. There was no complaint about the quality of the field, but there was a good deal of dissatisfaction in respect to a way into it. The field did not seem to have been much used by the children in the neighbourhood, and the inaccessibility of the ground was to blame for that. In accordance with the town planning scheme, there was a through road which would run across the field.—The Hon. Sec.: Two roads will cut through it.—Mr J. A. Rhodes: Then, we shall have to get another playing field.—The President: The town planning scheme has not come into force for two or three years.—The Hon. Sec. said that when they got the field the nights were drawing in, and they had probably another season when the children did not use it.—The President said it would be unfortunate were the recreation ground to prove of no use owing to the children not going into it.—Mr Young said they would have to do something and not keep shuffling until spring before passing any judgment. Mr Coultas asked if many went to the field on Saturdays.—The President: Not many at present. In reply to a question, he said he was going the Selby Road to it.—Mr Rhodes said that the Parish Council intended to erect a board with rules and regulations at the field, and they suggested that the hedge of it should be cut back grassed on the side of the Selby Road.—The discussion was taken part in by Mr Martin, Mr McLeod, and others, and it was eventually decided to keep the matter over.

The President: Has any gentleman anything to say about the plague of rats at Whitkirk?—The Hon. Sec.: I think the rats have disappeared.

In regard to the town-planning scheme for Templenewsam, Mr Rhodes suggested that they should ask Mr Pindar to attend the next meeting, and explain the scheme to them.—The President said he would be pleased to give Mr Pindar the invitation.—Mr Rhodes: I believe Mr Pindar will be pleased to show us the plans.—It was agreed to invite Mr Pindar to attend next meeting.

The President said that the Association had four members on the Templenewsam Distress Committee, and they had got to work. The district had been carefully mapped out, with a view to getting subscriptions, and a sub-committee had been formed, who met once a week and investigated cases of distress as they arose. In regard to dependents of men now serving the country, he said he thought they were in touch with every case in the district, and he believed they had an income that was more than their requirements.—Mr Martin: What about cases arising from unemployment?—The President: We shall deal with those, too.—Mr Young said they were doing it. He did not think there would be any overlapping in the parish.

ORGAN OPENING AT ROTHWELL.

A PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHURCH EFFORT.

MR SEANOR'S REMINISCENCES—MR HIRST AND DELIGHTFUL RECITAL.

The trustees and members of the Rothwell Primitive Methodist Church were able to rejoice over the result of two years' hard work on Saturday, when the new organ was opened. A specialist recital was greatly enjoyed, and, though it was a much talked of subject, it was not until the present minister (the Rev. W. G. Softley) took up his duties in the circuit that a start was made. That was a little over two years ago, but everyone set to work with a will. Various efforts were arranged, while others, apart from the Organ Committee, who were responsible for the organ, exercised, and exerted themselves in the ingathering of the necessary funds. The bazaar of last Easter exceeded all anticipations, and, in addition to what was raised then, a sum of £100 was received from the Carnegie Trust Fund.

The opening of the new organ also marked the reopening of the chapel, after having been redecorated, and to those who had not attended the place since the work began it was a cheerful surprise. Unfortunately, the builders had found it a race with time owing to some of their material being delayed in consequence of the war, and so the organ was not really completed, although it permitted of its being used. The service opened with a hymn and a dedicatory prayer by the Rev. W. G. Softley.

The organ was declared open by Mr J. R. Seanor, J.P., who was introduced by the Rev. W. G. Softley. The latter referred to the incompleteness of the organ, saying and asked those present to reserve their judgment until a later stage. They had received a grant from the Carnegie Trust Fund, and, with other promises, they would open the organ free from debt. (Applause). That was not to say that they did not want money. Those who were acquainted with the church knew that it had been redecorated, the cost of which had to be met, and they were pleased that they hoped to receive a large sum. They had, he was pleased to say, a worthy helper in Mr Seanor, who had kindly consented to open the organ. He felt sure that Mr Seanor had given nothing to do with the stone-laying and the opening of the chapel about forty years ago. Since then he had considered them, and he were proud to see him there that day. (Applause).

In declaring the organ open, Mr Seanor gave an interesting speech, in which he said that he remembered very well the stone-laying of Primitive Church at Rothwell being opened, and he could remember the stone, with the words "Primitive Methodist Chapel," being put up. His father had come over from Leeds to lay the stone, and he remembered his father saying that they had ambitions to get away from heifer, or where heifer matches were made, and his father gave them £500 for the old place as a warehouse. The £500, he believed, was a great egg to them for the present place. So time had gone by, and their lives were going on, and their record was being written, and he trusted that Wesleyans and Primitive Methodists would help, respect, and be real friends to each other. The only competition they had was of saving souls and lifting up Rothwell to its proper place among the villages in this part of Yorkshire. He hoped they would have a successful time. He must compliment them on having a model chapel; may they be a model people, and fulfil the responsibilities which God had placed upon them.

On behalf of himself and his father, Mr A. W. Seanor presented the chapel with a new hymnal for the organist.

In accepting the gift, the Rev. W. G. Softley said: "I thank you very much for this memento of this historical occasion. I hope it will be in use for many, many years to come."

Mr Seanor then gave an interesting address, under the conductorship of Mr J. Southwart, rendered the anthem, "O give thanks unto the Lord."

Mr Softley then asked the Rev. F. Winterburn, of Hull, and a native of Methley, who was to preach the sermon, to accept a new hymnal and Bible for public use in the church, in memory of the late Mrs Taylor, some years ago, and worked in connection with the church—Mr Joseph Bradley and Mr Isaac Taylor.

The gifts were acknowledged by Mr Winterburn, who read for the lesson, Acts of the Apostles 16, 19, and took for this text, Job 35, 10 and 11. The service closed with a hymn and the benediction.

Tea was afterwards served in the schoolroom, and in the evening an organ recital was given by Mr H. Nelson, of Durham, the son of the builder.

Mr J. Hirst presided, and, in his address, he congratulated the trustees upon such magnificent three-manual organ. He was pleased to join with him that they had good taste. He also congratulated them upon having such a fine organ. Referring to the war, he said it was bad for the German Emperor that he did not have any in the people of France and Belgium homeless, but they ought not to make them so that they could not go and offer prayer. If those methods were German culture then he did not want any (instruction. (Applause). That day Major Colverley, his son, and another gentlemen went to Oulton Hall to see the refugees, and as they approached the Hall a little girl of about 12 ran out and kissed each of them. He had never, said Mr Hirst, seen such gratitude shown. If that was the gratitude of the Belgians to this country let them have some more. In conclusion, Mr Hirst congratulated the choir on having Mr Southwart as choirmaster.

During the evening the Rev. W. G. Softley read out the financial statement and paid a tribute of praise to all who had helped in the work of raising money. By small efforts before the bazaar, £35 was raised. At the bazaar they had hoped to raise £200, but the result was £254 4s. 9d. The expenses amounted to £53 12s. 8d., leaving a net profit of £200 13s. 4d. Out of this £100 was taken for the organ, which with the £35, made £135. Then they had a grant of £100 from the Carnegie Fund, which, along with a further £10 5s., made a total of over £245. About £150 was now wanted for the decorating and alterations. The collection they afternoon realised £3 2s. 2d., and the tickets sold in connection with the tea and recital brought in £10; 11s. 3d. had been taken in cash, which made a total in that direction of £13 13s. 5d. Subscriptions accounted another £2 8s. 6d.

Mr Nelson played the following pieces:—"Pastorale all-gretto" (Kuhlak), "Toccata" (Dubois), "Offertoire" (Batiste), "Romance" (Schumann), "Andantino" (Lemare), selections (Clegg), "Berceuse" (Guilmant), variations on hymn tunes (Hayes added the major points. Simpson and Wade, the respective wings, showed great speed in serving a try each, Hayes converting one. Burton subsequently scored himself by scoring two brilliant tries, and Hayes goaled once. Half-time:—Halton Council 6 goals, 8 tries (56 points), to Holbeck 1 try (3 points).

From the kick-off Halton took the game in possession, and he scored wide out, Hayes goaling. From a penalty Hewison kicked a great goal for Holbeck, and the same player immediately ran in a try. After this Halton seemed to have things all their own way, their fine passing bewildering their opponents. Further tries were added by Hayes, Burnan, Kenney, Wilson, and Jackson, all of which Hayes converted. In the first places the credit of this great victory was largely due to the magnificent scrumming abilities of their forwards—Lister, Burnan, Collis, and Jackson working like Trojans, but Mosby was much too easy going. All the backs played a grand game, their passing being of the best. Result:—Halton 12 goals, 14 tries (66 points), to Holbeck 1 try (3 points).

Halton kids had an ordinary match with Holbeck Old Boys at Halton. The Old Boys kicked off, and, although they were much the bigger team, Halton soon showed great superiority. Hayes ran in two good tries and converted both. Kenney soon got to work, and, delighted the spectators by his methods of stifling the opposition, in addition to which his combined efforts with Hayes and Wilde brought forth rounds of applause. Wilson, scrum half, constantly piled his backs with passes, and Simpson showed rare speed and dish on the wing. Tries were scored by Hayes (4), A. Kilberby (2), Kenney and Lister. Hayes converted the lot. Half-time were:—Halton 10 goals, 10 tries (90 points), to Holbeck Old Boys, nil.

On the resumption Halton routed the opposition. Hayes scored six tries, Kenney 2, A. Kilberby 2, Lister 1, Wilson 1, Jackson 1, and Speight 1. Hayes added the major points to 13. A. Kilberby and Speight, two of last season's players, were brought in to lend additional weight to the pack, and they played brilliantly throughout. W. Silkby, the heavy little custodian, was rarely called upon. Halton won by 23 goals, 24 tries (218 points) to nil.

Halton lads want to know if Hayes' performance of kicking 23 goals out of 24 attempts is a record, and also if his scoring 82 points in one game is a record.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER.

PENS OF GREAT PRICE.

The pen which was used by Charles Dickens just before his death was sold some time ago for about £21, but this must yield the palm of costliness to the well-worn gold pen also used by Dickens for many years, which found a purchaser at over £40.

A quill pen used by Wellington when writing to Queen Victoria in 1844 brought nearly £30 the other day. Walter Scott's pens, selected by Lord Dalhousie in 1829 from Scott's writing-table at Abbotsford, realised nearly £60 at Sotheby's.

Among the most valuable pens in the world is one carved from a portion of George Washington's coffin, and used by Abraham Lincoln when President, and the quill of a golden eagle's wing, the property of Mr. Impress Bigelow, with which the Treaty of Paris was signed in 1856.

ANIMALS THAT NEVER DRINK.

It would seem that water is so indispensable to life that no animals could exist without drinking. Nevertheless, Dr. Blanford asserts that the antelopes which live in the sand desert between the salt lake Chilka and the sea never drink. This has been doubted by physiologists, who deny that existence is possible in such conditions, but confirmatory evidence is adduced by Dr. Drake-Brockman. It appears that since 1910 a troupe of gazelles have lived in the small island Sadaddin on the side of Somaliland, where there is no source of water, and where the annual rainfall is less than three inches, so that these gazelles cannot obtain water except after very rare showers. The vegetation is very poor, but it is concluded that certainly the lack of water during the dry season by consuming roots and bulbous plants rich in liquid

GENUINE EAST INDIA RAPE NUTS.
A WELL-TRIED AND RELIABLE
AUTUMN TILLAGE.
M. SCOTT & Co., Seed Crushers, SELBY.
Prompt Delivery can be given to Ralls Selby.
Ask your Manure Merchant for particulars.

SEACROFT CRICKET CLUB.

BATTING AND BOWLING AVERAGES.

The first team played 24 matches, won 18, lost 4, and 2 were drawn. The runs scored were 2,650 for 168 wickets, average, 15·77, and for opponents 1,861 for 233 wickets, average 7·98.

BATTING.

	Times Most in Inn.	not out.	an Inn.	Total Av.
J. Linley	5	1	82	110	27·50
G. Stead	20	5	73	406	27·06
D. Burton	19	5	65	430	30·71
G. Thompson	22	4	60	308	17·11
E. Johnson	12	2	47	161	16·10
T. Tott	19	2	37	272	15·11
W. Fryer	8	3	31	99	12·85
F. Taylor	28	2	63	176	12·57
E. Hunter	3	1	10	23	11·50
H. Atack	13	2	36	126	11·45
J. W. Pickersgill	13	2	28	129	10·75
C. Johnson	16	2	32	152	10·71
H. Tott	16	4	26	100	8·33
J. W. Smith	1	0	5	5	5·00
S. Simpson	7	2	10	17	3·40
J. Hepworth	1	0	2	2	2·00
E. Guest	2	0	2	3	1·50

BOWLING

	Maiden Overs.	Overs.	Runs.	Wkts.	Av.
J. Linley	31·2	10	97	9	5·22
G. Stead	131·5	39	241	43	5·60
D. Burton	174·5	45	359	63	5·69
T. Tott	52	8	131	18	7·27
C. Johnson	111·4	38	212	29	7·31
E. Johnson	27·3	9	70	8	8·75
J. W. Pickersgill	103·2	22	250	27	9·25
G. Thompson	13	3	39	3	10·00
S. Simpson	31	7	65	5	13·00
F. Taylor	37·1	7	113	7	16·14
W. Fryer	36	6	111	6	18·50
E. Hunter	1	0	6	1	6·00

The second eleven played 19 matches, won 13, lost 3, and one was drawn. The runs scored were 1,068 for 147 wickets, average 11·34; opponents 1,130 for 169 wickets, average, 6·76.

BATTING

	Times Most in Inn.	not out.	an Inn.	Total Av.
J. Linley	16	4	84	379	31·58
E. Guest	9	1	83	143	17·87
J. W. Smith	14	3	29	142	12·90
J. Dennell	3	1	21	25	12·50
E. Hunter	15	1	30	102	11·57
T. Linley	4	1	20	34	11·33
F. Taylor	8	0	22	85	10·62
J. W. Smith	16	3	24	127	9·76
E. Linley	4	1	16	27	9·00
B. Johnson	9	0	34	80	8·88
S. Ball	14	2	19	106	8·83
J. Hepworth	10	1	13	55	6·11
J. Hardy	16	2	10	76	5·42
W. Brooke	2	1	5	5	5·00
C. Avison	5	0	11	34	4·25
A. Bateman	8	1	14	29	4·14
C. Avison	5	0	11	17	3·40
W. Allen	3	1	5	5	2·50
A. Benson	7	1	13	13	1·86
A. Johnson	1	0	7	7	7·00
E. Clough	1	0	2	2	2·00
H. Atack	1	0	2	2	2·00
G. Parkinson	1	0	1	1	1·00

BOWLING

	Maiden Overs.	Overs.	Runs.	Wkts.	Av.
J. Linley	161	43	321	60	4·50
J. W. Smith	7	2	19	4	4·75
A. Bateman	4	1	11	2	5·50
W. Linley	106·2	23	246	43	5·72
J. Hepworth	9	1	24	4	6·00
H. Atack	3	0	14	2	7·00
F. Derwick	35·1	6	93	12	7·75
S. Ball	38·4	7	94	10	9·40
B. Johnson	5	1	12	1	12·00
E. Hunter	23	2	75	6	12·50
T. Linley	21	6	40	2	20·00
J. Hardy	7	0	28	1	28·00
G. Parkinson	1	0	1	1	1·00
P. Taylor	4	1	16	0	00·00
W. Brooke	2	0	3	0	00·00
C. Avison	7	1	26	0	00·00

A sum of £2 5s., collected at Newton Kyme Church, has been sent to Leeds Infirmary.

Halton Council School Football Team.

PLAYER PUTS UP A RECORD SCORE.

Halton Council School lads had a Rugby League match with Holbeck Trades School at Halton, and the homesters won easily, Holbeck kicked off, and Hayes, gathered and opened the homesides' score, and converted. Jackson quickly followed with another try, Hayes placing the goal. Wilson secured from a scrum, and passed out quickly to Kenney, who, in turn, gave to Hayes, and, after a fine sprint, put Simpson in possession, and he scored his first try. Hayes goaling. Holbeck afterwards assumed the aggressive, and Hewison gathered and opened the opponents, ran in a grand try. Kenney picking up in the loose, showed his skill by drawing the opposition on him, and then giving to Jackson, who completed the effort with a grand try. Hayes added the major points. Simpson and Wade, the respective wings, showed great speed in serving a try each, Hayes converting one. Burnan subsequently scored himself by scoring two brilliant tries, and Hayes goaled once. Half-time:—Halton Council 6 goals, 8 tries (56 points), to Holbeck 1 try (3 points).

From the kick-off Halton took the game in possession, and he scored wide out, Hayes goaling. From a penalty Hewison kicked a great goal for Holbeck, and the same player immediately ran in a try. After this Halton seemed to have things all their own way, their fine passing bewildering their opponents. Further tries were added by Hayes, Burnan, Kenney, Wilson, and Jackson, all of which Hayes converted. In the first places the credit of this great victory was largely due to the magnificent scrumming abilities of their forwards—Lister, Burnan, Collis, and Jackson working like Trojans, but Mosby was much too easy going. All the backs played a grand game, their passing being of the best. Result:—Halton 12 goals, 14 tries (66 points), to Holbeck 1 try (3 points).

Halton kids had an ordinary match with Holbeck Old Boys at Halton. The Old Boys kicked off, and, although they were much the bigger team, Halton soon showed great superiority. Hayes ran in two good tries and converted both. Kenney soon got to work, and, delighted the spectators by his methods of stifling the opposition, in addition to which his combined efforts with Hayes and Wilde brought forth rounds of applause. Wilson, scrum half, constantly piled his backs with passes, and Simpson showed rare speed and dish on the wing. Tries were scored by Hayes (4), A. Kilberby (2), Kenney and Lister. Hayes converted the lot. Half-time were:—Halton 10 goals, 10 tries (90 points), to Holbeck Old Boys, nil.

On the resumption Halton routed the opposition. Hayes scored six tries, Kenney 2, A. Kilberby 2, Lister 1, Wilson 1, Jackson 1, and Speight 1. Hayes added the major points to 13. A. Kilberby and Speight, two of last season's players, were brought in to lend additional weight to the pack, and they played brilliantly throughout. W. Silkby, the heavy little custodian, was rarely called upon. Halton won by 23 goals, 24 tries (218 points) to nil.

Halton lads want to know if Hayes' performance of kicking 23 goals out of 24 attempts is a record, and also if his scoring 82 points in one game is a record.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER.

PENS OF GREAT PRICE.

The pen which was used by Charles Dickens just before his death was sold some time ago for about £21, but this must yield the palm of costliness to the well-worn gold pen also used by Dickens for many years, which found a purchaser at over £40.

A quill pen used by Wellington when writing to Queen Victoria in 1844 brought nearly £30 the other day. Walter Scott's pens, selected by Lord Dalhousie in 1829 from Scott's writing-table at Abbotsford, realised nearly £60 at Sotheby's.

Among the most valuable pens in the world is one carved from a portion of George Washington's coffin, and used by Abraham Lincoln when President, and the quill of a golden eagle's wing, the property of Mr. Impress Bigelow, with which the Treaty of Paris was signed in 1856.

ANIMALS THAT NEVER DRINK.

It would seem that water is so indispensable to life that no animals could exist without drinking. Nevertheless, Dr. Blanford asserts that the antelopes which live in the sand desert between the salt lake Chilka and the sea never drink. This has been doubted by physiologists, who deny that existence is possible in such conditions, but confirmatory evidence is adduced by Dr. Drake-Brockman. It appears that since 1910 a troupe of gazelles have lived in the small island Sadaddin on the side of Somaliland, where there is no source of water, and where the annual rainfall is less than three inches, so that these gazelles cannot obtain water except after very rare showers. The vegetation is very poor, but it is concluded that certainly the lack of water during the dry season by consuming roots and bulbous plants rich in liquid

LADIES
BLANCHARD'S PILLS
Are unrivalled for all Irregularities, &c., they speedily afford relief and never fail to alleviate all suffering. They supersede Pennyroyal, Tansy, Steel, Apiol, &c. "BLANCHARD'S are the Best of all Pills for Women." Sold in boxes, 1/1½, by Boots' Branches, Taylor's Drug Co., Bassnbee, and all Chemists, or post free, same price from VESLIE MARTIN, 144, Caledon Rd., ALDAN LANE, LONDON. Free Sample and valuable Booklet, post free, 1d. Stamp.

Members of Garforth U.M. Church will learn with interest that the Rev. W. Howarth Kay, of Beckwithshaw, has accepted an invitation to succeed the late Rev. C. T. Wakefield, as superintendent minister of the Lady Lane United Methodist Circuit, Leeds.

TADCASTER GUARDIANS AND DISTRICT COUNCIL.

THE LATE MR BLACKBURN—AN APPRECIATION.

A WATER SCHEME—SCHOOLS TOWN-PLASSINGS.

SHERBURN, BARWICK, BARKSTON, AND KIPPAX AFFAIRS.

The fortnightly meeting of Tadcaster Board of Guardians was held on Monday at Tadcaster—Mr. E. C. Brooksbank (Chairman), J.P., presiding. The other members present were Miss British (Acaster Selby), the Rev. Canon Lawson-Wood (Barkston), Mrs. C. D. Ash (Sutton), Messrs. W. Y. K. Young (Aberford), W. Simpson (Lotsh), J. W. Dobson (Newthorpe), W. White (Richmond), W. P. Nicholson (Sherburn Grange), Carlton (Stutton), F. Myers (Bilbrough), J. Pick (Ulleskelf), B. Brabban, H. Green, and J. Prince (Barkston), J. Y. Whiteley (Appleton), A. Spencer (Scholes), Mr. Wade (Thorner), J. H. Schofield (Drlton), R. Wright (Barwick), J. H. Ingleby, J.P., W. Sykes, and J. Nettleton (Tadcaster), E. Parker (Lotsham), J. Lodge, Kirkby Wharfe), and E. Cawthorne, J. J. Foster, and T. Hey (Sherburn), E. Parkin, J.P. (Kippax), T. P. Fawcett (Bramhope), A. Johnson (South Milford), C. Ellis (Micklefield), J. Wardman, and S. H. Lister (Aberford Petitions), H. Smith, W. Pearson, and W. R. Nixon (Allerton Bywater), with the Clerk (Mr. C. A. Bennett), the surveyor (Mr. Scott), and the sanitary inspectors (Messrs. Dunn and Wand).

THE LATE MR BLACKBURN.

The Chairman said that before they began the business there was a matter they had to perform. It was to remind those that they had lost their vice-chairman. It was a very great shock to him and many others present to know of the death of Mr. Blackburn. He had been for many years a member of the Board, and, as his (Mr Brooksbank's) absence), he presided at long meetings, and now he was no longer with them. He (the speaker) had been associated with him in public work for many years, and, although he had not always seen eye to eye with him, he had always found him absolutely straightforward and fair, and trying to do the best for the community in which he lived. His death would be an enormous loss to them. Wherever Mr Blackburn went he did, whether they agreed with him or not, he had a splendid sense of humour which frequently eased the situation. He could always see a joke and was fond of having a laugh with him. In the district in which he lived he would be very much missed. Mr Blackburn was a wonderful man. He looked upon him as having the details of a tremendous undertaking at his finger ends, and his knowledge of the work of the Board was very great. He (Mr Brooksbank) had met him in York market, and had shown to him what a child he (Mr Brooksbank) was in the matter of cattle dealing. He was a very astute man, and he could do a lot of things with extreme cleverness. He proposed that they pass a resolution stating how extremely sorry they were at the loss they had sustained, and that they convey their condolences to Mrs Blackburn and family.

The resolution was passed, the members standing.

The Chairman said that it would be more fitting were the question of the appointment of a successor to Mr Blackburn not brought up until next meeting.

THE HOUSE.

The master's report showed that during the fortnight there had been three admissions to the house, five discharges, and one death. The inmates numbered 89 in the house and 17 in the children's home—both against 93 at the corresponding date of last year. The tramps relieved during the two weeks were 43 and 26 against 18 and 28.

It was decided that Nurse Glyde be appointed head nurse in the infirmary.

Mrs Routledge (Garforth) wrote stating that she was leaving the district and wished to resign as a member of the Building-Out Committee. It was agreed that Mrs Wordsworth be appointed in Mrs Routledge's place.

SOLDIERS AND DEPENDENTS.

A letter was read from the Pontefract Union asking the Board to urge upon the Government to make adequate provision for all persons injured while doing service for the country in the war, and in case of death for their dependents, and recommending that the money required for the purpose be raised by a special tax on all incomes exceeding £160 a week.

The Chairman stated that as a matter of fact the Garforth Guardians had dealt with persons injured, and there were various societies who looked after dependents.

Mr Chippendale said he thought the matter should be referred to a committee. He did not see why the dependents of a soldier killed in battle should suffer any more than the dependents of a man killed in a factory.

The Chairman said he thought the Finance Committee would be the best committee to refer it to.

Mr Chippendale then proposed that the question be referred to the Finance Committee, and this was seconded and agreed to.

The Clerk read a return of pauperism, and it showed that the numbers for the Union had been reduced by 36 and the expenditure by £136.

DISTRICT COUNCIL.

The District Council treasurer was reported to have a balance of £8,392 18 hand.

The Highways Committee had the surveyor's report in regard to an alleged encroachment at Scholes before them, and a deputation was appointed to meet the Scholes Council. It was reported in regard to a road improvement at Ulleskelf. Mrs Fielden and Lady Rosse would give the land, and it was agreed to accept their terms. A letter was read from a farmer at South Milford stating the dyke from which he got a water supply had been encroached with water from the highway. It was decided to refer the matter to Tenpe Surveyor. Mr Ellis said he was pressing the dangerous corner at road at Ryther-cum-Cawood, but the price was too high, and it was agreed to ask for a reduction.

The minutes were adopted.

SANITARY AND HOUSING.

At a meeting of the Sanitary and Building Committee plans were received from Sherburn churchwardens for a village hall, and they were approved subject to a suggestion being put in—A case of overcrowding at Kippax was reported, and if it is not abated further proceedings will be taken—In the case of certain houses at Kippax condemned as being unfit for human habitation, the Clerk was instructed to write the owners and tell why closing orders should not be made, the matter to come up again at a future meeting—The salary of the attendant at Burkinshaw cottages was increased from £7 10s. to £8—In respect to certain cottages at Barkston, a letter was received asking that the matter should be allowed to stand over so that the trustees could decide whether the houses are to be repaired or pulled down. It was agreed that the question should stand over for three months—In regard to Newton water supply, Mr Forbes wrote stating that they were awaiting the signing of an agreement by the Pontefract Rural District Council—A letter was received from the Local Government Board stating enquiries as to the lowering condition at Tadcaster, and the medical officer's report thereon. The Clerk was instructed to reply.

The minutes were adopted.

CONDEMNED WATER SUPPLIES.

It was reported that the special Water Committee had met several times, and the places included in the scheme were Scholes, Berwick-Aberford, Micklefield, Sherburn, Barkston, Saxton, Church Fenton, Little Fenton, South Milford and Newthorpe. The committee had had a scheme under consideration, and they recommended that if they were satisfied the supply was ample the engineer be instructed to prepare plans and application be made for a loan of £8,000 to carry out the work. The source of supply was land near Scholes Station, and the water was believed to be satisfactory both as regarded quality and quantity.

The Clerk, in reply to a question, said that it would be a bigger thing buying water from Leeds.

Mr Sykes asked if it would be a gravitating scheme.

The Clerk: Mostly so.

Mr Ellis asked if it would supply all the villages he had mentioned.

The Clerk: A good deal more.

Mr Ellis said they had no water at Old Micklefield and they were in sore straits.

Mr Johnson: What is to be the outcome of our scheme at South Milford. We have already spent between £300 and £400, and it has been working satisfactorily for five years.

The Chairman said it was not necessary for a parish with a good supply to join the scheme.

Mr Johnson: We have never had a shortage of water, and we don't want another scheme.

Mr Ellis: Is there no way for us being connected with Garforth?

The Chairman: Garforth is taking its water from Leeds.

Mr Ellis: That is what I mean.

The Chairman said that if they took water from that source they would make a good mistake.

Mr Wright said that Mr Ellis need not be afraid of an inadequate water supply, because if the scheme under consideration was not so strong as they anticipated they could link on Kiddal, and then they had an inexhaustible supply.

Mr Ellis: I think we have had enough of Kiddal.

Mr Wright: We have had none yet.

The Chairman said he thought they should make it clear that any township which had an adequate supply should not be roped in.

After further discussion, the recommendation was agreed to.

SCHOLES TOWN-PLASSINGS.

The committee, appointed to deal with the town-plassings of Scholes and Austhorpe had had a scheme outlined to them, and they had asked an engineer what his fee would be for carrying out a scheme, and he gave it at £450. The area comprised in the scheme was 2,370 acres, and it was suggested that it might be reduced, the expert being asked to go over the area. A letter was read from him, and he was offered to do the work on the same footing, and it was agreed to proceed with it.

By the death of Mr Blackburn, a vacancy has been created on the representation of Stillingfleet, and the Clerk was instructed to take steps for the election of a new member.

NEW VICAR OF WISTOW.

VICAR OF MEXBOROUGH APPOINTED.

Canon W. H. F. Bateman, Rural Dean of Wirth, and vicar of Mexborough, has accepted the living of Wistow, rendered vacant by the death of the Rev. H. S. Gresham. The transfer will probably take place at the end of November.

The vicar and Mr Richard H. Bateman, merchant, was born at Manchester on November 27th, 1853. His earlier education was taken at Cheriton High School, from where he proceeded to Christ's College, Cambridge, where he took his B.A. in 1880, and his M.A. in 1883. His ordination was as follows:—1881, to Deac., assistant curate, St. Lower-ate's Church, York; 1882 to 1884, curate of Holy Trinity, Micklegate, York; 1885 to 1894, vicar of Mexborough. In the years 1894 and 1895 he was elected to the York School Board, and in 1897 was appointed Rural Dean of Wath. His first vicar was Dr. Crosthwaite, the present Bishop of Beverley.

THE QUEEN'S "WORK FOR WOMEN" FUND.

SECOND LIST OF SUBSCRIBERS IN GARFORTH.

	£	s.	d.
Mrs Sandy	1	1	0
Mrs Best	1	1	0
Rev. T. R. Willford	0	10	0
The Misses Hesse	0	10	0
Mr W. Simpson	0	10	0
Mr T. H. Simpson	0	10	0
Mr J. Kirk	0	10	0
Mr Wm. Smith	0	5	0
Mrs W. Field	0	2	6
Senior Members of Garforth Golf Club	1	7	0
Mrs Dent	0	2	6
Miss Ash	0	2	6
Mrs Routledge	0	2	6
Mrs Ellis	0	2	6
Collected by Miss Barber	0	10	0
Small Amounts	0	6	0
	£9	15	0

James W. Dobson, Hon. Sec. and Treasurer.

A GARFORTH SOLDIER AT THE FRONT.

AN AMUSING INCIDENT—MISTAKEN FOR A GERMAN.

AN INTERESTING LETTER.

Private G. H. Linnet, of Garforth, who is with his regiment at the Front, writes to an Oct. 6th, the address given being "In the Trenches," as follows:—

It gives me great pleasure to be able once again to let you know that I am all right as regards health, and it also gives me the opportunity to thank those who have sent their best wishes and respects. Well, friends, I know you'll be very surprised at these lines from the front, but my news will be very limited, as we cannot state what is going on, so I shall have to be very careful what I put or my letter may not pass the censor.

First of all, I have been told that my last letter was found and that it had not come from the Front. Well, to try and convince them I will state this: that I have not been out of the sound of Germans rifle fire since the Battle of Mons on the 23rd August. I dare say you have all read about that great battle and the large number that were against us. It was a very hot time, I can tell you.

They started shelling about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and shells and shrapnel were repeating your Sunday tea we were quietly saying our prayers. This was continued by every gun they could get at us. It is true, and if any more of us had been under fire, and it is most remarkable how cheerful the men have such a time, and outside of that men are falling all sides, but still one cannot get away from the fact that there is no trouble as well as at stake. I used to think it provided a little high-flavoured when I read in the evening papers about how the men sang and passed jokes when going into action. It is true, and if any one heard them they would think it was a show fight instead of live bullets.

One would think that those who have been used to every home comfort, plenty to eat, etc., would take poorly to this sort of work, but, no, everyone seems cheerful and happy. We are not faring so badly, but still, when I am eating my bully beef I cannot help thinking that a nice pie and Yorkshire pudding and other sorts of meat and potatoes would go down better. We make our own tea, so it is our own fault if we get tea without sugar.

Of course, there are other things to put up with. For instance, I have not had a shave for a month, a bath but a week, and my boots have not been off for six weeks. My shirt has been changed once since I have been at the front, and my head and clothes off all the two months I have been out. Of course, one cannot expect anything else when one is fighting for one's own country. It is true, and if any withdrew us out of the line for a refresher.

That reminds me of a joke, and that occurred three weeks back. We had captured a number of Germans, whom we had the escort in a post to be sent to England. It was the next train three weeks back. We boarded a little light Red Cross Sisters came along by the side of the train, giving cigarettes, coffee, and chocolate to our English troops. In each Red Cross Sisters came along by the side of the train, giving cigarettes, coffee, and compartment was placed one of our men. When the Sister came to my compartment and I quietly put out our hands and rings to receive the goods, and, to my astonishment, she gave my mate some, but refused me. Well, I thought, I was a German. I wanted to have nothing to say then shaving, and I had not had a wash for a good many days. Well, I had a good laugh talking I got the refreshments. I must have looked a sight when they took me for a German.

We are not faring so badly as regards tobacco, but it is pipe tobacco, and so does not go down so well with the cigarette smokers. Woodbines are valued as much as gold. I gave 1 franc (9d.) for a packet, and one has even gone a franc. I expect we shall have to put up with it, but if I have all I fancy to eat and drink and smoke when I come home I shall have a job for a bit-sure.

At the time I am writing this the German shells are making not good neighbours all the time, especially one, and we have named him "Coal Box," "some name that," Jack Johnson." It is a terrible shell, but I expect you have put in terrible to them. Well, friends, I don't know that I can tell you any more, except that I have managed up to now with the exception of a slight wound on the forehead. It is very slight and nothing to worry about, for which I have congratulated myself upon. I received it on the 2nd of October.

We are not allowed to put our address in letters, but if anyone wishes to have mine my wife will give it to them.

CHARGE AGAINST GARFORTH MEN.

THE STORY OF A GARDEN FORK.

On Tuesday at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions James Charles Eamonds and Herbert William Bond, miners, of Garforth, were summoned for receiving a spade, garden fork, the property of John Henry Jones, knowing it to have been stolen.

It was stated by Supt. Symonds that the defendants and Jacob lived in the same row of houses. Jacob, after digging his garden with the fork, left it outside his house and subsequently missed it. The fork, it appeared, was taken into the house of one of the defendants, and afterwards sold to a man called Middleton.

Evidence was given by Jacob, who said that on Thursday, September 24th, after digging his garden, he went into the house leaving the fork outside. On the fork were four dots, and two crosses, and on Saturday, October 3rd, witness received the fork back again from Middleton, the initials "J. E." had been traced upon it. He valued the fork at 2s. 6d.

Asked if he had anything to say, Emmett said the fork had been carried into his house by his little girl.

Bond said he was in the house when the fork was brought in.

George Todd, a boy of 12, and stepson of the defendant Bond, said that on the Sunday he was in the house with the two men when he was given the fork, and he told Jake it was Middleton, as Emmett was hard up, and wanted us for it. He took it to the man Middleton, who gave him two shillings, which he changed into two separate shillings and gave to Bond. The latter gave one to Emmett.

John Middleton stated that on Sunday, Sept. 27th, he had a conversation with Bond, who told him that Emmett had a fork to sell. Later in the day Bond's stepson brought the fork, for which he gave two shillings.

P.C. Beeson said he received information about the fork, and charged the men on the 3rd of October. In their respective cautions they said they found the fork in the house of Bond, who said "I know what you have come about. Emmett brought the fork down here last Sunday night, and I put his initials upon it, and sent my lad with it to Middleton to sell it for me." Later witness saw Emmett, who said, "Yes, my little girl brought it in. Bond was in bed. I was going to put it outside when he said 'Put it away and say it anyone owns it.—If not, I know someone who wants one.' We then said it."

When given the summons Bond said, "I am sorry I have been such a fool." Emmett said, "It's a bad job for me."

Asked if he had anything to say, Bond said he believed that the fork had come from Emmett's brother.

Emmett said that Bond thought nothing of the sort.

In fining each of the defendants 10s. and costs, the Chairman described the action as most dishonourable.

VICAR OF WETHERBY AND "RULERS' SINS."

"THAT GOD-DISHONOURING ACT."

The Rev. Charles A. Durant, of Wetherby Vicarage, has written the following letter to the "Post":—

"It is very noticeable, since that God-dishonouring Act of robbing the Church in Wales of its tithe has been passed, how we have not gone forward, and we have sustained a sad moral disaster.

"No doubt it has been permitted for some wise and just reason, and nations have to suffer for their rulers' sins, as was the case when David numbered the people; and, may be, this is how our calamity is to be brought about for our many sins.

"We evidently need to humble ourselves before God and acknowledge His power and over-ruling Providence more than we do.

"I would suggest that in every Deanery throughout the kingdom a resolution be passed at its or next particular chapter to this effect, viz.:—'That the spoliation of the Church in Wales was not only an outrage on the religious convictions of Churchmen, as well as on very many others, but that it was directly recurring to God; and that we republicate it with all our heart; and will endeavour to get it repealed as soon as possible.' And that such a resolution be sent to the Prime Minister from each Deanery, with a request that it may be forwarded to the King."

A THORNER OFFICER WOUNDED.

CAPTAIN LEDGARD IN THE GERMANS' HANDS.

There is happily reason to believe that a considerable number of officers of the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, who were reported to have been killed in the battle of Le Cateau, during the retreat from Mons, are alive, and in the hands of the Germans either as wounded or prisoners.

Mr Armitage Ledgard, of the Manor House, Thorner, has had a postcard which has been received by the regimental agents which shows that his son, Captain R. S. Ledgard, who was included in the list of killed, was alive on receipt on the 24th September, though he is without information as to his whereabouts. Captain Ledgard held a commission in the 1st Battalion Alexandra Princess of Wales's Own Yorkshire Regiment, but he was at home on leave from India when the war broke out, and was attached to 3rd Battalion King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, with which unit he proceeded to the front in the British Expeditionary Force. The Yorkshire Light Infantry were in the thick of fighting which preceded the German advance to the Marne, and Captain Ledgard was believed to have been killed by a German shell which burst among the men, and killed several, including Colonel Bond.

It now appears that Captain Ledgard was not killed, but that he was severely wounded, and picked up by the Germans and taken to hospital. Information has reached Mr Ledgard through the agents of the regiment, that Captain Ledgard has drawn a cheque payable to the credit of the Treasurer of the Red Cross Society, Berlin. The communication which enclosed the cheque contained a request that the transaction should be made known to his father, and the letter, which is dated September 24, Mr Ledgard recognises as his son's handwriting. The address from which the letter was written is, however, torn away, so that Mr Ledgard has no information as to where his son now is.

WHAT OCCURRED AT STOURTON.

SERIOUS CHARGE—CASE DISMISSED.

At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Herbert Newsome, carter, of Hunslet, was summoned by Joseph Gill for stealing four coates of oats, bran, and chopped hay, and Squire Jackson, hawk'r, of Hunslet, and George Benson, blacksmith, of Hunslet, were summoned for receiving the same.

P.C. Wright stated that about six on Saturday night he was with Sergeant Matthews on the Wakefield Road, Stourton, when he saw the two defendants, Jackson and Benson, together. Knowing them to be suspicious characters he followed them, and saw the men go to a wall opposite the Queen's Hotel. Behind the wall was a sack of corn. Jackson said to Benson, "That's the last load of it." Witness then seized Jackson and Sergeant Matthews got Benson. Both defendants denied any knowledge of the sack, but later they made a statement that a man named "Big Herbert" had sent them for it. The men were taken to the Park Street Police Station, and later in the evening Newsome was arrested.

Joseph Gill, carting agent, of Hunslet, said that Newsome was employed by him to drive two horses and two carts. On the week days it was customary for him to take sufficient food for his horses.

Richard Massey, refreshment house keeper, stated that on Saturday about 9 a.m. Newsome came for some breakfast and said he was going to leave the corn until he returned.

Newsome told the bench that he had forgotten about the corn and later in the afternoon he sent round Benson and Jackson to ask Massey to put the corn under cover until Monday.

The magistrates, after retiring, said they had a doubt as to the intention of the men in regard to the sack, and that being the case, they would give them the benefit of the doubt.

The men were accordingly discharged.

ANGRAM FARMER AND HIS SERVANT.

ALLEGED BEATING WITH A SHEPHERD'S CROOK.

TADCASTER MAGISTRATES DISMISS SERIOUS CHARGE.

At Tadcaster Petty Sessions on Monday—before Alt. E. C. Brooksbank (Chairman), J.P. other magistrates—James Stalford Fletcher, farmer, of Angram, was charged with inflicting grievous bodily harm on James Henry Mason, farm labourer, of Angram. Mr A. E. Walster, of York, prosecuted, and Mr Arthur Willey, of Leeds, defended.

Mr Walster said that Mason was a yearly servant in the employ of defendant, and on September 29th, at 9 o'clock in the morning his client was engaged in loading clover, and he said "I am sick on this job. I will go and 'list.'" He went into the house, got his coat, and set off. He was followed down the road by defendant, who had a shepherd's crook in his hand. Defendant said to his client, "What are you going off for?" and Mason replied, "I am tired of the job and am going to 'list.'" Thereupon—and this was the cruel part of the case—defendant set about Mason with the shepherd's crook, and struck him on the arms, shoulders, and back, reducing him to such a state that he was very ill. Defendant drove Mason back to his work, but he was going on ill that he could not go on with his work, and he went and saw Dr Barton, of York. Mason was now under the doctor's care and would be for some time. The case was a serious one, because, there was a great principle involved. Defendant was the man's employer, and he had abused his position. It was surely going back to the age of barbarism if a man in the position of a master could take the law into his own hands and beat his servant. Mason had been in the employ of defendant or his mother for four years, and that proved he had been a very good servant, and it made the action of the defendant the worse, and had on one occasion asked Mason to stop the case, but, of course, that was impossible. He asked if the magistrates found the case proved to inflict a severe penalty.

Mr Willey: The magistrates cannot deal with the case.

Mr Walster: Don't interrupt.

Mr Willey: If you mislead the magistrates—

Mr Walster: I am not misleading the magistrates.

Mason then gave evidence, bearing out Mr Walster's statement. He stated that since he was assaulted he had had use of his arms in a sling. On October 7th, he saw Fletcher at Askham Richard, and defendant said he came to try and get him to withdraw the summons.

In answer to Mr Willey, witness said that defendant offered no bribe to him. He admitted that he had called defendant a "shitter"—went to see Mrs Fletcher on Thursday for the purpose of seeing if they could come to terms. He had not told Mr Webster that. He had put his terms by, but he would not have been there that day. They said they would not pay a penny and that they had engaged a solicitor to defend the case. He did not say how much he wanted. He denied that he had come on the night before the affair, but he was the worse for beer.

Mr Willey: Did you bring beer in a jug—not in your anatomy?—Mason: No. One of the men brought home half-a-gallon.

Did you drink that half-gallon?—We drank most of it that night.

How much beer had you before 8 o'clock on Tuesday morning?—I should not have had more than two glasses.

Who had the rest of the half-gallon?—The other man.

Were you worse for beer that morning?—No.

After leading a load of clover you had a spasm of patriotism and wanted to enlist?—No.

Mason further stated that he did not swear at Fletcher, but he told him to go and look for Jack. He denied that he let out at defendant with his fist. He admitted that he had a fall from a hay cart, but he did not hurt himself. He was drunk then. He denied that he fell against the horse end. Mrs Fletcher had forgiven him frequently for being drunk.

Mr Walster: What happened on October 7th, when Mrs Fletcher and defendant were there?—Mrs Fletcher came to see if I would withdraw the summons and she said she would pay my wages.

Mr Willey: Yes, we will pay them to-day.

The Chairman: Did you ever tell Mr Fletcher that you wanted to enlist?.

Mason: Yes. I told him a week or two back. Dr. Barton saw me the day after. I came to him on the afternoon of September 29th, and he examined him. He described the weals and bruises on his arms, shoulders, and back, and said there were distinct bruises. The man was not drunk when he saw him.

In answer to the Chairman, he said that the injuries were consistent with having been caused a few hours before.

Mr Willey addressed the magistrates at some length, and argued that as it was an indictable offence, before they could commit the defendant for trial they must be satisfied the injuries were so serious as to injure his health and they had also to say that there was a strong and reasonable presumption of the guilt of the accused. Had the case been reduced to common assault he still would have had something to say.

Mr Walster said that it was open for him to make an application to have the charge reduced.

Mr Willey said the magistrates could not reduce the charge. It would have to be withdrawn or dismissed.

The Chairman said there was not sufficient evidence to prove a charge of grievous bodily harm, and the case was dismissed. They considered that the case had been brought under an entirely wrong charge.

The King of Roumania died on Saturday, at the age of 75. His Majesty ascended the throne in 1866.

The Cardiff Town Council have decided to erect for the freedom of the city on Sir Wm. James Thomas, of Ynishir, in recognition of his magnificent gifts to public institutions. It transpires he was the anonymous donor of £60,000 to the Welsh National School of Medicine at Cardiff. His gifts to the school jointly with the University now total £100,000.

LOOK HERE!

We have a REPUTATION to maintain, and we do it by giving you the BEST VALUE in Provisions, Groceries, &c.

Specialists in BUTTER, HAMS, BACON, CHEESE, &c.

Also FLOUR, FEEDING MEAL, POULTRY CORN &c,

T. B. SMITH & SON,

SUPPLY STORES,

GARFORTH.

Our Special Blends of Tea, 2/2, 2/-, 1/8 per lb., contain some of the Finest Teas the World produces.

EVERY WOMAN. Should send two stamps for our 32 page Illustrated Book, containing Valuable Information how all Irregularities and Suppressions may be entirely avoided or removed by simple means. Recommended by eminent Physicians, as the only Safe, Sure, and Genuine Remedy. Never Fails. Thousands of Testimonials. Established 1862.

Mr PAUL BLANCHARD, Chemist and Herbalist, Dalston Lane, London

Rothwell Courier & Times

ESTABLISHED 1873.

CHEAP PREPAID RATES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS of the following classes:—
WANTED, FOR SALE, and TO LET.

Words.	1 week.	3 weeks.	6 weeks.	13 weeks
20	0 6	1 0	1 10	3 3
30	0 9	1 6	2 9	5 0
40	1 0	2 0	3 8	6 6

Cash is not sent with advt. ordinary rates will be charged.

BUSINESS ADVERTISEMENTS.
Are charged at the following rates when ordered for not less than

13 weeks,	1s.	per inch per insertion.
26	do.	10d.	do.
52	do.	8d.	do.

RAILWAY NOTICE.

NORTH EASTERN RAILWAY.

EXCURSION TRAINS FROM LEEDS NEW STATION CALLING AT CROSSGATES AND GARFORTH

Wednesday, 21st Oct., 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, Scarborough, Pickering, and Whitby.
Saturday, 24th Oct., 1.30 p.m. to York, Malton, and Scarborough.

For further particulars see bills.

WANTED

WANTED a HOUSEMAID.—Apply, Mrs Denby, Springfield, Garforth.

WANTED a Strong GENERAL for Farmhouse.—Cockshott, Hazlewood, Tadcaster. 2 2476

WANTED a Good GENERAL, 18-20, to sleep in.—Apply, M. Hague, Grocer, Whitkirk. 3 1855

WANTED 3 Respectable Men as LODGERS. —Apply, Mrs Flockton, 3 Bentley Square, Oulton, Leeds. 1 2385

WANTED Superior, Young GENERAL, aged 17 to 18. References. Another maid kept.—Kent, 21, Shakebroke Avenue, Leeds. 1 2375

GENERAL SERVANT wanted. No baking. Three in family. Good personal references necessary.—Apply, Green, Jesmond, Whitkirk, nr. Leeds. 2 2444

WANTED (for the period of the War) CLERK to assist at Whitkirk Mart on Fortnightly Sale Days.—Apply, by letter, Bartle & Son, Auctioneers, Garforth.

FOR SALE.

FOR Sale, 3 WHITE LEGHORN COCKERELS (Whitaker and Tootill's strain), 2 White Orpington Cockerels (Cook's strain), 1 White Wyandotte Cock, price 7/6 and 6/6 each.—Apply, Mr Nicholson, Sturton Grange, Garforth. 1

MEDICAL.

TO MARRIED LADIES.
THE WIFE'S HANDBOOK, by Dr. Allbutt, should be read by all Married People. 7d. Post Free. Illustrated list of Malthusian Appliances, Rubber Goods, &c., Post Free, 2 Stamps. —(S) Davies & Co., 34 Park Lane, Leeds.

LADIES! Wood's Challenge Remedy is guaranteed under the sum of £100 to cure more cases than any other advertised remedy. For all cases of irregularities Challenge Remedy has no equal. Price 2/9, special 4/6. Consultations free 10 to 10 daily. Hygienic Rubber Requisites. Only address—Mr and Mrs W. WOOD, 20, Louis Street, Chapeltown Road, Leeds.

MARRIED LADIES.
Consult MRS. WOOD, the only reliable Ladies' Specialist. 20 years' experience. My remedies never fail. My Special Mixture or Pills are guaranteed to be the only reliable remedy known. Acts in a few hours after all else fails. Quick, Safe and Sure. Price 2s. 9d. Special 4s. 6d., post free in plain wrappers, or stamp for particulars. Consultations by appointment. Only Address: Mrs WOOD, 31, Park Avenue, Blackpool.

THOMAS MIDDLETON
PAWNBROKER AND JEWELLER,
96 VICAR LANE, (Top of LADY LANE, LEEDS),
ADVANCES MONEY TO ANY AMOUNT ON PORTABLE PROPERTY.

£0 10 0	for	2s.	per month.
£1 0 0	„	5d.	„ „
£2 0 0	„	10d.	„ „
£3 10 0	„	1/6	„ „
£5 0 0	„	1s. 6d.	„ „
£8 0 0	„	2s. 8d.	„ „
£10 0 0	„	3s. 4d.	„ „

Sums above £10 by Special Agreement.
ONLY ADDRESS—
96 VICAR LANE, LEEDS.
PLEDGE OFFICE: 4 LADY LANE LEEDS.

Established 37 Years.

WM. DENTON & SON,
23, COMMERCIAL STREET, ROTHWELL,
Estate Agents and Rent Collectors.
Estates Entirely Managed. Terms on application.
Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass, etc., Insurance Brokers.
Quotations for any kind of Insurance Free.

DR. SKELTON'S
BRONCHITIS LOZENGES
Cure Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, Difficulties of Breathing, Consumption, and all Diseases of the Chest and Lungs.—
Sold only in Boxes at 1/1½ and 2/9 at
KAMM'S HERBAL STORES, 28, KIRKGATE, LEEDS.
All kinds of Herbs, etc. kept in Stock

MR and MRS. TURNER
Had Lady Lane, Leeds,
and 36, Horton Road, Bradford,
Purchase for Cash, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Cast-off Clothing. All letters and Parcels receive immediate attention. Full value given for Old Gold and Silver. Trial Solicited.
Highest Price Given.
Tel. Nos.: Leeds, 3188; Bradford, 2417

YOUR WEDDING
Should BE WELL whether it is MOTOR or CARRIAGE, we are the most talked of and the most thought of in the Vale. Ask about us; 1 cab only charged. BUCKTON, Claypit Lane, (3 minutes' cartridge street). Tele. 6[illegible] 6[illegible]
"WE N V R SLEEP."

PUBLIC NOTICES.

WETHERBY AUTUMN
Steeplechases and Hurdle Races.

UNDER NATIONAL HUNT RULES.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 19th, 1914.

CAPITAL ENTRIES.

Admission 1/-; Paddock, Ring, and Grand Stand 7/6; Reserved Stand 2/6 extra; Motor Cars to Motor Car Enclosure on Course (5 occupants) 10/-; Carriages and Cabs 5/- (5 occupants); Waggonettes 10/- to 30/- (according to number of occupants at 1/- each); Bicycle and Rider 1/3.

RACING COMMENCES 1.45.

SPECIAL TRAINS. CHEAP FARES.

Luncheon from 12 noon in the Paddock, provided by Mr Fawcett, late of Commercial Hotel, Leeds, at 2/6.

J. D. TIPLADY, Secretary, Wetherby.

CROSSGATES BAPTIST FELLOWSHIP

Miss IVY EASTON'S CONCERT.

BAPTIST CHURCH HALL.

TUESDAY, October 27th, 1914, at 7.45 prompt.

Artistes:
Miss Teresa Barraclough (Soprano).
Miss Ivy Easton (Contralto).
Mr. Arthur Sykes (Tenor, Wakefield Cathedral).
Mr. George Crossland (Bass).
Mr Frank Wade (Humorist).
The Allied Quartette.
Miss Josephine Weber (Accompanist).

Tickets 2/-, 1/-, and Children 6d.

Proceeds for the Leeds Belgian Relief Fund.

THE PICTURE HOUSE, GARFORTH

Every Evening at 7.30.
Saturday, Two Houses at 6.30 and 8.30.

WEEK COMMENCING OCTOBER 19th, 1914

FIRST-RATE PROGRAMMES OF UP-TO-DATE PICTURES.

LATEST TRIUMPHS OF THE CINEMA ART.

Children's Matinee, Saturday at 2.30.

Popular Prices:—2d., 4d., and 6d.

BARKER'S BRITISH PIANOS.
SPECIAL BARGAINS IN ENGLISH OVERSTRUNGS.
COLLARD & COLLARD, superb case ..... only 76 Gns.
MEECHAM, Upright Grand ..... only 57 Gns.
WADDINGTON, perfect condition only 50 Gns.
KIRKMAN ..... only 41 Gns.
CROMLEY, the best English Overstrung ..... only 28 Gns.
UPRIGHT GRAND, in costly Rosewood case ..... only 45 Gns.
CHAPPELL, Upright, Rosewood only 36 Gns.
BRINSMEAD, Latest Overstrung only 36 Gns.
BARKER & CO., Overstrung Upright Grand ..... only 25 Gns.
2 SECOND-HAND PIANOS, iron frames ..... only 14 Gns.
BABY GRANDS, by Chappell & Steinway.
Offers solicited.
We must clear from our stock the following PIANOS by BECHSTEIN, SCHIEDMAYER, RUD. IBACH, STEINWAY, RITMULLER, KAPS, and several other GERMAN OVERSTRUNG UPRIGHT GRANDS. These will be sold UNDER COST.
ANGELUS BRINSMEAD PLAYER PIANO, only 65 gns.
BARKER'S, 23, NEW STATION STREET, LEEDS.

PATENTS for INVENTIONS
JOHN E. WALSH, CHARTERED PATENT AGENT,
25, ROYAL EXCHANGE, LEEDS,
and CROSSLEY STREET, HALIFAX.
The Oldest Established in Leeds. Handbook Free. for British and Foreign Patents. Trade Marks and Designs.
Telephone: LEEDS 2738. HALIFAX 358Y.

Telephone No. 1 Garforth.
ALFRED REED,
Late Matthews,
CAB and WAGGONETTE PROPRIETOR,
GARFORTH and BARWICK-IN-ELMET.
Cabs, Waggonettes and Landaus for Hire.
Large and Small Parties Catered for.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH, EXTRACTIONS, Etc.
Mr. J. DILWORTH'S
Dental Rooms,
CECIL HOUSE, BURLEY LODGE TERRACE, HYDE PARK ROAD, LEEDS.
Advice Free. Hours—10 to 8.
and at
16, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates.
Every Friday, 2 to 7.30 p.m. Other hours by appointment.
Painless Extractions. Nitrous Oxide Gas administered.

Window Cleaning, Paintwashing
Limewashing, &c., at Moderate Charges.
EXPERIENCED MEN SENT ANY DISTANCE.
FIRTH & KENYON,
GROVE ROAD, HALTON, near LEEDS.

SALES BY AUCTION.

WETHERBY AUCTION MART

ON MONDAY NEXT
Messrs THOMLINSON & SON
Will Sell by Auction—
50 to 60 Fat Bullocks and Heifers.
100 to 110 Prime Fat SHEEP.
60 to 70 Fat and Store PIGS.
THOMLINSON & SON, Auctioneers.

ON MONDAY NEXT AT 12 O'CLOCK.
WHITKIRK LIVE STOCK AUCTION MART
(Near to Crossgates Station and within four miles of Leeds).

Messrs BARTLE & SON
Will Sell by Auction, in strict accordance with the conditions posted in the Mart—
515 HEAD OF STOCK, viz.:—
90 NEWLY CALVED, CALVING, and LAYING-OFF COWS.
30 WELL BRED STORE HEIFERS and BULLOCKS, 15 to 22 years old.
75 PRIME FAT BULLOCKS, HEIFERS, and COWS.
20 YEAL and STORE CALVES.
100 PRIME FAT SHEARLINGS, HOGGS, and EWES.
50 BACON, PORK and STORE PIGS.
Auctioneers' Offices: Garforth, near Leeds. (Tel. No. 26).

ON MONDAY NEXT.
COLLIERY HOUSE, GARFORTH.
(Ten minutes' walk from the Railway Station).
Mr. WILLIAM ASH.
Instructed by Robt. Routledge, Esq. (who is leaving Garforth), will Sell by Auction, on Monday, October 19th, 1914, the remaining portion of the

HOUSEHOLD EFFECTS,
including:—
A Metal Kerb, two Metal Fenders, Coal Box, Tapestry Carpet, 4 yds. by 4 yds., Brussels Carpet, 3 yds. by 2 yds., a well-polished MAHOGANY SUITE, upholstered in crimson velvet, comprising:—Sofa, Rocking Chair, and Six Single Chairs; Arm Chair with Leather cushion, Rocking Chair, Plush Door Curtains, a WALNUT OVERMANTEL, having six bevelled mirrors, and two brackets; Bronze Tea Urn with E.P. Top, Rests in cosy, and Music.
TWO LARGE OIL PAINTINGS, "Landscapes," by C. Hoope, in heavy gilt frames; Water Colours, Engravings, and other Pictures; Two Photos, "President and Mrs Lincoln."
ELECTRO-PLATED TEA AND COFFEE SERVICE, Coffee Pot, Cruet with four bottles, Pair of Flower Vases, Rosewood Salad Bowl with servers, Ebony Bracket and Clothes Brushes, Pewter Tray.
LONG SEAT with cushion, Hall Rack and cushions in A/C, Large Kitchen Table with two drawers, Steel Fender, Slop Pail, Tap, Two Paraffin Lamps, and several Globes, Pair of Metal Door Porters, Set of Three Block Tin Dish Covers, Iron Fish Kettle, Metal Trays, Venetian Blinds, Mahogany Stained Toilet Table, Wash-stand to match, Mahogany Towel Roll, Toilet Glass in mahogany frame, Two Wood Cornice Poles with rings, Curtains, Bed Hangings, Wood Frame (young child's), Iron ground.
Also a NARROW GAUGE CAGE.
WRINGING MACHINE. Two Winterbedges, Box Churn, Iron Framed Garden Seat, and numerous other Items.
SALE TO COMMENCE AT 1.30 O'CLOCK.
Auctioneer's Office—Garforth, near Leeds (Telephone No. 15), and Leeds on Tuesdays.

W. A. F. BURDOWS & CO.,
Auctioneers and Valuers,
BOND PLACE, LEEDS.
(Opposite Yorkshire Penny Bank).
Sales of every description conducted on the most reasonable terms.
Valuations made for all purposes.
To Heads of Families, Private Buyers, Dealers, and others.
Various Stocks of Drapery, Boots, and Shoes, Hosiery, and Underclothing always on hand, and may be purchased privately at any time.
Goods on View. Public Inspection Invited.

Messrs J. CUNDALL & SON,
AUCTIONEERS and TENANT-RIGHT VALUERS.
SHERBURN, E.R., YORK

H. E. WALKER,
STURTON GRANGE, GARFORTH,
Agricultural Merchant.
Molassine Meal.
Dairy and Calf Meal.
Feeding Cakes.
Poultry and Dog Foods.
Manures, Peat Moss, Oils, etc.
Best Quality & Prompt Delivery.

JOHN WATSON & Co.,
34, CALL LANE, LEEDS
See our Special Blue Lounge Suit
Made to Measure in Fine Quality Serge,
Easy Terms £2 2s. Cash 38/6
Well Worth 50/-
OUR SCARBORO' COSTUMES
Are made to Measure in all Wool Navy Coating Serge. Coat Lined Silk.
Satin Collar, Lined Skirt.
Cash 30/- Easy Terms 33/6
Patterns and Particulars on Application.

— TRY —
SANCFORD'S CROWN VINEGAR,
Pickles, Health Salt,
and Baking Powder.
ALL ABSOLUTELY PURE
SANCFORD & Co., Ltd.,
LEEDS.

Purveyors of Marmalade — To H.M. King George V.
Frank COOPER'S "OXFORD" MARMALADE.
The "Oxford" has a distinctive flavour, has the real home-made character, and goes further than any other.
OBTAINABLE AT
Walter Jubb's, Austhorpe Rd., Crossgates
ALSO AT
S. BORDER & Co., YORK.

If your Hearing is Defective, read this:-
The adjustable Earphone, for which we are the sole agents throughout Yorkshire, will enable you to hear perfectly.
There are many thousands in use already, and delighted wearers are daily thanking us for the help they are deriving.
Recommended by the Medical Faculty.
A personal demonstration is invited, and will place no obligation upon you.
CALL OR WRITE FOR BROCHURE.
HEYWOOD,
Eyesight Specialists, and Earphone Experts,
20, DUNCAN STREET, LEEDS.

DOYLE
The Noted China House
Uncommon Styles in China and Glass Ware at Uncommonly Low Prices.
A walk through the Showrooms at Doyle's will at once convince you that the beautiful styles and designs in China and Glassware are indeed distinctly uncommon, yet when you come to consider the prices you will be surprised at what CAN be obtained for a comparatively low price. You will certainly be enabled to spend your money to the best possible advantage by visiting Doyle's.
59, Boar Lane, LEEDS.

J. ROBINSON & SONS,
King Charles' Croft,
LEEDS.
Telephone No. 1522.
Catalogues free on Application.

CULTIVATORS, PLOUGHS, HARROWS, CHAFF & TURNIP CUTTERS, &C.
By all the Best Makers at Lowest Cash Prices.

Gent's. 9ct. & 18ct. Bangle Rings
Large Assortment always in Stock at
J. WINTERHALDER'S,
Watchmaker, Jeweller, & Optician,
13, New York Street, LEEDS
(Opposite the Yorkshire Penny Bank, Briggate)
Repairs of all kinds a Speciality

Rothwell Courier & Times
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 17th, 1914.

For the first time in the history of the nation something like adequate provision is being made for the dependents of the men who are now serving in the Army and Navy, and the Lord Chancellor, speaking at Newcastle on Saturday, stated that the country would soon be paying 21 millions per annum in this way. The increased allowances, which are now granted weekly through the medium of the Post Office, have relieved the anxiety of many of our fighting men, and they now have the knowledge that their families will not suffer privations nor be dependent upon the charity of neighbours. Frequently when the charitably-inclined are about, the undeserving get what was intended for the more worthy and the more needy. The system of doles cannot now be contemplated with any degree of patience, and every lover of his country must rejoice that the Government have placed the women and children of our brave soldiers and sailors in a position that makes them independent of charity. Times have changed, and opinions have changed in Old England, and if we are to have a free people they must be placed above the seducing influences of the dole. Many well-meaning people, perhaps somewhat superior in their way, have been anxious to share the good things of life with those not so well off, but some of them have shown such an utter lack of discretion and tact that they have deeply wounded soldiers' wives by the questions questions they have asked. It must be remembered that nowadays the soldier's wife is not always ignorant and lacking in refinement, and when a person, with half-a-crown to give away, goes into a home and asks questions with a view to finding out whether the person concerned is worthy of his or her bounty, that person is committing an unpardonable offence. Unfortunately, it has been done, and there was no compensation for the pain and suffering imposed. The Prince of Wales, in his letter in our last issue, shows the view he and his advisers take of charity. Referring to the relief of civil distress, he stated that "it is as repugnant to me as it must be to the recipients that assistance should be distributed only in the form of doles," conclusively proving that he has a higher opinion of the British democracy than the people whom we have already mentioned. It may very well be asked how people, then, are to view the Lord Mayor's Fund. It is a gift from the nation—largely from the people who cannot serve with the Colours to the dependents of the men who are serving—and it cannot very well be looked upon as charity, because if one person contributes money the other gives service, which is of infinitely more value to the country. As a Member of Parliament, speaking recently in the Division, put it, "there is no living wage for soldiers; you cannot pay them for their services," and if any section of the community deserves to be treated with honour, respect, and generosity, it is that ever-growing section represented by the wives and little ones of the men who have so nobly answered the country's call.

Sympathy, which is being evoked in another direction will, we hope, take really practical shape. Wounded soldiers, arriving almost daily from the battle line, are bringing home to us the tragic side of war, and something will have to be done for them. People are knitting socks and making garments, and sending gifts of fruit and tobacco to the soldiers, and while we do not wish to depreciate the value of all this, the outcome of genuine goodheartedness and the desire of all classes to do a "little bit," a much greater responsibility rests upon the nation individually and collectively. Sacrifices, we have been repeatedly told, must be made, Britain is to emerge successfully from this tremendous struggle with militarism, and many homes will have the truth of this forced ruthlessly upon them ere the conflict is over. The greatest sacrifice a person can make—and it must be recognized until it is recognized—is the sacrifice of himself or herself, and if a soldier lays his life down upon the battlefield he not only makes the supreme sacrifice, but he, as it were, compels his friends to make a sacrifice almost equally great. Compensation can never adequately be made for such a sacrifice, but as it was made for the sake of the nation is it not the duty of the nation to assume the duty of husband and father to the bereaved? A great many of the wounded are doomed to complete, or partial, disablement for life. Some will want an arm, some a leg, some both legs, some may still keep their limbs, but they are crippled and maimed; some have had their jaws shattered, some have lost the sight of one eye, some have lost the sight of both eyes and are totally blind. Others again have had injuries to their body which will not actually cripple them, but will leave them weakened and enfeebled for life. And in addition to the victims of bullet and shrapnel, there are victims of exposure and of disease, the gaunt spectre that stalks by night. They, too, will return to this country to drag out a weakened existence for the rest of their days. In the past our treatment of discharged and disabled soldiers has been a disgrace. How the people cheered those gallant fellows as they marched away to fight the country's battles, and then when they returned shattered and maimed they were cast off with a beggarly pittance. Was it fair or honest? Such shameful treatment must never again be meted out to our soldiers. We must increase the allowances to women and children who lose their breadwinners, and adequate provision must be made for men who come home disabled for life. And speedy action must be taken. In the hospitals are men who left home hale and hearty not two months ago for France, and if they are disabled they may be worried and anxious about the future. How are they going to earn a living if they are crippled? To our soldiers the assurance must be given—and we believe it will be given—that they suffer for the nation's sake the nation will be just and provide for their future.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Communications intended for insertion must be authenticated by the name and address of the writer—not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. No notice will be taken of anonymous letters, and rejected communications cannot be returned.

Notice of Births and Deaths are charged 1s. each per Period. They must be authenticated by the name and address of the sender.

Notices of marriages are charged at the rate of 2s. 6d. each

In Memoriam" Notices 1s. each, and 6d. extra for all matter up to four lines.

MARRIAGE.

MORRILL—WILKINSON.—On September 23rd, at Holy Trinity Church, Heywood, Wilts., by the Rev. J. G. B. Hollins, Ronald Falshaw Morkill, lieutenant 4th West Yorkshire Regiment, second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morkill, of Newfield Hall, Yorkshire, to Ellen Mary (Nellie), youngest daughter of the late T. L. Wilkinson and Mrs Wilkinson, of Neasham Abbey, Darlington.

DEATHS.

ATKINSON.—October 7th (suddenly), at Scholey Hill House, Methley, Elizabeth, widow of the late Arthur Atkinson.

DINSELL.—October 8th, 1914, at 13, Lawson Terrace, Durham, aged 75 years, Catherine, the dearly beloved wife of Mr. John Dennell. Was interred at St. Margaret's Cemetery, Monday, October 12th.

SAUNDERS.—October 8th, 1914, at Providence House, Clifford, aged 69 years, Henry Saunders.

IN MEMORIAM

WINTER.—In loving memory of George Winter, of Garforth, who fell asleep Oct. 17th, 1903.
"Thy will be done."

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT NEWS.

ROTHWELL

Rothwell Working Men's Club, Marsh Villa, has sent £1 6s. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

In an Amateur League match on Saturday afternoon Rothwell Old Boys defeated Victoria Athletic (Leeds) by nine goals to one.

Reports of the quarter-century opening at Rothwell Primitive Methodist Church and of the meeting of the Urban Council will be found on the inside pages.

LEEDS WEST RIDING PETTY SESSIONS.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday the magistrates were Messrs J. W. Morkill (Chairman), E. Parkin, J. Hirst, W. Evans, and Ald. Braithwaite.

CHILDREN HELP.—The infants at Rothwell Church School have given the wife of one of the Mayor's Belgian Refugees a Fund, and the scholars of the mixed department of Rothwell Council School have sent £1 6s. and the teachers £1 10s. 6d.

SALVATION ARMY.—At the Salvation Army Hall on Sunday special services were conducted by Envoy Bristow, of Doncaster, father of Ensign Bristow, who is the officer in charge of the Rothwell Corps. In the afternoon there was a good attendance to hear the Envoy relate his experience of 28 years railway life, which proved very interesting.

VACCINATIONS.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions four Hunslet women were summoned by the Hunslet Poor Law Authorities for neglecting to have their children vaccinated. Miss H. Cowpers laid the information, and in reply to a question, put by the Clerk, said that the fathers of the children had not been summoned as they were at the Front. Two of the women said that the children had only been vaccinated, and the magistrates allowed the women to go. The other two defendants were allowed a week for the children to be vaccinated.

WESLEY GUILD.—Through the efforts of the young people of the Wesleyan Church, the Wesley Guild has been revived, and a successful session is being anticipated. An interesting syllabus of lectures has been arranged for. On Monday a social was held in the Wesleyan Schoolroom as a send off, and a very pleasant evening was spent by a good number. Mr W. Ellis officiated as Master of Ceremonies, and in reply to a question, put by the Clerk, said that the fathers of the children had not been summoned as they were at the Front. Two of the women said that the children had only been vaccinated, and the magistrates allowed the women to go. The other two defendants were allowed a week for the children to be vaccinated.

FOOTBALL.—Rothwell White Rose came out of the second qualifying round of the English Cup Competition with flying colours on Saturday, when they entertained Frickley Athletic, and won by three goals to nothing. The visitors opened well, and set a good pace, but their keenness soon rubbed off. Cuthbert kicked wide when an excellent opportunity presented itself. The homesters were penalised, but Nunns defended his charge in gallant style, and saved. An unsuccessful corner followed. Rothwell then had a look in, and Hughes netted. Frickley were disappointed when, after clever work by their forwards, Nunns saved. However, they missed an easy chance just before the interval. M'Kenny was the player at fault. In the second half the homesters attack well together, and Appleby and Parfitt netted.

AUSTHORPE.

MARRIAGE OF LIEUT. R. F. MORKILL.—Owing to the war, the marriage took place quietly on the 23rd of September, by licence, at Holy Trinity Church, Heywood, Wilts., between Ronald Falshaw Morkill, lieutenant 4th West Yorkshire Regiment, second son of Mr. and Mrs J. W. Morkill, of Newfield Hall, Yorkshire, and formerly of Austhorpe Lodge, Austhorpe, and Ellen Mary (Nellie), youngest daughter of the late T. L. Wilkinson and Mrs Wilkinson, of Neasham Abbey, Darlington. The Rev. J. G. B. Hollins performed the ceremony. The bridegroom left immediately after the marriage to rejoin his regiment, and the bride is at present staying with her sister, Mrs H. Brodrick, The Parsonage, Heywood Park, Westbury, Wilts

ALLERTON BYWATER

On Saturday afternoon Allerton Bywater Church Institute football team had a League match with Castleford, and it was drawn—two goals each.

BOWERS ALLERTON.

Bowers Allerton footballers were defeated by Lock Lane Church Institute on Saturday afternoon by four goals to nil.

CARLTON

HARVEST FESTIVAL.—On Sunday the harvest festival was held at the Temperance Hall when a service of song was given in the evening by the Wesleyan choir from Quarkwell Green. The piece was entitled "The little gleaners," and was thoroughly enjoyed by the congregation. Mr S. Pickersgill presided over a large gathering. On Monday the fruit, vegetables, and flowers, which had formed the decorations in the hall, were disposed of under the direction of Mr Wright.

ALLOWED TO GO.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Sam Bates, a miner, of Carlton, was summoned for having been drunk and disorderly at Rothwell, on Saturday, October 3rd. P.C. Womack stated that about 9.20 p.m. on the night in question he came across the defendant in Butcher Lane, where he was making use of the language complained of. Defendant was the worse for drink, and denied the offence, saying he had just come from the enlisting office at the Council Offices, where he had pass'd the doctor. In answer to the Chairman, Bates said he expected being called up on Thursday morning. He was allowed to go.

CROSSGATES

The members of Crossgates Bowling Club have sent £3 10s. to the Leeds National Relief Fund.

A concert in aid of the Belgian Relief Fund is to be given at Crossgates Baptist Church Hall on Tuesday night, October 27th. Seats 6d.

WESLEYAN.—At a meeting of the Wesley Guild on Wednesday evening a lecture on a "Historical view of the war" was delivered by Mr F. R. Pearson, B.A. The lecture was very interesting and instructive, and it was highly appreciated by the members.

GOLF.—On Friday a match was played between Crossgates Ladies and Garforth Ladies, and the former won by 3½ to 2½. Details (Crossgates names first):—Mrs E. Dawson 1 v. Miss Denby 0, Miss M. Johnson ½ v. Mrs Sandy ½, Miss Johnson 0 v. Mrs Tate 1, Mrs Wade 0 v. Miss D. Denby 1, Miss Rhodes 1 v. Mrs Kopped 0, Mrs H. Rhodes 1 v. Mrs Dobson 0.

UNIVERSITY TUTORIAL CLASSES.—A university tutorial class has been started at Crossgates, and it has a membership of about twenty-eight, including several prominent residents of Crossgates and Whitkirk. Literature is the subject chosen for the session, and the lecturer is Professor Moorman, of Leeds University. The meetings are held on Thursday evenings at the Co-operative Rooms, Crossgates.

MR F. W. SUTCLIFFE "OUTDOES."—Twice Mr F. W. Sutcliffe, of Manston, Crossgates (Chairman of Barkston Ash Liberal Association) has written to the War Office offering himself for service at the Front. Mr Sutcliffe, who is one of the best known chemists in Yorkshire, (Calgee) says that he could render valuable help in connection with the R.A.M.C., but the authorities evidently prefer younger men. On Wednesday morning Mr Sutcliffe, who is greatly disappointed that his services have not been accepted, received a letter from the War Office, stating that "there is no suitable appointment in the Royal Army Medical Corps which could be offered to you."

FORESTERS' CONCERTS.—A balance sheet in connection with the Foresters' concerts at Crossgates has been issued, it having been audited by Mr W. R. Bell, incorporated accountant, Halton and Leeds. As already stated, the members of the Court paid all the expenses connected with the effort, and the use of the halls, etc., was given free. The balance sheet shows that the gross receipts realised £56 2s., subscriptions amounted to £11 8s. 3d., programmes brought in £3 16s. 9d., and money taken at the doors totalled £41 6s. There was a balance of 9d. from the guarantee fund, and the total income was £72 13s. 3d., which has been paid over to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

GARFORTH

A large crowd of people gathered at the railway station on Tuesday night in anticipation of the arrival of Belgian refugees.

WHIST DRIVE.—On Wednesday evening a whist drive promoted by the Grange Tennis Club was held in the Council School. There were twenty-nine tables, and the gathering proved a very enjoyable one. The proceeds were for the War Distress Fund.

DRUNK ON SUNDAY.—On Tuesday at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions, Walter Wigglesworth, Main Heath, Bramham, both of whom were charged with having been drunk and disorderly. They were fighting at Garforth Bridge on Sunday, and both were fined 5s. including costs.

A VISITOR'S VOCABULARY.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday John Goughan, labourer, of Leeds, was charged with having been drunk and disorderly at Garforth at 9.30 p.m. on Friday. P.C. Brown said he found the prisoner in the Station Road, Garforth, making use of bad language about having been ejected from the Railway Station. A fine of 5s. and costs was imposed.

BELGIAN REFUGEES.—The Catholics of Garforth and Aberford have taken a Belgian family of 7 (father, mother, and 5 children) to provide for until the war ends. They will be conveyed from Leeds to Aberford in motor-cars. The Belgians were eye-witnesses of inhuman conduct by the Germans, and they now appear very thankful to live in peace withing Engd. On behalf of the committee, Miss D. Wordsworth (hon. sec.) and Miss Richardson (hon. treas.) thank all who have so kindly assisted in making the Belgians comfortable.

ACCIDENT.—A serious motor accident occurred on the York Road, near Tadcaster, on Sunday night. Harold Moore, a cycle dealer, of Garforth, was riding a motor-cycle in the direction of Tadcaster, when he collided with a motor-car belonging to Mr George H. Barton, of Falegates, Linton-on-Ouse, and driven by his chauffeur. The car was thrown broadside on to the machine, and was conveyed to Tadcaster, where it was found he had sustained a fractured thigh and a broken jaw. He was subsequently removed to the Leeds Infirmary.

TRESWH PIT.—The underground workmen employed at the Trench colliery held a pit-gate meeting on Monday afternoon to consider the question of subscribing to the West Riding Distress Fund. It was stated that as a result of the pit working so badly the men had not been in a position to contribute to the District Fund soonest, and would not be able to do so should the pit work less than four days a week. The following resolution was submitted to the meeting:—"That each man contribute 3d. per week and each boy 1½d. to the fund when the pit works four days or more, and if the pit works less than four days no contribution is to be made." This was carried.

RAILS.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday two Garforthians were summoned by the Garforth overseers for non-payment of the poor rate, and orders were made. Ten others were summoned by the Garforth Urban District Council for non-payment of the water rate, and a further thirty-two were summoned for the non-payment of the general district rate. Orders were made against them.

FOOTBALL.—On Saturday afternoon, at Oldfield Lane, Wortley, Leeds Senior League mates was played between Garforth and New Wortley Gasworks. The game was strenuously contested from the outset, the visitors making repeated attacks, which, Glancy did well to repel. Whitehead, the home right back, frequently broke up the combination of the two Pickersgills. Birch, and Tomlinson, and good shots from Ballance and Tomlinson were admirably dealt with by J. Glancy. At the other end, however, Backhouse was seldom called upon, the attacks of the homeforwards, mainly initiated by Millard and Broughton, rarely getting past Balmer and Stead. Near half-time Stead scored from a penalty, and this was the only goal of the match. Garforth won by one to nil.

GREAT PRESTON

A sum of £3 1s. has been sent to Leeds Infirmary from Great Preston Church.

HALTON

Mr William Fryer, of Gravelthorpe, Halton, left £6,038.

A sum of 10s., from ten little pupils, per Miss G. Fryer, Halton, has been sent to the Leeds Belgian Refugee Fund.

B.W.T.A.—The opening meeting of the season was held on Monday evening in the Wesleyan Schoolroom, and Mrs A. J. Wright presided. There was an excellent attendance. Miss Atkinson, of Leeds, gave an interesting address, in the course of which she had a straight talk to the girls present on having high ideals, and showing at this time that they too can be brave and courageous and thus be an encouragement and help to the young men volunteering for service. Miss Gilbert, of Manston, who was accompanied by Mrs F. Atkinson, sang beautifully, and was warmly encored for her second song "The link divine." A dialogue, "Jennie's Lesson," given by Mrs Twaddle, Wetherill, A. Taylor, G. Taylor, Heathcote, Westerman, and Master George Calvert, was much appreciated. Six new members were enrolled, and, after singing "God save the King," refreshments were served. The meeting was a very successful and enjoyable one.

KIPPAX

WESLEYAN CHURCH.—The Band of Hope in connection with this church held its meeting on Wednesday evening—Mr J. Goodall presiding. The meeting was well attended, and was addressed by Mr Thomas Coggan.

ELECTION.—Two candidates have been nominated for the vacancy in the representation of Kippax on the District Council, caused by the death of Mr Hewitt. The candidates are Mr George Carter (Liberal), Commercial Hotel, and Mr Alfred Townend, miner, Hopewell Terrace, Kippax.

WESLEY GUILD.—The Wesley Guild held its meeting on Wednesday evening when the new minister (the Rev. J. Ernest Rattey, B.Litgae) gave an excellent address on "Prospect and preparation." There were about 30 members present, and Mr W. H. Willkinson presided. A vote of thanks was accorded the speaker on the motion of Mr J. Goodall, seconded by Mr T. Butterworth.

MISCHIEVOUS LADS.—In the Children's Court at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Thomas Stevenson (13), errand lad; Baden Powell Shackleton (14), James Rhodes (13), William Firth (13), Thomas Steel (13), Fenton Rhodes (12), John Varley (13), screeners, of Kippax Coal Company, Oxley Owen (13), pony driver; George Firth (14), Arthur Thompson (14), and Thomas Henry Carter (13), screeners, of Allerton Bywater, were summoned for having done malicious damage to a tree in Kippax Park, John Plaxton Bower, of Kippax, was fined 10 15s. and on September 28th he saw the last four boys on the North Drive throwing stones at the chestnut trees. Subsequently he caught them, and drove them to the police. The summonses were dismissed on payment of costs.

FIGHTING THE GERMANS.—On Tuesday at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions Walter Collinson, a miner, of Kippax, was summoned for having been drunk and disorderly in High Street, Kippax, on Saturday, October 3rd, about 11.30 p.m. P.C. Gough proved the case, and said that when in the company of P. Milborough he heard the defendant shouting and making use of bad language. On going up to him defendant said, "I was only showing how to do for the Germans." He was a big man: Why don't you go to the Front and fight the Germans. Defendant: Me? No. I won't go to the Front, but I'll fight them when they come to Belgium. The Chairman: You would do more service fighting for your country. Defendant was fined 5s. and costs.

LEDSTONE

A sum of three guineas, collected at the harvest festival at the private chapel of Ledston Hall, has been sent to the Belgian Relief Fund.

MIDDLETON

A sum of £2, workmen's fines at Middleton Colliery, has been sent to Leeds Infirmary.

METHLEY

The Methley Infirmary and Friendly Societies' Committee have given £10 to Leeds Infirmary.

On Saturday afternoon Methley had a Senior Football League match with Thornhill Lees Albion, who were defeated by four goals to nil.

MICKLEFIELD

All the teachers of the mixed department of the Micklefield Church Day School have decided to contribute 2½ per cent. of their salaries towards the Prince of Wales' Fund each month as long as the war lasts. One guinea has been sent for last month's collection. The treasurer of the Barkston Ash Teachers' Association.

MOOR ALLERTON

The staff at Moorfield House, Moortown, have sent 11s. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

Four servants at The Garth, Moor Allerton, have sent 10s. to the Belgian Refugee Fund.

GOLF CLUB.—Excellent progress is being made with the new club house which is being erected for the Moor Allerton Golf Club. The architecture occupies quite a prominent position just off the Harrogate Road, not far from the Moorolley headquarters, though on the other side of the highway to the north. It will have a good approach for vehicular traffic in marked contrast to the conditions which prevail in connection with the existing club house. It will be found, too, that though the new building is at the extreme end of the course, it is no further from the Moortown tram service than the present structure.

OULTON

Oulton St. John's had a League match with Rothwell Wilfs. Rose A. on Saturday, and Oulton won by four goals to one.

BELGIAN REFUGEES.—Five Belgian refugees arrived at Oulton in the early hours of Tuesday morning, and were escorted to the Hall, where five were already in residence. The Oulton and ... Far Fund Committee have granted ... the use of the refugees for any incidental expenses.

ROBIN HOOD.

A sum of 10s. has been realised for the Leeds Belgian Refugee Fund by the sale of flags painted by the scholars of Thorpe Council School.

STOURTON

A MENDICANT.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday John Nichols, labourer, of no fixed abode, was charged with begging on the Wakefield Road, Stourton, on Sunday. P.C. Sowray proved the case, and Nichols was sent to prison for one month.

ROTHWELL AND DISTRICT DISTRESS FUND.

CARLTON WARD SUBSCRIBERS.

The following contributions have been made to the Rothwell and District Distress Fund, through the Carlton Ward Committee:—

	£	s.	d.
Mr Squire Dobson	2	2	0
Mr John Dobson	2	2	0
Mr Walter Keighley	2	2	0
Mrs. A. Young	1	1	0
Mr. George Armitage	1	1	0
Mr. Ed. Lunn	1	1	0
Messrs. Walker Hammill, Ltd.	1	0	0
Mr W. Denton	0	10	0
Miss Hammill	0	10	0
Mr T. Stevens	0	10	0
Mr John Keighley	0	5	0
Mr Clarkson	0	5	0
Mr Arnfield	0	5	0
Mr John Lunn	0	5	0
Mr R Marshall (Quzlewell Gr'n)	0	2	6
Mr P. Smithson	0	2	6
Mr C. Stainer	0	2	6
Mr Walter Scholey	0	2	6
Mr Morley Hopton	0	2	6
Mr Tom Lake	0	2	6
Mr Richard Marshall	0	2	6
Mr E. Hudson	0	1	6
Mr A. Breed	0	1	0
Mr Moore	0	1	0
Mr John Ward	0	1	0
Mr. John Haigh	0	1	0
Miss Martha Ward (weekly)	0	0	6
Miss Ann Ward (weekly)	0	0	6
Mr W. O. Shimmield (weekly)	0	2	6

GARFORTH WAR DISTRESS FUND

ADDITIONAL SUBSCRIPTIONS.

In connection with Garforth War Distress Fund the subscriptions already acknowledged amount to £146 17s. 0d. The following additional amounts have been received:—

	£	s.	d.
Underground workmen and boys, Sisters and Isabella Pits (6th contribution)	0	17	3
Garforth Council School teachers (1st contribution).
per Mr B. Chadwick	2	0	0
Mr H. M. Driver	1	10	0
Mr J. H. Breed	1	1	0
Mrs Breed	0	10	0
Councillor W. W. Hartley	0	10	0
Collection in box (per Mr Scrutchley)	2	0
Wm. Geo Bourne, Hon. Sec. and Treas.

BARWICK AND SCHOLES WAR DISTRESS FUND.

ADDITIONAL CONTRIBUTIONS

Collected by Messrs Birch and Murray (additional)

	£	s.	d.
Rev. R. H. Harvey	5	0	0
Mr. H. Grange	0	2	0
	£5	2	0

Collected by Mr Wm. Smith (Lotherick) —

Mr. J. R. Kirkham	0	10	0
Mr Wm. Smith	0	5	0
Mr H. Kirkham	0	2	6
Mr H. Trueman	0	2	6
M. J. K.	0	2	6
Anonymous	0	2	6
Mrs Robson	0	2	6
Mr C. Noble	0	1	0
Mr J. Harker	0	1	0
Mrs Acomb	0	1	0
Mr R. Bowe	0	1	0
Nip	0	0	6
Mrs Wilson	0	0	4
	£1	11	10

Mrs Wainwright, of Sherburn, has sent £1 to the Leeds Belgian Relief Fund.

Another young man from South Milford, Joseph Hill, has joined Kitchener's Army this week.

RENT AUDIT.—On Wednesday the half-yearly rent audit of the farm tenants upon the estates of Messrs. Walter Crosland, J.P. (Milford House), Wm. Crosland, J.P. (The Limes, South Milford), and Benjamin Crosland (London) was held at the White Swan Hotel, South Milford. The dinner was served by the host and hostess (Mr and Mrs Alfred Johnson) in their usual good style. The rest of the afternoon was spent in convivial manner.

WAR FUNDS.—On Tuesday evening a pie supper was provided in the Old Schoolroom, South Milford, the proceeds being in aid of the War Fund. It was rather a novel idea of someone, and the event proved to be a very successful one. People in the village gave presents of large meat pies, fruit pies, etc., and a charge of one shilling per bowl was made, and 77 folks did justice to the good things provided. Excellent coffee and tea were also provided, and a band of ladies attended well to the wants of the guests. Afterwards a concert was held, and the Rev. E. J. Barry, M.A. (rector) presided, and proposed a vote of thanks to all who had given the pies and other things. Dr A. H. Radcliffe seconded, and it was carried. Mrs Barry gave a recitation, and the Rev. Sandy Rountree (rector of Sherburn) contributed a reading and played selections in good style on the auto-harp. Miss Rhodes (Milford) played delightfully, and Miss Marie Bortott (South Milford) played selections on the pianoforte in excellent style. Messrs J. Wice (tenor) and P. Porter (bass), of South Milford, also gave their services during the evening's proceedings admirably. All the artistes were encored. Mr Harold Hill (the church organist) presided at the piano, and accompanied the songs in his usual skilful style. Mr R. Farrar Hill (Croft House) brought his gramophone, and it greatly helped in the amusement of the evening. Mr H. Hill played the English, Russian, French, and Belgian national anthems at the beginning of the concert, and they were greatly enjoyed.

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

SOLDIERS AND THEIR DEPENDENTS.

The fortnightly meeting of the Hunslet Board of Guardians was held at the Guardians' Offices, Hunslet, on Wednesday afternoon—Mr T. Thomas (Chairman) presiding. Others present were, Messrs J. Gavins (vice-chairman), J. Butterick, W. Schofield, T. G. Conyers, J. R. Chappell, W. E. Appleyard, E. B. Pickersgill, J. Bannister, H. L. Pulford, W. Lamb, W. Stead, G. W. Peace, H. Hemingway, J. W. Verity, Dr. E. Groves, Rev. T. Cody, and Mrs E. A. Dickinson, with the Clerk (Mr F. W. Mee).

CHILDREN'S HOMES

At a meeting of the Children's Homes Committee the Clerk submitted tenders for painting required to be done at the Homes, and it was resolved that the tender of Mr George Hemingway, of Rothwell, at £44 13s. 0d. be recommended for acceptance, and for sealing by the Board.

The Committee resolved that the Guardians be recommended to pay John Williams, shoemaker, at the rate of £10 per annum during his leave of absence for Army service at the war, and to resolved their former resolution to the contrary.

A letter was received from the Local Government Board in reply to the Guardians' enquiry, stating that they will be prepared in the course to consider favourably the question of authorising a grant in respect of the salary of the temporary industrial trainer in shoemaking.

The minutes were passed.

HOUSE COMMITTEE

At the meeting of the House Committee the report of the Farm Sub-Committee, with reference to the food supply to be grown next year, was submitted, in which it was recommended that 53 acres be planted with potatoes and 4 acres with cabbages, half the potatoes being planted on cabbage ground and vice versa.

It was resolved that the report and recommendations of the Farm Sub-Committee be approved and adopted.

The Committee had under consideration the application of the master and matron for an increase of salary on a reference from the Board, and it was resolved that the matter be deferred until the last meeting of the present committee.

The Committee had under consideration the Casual Paupers Order, 1914, on a reference from the Board, and it was resolved that margarine and shell cocoa be selected from the alternative supper and breakfast diets for vagrants over 12 years old.

It was resolved that the Yorkshire Vagrancy Committee be asked to make arrangements for all dinner meals to be provided at the bread stations. It was further resolved that the Clerk be instructed to write to the Boards of Guardians in the county urging them to support the request to the Vagrancy Committee.

The minutes were passed.

FINANCE COMMITTEE

At a meeting of the Finance Committee the Clerk reported a balance in hand of £4,317 4s. 3d. The Clerk also reported that the superannuation allowances due to Miss Scarrott, late superintendent nurse at the General Institution, was £40 5s. 0d. per annum, and it was resolved that the amount be granted.

Four candidates appeared before the Board for the post of superintendent nurse, and after each had been interviewed by the Guardians, Miss Dora Williams, the superintendent nurse at the Huddersfield Infirmary, was appointed.

SOLDIERS AND DEPENDENTS

A letter was read from the Pontefract Union asking for the Guardians' support of a resolution passed at the last meeting of the Board calling upon the Government to provide adequate support for dependents of soldiers and such as may be incapacitated in the war suggesting that a special tax be levied on all incomes of over 300.

Mr Lunn moved that the Board support the recommendation, and Mr Schofield seconded, and this was carried.

RECTOR OF ADEL AND RECRUITING.

The Rev. W. H. Draper, rector of Adel, writes:—It was whispered the other day that recruiting was hardly going so fast in Leeds as might have been expected. But it is a mistake to think that the men of the North can be scolded or nagged into becoming recruits.

An observant mind will see that they are moved differently. If he might use a homely illustration, they are something like what coke is in relation to coal. A coal fire is lit more easily and quickly and keeps alight longer, and is better for getting a great body of heat and one which will last coke is a fuel which it is hard to heat, if you have plenty of draught to start it and mix it with a little coal.

There is a chance for the poet to serve his country; let him fill the soil, let him blow a strong blast into the furnace. If he can do it well, his study of the psychology of man may prove to have been of use.

Miss Edith Elizabeth Tennant, of Cowthorn, Hilgett Lane, Oldthorn, left £1,078.

Mr Land, of Beech Hill, Aberford, has fitted up his Harrington residence, Aberford, as a hospital at his own expense. It is stated that wounded Belgian soldiers will be sent there.

Private William Thompson, 2nd King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, was killed in action in France on September 14th. Thompson, who was 21 and had been in the Army two years, was formerly an under-keeper for Major G. R. Lane Fox, M.P., of Bramham Park.

Two cottages at Bolton Percy have been lent by Mr C. F. Ryder for the housing of the Belgian refugees who have arrived in the village. The cottages, which are new ones, have every convenience provided for the type of tenants who have been furnished by the parishioners under the leadership of Mrs Crosthwaite, the wife of the Bishop of Beverley.

Colonel Gascoigne, Lotherton Hall, has lent his steam yacht Ulna, R.Y.S., to the St. John Ambulance and Red Cross Associations for the purpose of conveying stores of all descriptions to the military hospitals now established in France. On the return voyage to Southampton Colonel Gascoigne will bring back sick and wounded men to Netley Hospital.

RECTOR AND THE WAR.—The Rev. W. H. Draper, rector of Adel, says:—Perhaps the first and most impressive thing which war produces and reveals is the deep organic unity of a whole nation, race, or Empire. It is like a silent chord, being suddenly struck and made to sound. Till it sounds it is almost forgotten, its existence hardly suspected, like that of some underground wire connecting, let us say, London and Leeds. When war strikes it, it reverberates with one and the same note all over the living frame.

A BURGLARY AT ROTHWELL.

WELL-KNOWN TEACHER'S HOUSE ENTERED.

A GOOD HAUL—BOY'S DISCOVERY IN A FIELD.

A burglary was committed at Rothwell on Saturday night at the residence of Mr J. W. Daft, a well-known teacher at the Rothwell National School. The house, which is Mr Daft's own property, has just been erected, and stands in Churchfields, with the East and West Yorkshire Union Railway in the background, and some gardens in the front. The nearest occupied house is separated by two others in the course of construction.

The house was locked up about twenty minutes past four on Saturday afternoon by Mr Daft, who is a little later returned for his overcoat. At the same time, he mended both the fires in the sitting room and the kitchen, and everything then appeared to be as usual. Shortly after nine o'clock Mrs Daft returned home, accompanied by her father and her two children—a little girl and boy. As was usual, they went round to the back of the house, but the door was found to be bolted on the inside. However, they got into the house by the front door, which proved to be open. Inside the house everything was in confusion. All the rooms, save the drawing room, had been ransacked. Upstairs, all the drawers and cupboards had been emptied of their contents, while even the beds had been turned over in the hope of discovering some hidden treasure. The little boy's cot had not even escaped attention.

On a search being made, it was found that the burglar had made off with a quantity of jewellery, including gold rings, a gold watch, gold bangles and brooches, hat-pins, studs, etc., three five pound notes and a silver christening spoon, and a small metal "home-safe" belonging to the Rothwell Building Society and which the little girl had in her possession was also missing. A missionary box belonging to the church had been broken open and the contents taken. The thief had gone about his work in a systematic way. In order to gain an entrance he had first of all tried to raise the sash of the sitting room window, but this was fastened, and the catch would not yield. The small window of the kitchen had next been tried, but, as in the case of the sitting room window, the catch had held firm. Undaunted, he had gone to the coal house in search of some implement and there he found a hammer with which he smashed the window just below the catch, in such a manner as to be able to slip his hand in and put back the catch. The hammer was found upon the window sill, along with a small piece of wood which the house-breaker had used as a fulcrum for his chisel or knife in his effort to force the window. To clamber through the open window was but an easy task, and once inside the thief had gone straight to business.

As Mrs Daft and her father were approaching the house, the little girl, who was in front, said she thought she could see a light in the front room window, but no importance was attached to this at the time by Mrs Daft or her father, as it was thought the child had seen a reflection of the light from the street lamp at the corner, and which is but a few yards away. However, it is not unlikely that the child was not mistaken, the light being probably that of an electric torch, while another thing which renders it all the more likely is that this room was the only one that had not been ransacked. Evidently the thief had been surprised in his work, and was compelled to make a hasty retreat, which accounts for the front door being unlocked. Of course, the police were informed, and on Sunday a visit was paid to the premises by the Sykrack Police, and Detective Sergeant Dunn. So far no arrest has been made.

On Tuesday night two boys, who were playing in a field near by, found a bloodstained handkerchief and a box containing gold brooch, the latter being identified by Mrs Daft as some of the property which is missing.

SHERBURN PETTY SESSIONS.

At Sherburn Petty Sessions yesterday the magistrates present were Mrs. B. Hemsworth (Chairman), Mr. Walter Crosland, and Mr William Crosland.

The following rates were passed:—Fairburn, poor rate, 2s. 4d. and 1s. 2d., and special expenses, 4d.; Ledsham, poor rate, 1s. 8d. and 10d.; and Micklefield, poor rate, 1s. 11d. and 11½d.

Harriett Pennington applied for a temporary transfer of the license of the Anchor Inn, Barkston Ash, to Joseph Woolley.

Joseph Woolley, miner, Fairburn, was charged with having been drunk and disorderly on the 3rd inst in Main Street, Fairburn. P.C. Holmes stated the case. Defendant pleaded not guilty and said his son, Joseph William Woolley, who stated the defendant was at their house at 11.30. He was with him from 9 to 11.30 p.m. By Supt. Stafford—He could not say how the conduct was outside the street at 11.30 o'clock. By the Bench—Where they lived in a row of houses they were not in the street. By the Chairman—He did not seem drunk to him. Fined 1s. 6d. and 5s. 6d. costs.

FAMOUS HOUSE FOR
ENGAGEMENT RINGS
£1/1/ £3/3/ £5/5/ £10/10/ & to £100 each.
SEE WINDOWS
Diamonds
Dysons
BEST SELECTION IN THE COUNTY.
ESTABLISHED 50 YEARS.
24-25-26, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.
Watches
10/6 TO £50 GUINEAS.
THE "ROUGHWEAR" 15/-
THE "UNIVERSITY" 30/-
OLD WATCHES & JEWELLERY TAKEN IN EXCHANGE.
RELIABLE HOUSE FOR REPAIRS.

Russell & Russell, Ltd.
(Late A. C. WAINSTALL),
Complete House Furnishers and Piano Dealers,
201-3-5, North Street, LEEDS.
ILLUSTRATED BOOKLET and Easy Payment Terms sent on receipt of a Postcard.

EDMUND BOGG,
3, Woodhouse Lane, Leeds,
is the best shop for
PICTURE FRAMING, RE-GILDING, AND ARTISTS' MATERIALS.
Large Stock of Engravings & Etchings on Sale.

40 FOR 6d EGGS
COVERDALE'S Egg-Producing POULTRY POWDER
Is the best Poultry Tonic on the market, and its use guarantees WINTER LAYERS.
From none at all to 40 Eggs a week.
Flatton, near York.
Dear Sirs,—My hens had not laid a single egg for more than a month, but the 6d. packet of Poultry Powder you sent me has worked wonders. They are already laying 40 eggs a week, and increasing. I will certainly use it and recommend it.—Yours truly, J. LUND.
Sold in Packets 6d., 1s., and 2s. 6d., post free, including a 16-page booklet on "Profitable Poultry Keeping."
Coverdale's Poultry Powder, Ltd., York.
Agents—G. H. MOON, Grocer, etc., East Keswick, Wetherby; Alderton, Mercer, Crossgates, Tadcaster, South Milford, Barrogate, Boston Spa, Thorpe, and Boundary; W. H. DICKINSON, 158, Meadow Lane, Leeds; T. B. SMITH & SON, Garforth; Mrs. HIRST, High street, Tadcaster; G. HARGRAVE, Grocery Station; J. HIRST & Co., 275, Hunslet Road, Leeds; and TAYLOR'S DRUG Co.'s Branches.

ESTABLISHED 1871
Ison's Eye & Ear Dispensary
LIMITED.
71, GREAT GEORGE ST., LEEDS
MR. THOS. ISON,
OCULIST and AURIST.

THIS INSTITUTION WAS ESTABLISHED in 1871. The system of working is the provident one, each patient paying a small periodical fee whilst under treatment, and they may, therefore, justly expect to receive the prompt care and attention which in many instances in charitable institutions is too often omitted. The treatment is of a mild and safe character, whereby the use of the knife, Steel Drums, Ear Cornets or other mechanical or painful appliances. Another advantage appertaining to this dispensary is its system of treatment by correspondence, by which sufferers as long distances, and in isolated positions can have the advantage of MR ISON'S advice and remedies forwarded through the post. No one is undertaken unless there be a reasonable hope of cure or benefit to the patient.

Attendance at Leeds every Tuesday, from 2 to 7. On Alternate Saturdays, October 17th and 31st.

Hours 2 to 7. Other days by appointment.

TREATMENT WITHOUT OPERATION. ARTIFICIAL HUMAN EYES fitted from 15s. SPECTACLES and EYE PRESERVERS, 3/6 to 10/6. Gold Frames from 20s.

SPECIAL NOTE.—There are many cases of failing eyesight which can be speedily remedied by mild local treatment, thus dispensing with the use of glasses.

RECRUITING MEETING AT BOSTON SPA.

SPEECHES BY MR. G. R. LANE FOX, M.P., AND MR. E. H. FOSTER.

ADVICE TO MISGUIDED MOTHERS.

In the Trustees' Hall, Boston Spa, on Friday night, a very successful recruiting meeting was held for the purpose of swelling the ranks of the company going from the Boston district to do duty with the forces of the country. The meeting was one of a series arranged in the district by the Barkston Ash Conservative and Liberal Associations. In the unavoidable absence of the Lord Mayor of Leeds (Colonel E. A. Brotherton) the chair was taken by Mr R. H. Ramsden, and amongst those present were Major G. R. Lane Fox, M.P., the Hon. Mrs Lane Fox, Mr E. H. Foster, J.P. (prospective Liberal candidate for Barkston Ash), Major E. C. Meysey-Thompson, M.P., Mr Geo. Foster, Mr Geoffrey Jackson, Mr Sellers, Mr R. H. Oulton, Mr F. O. Simpson, Dr. Brigham, Rev. W. B. Bashy, Father Gosse, the Rev. R. G. Glennie, Mr R. H. Bayley, Mr I. J. Dewhirst, Mr F. W. Sutcliffe, Mr W. Day Metcalfe, Mr A. Deighton, Mr R. Lodge, Trooper F. Wilson, Leeds (of the Lancers, who was wounded in the battle of Mons), and others.

The Chairman said that when the war was commenced there was a great rally, but lately there had been a fall in the number of recruits coming forward, and the purpose of the meeting was to bring about a return to the previous state of affairs. Major Lane Fox had volunteered to serve at the front in Lord Helmsley's force, but had managed to snatch a short time from training in order to address that meeting.

Major G. R. Lane Fox, who was very cordially received, said he had come to say a few words to that hall to speak on various topics, generally political, but he was glad to think that at the present time they had entirely done away with politics. For the moment they were united in the opinion that all private interests should be subordinate to the paramount desire that the country should be defended and protected, and should come out on top in the hideous war which had been thrust upon them. The only politics that existed today was for or against the country. He wished it was in his power to ask some of the stalwart men of Boston Spa to join the squadron which he commanded; but he was sorry to say he could not, because they were packed to overflowing, and had had to turn away hundreds who wished to join. But he would say this—that if all the recruits were as capable as the splendid lot he had to deal with they would be a formidable force when they went abroad to serve their country. (Applause). But it was in his power to remind any of them of the proper age who felt at the bottom of their hearts that they ought to join, that a good many more were wanted, and that though the time was short there was still time for them to take advantage of a great opportunity which might never come to them again. There were many who could not go, and there were others who ought not to go, but apart from and beyond all that, there were still many who knew well that they ought to come forward. It was in the hope that some of those would be influenced that he was only too anxious to come there and speak to them as neighbour to neighbour and friend to friend. It was in the hope that those young men who might otherwise be ashamed they had not taken the opportunity would be saved from that shame that he made that appeal. Emphatically also could do a great deal by way of informing the young men that their employment would be kept for them, and by assisting any dependents who were left behind.

If the war was an ordinary war the claim of the country would be strong, but when it came to be a war such as this—to protect the freedom and the rights of every individual in this country; to protect the sanctity and inviolable character of treaty rights; to protect weak States against the strong; to defeat the brutal methods of the Germans which they thought had been dead and buried since the days of the Huns—it was surely still more the duty of every man who possibly could to lend a hand in the struggle. For years Germany had made every other nation submit to an enormous expenditure on armaments, and such a possibility as that must now be finally done away with. Germany had plunged Europe into a war with a brutality and a cynicism which would go down to posterity, and no one could think about that without realising that they had a magnificent cause to rally to, and a splendid cause to fight for. (Applause). The "contemptible little army" had set a magnificent example. (Applause). The pity was there were no more of them, and that was what they wanted now. They must never allow the possibility of such a crime being committed again. But it would require a gigantic effort on the part of the country. Major Lane Fox proceeded to advise the mothers not to be so misguided as to advise their sons not to join, because, probably with the best intention, they were doing the most selfish thing possible. After all, life was only a short thing, and what was the use of prolonging that life by a few shameful days, during which, at the back of all, would be the thought that there had been a shameful moment when the country called for them and they would not go. (Applause). Major Lane Fox concluded by moving the following resolution:—

This meeting, profoundly believing we are fighting for the vindication of rights of small States and the public law of Europe, pledges itself unswervingly to support into the last measures necessary to the prosecution of the war to victorious conclusion, whereby a long and lasting peace shall be secured.

Mr E. H. Foster, who had a cordial reception, seconded the resolution, and said he was glad to see that the idea was abroad that this war was going to be a very easy thing. They had not an easy thing on. They were in for a long and costly war, and they must not, for a moment, even contemplate the possibility of failure. But they would be contemplating the possibility of failure, or, at all events, such a contingency would be tantamount to failure, if they did not secure such forces as to be able to put in the field or send abroad something like a million men. But though they looked forward to a long and exhausting war, there were some important features which were very satisfactory from the point of view they had, for more than they could reasonably have expected, he thought, retained the command of the sea. (Applause). Another most encouraging feature was the wonderful pluck and endurance of the troops in the short time in which they had been engaged. (Applause). It was the wonderful spirit of putting up with anything that made the British soldier what he was. (Applause). In conclusion, Mr Foster referred to the remarkable support which had been given by the Colonies and India.

Trooper Wilson, who is a native of Malton, and was serving as a car conductor in Leeds when called up, in a brief, but pointed speech, appealed for recruits, and said they would be needed before the end of the war.

The resolution was also supported by Major Meysey-Thompson, and unanimously carried.

A large number of recruits were obtained.

Upwards of 35,000 British railway men, of whom 5000 belong to the North Eastern Railway, are serving with the colours.

Wm. Wade, a porter at Selby Station, was struck by a light engine and knocked down on the metals. He sustained a nasty cut on the side of the head, the injury necessitating medical treatment.

A scene occurred in York Theatre Royal on Saturday night, when the rollicking conduct of some young officers, who threw coppers on the stage, was openly resented by members of the "Merry and Bright" Company.

TADCASTER'S ROLL OF HONOUR.

MEN WHO ARE SERVING THE COUNTRY.

A roll of the Tadcaster men who are now serving the King and country in the Navy, Army, and Auxiliary Forces has been drawn up, and, although it is not complete, it shows what a splendid response has been made by the young men of the old town. The names of the men are:—

NAVY.

Bromet, Flight Lieutenant Geoffrey Rhodes, Westgate House; Lamb, Lieutenant Francis James Ongley, Inholmes; Atkinson, George A.B., Rosemary Row; Atkinson, John Henry, A.B., Rosemary Row; Bankes, Edward, stoker; Laycock, George, stoker, York Road Street; Cumberland, George, Lady Pits; Cumberland, Thomas, Lady Pits; Dolton, Stoker-Sergeant-Major Instructor William, Chapel Street; Dolton, Sergeant Henry, Chapel Street; Fowler, George; Gowthrop, F., Station Grove; Gill, Robert, Maltkiln Square; Hardy, Richard; Holland, E., Spring Hill; Hussey, Herbert, Hill Side; Hick, Percy, St. Joseph Street; Hodgson, Chesterby Road; Jackson, Horace, Westgate; Latham, Leslie, Bridge Street; Laycock, David, Hill Side; Rhodes, Claude; Shilton, Farrier Sergeant-Major, Hill Side; Spencer, George, Station; Weaver, Thomas, Bridge Street; and Weather, George, Whyte Terrace.

Reserve and Special Service—Appleby, H., 2, Reserve Square; Atkinson, Reuben, New Street; Banks, Charles, High Street; Bateson, Charles, Hill Side; Bailey, Henry, Hodgson Terrace; Chapman, J. J., The Banks; Crabtree, Herbert, St. Joseph Street; Crook, Frederick, Station Grove; Firth, Matthew, Lady Pits; Jennings, Corporal James, Lady Pits; Lowe, J. H., Station Grove; Lowe, J. F., Station Grove; Shoesmith, S., Rosemary Row; Swift, Luke E., St. Joseph Street; Taylor, H., Westfield Terrace; Waddington, E., The Cross; Weaver, John William; Wilson, William, Rosemary Row; and Wyatt, E.

Yorkshire Hussars—Riley-Smith, Lieutenant W., Toulston; Bleasdell, Fred, Hodgson's Terrace; Colley, Frank, Egerton Lodge; Hebden, John, Willow Farm; Hulley, Frank, Westfield Terrace; and Tirrell, Richard.

Territorials and Lord Kitchener's—Abrahams, W. W., Hill Top; Ambler, John Henry, Station Grove; Ambler, Thomas Edward, Station Grove; Atkinson, Arthur, Station; Atkinson, E., Station Street; Atkinson, H., Chapel Street; Atkinson, J., Chapel Street; Banton, J. H., Hill Side; Bean, George H., 12, Chapel Street; Benn-Bennett, Herbert, Chapel Street; Benson, George, and William, Chapel Street; Benson, George, Wighill Lane; Berwick, William, Sandfield Terrace; Bilton, Frank, Rosemary Row; Birdsall, Stanley, Westfield Terrace; Herbert, St. Joseph Street; Bownton, Fred, Chapel Street; Bradley, Horace, F., Station Road; Bradley, Harold, Station Road; Beasley, Walter, Station Road; Brown, Arthur, Westfield Terrace; Carr, Lionel Goodwin, Kirkgate; Cumberland, Charles David, Chapel Street; Cumberland, George, Chapel Street; Dennison, Fred, Hampole Villas; Dixon, T. R., Station Road; Evans, T., Westfield Terrace; Fairclifle, H., Church Fenton; Firth, Edward John, Railway Cottages; Foulkes, Henry, Headlough Manor; Franklin, Alfred, Commercial Street; Fraser, Hugh, Wighill Lane; Freer, John Henry, Chapel Street; Garbutt, Henry, York Road; Gerbutt, John W., Spring Hill; Gill, R., Hill Top; Gordon, Edgar Henry, High Street; Graham, Frank, Westgate; Haines, William, Spring Hill; Harland, John; Harrison, Victor, Wighill Lane; Hartley, George, Ivy Cottage, York Road; Hartley, T. H., Chapel Street; Hemsoken, John, St. Joseph Street; Hepworth, John Stones, Westgate; Hewitt, Arthur, Ouston Road; Hill, Charles, Toulston; Hill, G. W.; Hoeny, Arthur Frederick, Station Grove; Holford, Edgar, The Crescent; Iredale, E., Hodgson's Terrace; Jackson, Norman, High Street; Jakeman, William, St. Joseph Street; Jolly, Herbert E., Grimston Street; Kilson, Corporal John, Chapel Street; Kilson, William, Kirkgate; Laycock, Edwin, York Road Terrace; Liddley, Maurice, Hodgson's Terrace; Lofthouse, Alfred, Kirkgate; Lofthouse, Herbert, Station Grove; Lofthouse, Alfred Edmund, Station Grove; Lowe, Reuben W., Station Grove; Mapplebeck, Harry, Hodgson's Terrace; Marshall, H., The Banks; Mason, Fred, Spring Hill; Mellor, H. H., Chapel Street; Metcalfe, John, Sandfield Terrace; Morton, Tom, Hill Top; Mulrooney, H., Golden Lion Yard; Parkinson, E. F., Kirkgate; Peach, William, Commercial Street; Pickering, Sergeant H. E., York Terrace; Pickering, J., all Kirkgate; Pitts, J., Chapel Street; Powell, James, Lady Pits; Pratt, James, Westfield Terrace; Rhodes, Claude, Tower House; Ruckingham, G., Islington; Sagar, L., Commercial Street; Simpson, Hovell Guy, Ouston Lane; Simpson, E., Simpson, William, Rosemary Row; Smith, Percy, Westfield Terrace; Stead, J., Leeds Road; Stoddard, Staff-Sergeant J. W., Dawson's Yard; Swann, Charles R., Chapel Street; Taylor, Francis James, Station Road; Taylor, Fred, The Banks; Thompson, Harold, York Road; Ward, Robert, Ged; Linton Farm; West, H., Chapel Street; Wilson, E., York Road; Wilson, H., Wighill Lane; and Yendon, J., Golden Lion Yard.

BARKSTON ASH FOOTBALLERS WITH THE COLOURS.

Among the players and members of the various clubs in the Barkston Ash Division who have gone serving their country are the following:—

Barkston—H. Metcalfe (secretary), Barkston Ash Association), and E. Griffiths and E. Hubbard, R.A.M.C.; T. Evans (hon. sec. Wesleyden Valley), and A. Worrs, 9th Lancers; J. Weaver and H. Corcoran, Naval Reserve; E. Hill and J. W. Garbutt, Leeds Pals' Battalion; A. Cliffe, Leeds Rifles; and Hussars; J. Atkinson, 4th West Yorkshire Territorials; J. Nettleton and F. Mason, Kitchener's Army; H. Jackson, A.S.C.; E. Jolly, Army Medical Corps; and J. Whitkirk.—H. L. Firth (hon. sec.), W. Cuttle, G. Coultas, C. Brook, Leeds City Battalion; C. Coultas, Royal Field Artillery; F. Wright, C. Carroll, G. Gascoigne, G. Barraclough, King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry.

Aberford.—A. Inman, C. Scott, F. Richardson, F. Scott, J. Inman, A. Reid, Territorials; W. Rock, Yorkshire Hussars.

Church Fenton.—Ernest Holt, Fred Eden, Wilfred Fawcett, John Fawcett, William Andrews, 5th West Yorkshire; Joe Pilling, Yorkshire Hussars.

Wetherby.—Corinthians.—W. Wiggins, Northumberland Fusiliers; G. Miller and G. Tomlinson, 4th Lincolns; A. Hodgson, G. Kitchen, C. Winterburn, J. Adkin, E. Telford, and F. Atkinson, 5th West Yorkshire; G. Brown, H. Wiseman, W. Hill, T. Beasley, H. Grayson, J. Nowins, and F. Byrom, Kitchener's Army.

Walton.—E. Gaythorpe, Yorkshire Hussars; S. C. Mellor, and W. Mellor, National Reserve; and Harold Johnson.

A BARKSTON ASH SOLDIER KILLED.

SELBY MAN'S WONDERFUL ESCAPE.

Mr A. R. Swift, of Selby, and formerly of Halton, has received the sad news that one of his sons, Driver Ernest Swift, of the 112th Battery, Royal Field Artillery, serving at the front, has been killed in action.

A communication from the War Office states that he was killed on the 14th September. Driver Swift had served his full term in the Army and reserve. He leaves a wife and three children.

Mr A. R. Swift has two other sons serving in the Forces. The youngest son, who is only 18 years of age, is aboard with the 1st Lincolns, and another son, Sergeant Thomas Wm. Swift, is in the Selby Company of Territorials at Strensall Camp.

The first wounded Selby soldier to reach home from the Front is Private William Bulmer, a Reservist, of the 1st West Yorkshire Regiment. He was wounded during the Battle of the Marne, a bullet entering the left side of his neck and emerging on the right side. He had a truly marvellous escape from death. For some time he was paralysed in both arms, but is regaining the use of the left arm.

The wounds healed nicely in hospital, and he has been sent home to recuperate. He is one of three sons of a well known Selby family serving in the Army. One is in the Army Service Corps, and the third in the East Yorkshire Regiment. The latter is the youngest of the present time at the front and is only 19 years of age.

Private W. Bulmer stated that his own battalion was hotly engaged, and made three gallant charges in the neighbourhood of Soissons.

On each occasion the Germans turned tail without awaiting the British. A turned tail without awaiting the British. A German battalion was captured through sympathy in their ranks for the wounded. It was the enemy's abuse of the white flag. The regiment suffered many casualties owing to the French on the right giving ground. This allowed the Germans to direct a cross fire upon them, but towards night the enemy was driven back.

YORKSHIRE LAND VALUERS' ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Yorkshire Land and Tenant Right Valuers' Association was held at the Royal Station Hotel, York, Mr John Jefferson Butler, Harforth, presiding.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, Mr J. W. Dacre (Oxley); vice-presidents, Mr M. English, Otley; vice-presidents, Mr G. Scarborough, Elland; committee, Mr Wm. Wood, East Lilling; Mr J. W. Bentley, Knottingley, and Mr R. S. Bilton, Dewsbury; auditor, Mr J. W. Bentley; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr J. C. Bartle.

A vote of condolence was passed with the widow and family of the late Mr Robert Barton, Pannal, who was a vice-president of the association.

A grant of 25 guineas from the funds of the association was voted for distribution as follows: to guineas Belgian Relief Fund, to guineas to the "Times" Fund for Motor Ambulances, and 5 guineas to the Prince's Relief Fund.

The secretary was instructed to forward a resolution to the Board of Agriculture and Fisheries in the following terms:—

Pensions under the Board to act as single arbitrators under the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1908, must be members of the County Tenant Right Valuers' Association.

Various other subjects of interest to the profession were discussed, and the members subsequently dined together under the presidency of Mr Barkle, the guests present being Aldermen Arthur Hawley (Castleford) and Mr P. S. Marsden (Whitkirk).

On Saturday afternoon Stourton United were defeated by Glasshoughton by four goals to one.

Sprink Farm stock in auction mart to-day Messrs Richardson and Son disposed of 61 beasts, 10 sheep, and 76 pigs. A smaller supply of cattle in the yard buyers were present, but trade was slow and dragging throughout, good beef making 8s. 9d. to 9s. per stone, and woody trade fee pigs at fully per stone. The sheep shown were not sufficient for local requirements. Prices as follows:—Fat bullocks up to £22 10s. per head; fat cows up to £21 10s.; store cattle up to £13 15s.; heifers in calf up to £18, heifers in milk up to £20; fat sheep 8s. 6d., bacon pigs up to £8 7s. 6d., pork pigs up to £6 2s. 6d., small store pigs up to 12s. 6d. each.

A MORLEY CASE OF TUBERCULOUS GLANDS CURED.

37, Commercial Street,
Morley,
Nr. Leeds, 16th July, 1913.

Mr Croswaite,

Dear Sir,—

I beg to write you a line to express our thankfulness for the splendid cure you have made of our son.

We had almost given up in despair the idea that his fine voice would ever be again, but thanks to your treatment, during the time he took under your care, we could see with a week a great improvement, and now the wonderful have completely disappeared.

I am sure we are more than satisfied and our only regret is that we did not come to you twelve months sooner.

I shall always feel proud to recommend any similar case to you.

Yours truly,
WM. D. HOLROYD.

SKIN SPECIALISTS
MEDICAL HERBALIST
PROF. CROSSWAITE
64, KIRKSTALL Rd. Leeds
MODERATE CHARGES Free Advice

£10 REWARD.—This Reward will be paid by Mr. J. Crosswaite to the first person giving information leading to the conviction of a certain unscrupulous person at present calling upon householders in his name, and offering for sale Recipes, Medicines, Pills, Ointments, etc., falsely representing the same to have been prepared by Mr Crosswaite.

Information may be lodged at the nearest Police Station or Detective Office, Town Hall, Leeds, or Mr. J. Crosswaite, 84, Kirkstall Road, Leeds.

GERMAN PRISONERS FOR LOFTHOUSE PARK.

ROTHWELL COUNCIL AND A WATER SUPPLY.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR POSSIBLE TYPHOID CASES.

GERMANS FROM TOGOLAND.

The monthly meeting of the Rothwell Urban District Council was held at the Council Offices, Rothwell, on Monday night—Mr J. Hirst (Chairman) presiding. Other members were Messrs G. W. Blakey (vice-chairman), T. P. Wade, J. Armitage, S. R. Chadwick, H. Gordon, H. Kirkby, J. Ellis, R. McCullagh, W. Wade, W. Lamb, W. Speak, W. Robinson, S. Dobson, with the Clerk (Mr W. Dodgson), the medical officer of health (Dr. H. Stevenson), the surveyor (Mr J. Southward), and the sanitary inspector (Mr E. F. Moorhouse).

HIGHWAYS COMMITTEE.

At a meeting of the Highways Committee it was resolved that the work in connection with Stye Bank Lane be proceeded with, the cost not to be met out of revenue, and that arrangements be made with Mr Farrer as to the purchase of land. It was also resolved that the surveyor prepare a plan showing the amount of land required on three sides of Whitehall Field, for the widening of Oulton Lane, Gilbert Lane, and Bridge, and Woodlesford Road, to a minimum width of 45 feet, and send same to Mr Farrer as requested.

At a further meeting of the committee Mr Scholey attended the committee with evidence that a boundary wall standing in front of his property at Carlton, and it was resolved that Messrs Hueper and Kirkby, with the surveyor, meet Mr Scholey to settle the question. The surveyor reported that the area of land in the Whitehall improvement, including that of the existing buildings, was 1 rood 3 perches. It was resolved that the surveyor write Mr John Dobson that the Council are prepared to deal with the proposed improvement at the terms that the Council make use of the existing materials, he to take away only such material after the job is finished as the Council elect it away. A letter was read from Mr Dobson asking for the paving of High Park Terrace. The Clerk was instructed to inform him that this could be included in an improvement which had been submitted to the County Council. The surveyor reported that the county surveyor had reported that the Leeds and Bramsdale paving at Stourton, Johnsonh wages to be paid to the men employed on the same as before, and Counack to report that he had Johnson. The surveyor reported that he had inspected the footpath through the Long Pastures with Mr Hirst, and that the terms offered by Mr Dale appeared satisfied that it forms part of Major Calverley's estate. It was resolved that in pursuance of Section 18 of the Public Health Act, 1892, amended specifications, plan, estimate, and provisional apportionment be prepared for the making of a footpath, flagged footpath, and kerbing the same to the frontagers of the property to be benefited, the question amended apportionment, and the necessary steps to be brought up at the next meeting. Letters were received from the Tramway Co. promising to consider the question at the next meeting.

Mr Armitage asked for the cost of the improvement of Stye Bank, and whether the work was to be done by day work or by contract.

Mr Lunn replied that the cost would be £240. The scheme left out Whitehall Field, and the question of how the work should be done had not been considered.

The minutes were passed.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Mr T. P. Wade moved the minutes of the Finance Committee, which showed that it was resolved that a suitable vacuum cleaner be got for the offices, and that tenders be obtained for a new typewriter. The Council was asked to make a return showing what steps they had taken to ascertain if any of the new clause was contained in any of their contractors (a) in contracts dated with the Council, and (b) in contracts with other persons.

The minutes were passed.

SANITARY COMMITTEE.

The minutes of the Sanitary Committee showed that complaints were made of scarcity of water at Langley and Lofthouse, and the developments at Lofthouse Park. It was resolved that the Water Committee be recommended to apply at once to the Stanley Urban District Council for a supply of water. It was also resolved that in view of the offer of the County Council to increase the grant from £50 to £100 per annum, the agreement for this Council to pay Miss Sunley £100 a year for the combined work of public health and relief of the poor be confirmed. The medical officer reported that at the request of the Local Government Board an arrangement had been made whereby all cases of infectious disease arising at Lofthouse Park would be immediately notified to the Rothwell area would be notified to the authorities at Lofthouse Park. It was resolved that a fee of 2s. 6d. be paid to Dr. Stevenson for his services. It was decided to leave the matter over for another month. It was resolved that notices to quit had been served on the tenants of the Whitehall's houses in Carlton, where closing orders had been made, to quit the premises. The agent of Mr Steadl's houses at Carlton to attend the next meeting. It was resolved that £30 be voted for the distribution of disinfectants. It was also resolved that a ventilating shaft be put at the top of Copley Lane and the bottom of Bridge Lane, and a manhole at the top of Leadwell Lane be fixed. The committee decided to adopt the proposals of Mr Dobson to erect privies for prisoners in Lofthouse Park, and offer to pay part of the cost if water closets are substituted.

The minutes were moved by Mr Chadwick.

GERMANS AT LOFTHOUSE PARK.

With regard to the question of prisoners at Lofthouse Park, the Chairman read a letter from the military authorities dated October 9th, asking for information as to whether the Rothwell Urban District Council would be in order for the weekend, as the prisoners were expected to arrive on Saturday next. Monday would be a guard would arrive on Friday, while it had been decided to make water laid on to the camp on Saturday next. The letter and Mr Hirst said he had had an interview with the medical officer of the guard to meet the Council that evening.

A letter was read from the Royal Engineers' Office at Sheffield stating that when a visit was paid to the engineers stationed at the Park on October 8th, the officers complained of a shortage of water, making it impossible for them to wash. The men themselves had had no breakfast, as making tea was out of the question.

The surveyor, in stating the position in regard to the supply, said that at present the main was being scraped, and it would not be until a week on Wednesday that the work would be finished. The shortage referred to in the last Council meeting had not ended.

Mr Chadwick asked why they could not Mr Chadwick asked why they could not arrange with Stanley to connect a main with Lofthouse Park, and so give them a separate supply. If the Council undertook to supply the Park from the present main, Lofthouse would have no water.

Mr Armitage said he had no objection to the Council trying to arrange terms with Stanley providing they were reasonable.

Mr Kirkby drew attention to a paragraph in the minutes relative to the hospital, and said he was glad that they were going to see to her ordinary wants. He did not think it necessary to continue duties if she was to undertake the visiting of schools.

The Chairman said that the health visitor had a set of clear instructions as to her duties, which he did not think would interfere with her ordinary work.

Mr Kirkby said that his point was that on the previous week the visitor went to the Robin Hood School and examined each child.

Mr Chadwick asked what was the good of spending money in the erection of a hospital if the nurse was to do this. Often they had cases of people who were sent to the hospital as scarlet fever cases when they had not the infection, and on the other hand cases where people mixed day after day with others when they had the fever.

Mr Lunn remarked that there were only two cases of fever in the district, as there was room for them.

At this stage Dr. Lowe, representing the military authorities, attended the meeting. His first question was as to whether the Rothwell Council could assure them of being able to take care of typhoid and typhoid into their isolation hospital should the necessity arise.

Dr. Stevenson said he had conferred with the Urban Council, and they were quite prepared to take in as many cases as they could.

Dr. Lowe said the question of the water supply had arisen from the German Colonies—German Togoland. Each prisoner would be medically examined upon arrival, and if found necessary to the supply of water to the Park, Dr. Lowe was informed of the effort to get Stanley to fix up a main, and it was decided to ask the Council's surveyor meet the doctor on the following day and inform him of the result.

The Chairman moved the doctor of the Council's desire to do their best for the military authorities.

Dr. Lowe expressed his appreciation and thanks on behalf of the authorities.

HEALTH OF THE DISTRICT.

The medical officer presented his report for the month, and it showed that there had been 21 cases of scarlet fever, 11 cases of typhoid, seven cases of diphtheria, and two cases of erysipelas. Of those fourteen patients had been removed to the hospital, while during the month eighteen had been discharged, leaving twenty-three Rothwell cases still in the institution. During the same period the births numbered twenty-nine (fifteen males and fourteen females). The deaths totalled twenty-six.

Mr Lunn asked if there was any explanation of the statement of Mr Chadwick, and that the Council should be informed of the cause.

Dr. Stevenson replied that they came across very many cases of scarlet fever from earlier fever cases, about for about three weeks before they were discovered.

WATER COMMITTEE.

The minutes of the Water Committee showed that the average daily consumption of water in the district was as follows:—Rothwell 171,000 gallons, Carlton 34,000 against 46,000, 50,000, Stourton 54,000 against 46,000, 50,000. The report of Mr Brooke on the water supply to the district from Leeds and Ardsley were considered. It was resolved that the 4 inch main in the Leeds and Wakefield Road from the cricket field to the end of the main beyond Lofthouse Park Farm, and the 5 inch Lofthouse Park Farm, and the 5 inch Lofthouse Park to the Thorpe reservoir to Mrs Gould's be scraped and lined with cement, and that a quote be obtained. The main in Haigh immediately and adjacent to the Rothwell Workhouse be scraped, and Mr Brooke's suggestion to turn the Ardsley water from Haigh to Carlton and on to Lofthouse, shutting off 6 inch and 4 inch on the main to Carlton, and the main at Cooper's farm is to be adopted. The Clerk was instructed to inform the War Office that the main to Lofthouse Park was being scraped at once, and to suggest that they should put a larger service direct in the Leeds City boxes. It was decided to ask the Leeds City Council to consent to a meter being placed on the 8 inch main at Thwaite Gate, which would allow the Council to be used. It was resolved that the application of the Yorkshire Electrical Power Co. for an overhead cable across the fields on the west side of the Leeds and Wakefield Road opposite Lofthouse Park, and to continue the cable under the Leeds and Wakefield Road to Lofthouse Park be sanctioned. It was decided that the provision of meters be deferred to next meeting, and that before the proposed alterations to the Thwaite John O'Gaunt's be approved. It was also resolved that the fire appliances at Stourton be tested by the firemen.

Letters were read from Mr Summers, of Lofthouse, and Mr J. D. Lees, in regard to shortage at Lofthouse and Langley.

The minutes were passed.

LIGHTING.

At a meeting of the Lamps and Gas Committee the meter readings were considered, the monthly consumption being Rothwell gas 294,000 cubic feet, and Leeds gas 54,000. An application was made by the Thorpe Ratepayers' Association for 3 lamps at the end of Ashfield Terrace, Belmont Terrace, and Lofthouse Lane. Mr Armitage undertook to view and report. Mr McCullough reported that the deputation had met the Rothwell Gas Committee, who foreshadowed a reduction in the price of gas all through the district in the near future. They offered, if the committee would adopt all-night lighting in November, December, and January, to reduce the price of gas 2d. per 1,000 feet during those months. It was resolved that all-night lighting be adopted for three months.—Mr McCullough said that the Gas Company had said they would when the war was over consider a general reduction not only for the three months but throughout.

The minutes were passed.

THE WEEK'S MARKETS.

CORN.

SELBY, Monday.—More corn on offer, and a better attendance of dealers, with an improved demand. Wheat 34s. to 38s., secondary demand. Wheat 34s. to 38s., secondary demand. Oats 35s., malting barley 29s. to 32s., oats 21s. to 23s. 6d., rye 29s. to 30s. per qr.

PROVISIONS.

SELBY, Monday.—Eggs 6 and 7 for 18.; butter 1s. 3d. per lb.; chickens 3s. 6d. to 4s.; ducks 5s. per couple.

POTATOES.

SELBY, Monday.—Little offering, due to the small prices, and a dull trade. Farmers are generally taking up crops while the fine weather lasts in readiness for Martinmas. Up-to-dates and, Eclipse 40s. to 42s. 6d., sand Kings 35s. to 37s. 6d., sharps 50s. to 55s. per ton, retail 2s. 3d. to 2s. 6d. per hamper.

SEEDS.

SELBY, Monday.—Little offering, due to the small prices, and a dull trade. Farmers are generally taking up crops while the fine weather lasts in readiness for Martinmas. Up-to-dates and, Eclipse 40s. to 42s. 6d., sand Kings 35s. to 37s. 6d., sharps 50s. to 55s. per ton, retail 2s. 3d. to 2s. 6d. per hamper.

CATTLE.

GARFORTH AUCTION MART, Monday.—Mr W. Ash had a short supply of fat cattle, and a good show of sheep. An average attendance of butchers was present, and a brisk trade engaged taking up crops while the fine weather lasts in readiness for Martinmas. Up-to-dates and, Eclipse 40s. to 42s. 6d., sand Kings 35s. to 37s. 6d., sharps 50s. to 55s. per ton, retail 2s. 3d. to 2s. 6d. per hamper.

TADCASTER, Monday.—At this auction mart to-day Messrs Thornton and Sad had forward a fairly good show of well-finished stock; the attendance of butchers and dealers was not up to the average, and trade ruled about late up to the average, and trade ruled about late and slow, most making from 8s. 6d. to 9s. per stone, very choice making to 9s. 3d. per stone, very choice making to 9s. 3d. per stone. Sheep met a good demand, making 9½d. to 10d. per lb. Pork pigs good to sell, making from per lb. Pork pigs good to sell, making from 8s. to 8s. 6d. per stone. Bullocks made 8s. to 8s. 6d. per stone. Bullocks made 8s. £31 10s., £31 15s., and £32; seven good bullocks from Mr C. Gypson, of Grimston, made £23 15s., £24 5s., £21 15s., £21 5s., £22 £23 15s., £24 5s., £21 15s., £21 5s., £22 £23 15s., £24 5s., £21 15s., £21 5s., £22 and £19 7s. 6d.; four good bullocks from Mr J. Swalley, of Heslington, made £22 17s. 6d., £22 5s., £22 7s. 6d.; two bullocks from Misses Ismay, of Escrick, made £22 10s. each; two bullocks from Mr R. Ramsden, of Oxton Hall, made £23 2s. 6d. and £21 15s.; three bullocks from Mr J. Dunnington, of Heslington, made £21 15s., £21 15s., and £21; seven good bullocks from Mr C. Gypson, of Grimston, made £23 15s., £24 5s., £21 15s., £21 5s., £22 £23 15s., £24 5s., £21 15s., £21 5s., £22 and £19 7s. 6d.; four good bullocks from Mr J. Swalley, of Heslington, made £22 17s

[ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.]

THE DOUBLE CHANCE.

By J. S. FLETCHER

Author of "The Threshing Floor," "Wi... Charles I. Was King," "Daniel Quayle," "The Pindell."

CHAPTER XXIV.

From the feeling of half-wild and primitive joy which impelled the Mannerseley folk to give their favourite the heartiest of demonstrations on his release, their entire community was suddenly brought face to face with the conviction of awful tragedy and sorrow. Those men who a moment before had been shouting and yelling at the top of their voices, grew strangely silent, and turned to look at each other with white faces; the women on the fringe of the crowd who had been laughing and waving their hands at the two convicts on the court house steps began to scream and weep, and in the case of those whose men had gone down with the Lusitania, to develop hysterics. For a full two minutes everything around the court, which, as the principal building in the mining village, stood in the open space in the centre of the main street, was a scene of confusion, of women's cries, of men's hoarse voices, of excited questionings. And then, as with a common impulse, everybody there, high and low, old and young, set off, a motley mass of humanity, —pushing, struggling, exclaiming—for the pithead, over which still hung the great sun-coloured cloud of smoke, out of which the telltale flame and flash of the explosion had died away as suddenly as it had occurred.

If anyone there had had time to think he would have noticed the horrible contrast between the calm pitilessness of Nature and the terror-striking aspects of the situation. It was a glorious summer morning—a morning which had made Phillips' heart, naturally light and buoyant, dance, in spite of all her recent troubles, so full was it of life and the gladness of the blue sky above the old Phillips which surrounded the ancient Castle the rooks were circling and eddying in a cloudless sky of June; on the south side of the valley birds were singing and insects humming in an abandon of delight at the warmth and brightness of summer. The long and formal rows of miners' cottages, stretching down from the main street to the river, seemed to take some shadow of new colouring from the sun; in them such children as were not at school were playing merrily. Everything looked bright that morning—the majority of the men had evidently meant to make holiday, and had donned their best clothes and their brightest neckerchiefs; the women had laughed and chatted at their doors. But now, with that awful pillar of slowly-drifting smoke hanging over the giant shafting of the colliery, the brightness and gaiety had gone, and in their place was nothing but fear and desolation, and the mind-tearing horror of uncertainty.

Phillips's motor-car was standing near the court-house, and before she fully realised what was happening she found herself in it, with Clinton at her side, and Inspector Cortelyou on the opposite side, speeding away in the direction of the pit-yard. On all sides men, women, and children were hastening in the same direction.

It was with difficulty that Phillips refrained from bursting into tears as the motor swung round into the pit-yard. The folk who lived nearest to the colliery had naturally streamed towards it at the first alarm, and had made for the shaft, from which point their own sense of order and fear of impeding rescue measures now kept them off. They stood in crowded ranks, which were momentarily added to as fresh contingents came hurrying in, and over them had fallen a silence that seemed worse than loud outcries of grief. They gazed at the motor and its occupants with eyes which seemed to see nothing as the driver made his way to the engine-house—at any other time they would have greeted Phillips and her cousin with a rousing cheer. And as the motor stopped and its occupants got out, some of the women rushed forward and seized the young mistress's arms as they could lay hold of her—by her hands, her sleeve, her gown.

"Oh, Miss Phillips, my man's down—and he only wed a month, Miss!" Oh, Miss Phillips, get 'em to do something!"

"Oh, miss, there's my husband and the three lads all down—all! Have in the world!"

Quinton firmly but kindly pushed the women aside, and hurried Phillips towards the door of the engine-house.

"Now, my good souls, let Miss Mannersley through," he said. "We'll do everything we can to get the men up—don't interfere with us —let us get to work."

Clinton sprang back on the car which they had just left, and, taking off his cap, faced the people, who at sight of him became as quiet as a flock of sheep.

"Now, lads and lassies!" he said, his voice ringing far out across the pit-yard. "There's one thing for you to do—keep your hearts up! We'll have a rescue-party down in no time, and Mr. Quinton and I are going down with it. We'll not be the first men to go down and lad out safe and sound; and if we can't—well, then Heaven's will be done. Show yourselves brave men and women!"

Then he turned and ran for the engine-house, where Quinton had already joined Phillips, and was busily talking to an anxious and white-faced knot of officials, who were pouring in upon him disjointed scraps of information.

"There'll be about five hundred down—maybe a few less, sir!

"It must have been in one of the far workings—the shaft's clearing now."

"The running-gear's all right—we can get down."

Quinton gathered up every scrap of news as it fell, and sent one man here, another there. The entire staff began to bustle about, and Quinton turned to Phillips and the young Baronet.

"We'll be able to get down soon," he said. "I'll pick out the most likely men as volunteers—every man in the yard would go, given the chance."

"I'm going," said Clinton.

The manager looked at him with a keen glance, and then at Phillips. Her eyes telegraphed her answer back to him.

"Yes!"

Quinton, as in a flash, knew what she was thinking. This was the right thing to do—this act of heroism would wipe out all Clinton's shortcomings, his youthful escapades. He knew, then that Phillips loved Clinton, and that his own cause was hopeless, and he admired her all the more because she was courageous enough to let the man she cared for go, in certain danger of possible death.

"All right," he said. "I'll see about things."

And he hurried on, leaving Phillips and Clinton alone. The officials in the engine house were busied in various ways—the cousins stood apart in a corner looking on upon the anxious, patient crowd outside. And suddenly they turned and looked at each other.

"Phillips," said Clinton, "you never doubled me!"

"Never for one moment, Clinton," she answered.

"I knew it would come right," he said. "It's been like an awful dream, these last three years. But—it will be right now?"

"Yes," she said. "It's over—now."

Then she suddenly had a vision of the black depths far below, of what had gone on there so few, few minutes before, of what might be going on there now; of men, dying, horses lying dead or dying in the poisonous, curling vapours; and she suddenly sank down into the nearest chair and turned very white.

"Oh, Clinton!" she gasped. "I—I don't want you to go!"

Clinton turned a set face to her—there was a stern look on it that she had never seen there before.

"Hush, Phillipa!" he said. "None of that, now. This is where I pay old scores off, don't you see. I'm going—and I'm not coming up until I've done all I can. I've done plenty of work things in my time—now I'm going to do something strong. You be strong too. We'll have time enough to think about ourselves when that's done."

"Supposing you're killed?" she whispered.

"I told you—none of that," he said, sternly. "If I am—well, I shall be trying to do something decent, any way. This is going to be the start of a new life, Phillipa, whether it's short or long."

Phillipa regained her self-possession with a great effort, and, rising to her feet, took Clinton's hand and pressed it.

"Yes, you're right, dear," she said. "Forgive me—after all, I'm only a girl."

Clinton pondered through the window. Outside in the yard Quinton and his undermanager were being joined by men anxious to join the rescue-party. Amongst them towered the big form of Black Moses Pogmore. Quinton turned to him, and motioned him to the engine-house; then to another, and another, until a dozen men had passed inside, of whom one was Jim Britten. Phillips and Clinton approached him.

"You going down, Jim?" said Clinton. "Remember, we all your mother's got."

"I shouldn't dare to face her, sir, if I didn't go down," said Jim, standing in spite of the concern on his face. "She'd tell me her mind pretty hot and strong, I can tell you."

Quinton came up, followed by the district inspector, who had just arrived. Both ran their eyes over the men whom the manager had picked for the rescue-party.

"It's fortunate that we've got everything that's modern in the way of appliances," said Quinton, hurriedly. "There's no need to send for anything. You, Britten, and you, Pogmore, get out the things, and see that every one is properly fitted and understands how the appliances work. Sir Clinton, you help Britten and Pogmore—Britten'll explain how the working of the oxygen tubes to you if you don't know. Miss Mannersley, if you want to do something, go to the yard and walk down below before the people and talk to them, especially to the women. Keep them cool and hopeful—that's the thing."

The manager hurried off in one direction, Jim Britten, with Clinton and Black Moses in another, and Phillips walked out into the yard. She caught scraps of comment and conversation as she approached the first group of women.

"I ha' a man and two lads buried i' Shafterley churchyard, and killed together."

"My father and two brothers were in that there explosion at Mosbury Pit twenty years ago—and I'm sure I've seen nobody since they brought 'em up, they were that peaceful."

"I mind my two brothers walking out o' this very yard one morning just such another as this—they were laughing and talking—but we never seed 'em again, and it broke my mother's heart."

Phillips went down the line, giving words of hope and comfort to the waiting women. They gazed with admiration at her pretty face, and listened hungrily to her sweet voice; but it was plain that there would be no hope for them until certainty was arrived at—they were all of the collier class, and knew what was what. There was nothing to do but wait, wait, wait!

She had reached the further end of the yard when she met Inspector Cortelyou, who seemed to be engaged on a similar mission to her own. Together they turned and made up the other side of the yard; and suddenly a woman—a colourless, thin, half-starved looking woman, ragged, scarred and grey—rushed her way out of the small house like the half-ruin from that marked the deadly whirl. And now he could see plainly the grim crag that kept watch over that ghastly abyss—and now he almost touched the outermost eddy-end of the boat, dragged into it and began to spin dizzily round in lessening circles nearer and nearer to his doom.

And all this while the gathering ripples sparkled around him, the sun shone gloriously in a cloudless sky, the white-winged sea-birds soared rejoicingly overhead, and seemed to mock him with their festival of life.

It was hard to die amid all this brightness and beauty; but die he must, for there was no way of escape. Even in this last moment of misery, with the boat whirling and leaping around him, the brave boy did not lose his presence of mind. One faint chance was still left to him, and he seized it.

As the boat made its first circuit round the central crag before plunging down into the depths below, he sprang into the gunwale, and, exerting all his wonderful agility, made a prodigious leap, that landed him on the lowest ledge of the rock, bruised, bleeding, dizzy, but saved for the moment. In another instant the deserted boat had vanished for ever into the gaping whirlpool.

To all appearance the bold lad had escaped one death only to perish by another more lingering and painful; but even now he did not despair.

He reasoned in his brave heart that just as full tide the whirlpool was not dangerous, and he determined to watch for the subsiding of its fury, and then plunge into the sea for a chance of being able to swim ashore or to fall in with a boat.

But what should he do to fill up the long hours that lay between? He felt that the dizzy dance of the plunging waters around him, and their ceaseless roar, were already beginning to unstring his nerves and make his brain reel; and he knew that if he could not find some way to counteract their paralysing influence, he must soon become helpless and fall headlong into the abyss.

Just then his eye caught the antique letters cut in the rock above him, which in his present soul but himself laid ever seen so near, and the sight of these gave him an idea.

He knew nothing of the off-reel reward, but he did know that there were people who thought such things valuable and paid well for copies of them. If escaped it might be worth something, and meanwhile it would direct his attention, and keep him from losing his nerve.

So, turning his back resolutely to the mad circling waves, he set himself to trace the letters with the point of his knife upon a small metal match-box which he had in his pocket.

It was a long task, but he completed it at last with the greatest exactness, and then took heart, hoping that the sight of his figure standing out against the sky might attract the notice of some passing fisherman.

For a long time he watched and waited in vain, and he was just beginning to think that he would have to try and save himself by swimming, after all, when he heard the sound of oars splashing near him, and the violence of the whirlpool was beginning to abate—when, far in the distance, he suddenly descried a tiny white sail.

He could be heard at such a distance; but the very body unwound the red sash from his waist and waved it over his head till his arm ached, and after a period of terrible anxiety, he at length saw the boat alter her course and stand right for him.

The skill with which the two men who handled her kept clear of the fatal eddies, by which Wade had been so nearly swept away, showed that both were practical seamen, and, as the boat neared him, the boy's keen eye recognised one of them as his own father.

Well, the rescuers came near enough for a shout to be heard, the father called out to his son to climb down the rock, swim again and stand ready to make a plunge when he gave the word, as the boat could not come too near, for fear of being dashed against the rock.

Just then there was the roar of the rock itself was always a strong eddy, which might suck down Wade even now, if he could not succeed in leaping clear of it.

For ten minutes or more the two sailors kept "standing off and on," till the fury of the whirlpool should be completely spent, while the daring boy, perched on the lowest ledge of the rock, waited and watched for the signal.

At length his father's powerful voice came rolling to him over the water:

"Now!"

Drawn into the Whirlpool.

SHORT STORY

Under the lee of a small island on the north-west coast of Norway a young fisher had lay sleeping in the boat in which he had been out all night, unconscious of the grim face and cruel eye that watched him from the tiki above with a look that looked him no good. Then there, two men came pulling sound the point behind which his boat was moored, and one of them said to the other, loud enough to be heard by the hidden watcher overhead, though not to wake the sleeper:

"There's a rich Englishman come into Langenes, in his yacht, and he's offered a big reward to any man that'll find out what those letters are that are carved on the Sea King's Grave."

"Why don't he offer a reward for the moon?" laughed the other. "Does he think any money can tempt men to go right into a whirlpool that would swallow the stoutest boat in these seas like a biscuit?"

"But they say that at the flood-tide you may go through it without harm, if you start just at the right moment."

"Ay! if you do. But who would be fool enough to risk it?"

Then they passed on, and their voices were lost in the distance.

The moment their boat was out of sight, behind the rocks, a wild face peered through the matted boughs overhead, and a bulky figure rose stealthily from the bushes and crept downward towards the sleeping boy, with a long knife in its hand. One quick slash cut the mooring-rope, and the boat slowly drifted seaward with its slumbering occupant.

"The current sets straight for the whirlpool," muttered the ruffian, with a cruel laugh, "and, cool and hopeful—that's the only thing."

The manager hurried off in one direction, Jim Britten, with Clinton and Black Moses in another, and Phillips walked out into the yard. She caught scraps of comment and conversation as she approached the first group of women.

"I ha' a man and two lads buried i' Shafterley churchyard, and killed together."

"My father and two brothers were in that there explosion at Mosbury Pit twenty years ago—and I'm sure I've seen nobody since they brought 'em up, they were that peaceful."

"I mind my two brothers walking out o' this very yard one morning just such another as this—they were laughing and talking—but we never seed 'em again, and it broke my mother's heart."

Phillips went down the line, giving words of hope and comfort to the waiting women. They gazed with admiration at her pretty face, and listened hungrily to her sweet voice; but it was plain that there would be no hope for them until certainty was arrived at—they were all of the collier class, and knew what was what. There was nothing to do but wait, wait, wait!

She had reached the further end of the yard when she met Inspector Cortelyou, who seemed to be engaged on a similar mission to her own. Together they turned and made up the other side of the yard; and suddenly a woman—a colourless, thin, half-starved looking woman, ragged, scarred and grey—rushed her way out of the small house like the half-ruin from that marked the deadly whirl. And now he could see plainly the grim crag that kept watch over that ghastly abyss—and now he almost touched the outermost eddy-end of the boat, dragged into it and began to spin dizzily round in lessening circles nearer and nearer to his doom.

And all this while the gathering ripples sparkled around him, the sun shone gloriously in a cloudless sky, the white-winged sea-birds soared rejoicingly overhead, and seemed to mock him with their festival of life.

It was hard to die amid all this brightness and beauty; but die he must, for there was no way of escape. Even in this last moment of misery, with the boat whirling and leaping around him, the brave boy did not lose his presence of mind. One faint chance was still left to him, and he seized it.

As the boat made its first circuit round the central crag before plunging down into the depths below, he sprang into the gunwale, and, exerting all his wonderful agility, made a prodigious leap, that landed him on the lowest ledge of the rock, bruised, bleeding, dizzy, but saved for the moment. In another instant the deserted boat had vanished for ever into the gaping whirlpool.

To all appearance the bold lad had escaped one death only to perish by another more lingering and painful; but even now he did not despair.

He reasoned in his brave heart that just as full tide the whirlpool was not dangerous, and he determined to watch for the subsiding of its fury, and then plunge into the sea for a chance of being able to swim ashore or to fall in with a boat.

But what should he do to fill up the long hours that lay between? He felt that the dizzy dance of the plunging waters around him, and their ceaseless roar, were already beginning to unstring his nerves and make his brain reel; and he knew that if he could not find some way to counteract their paralysing influence, he must soon become helpless and fall headlong into the abyss.

Just then his eye caught the antique letters cut in the rock above him, which in his present soul but himself had ever seen so near, and the sight of these gave him an idea.

He knew nothing of the off-reel reward, but he did know that there were people who thought such things valuable and paid well for copies of them. If escaped it might be worth something, and meanwhile it would direct his attention, and keep him from losing his nerve.

So, turning his back resolutely to the mad circling waves, he set himself to trace the letters with the point of his knife upon a small metal match-box which he had in his pocket.

It was a long task, but he completed it at last with the greatest exactness, and then took heart, hoping that the sight of his figure standing out against the sky might attract the notice of some passing fisherman.

For a long time he watched and waited in vain, and he was just beginning to think that he would have to try and save himself by swimming, after all, when he heard the sound of oars splashing near him, and the violence of the whirlpool was beginning to abate—when, far in the distance, he suddenly descried a tiny white sail.

He could be heard at such a distance; but the very body unwound the red sash from his waist and waved it over his head till his arm ached, and after a period of terrible anxiety, he at length saw the boat alter her course and stand right for him.

The skill with which the two men who handled her kept clear of the fatal eddies, by which Wade had been so nearly swept away, showed that both were practical seamen, and, as the boat neared him, the boy's keen eye recognised one of them as his own father.

Well, the rescuers came near enough for a shout to be heard, the father called out to his son to climb down the rock, swim again and stand ready to make a plunge when he gave the word, as the boat could not come too near, for fear of being dashed against the rock.

Just then there was the roar of the rock itself was always a strong eddy, which might suck down Wade even now, if he could not succeed in leaping clear of it.

For ten minutes or more the two sailors kept "standing off and on," till the fury of the whirlpool should be completely spent, while the daring boy, perched on the lowest ledge of the rock, waited and watched for the signal.

At length his father's powerful voice came rolling to him over the water:

"Now!"

Mingling with the shout came the splash of Wade's plunge into the water. Exerting all his strength, the active boy leaped far beyond the treacherous eddy that would have sucked him down among the sunken rocks, and in another moment he was safe in the boat, which turned and shot away from the perilous spot as lightly as the sea-birds overhead.

A few days later the boy-hero received the reward that he had so strangely won; and thus the would-be murderer, instead of destroying his victim, actually helped him to earn more money than he had ever made in his life. But the wicked villain got wholly unpunished, for the end of the cut rope having been found, and suspicion directed towards him, he had to sneak away by night, and never dared to show his face on that coast again.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

STAINS ON BONE KNIFE-HANDLES.

These are often only on the surface, and can be removed by cleaning them with a flannel and dampened knife. Wipe them in clean water, then polish with a piece of dry chamois.

Stubborn stains should be treated with a little salt of lemon, which three days, however, be quickly washed off. Well rinse, afterwards.

HINTS FOR AMATEUR PAINTERS.

Rinse all brushes in turpentine after using, then grease with a mixture of vaseline and oil to prevent the bristles getting hard. To remove paint spots from wood, cover with a thick paste of lime and soda and leave for twenty-four hours; then wash off with warm water. To remove paint from windows, dissolve strong soda in boiling water, and when cool wash the windows with it, using a sponge or soft flannel. Fresh paint spots may be removed from clothes by first wiping off as much as paint as possible, then rubbing with a flannel dipped in spirits of wine. Do not work near a bare light, as the spirits are highly inflammable. To remove the smell of fresh paint from a newly-painted room, place near the wainscot one or two tubs of cold water. In two or three days the coolness of the tubs will have absorbed the smell of the paint.

EXERCISE FOR BRAIN WORKERS.

Should a tired man tire himself out further with muscular exercise? asks a writer in the Family Doctor. To make a business man to leave his desk to play tennis? Agreement seems good on either side. Those who say "yes" say that tennis will improve his digestion, and quiet him perspire, and thus improve his digestion; and quiet him perspire, and thus improve his digestion; and quiet him perspire, and thus improve his digestion;

CORRESPONDENCE.

THE LIGHTS OF OULTON.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I should like through the columns of your paper to draw attention to the extraordinary brilliance of the lights at Oulton. The effect of this brilliance has been that in many houses candles are being used, the people being afraid of their eyesight. I have only just come to Oulton, which makes me notice the effect so clearly. I also hear that the gas is only 3s. 2d. per 1,000 ft., which I make out means that however the Gas Co. can afford to be so liberal with the quality and quantity of the supply, this in spite of the fact that the dividend is only 10 per cent., plus a bonus.—Yours, etc.,

GLOW-WORM.

Oulton, nr. Leeds, October 8th, 1914.

CHURCH FENTON CRICKET CLUBS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I can quite understand your Sycamore correspondent hoping for the last of this correspondence.

He makes a statement which all the clubs in our division may equally take exception to, and then when challenged for an explanation, he says—"I cannot explain the reason publicly or I would most willingly do so."

But, sir, therein lies my accusation! He makes a statement and then cannot, or will not, verify it.

Surely if a correspondent makes a public statement to which exception is taken, he should be in a position to at least make a public explanation.

The very fact of having, as he says, a reason for making use of the words complained of, proves to the hilt that there must be something underlying his remarks, and which I should call an insinuation. I have, therefore, nothing to withdraw. Seeing that he has not the courage to publicly explain, maybe he will give me a private explanation.—Yours, etc.,

A. B. HOLGREAVES,
Hon. Sec., Church Fenton C.C.

13th October, 1914.

KIPPAX COUNCIL AND TRACKLESS TRAMS.

SCARCITY OF WATER—LIGHTING.

A meeting of Kippax Parish Council was held at Kippax on Monday evening—Mr S. R. Silverwood (Chairman) presiding. The other members present were Messrs J. Cripavil, W. Mellor, D. Mackintosh, G. Cooper, and W. Firth (who is the successor of the late Mr James Hewitt), with the Clerk (Mr W. Cripavil).

A letter had been sent by property-owners in Leeds Hill requesting the Council to take steps as to the putting up of a gas lamp in the back street, which not being lighted, was an inconvenience to all concerned. The Chairman stated that the recommendations of the parish meeting had been exceeded, and no fewer than three additional lamps had been erected. Mr Cripavill: It is impossible to supply lamps to every place. I think that we, as a Council, have done very well.—The Clerk explained that the sum allowed for lighting purposes would not permit of any more lamps being put down. It was agreed to advise those who wanted additional lamps to make application to the parish meeting.

Mr Mackintosh complained that two lamps in Well Lane needed attention. The lights were very bad, and he moved that the gas manager be written to respecting them. This was seconded, and agreed to.

Mr Mellor stated that the residents in New Street were badly served in regard to a water supply. They were without water several days in the week. Could nothing be done to remedy this grievance? Mr Cripwell: I think the remedy is quite simple, and I will move that the Water Committee's attention be called to this matter.—This was seconded by Mr Mellor, and carried.

Leakages from two closets in New Street were complained of, and it was agreed to write to Mr Driver, sanitary inspector, about this nuisance.

The Chairman introduced the question of trackless trams, and the making of application to the tramways manager at Leeds for a service to be run to Kippax.—Mr Cripwell: The last interview we had with the tramways manager, he informed us that it was too late to do anything in it. I think it very probable that when opportunity offers our application will be favourably considered.—Mr Cooper: We are seriously handicapped here in Kippax for want of a tram service. I was decidedly in favour of making application to the tramways manager in Leeds as to trackless trams being run to Kippax.

The Clerk stated that on Saturday afternoon the Kippax Old Bind went round the village and members of the Distress Committee and members of the Ambulance Brigade had solicited subscriptions en route for the National Relief Fund, and the collection had realised the sum of £6. Six guineas had been received from the Co-operative Society for this fund, and the society had also contributed three guineas to the Belgian Relief Fund. With a view to further augmenting the Distress Fund the Vicar (Rev. E. B. Smith) had kindly promised to provide a room and a magic-lantern and lecture on "How Germany makes war," etc.

AN OULTON MAN'S WEDDING.

The marriage took place quietly on Thursday, at St. Peter's Church, Piccadilly, of Mr Stanley Davenport, elder son of Mr and Mrs. J. E. Davenport, of Oulton, and Miss Gladys E. Holdsworth, only daughter of Mr J. A. Holdsworth and Mrs. Holdsworth, of Leinster Gardens, Lancaster Gate.

The bride was attended by three bridesmaids, and the bridegroom by his brother, Mr Harold Davenport of the West Yorkshire Regiment, as best man.

After the ceremony the bride and bridegroom left for their South Coast.

Application is to be made by the County Council to the Local Government Board to restrict the speed of motor cars to 10 miles an hour in the town of Tadcaster.

WHO BUYS?—Among those who have bought socks in which Canada's gift of flour to this country is being received is Mr T. K. Fielden, of Grimston Park. The socks cost 9s. each, and two-thirds of the proceeds go to the Prince of Wales' Fund and the remainder to the Belgian Relief Fund. Applications should be addressed to Mr H. F. Le Bas, joint hon. sec., National Relief Fund, York House, St. James's Palace, London. Each sock is stamped "Canada's gift."

WOODLESFORD HOMING SOCIETY.

ANNUAL MEETING

On Saturday the annual meeting of Woodlesford and District Homing Society was held, and the prizes for the year were distributed. Mr E. Pritchard presided.

The secretary (Mr T. W. Nettleton) presented his report as follows:—As you are aware the racing season was brought to a close on account of the war, in which, as you all know, the society is represented by one of its members. From a financial point of view the season has been a fairly good one, the income being £22 os. 2½d., and the expenditure £14 15s. 6d., leaving a balance of £7 4s. 8½d. to be distributed in prizemoney. As regards racing, the club has sent 504 birds to race points, and Mr J. Newbould tops the club's list with 2 firsts and 1 second, also winning the old bird average. Mr R. Carter wins the young bird average. Messrs Hall and Pritchard win the old and young bird average combined. The club has done well out of the Yorkshire Combine. Messrs Hall and Pritchard won the section prize for Rennes race; and Mr H. Dickinson and Mr W. Mountford secured prizes in the Guernsey race.

The following were elected officers for the ensuing season:—President, Mr S. Bayliss; secretary, Mr T. W. Nettleton; treasurer, Mr J. Bayliss; auditors, Messrs P. C. Higgins and W. Mountford.

PROMINENT SELBY MAN HONOURED.

MR COCHRANE AND THE DUTY OF EVERY CHRISTIAN MAN.

At the Grosvenor Hotel, Hull, on Tuesday night, the Presbytery of Yorkshire entertained Mr and Mrs Andrew Cochrane, of Selby, to a complimentary dinner on the occasion of the celebration of their golden wedding. Mr and Mrs Cochrane are well known in Yorkshire, and particularly in Hull and Selby districts. Mr Cochrane is one of the foremost trawler builders and owners on the East Coast, and is a prominent example of the self-made man.

The Rev. P. Duncan, who spoke to the Presbytery, said that the Presbytery, at its last meeting, learned with great joy that Mr and Mrs Cochrane had attained the celebration of their golden wedding. They all rejoiced with them at that time, and they all desired to wish them happiness as Mr Cochrane had given them happiness and cheer in their work. Many a church in the Presbytery had taken heart and gone forward through Mr Cochrane. (Hear, hear). His many gifts towards church extension had made such a thing practicable in the Presbytery of Yorkshire. They had all had ambition in that direction, but they were never any more than ambitious until recently, and it was his hope that the new base at Carcroft, near Doncaster, would go down as to Cochrane memorial. (Hear, hear). It was the desire of every member of the Presbytery that Mr and Mrs Cochrane should have a very happy "gloaming," to use a good old Scotch word. (Applause).

Mr Duncan handed the album to Mrs Cochrane, saying: "I have great pleasure in handing this album to you as the better half, in the name of the Presbytery, and in expressing to you our sincere congratulations and earnest hopes that you will be long spared to us and to each other." (Applause).

The toast of the health of Mr and Mrs Cochrane was drunk with great enthusiasm, accompanied by the singing of "They, are jolly good fellows."

Mr Cochrane was very heartily received on rising to reply on behalf of his wife and himself. He had so many thoughts that he did not know how to extricate them and say just what he wanted to say. There was no doubt they had had a good time during the last 50 years. Mr Duncan was quite right when he said Mrs Cochrane was the better half; there was no doubt about that. From the bottom of his heart he thanked them for all the kind words, and for the beautiful souvenir they had presented to Mrs Cochrane and himself. They had referred to what he had been able to do for the Church, but he had only done his duty. He believed it was the duty of every Christian man, if God prospered him, to do what he could to help the improvement of his fellow men, whether morally, socially, or religiously. He looked back now to the days when his ambition was to be his own employer. There was no such thing as being independent. He had been. He would rather have it read "For the great privilege of doing good with it." That was the greatest privilege any man could have. It was all very well for them to congratulate him for what he had done, but he believed that after all he got the most joy out of it. (Applause).

SOUTH MILFORD FANCIERS' SOCIETY.

It has been decided to give the net proceeds of the forthcoming poultry show of the South Milford and District Fanciers' Society to the War Fund.

COMFORTS FOR SOLDIERS.—The following articles have been sent by the Wetherby branch of the St. John Ambulance Association for the use of the soldiers during the war—206 blankets, 15 pairs of socks, 129 white shirts, 277 grey suits, 49 pyjama suits, 97 bed jackets, 70 nightingales, 168 pillow cases, 10 pairs of sleeves, 8 unbleached night shirts, 2 belts, 66 hospital bed covers, 2 pairs bandages, 14 natural night shirts, 49 aprons, 30 vests, 64 pairs of sheets, 18 helpless shirts, 12 helmets, 7 mufflers, 69 cushions, 1 pair of mittens, 24 slings, 3 old sheets, and several rolls of old linen for hospital use.

TADCASTER COUNCIL SCHOOL.—The scholars attending all the departments of the above school recently made contributions for buying wool, which the girls knitted into socks, etc. Last week a parcel made up of 22 pairs socks, 3 belts, 25 pairs mittens, 5 pairs cuffs, and 9 helmets, was forwarded to Devonshire House, Piccadilly, London. The following reply has been received:—"Gifts to the troops at the front, from the Queen and the women of the Empire. Devonshire House, Piccadilly.—The lady-in-waiting is commanded by the Queen to thank the scholars of the West Riding County School for their kind gift of socks and other comforts.—October 12th."

THE LATE MR R. B. ATKINSON, YORK.—The death has taken place at his residence, 43, Cromer Street, York, of Mr Richard Baillie Atkinson, late N.E.R. Permanent Way Inspector at Pontefract. Deceased, who was 83 years of age, had served 45 years on the N.E.R., and had been in retirement many years. Previous to being an inspector at Pontefract he held a similar position at Howden, Hull, etc. He began first as a plate-layer, attached to a Malton gang. The late Mr Atkinson was born at Tadcaster, and lived for a long time at Appleton Roebuck. He was twice married, his second wife dying about 24 years ago. He leaves a family of three daughters and one son.

AMUSEMENTS.

LEEDS EMPIRE PALACE.

At the Empire Palace, this week Vesta Tilley proves that it is not necessary for a patriotic song, in order to rouse enthusiasm, to be shouted in stentorian tones. Her serious contribution to topical vocalism is sung in the quiet style that is so characteristic of this refined artiste, though at times she is rather inclined to overstrain her voice. Equally popular, though in a lighter vein, is the soldier song in which she shows "Tommy" in his swaggering mood, and in both she is, of course, immaculately uniformed. These are only two of the songs with which she delights the audience. The Two Tomboys are rightly described. Their performance is said to be "the only lady humpsti-bumpsti act in vaudeville," and they certainly are extremely clever knockabouts, as well as very amusing. The Artois Brothers are also funny and agile on the horizontal bar. Barrett and Knowles are an entertaining couple, and Lona Wayne does two monologues effectively.

Gertie Gitana, the favourite dancer and character delineator, is the principal attraction at the Empire on Monday next. Another strong turn on the programme is provided by George Carney, "The Fool of the Force," who has had a rude reminder of the truth in the statement that "a policeman's lot is not a happy one." There is no telling quite how awkward a fetish might have proved to his capture by the Germans and detention as a prisoner of war, had not the advent of the British cruiser "Highflyer" set him at liberty. As a victim of many troubles who, unable to afford Sanatogen prescribed by the doctor, has pinned her faith to gin of the ordinary variety, and as a harassed Dundry proprietress, Harriett Edgar contributes an excellent turn. A turn of unusual character is that of Zikaree Ermakow. For sheer ordinary stature, this bearded Russian gives a display with a repoussé ringing from the modern rifle to the bow and arrow. Novelty may be fairly claimed for the entertainment presented by May Erne and Chester, with whose bright conception Empire audiences will renew a pleasurable acquaintance. A clever pair of simultaneous dancers are Devon and Earle, and Millie Payne is presenting her latest successes. The Rex Pantomime Company will leave the British and Colonial troops in France are shown as received from the Moss' Empires special photographers with the forces.

LEEDS HIPPODROME

At the Hippodrome this week the Two Bobs are at the head of affairs. They come with a budget of new rag-time numbers, which are rendered with that zest and humour which first made them popular here. The performance of Romain Noiset, "sur la table du Diable," is peculiarly daring; Mignon Elise and Eddy Foy present a pleasing pot-pourri of clever dancing, instrumental selections, and animal impersonation; J. P. Ling, is a comedian and mimic of more than average merit; Les Andres are capable exponents of "the dances of the nations," and David Poole's ventriloquial sketch is interesting. Bessie Benson, comedienne, and the Three Lascelles also contribute to the programme. Next week at the Hippodrome Fred Karno's Company will appear in the screaming production "Perkins, M.P.," with Tom Nelson in the title role, and Viviana and Co., including Mark Lupino, will present the comedy "The Toy Shop." Others announced to contribute to the programme are Kay and Gee, society entertainers; Horace Wheatley, the genial Irishman; Bella and Jules Terry, with Bessie, the extra bit, at the piano; the Heweys, who will present an artistic combination of voice, flute, 'cello, and piano; George Ross, the "topsy-turvy" pianist and versatile entertainer; and Syd May, mimic of star artistes.

DESTRUCTIVE FARM FIRE AT CAWOOD.

On Tuesday night a destructive fire occurred at Scalm Park Farm, the premises of Mr Ireland, in the Cawood district. Six 40 seven bay and straw stacks were involved. On the Selby fire brigade reaching the farm they found that a haystack was nearly destroyed. The nearest supply of water was about three-quarters of a mile away, and the brigade had to send back to Selby for additional hose piping.

The efforts of the Selby Brigade, together with the help of willing workers, succeeded in keeping the fire within bounds. Serious damage was, however, done. A large stack of oats, threshed oats and barley, and a quantity of hay were destroyed. Other stacks and buildings, adjacent to the burning corn, were saved.

The damage amounted to £200. The brigade only reached home at seven o'clock on Wednesday night. They were hampered by the supply of water being a mile away, and after the fire was subdued they could not leave as the smouldering remains of the stacks presented a danger. The continuous exertions of the brigade and willing helpers saved the remaining stacks, and the adjoining buildings, which were undamaged.

Mr J. T. Houlden, of Tadcaster, has given £1 ios. to the West Riding Distress Fund.

On Saturday Shadwell boys were defeated in a football match by Isles Lane School by a goal to nil.

On Saturday afternoon Tadcaster had a football match with York St. Clement's, and it was drawn—one goal each.

A sum of 17s. 6d., collected at the Wellington Inn, Shadwell, has been sent to the Leeds National Relief Fund by Mrs G. Shepherd.

The magistrates at Tadcaster Petty Sessions on Monday were Alf. E. C. Brook-Kirk (Chairman), Mr E. M. Lawson Smith, and Mr J. H. Ingleby.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT.—The County Council have decided to accept the offer of the Earl of Londesborough to give the site of an old pinfold for the purpose of widening the Leeds and Selby main road at its junction with the road leading to South Milford at Monk Fryston, and to expend the sum of £25 in erecting a fence wall and carrying out road works.

BELGIAN REFUGEES.—Eleven more Belgian refugees arrived in the village on Wednesday night. This makes a total of 17 now in Monk Fryston and Hillam. They are all mostly of the peasant class, and are being well provided for by the local committee, who are receiving generous offers of help from the villagers. The last contingent are from the neighbourhood of Namur.

PATENTS.—Patent list compiled by John E. Walsh, chartered patent agent, of 25, Royal Exchange, Boar Lane, Leeds, and Crossley Street, Halifax:—Application (Complete Specification Left).—Charles McCarthy, Stamford, improvements in pencil holders. Patents accepted—Albrecht and Albrecht, Ltd., and W. H. Albrecht, Leeds, improvements in suit boxes. J. Bevan, F. Thurman, and H. C. Wood, Tadcaster, centrifugal separators for sewage, etc. (patent of addition).

ROTHWELL COLLIERY OWNERS AT LAW.

CASE SETTLED.

The case of Charlesworth v. Charlesworth, in which all the parties are either shareholders or directors of J. and J. Charlesworth and Co., colliery proprietors, of Rothwell, was before Mr Justice Joyce in the Chancery Division on Thursday.

Mr Tomlin, K.C., for the plaintiffs, said the parties had come to an arrangement which would save the necessity of a trial. The subject affecting the honour and motives of the directors of the company should be withdrawn, and that the plaintiffs desired to do in the fullest possible way. Counsel thought himself justified in saying that neither on the motion nor now had he ever intended to say anything affecting the honour of these gentlemen.

Mr Upjohn (for the defendants): Speaking for myself, I did not read the pleadings as containing any imputations against their honour.

His Lordship: If the directors were wrong they did not intend to go wrong; they were wrongly advised, that is all.

An order was accordingly made to rectify the register, and stay all proceedings, on the agreed terms.

A CURIOUS SUPERSTITION.

Many Greeks firmly believe to this day in a curious heathen notion, which holds that the fate of every child is decided by a council of three mysterious spirits, who are spoken of collectively as the "Moral." These three "Fates" are supposed to be invisible women who come on a visit of inspection shortly after the birth of each child. They always come after sundown, says the explanation, and the Greek, placing a ready-burning lamp in a lattice, which is usually in the house and a visit from the Moral is expected, carefully leave one door open and lay a feast and money-offerings all ready for the Fates when they should arrive.

In many parts of England there still lingers a belief that every child, when first he leaves his mother's room, should be carried upstairs before he is taken down, as this will ensure his progress in the world and make him successful. If the baby happens to be born in the topmost room of the house, then the nurse, holding him in her arms, steps up on to a chair placed on the threshold of the room. If this is done, they say, then the child will set out in life with every chance of success.

A CREAM FOR THE HANDS.

Buy some spermaceti wax from the chemist, and an ounce of oil of almonds. Cut up the wax into a small jar, and stand the jar in a boiling water until the wax has run to a liquid. Then measure out two teaspoonfuls of wax, and add to the oil of almonds, which must be warmed. Beaten well, it should cool like a very smooth cream. When it is nearly cold, add fourteen drops of essence of lemon. Pour into a small pot. This whitens the hands if rubbed in at night.

Harewood school children and friends have sent £1 3s. to the Leeds National Relief Fund.

Five guineas have been sent to the Belgian Refugee Fund by Mr J. B. Blatherwick, Roundhay.

The children of Seacroft National School have sent £1 4s. to the Leeds Lord Mayor's Belgian Refugee Fund.

After evensong at St. John's Church, Roundhay, on Sunday night, at an organ recital by Mr H. Pickard, a collection for Belgian refugees in Leeds realised £7.

MONK FRYSTON.—The harvest festival was held at the Parish Church on Thursday evening last. The church had been beautifully decorated for the occasion, and there was an abundance of plants, corn, flowers, and fruit. The church service was choral, more pleasingly decorated, the work of adornment having been carried out by Mr R. Foster (head gardener to the Rev. B. Hemsworth, M.A.), and his assistants. The preacher was the Rev. W. A. Hewett, M.A. (rector of Castleford), and he preached an excellent and appropriate sermon to a large congregation. A special feature of the service was the special singing by the choir, who rendered an anthem and harvest hymns very pleasingly, under the direction of Mr D. G. Morris (organist). The collection in aid of the Leeds Infirmary and York Hospital. Services were held on Sunday. The Rev. W. M. C. Clarke (vicar) preached in the morning, and in the evening the Rev. F. A. Gumbley (vicar of Castleford) occupied the pulpit. There was a large congregation. The choir again rendered the anthem "Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem." The collections were in aid of the School Fund and Choir Fund.

JOHN TEALE,
Advertising Contractor & Billposter,
WHITE HOUSE, GARFORTH.

Bills posted and Handbills distributed on the shortest notice throughout the Barkston Ash Division on most reasonable terms.

Established 1885. Established 1885.
GENERAL
Accident Fire and Life
Assurance Corporation, Ltd.

PERSONAL ACCIDENT and SICKNESS Policies of all Kinds. LARGE Benefits and conditions. Low Premiums.
FREE FIRE INSURANCE every sixth year to householders and private property owners.
COMBINATION POLICIES covering the requirements of Employers in connection with risks of Fire, Burglary, and accidents to servants.
THREE POPULAR FORMS of Life Policy, including guaranteed options.
Workmen's Compensation,
Motor Car, Burglary, Fidelity Guarantee,
Driving Accidents, Lane Mouth,
Plate Glass, and Farmers' Insurances.

Chief Offices—General Buildings, 32, Aldermanbury, London, E.C.
Northern Offices—General Buildings, Aldwych, London, W.C.
The Oldest and Largest Provincial Office.
Assets exceed £2,500,000.
Claims paid over £7,000,000.
General Manager - F. NORRIS-MILLAR, J.P.

BEST & BOOTH
Tailors & Costumiers,
119, KIRKGATE,
— AND —
143, BRIGGATE.
(Corner of Market Street), LEEDS.
Ladies' Department—143, BRIGGATE.
Look out for B. & B.

Teasdale's — All Men Joining the Army SHOULD HAVE WITH THEM — Chlorodyne
Teasdale's — Teasdale's Chlorodyne — Chlorodyne
A Safe Protector from common hazardous ailments—Choleraic Diarrhœa, Dysentery, etc.
Teasdale's — GIVES INSTANT RELIEF; EASES PAIN. A BLESSING TO HAVE SUCH A GRAND MEDICINE. — Chlorodyne
Teasdale's — Brigadier Fortune, Royal Horse Artillery: "I thank you for the great benefit that Teasdale's Chlorodyne has not only done for myself, but also for many of my comrades to whom I have given it. It has indeed been a blessing to have such a grand medicine in my possession. I have used it in numerous cases of Dysentery, Rheumatism, Pains in the Back, Coughs, and Colds. It acted like a charm in every case." — Chlorodyne
Teasdale's — Teasdale's Chlorodyne — Chlorodyne
Teasdale's — THE MOST VALUABLE PRESENT YOU CAN GIVE TO A FRIEND GOING TO THE FRONT. — Chlorodyne
Teasdale's — 7½d., 13½d., and Large Bottles, 2/6. — Chlorodyne
Can be had of PURDY, Crossgates; RENNARD, Halton, and other Chemists; GOODALL, BACKHOUSE & Co., and TAYLOR'S DRUG STORES. — Chlorodyne
Teasdale's — ASK FOR TEASDALE'S CHLORODYNE. — Chlorodyne

THE CHALLENGE!
Never Beaten.
BRAITHWAITE'S
"The Firm with a Reputation."
ARE NOW OFFERING
THE BEST VALUE IN YORKSHIRE
— IN —
BOOTS & SHOES for Present Wear.
We are SPECIALISTS IN "FOOTWEAR for the COUNTRY."
Large Variety of Leggings, Gaiters, Slippers, & Dress Shoes.
FARMERS' BOOTS. NAVVIES' BOOTS. PIT BOOTS.
BOOTS THAT WILL TURN THE WET
SPECIAL NOTICE.—We are still offering a lot of Odd Pairs at Ridiculously Low Prices until Cleared.
BRAITHWAITE'S, The Value for Money Boot Stores,
58, VICAR LANE, LEEDS.
Closed at 1 o'clock on Wednesdays.

Money Saving is Money Making
Special Show in the Latest Styles and Shades of Ladies' & Children's Winter Coats, Costumes, and Skirts, at Most Reasonable Prices
Winter Coats from 8s. 11d. Raincoats from 6s
SMITH & PETTY,
44, Lowerhead Row, LEEDS
Three Doors from Briggate.
MOURNING ORDERS EXECUTED IN 12 HOURS.

LEEDS AND HOLBECK
PERMANENT
BUILDING SOCIETY
96, ALBION STREET (Corner of Guildford Street), Leeds.
DAILY from 10 to 3, Saturdays 10 to 1. Saturday Evenings, 6.30 to 8.
3½ PER CENT. INTEREST ALLOWED ON SUBSCRIPTION & PAID UP SHARES.
3 PER CENT. ALLOWED ON DEPOSITS.
WITHDRAWALS CAN BE MADE AT SHORT NOTICE.
Prospectus on Application. JNO. EXLEY, President.
Tel. No. 253. WM. MAUDE, Manager & Secretary.

Printed and Published by ARTHUR KNOX RHODES, of 26, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates, for the Proprietors of the "Rothwell Courier and Times" at their offices, 2, Aire Street, Leeds, in the County of York.

"The Rothwell Courier and Times" IS THE Only Weekly Newspaper PUBLISHED in the DISTRICT

Rothwell Courier & Times

AND

Methley, Oulton, Woodlesford, Carlton, Robin Hood, Lofthouse, Middleton, Stourton & Hunslet Chronicle

NO. 95—NEW SERIES [Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper] SATURDAY, OCTOBER 24 1914 ESTAB. 1873 PRICE—ONE PENNY

Joshua Tetley & Son (Limited), THE BREWERY, LEEDS.

NOW READY IN BOTTLE.

East India Pale Ale, 2/- per dozen Small Bottles

Extra Stout, 1/9 per dozen Small Bottles.

Special (Non-Deposit) Mild Ale, 3/- dozen Large Bottles.

Delivered Free to Families within 20 Miles of Leeds.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

EMPIRE PALACE, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.

TWO PERFORMANCES EVERY NIGHT AT 6.30 AND AT 9.

Early Doors Monday, Tuesday, and Saturday at 6 p.m.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 26th, 1914.

NEIL KENYON, The Canny Scot, in his Humorous Scotch Character Sketches.

BRANSBY WILLIAMS, In Selections from his Repertoire—Old and New Creations. Fresh Programme Every Night.

JENNIE & JOE. GEO. RAPLEY. HELEN CHARLES. POPPESCU TROUPE. COMTESSE DE RUDADL, Italian Comic Violinist. TRUMPETER HENRI GREVE, of the Belgian Cavalry.

The Hero of Liege, Louvain, Malines, and Termonde.

Latest War News and Actual Films from the Front.

Prices, 10s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 5s., 2s. 6d., 1s., 6d., 3d.

HIPPODROME, LEEDS.

Performances nightly at 6.30 and 9.

NEXT WEEK.

JIMMY LEARMOUTH and "COLONEL COBB OF THE RED HUSSARS." Supported by a Full Company of 30 Artistes. HARRY HALSEY in "Curtains."

VESTAS.

Chas. Kasraz Presents THE FOUR KASRACS. VERA WOOTTON.

WAR! Latest News and Incidents in Pictures, &c.

Note Prices—10s. 6d., 5s., 2s., 1s., 6d., and 4d.

FRED BARBER, Pork Butcher, 11, CALL LANE, LEEDS. TEL. 1604.

DRAINS TESTED AND REPAIRED. SANITARY WORK A SPECIALITY. Pump Repairs, Electric Bells, Glazing and Gasfitting. James Smithies, Registered Plumber & Contractor. Residence— 18, AUSTHORPE ROAD, CROSSGATES.

Wm. HELLIWELL, The Working Man's Friend, 212, Hunslet Rd., LEEDS. WATCH WINDOWS FOR GOOD HONEST VALUE. Special Suits From 30/- NO FIT, NO PAY.

SPARKLING HOSPERIDE. An Exhilarating & Refreshing Beverage. MANUFACTURED BY REYNOLDS & HANSON OF LEEDS.

FOR TOWN OR COUNTRY. FOR BUSINESS or PLEASURE. THE FABOR LOUNGE SUIT IS AT 45/- Fabor. In the Hall-mark of Perfect Tailoring. LOUNGE-SUITS from 35/- COSTUMES from 2 Guineas. Tailor Made & Perfect Fit Guaranteed. 24, Queen Victoria Street, and County Arcade, LEEDS.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT JOTTINGS.

The serial story "The Greed of Conquest"—an exciting and sensational war tale—has been secured for publication in this journal, and readers should not miss the opening chapters. The story is the work of Mr. J. B. Harris-Burland, who has had quite a remarkable literary career. His first novel was published in 1902, yet in a few short years he has sprung to the very top-most of serial story writers. He possesses the inestimable gift of being always interesting, and he has the knack of weaving an engrossing plot into an absorbing story. "Dorothy," his first work was an instantaneous success, and this he followed with such powerful tales as "Love, the Criminal," "The Gold Worshippers," "The Edge of Life," and "Ruth England." The "Greed of Conquest" will further the high reputation which Mr Harris-Burland enjoys as a writer of popular fiction.

In common with every part of the country, Berkshire has to bound to suffer in the cruel war which the Kaiser has forced upon Europe. Already men from Holmes, Sells, Tadcaster, Aberford, and Cawood have laid down their lives for their country, and, although I regret the many sacrifices of a similar character will be demanded from the districts, I am unpardonable that a much heavier toll will be exacted ere the war is over. Like the mother, the soldier is always face to face with danger, and he never knows when the call may come for action. Of one thing, however, we are certain—that our men fight and die like heroes. Since the War, I think the Brit-ish fighting man hitherto so often despised will be treated with that respect which is due to him.

From the district many officers have gone to the Army, and the following is list the services of at least one evangelical. Lieut. A. L. P. Griffith, son of the Vicar of Thorpe-le-th, has been recommended for special mention in Sir John French's last despatch published this week. Mr. Griffith will suffer in Cawood Hall. Lieut. Cunningham, son of Mr. Cunningham, Field Surgeon, has been attached for staff duty. Lieut. Cunningham is in the Intelligence Department, and is parish meeting, until a recent visit to Belgium. Where he was wounded. Lieut. Griffith is still remembering a passage he made from Belgium to Ostend, a distance of which

[ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.]

THE DOUBLE CHANCE

By J. S. FLETCHER

Author of "The Threshing Floor," "When Charles I. Was King," "Daniel Quayle," "The Pinfold," &c.

CHAPTER XXV.

Ever since he had set eyes on them Dogger Tandy had been sorely exercised in mind about the diamonds which he had found Mar shall Stead gloating over. Like most people who do not know much about such matters, and who have heard stories about them which bordered on the miraculous, he began to attach an enormous value to them. He had read about diamonds in the newspapers, he had dim and vague ideas that he had heard it said that the King or the Queen, he was not sure which, had diamonds which were worth millions. The more he thought of those which he had seen Stead handling, the more valuable they seemed to become. Certainly, he said to himself, he would have his share out of them, and a handsome share too. He would give up all work, of course. He would go away from Mannersley and his ill-favoured wife. He would buy himself a nice house somewhere outside a big town, and he would keep a dogcart and a good horse, and have greyhounds; he would smoke large cigars and drink whisky all day long, and be a gentleman. He had as much right to, at any rate, half the diamonds as Stead had. Yes, of course he was only right that he should have his proper and lawful share.

While he thus argued within himself there suddenly came into Dogger Tandy's mind a new idea, which made him first feel very hot and then very cold. It was not a new idea at all. He faced that idea boldly, and took a fresh quid of tobacco wherein to ruminate over it. It seemed such a grand idea.

Why should he not have the diamonds for himself? Not a quarter nor half of them, but all of them?

When the newness of this idea, its unaccustomedness, had worn off, Dogger Tandy began to become so enamoured of it, so familiar with it, that he wondered he had not thought of it before—thought of it as soon as he knew the diamonds were as good as his own already! It he chose to put out his hand for them, who was going to stop him from taking them? Certainly not Stead. He laughed at the thought. He could break Stead in two with one hand. Besides, what right had Stead to such rich property which wasn't his? Dogger Tandy's ideas were simple and well-known ones, and revered was a simple and well-known one, and his very familiar to a lot of people, supposedly his superiors in station, education, and ability. It was simply that "Those should take who have the power, And they should keep who can."

Dogger Tandy knew himself in the position to take, if Stead could manage to keep, let him. But he wasn't. Dogger Tandy laughed to himself. Stead was as safe as a rat in a trap. He could not get out of the hole into the ground without his (Tandy's) aid. Therefore, Stead did not count. He was in the position of the small boy who has a sense and its defenceless before the big boy who means to have that sixpence.

Of course, he had no intention of murdering Stead for the sake of the diamonds. Not, but, equally, of course, Stead would not have had any power to have hindered him. He might have to hurt him—well, that would be his own fault. Dogger Tandy was not by any means a sentimentalist, and had no intention of sticking at trifles.

And so, as Stead, haggle-stricken with fear because he knew that Tandy knew, and nerved shakenby his days and nights twelve hundred feet beneath the surface, was creeping along the galleries to evade Tandy—Tandy was advancing to meet him. When they met the struggle was short and sharp. The miner nearly shook the life out of the escaping fugitive, and, dragging him back by the collar of his jacket, threw him, bruised and breathless, on his bed of sacking, and administered a sound kick to his, which made him groan with fear as much as with pain.

"So that's how you would treat me, you white-livered cur, you!" said Tandy, gloatingly, as he gazed on his captive with lifted fist, "would you? Out-paying up, would you? We'll see about that, my lad! Right over those shiners, d'ye hear, else I'll make you as you'll never see daylight again! Quick now!"

"I promised you should have your share," answered Stead, sobbing with rage and pain. "They're no use to either of us until I'm out of this; you can't do anything with them."

"Can't I?" said Tandy. "Happen I don't know of a clogh as'ud, neither! Oh, no! Hand 'em over, I say!"

"They'd have you as soon as ever you tried to deal with them!" cried Stead. "It's Inspector Coniston's out—it was in all those papers you left."

Tandy's sole reply to this was a savage kick, which landed in Stead's ribs and knocked the breath out of him for the moment. He rolled over, groaning and moaning, and the miner, clutching him by the collar and lifting him as easily as if he had been an infant, dumped him in the chair with one hand, and made the table with the other.

"Out with 'em!" he said, with a terrible oath. "Hark 'em—those, every man jack of 'em! Keep a single one back, and I'll smash every bone in your body!"

Terror dead alive—terror from fright and agony Stead drew a canvas bag from some secret receptacle in his clothing, and laid it on the table. Watching him closely, the miner shortly untied the string which fastened the bag, and shook the glittering contents out on the table. Then, remembering how he himself had been searched by the police on more than one occasion, he lifted Stead's shirt with his own hand and went through him with the other in quite professional style, discovering nothing, however, but another bag of diamonds round his neck. This, too, he threw on the table beside the diamonds. After which, with another kick, he flung Stead down on the sacking again and shook his fist at him.

"What's the use of golden sovereigns and diamonds to you down here?" he snarled. "You can't buy whiskey with 'em, nor yet a drop of liquor, nor a bit of baccy! Where's the use of 'em to you for your bite and sup, you ungrateful dog? Who's keepin' of you alive but me? I'll be generous, though! I'll learn you to treat me unkind. You shall have a spell o' starvation and darkness, my beauty, till you know your place! And then I expect I'll do something for you, d'ye see!"

He had restored the diamonds to their bag as he spoke, and, after arranging both bags to his pocket, he picked up the lamp, and with a fierce second look at shaken and fist, turned to leave Stead alone in darkness.

It was at this point that Stead's sanity gave way. With a howl which was more like that of a desperate beast than a man he made one hoard at the miner, and, fastening on his throat with tearing and grasping fingers, bore him to the ground, and, screaming in his madness, strove to wrench the life out of him.

Tandy, surprised by this unexpected and fierce attack, fell against the wall; the safety lamp slipped out of his hand, and rolling away on the floor was instantly extinguished. He recognised, with a curious alertness of mind, that he was engaged in a death-like struggle with a madman, who despite great fear had endowed with superhuman strength, and that he would need all his wits and strength and energy to combat it. Already he felt the blood bursting in the veins in his head from the fierceness of Stead's grip on his throat; already he felt his breath coming in shorter gasps. The grip was like that of a giant; in a short time it would—ah!

Dogger Tandy was quick to think in ways of violence. He had long, powerful, muscular arms, and hands as strong as an ape's. Finding he could not tear Stead's grip away from his throat, he got one hand at the back of his opponent's head, the other hand under his chin. Then he braced himself for its effort, and with the force of a machine jerked the other man's head upwards and backwards until he heard the spine crack and felt a convulsive tremor run through the body, the grip on his own throat relax and become as feeble as a child's. He shook the body off, and rose, trembling, to his feet, in the darkness.

"He would have it, curse him!" he muttered to himself. "I wouldn't ha' finished him if he hadn't been the one to hold back and—I'm most strangled as it is. Curse that lamp—I shall have to find my way out now in the darkness."

Feeling for the table, he leant against it for a minute or two to recover his breath. Then he began to feel about in the dark for discovering the tin bottle in which he had brought drink to Stead during his captivity. He found it at last and shook it eagerly; there was nothing in it.

Dogger Tandy threw the empty bottle away with another oath, and sank himself to rest further. He stumbled forward a step or two, and bending down felt for Stead's body. Then he began to feel the clothing, placed his hand on the heart.

"He's a goner," he muttered, rising up. "A goner right enough. Well, serve him right—he shouldn't ha' tried to throttle me, curse him! Now I'll have a nice lamps out."

Mechanically, he thrust his hand into the pocket of his rough jacket to feel if his prize was safe. Another curse broke from him—the diamonds were gone.

"Can't be far away," he said. "Must ha' slipped out when I fell. Yes, of course, me

WHITKIRK RURIDECANAL COUNCIL.

"CHRISTIANITY AND THE WAR."

INTERESTING DISCUSSION—DEANERY AND RECRUITING.

At a meeting of the Whitkirk Ruridecanal Council in the Church Institute, Albion Place, Leeds, on Tuesday night an interesting address on "Christianity and War" was given by the Rev W. A. Hewett (rector of Castleford).

The Rev. A. J. E. Irvin (Rural Dean and vicar of Woodhouse) presided. Others present were the Rev. T. E. R. Wilford (rector of Garforth), Rev. H. H. Malleson (vicar of Manston), Rev. W. R. Capel Cure (vicar of Oulton), Rev. E. B. Smith (vicar of Seacroft), Rev A. L. Curry (vicar of Allerton Bywater), Rev. J. P. Whitworth (vicar of Thorner), and the following laymen: Messrs J. Roberts and G. Wragby (Seacroft), J. Watson (Whitkirk), J. L. Howe (Eastbourne), H. Simpson (Manston), and A. B. Jaques (Barwick), hon. sec. to the Council.

In introducing the speaker, the Rev. A. J. E. Irvin referred to the falling off in recruiting in Leeds, and said that if Leeds got a good example the surrounding towns and villages would soon follow. In his own parish about 90 men had come forward and joined their services, and in the parishes of Manston and Garforth others had done the same. He had read in the "Courier" that the editor would be glad to publish lists of such men, and he thought that the idea, which was a good one, would stimulate other parishes. He believed his deanery had done its duty in another way, by entertaining Belgian refugees—both at Templenewsam and through the kindness of Mr Wood) and at Oulton Hall, by Major Calverley.

The Rev. W. A. Hewitt said that they might say that in the Old Testament they found a background of war, but in Isaiah they got a glimpse of light, which showed that war would be no more, while in the same book they had the vision of the coming of the Prince of Peace. It would appear, he said, that there were two ways in which Christian faith might succeed in bringing real peace on earth. The first way would be by universal brotherhood, and the other way would be the carrying of the faith to the nations and providing the real heaven for peace, by inoculating them with Christian principles. Brotherhood having failed, the principle of nationalism now ruled. This fight for nationalism was compatible with Christian professions, and, indeed, became a supreme duty. War was brought about by nations believing that their true interests were at stake, and it was an easy task for one nation to become obsessed with an idea, which seemed right to the majority of its citizens, but which, to the outsider appeared to be wrong. He himself had served as a chaplain to the Forces in the South African War. He would be sorry to say that that war did not come under the category of true interests. Germany had allowed herself to become obsessed with the idea that war was good. Germany had made a god of war and as many as 7000 books had been published every year—partly technical books dealing with the science of war, while in England perhaps only twenty were published, and these were not read outside military circles. He thought the South African War he was surprised to find the officers show a great indifference to war, and some refused to talk what one might call "shop." Then there many had a Navy League, but the membership was over a million, while that of England was but a few thousands, and unless there was a real "scare" they would be unable to get a meeting of more than about thirty or forty. Germany was obsessed with the idea that war was necessary. She thought that she and England standing across her path. She had been planning, and thought she saw a good investment. The Christian people of Germany fully believed that they were fighting for the nation, and with God's blessing. When it came to peace it must be peace in terms of discernment, not alone for the present sacrifice. The outcome must be fruitful and the only fruitfulness would be one lifting from the nations of Europe, or in some measure the whole of the world, the burden under which they had been groaning for many years. Sooner or later the time would come when our people would weaken and begin to cry peace. Then they would be a real need to have our shoulders to the wheel, and, at whatever sacrifice, to go on; for to stop then would mean that the war would be untruthful and the evil demon of militarism would have to be fought over again and in ten or twelve years later it would be inconceivable, as to what science would produce for war.

A vote of thanks was moved to the speaker by the Chairman.

In seconding the vote Mr J. Watson (Whitkirk) said he entirely concurred with what the speaker had said. He, indeed if another idea of Germany was not that she was divinely appointed for the spreading of culture.

The Rev W. A. Hewett replied that it was so, and they believed that it could only be done by war.

Mr Watson said he had heard of a young lady who had recently returned to England after a course of training at a German University. The professors, she said, gave them such sentences to translate, as "Germany is going to war with England very soon, and England will be removed from the path of Germany." The party of English students at last held council and decided on the next occasion to demonstrate their protest. When they did so the professor said, "Facts are facts that admit of no modification whatever."

The Rev. H. H. Malleson said the only thing that would stop war would be the establishment of Lord Robert's system.

The resolution was cordially passed.

HOUSE ON FIRE AT BURN.

A CAT GIVES THE ALARM.

A fire broke out at the dwelling-house of Thomas Romans, blacksmith, of Burn, near Selby.

Romans, who was asleep in the house, had retired to bed, but was awakened by his cat rushing into the bedroom from the kitchen below in a state of fright. He detected a smell of burning, and found that the kitchen was on fire. He made his escape through the bedroom window, and raised an alarm.

The Selby Fire Brigade were called, and they succeeded in extinguishing the flames. Damage to the furniture, etc., was done, to the amount of close upon £100.

The fire was, it is thought, caused by the overheating of the wooden mantelpiece.

The occupant's wife was staying at her mother's house in Selby, Romans had it not fortunate that she was not in bed, as he could not have got her out of the house.

Foot-and-mouth disease has made its appearance on farms at Ollingharv, Northamptonshire, and Deal, in Kent.

FALSE PRETENCES AND THEFT AT SCARCROFT.

THREE YEARS' PENAL SERVITUDE.

A strange story was told at the West Riding Quarter Sessions at Wakefield on Monday, when Herbert Thornton, aged twenty-five, moulder, was indicted for having obtained £4 by false pretences from Lady Mary Saville, Scarcroft; with attempting to obtain £4 from Emily Brown, a cook in the employ of Lady Saville; and with having stolen a bicycle.

On August 11th Thornton visited Lady Saville, and representing that he was a Leeds detective, he told her ladyship that he understood she had a banknote in her safe, and he would require £4 as surety, owing to the coin being a forgigner. Lady Saville paid him the money, and having obtained this he insisted on interviewing the cook.

The cook, however, proved too clever for the "detective," and being convinced that he was a fraud when he demanded £2 "for her good conduct," she said she had a £5 note, which he would give to him if he would give her the £4. He at once gave her the £5, but she did not part with the £4 note.

Thornton was obviously annoyed, and said he would have her arrested. He went to the telephone as if to communicate with the police authorities, but instead of doing so he went out of the house, and in order to get off more quickly he stole a bicycle on the way. He was arrested through asking for a lamp.

Counsel pointed out that the form produced by the prisoner bore the head: "Leeds City Police (Detective Department)."

The prisoner, who pleaded guilty, said that he had served in a Volunteer regiment, and asked to be allowed to join the forces "and make a man of himself."

He had a bad record, and was sent to penal servitude for three years.

OULTON DISTRICT EDUCATION COMMITTEE.

PARENTS AND LABOUR CERTIFICATES.

The monthly meeting of the Oulton District Education Sub-Committee was held at the V.M.C.A. Buildings, Albion Place, Leeds, on Tuesday night—Mr G. M. Abbey (Chairman) presiding. Others present were Mr J H Tomlinson (vice-chairman), Mr B. Wood Higgins, Mr S H Young, Mr H E Catton, Mr T H Myton, with the Clerk (Mr H. W. Powell).

The attendance returns showed that the percentage for the whole of the district for September was 90.74 as against 89.24 for the corresponding month of last year. Oulton St. John's mixed department topped the district with 93.33 as compared with 88.98. The infants' department of that school had a percentage of 89.17 as compared with 84.69 last year; Oulton Council, infants, 89.76 as against 89.16; Colton Council, mixed, 89.57, as against 88.96.

Mr Higgins raised the question when a number of certificates came up for the committee to sign enabling certain boys over thirteen years of age to leave school, as to whether there were not some boys under 13 of their time. He had heard that certain boys, or rather their parents, had got it into their minds that the Lads could leave school when they liked.

The Clerk said that if boys left before they were thirteen no one could employ them. A few weeks ago a number of birdbills were printed and circulated in the district setting forth the regulations. It was a fact that had had to be drilled into people.

HOW A LOFTHOUSE MINER ENLISTED.

PIT-BOY CHAMPION OF ENGLAND.

In the big camp in Bucks, where, a section of Kitchener's Army is settled, the men all hail from the North—Lancashire, Durham, Northumberland, and Yorkshire. Here is Corporal Harry Littlewood, ost pit-boy champion of England, whose home is at Lofthouse.

He is a magnificent specimen of the North country lad, and it is a proud day when the discipline the ring can do for a boy that though Littlewood never had any training as a soldier until there, weeks ago he is already a corporal.

This is how he came to enlist. Young Aburrow was to have been on exhibition at the local music-hall, and Littlewood was engaged to spar with him. His trainer and backer, however, who happens to be his own brother, shouted on the ground that war time was no time for boxing. The pit-boy champion, disappointed of his fight, therefore decided that he had better fight for his country, and so he went straight away and enlisted.

A CONVICTION AT TADCASTER.

APPLETON MAN'S APPEAL.

At the West Riding Quarter Sessions at Wakefield, on Tuesday, before Mr G. B. C. Yarborough, and other magistrates, Joseph Maynard, retired coachman, Appleton Roebuck, appealed against a conviction for poaching in pursuit of game, the respondent being Robert Jackson Carr, farmer, Villa Farm, Appleton Roebuck.

Mr Acton Wragge and Mr W. Stewart appeared for the appellant, and Mr A. H. Marshall, M.P., and Mr E. Beverley for the respondent.

Mr Marsh-Ii stated that on August 31st, at the Tadcaster Court, Maynard was fined 5s. and costs for trespassing in pursuit of game on land occupied by Carr, who farms about 140 acres, the place where Maynard was alleged to have been trespassing being kept by respondent as a rabbit warren. About 4.30 p.m. on August 25th Carr was walking along the road when he noticed a black mare in a gate, and he recognised it as belonging to Maynard. He, therefore stopped to see what was happening, and after waiting a moment of two he heard the sound of a shot. Carr then walked through the gateway leading into Mrs Coleman's field, and he saw nobody there, but on walking half-way across this field he saw the appellant getting over the hedge from his (Carr's) field. Maynard was carrying a gun, and he had a rabbit in his possession.

Carr corroborated this statement.

Cross-examined by Mr Wragge, Carr said it was not true that Maynard said to him, "I have just shot a rabbit which was in the hedge, and I went over to get it."

Maynard said he shot the rabbit in Mrs Coleman's field, and it ran through the hedge into the next field. He denied firing a shot in Carr's field.

Mr Wragge described the case as a trivial one, and one that ought never to have been brought into court. He contended that it was a vindictive prosecution.

The appeal was dismissed with costs.

ROTHWELL DISTRICT EDUCATION COMMITTEE.

AMBULANCE CLASSES—LARGE ATTENDANCE.

The monthly meeting of the Rothwell Education Committee was held at the Carlton Lane School, Rothwell, on Friday night—Mr J Butterick (Charm-n) presiding. Others present were Mrs. Stoner, Messrs S. R. Cherbwick, J. Hare, R. McGlaughlin, T. Ellis, W. Lunn, with the Clerk (Mr S. Angus), and the attendance officer (Mr H. Brown).

The attendance returns, which were voted satisfactory, showed the circumstances, showed a percentage for the whole district of 89.12 as compared with 86.36 for July. The returns for the various schools were as follows:—Rothwell Higher

Rothwell Courier & Times

ESTABLISHED 1873.

CHEAP PREPAID RATES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS of the following classes:— WANTED, FOR SALE, and TO LET.

Words.	1 week.	3 weeks.	6 weeks.	13 weeks
20	0 6	1 0	1 10	3 3
30	0 9	1 6	2 9	5 0
40	1 0	1 9	3 8	6 6

If Cash is not sent with advt, ordinary rates will be charged.

BUSINESS ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rates charged at the following rates when ordered for not less than

13 weeks,	1s. per inch per	insertion.
26 do.	10d. do.	do.
52 do.	8d. do.	do.

RAILWAY NOTICE.

NORTH EASTERN RAILWAY.

EXCURSION TRAINS FROM LEEDS NEW STATION CALLING AT CROSSGATES AND GARFORTH

Wednesday, 28th Oct., 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, Scarborough, Pickering, and Whitby. Saturday, 31st Oct., 12.46 p.m. to York, Malton, Scarborough, Pickering, and Whitby. 12.45 p.m. to Goole and Hull.

For further particulars see bills.

WANTED

WANTED a Strong GENERAL for Farm-house.—Cocksford, Hazlewood, Tadcaster. 1 2426

WANTED a Good GENERAL, 18-20, to sleep 96.—Apply, M. Hoare, Grove, Whitkirk. 2 1855

WANTED Good GENERAL SERVANT.—Apply, Mrs Simpson, 152, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates. 3 2303

GENERAL SERVANT wanted. No baking. Three in family. Good personal references necessary.—Apply, Green, Jesmond, Whitkirk, nr. Leeds. 1 2444

WANTED Experienced GENERAL. No cooking. Good salary. Plenty of liberty. References required.—Apply, 12, Brunswick Place, Leeds. 3

FOR SALE.

FOR Sale 1 Acre VICTORIA RHUBARB ROOTS, 2 years old.—Apply, Holt, Leadwell Lane, Rothwell. 2502

FOR Sale GEESE Dressed, 1s. lb.; Chickens, 5s. to 6s. couple; Goose feathers, 12s. 6d. stone; Fowl feathers, 7s. 6d. stone.—Miss Thirkell, Park House, Aberford.

MEDICAL.

TO MARRIED LADIES.

THE WIFE'S HANDBOOK, by Dr. Allbutt, should be read by all Married People. 7d. Post Free. Illustrated list of Malthusian Appliances, Rubber Goods, &c., Post Free, 2 Stamps.—(S) Davies & Co., 54 Park Lane, Leeds.

LADIES! Wood's Challenge Remedy is guaranteed under the sum of £100 to cure more cases than any other advertised remedy. For all cases of irregularities Challenge Remedy has no equal. Price 2/9; special 4/6. Consultations free 10 to 10 daily. Hygienic Rubber Requisites. Only address—Mr and Mrs. W. WOOD, 20, Louis Street, Chapeltown Road Leeds.

MARRIED LADIES.

Consult MRS. WOOD, the only reliable Ladies' Specialist. 20 years' experience. My remedies never fail. My Special Mixture or Pills are guaranteed to be the only reliable remedy known. Acts in a few hours after all else fails. Quick, Safe, and Sure. Price 2s. 9d. Special 4s. 6d., post free in plain wrappers, or stamp for particulars. Consultations by appointment. Only Address: Mrs WOOD, 31, Park Avenue, Blackpool.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH, EXTRACTIONS, Etc.

Mr. J. DILWORTH'S
Dental Rooms,
CECIL HOUSE, BURLEY LODGE TERRACE, HYDE PARK ROAD, LEEDS.
Advice Free. Hours—10 to 1, 2 to 6, and at
16, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates.
Every Friday, 2 to 7.30 p.m. Other hours by appointment.
Painless Extractions. Nitrous Oxide Gas administered.

THOMAS MIDDLETON
PAWNBROKER AND JEWELLER,
96 VICAR LANE, (Top of LADY LANE, LEEDS),
ADVANCES MONEY TO ANY AMOUNT ON PORTABLE PROPERTY.

£0	10	0 for	2½d. per month.
£1	0	0 ,,	3d. ,, ,,
£2	0	0 ,,	6d. ,, ,,
£5	10	0 ,,	1/- ,, ,,
£5	0	0 ,,	1s. 6d. ,, ,,
£8	0	0 ,,	2s. 8d. ,, ,,
£10	0	0 ,,	3s. 4d. ,, ,,

Sums above £10 by Special Agreement.
ONLY ADDRESS—
96 VICAR LANE, LEEDS.
PLEDGE OFFICE: 4 LADY LANE LEEDS.

Established 37 Years.

WM. DENTON & SON,
23, COMMERCIAL STREET, ROTHWELL,
Estate Agents and Rent Collectors.
Estates Entirely Managed. Terms on application.
Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass, etc.,
Insurance Brokers.
Quotations for any kind of Insurance Free.

MR and MRS. TURNER
7 and 9, Lady Lane, Leeds,
and 36, Horton Road, Bradford,
Purchase for Cash, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Cast-off Clothing. All Letters and Parcels receive immediate attention. Full value given for Old Gold and Silver. Trial Solicited.
Highest Price Given.
Tel. Nos.: Leeds, 3188; Bradford, 241"

YOUR WEDDING
Should BE HIGH whether it is Motoring or Cabriolet—a are in most talked of and tip-top most thoughts of in the City. Say about us; ... us our charges BUCKTON, Clegg Lane to 10 of Cambridge Street. Tele. 1077 ... etc.
"WE NEVER SLEEP."

PUBLIC NOTICES.

CROSSGATES BAPTIST FELLOWSHIP.

Miss IVY EASTON'S CONCERT.

BAPTIST CHURCH HALL.

TUESDAY, October 27th, 1914, at 7.45 prompt.

Artistes:
Miss Teresa Barraclough (Soprano).
Miss Ivy Easton (Contralto).
Mr. Arthur Sykes (Tenor, Wakefield Cathedral).
Mr. George Cromsand (Bass).
Mr. Frank Wand (Humorist).
The Allied Quartette.
Miss Josephine Wilman (Accompanist).

Tickets 2/-, 1/-, and Children 6d.

Proceeds for the Leeds Belgian Relief Fund.

THE PICTURE HOUSE, GARFORTH.

Every Evening at 7 o'clock, except
SATURDAY: Two Performances at 6.30 & 8.30.

SPECIAL WAR ATTRACTIONS FOR WEEK COMMENCING MONDAY, Oct. 26th, 1914.

Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday—
"D. B. M. S."
(Our Helpless Millions Saved, or How Lt. Moran Saved London).
"Without Exception, the Greatest Two-reeler of the Season."
German Spies attempt a Dastardly Attack on our English Reservoirs, but amid thrilling and dangerous adventures, Lt. Moran defeats their object.
ACTUAL PICTURES FROM THE FRONT—
"THE WARWICK WAR NEWS."
Photographed by the King of Camera-Men, Mr Cherry Kearton.

Thursday, Friday, and Saturday—
"FACING ETERNITY."
In Four Splendid Parts.
A very Exciting and Powerful Drama of the France-German War, depicting in a series of magnificent and startling pictures, a brave French woman's sacrifice.
A Glorious Picture that Everyone should see.

Don't Forget Wednesday Night.
Special Benefit Night for the West Riding War Distress Fund.
Come and Help a worthy object.

Popular Prices—2s., 1s., and 6d.

BARKER'S BRITISH PIANOS.
SEE OUR WINDOWS.
MAGNIFICENT BARGAINS.
J. and J. HOPKINSON, upright grand, cost 59gns. ..... only 25gns.
COLLARD and COLLARD, short lever, tone superb ..... only 18gns.
BRINSMEAD, oversrung, new, cost 55gns. ..... only 38gns.
WADDINGTON, suitable for learner.... only 9gns.
KIRKMAN, in perfect condition ..... only 9gns.
BURLING and BURLING, fine years' use ..... only 14gns.
CHAPPELL, upright new wood ..... only 30gns.
BARKER and CO., overstrung upright grand ..... only 25gns.
Two MASTUL PIANOS, will be sold at cost ..... only 22gns.
CROWLEY, English overstrung.... only 25gns.
JUSTIN BROWNE, new 7-octave, quite new ..... only 20gns.
PIANOS by BECHSTEIN, STEINWAY, RUD. IBACH, NEUMEYER, SCHIED-MAYER, KAPS, LIPP, RITMULLER, must be sold regardless of cost. Reasonable offers accepted.
BABY GRAND, 6 feet, 3 months old, only 48gns.
STEINWAY GRAND, suitable for picture house, only 50gns.
PLAYER PIANO, by Angelus-Brinsmead, cost 85gns. ..... only 55gns.
See our windows and compare our prices with others. Pounds saved.
BARKER'S, NEW STATION STREET, LEEDS.

PATENTS for INVENTIONS obtained by
JOHN F. WALSH, CHARTERED PATENT AGENT
25, ROYAL EXCHANGE, LEEDS, and CROSSLEY STREET, HALIFAX.
The Oldest Established in Leeds. Handbook Free, or British and Foreign Patents, Trade Marks and Designs.
Telephone: LEEDS 2738. HALIFAX 387.

Telephone No. 1 Garforth.

ALFRED REED,
Late Matthews,
CAB and WAGGONETTE PROPRIETOR,
GARFORTH and BARWICK-IN-ELMET.
Cabs, Waggonettes and Landaus for Hire.
Large and Small Parties Catered for.

DR. SKELTON'S
BRONCHITIC LOZENGES
Cure Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, Difficulties of Breathing, Consumption, and all Diseases of the Chest and Lungs.
Sold only in Boxes at 1 1/2 and 2/9 at
LAMB'S HERBAL STORES, 28, KIRKGATE, LEEDS.
All kinds of Herbs, etc., kept in Stock.

Gent's 9ct. & 18ct. Bangle Rings
Large Assortment always in Stock at
J. WINTERHALDER'S,
Watchmaker, Jeweller, & Optician,
13, New York Street, LEEDS
(Opposite the Yorkshire Penny Bank, Kirkgate).
Repairs of all kinds a Specialty.

J. ROBINSON & SONS,
King Charles' Croft,
LEEDS.
Telephone No. 1522.
Catalogues free on Application.

CULTIVATORS, PLOUGHS, HARROWS, CHAFF & TURNIP CUTTERS, &c.
By all the Best Makers at Lowest Cash Prices.

SALES BY AUCTION.

TADCASTER AUCTION MART.

ON MONDAY NEXT,
Messrs THOMLINSON & SON
Will Sell by Auction—
50 to 60 Fat Bullocks and Heifers.
100 to 120 Prime Fat SHEEP.
100 to 150 Fat and Store PIGS.
THOMLINSON & SON, Auctioneers.

ON MONDAY NEXT, AT 11 O'CLOCK.
GARFORTH LIVE STOCK AUCTION MART
50 CHOICE BULLOCKS and HEIFERS.
80 FAT LAMBS, SHEARLINGS, and EWES.
PORK and STORE PIGS.
WM. ASH, Auctioneer.

W. A. F. BURROWS & CO.,
Auctioneers and Valuers,
BOND PLACE, LEEDS.
(Opposite Yorkshire Penny Bank).
Sales of every description conducted on the most reasonable terms.
Valuations made for all purposes.
To Heads of Families, Private Buyers, Dealers, and others.
Various Stocks of Drapery, Boots, and Shoes, Hosiery, and Underclothing always on hand, and may be purchased privately at any time. Goods on View. Public Inspection Invited.

Messrs J. CUNDALL & SON,
AUCTIONEERS and TENANT-RIGHT VALUERS.
SHERBURN, E.R., YORK

H. E. WALKER.
STURTON GRANGE, GARFORTH,
Agricultural Agent
— FOR —
THE DRIFFIELD PURE LINSEED, COTTON and UNION CAKE COMPANY, LIMITED.
Molassine Meal.
Dairy and Calf Meal.
Poultry and Dog Foods.
Manures, Peat Moss, Oils, etc.
Best Quality & Prompt Delivery.

JOHN WATSON & Co.,
34, CALL LANE, LEEDS
See our Special Blue Lounge Suit
Made to Measure in Fine Quality Serge,
Easy Terms £2 2s. Cash 38/6
Well Worth 50/-
OUR SCARBORO' COSTUMES
Are made to Measure in all Wool Navy Coating Serge. Coat Lined Silk. Satin Collar, Lined Skirt.
Cash 30/- Easy Terms 33/6
Patterns and Particulars on Application.

— TRY —
SANCFORD'S CROWN VINEGAR,
Pickles, Health Salt,
and Baking Powder.
ALL ABSOLUTELY PURE
— SANCFORD & Co., Ltd, LEEDS.

If your Hearing is Defective, read this :-
The adjustable Earphone, for which we are the sole agents throughout Yorkshire, will enable you to hear perfectly.
There are many thousands in use already, and delighted wearers are daily thanking us for the help they are deriving
Recommended by the Medical Faculty.
A personal demonstration is invited, and will place no obligation upon you.
CALL OR WRITE FOR BROCHURE.
HEYWOOD,
Eyesight Specialists,
and Earphone Experts,
20, DUNCAN STREET,
LEEDS.

Window Cleaning, Paintwashing
Limewashing, &c., at Moderate Charges.
EXPERIENCED MEN SENT ANY DISTANCE.
FIRTH & KENYON,
GROVE ROAD, HALTON, near LEEDS.

Purveyors of Marmalade — To H.M. King George V.

Frank COOPER'S "OXFORD" MARMALADE.

The "Oxford" has a distinctive flavour, has the real home-made character, and goes farther — than any other. —

OBTAINABLE AT
Walter Jubb's, Austhorpe Rd., Crossgates
:: ALSO ::
S. BORDER & Co., YORK.

FOR FUNERALS.
CABS AND CARRIAGES FOR WEDDINGS
J. T. BUCKTON, Proprietor
10, Bazinghall Street, Boar Lane,
Telephones 1020. and
ALWAYS READY
double four eight
LEEDS UNDERTAKERS

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Communications intended for insertion must be authenticated by the name and address of the writer—not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. No notice will be taken of anonymous letters, and rejected communications cannot be returned.

Notice of Births and Deaths are charged 1s. each prepaid. They must be authenticated by the name and address of the sender.

Notices of marriages are charged at the rate of 2s. 6d. each
In Memoriam" Notices 1s. each, and 6d. extra for all matter up to four lines.

DEATHS.

CROSSLAND.—October 16th, at Kippax, aged 58, Arthur Crosland.

WILSON.—October 13th, at Clifford, aged 61, Edward Wilson, of Leeds.

WORDSWORTH.—October 17th, at the New Inn, Barwick-in-Elmet (suddenly), in her 58th year, Sarah, the beloved wife of Charles Wrigglesworth.

IN MEMORIAM.

JOHNSON.—In loving memory of my dear son, Henry Johnson, who died October 21st, 1905, at South Milford.
—Mother.

LIMBERT.—In loving memory of my dear mother, Rachel Limbert, who died Oct. 24th, 1913.
"A day of remembrance sad to recall."
—From her daughter.

LEADLEY.—In loving memory of Jack Leadley, who died Oct. 25th, 1913.
"Missed most by those who love him still."
"But the Master came and called for him."
—Aunt and Uncle, Rothwell.

LEADLEY.—In loving remembrance of our dear grandson and nephew, Jack Leadley, who departed this life 25th, 1913.
"One year hath past and still we miss him.
Never will his memory fade;
Loving thoughts shall ever linger
Around the grave where he is laid."
—From his grandad and grandma, and uncle Leonard.

SIMPSON.—In loving memory of our dear father, Thomas Simpson, Station Road, Kippax, who died October 23rd, 1913.
"And still our dear mother, Annis Simpson, who died October 13th, 1910.
"God's will be done."
—From sons and daughters.

Rothwell Courier & Times
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 24th.

A sum of £5, from the Scarcroft Mission has been sent to Leeds Infirmary.

The scholars of Brandsby Church School have sent £1 10s. to the Leeds Belgian Refugee Fund.

The Barkston Ash teachers have contributed £5 17s. 6d. to Sir John Hoesfall's West Riding Relief Fund.

A Board of Trade statement shows a decrease in unemployment in both insured and uninsured trades.

A sum of £1 from Aberford Church collecting boxes has been sent to the Leeds Belgian Refugee Fund.

At Aberford School last month the percentage of attendance was 90.55 against 92.50 in the previous September.

A sum of £7, collected at Kirkby Wharfe Church, per Rev. G. H. Metcalfe, has been sent to York County Hospital.

Saxton School, with sixty-nine scholars on its registers, had an attendance for September of 94.2 as compared with 91.66 last year.

The attendance at Barkston Ash Roman Catholic School was not quite so good last month as for September last year. The figures were 89.83 against 90.66.

The Hon. E. C. Lascelles, son of the Earl of Harewood, has been selected for service on the Staff. He has been a subaltern in the Rifle Brigade—the 4th Battalion—for six years.

In addition to the Barkston Ash footballers mentioned last week, the following members of the Barwick Rising Sun club are now serving their country:—W. Lees (Yorkshire Regiment), and J. Wilson. All are in the 10th Battalion West Yorkshire Regiment.

Miss Wheatley, daughter of Mr J. Y. Wheatley, of Appleton Roebuck, Bolton Percy, who went on a visit to France before the outbreak of war, is still in that country, and unable to get away. She is enjoying good health, but is naturally anxious to return home.

Two of the Belgian refugees at Bolton Percy visited the York County Hospital on Tuesday to see their wounded countrymen. Mr Housemen, who accompanied them, said that the villagers were delighted with their new guests, and that the children were going to school in the village and apparently enjoying their tuition.

Mr Lund, of Beeza Hall, Aberford, has turned his residence at Harewgate into a hospital, and on Friday morning 16 wounded Belgian soldiers were given there. The men were mostly engaged in the defence of Antwerp. One, a bugler, who fell in the trenches, has clung to his bugle all through, and it stands on a table by the bedside.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT NEWS.

ROTHWELL

A sum of £1 1s. has been contributed by Rothwell Church School (mixed department) to the Leeds Belgian Refugee Fund.

The employees of the East and West Yorkshire Union Railways Co. (Rothwell) have sent £1 to the Leeds National Relief Fund and £1 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

Ladies West Riding Petty Sessions.—The magistrates committed defendant for two months, but suspended the sentence for a month to give him an opportunity of paying

Patent list compiled by John E. Walsh, chartered patent agent, of 25, Royal Exchange, Boar Lane, Leeds, and 25, Crossley Street, Halifax. Applications—B. Bailey, Leeds, improvements in overcoats and like garments; T. B. Tutill, Pickering, improvements in wristlets; J. H. Micklethwaite, Dewsbury, improved winding motion for self-acting spinning mules. Application completed—Henry Parker, Barnsley, improvements in hand-barrows. Patent applied—Flower, Beedley, and Wichman, Leeds, internal-combustion of steam turbines (patent of addition).

Primitive Methodist Church.—On Sunday, in furtherance of the special services to celebrate the opening of the new organ at the Primitive Methodist Church sermons were preached in the morning and evening by Mr W. S. Blackburn, of Ripley. After the evening service, when the organist at these services, while in the afternoon the choir on the Joseph Street Primitive Methodist Church, Hunslet, rendered a musical programme, Mr Whitehead and the singing and Miss F. Bellerby was the reader. Mr R. Cole officiated at the organ, and Mr J. Linley presided.

Acting.—In the Leeds County Court on Friday Robert Henry Winfield, a Rothwell miner, sued Joseph Kaye and Sons (Limited), bock manufacturers, of Leeds, for damages for personal injuries through the alleged negligent driving of a motor car by one of their servants. The plaintiff and two other men on cycles were emerging from the Calverley Road, near Oulton Lodge, on May 27th, when the motor car came into collision with the plaintiff's cycle, throwing him off. It was stated that the driver of the car was quite inexperienced, and had with him another chauffeur who was giving him lessons. His Honour awarded £50 damages.

W.T.A.C.—The ladies of the Rothwell branch of the Women's Total Abstinence Union held the first meeting of the season on Thursday week, when there was a very good company present. An enjoyable musical programme, arranged by Mrs Barthram, was gone through. The programme opened with a pianoforte solo, pleasingly rendered by Miss Idle. Songs were given by Miss Lily Blackburn, and a trio was given by three "Gipsies" (Mrs Southwart, Mrs. L. Ireson, and Mrs. Idle). Humorous monologues were contributed by the Misses Baines and Smith, and recitations were given by Mr H. Baines. Refreshments were afterwards served, and short addresses were delivered by Mrs. Young (Secretary), Mrs. Southwart (vice-president), and Mrs Barthram. A pleasant evening was brought to a close by a vote of thanks to the artistes and speakers being moved by Mrs Scholey, and seconded by Mrs Wilson.

Germans at Lofthouse Park.—Lofthouse Park received its first batch of fifty German prisoners on Thursday. The camp where the Germans are to be interned is in the park which in recent years has been made more or less famous as an aviation centre. Originally Lofthouse Park was laid out as an extensive pleasure ground, and within the spacious enclosure are numerous hotly wooden buildings, one of which a huge dancing hall, is admirably adapted for the new purpose. There are in addition, numerous refreshment rooms which are connected with elaborate and modern kitchens, all ready for the extensive cooking necessary for the prisoners. The fifty Germans who arrived on Thursday are only a fifth of the advance party of a considerable body, and accommodation has been made for 1,000 men. In addition to the permanent structures already in the park, a large number of huts have been built and on Monday morning contractors' men were putting finishing touches to a canteen. In the centre of the park, the military authorities have prepared an extensive compound, in which the prisoners will be able to take their recreation, and it is securely fenced by barbed wire. When the prisoners arrived at Wakefield station at 2.45 on the platform a crowd of curious spectators awaited them, including some of the Belgian refugees who are being housed in Wakefield. The prisoners, who were in charge of a contingent of London County Territorials, were at once marshalled, and carried their effects in large paper bundles. They were lined up in double file, and were marched straight to the waiting tramcars for conveyance to Lofthouse Park. The tramcars carrying the prisoners were guarded fore and aft by soldiers with fixed bayonets. The unusual sight aroused considerable interest, and the cars quickly passed from Wakefield to Lofthouse, without provoking the slightest demonstration. Nor was there any demonstration from the crowd awaiting the prisoners' arrival at the gates of Lofthouse Park. The prisoners, who were a motley-looking lot of civilians, who are understood to have been rounded up in London, were eyed with curiosity by the crowd of people who congregated round the guard at the entrance to the park. During a short wait outside the park they glanced furtively at the portals of their new home, and then, on the word of command from the officer of the escort, marched briskly into the compound, where, for an indefinite period, they will be kept in custody. The custody of the prisoners is efficient enough to ensure the provision of a five electric wire, which is entwined round the fencing of the park. Colonel Gordon Cumming is in command of the guard.

Allerton Bywater.

Language.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday James Henry Charles, miner, of Allerton Bywater, was fined 5s. and costs for having used obscene language at about 9.27 p.m. on Sunday, October 11th, at Kippax. P.C. Davies proved the case.

CROSSGATES

Mission.—A mission on "The claims of God" has been held at the Crossgates Baptist Church this week. It was opened on Sunday, when the Rev. J. Miller Hamilton, the pastor, who is conducting the mission, was the preacher. Services for both adults and children have been held, and a feature has been the solos of Miss Hilda Palmer, who has vocal gifts of a high order.

Golf.—A golf match was played at Garforth between Crossgates Ladies and Garforth Ladies, and the latter were defeated by 3½ to 2½. Details (Garforth names first):—Miss Denby ½ v. Mrs E. Dawson ½, Mrs Sandy 1 v. Miss M. Johnson 0, Miss Smith 0 v. Miss Johnson 1, Miss D. Denby 0 v. Mrs Wade 1, Mrs Koppell 0 v. Miss Rhodes 1, Mrs Dobson ½ v. Mrs H. Rhodes 0.

Rifle Club.—A rifle club has been formed for the district, and already it has a membership of 40. The membership is restricted (1) to married men, (2) single men over 35, and (3) single men not eligible to join the Army or Navy. A range is to be prepared in Mansion Quarry, and it will be partly covered in. If the club is successful it is proposed to completely cover in the range before the winter comes.

Wesley Guild.—On Wednesday evening the Christian service section of the Wesley Guild reviewed the various departments of church life under the subject of "My work," with an introduction by Mr A. W. Dyson, after which Mr W. T. Thompson spoke for the workers, Mr A. Beaumont for the Wesley Guild, Mr A. E. Broome for the Methodist local preachers, Mr F. R. Dodson for the Band of Hope, Mr H. Cunningham for the Bible Class, Mr J. E. Bowden for the Sunday School, and Miss Smith for the class leaders.

Crossgates Scouts and the War.—The quickness of the Scout movement in this and other districts has (says a correspondent) been remarked upon frequently, but it must not be thought that it has lost ground. It may not be recruiting fast, but its members are filling numerous posts in the public service, and are quietly justifying their training, and are receiving well-earned commendation on every side. The local troop—"The 13th"—have given of their best, and the record is one to be proud of. Their hut Scoutmaster is with the Army Service Corps, one of the assistant scoutmasters has taken a commission in the 7th B.W.R. Regt., another one is on the Transport of the 8th Battalion, while the fourth officer's attempts to serve have been futile on account of his employment for the present on Government work of an urgent character. The junior officers have all taken service. Fred Walton, Jos. Hampshire, and Reg. Beaumont are with the 1st Pals, Francis Danby, Geo. Elliott, and E. Whitehead are in Kendall with the 8th Battalion W.Y. Regt.; Guthrie Stott and Bert Broadbent are with the 1st W.R.R.A.M.C. at Strensall; Horace Wynne is on the wireless staff on board a destroyer; and Gilbert Dilworth is on the University Ambulance. The six Silver Wolfs are included in the above names. While all the officers have gone into the service, and left the new Scoutmaster single-handed, it is hoped that the elder scouts left will make good use of their excellent camp and ambulance outfit. The 13th can at any time supply five tents, ambulance carts and stretchers if called upon.

GARFORTH

Rates.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday three Garforthians were summoned by the Garforth overseers for non-payment of the poor rate. The usual orders were made.

Dogsy Case.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Richard Edward Crossland, yeast dealer, of Garforth, was summoned for not keeping his dog under proper control on October 10th. P.C. Hogg proved the case, and a fine of 2s. 6d. and costs was imposed.

Drink.—James Sharpe, miner, of Garforth, was summoned at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday for having been drunk and disorderly at Garforth on Friday, October 9th. P.C. Bewer stated that about 10.30 p.m. on that day he saw the defendant in Main Street, Garforth, in a very drunken condition, and colliding with people. A fine of 5s. and costs was imposed.

Rifle Club.—A movement is on foot to start a rifle club for Garforth district, and there appears to be a demand for it, for it is said that over fifty men have stated their willingness to join and make themselves efficient marksmen. A range, however, has not been secured yet, and unless the promoters manage to obtain that the project will fall through. The range must be under cover, and service rifles would be used.

Footballers Who Have Enlisted.—A dozen members of Garforth White Rose Football Club have joined the Army, their names being as follows:—F. W. Gent (R.F.A.), C. W. Slater (Yorkshire Hussars), T. Maskill and G. Birch (Leeds Rifles), A. Bowers (R.F.A.), T. Quigley and H. Maskill (Durham Light Infantry), F. W. Wilson, J. Quigley, and A. Gould (K.O.Y.L.I.), and S. Thompson and A. Dickinson (R.A.M.C.).

School Attendance.—The attendance at the schools in Garforth district was not so good last month as in the previous September, the percentage being 88.36 against 90.68. Garforth Council School, mixed, had a percentage of 93.29 against 90.20; and the infants' school 88.03 against 88.09; while at East Garforth School the figures were 81.46 against 93.59. Measles affected the attendance in the two last-mentioned cases. At Garforth Council School the percentage was 92.54 against 89.93, and at the infants' school, where mumps affected the attendance, 86.52 against 85.55. The figures for Garforth R.C. were 92.11 against 93.33.

Garforth Picture House.—The management are to be congratulated on their enterprise in securing the splendid picture "Chained to the Enemy" for the first part of this week. The story is in every way excellent, and part of the scenes are laid at the Battle of Mons. Here we have pictures with remarkable realism, the hideous and gallant stand made by the British troops against terrible odds. It is a picture to make every Briton thrill with pride. On Monday next another special war picture—"O.H.M.S." "Our Helpless Millions Saved, or How Lieut. Moran Saved London"—is to be exhibited. German spies conceive the daring plan of blowing up the London reservoirs, but after a series of thrilling adventures, pulsating with tremendous excitement, Lieutenant Moran saves London. The management have also made special arrangements for war pictures, photogr phed in France and Belgium, by the famous camera-man, Mr Cherry Kearton, and the first of these will be shown on Monday next. For Tuesday the great feature film "Facing Eternity" will be the attraction. This subject is in four parts, and the story is one of intense interest. Miss Henny Porten, the well-known actress, plays the leading part as the heroic French woman, who sacrifices all for her country.

GREAT PRESTON

A collection at St. Aidan's Church, Great Preston, realised £1 12s for the Leeds Belgian Refugee Fund.

The Schools.—At Great Preston School last month the percentage of attendance was 91.06 against 90.55 for September last year, and at Bowers Allerton School, 93.39 against 93.46

Great Preston and District War Fund.—In connection with the War Fund a well attended meeting was held in the Infants' Schoolroom, Great Preston, on Tuesday evening. The movement commenced about seven weeks ago, when a ladies' committee was formed, with Mrs. Lowther at the head. Materials were bought, cutting out was done, and the following garments have been made by the women of the district, viz., 28 men's shirts, 12 unfinished, 39 articles

...ur district's subscribing, 14 pinafores, 14 dresses, 6 nightdresses, etc., besides a number of articles of underclothing, etc. Collections have been going round not only in the streets in outside districts, Allerton, and Hollinbottom districts, and the following amounts have been collected to date:—Proceeds of concert in connection with Mess's Bible Class, £7 1 1; J. W. Blackburn, £4 1; Bowers Great Preston, £2 5 10s. 10½d.; Mr. Smith, £1 1; for materials, £1 1; balance in hand, £2 17 3d. A resolution was passed at the meeting to send £3 5s to the Belgium Relief Fund.

...Bramley.—The annual harvest in connection with St. Aidan's Church was held in the Institute Schoolroom, Town Street, Pudsey, on Monday afternoon, and Mrs Smith, wife of the Vicar of St. Aidan's, presided. The meeting, in the Institute, proved one of the largest gatherings of the kind ever held in connection with Mrs Lund, Bentor Hall, who took two classes in the Institute Hall. Mrs. Smith expressed her pleasure in being present, and referred to the large place held by the Church, Church and Day Schools in the life of the district and the Vicar and himself. They had every reason to be grateful that they had every success in the opening meeting in the district, and they ought to help and uphold them in every possible way. The ministers, Mr Milner and Mr. N. Firth, also spoke. The Rev. Mr Milner also, worked judiciously for the Church. Mr. Smith also referred to the long period of nearly 20 years that he had known of the very good services rendered by Mrs Lowther in the Church, and referred to the presentation of other workers, who had passed no other opinion of work within the Church, instancing the Rev. J. H. Woodhouse, formerly curate for seven years, then vicar in the parish church. There were others, too, of 18 years' necessary, Drummond Jessie Rawson, Edward Langhorne, Wilfrid Sallis, and Mrs Hutchinson, all of whom had worked splendidly for the Church, and who had come out from their labours in the Church Expectant. There were some who could not be with them that day, because of sickness in the homes of their people, which added to them the sorrowful friends from a distance who had come to support their work in Great Preston. They were all saddened by the terrible war, and all the anxiety and suffering it had brought in its wake, and the shortness of work and bad trade, but they must not give God that He would restore peace in His own good time. His words were, "Be not afraid, only believe," and that there were no fewer attendances to hear and see the children, who had been splendidly trained by Miss Corner and her staff of teachers, and expressed their thanks to the staff for so ably supplying them in the good manner for which they were holding the sale of work, and which she had pleasure in declaring open. A cordial vote of thanks was accorded Mrs Smith on the proposition of Mr. Dodgson, seconded by Mr. Hutchinson, and carried with acclamation.

HALTON

DANGER ON THE ROAD.—On Tuesday in the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions, John Ward, carting agent, of Hunslet, was summoned for having no name on his horse and cart. P.C. Robinson stated that about 8.45 p.m. on October 13th he saw a cart belonging to the defendant standing outside the Woodman Hotel, Halton, without a light showing it for any one, unattended. Defendant said he had left the cart in charge of the driver to go home and get the defendant's cabs. The defendant denied that he had been inside the inn for any length of time. Superintendent Sagar said that at this point the road was very narrow, and the cart formed an obstruction. A fine of 10s. and costs was imposed.

KILLED IN ACTION.—Word has been received in Halton from Private F. Boyington, of the 1st West Yorkshire Regiment, who killed in action on September 20th. Boyington was married and...
...Jumpers, and was 28 years of age. He was employed at the waterworks before the war for the...
...Aire and Calder Navigation Company. During...
...sporting news has since been to travel regarding the fate of Pte. G. Boyington, a brother of the late Pte. G. Boyington, who belonged to the 1st West Riding Regiment, and has been missing since September 22nd. He, too, was a reservist, and was employed as a carter by Messrs. Hepper, Ltd., Leeds. Boyington's wife resides in Cannon Street. Mr. J. Boyington, residing in Cannon Grange, Harehills.

KIPPAX

On Saturday afternoon Kippax Wesleyville, playing in the Leeds and District Junior Football League, defeated Methley Perseverance A by two goals to nil.

Mr. J. C. Cockshott, of Fairburn, delivered an excellent address on "Some Results from the War" to the members of the Young Men's Guild on Wednesday evening. Mr A. Howson presided.

Colonel Francis Duncan Blaud, of Oak Mount, who at one time commanded the 3rd Battalion West York and the Leeds Rifles, died on Tuesday. His wife is cousin of Mr Blaud, of Kippax Park.

PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHURCH.—The members of the Christian Endeavour in connection with this church held a meeting on Tuesday evening, and Mr. T. Bown gave a paper on "The Iniquity of Selfish Ambition."

BAND OF HOPE.—The members of the Band of Hope had a very good meeting on Monday evening, and Mr R. Dyson, of Bowers Buildings, presided. There the band is good attendance, and Mr B. Plows presided.

THE SCHOOLS.—The percentage of attendance for Kippax Central last month was 92.39 against 94.39 for September, 1913; Kippax Council Boys' School, 94.80 against 93.50; Girls' School, 93.51 against 94.01; Infants' School, 89.51 against 88.19.

ELECTION.—The election of a District Councillor in the place of Mr. Jas. Hall, Jnr., took place on Saturday. There were two candidates nominated—Mr George Carter Cawood, ironfounder, and Mr Alfred Townend, joiner. The polling was as follows:—Townend 172, Cawood 159.

LODGE.—On Tuesday at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions Thomas Dixon, miner, of Kippax, was summoned for having used obscene language at Kippax on Sunday, October 11th. P.C. Murtagh stated that while on duty on the Leeds Hill, Kippax, about 12.20 on the night in question, he came across the defendant, who was under the influence of drink, using obscene language. A fine of 5s. and costs was imposed.

DISTRESS COMMITTEE.—On Wednesday evening the members of this committee met in the provisional meeting of a lecture on Belgium before and after the war. The Vicar gave the lecture, while Mr W. Lister manipulated the lantern. Mr E. Parkin, J.P., introduced the lecturer, and spoke of the need for which the lecture was being given. He expressed his regret that the room was not crowded. Everyone should render what assistance they could at this critical period in the history of our country, and much must be made. The many ways in which to do this was well-known to all. Two songs "Boys of the King" and "Our England Home" were contributed by Mr G. Priest, the pianists being Mrs Prince and Mr H. Gummerson. A vote of thanks was moved by the Vicar, Mr Lister, and the artistes for their services by Mr E. Parkin, seconded by Mr S. K. Sherwood, and it was carried.

LEEDSHAM

At Ledsham School last month the percentage of attendance was 93.22 against 95.70 for September last year.

MICKLEFIELD

THE SCHOOLS.—At the Micklefield Church School the annual department had a better attendance for September than in the previous year, the percentage being 93.29 as compared with 92.39 last year. The highest possible point drawn, with a percentage of 97.22 against 89.93.

AN OBSTACLE DRAMA.—It is with regret that we have to announce the death in action on the 13th inst. of Major Herbert L. Cliff, of the 2nd Battalion West Yorkshire Regiment. Major Cliff was the youngest son of Mr William Cliff, of Maysmead, Towcester, London. He had a large number of friends in this district, by whom he was highly respected. He was a prominent member of the Yorkshire Gentlemen's Cricket Club, and was a well-known follower of the Bramham Moor, York and Ainsty, and Middleton Woodhouse hounds. Major Cliff served in the South African War, and also in the Mediterranean, and was wounded in the leg during the Boer War. He had just completed three years' term of Major of the 2nd Battalion, and was the youngest son of Mr William Cliff, of Maysmead, Towcester, London. He had a large number of friends, by whom he was highly respected. He was a prominent member of the Yorkshire Gentlemen's Cricket Club, and was a well-known follower of the Bramham Moor, York and Ainsty, and Middleton Woodhouse hounds. Major Cliff served in the South African War, and also in the Mediterranean, and was wounded in the leg during the Boer War. He had just completed three years' term of Major of the 2nd Battalion, and had endeared himself to his men by his unfailing kindness and welfare. He was 37 years of age, and leaves a widow and infant son.

MOOR ALLERTON

Miss Emma Liddell, The Hollies, King Lane, Moor Allerton, left £677

OULTON

On Saturday afternoon Oulton St. John's met a League football match with Stourton United, and the latter were defeated by a goal to nothing.

On Monday at the West Riding Quarter Sessions, Joseph Hodgson Magee (43), described as a gentleman, was sentenced to three years' penal servitude for the theft of money and silver articles at Oulton.

SERVICE FOR MEN.—On Sunday the first of a series of services for men was held at the St. John's Church, Oulton, when there was a encouraging attendance. The address was given by the Rev. A. L. Curry, vicar of Oulton, and the Rev. W. T. Gibson, vicar of Woodlesford. Mr. Walter Dodgson presided at the organ. Hymns 42, 80, 81. Bradley, 84, 201, 81. Thomas Bowles, 97, 10, 81. Annual Meeting—Mrs. Davenport, 98, 22, 78. Club's Rose Bowl Competition (open to members only)—Mrs. Bodley, Captain—(Mr J. E. Davenport) Prize Competition—Quadling Round (38 holes medal play)—Mrs. Bowers, 98, 20, 78; R. K. Swales, 100, 22, 78; Mrs. W. Wrigley, 102, 22, 80; Mrs. Swales, 97, 16, 81; Thomas Swales, 97, 16, 81; A. P. Bedford, 92, 9, 83; N. D. Laing, 103, bedford, 92, 9, 83; Mrs. Davenport, 98, 20, 78; Mrs. Bodley, 98, 22, 78; Mrs. Swales, 97, 16, 81; A. P. Bedford, 92, 9, 83; N. D. Laing, 103, 22, 81; Mrs. W. Wrigley, Mrs. Davenport v. A. P. Bedford, R. K. Swales v. Mrs Bedley, C. F. Bedley v. Thomas Swales.

OSMONDTHORPE

POLICE COURT STORY.—Frederick Lodge Yeoman (23), stoking at Kessler's Foundry, Osmondthorpe, pleaded guilty at Leeds on Wednesday to a charge of stealing four fans the property of the Great Northern Railway Company, and was fined £1 and costs, or fourteen days' imprisonment, and that the most serious part of the offence was that the prisoner was a constable in the employ of the company, and had only completed the Goods Station. A quarrel was raised, his residence at Knostrop was searched, and articles valued at £12 were found. Prisoner had given the fans to the woman he lodged with. Mr W. T. Scholes, for the defence, said prisoner had taken the goods not for personal gain but to satisfy his wife's request for personal gain but to satisfy his wife's request. The Superintendent Magistrate passed a sentence of three months' imprisonment in the second division.

ROBIN HOOD

On Saturday afternoon Thorpe Wesleyans had a football match with Morris St. M., who won by eight goals to nil.

ROUNDHAY

Mr. H. Darwin, of Roundhay, has given £10 to the Belgian Relief Refugee Fund.

PERSONAL.—Second-Lieut. B. L. Ratcliffe who has only had thirteen months' service in the West Yorkshire Regiment, was on Tuesday promoted to the full rank of Lieutenant. Mr. Ratcliffe, Sandhurst, is the eldest son of the Lord Lieut. Ratcliffe was wounded during the battle of the Aisne last month.

SEACROFT

The committee of the Seacroft Cricket Club have this week forwarded the following account to the Lord Mayor of Leeds for the National Relief Fund.

CONGRATULATE B.W.T.A.—WORK IN SEACROFT.—Under the auspices of the Leeds Temperance and Disciplined Band of the British Women's Temperance Association, a house-to-house visitation has recently been made in the district by Miss Ernestine Robson, County Lecturer, assisted by Miss Whiteley, when the members of the local committee and various meetings were also held, and others addressed by arrangement at different centres. The progressive work of the Leeds Temperance Committee, another's meeting at the Seacroft Vicarage, and evening, special meeting in the Seacroft Wesleyan Church; Tuesday evening, special Band of Hope meeting at Thorner's, Seacroft; Wednesday afternoon, Relief Workers' meeting at Seacroft, and evening, church meeting, arranged by the Rev. C. H. Pugh, in the Seacroft Council School; Friday evening, cottage meeting at Mrs Dawson's, Whinmoor. All the meetings were well attended, and Miss Embleton's addresses embraced many aspects of Temperance work, more especially in connection with women. Her subjects included "Vital reasons for women engaging in temperance work," "The ruinous effects of alcohol on the home and children," and "Legislation and the Liquor Traffic." At the Monday evening meeting, in the Seacroft Wesleyan Church, Mrs. R. Hastie Carr, of Halton, presided, and, in addition to Miss Embleton, the Rev. Thomas Whitmore, Lodge, addressed the meeting. At the meeting in the Seacroft Church School the vicar (the Rev. C. H. Platt) presided, and spoke of the need for creating a better public opinion in favour of the ravages of drink, and Mrs R. Hastie Carr, of Halton, also spoke. During the week there were enrolled sixteen members, eight little White Ribboners, and one associate. The fifteen members have good reason to feel gratified by the results of their very successful campaign in the district, and they much appreciate Oulton and Woodlesford Men With the Colours.

LETTER FROM AN OULTON MAN

WOODLESFORD'S ROLL OF HONOUR

The Rev. W. R. Capel Cure (vicar of Oulton) and Mrs. Capel Cure have interested themselves greatly in the welfare of the young men of Oulton who are in any way serving their country. A few weeks ago we published an our columns the names of those young men copied from a framed list which has been placed in the church.—To each the vicar has communicated, and from the majority replies have been received.

The other day a letter was received from Pte. A. Tomlinson, who went out with the R.A.M.C. attached to the Expeditionary Force. The letter, which is dated Oct. 6th, has been written from the General Hospital with the Forces, and parts of it were intended to give an idea as to the number of wounded and the condition in which they arrive. Pte. Tomlinson's letter, written in blue pencil, is as follows:—The letter addressed to the Rev. W. R. Capel Cure, and is as follows:—

"I received your kind letter and was very pleased to hear from you. We are out in the firing line at present but at may be at any time. We have had three the cruiser has made an (several) wounded to deal with, and some of the poor chaps are worse than others. I have used his pencil. We are having a little rest just now, which we have earned. We are expecting to move nearer the fighting line in time. I am pleased to hear that our young men are doing their share for their country, and I should like very much to know some of their names. I hope you are enjoying better health than we were and that Mrs Capel Cure is quite well. It is a long time now since I was on her class at Oulton School, but I still look back upon the good times we used to have. I was stationed at Tidworth, in Wiltshire, before we came out here. I will now conclude with the hope that I shall soon be back in Oulton again."

The following is a list of those on active service from the parish of Woodlesford:—

Army—James Abbey, Frank Bowers, Ben Beaumont, Arthur Benson, Herbert Barkin, William Blacker, Walter Carrington, Jas. Cawthorne, William Harland, Joseph Higgins, Edward Irvin, John Jackson, Harry Jewett, William Jowett, James Hughes, Sam Hudson, John Kirby, William Lodge, Wilfred Mitchell, Robert McCraw, Henry Mackeman, Robert Methodist Morris, Metcalfe, Colin Nicholson, William Nicholson, William Palmer, Joseph Pennington, Clifford Simpson, Thos. Stokes, Percy Sykes, Robert Tansom, Arthur Tomlinson, Arthur Woodhall, Herbert Woodhall, Fred Woodhall, Ernest Webster, and William Whiteley.

Navy—William Ellis, Arthur Jowett, and Rolf Taylor.

A SELBY MINISTER AND DANGEROUS ALIENS.

WHAT HAS OCCURRED IN THE TOWN.

The Rev. John Dale, Unitarian minister at Selby, has notified the police that he has addressed a letter to the Clerk to the Selby Urban District Council on the subject of the detention of aliens in custody.

Mr Dale has given a copy of the letter to the Press, and it is as says—

As an Englishman deeply interested in the well-being of my country, I have been, and am now, in sympathy with the efforts which have for their object the curtailing of our country of undesirable or thing evils, albeit, but I certainly wish that in securing this end there should be no undue partiality as to the social distinctions into which aliens may be divided. What is measured out to one class should be measured out to all. This line of conduct has been notoriously departed from in the town of Selby.

The letter proceeds to refer to an instance which it is held bears out the assertion just made, and concludes—

In my judgment a grave wrong is being done to the local community and the safety of the State is thereby jeopardised. Against a portfolio so utterly unfounded and dangerous I protest with the strongest protest, and trust those in authority will take the earliest opportunity of removing it.

It may be added that the question of the detention of enemy aliens excites a good deal of discussion privately among the inhabitants of Selby.

It is understood that a representative man in the district has communicated with the War Office, placing the whole of the local circumstances before them.

GARFORTH DISTRESS FUND.

ADDITIONAL SUBSCRIPTIONS.

In connection with the Garforth War Distress Fund the subscriptions already acknowledged amount to £130 os. 3d. The following additional sums have been received:—

	£	s.	d.
Undenominational workmen and boys.
Sisters and Indefin Pits (per
Mr C. H. Hebden) (5th collection)	0	10	5 Grange Tennis Club (proceeds of whist drive), per Mr H.
Morley, hon. sec.	3	14	0
Mr J. Best	3	3	0
Mr E. A. Crossther	2	2	0
Underground workmen and boys
(Fourth Pit), per Mr E. W.
Ogden	2	0	3
Mr James C. Thompson	1	0	0
Mr J. W. Westermann	1	0	0
Mr Geo. Barber (first donation)	0	5	0
Collection in box (per Mr
Nowakski)	0	2	8
Mr Ernest Cope	0	1	0
Mr. Geo. Bowers, Hon. Sec. and Treasurer

The members of Sherburn-in-Elmet Agricultural Society have voted £5 to the West Riding Distress Fund.

A sum of £20, proceeds from Newthorpe sports, has been sent by Mr W. Bramley to the Belgian Relief Fund.

At the South Milford School last month the percentage of attendances was 93.63 as compared with 91.88 for the same month of last year.

WHIST DRIVE.—On Tuesday evening a whist drive was held at Milford Hall, and about 80 people attended. Tickets were sold for the function, and the prize-rolls were in aid of the War Fund. Prizes were presented by Mrs R. P. Parker to the following who were successful in winning them:—Ladies—1, Mrs. Gibson Bortall (South Milford); 2, Miss Wood (Sherburn). Gentlemen—1, Mr Smith; 2, Mr Reynolds. Refreshments (non-intoxicants) were provided and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

HUNSLET RURAL DISTRICT COUNCIL.

LIGHTING AT TEMPLENEWSAM AND OULTON

SPIDERS GET INTO HALTON LAMPS.

The monthly meeting of the Hunslet Rural District Council was held at the Council Offices, Leek Street, Hunslet, yesterday afternoon—Mr T. Thomas (Chairman) presiding. Others present were Messrs D. W. Haigh (vice), W. Verity, and J. Flanagan, with the Clerk (Mr W. B. Pindar), the sanitary inspector (Mr W. Whitehead), and the surveyor (Mr J. Nuttall).

The medical officer was not present and there was no report as to the health of the district.

The water inspector reported that the supply of Oulton and Woodlesford was satisfactory.

Middleton, however, the supply had not been quite so satisfactory, the reason being a falling off between September 25th and October 9th. Since the latter date the supply had improved. It was also reported that the cottages in Thorpe Lane were urgently in need of overhauling, and the inspector suggested that a man from the makers be asked to come down and make the repairs.

With regard to the street lighting at Oulton and Woodlesford, it was reported that the lamps, although somewhat better, were still causing trouble. Considerable time had to be spent each day in seeing to the burners, while, in addition, a number of mantles had been broken owing to the necessary removal when the burners were inspected. The inspector also reported that on Sunday, October 11th, a lamp on the Leeds Road had been knocked over by a motor car.

The Clerk said that after the last meeting of the Council he went to the Gas Company at Rothwell informing them of the complaints as to the gas at Oulton and Woodlesford, and he had received a reply stating that the matter was being attended to. Subsequently, later, Mr Steele had had an interview with the manager on the question, and that they trusted that the Council would have no further cause for complaint.

The Clerk said only the day before he received a letter from the Parish Council of Templenewsam asking for the lamps at Penny Hill, Colton, to be removed to the opposite side of the road.

The Clerk said that the lamp had been put in its present position at the request of private persons, but they had found out their mistake.

It was decided to move the lamp.

The lamp at the head of Halton Hill is also to be removed to the other side of the road as it is liable to be broken by hay carries sweeping past when the corn are running to Halton.

The city engineer at Leeds wrote stating that the shortage of water at Newsam Green was owing to the large demand for the sewage works at Knostrop, and to meet this demand a temporary main was put over the Corporation a large sum. He advised the Council to erect a large tank which could be filled during the night.

The Clerk said the Council would be able to advise the people at Newsam Green to get their water a little earlier.

It was reported by the Clerk that he had caught a steam locomotive driver and his assistant filling the boiler of an engine from a hydrant at Halton. The driver had in his possession a special key for hydrants, and, after making enquiries for (the Clerk) the driver's name and the firm by whom he was employed at Garston, near Liverpool.

The matter was left in the Clerk's hands to deal with as he thinks proper.

MISSING.—Amongst those reported missing after the battle on the Aisne is Sergeant E. Adkin, a native of Wetherby. He was for a time postman at Otley, and at the time of mobilisation was working on sewing clerk and telegraphist at the Beckfoot Post Office.

OFFICER'S APPOINTMENT.—Lieutenant F. J. O. Montagu, a former High School of Oulton, and who was with the 4th Battalion Duke-Camp on the Personal Staff. He joined the York and Lancaster Militia nearly 20 years ago, and passed into the Coldstream Guards in 1899. He took part in the Boer war, and was mentioned in despatches.

AS OFFICER A PRISONER OF WAR.—Mr A. Lodgard, of Manor House, Thornier, has received the following telegram from the War Office:—"Beg to inform you that in a communication received by the Foreign Office through the United States Embassies in Berlin and London it is stated that Captain R. S. Lodgard, Yorkshire Regiment, is a prisoner of war at Torgau." Captain Lodgard was first reported killed. Later, he was unofficially reported to be a prisoner of war. This telegram gives official confirmation of the report.

THORNER AND SCARCROFT B.W.T.A.—On Monday and two very successful meetings were held in the Wesleyan Sunday School, Mrs Redward, of Leeds, presided in the afternoon, and Miss Embleton gave a very interesting address. Tea was provided by the committee after the meeting. In the evening Mr Richardson, of Cobbinghorn, presided, and Miss Embleton again addressed the meeting. Mrs Haste Carr, of Halton, gave a word of cheer at both meetings. Miss Elwood, of Leeds, charmed the audience both afternoon and evening with her singing. About sixty members attended each meeting, and seven new pledges were taken.

ANGLING.—The competition for the Krause Shield, presented to the Bedford Association No. 1, a few weeks took place on Sunday in the River Wharfe at Ulleskelf. The river was in poor condition, and sport was disappointing. The shield and gold medal were won by W. Hird, with 4 oz.; J. W. Hainsworth secured the third prize with 3½ oz.; and the following also fished:—Smith (7 oz.), the prize for the largest fish (a dace of 7 oz.) was awarded to W. Evans, and that for the smallest fish to A. Williams. The visitors' prize was won by L. Hartley, with 11½ oz.

FRIENDLY SOCIETY WORK.—At a special general meeting of the members of the approved society of the Tockwith Working Men's Club held at the Club House, Boot and Shoe Inn, Mr F. J. Parsey presided over a good attendance. An address was delivered by Mr Denton Woodhead on the history of the Yorkshire Rural Friendly Society, of which he is secretary, and at the close a resolution was proposed by Mr P. Bochelor, and seconded by Mr John Bootkind, that the society should amalgamate with the Yorkshire Rural Friendly Society. Many questions were asked by the members, and answered by Mr Woodhead. The resolution was carried unanimously. The local officials will still carry on the work of the society under the direction of the parent society. The transfer will take place on January 3rd next.

FAMOUS HOUSE FOR
ENGAGEMENT RINGS
£1/1/ £3/3/ £5/5/ £10/10/ &
to £100 each.
SEE WINDOWS
Diamonds
BEST SELECTION IN THE COUNTY
Dyson's
ESTD. 30 YEARS.
24-25-26 BRIGGATE. LEEDS.
(3 doors below Fenton Street)
Watches
10/6 TO 50 GUINEAS.
THE ROUGHWEAR 15/-
THE UNIVERSITY 30/-
OLD WATCHES & JEWELLERY TAKEN IN EXCHANGE.
RELIABLE HOUSE FOR REPAIRS.

Russell & Russell, Ltd.
(Late A. C. WANSTALL),
Complete House Furnishers and Piano Dealers,
201-3-5, North Street, LEEDS.
ILLUSTRATED BOOKLET and Easy Payment Terms sent on receipt of a Postcard.

40 FOR 6d
EGGS
COVERDALE'S Egg-Producing
POULTRY POWDER
Is the best Poultry Tonic on the market, and its use guarantees WINTER LAYERS.
From one week after the first dose.
Flaxton, near York.
Dear Sirs,—My hens had not laid one egg for more than a month, but the 6d. packet of Poultry Powder you sent me has worked wonders. They are already laying an egg a week, and intend to lay more. I will certainly continue it, and recommend it.—Yours truly, J. LUND.
Send 6d. P.O. to-day, and 1/1 post free, including a 56-page booklet on "Profitable Poultry Keeping."
Coverdale's Poultry Powder, Ltd., York.
Agents—G. H. MOON, Grocer, etc., East Keswick, Wetherby, Aberford, Collingham, Crossgates, Tadcaster, South Milford, Barrowby, Boston Spa, Scrashton, and Scarcroft; T. H. DICKINSON, 138, Meadow Lane, Leeds; T. B. SMITH & SON, Gerberde's, 14, HIGH, High Street, Tadcaster; G. HARGRAVE, Grocer, Station Road, Aberford; HIRST & Co., 278, Hunslet Road, Leeds; and TAYLOR'S DRUG Co.'s Branches.

ESTABLISHED 1871
Ison's Eye & Ear Dispensary
LIMITED.
71, GREAT GEORGE ST., LEEDS
MR. THOS. ISON,
OCULIST and AURIST.
THIS INSTITUTION WAS ESTABLISHED in 1871. The system of working is the provident one, each patient paying a small periodical fee weekly under treatment, and they may, therefore, expect to receive the prompt care and attention which in many instances in charitable institutions is too often omitted. The results are rapid and safe character, without operation or the use of Ear Drums, Ear Cornets or other mechanical or painful appliances. Another advantage opportunities to this dispensary, letters of treatment by correspondence, by which sufferers as long distances, and in isolated positions can have the advantage of Mr ISON'S advice and remedies at their own homes. No case is undertaken unless there be a reasonable hope of cure or benefit to the patient.
Attendance at Leeds every Tuesday, from 2 to 7. Attendance at Leeds every Tuesday, from 2 to 7. On Alternate Saturdays, Oct. 31st & Nov. 14th.
Hours 2 to 7. Other days by appointment.
TREATMENT WITHOUT OPERATION.
ARTIFICIAL HUMAN EYES fitted from 15s.
SPECTACLES and EYE PRESERVERS, 3/6 to 10/6. Gold Frames from 20s.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—There are many cases of failing eyesight which can be speedily remedied by mild local treatment, thus dispensing with the use of glasses.

EDMUND BOGG,
3, Woodhouse Lane, Leeds.
Is the best shop for
PICTURE FRAMING, RE-GILDING, AND ARTISTS' MATERIALS.
Large Stock of Engravings & Etchings on Sale.

WETHERBY STEEPLE CHASES.

GOOD SPORT—SATISFACTORY ATTENDANCE.

The Wetherby autumn meeting on Monday proved to be quite an enjoyable affair. The weather was delightfully fine, the sport was interesting, and the attendance was satisfactory, though slightly below the average. The long continued drought had its effect on the course, as though it had been well and regularly watered it still remained on the hard side. It was, however, pleasing to record that there was no mishap during the afternoon, and only one horse suffered by the jarring state of the track. The committee are to be congratulated on the efforts they made to bring the meeting off and to make it a success.

Sport commenced with the Hall Orchards Selling Handicap, which, however, only furnished three runners, Long Melford being a pronounced favourite from the outset. In the hands of Mr J. C. Storfo, he justified his market status, and won rather easily by three lengths from Footlights. But for bad jumping Fast Life would have made a race of it, but he nearly unshipped Mr Cashbourne at the first hurdle, and was thus put out of it.

Captain Farrell and Patches both represented previous winning form over the course, and odds were laid on the former to win the Marston Moor Steeplechase. Patches was very fit, and no doubt his superior condition served him admirably, as when pressure was put on he showed better speed than his rival, and beat him by a length after a good finish.

The principal event, the Cowthorpe Handicap Hurdle Race, was expected to fall an easy prey to Knowing Bird, Mr Whitworth's horse being backed against the field. A long way from home it was palpable that the race was reduced to a match between him and Caledonian. The Malton people, were afraid the latter would not be suited by the going, but he stayed on resolutely, and up the straight just had the better of the tussle with the favourite, and this enabled him to win by a length and a half. Bit o' Rye was last all the way, and on returning to the paddock it was noticed that he had broken down.

In the Thorparch Steeplechase Throbald's Park was allowed a walk-over. Then came the Juvenile Hurdle Race, for which Tirpitian was favourite. This colt was bred and for the Brocklesby last year, and at Windsor was second to Green Cap in a big nursery. He was sold at the Newmarket July Sales to his present owner for 350gs., and he sent him to Mr Renwick at Malton to be trained. He ran fairly well, but never looked like winning, the issue being fought out by Cutler and Tittleby. The latter belongs to Mr Gee, Gunter, of Wetherby, and though not quoted in the market he looks doubtless profited by his success, he beating Cutler in the run home by a length and a half. S. Jones rode Lady Jane Grey for Sir Walter Whipp, but Bloodworth had meg with a slight injury in the Cowthorpe Handicap.

The programme was wound up with the Ribston Steeplechase, which went to the favourite, Treaty, Chessington, the second, having, according to the conditions of the race, which did not except selling platers, to concede Mr Whitworth's horse 4lbs. Details:—

Hall Orchards Selling Handicap Hurdle Race Plate of 50 sovs.—1, Long Melford (Mr J. C. Storie); 2, Footlights (G. Goswell); 3, Fast Life (Mr O. J. Cawthorne). Winner trained privately. Betting: 5 to 4 on Long Melford, 9 to 4 aget Fast Life, 5 to 1 Footlights. Won by three lengths; five lengths.

Marston Moor Steeplechase Plate of 50 sovs.—1, Patches (J. Fiddler); 2, Captain Farrell (J. Reardon); 3, Skylarker (W. Cooper). Winner trained by G. Miller, Hambleton. Betting: 7 to 4 on Captain Farrell, 5 to 1 against Patches, 6 to 1 Skylarker. Won by a length; a bad third.

Cowthorpe Handicap Hurdle Race Plate—1, Caledonian (E. Raine); 2, Knowing Bird (Mr O. J. Cawthorne); 3, Lilford (T. Farrell). Also ran—Oppidan (Mr C. J. Bloodworth), Bit o' Rye (Goswell), Prince (Threlfell), Kindly Light (T. O. Murray). Winner trained by D. Peebles, Cowthorpe. Betting: Even Knowing Bird, 5 to 1 each against Caledonian and Prance, 8 to 1 others. Won by a length and a half; five lengths.

Thorparch Handicap Steeplechase Plate of 60 sovs.—Threlfell Park (Mr O. J. Cawthorne) walked over. Winner trained by R. Danil, Unmouth.

Juvenile Hurdle Race Plate, of 50 sovs.—1, Tittleby (W. Cooper); 2, Cutler (Threlfell); 3, Tirolian (F. Cole). Also ran—Brigadier (Goswell), Erotic (Raine), Lady Jane Grey (S. Jones), Pomposity (Mr O. J. Cawthorne). Winner trained by G. Gunter, Wetherby. Betting: 6 to 4 aget Tirolian, 3 to 1 Erotis, 5 to 1 Cutler, 8 to 1 others. Won by a length and a half; three lengths.

Ribston Steeplechase of 50 sovs.—1, Treaty (Mr O. J. Cawthorne); 2, Chessington (T. Threlfell). Also ran—Northern Diver (J. Farrell). Winner trained by Maher, Wathon-Dinnett. Betting: 6 to 4 on Treaty, 3 to 1 aget Chessington, 6 to 2 Northern Diver. Won by a length and a half. Northern Diver did not finish.

YORKSHIRE MINERS IN TRAINING.

The battalion to which I am attached (writes a sergeant) is composed almost entirely of Yorkshire colliers—a fine body of men, rough perhaps, but remarkably keen. I have never in all my experience met such keenness. They are eager to learn all that a soldier has to learn, and that quickly. They rise at 5.30 and commence drill at six, and are at it all day, with necessary breaks for meals until five o'clock, when to see them marching home, tired and dirty, is quite an inspiration. They sing, and sing heartily.

Some of those men have told me that when at work in the mines they are earning varying from £2 to £4 a week, and as I have seen them now roughing it with one or two blankets a man on a hard floor, and remember what they have given up—the comfortable homes and good wages—in order to have the honour and glory of fighting for their country, I cannot help thinking those men are heroes all. We are getting so accustomed to it that one is apt to lose sight of their many splendid spirits and brave hearts that inspire them.

My work, of course, is the physical training of this battalion, and as I am writing and as they all pass through my hands during the day you can imagine that I have plenty to do. I shall have time before I retire to bed to write a letter to my fiancée, however, before the use of the bayonet, the weapon which we have already discovered to be dreaded by our friends the "Germaines." It is a fine sight to see these men drilling.

We do it all in the open air, and the men, 90 per cent. of whom have been spending so much of their lives underground and in a more or less crouching attitude, simply delight in this kind of life—the open air, the magnificent country, and the change of occupation. To see them at physical drill, stretching their arms and their bodies, marching with sharp, quick step, daily becoming more active, more quick, and more alert, is a treat. It is a pleasure to drill them, although I may say I am glad when Sunday comes round to give my voice a rest, for this constant shouting to such large companies is very trying.

I had the honour a few days ago of a conversation with the General commanding this division, who, seeing me drilling a large company, called me, and asked how they were getting on. I replied, "Splendidly. I have never seen anything like it. I wish I could always have got my recruits to work as well." "It is the same everywhere," he said. "and at Aldershot the officers all remark on the keenness of their men."

A TADCASTER MAN WITH THE R.A.M.C.

IN TRAINING AT DONCASTER.

LETTER FROM BARKSTON ASH FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION HON. SEC.

Mr Harry Metcalfe, of Tadcaster, who was hon. sec. of Barkston Ash Football Association, recently volunteered for active service with the R.A.M.C., and he is now in training at the camp at Doncaster. He writes to us as follows:

We are only a small camp, some 200 or so in number, and consequently heavily the equipment, such as mess rooms, writing tents, etc., of larger camps. I am writing this by candle light. I have been in this corps for three weeks now, and in camp a fortnight. The first week we were at Leeds having preliminary squad and Swedish drill, and a daily march of 5 or 6 miles. Although medical work is the chief feature of this section we have a certain amount of physical drill and exercise, which, you will readily see, are necessary, as it is essential we should be fit and in condition. Personally, I am extremely fit and well, and have not suffered in any way, unless it's in appetite, since I came here.

The chief work, that of first-aid treatment of fractures, lectures on the anatomy, in fact all necessary in connection with the medical work of the Army, I find very interesting. The officers in whose charge we are and who give us the lectures, are very painstaking and lucid, and although it must be very trying to them teaching and demonstrating the same things day after day, they are wonderfully patient and anxious for us to make the best possible progress. The recruits, in the main part, are a good class and seem to be making good progress. Of course, it is a great change for all of us, yet most of the men put their best into it and try to become, as efficient as possible. We have been particularly favoured with such fine weather, which has enabled us to have all our lectures, etc., in the open, which is, of course, more convenient as well as pleasant.

Our day commences at 5.30, when we have coffee served out. We appear on parade at 6, and a few minutes later go out for a march of 5 or 6 miles, and arrive back in camp for breakfast at 7.15 to 7.30. We are then dismissed until 9, during which time we take bedding out, clean tents and fold up, etc., which, in addition to having breakfast, as you will see we are kept fairly busy. One misses the usual morning paper, the headlines being about the amount one has time to absorb. After parading again at 9, we go out for our first-aid lessons, stretcher drill, lectures, etc., and return to camp for dinner about 1.30. We have about an hour allowed for dinner, and parade again. We then have further lectures on bandaging, and dismiss for the day at 3.30 to 4 o'clock. We then wash, clean up, put beds ready again, and have tea at about 5. After that we are at liberty until 9, when we have to parade again for inspection.

The discipline is necessarily severe, and any drunks would be severely dealt with. Lights out is sounded at 9.30, and all talk must cease. Fast is a fair description of the ordinary day's work. The food and sleeping accommodation are also good.

The food, while being plain, is wholesome and good, and there is generally an ample sufficiency. For breakfast we get bacon or cheese and butter, bread and tea; for dinner roast beef or mutton and potatoes, and sometimes soup, and for tea jam or marmalade, bread and tea. We each have an enamel bowl and plate, and wash our own utensils. To grease it is rather a problem at first with them clean, but a deal of water, and splendidly as a scourer. In the town there are ample arrangements for the comfort and welfare of the troops. There are many troops here, including Scottish Horse, W.R. Artillery, W.R. Army Service, and several thousand more are expected.

I expect that we shall be moving somewhere to winter quarters soon, but it is not definitely settled yet where. It is, of course, getting cold at night and early morning, and we cannot hope for a long continuance of the present beautiful weather. I was interested to note there were so many of our local footballers trying to serve their country, and hope they are all as comfortable as we are at this particular camp.

AN AUSTRIAN WHO LIVED IN SELBY.

DIES IN A CONCENTRATION CAMP.

At the York Military Hospital the Coroner held an inquiry into the circumstances of the death of August Burkert, an Austrian prisoner, who had been confined to the concentration camp, Leeman Road, York.

Sergeant Thomas Tarrant, Prisoner of War Department, said he was on duty at the Leeman Road detention camp, and the deceased was a prisoner there. He was aged 39, and his residence was 15, Church Lane, Selby. He was an engineer, and was of Austrian nationality. Deceased was interned on September 4th last. He was a registered alien, and was detained because he was likely to become dangerous. He had been in the detention camp since his arrest.

Corporal Matthew Joyce, R.A.M.C., residing at the Detention Camp, said the deceased had required medical attention while he was in the camp, and had been attended by the medical officer, Lieut. Hogg, and a

OUR GARDENS.

Specially Written for this Journal

— BY —

ALBERT CLARKE.

THE FLOWER GARDEN.

Irises are very popular, especially the bulbous-rooted varieties. The Spanish and English varieties thrive in this country under normal conditions, but on heavy soils it is advisable to prepare a bed for them by digging in sand or road scrapings, leaf mould, and old potting soil. The ground should be well tilled, and the addition of rotten manure is conducive to success. The bulbs may be planted close together. They make very little foliage, therefore cannot crowd each other. They are very effective when massed in separate colours in the mixed border, and are often planted in large beds, carpeted with a suitable shade of violas. They do not force readily, but may be had in flower before Christmas time by the use of cold frames.

SWEET PEAS.

Mr Usher, the well-known sweet pea specialist, has recently published a list of useful novelties. Constance Hinton is specially mentioned as an improved white variety. The individual flowers are of gigantic proportions. Ethel May Improved is another white, and is classed as an improvement on the well-known Etta Dyke. May Unwin receives special mention. It is described as a glorified Thomas Stevenson, with the same stem produces four flowers. New Marquis, Mrs McChrrick, King Manve, and Phyllis are also commended. Mrs Wormwald and Helen Longcroft are mentioned as useful early attractive varieties. May we remind our readers that October is the best time to sow the seed for early flowering in pots. A well-ventilated cold frame is an ideal spot for them.

LIFTING GLADIOLI.

A very common error when lifting Gladioli is cutting off the growth. They should be lifted intact, and the leaves should be allowed to decay naturally. They may be tied in bundles of a dozen or so, and hung in a dry, frost-proof shed. When the growth decays clear it off and store the corms in paper bags until required for replanting. They may be lifted immediately they finish flowering. The old Brenchleyensis type is still very popular, but every Gladioli lover should try a few of the Gandavensis and Childsi hybrids. America is a splendid named variety. We have seen some fine examples of it this year, and it always commands admiration. The individual flowers are very large, and do not carry that stiff appearance so noticeable in the old type.

PREPARING FOR SPRING

As soon as the flower beds have been cleared of summer-flowering plants a start should be made with autumn bedding. At the moment of writing the soil is very dry, and unless rain falls on the beds will require watering a few hours before planting is attempted. The plants that are to be used should also receive a thorough soaking before they are disturbed. This entails rather more labour, but the benefit to the plants will more than repay for this. The old system of planting beds with subjects all about the same height is quite out of date, and has largely given way to the more graceful style of carpeting with drawf subjects, with a few taller plants amongst them to remove the stiffness and formality of the appearance. By expressing a little forethought, a succession of bloom may be obtained, especially where bulbs are used. Winter aconites, snowdrops, and crocuses are amongst the first to bloom, and these may be followed by hyacinths, tulips, and daffodils, with the May-flowering tulips following later still. For carpeting purposes arabis, aubretia, daisies, polyanthus, primroses are very useful, and of course wallflowers usually form the bulk of the plants used. May we once more emphasise the necessity for firm planting. This is very important, and often makes all the difference between success and failure. Wallflowers never stand the winter well unless they are planted quite firmly, and on light land it is advisable to tread around the plants with the feet.

VEGETABLES

Vegetables are in need of rain, and to enable them to resolve full benefit from it when it does come the hoe should now be used freely to stir the surface soil. Autumn sown onions should be watered to prevent them drooping. There is still time to sow rows of parsley for cold frame treatment. Give the plants a good watering a few hours previously, and lift them with a ball of soil, if possible. Plant in the frame, and may be made up of old potting soil mixed with ordinary garden soil. Plant firmly, and syringe daily until new growth commences. The frame lights should be removed on all favourable occasions.

PLANTS IN POTS.

Chrysanthemums usually produce a number of lateral growths immediately after they are housed. In the case of low or rare varieties the shoots may be inserted as cuttings. They make nice stock plants for future propagating purposes, but not required as cuttings. The shoots should be removed to enable the plants to concentrate their energies upon the building up of the flowers. This is one of the little points that help to secure success. If the shoots are left they soon spoil the pot's symmetry, and are useless for propagating purposes. Very little water is required for a few days after housing the plants, and great care should be exercised in this direction. Overwatering would lead to sourness of the soil, and materially interfere with the production of good flowers. Keep a sharp look out for aphides and fumigate at once if they appear. In town gardens the roof glass soon gets dirty on the outside, and should be repeatedly washed to allow the plants to get the full benefit of the light. When potting should be done in the morning, and those and so-ging should be mopped over shortly afterwards. A moisture charged atmosphere is very bad for expanding blooms, especially those of the large and incurved varieties. Very dark varieties should be shaded from bright sunshine. Decorative varieties should be disbudded according to the taste of the cultivator. Well-grown bushy plants pay for disbudding to one flower on each stem. This class of flower is in great demand in the market, and commands a better price than the natural bloom flowers. Plants that have been grown in the open ground should now be lifted and placed under cover. If required for conservatory decoration they should be potted up, whilst those intended for the production of cut flowers may be packed fairly close together in the greenhouse, with some ordinary soil about the roots. Give a thorough watering before lifting, and again after they are potted or planted. If this is done, very little, drooping will be noticed, but if any plants do droop, they should be shaded during sunny weather until they recover. A light spray over with clear water will often help them to recover from drooping. Lifted plants should not be watered with liquid manure for a few weeks after they are housed.

PRIMULA MALACOIDES

This remarkably pretty little plant has one serious failing. During the autumn and winter months its leaves often damp off wholesale. As a preventive-in, this it should be stood in a light, airy position, and water should be given only when it is approaching dryness. A shelf near the roof glass is an excellent position for it, and immediately decaying leaves are observed they should be removed. If many others will be affected. The flowers are very pretty for table decoration. They give the best effect when used in small vases, mixed with maidenhair fern. If the plants are used for house decoration they should be frequently changed. Remove the flower shoots as they fail, and the flowering season will be considerably extended.

HERBACEOUS PLANTS FOR FORCING

Many kinds of herbaceous perennials may now be lifted and potted up for flowering under glass in the winter. They grow in suitable sized pots, and stand outdoor for the present. During November they may be removed to a cold frame and when spring arrives and new growth commences a cool place in the greenhouse should be found for them. Doronicums, iris, pyrethrums, and similar early-flowering subjects may be used for this purpose and are very useful for providing cut flowers. In gardens where the usual expenditure on bulbs has been curtailed, these plants will be found very acceptable in spring.

THE WEEK'S MARKETS.

CORN.

SELBY, Monday.—The demand was good for absent and outs, but slow for barley. The display of samples was not so large as that of last week. Wheat 38s. to 39s., malting barley 29s. to 32s, grinding barley 27s to 28s; oats, 23s to 24s 6d per qr.

PROVISIONS.

SELBY, Monday.—Eggs 6 and 7 for 1s.; butter is 9d to 1s 4d per lb.; chickens 4s to 4s 6d per couple; celery 8d to 1s per dozen.

POTATOES.

SELBY, Monday—In the potato market prices were firmer. Sond Up-to-Dates 40s to 45s, sand King Edwards 45s to 50s, warp King Edwards 50s to 55s per ton; retail, 2s 3d to 2s 6d per hamper.

CATTLE.

SELBY, Monday.—Messrs Richardson and Son disposed of 60 beasts, 20 sheep, and 53 pigs. The usual attendance of buyers. Only a short supply of fat beasts, with an improved trade, best beef making fully 9s per stone. Stores were of about late rates. A small show of sheep, which moved off at late rates. No change in pork or store pigs. Prices as follow: Fat bullocks up to £22 2s per head, fat heifers to £22 2s 6d, fat cows to £17 17s 6d, store cattle to £14 12s 6d, heifers in calf to £18 7s 6d, heifers in milk to £16 7s 6d, fat shorklings to £2 14s, fat ewes to £3 10s, fat weaner pigs to £8 10s, porkpigs to £5 10s, and small store pigs to £1 1s 6d.

WHITSIDE AUCTION MART, Monday.—Messrs Bartle and Son offered 95 newly calven, calving, and store beasts, 45 fat cattle, 102 sheep, 264 pigs, and 10 calves. A large show of dairy cattle, and trade ruled firm, the best newly calven cows making up to £26 5s., useful cows to £22 2s 6d, and secondary sorts to £16. Best calvers to £24 10s, and two-year-old store beasts £13 10s to £14. A good demand for laying-off cows, December and January calvers realising £22 5s to £23 5s. Fat cattle realising 7½d per lb., good beef to 7¾d, cows 6d to 7d per lb., heifers to £16 12s 6d, cows to £23, bulls to £21 15s. Choice shearling sheep made to 60s, heavier sorts 54s to 56s, and lambs 7d to 7½d per lb. Large supplies of pigs, porkers to 8s, bacon pigs to 7s 3d, per stone, young store pigs to 12s 6d, stronger kinds to £2 11s each, breeding sows and gilts to £5 5s each, and calves to £4 14s each.

WETHERBY, Monday.—Messrs Thomlinson and Son had forward a good show of sheep and rather a less show of beasts. The attendance of butchers and dealers was in excess of last mart. A firm trade was realised throughout, best beef making more than last mart, and sheep good to sell. Beef may be quoted from 8s 6d to 9s 3d per stone; cows and heavy best 8s to 8s 6d. Sheep met a good trade, making 4d to 6d per lb. Pigs 7s 3d to 9s per stone. Beasts made, up to £28 15s, and sheep to 94s each. Numbers sold: 86 beasts, 243 sheep, and 13 pigs. Mr E. Liversidge, Ardsley, had eight good fat bullocks, which made £28 15s, £26 2s 6d, £24, £25 7s 6d, £25, £23 2s 6d, £24 10s, and £23 7s 6d; Mr J. W. Atkinson, Walshford, had four good bullocks, which made £25 2s 6d, £24 15s, £23 15s; a prime bullock from Mr Watson, Linton Springs, made £23 15s; two bullocks from Mr R. Bielby, Cattal, made £23 7s 6d and £22 7s 6d; two very fine bullocks from Mr T. Holmes, of Linton, made £23 12s 6d, and £22 17s 6d; four very grand heifers from Mr Alfred Plompton Hall, made £23 5s, £20 15s, £19, and £19 10s; two grand heifers from Mr J. Thwaites's Exors, made £21 15s, £20 15s, and £20 10s; two grand bullocks from Mrs Kendall, Bickerton, £24 15s, and £24 5s; four grand bullocks from Mr Dobson, Dunsforth, Wadsphead, made £24 2s 6d, £24 12s 6d, and £21 17s 6d; a grand heifer from Mr J. Jackson, Burnsinger, made £21 17s 6d; four bullocks from Mr L. Simpson, Newton Kyme, made £24 7s 6d and £23; two bullocks from Mr A. Kendall, Bickerton, made £20 17s 6d and £20; seven bullocks from Mr Bickerton Grange, made £23 5s, £21, £22 15s, £21 10s, £21, £20, £22 15s, and £19 5s; three bullocks from Mr Elwess, Ingmanthorpe, made £22 2s 6d, £18 10s, and £18; two bullocks from Mr W. Dunnington, Marston Lodge, made £23 17s 6d and £18 2s 6d; four prime heifers from Mr W. Burniston, Wheeton Lodge, made £20 5s 6d, £19 6d, £19 12s 6d, etc.; a bullock from Mr G. Douthwaite, Ruddings Farm, made £23 5s; three heifers from Mr G. Lax, made £21, £20 6d, and £19 6d; and a row bullocks from Mr T. Jackson, Cattal, made £23 15s and £19 2s 6d; two bullocks from Kendale, made £24 10s and £22 17s 6d, a pen of sheep shown from Mr G. Lax, Conchepe, first prize winners at Wetherby and Tadcaster Shows, made 94s each; three, pens from Mr R. Bielby made to 76s; from Mr R. Mawhin, to Gt. Lax, made 74s; from Mr W. Hall, to 69s.; Mr W. Burniston, to 70s 6d; Mr J. N. Atkinson, to 56s 6d; Mr Holmes, to 70s 6d; Mr E. Spink, to 68s; Mr Elwess (fat lambs), to 90s 6d. Fat pigs to 58s. each; etc.

The Irish Creameries are about to offer to the War Office a quantity of butter for the wounded soldiers in hospitals.

PROFITABLE POULTRY CULTURE

By RALPH R. ALLEN.

Lecturer to the Herts. County Council; Editor of "Monthly Hints on Poultry," &c.

(All rights reserved).

WAR CHAT—No. 10.

More than once has, I mentioned that the "contented hen is the paying hen." Now contentment implies good feeding, sanitary accommodation and kindness. Kindness never produces fright; fright is known to lessen eggproduction.

Today I purpose responding to a letter written by a well-known American poultry-keeper, Mr Archie E. Vanderveer, which emphasises this aspect of poultry management. It his advice is followed it must tend to lessen nervous sorrows. Some of the large egg farms charge admission to their plants to discourage visitors. Strangers frighten their hens and cause a falling off in the egg yield. Then, the egg producing breeds are more nervous and easier frightened than the larger breeds, and seem more afraid and suspicious of strangers. I had not thought very much of this matter until one day a few years ago we had a reunion at our farm. The large noisy crowd scared the usually gentle, Orpingtons so bad that the eggs fell to extreme corners by the farm, and I remember I found but very few eggs when I came to gather them. Since then I have observed that if my hens become scared at strangers they will fall off in the egg yield very much.

I take great pains to make friends with the poultry, and succeed even with Leghorns, but even more than this is the point of introducing strangers to come nearer than a respectable distance. The little brooder chicks will allow strangers to fondl, them, but as they grow older they become more cautious.

However, they know and do not fear the hand that cares for them. I am very careful never to alarm or ill-treat them in any way. Uniform kindness and gentleness is everything. Anything likely to cause commotion in the poultry yard, is the way to keep the poultry on the farm bored. It is an item of value to the able to catch a fowl easily when wanted for table or other use. A quiet, gentle hen that will permit her owner to handle her while on the nest, is worth three times as much as the wild hen that endangers her eggs by leaving the nest in a hurry when her master comes near. An ungovernable hen will make, her off-spring the same.

The largest breeders of cattle, sheep and swine, attach much importance to making their stock gentle and manageable by simple means, and well know the quiet contented animals fatten and thrive much better. Thy, some principle applies to poultry, and more to the than much to do with the profits. And, besides, it's a good deal of satisfaction to have our feathered friends so time they will come running quickly at the call without signs of distrust.

(Any enquiries concerning poultry keeping addressed to our expert, Captain Ralph R. Allen, Sawbridgeworth, Herts, will be answered through these columns, free, but those requiring a postal answer thereto, or sending birds for post-mortem examination, must remit half-crown postal order. The name of the writer must in all cases be given).

The Chief Constable of Lincolnshire, Captain Mitchell-Innes, was out shooting game on Saturday with a number of friends. A gun of one of the party was accidentally discharged, and Captain Mitchell-Innes was hit in the face. The right eye was injured.

During Hull Fair four monkeys escaped from a menagerie. They escaped whilst the attendant was putting fresh water in the monkey-house. One was recaptured, but the other three made rapid progress down the slope in the neighbourhood of the fair ground.

The calendar at the Micklemas Quarter Sessions at Leeds, for which 200 cases were opened on Monday at Wakefield, contained the names of 46 prisoners, as compared with 66 in the corresponding period last year. Only four of the prisoners were concerned in a charge of rioting at Keighley.

M. Leroy-Beaulieu, in a paper read at the Paris Academie des Sciences Morales et Politiques, estimates that from 45 to 50 milliards of francs (about £2,000,000,000) would be required to make good the losses from individual losses suffered. The estimate is based on the assumption that the war lasts seven months.

DURING THE WAR USE

COLMAN'S POULTRY MUSTARD

AND SECURE MORE EGGS

"The Poultry Keepers' Account Book" and other literature, post free on application to

RALPH R. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth Herts.

PRICE LIST.
3lb. 2/6
5lb. 3/7
10lb. 6/6
Carriage Paid.

BRITAIN REQUIRES MORE FOOD!

ALLEN'S ROUP CURE, 2/3 Post Paid.
Each package contains a sufficient dose for a gallon of drinking water. It is a guaranteed cure for this dreaded disease. Prevention is better than cure, and constant poultry keepers will not occasionally give this preparation in the form of drinking water, and so render their flocks immune.
Full directions are given with each packet.
To be obtained only from R. R. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

ALLEN'S TONIC CAPSULES, 1/6 post paid
Generally called "The Poultry-Keepers Friend." Immediately it is noticed all ailment a capsule (iron, quinine, and cod-liver oil) should be given. Will prevent disease.
To be obtained only from R. R. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

THE MOST PRACTICAL UTILITY POULTRY PAPER.
MONTHLY HINTS ON POULTRY
32 pages, profusely illustrated, art paper, &c.
1d. monthly, post free from
THE EDITOR, Sawbridgeworth, HERTS.
Write for specimen copy.

Pure-bred Laying Pullets 7/6 each.
We can offer you pedigree Rhode Island Red, White Wyandotte, and Brown Leghorn, White Orpington, and White Wyandotte, March hatched pullets, at 7s. 6d. each. Unrivalled vigorous Cockerels, from 15s. each. Approval.
ALLEN POULTRY Co., Ltd., Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

QUEEN'S "WORK FOR WOMEN" FUND.

THIRD LIST OF SUBSCRIBERS IN GARFORTH.

	£	s.	d.
Mrs Dent	0	2	6
Mrs Rickard	0	2	6
Mrs Routledge, junr.	0	2	6
Mrs Cowper	0	2	6
Mrs. A. J. Thompson	0	5	0
Mrs Driver	0	2	6
Mrs Nicholls	0	2	6
Mrs Ramsey	0	2	6
Miss Sissons	0	2	6
Mrs Jackson	0	2	6
Mrs Hordley	0	1	0
Small Sums, per Mrs Dent	0	11	7
Small Sums, per Mrs Drakefield	0	2	6
Miss McKerrow	0	5	0
Mrs Peaker	0	5	0
Collected by Mrs. Wilkinson	0	2	6
Collected by Miss Oxtoby	0	2	6
Mrs A. Robinson	0	5	0
Mrs Reed	0	10	6

The total amount collected is £45 7s., which has been forwarded in full, all the expenses having been paid by Mr Dobson. The committee thank all those who have assisted in any way in obtaining this handsome result of the effort.

JAMES W. DOBSON, Hon. Sec. and Treas.
The Elms, Garforth, Oct. 17th, 1914.

A SELBY ABBEY ANNIVERSARY.

SIN OF MAN THAT MADE WAR.

In connection with the dedication anniversary celebration at Selby Abbey a choral service was held on Tuesday evening, the preacher being Canon Bell, vicar of St. Olave's-with-St Giles', York.

Canon Bell delivered an inspiring discourse on the passage "The glory of this latter house shall be greater than that of the former." He said it was always difficult to see the working out of God's purpose in great and destructive calamities. The minds of the congregation went back eight years to the disaster that took place in Selby. Some of them, as they saw the flames shooting up in the darkness of the night, perhaps asked, "Can it ever rise again?" Yes, it was the will of God. But the mercy was forthcoming. Not only the people of Selby, but of Yorkshire and England rose to do all they could, and the church was renewed with generosity and liberality. It was the sin of man that made war, just as it was the sin of man that made the captivity. It was God who was able to take this evil thing, and out of it bring the working of His purpose. Before the war the dominant note in this country was self-pleasing; everyone wanted his plan working out, and said if he did not get his way people should suffer for it. Then came this crushing blow, and people dropped all that nonsense. Each week now saw more clearly the folly of it all. We saw more clearly than we had a tremendous lesson in what the sin of selfishness was. They looked across at Belgium they saw men who had positively laid down their lives as an act of self-sacrifice. They had been cast out of their country, and suffered the horrible afflictions and tortures. Perhaps some might ask why God had allowed this? Were they such bad people? God knew that the very careless and forgetful must suffer. It was because the people of Belgium had learnt at the foot of the Cross some of the great lessons of self-sacrifice, that they had been called to suffer, that they had been glorified in suffering.

The collection was devoted to the Belgian Relief Fund.

CARE OF A POLISHED TABLE.

There are many people possessing polished tables who do not know how to keep them looking well; in fact, who soon spoil the looks of the shining, polished table-top by careless or ignorant use. It is a simple matter to keep such tables looking well at all times and seasons. After each meal the table should be wiped with a damp cloth to remove all superfluous or forgotten matter of any kind. It is well, then, always to wipe the table-top after a meal with a clean flannel cloth, rubbing briskly for a moment or two after. Such treatment will keep the table intact, and if this is continued for years the polish will increase and the beauty and worth of the table be enhanced rather than detracted from. There is one thing which will spoil the polish of the wood show up coarsely. The most satisfactory remedy is the regular application of oil and hand rubbing. If the table is never allowed to become defaced—that is, if properly cared for from the first—such disfiguration need never take place.

Two Territorials, mistaken for enemies, have been shot by comrades, and another Territorial has been killed while on sentry duty by a shot fired by some unknown hand.

William Waite, weighing 20 stones, enlisted as an artilleryman at Cardiff. He was formerly in the Army. He is now eager deal and dumb applicants were rejected.

The Exchequer returns from April 1st to October 17th show that the expenditure was £100,951,000 against £57,778,000 in the corresponding period of last year.

The Court of Appeal has decided that the moonshine does not apply to a series of small debts, each amounting to 19s. 11d., the total debts amounted to more than that sum.

A farmer named Waterworth was on Monday committed for trial on the charge of shooting at William Turner, a youth, who was running with harriers across the defendant's land.

Harold Snowdon, a native of Silsden, was knocked down and run over by the motor car performing Territorial patrol duty on the Great Western Railway between Sunderland and Dolcoat.

Alice Allison, aged five years, of 2, Gound Field, Barnsley, died from the effects of burns. Her clothing caught fire through the child and another youngster playing with "fools fire" in the house. The latter escaped.

Gustav Baumann, proprietor of the Biltmore Hotel, New York, fell from the roof, which is 22 storeys high, and was killed in front of the entrance of the establishment. It is believed that the fall was accidental.

The decoration of the Royal Red Cross has been bestowed by the Queen upon Mdlle. Eugenie Antoine for her courageous and devoted services to the British wounded in hospital at Vally-sur-Aisne while that village was under fire on Sept. 14th.

A voluntary contribution made by the officers and employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway by the Canadian Patriotic Fund of all the daily deductions amounted to upwards of £28,000. This is exclusive of other sums given by the company.

Princess Mary has issued an appeal for £100,000 with which to provide a Christmas present to every sailor afloat and every soldier at the front. The gift will take the form of an embossed brass tobacco or cigarette box, pipe, and tinder lighter. In the case of Indian troops, sweets will be supplied instead of tobacco or cigarettes.

GENUINE EAST INDIA RAPE NUTS.
A WELL-TRIED AND RELIABLE
AUTUMN TILLAGE.
M. SCOTT & Co., Seed Crushers, SELBY.
Prompt Delivery can be given to Rails Selby.
Ask your Manure Merchant for particulars.

THE SITUATION.

"It's only a £700 place," said Crocus Graham, with flushed cheek and glittering eyes. "And when my car fares are paid, and my dress provided for, there isn't so much left after all. I'm sure nobody need covet it."

Mrs. Graham looked at her daughter with folded hands and a troubled expression of countenance.

"Yes, I know, Crocus," said she, in that soft, tremulous falsetto of hers. "But £100 is £100, and, after all, these public offices are a deal more genteel than school-teaching or dressmaking, or any other way by which a friendless woman may earn a living. And this little place has many powerful political friends, and they tell me that a place must be found for her at all hazards."

And so, "cried the indignant Crocus, "I am to be flung—and you with me, mamma—helpless upon the world!"

"Not helpless, Crocus, dear!"

"Mamma, how can it be otherwise?" said Crocus, looking pitifully down on her little white hands, pink as to the nails and dimpled as to the joints. "He said it was always difficult to see the working out of God's purpose in great and destructive calamities. The minds of the congregation went back eight years to the disaster that took place in Selby. Some of them, as they saw the flames shooting up in the darkness of the night, perhaps asked, "Can it ever rise again?" Yes, it was the will of God. But the mercy was forthcoming. Not only the people of Selby, but of Yorkshire and England rose to do all they could, and the church was renewed with generosity and liberality. It was the sin of man that made war, just as it was the sin of man that made the captivity. It was God who was able to take this evil thing, and out of it bring the working of His purpose. Before the war the dominant note in this country was self-pleasing; everyone wanted his plan working out, and said if he did not get his way people should suffer for it. Then came this crushing blow, and people dropped all that nonsense. Each week now saw more clearly the folly of it all. We saw more clearly than we had a tremendous lesson in what the sin of selfishness was. They looked across at Belgium they saw men who had positively laid down their lives as an act of self-sacrifice. They had been cast out of their country, and suffered the horrible afflictions and tortures. Perhaps some might ask why God had allowed this? Were they such bad people? God knew that the very careless and forgetful must suffer. It was because the people of Belgium had learnt at the foot of the Cross some of the great lessons of self-sacrifice, that they had been called to suffer, that they had been glorified in suffering.

The collection was devoted to the Belgian Relief Fund.

CARE OF A POLISHED TABLE.

There are many people possessing polished tables who do not know how to keep them looking well; in fact, who soon spoil the looks of the shining, polished table-top by careless or ignorant use. It is a simple matter to keep such tables looking well at all times and seasons. After each meal the table should be wiped with a damp cloth to remove all superfluous or forgotten matter of any kind. It is well, then, always to wipe the table-top after a meal with a clean flannel cloth, rubbing briskly for a moment or two after. Such treatment will keep the table intact, and if this is continued for years the polish will increase and the beauty and worth of the table be enhanced rather than detracted from. There is one thing which will spoil the polish of the wood show up coarsely. The most satisfactory remedy is the regular application of oil and hand rubbing. If the table is never allowed to become defaced—that is, if properly cared for from the first—such disfiguration need never take place.

"Mamma, you must be provided for, don't you see?" said the Senator. "And they tell me that your department is the pleasantest place in the Treasury building, with its wide halls, its fireproof treasury building, with roses in her bosom and the odour of youth and health in her clear eyes.

Her dead father had been good to him as a young man and he had never forgotten it.

Crocus's heart sank piteously as he looked down at her with serious, observant eyes.

"He is thinking how he will break it to me," she thought to herself. "Oh, dear! oh, dear I wish it were all over and I was on the Dakota farm, with mamma and the beehives."

He spoke at last, after what seemed an interminable pause—spoke in a low, earnest voice.

"Miss Graham," he said, "did you ever think of leaving the department?"

"Of giving up my office?" uttered Crocus, quickly.

"Yes," he said. "I suppose, of course, it would amount to that."

Crocus rose and stood playing with the tassel on her fan in a nervous sort of way.

"It is very kind of you to lead up to the subject so carefully, Mr. Harrington," said she; "but—but I know all about it already.

He looked at her with puzzled, intent eyes.

"I do not see how that can be possible, Miss Gra ame," said he.

"Oh, I'm quicker-sighted than you think!" Crocus answered, with a forced laugh. "I have seen it coming for some time. It is scarcely necessary, I suppose, to ask my opinion."

"But it is necessary—very necessary, indeed!" said the auditor. "I am some years your senior, Miss Graham; but I believe I could make you happy. At least that is the conclusion at which I have arrived after many days and nights of reflection on the subject. And if you will decide to look favourably upon my suit—"

"But," cried Crocus, with burning cheeks, "I was talking about my office in the department!"

"And I," said Mr. Harrington, "am talking about you."

If the winged god Mercury had come down from his marble pedestal among the catalpa trees, if the magnificent statue of the "Pioneer" had descended from the portico and asked Crocus to be his bride, Crocus Graham could not have been more taken by surprise.

"I'm afraid I'm very stupid, Mr. Harrington," she said, "but—but did you mean to ask me if—

"If you would marry me—yes," said the twenty-fifth auditor, composedly.

"It doesn't seem possible," said Crocus.

And then, in her bewilderment of happiness, she began to cry.

So Mrs. Altamont got the £100 office, and Senator Stalkup was satisfied. And the farm project remained a myth.

And sometimes, when Crocus comes to her husband's private office in the department, a sweetfaced young matron in silk and lace, who looks strikingly at her ease with Mrs. Altamont in their midst, and wonders if it were possible that she was once one of them.

"It seems so long ago," says Mrs. Harrington—"oh, so very long ago!"

LADIES
BLANCHARD'S PILLS
Are unrivaled for all Irregularities, &c., they speedily affect relief and never fail to alleviate all suffering. Safest remedy for nervousness. Fit Cockles, Bitter Apple, &c. They supersede Pennyroyal. Fit Cockles, Bitter Apple, &c. They supersede Pennyroyal. "BLANCHARD'S are the Best of all Pills for Women." —"BLANCHARD'S" by Doctor Beasham, Taylor's Drug Co. Safe to be used at all Periods. Of Chemists, or post free, same price from THE BLANCHARD CHEMICAL CO., 19, BALSTON LANE, LONDON, S.E.15. HAVELTA, Ltd., Chemists, 31

BOWERS ALLERTON AND DISTRICT BAND OF HOPE UNION.

ANNIVERSARY MEETINGS AT KIPPAX.

On Saturday the fourth anniversary of the Bowers Allerton and District Band of Hope Union was celebrated, and meetings were held in the Wesleyan Schoolroom at Kippax.

In the afternoon a conference took place, and it was well attended by workers from various societies composing the Union. A paper was read by Mr. A. Lockwood, of Leeds on "Stick to the subject," and he gave many good hints to speakers desiring to interest the boys and girls attending band of hope meetings. The president of the Union (Mr Herbert Firth, Methley) presided. Subsequently a good tea was partaken of by a fair company.

Afterwards the annual business meeting took place, and a report of the year's work was given by the hon. sec. (Mr Ismay Robinson), and then the election of officers took place. Mr Firth was re-elected president, Mr Ismay Robinson hon. secretary, Mr Thomas Booth (Kippax) vice-president, Mr Samuel Stockwell (Bowers Allerton) treasurer, and Mr Jas. Goodall was re-elected representative to the County Union.

In the evening considerable interest was manifested in a public meeting and entertainment, over which Mr T. Booth (the newly-elected vice-president) presided. There was a large audience. Mr A. Lockwood, of Leeds, delivered an instructive address and gave a recitation, and songs were rendered by Miss Annie Smith (Kippax), Misses E. Davidson and W. Ward (Bowers Allerton), and Mr Clifford Farrer. Recitations were contributed by Miss Waller (Kippax) and Miss Olive Robinson (Bowers Allerton), while cornet solos and duets were given by Masters Ratcliffe and Hall (Kippax). Mrs Pelnce, of Kippax, was the efficient accompanist.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the artistes and the trustees of the Wesleyan Church for the use of the schoolroom.

CORRESPONDENCE

CHURCH FENTON CRICKET CLUBS.

(To the Editor).

Sir,—I was surprised in this week's issue of your paper to find another letter from the correspondent of the Fenton Club, and particularly in face of the one in your issue of the 2nd inst. In this he says if I will openly state that the members of the Fenton Club are as fully entitled to be termed Fentonians as those of the Sycamore team he then most willingly withdraws his accusation. Although I had never disputed the fact that members of both clubs were equally Fentonians I went to the trouble of publicly admitting this, fully expecting this would end the correspondence. Now he states he has nothing to withdraw, and further states I made a statement which I cannot verify and also one which all the clubs in the division may equally take exception to.

I may say I have made no statement which I cannot both verify and substantiate. I haven't said a word against either individual or club. I would remind the correspondent of the Fenton Club that the correspondence arose out of the word Fentonians being used in a report of the doings of the Sycamore Club, not for any remark or statement against anyone. Now I am told every club in the Division may take exception to this. I fail to see what this has to do with other clubs in the Division. Exception might have been taken both by the Fenton club and other clubs had the report stated that the members of the Sycamore Club were proud of the fact that, unlike many clubs in the Division, they were qualified by birth and not by residence. I might further have said we were proud of the fact that our team consisted practically of the members of one family—that family which may perhaps have done more for cricket than any family in the Division. That would, like the preceding one, have been an assertion to which exception might have been taken. Take the Crossgates clubs, for instance. If one or other of the clubs in their annual report were to say they were proud of the fact of being either all Wesleyans or all Crossgatesites, why should the other club take exception, and, moreover, why should they be asked to publicly state why the word or words were used. There is always a reason for everything that appears in print, but because a certain reader takes exception to this why should the writer be called to state why the word was used unless it was an assertion. In this case there had been no assertion, and, therefore, nothing to substantiate. I publicly stated that the word was not intended to apply to the members of the Fenton Club or anyone connected with it, and further than this I am prepared to support this on oath.

The correspondent of the Fenton Club said he publicly washed to take exception to the misleading statements which were from time to time sent by the correspondent of the Sycamore Club. This is my name and only privacy, and it was only in fairness to myself I asked the Fenton correspondent to tell me when these statements appeared. When he does so I will either publicly or privately state why the word he objects to was used. So far as I am concerned nothing has been said by me which was intended to offend anyone, and unless necessity compels me I have said my last on the matter.—Yours, etc.,

G. H. Austin, Hon. Sec., Church Fenton Sycamore, C.C.

SELBY URBAN DISTRICT COUNCIL.

At the monthly meeting of the Selby Urban District Council on Wednesday night it was notified that the surveyor had applied to the Road Board for a grant towards the repair of the part of Ousegate leading from the Railway Station to the Toll Bridge, which thoroughfare the military authorities regarded as a military road.

The Local Government Board have sanctioned a loan of £350 for the purchase from the Lord of the Manor (the Earl of Londesborough) of the reversionary interest in the Museum Hall property, the gift to the town under the will of the late Sir Jonathan Hutchinson.

Upon the recommendation of the Finance Committee, advances of wages to workmen were granted.

Mr Mark Scott referred to the appeal being made for funds for the purchase from the Lord of Belgian refugees, and said he thought the Council might adopt the plan of furnishing an empty residence at Selby. This country was under a deep debt of gratitude to the Belgian people in the present crisis.

Mr G. Ainley and others expressed an earnest desire to do something to help the refugees.

The Clerk (Mr J. H. Bantoft) said that a difficulty would arise in incurring expense, and eventually the question was referred to the Selby War Distress Sub-Committee.

It was decided unanimously that the post of the Medical Officer (Dr. Bertram Hill) should be kept open for him until his return from military service.

The Schools.—The Horwich Schools had splendid attendance, records last month. Scholes was at the top of the Garforth district with a percentage of 94.44 against 92.50 for September last year, while Barwick had a percentage of 93.21 against 92.66.

WHITKIRK AND DISTRICT RIFLE CLUB.

A HEALTHY INSTITUTION

Whitkirk and District Rifle Club continues to do good work in the way in which it was formed to do, viz., to teacher the important art of rifle shooting. The club numbers among its members a few very good shots, and all the members show weekly improvement.

A system of weekly averages is carried out, and on each Monday the list of averages is posted up in the range, showing the total number of rounds shot during the foregoing week by each member, together with his total score and average. Needless to say, Monday is an important day, and there is a rush to the notice board as soon as the list is posted up.

A competition of some kind is held every Saturday night. For these competitions an entrance fee of one penny is charged, all of which goes to swell the local Distress Fund, the prizes being provided out of club funds, or given by members.

Since we last reported the club's doings the following members have won prizes at the competitions:—First prizes—Messrs Bagley, Smithson, and E. McKay, jun. Second prizes—Messrs Beaumont, Pendlebury, and Farrell.

On Saturday two silver spoons from the S.M.R.C. were presented to Messrs J. S. White and S. H. Kirkby for having made "possibles."

The club still continues to enrol new members, and is altogether in a flourishing and healthy condition.

A CROSSGATES MAN SUES A SEACROFT FARMER.

JUDGE'S AMUSING COMMENTS.

At Leeds County Court on Wednesday—before Judge Greenbaum—an action was heard in which Eric Vernon Wimpenny architect, of Manston Gardens, Crossgates, claimed £50 damages for personal injuries, etc., alleged to have been caused by a horse belonging to Eliza Umpleby, farmer of Seacroft. The action arose out of an accident which happened to plaintiff in July as he was riding his motor-cycle late at night down the Coal Road, Seacroft. Two horses dashed across the road in front of the machine. The first only got over safely, but the second collided with the cycle, throwing the Wimpenny to the ground. He alighted on his head, suffered from concussion of the brain for a little while, and was kept away from his work for four weeks.

Mr F. Blackstone appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr Armitage, barrister, defended.

In opening the case Mr Blackstone stated that the claim was for personal injuries sustained by plaintiff on July 21st through the negligence of defendant in allowing horses to stray on the public highway. About 10.45 on that night plaintiff was driving a motor-cycle and side-car along the Coal Road, Seacroft, when two horses ran across the road from some buildings owned by defendant. The night was extremely dark, and plaintiff had no time to avoid the horses. One of the animals passed quite safely, and then the other dashed across.

His Honour: This seems to have been a sort of cavalry engagement. (Laughter).

Mr Blackstone: Yes, sir, a charge of the Light Brigade.

Counsel said that the second animal received the identification plate full in the stomach.

His Honour: Like a torpedo. (Laughter).

It was stated that the impact of the collision caused the rider to turn a somersault in the air.

The Judge: Looping the loop. (Laughter).

It was said that as the result of the accident the plaintiff a great shock, from the effects of which he was still suffering. The bulk of the claim (£31) was for loss of business during his absence from the office.

At Mr Armitage's request, the plaintiff produced his ledger and showed the money received by him for the corresponding month of 1913.

His Honour: You make our mouths water.

It was also put forward that Mr Wimpenny had lost considerably in weight since the occurrence, whereat His Honour said that he thought most people tried to keep their weight down. "Still," he reflected, "I never had much to lose."

For the defence, Mr Armitage raised an important point of law, the substance of which was that the mere presence of the horses on the road was not sufficient evidence of negligence on the part of the owner. It must be shown that the defendant had been guilty of some breach of positive duty towards the plaintiff. Mr Armitage quoted in support the case of Coxe v. Burbidge (13, Common Bench, new series, p. 429), in which a child was kicked by a horse on the highway; and also the case of Ellis v. Banyard (Court of Appeal, 1912), in which a farmer's cows strayed upon the highway and threw a lady off her bicycle. In both cases it was held that there was no proof of the owners having been guilty of negligence.

His Honour said he should have thought that in this case the horses were a nuisance in that they were straying on the road, and that it was the farmer's duty to keep them within his own boundaries. But the point appeared to be such that straying of itself was not sufficient evidence of negligence.

Mr Blackstone, in reply to the Judge, said he could call evidence of positive neglect, but Mr Armitage objected to the case being re-opened.

It was explained that an amount of £17 10s. 6d. had already been paid into Court by the defendant, and His Honour urged the parties to come to a settlement.

The plaintiff was at first disposed to go on and take the case further, if necessary, but His Honour said he would like to give a word of warning,as the law seemed to be strong on the side of the defendant.

Mr Blackstone then again consulted again with his client, as a result of which he said the plaintiff would agree to take the money that had been paid into Court.

His Honour said he was pleased. "You would," he said to Mr Blackstone, "have had a thorny path to follow."

Accident.—Arthur Dawson, aged 41, an employee at the Selby Olympia Oil and Cake Mills, has met with a serious accident while working at the cake machinery. His right hand was caught by the machinery, and completely severed from the wrist. He was conveyed to the Selby Cottage Hospital, where he is progressing favourably. He is a married man belonging to Leeds, and has worked only a few weeks at Selby.

Organ Recital at the Abbey.—The anniversary of the dedication of the year 1907, and the choir in 1909, is being observed at Selby Abbey this week. On Monday night Mr C. H. Moody, organist of Ripon Cathedral, gave a recital at the Abbey in the presence of a large congregation. English, French, Russian, and Belgian compositions were played with the organist's well-known skill. The collection was devoted to the Belgian Refugee Fund.

AMUSEMENTS.

LEEDS EMPIRE PALACE.

At the Empire this week are George Carney and Co., fresh from their South African tour, in "The Fool of the Force." On the way back they fell in with the Kaiser der Grosse and got captured—almost a piece of good luck for the company, which includes ably to precede its turn with a very interesting series of cinematograph pictures showing the enemy ship approaching, her officers assembling on the deck of the Galician, and the ship's boats apparatus being dismantled. The pictures were obviously taken under difficulties, but there is least serve to illuminate a very exciting episode of the war. The company's turn here is highly diverting, and the "Fool" plays up to his part in great style. Gertie Gitana is very popular with her pretty, talking songs, and has the gift of pleasing her audience developed to a remarkable degree. Ermolow, a Russian Cossack, gives an interesting display of skill with ancient and modern war weapons; and Marriett Edgar, in the dual role of the Genial Duchess and the washerwoman, is immensely funny.

At the Empire Palace next week the chief turn will be given by Syd Rowson, in humorous Scottish character studies, and a notable engagement is that of Trumpeter Henri Gevve, of the Belgian Cavalry, the hero of Liege, Louvain, Malines, etc. He was wounded, and was decorated for bravery by the Belgian Government. Gevve, who will sound various trumpet calls, will have his thrilling experiences in the fighting described at each performance. Others billed to appear are Beansby Williams, with a fresh programme every night; Helen Charles, entertainer at the piano; the Poppesco Troupe, marvellous gymnasts; Comtesse di Rubadi, Italian court violinist; Jennie and Joe, comedy duo; and Geo. Rapley, comedian.

LEEDS HIPPODROME.

At the Hippodrome this week the principal feature is Fred Karno's sketch "Perkins, M.P.," with the locally born comedian, Tom Nelson, as the hero. The piece is by no means new to local music-hall patrons, but it meets with a very cordial reception, and Tom Nelson, as the impossible Perkins, has lost none of his potency as a mirth-provoker. Apart from the sketch, the bill is a strong one. Viviana and Co.'s scena "The Toyshop" is as vigorous and as funny as ever, and Mark Lupino is a comedian of exceptional ability. Syd May presents several clever impersonations of popular artistes; Horace Wheatley, an old favourite, renders one or two quaint Irish numbers; and Bella and Jules Terry and "Beauty" in their singing and dancing act, give an acceptable item. Others here are, Ray and Gee, entertainers; The Hesseys; and George Rosa, pianist and entertainer.

Next week at the Hippodrome Joe Peterman will present the inimitable comedian, Jimmy Learmouth as Colonel Cobb of the Red Hussars, supported by a full company of thirty artistes. Others who will appear are the Two Ventas, vocalists and dancers; Harry Habey, in his original study, "Curtains"; the Four Kasracs, and Vera Wootton, comedienne.

BARKSTON ASH MEN AT ANTWERP.

MR WINSTON CHURCHILL IN THE TRENCHES.

Private William Henry Sharp, one of the Royal Marines, who was at Antwerp when the city capitulated, has arrived home on furlough for a week.

He reached Selby on Tuesday, and was cordially welcomed by his friends. He is thirty years of age, is married, and has a family of four, and lives in Wren Lane.

He says he saw the trenches at Lierre, and after dark they had to retire. His comrade, Private Walter Watts, another Selby lad, had disappeared, and he hoped he was a prisoner in Holland.

Asked how it was that so many of them were taken prisoners, he replied that they were cut off during the darkness. They were in the trenches for four days and nights, and those were blown up by the accuracy of the large guns.

"If anybody said they prayers, we did," said Sharp. He added that there were only two men in his section saved, the others being killed or taken prisoners; one of the men near him had his head blown off.

Referring to the visit of Mr. Winston Churchill, Sharp said he was with them and passed him twice in the trenches. He was useful, and knocked about, going to Antwerp and coming back next day.

If it had not been for their presence, added Sharp, Antwerp would have fallen three days earlier than it did.

Trawlers Launched.—Two steel screw trawlers were launched on Wednesday at Messrs Cochrane and Sons's shipyard, Selby, for a Grimsby firm. The trawlers were respectfully christened Acantha and Bona Dea by Mrs Oldbrook, of Grimsby, and Mrs M. Goldham, of Birmingham. After the ceremony the visitors adjourned to the builders' offices, where the usual toasts were proposed and responded to.

£10 REWARD!

The above Reward will be paid by

MR. J. CROSSWAITE

to the first person giving Information

Leading to a Conviction of a certain unscrupulous person, at present calling upon householders in his name.

And Offering for Sale Recipes, Medicines, Pills, Ointments, etc.,

Falsely representing the same to have been prepared by Mr Crosswaite.

Information can be lodged at the nearest Police Station, or Detective Office, Town Hall, Leeds; or Mr J. Crosswaite, 84, Kirkstall Road, Leeds.

DOYLE

The Noted China House

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

The name Doyle is rapidly becoming a household word in this and other districts, where housewives desire to purchase their China and Glassware to the BEST advantage. DOYLE is the name that COUNTS if VALUE is your object.

Purchase only BRITISH CHINA and GLASSWARE.

59, BOAR LANE, LEEDS.

Established 1885. Established 1885.

GENERAL

Accident Fire and Life

Assurance Corporation, Ltd.

PERSONAL ACCIDENT and SICKNESS Policies of all kinds. Liberal Benefits and conditions. Low Premiums.
FREE FIRE INSURANCE every sixth year to householders and private property owners.
COMBINATION POLICIES covering the requirements of householders in connection with risks of Fire, Burglary, and accidents to servants.
THREE POPULAR FORMS of Life Policy, including guaranteed options.
Workmen's Compensation, Motor Car, Burglary, Fidelity Guarantee, Employers' Liability accidents, Live Stock, Plate Glass, and Farmers' Insurances.

Chief Offices—General Buildings, Perth, Scotland.
General Buildings, Aldwych, London, W.C.
The Oldest and Strongest independent Office.
Assets, exceed £5,000,000.
Claims paid over £7,000,000.
General Manager - F. NOBLE-KELLER, J.P.

JOHN TEALE,

Advertising Contractor & Billposter

WHITE HOUSE, GARFORTH.

Bills posted and Handbills distributed on the shortest notice throughout the Barkston Ash Division on most reasonable terms.

BEST & BOOTH

Tailors & Costumiers,

119, KIRKGATE,

— AND —

143, BRIGGATE

(Corner of Market Street), LEEDS.

Ladies' Department—143, BRIGGATE.

Look Out for B. & B.

Teasdale's — All Men Joining the Army SHOULD HAVE WITH THEM — Chlorodyne

Teasdale's — Teasdale's Chlorodyne — Chlorodyne

A Safe Protector from common hazardous ailments—Cholerale Diarrhœa, Dysentery, etc.

Teasdale's — GIVES INSTANT RELIEF; EASES PAIN. A BLESSING TO HAVE SUCH A GRAND MEDICINE. — Chlorodyne

Teasdale's — Brigadier Fortune, Royal Horse Artillery: "I thank you for the great benefit that Teasdale's Chlorodyne has not only done for myself, but also for many of my comrades to whom I have given it. It has indeed been a blessing to have such a grand medicine in my possession. I have used it in numerous cases of Dysentery, Rheumatism, Pains in the Back, Coughs, and Colds. It acted like a charm in every case." — Chlorodyne

Teasdale's — Teasdale's Chlorodyne — Chlorodyne

Teasdale's — THE MOST VALUABLE PRESENT YOU CAN GIVE TO A FRIEND GOING TO THE FRONT. — Chlorodyne

Teasdale's — 7½d., 1s.3d., and Large Bottles, 2/6. Can be had of Purdy, Crossgates; Ramsden, Halton, and other Chemists; Goodall, Backhouse & Co., and Taylor's Drug Stores. — Chlorodyne

Teasdale's — ASK FOR TEASDALE'S CHLORODYNE. — Chlorodyne

THE CHALLENGE!

Never Beaten.

BRAITHWAITE'S

"The Firm with a Reputation."

ARE NOW OFFERING

THE BEST VALUE IN YORKSHIRE

— IN —

BOOTS & SHOES for Present Wear.

We are SPECIALISTS IN "FOOTWEAR for the COUNTRY."

Large Variety of Leggings, Gaiters, Slippers, & Dress Shoes.

FARMERS' BOOTS. NAVVIES' BOOTS. PIT BOOTS.

BOOTS THAT WILL TURN THE WET

SPECIAL NOTICE.—We are still offering a lot of Odd Pairs at Ridiculously Low Prices until Cleared.

BRAITHWAITE'S, The Value for Money Boot Stores,

58, VICAR LANE, LEEDS.

Closed at 1 o'clock on Wednesdays.

Money Saving is Money Making

Special Show in the Latest Styles and Shades of Ladies' & Children's Winter Coats, Costumes, and Skirts, at Most Reasonable Prices.

Winter Coats from 8s. 11d. Raincoats from 6s

SMITH & PETTY,

44, Lowerhead Row, LEEDS

Three Doors from Briggate.

MOURNING ORDERS EXECUTED IN 12 HOURS.

LEEDS AND HOLBECK PERMANENT BUILDING SOCIETY

96, ALBION STREET (Corner of Guildford Street), Leeds.

DAILY from 10 to 3, Saturdays 10 to 1. Saturday Evenings, 6.30 to 8.

3½ PER CENT. INTEREST ALLOWED ON SUBSCRIPTION & PAID UP SHARES.

3 PER CENT. ALLOWED ON DEPOSITS.

WITHDRAWALS CAN BE MADE AT SHORT NOTICE.

Prospectus on Application. Jno. Exley, President.

Tel. No. 253. Wm. Maude, Manager & Secretary.

Printed and Published by Arthur Knox Rhodes, of 26, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates, for the Proprietors of the "Rothwell Courier and Times" at their offices, 2, Alec Street, Leeds, in the County of York.

"The Rothwell Courier and Times" IS THE Only Weekly Newspaper PUBLISHED in the DISTRICT

Rothwell Courier & Times

AND

Methley, Oulton, Woodlesford, Carlton, Robin Hood, Lofthouse, Middleton, Stourton & Hunslet Chronicle

NO. 96—NEW SERIES SATURDAY, OCTOBER 31 1914 ESTAB. 1873 PRICE—ONE PENNY

Joshua Tetley & Son (Limited), THE BREWERY, LEEDS.

NOW READY IN BOTTLE.

East India Pale Ale, 2/- per dozen Small Bottles

Extra Stout, 1/9 per dozen Small Bottles.

Special (Non-Deposit) Mild Ale, 3/- dozen Large bottles.

Delivered Free to Families within 20 Miles of Leeds.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

EMPIRE PALACE, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.

TWO PERFORMANCES EVERY NIGHT AT 6.30 AND 8.55

Early Doors Monday, Tuesday, and Saturday at 6 p.m.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 2nd, 1914

FRED KITCHEN And Otis Ferguson in a Musical Comedy Sketch, "PUNKIE."

Supported by Messrs Harry Piddock, T. J. Kayne, J. E. Coyle, Ernest Weeme, and Fred C. Palmer, Miss Marie Fontaine and Miss Aggie Morris.

LIVENSKA ROSELEEN.

LILLIE LASSAR. A. TYSON.

LOUIS J. SEYMOUR.

DAISY DESMER.

The Exposure of Dorothea, and JACK LANE.

The Yorkshire Comedian of the Picture.

Latest War News and Actual Films from the Front.

Prices, 10s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 5s., 3s. 6d., 2s., 1s. 6d., 1s., 6d., 4d., 3d.

HIPPODROME, LEEDS.

Performances nightly at 6.30 and 9.

NEXT WEEK.

"A YEAR IN AN HOUR."

ARTHUR REECE

NIXON GREY.

WAR! Latest News and Incidents in Picture.

Note Prices:—10s. 6d., 5s., 3s., 2s., 1s., 6d., and 4d.

FRED BARBER,

Pork Butcher,

11, CALL LANE, LEEDS.

TEL. 1604.

DRAINS TESTED AND REPAIRED.

SANITARY WORK A SPECIALITY

Pump Repairs, Electric Bells, Glazing and Gasfitting.

James Smithies,

Registered Plumber & Contractor.

Residence— 18, AUSTHORPE ROAD, CROSSGATES.

Wm. HELLIWELL,

The Working Man's Friend,

212, Hunslet Rd., LEEDS

WATCH WINDOWS FOR GOOD HONEST VALUE.

Special Suits From 30/- NO FIT. NO PAY.

SPARKLING HOSFERRIDE An Invigorating & Refreshing Beverage. REYNOLDS & BRANSON LTD. LEEDS.

For TOWN or COUNTRY. For BUSINESS or PLEASURE.

THE FABOR LOUNGE SUIT AT 45/-

Fabor

45/-

Is the Hall-mark of Perfect Tailoring.

LOUNGE SUITS from 35/-

COSTUMES from 2 Guineas.

Tailor Made & Perfect Fit Guaranteed.

24, Queen Victoria Street, and County Arcade, LEEDS.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT JOTTINGS.

More men are required. From certain parts of the district—notably Wide Lanthorn, Tail of the district—notably Wide Lanthorn, Tail Moor, and Wrenthorpe—the young men have responded splendidly to the country's call, but there are still numbers who, the patriotic spirit should be as much stronger in these places than in other townships. Cross-gates has done very well, but compared to Rothwell with that of Wortley, which has a population of 5,000 more, Rothwell has a larger population of young men, but there is a difference of seventy-one names.

Tadcaster, which has a considerably larger population than Wetherby, has contributed over two score to the Army and Navy, and I see by the issue of Thursday last that Wetherby has only one more than Rothwell, although the former has a considerably larger number of inhabitants. Wetherby, which is the second largest centre in the Barkston Ash Division, claims to have sent just over fifty to the colours, and the village has I know, such a complete roll of honour that I have seen it, that Rothwell could, I think, be completed. It would be an interesting document, and would show to coming generations that Garforth young men in very large numbers of them, if not more, did not like the manners in her house of Lords. Unlike the Kippax one, there are no names of those who have gone to foreign and colonial lands to be recruited as Prussians or Russians are landing in the country.

In the district a good deal depends upon the local committees of correspondents residing in every township, and the success of the scheme will be largely governed by the way in which they carry out their duties. A very large number of these advertisements, I am told, are being issued from these agencies, but I have heard much fault on the part of the public with the way in which the forms are filled up. Some of the forms have been sent out with the names of the persons to whom they are addressed already filled in, and in many cases the wrong name has been given. Correspondents will note, I hope, that much trouble in the matter of delay will be saved if the forms are filled up correctly. There is no compulsory military training in force at present. I have commented on the unfairness of causing men to do something about which others were arriving with the Territorials, whom they went to join. Prior to this unfairness called for among young men, and particularly those of athletic sport who, perhaps, from the question of national preparedness, would be very beneficial to thousands of young men, and personally I see no objection to their being compelled to serve with the Territorials for a certain number of years.

It is publicly announced that the person who put the engine of the Rothwell Parish Church will apply in the proper quarter for the sum that has been lost. Now the question is, Where has it gone? Has it been pinched? The churchwardens would probably prefer that purpose before the burglars, the barbers and publishing firms in Church parish, as opposed to the persons who cause applause. The whole saga of a sermon of something higher than a silver button.

The reason why it is to be that concerted in Rothwell Church is a good many years ago, when a young man was born into the parish of Rothwell, and was baptised in the Rothwell Parish Church, he was given the name of Rothwell. The young man who belonged to one of the prominent families in the district made himself rather unpopular in church by his conduct, and having professed himself to be a large number of times, he made everybody sick by the reflection that he was born in Rothwell, and that the other men were not. He repeated these statements at several services, and then the Vicar publicly stated that if the person who had contributed the birthplace would call at the vestry he could get the certificate of baptism, which he has been unable to find. The vestry got the information, and the young man left the village and was never heard of again.

The Rothwell Cricket Club was entertained on the occasion of the annual meeting by Councillor Mark Peacock, and Councillor Sheffield, Mark Peacock, and Wetherby, Garforth and the two Aberfords, to follow suit, but there was then cricket and no one big a cottage, which must be entered in its remembrance with Swillington and Wetherby Clubs, which are now in existence. Before then, there must have to undergo a certain amount of military training, not to fulfil the highest aim, it is desirable that this phase of the movement should not be ignored. Whether in the strongest club in the district, and the members seem to be very enthusiastic, but it will have a large field to contend in the Aberford club, whose membership is restricted to married men and unmarried men in-habitants to serve with the Forces. It may be possible, he said here, to start a company of Territorials in Swillington district.

Temperance has had an unfortunate effect previous recently. In one part of the district a few months ago a plague of rats, which in-lodged pastries and made merry with the house-wives' good things, was reported, and some of the residents were in serious fear the invaders should take complete possession of the place. However, the rats were either out-flanked or starved out, for they retreated, and eventually disappeared. A plague of spiders followed, and, making night attacks on the district, they were to have gone in the way of the sweet sorrow, and then choked the gas burners. The residents are now wondering what the next plague will be.

Kippax did not evince much interest in the District Council by-elections, less than 300 votes being recorded in public at the close of the time he was on the Council, but he must have been very active in the committee meetings, where the most important questions to deal with.

By electing Mr Walter Crookford, J.P., of South Milford, to the vice-chairmanship, the Tadcaster Board of Guardians honoured a colleague who has a record of services unequalled by few public men in the district. Mr Crookford, who is a very quiet gentleman, has not perhaps taken such a prominent part in the debates at the meetings as several months who could be named, but he has about 30 years' service on the Board of Guardians to his credit, and the record deserved by such a one representative as Mr William Jackson, of Aberford, Selby, who is the "father" of the Board. Mr Crookford, who is popular with the members, is not an ambitious man, and he has been content to do his public work in an unobtrusive manner, but he has rendered valuable service on committees, and at the present time he is chairman of the Sanitary Committee. In South Milford district Mr Crookford is very popular, and the residents will congratulate him on the honour his colleagues have conferred on him.

Mid Mr J. W. Dobson, of Garforth, is not at the meeting he acted president than on Mr. Crookford very well, for the position but it is doubtful that he would have allowed his name to have been forward, as he is Chairman of Garforth Urban Council, and as ever have been more upon whom public honours have fallen than and to the utmost, and he is not the first to be a victim of Mr Crookford's modesty when there is any question of his own merits. Mr Dobson is excellent man in the chair, and he is a capable man of business, and considerable influence on the Council. Mr Walsh is an excellent man in the vice-chair, and he is a capable man of business, and considerable influence on the Council. Mr Walsh is an excellent man in the vice-chair, and he is a capable man of business, and considerable influence on the Council.

Although there have been many public meetings in the district lately, I do not remember to have attended one which was so unsatisfactory as that held in the Kippax Institute on Monday night. The object was to hear an address by Professor Lewis, University, who announced to speak on "Belgium." The Social Science, which was presided over in his usual manner by Father Lord, who is a good speaker, but he is much of a good thing. Mr Gilligan is a better speaker than Father Lord, and the latter was an excellent host, but he is not sufficient to have become on the same subject following on closely on each other.

In a note, Mr Gilligan was unfortunate in having to follow Father Lord, who has a high reputation among entertainers. The chairman announced what he was to remember, but he did not do so. He was introduced to the audience by Father Lord, who had a demonstration of their own. Lewis had but a very few slides to show, and the biggest telescope in the world, and no one who saw the depiction of the spiral nebulæ—the worlds in process of formation—will readily forget it. In this way Father Lord had a great advantage. Although the lecturer did not follow precisely the same lines, much of the information given was the same, and the manner in which Mr Gilligan dealt with the subject so pleased the audience that I doubt not he will be given a hearty welcome should he favour the Garforth folks with another lecture.

Back-row Ash politicians—and at present the district is resounding with politics, and no doubt a contest notice is found in the camp. It is wonderful what effect the war has had on all matters. Mr Lone Fox, M.P., is an officer in the Yorkshire Hussars, and he has volunteered for active service. Mr E. H. Foster, who will probably be his opponent at next election, is not a military man, but he, too, has determined to serve his country, and he has been given a position in connection with the War Office. Leading politicians on both sides have followed the examples of their chiefs, and it can assuredly be said that, speaking generally, the patriotic spirit is very strong throughout Barkston Ash Division.

Quite the most interesting story of Germany and the war related in the district was told by Dr Ambrose Pope, of Bradford, at Swillington, and it appears in another column. Dr Pope, who was a prisoner in Germany for two months, has by his experience been turned from a preacher of the gospel of peace into what may be styled a recruiting agent, and he should prove a very effective one. He offered his services to the Government in any capacity, and he was told that he could do most good in going round the district and describing his experiences among the Germans, and he is doing it. Not the least interesting part of his story deals with the numerous lies which were published in German newspapers in order to gull the poor Teuton.

Barkston Ash Cricket Competition—the oldest and most successful sports organisation in the district—is steadily maintaining its position, and it is probable that had the war not broken out the League would have been stronger than ever. Several clubs have been stripped owing to members having joined the Army, and before next cricket season comes round the membership of the clubs may be depleted. The local cricketers are doing their "little bit," and it would be a fit and proper recognition of the patronage of the young men were the Executive to compile a roll of all the cricketers connected with the Competition who have gone to win honour on a field of greater importance than that of cricket field.

The annual meeting decided that next season the League should be split into two divisions, and it does turn out that the Silver programmes entailed will prove too much for some clubs. Still, much can be said for the decision of the meeting, and I hope that it will be justified by results. Mr W. R. Pinder, who has provided the most popular Cup Competition has ever had, continues at his post, and Mr E. D. Pawson, who is an ideal hon. sec., again undertakes duty. It is satisfactory to find such an excellent feeling among the clubs of the Competition, and its success need never be feared so long as the fine old sporting spirit prevails.

THE CHILDREN'S GIFT.

Because our Mother, England,
Has driven us to her before
Because her arms are round us
And rocking us to rest,
We hear no sound of battle,
No tumult of the war,
But over us, in heaven,
Deep shines a quiet star.

It shines above the search-lights
That sweep the Channel foam,
It glitters on the trenches
A hundred leagues from home;
And there, as round the cannon
The tides of battle crown,
It sees the older children
Who die for England's fame.

And silent dreadful tapes,
On many a torn-up plain,
Look up and see it burning
And hear deeper their pain,
For what their hope is burning,
It quite in their hearts,
And dying, we regretted,
They have it through their tears.

The day that we forget it,
That lamp of faith shall wane,
The night that we remember,
It shines in heaven again,
Look up, for it may teach us,
One day, earth's a tide
It is the soul of England,
That lives in [illegible]

ALFRED NOYES.

MINERS AND WAR RELIEF.

In conference of the Miners' Federation concluded in London on Wednesday, when resolutions offering the relief of dependents during the war were passed. It was agreed that all relief funds be merged together and taken over and administered by the Federation, and that there should be a general or uniform scale of relief. Modifications or exceptions should be made to suit particular districts, and the national organisation be made responsible for raising the necessary funds. The conference demanded that the following should be the minimum scale of relief:—One adult, 12s. 6d.; two adults 17s. 6d.; one adult and one child, 15s.; two adults and one child, 20s.; two adults and two children, 22s. 6d.; 2s. 6d. for each child, and an additional 5s. 6d. for adoption in London boroughs.

The conference resolved to press on the War Office that an allowance of £1 per week should be paid to the wives of soldiers and sailors now serving without army pay deductions, and to widows or other dependents of soldiers, lost in the war; also £1 weekly to those disabled for life or partially disabled until fully recovered; also 5s. 6d. weekly to each child under working age.

On Saturday afternoon a League football match was played at Tadcaster between the home team and Heworth. Tadcaster were defeated by three goals to one.

SMITH BROS

HOLD A LARGE STOCK of MATERIALS — SUITABLE FOR — Red Cross & Hospital Work.

SPECIAL DISCOUNT ALLOWED FOR QUANTITIES.

BRIGGATE & COUNTY ARCADE, LEEDS.

HARRY HAYLEY,

Yorkshire Athletic Warehouse,

12, King Edward St., LEEDS

Telephone 56,

HAS NOW IN STOCK A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Jerseys, Knickers, Boots, Footballs

ETC., IN ALL QUALITIES.

HOCKEY STICKS, 2/6 to 10/6.

A FINE SELECTION OF GOLF STICKS, BALLS, Etc.

Footballs as used in International, County, & Best Leagues.

FOOTBALL BOOTS, 4/11 to 11/6.

STOCKINGS - - 1/- to 2/6 Pair.

BOXING GLOVES, BOOTS, DANISH GYMNASTIC SHOES, Etc.

BUY ADGIE'S BOOTS "BY TEST THE BEST."

THE NEW SEASON'S FOOTWEAR HAS NOW ARRIVED.

The Street, the Country Lane, the Drawing Room, the Fireside, all are represented in our new display of

AUTUMN FOOT STYLES.

Please Come Round and Inspect our Display ALL AT MODERATE PRICES.

Note the Address— ADGIE'S Wholesale & Retail Warehouse 31, NEVILLE STREET, LEEDS.

A minute's walk from City Square, down Bishopgate Street, and through Railway Arches. First Warehouse on right hand side.

Teasdale's All Men Joining the Army SHOULD HAVE WITH THEM Teasdale's Chlorodyne Chlorodyne

A Safe Protector from common hazardous ailments—Cholera, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, etc.

GIVES INSTANT RELIEF, EASES PAIN. A BLESSING TO HAVE SUCH A GRAND MEDICINE.

Brigadier Fortune, Royal Horse Artillery: "I thank you for the great benefit that Teasdale's Chlorodyne has not only done for myself, but also for many of my comrades to whom I have given it. It has indeed been a blessing to have such a grand medicine in my possession. I have used it in numerous cases of Dysentery, Rheumatism, Pains in the Back, Coughs, and Colds. It acted like a charm in every case."

Teasdale's Chlorodyne

THE MOST VALUABLE PRESENT YOU CAN GIVE TO A FRIEND GOING TO THE FRONT.

7½d., 1s¼d., and Large Bottles, 2/6.

Can be had of PURDY, Crossgates; RENNARD, Halton, and other Chemists; GOODALL, BACKHOUSE & Co., and TAYLOR'S DRUG STORES.

ASK FOR TEASDALE'S CHLORODYNE.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR BROWNHILLS' MINCEMEAT.

NEW SEASON'S NOW READY.

THE GREED OF CONQUEST.

By J. B. HARRIS-BURLAND

Author of "Dorchester," "An Angel's Sin," "Ruth England," "Love Conquers," "Original Sin," "The Gold Worshippers," "The Financier," &c.

CHAPTER I.

"Ten million more for the Navy this year," said Colonel Esdaile, planting his feet firmly on the hearthrug, and facing his audience of three in an smoking-room, "and there was an increase of two million last year. I say that the nation can't stand it, that no nation can stand it. How sort of thing drains the vitality, sucks the blood of a country."

He spoke with vigour, his face reddening as he angrily blurted out the words. He felt himself injured by the increased expenditure on naval armaments, which so much money was required to set a-gazetteer on its legs again. His white moustache bristled, and there was an aggressive look about his round, bull-dog face. Like most small-built men, he was capable of a good show of wrath.

"That's all very well, Colonel," answered Coredale, a tall, well-proportioned young man, who was sitting in a chair on the left of the fireplace, "but we've got to keep pace with Germany."

"Go twice as fast, you mean;" snapped out the master of the house. "Two-Power standard! All out! One'd think we hadn't got an army in England."

"We haven't much of an army, you know, Endermine," said Westray, a clean-shaven, smart-looking man of fifty. "Even on paper it isn't much."

"It's a deuced fine army, sir," shouted the Colonel, "and if the enemy landed here we'd soon show 'em that the Navy isn't the only thing we've got. As for this burden on the nation, we're groaning under it."

"France and Germany are also groaning under the same burden," replied Westray. "That is some consolation, at all."

"It's no consolation at all, sir. If I've broken my leg, it doesn't do me any good to hear that my cousin, whom I hate, has broken his leg as well. Besides, we've got to spend twice as much as either of them, and I tell you the nation can't stand it. It's ruinous. It won't stand it an hour longer than they can help."

"What do you suggest, Colonel?" asked Coredale.

"Suggest? That we wipe out every other fleet in the world, and have a little peace."

Westray laughed, and turned to the fourth member of the party, who had so far not contributed to the discussion.

"What do you think, Lowick?" he asked.

The man thus addressed smiled and knocked off his cigar ash into a small silver tray. He was a remarkable-looking young man, thin, tall, and with a pale, ocean-shaven face that contrasted strangely with his black hair and locks, which were worn in the fashion pearance it was difficult to decide whether he were a student or a man of action. The square jaw and the hard lines about the mouth were not in keeping with the somewhat dreamy look in the eyes and the scholarly stoop of the shoulders.

"I think," he said, slowly, after a pause, "that the only salvation of the world, from a financial point of view, lies in the abolition of war."

"Pshaw!" ejaculated the Colonel, angrily. "You must be practical, Ralph—practical. You don't think the Peace Congress is likely to do any good, do you?"

"None at all. Mankind cannot be persuaded to abandon war. They are animals, and their nature is to fight. But they can be forced to give up war."

"Absurd! How can you force them?"

"By making war so terrible that no nation will dare to embark upon it."

"Bunkum, my dear boy! As the power of guns increases the armour thickens. And so it goes on, and always will go on, unless, as I say, we wipe out every fleet on the two hemispheres."

"Science has a good deal up her sleeve," said Lowick, after a pause. "Your father, for instance, firmly believes that one of these days it will be possible to annihilate an army by the pressure of a button. If that ever comes to pass, war will cease."

"Your father, eh?" said Coredale, eyeing Lowick narrowly. "Well, he ought to know what he's talking about."

"Certainly," added Westray. "I look upon Sir John Lowick as the foremost scientist of this age. Yet I wouldn't care to be the man who discovered a weapon of such magnitude."

"Why not?" asked Coredale. "He'd be a millionaire in six months."

"He might be dead in six days," Westray answered, "if he refused to part with his secret."

"Not if his secret died with him," Lowick interposed. "Therein would lie his safety."

"I don't think so," Westray replied. "A nation would rather lose all hope of gaining the secret of this terrible weapon than let it fall into another nation's hands."

"That would be a pretty problem," said Lowick, quietly, and, leaning forward, he flung his cigar-end into the grate.

"Let us join the ladies," said Colonel Endermine, abruptly. "All I know is that the agricultural districts—the mainstay of the country—want money, and that is the last word on the subject."

They filed out of the smoking-room, and made their way to the drawing-room.

I gave her a month's notice at once," said the clear, hard voice of Mrs. Westray as the door was opened. They laughed, and here in the drawing-room there was talk of war—the perpetual war waged between servants and their employers.

Four women were seated near the fire—Mrs. Endermine, the hostess, her daughter, Joan Endermine; Westray's wife, and Coredale's mother. They opened out their ranks as the men approached, and Joan Endermine looked smilingly at Lowick. She was a tall, good-looking girl of twenty-four, with light golden hair and grey eyes. Lowick seated himself by her side, where he had every right to be, for he was engaged to be married to her. Possibly that is why he was sitting on a sofa, and the other three women were in chairs.

The conversation, which had been purely domestic up to the entrance of the men, now wandered into various channels. Then Mrs. Coredale, a dull, handsome, foreign-looking woman, with grey hair and a magnificent figure, played a piece of remarkable difficulty on the piano. Joan Endermine followed with a song, and for the first time that evening Lowick's stern mouth softened, and he looked as though he were really capable of playing the part of an ardent lover. Another face also grew kindlier in expression, and that was the face of John Coredale. Westray was bored, and kept his eyes fixed on the carpet. The Colonel was deliously proud, and looked approvingly at his wife. Certainly the girl sang very well, and her voice was of singular power and sweetness.

More conversation followed, and in the shifting of places which had taken place after the music, Miss Endermine found herself next to Coredale, while the young man's mother seated herself on the sofa next to Ralph.

"Are you fond of music?" asked Mrs. Coredale.

"Some music," he answered. "I thought your playing was delightful."

"Nonsense, my dear boy, I can't play a bit. Now, Miss Endermine's singing—she ought never to marry; she ought to devote herself to her art. How is your father?"

"Very well, thank you," Lowick answered, a little stiffly. He remembered that his father disliked the Coredales, and had once said that Mrs. Coredale was a dangerous woman.

"One never sees him about now," she continued, "and people say he has quite given up amusements of all kinds."

"Yes, he is very hard at work."

"Still, I think a man ought to have some recreation, don't you? Years ago I used to know your father very well. He didn't work so hard then."

"Perhaps not. But he is very busy now."

"I think I shall call and see him one of these days. I used to call when your mother was alive."

"I'm afraid he wouldn't see you," Lowick replied; "he won't see any visitors."

"What is it?" the woman asked, blandly.

"I'm afraid I can't tell you that," Lowick answered with a smile. "As a matter of fact, I haven't quite allowed myself. My father is a man who never talks about what he is doing till he has done it."

"And you are a dutiful son" she laughed. Then she turned the conversation into another channel.

At ten o'clock the Westrays left, for dinner parties in the country break up early. A few minutes after the departure of the guests Mrs. Endermine and his wife left the room on some pretext or another, and Lowick found himself alone with his fiancée for the first time that evening. He made the most of his opportunity and kissed her. There was a fierce, blood-hungry look in his dark, stern eyes.

"My dearest," he said, in a low voice "I've wanted to do that all the evening. How beautiful you look in that dress!"

She laughed, and freed herself from his embrace. "You thought you hadn't seen me properly, you mean. How do you like the Coredales?"

"Not much. I've never been a pal on your mother," the girl said, sweetly. Then she lowered her voice to a whisper. "How are the experiments going?" she asked. "Is your father near success?"

"Very near," Lowick replied. "It is possible the experiment may be made to-morrow."

"To-morrow, Ralph! Oh, how splendid! Can I be there?"

"Yes, dear; that is to say, if my father doesn't mind."

"Oh, he wouldn't mind, Ralph. You and I are to be married so soon; it is just as if were the same as you."

"I'll ask him to-night," said Lowick, quietly. "Of course, I don't know if every thing is going to happen, but when I tell him at half-past six he was very near to success."

"How will you let me know?" she excitedly, eagerly.

"I'll send you round a note asking you to come to tea. If anything is done at all, it will take place before that hour."

"Where?"

"On Cranwen Island. We shall cross the creek at dead low water, taking the thing in a cart."

"How shall I get back?"

"Oh, I'll ferry you across in the boat, and see you home. We shall have to wait till the tide is low again."

"I'll early morning!"

"Yes, we'll have to put up with that."

"Will anyone else be there?"

"No one. My father will invent some story to satisfy the servants."

The entrance of Colonel Endermine put an end to the conversation, and shortly after Westray and Coredale left the house. His way home was only two miles away, and as the night was fine, he had not troubled to make use of his friend's motor car. He made his way down the drive in the moonlight, a cigarette between his lips, and a look on his face which was not like that usually to be found on a young man who has been dining with the parents of his betrothed.

As a matter of fact he was not thinking of the woman he loved, but of his father, who was equally dear to him. He was about to letter day in the history of his father's life perhaps in the history of the world.

For three years Sir John Lowick had been working at an invention whereby he hoped to control and direct the magnetic currents in the air. Endermine, the latter's friend, before he had passed his teacher and had progressed from stage to stage, till at last victory was in sight. Ralph was bound by a previous agreement, had left the house at half-past six, and then the issue had trembled in the balance. He wondered what news would await him on his return. His father had been near success before, but never quite as this. Still, it is not always the first step that counts most, it is often the last. And this is especially true in the case of scientific work.

When he reached the gates of Colonel Endermine's small domain, he turned to the right, and walked down the long straight road fringed on either side by trees and undulating fields. Then the trees came to an end, and the road descended down into a low, marshy tract of marshland, intersected with creeks and gullies that glittered in the moonlight. On the edge of the marshland there was the sheen of the sea, and against it was silhouetted a dark mass of woods, among which rose the towers and battlements of Cransea Hall. Ralph knew that, just hidden from view, was the small island of Cranwen, only separated from the mainland by a tract of sand at dead low water.

Ralph Lowick walked briskly, and in less than half an hour he had crossed the marsh land, and passed through the lodge gates. The drive was narrow and overhung with trees, and the sudden change from light to darkness almost darkness made him walk more slowly. Well as he knew every inch of the path, he blundered more than once into the bushes on either side.

When he reached the house, which stood in an open space of lawns and gardens, he made his way round to the side door, and rang the bell with a fatch-key. His father was not in the smoking-room, and the servants seemed to have gone to bed, for no one answered the bell when he rang it. On a small table close by the door were two glasses, a Tantalus, and a syphon of soda. An Irish terrier lay on the hearthrug, and this was a sign that Sir John Lowick had been at work for the night, for the dog always slept in his bedroom.

"The gardener's still working," thought the young man, as he looked at the glasses. But if was nearly half-past eleven—long after the time when the scientist usually ceased from work. As a rule he read and smoked for an hour before going upstairs to bed. Certainly something unusual had happened.

Lowick lit a cigarette, and, leaving the house, made his way to the laboratory and workshop, which was situated on the eastern most boundary of the garden, and was only fifty yards distant from the sea. It was a long, low building of stone, and the windows were so closely shuttered that it was impossible to tell whether the interior was lighted up or in darkness. He tried the door, which was locked, and then hammered at it with his fists.

"Who is that?" asked a voice from within.

"It is I—Ralph."

"Are you alone?"

"Yes, of course."

Bolts were drawn back, the door opened, and a blaze of light streamed out into the dark mass. Against it was silhouetted the figure of a tall, old man.

"Come in, my boy, and look sharp," said Sir John.

Lowick entered, and the door was closed and bolted again. He looked keenly at his father's face, but could see no clue. The two men were singularly alike, save that one was young and the other was old.

"You are late," said Lowick. "I looked for you in the smoking-room. Have you finished work?"

"Yes," Sir John answered. "I have finished—quite finished," and as he spoke a gleam of triumph came into his dark eyes; but his face did not even smile.

"Success?" queried Lowick, in a low voice.

"Yes—at last. There it is—complete. We'll try it to-morrow."

He pointed to a brown box which stood on a massive oaken table in the centre of the room. It was about two feet square and one foot in depth. There were three holes in it, and through one of these Lowick could see the gleaming of a thin bar of light. He walked up to it and laid his fingers on a small aluminium handle that projected from one of the sides.

"May I try it?" he asked.

"Not to-night," Sir Donald Sir John, and for a moment the colour left his face.

"Dangerous, eh?"

"Yes, dear, I told you it is complete."

"But you must have tried it, or you couldn't tell it it would work."

"I shall not try it till to-morrow, but I know that it will work."

"How do you know it will work?"

Sir John shrugged his shoulders. "How does the designer of a battleship know that it will float?" he asked. "Please come away from the machine. It is only a model, but it is dangerous. Very nice that handle painted red. Mind it to the right as far as it will go."

Lowick obeyed. "What does that do?" he asked.

"Renders the thing harmless," was the quiet reply. "I'll explain it all to you to-morrow."

The young man gazed for a few seconds at the box. Then he crossed the room to his father, and held out his hand.

"You're wonderful!" he exclaimed. "simply wonderful!"

Sir John took his son's hand and gripped it hard. "I am afraid of what I have done," he answered. "I have half a mind to smash the thing up and forget all about it."

(To be continued).

SHORT STORY.

THE END THEREOF.

I.

The woman stretched out her hand, and the man looked into her eyes.

They had met again after many years.

"Come away from all this crowd," said the man. "I want to talk to you."

They left the ballroom and went into a conservatory, where the sweet strains of a dreamy waltz floated to them on the scented air.

Then the man spoke.

"Clair," he said, softly, "it is good to be at home It is good to see you again."

"I have thought much about you," she said, trembling slightly because his hand touched hers. "It is nearly five years since you went away."

"Five years since that happened," said Gregory Bosanquet, his face clouding suddenly. "You know the whole story, and you—"

"I was so sorry for you," said Clair.

"It was very kind of you to say so here," said Gregory, "I did not understand her—no. She was so beautiful, so wilful. Her uncle almost worshipped her—he had no parents—and everybody said he would make her his heiress. But when he died, soon after we were married, he left scarcely enough of his large fortune to pay his debts. Eunice was bitterly disappointed, but I had sufficient for both; so it did not matter.

"For nearly a year we were gloriously happy—it was like Heaven. Then, one unhappy day, in a wretched fit of jealousy, she left me during with my cousin. Not until too late did I discover that it was all a shameful fabrication on the part of some wretched tale-maker.

"Eunice was very passionate, and she would not forgive my unjust suspicion. She taunted me with marrying her for her reputed wealth, and I could not stand that. I had loved her a few months—and she sneered at me to my face. We had a terrible quarrel, and the next day Eunice left me. I spared no effort to find her, but in vain. I went abroad to forget my grief if I could. Be everywhere, always, her lovely face was with me. Then, eighteen months ago, news reached me that she was dead."

He paused.

"Yes, I know, it was very sad," said Clair, looking at him with swimming eyes. "She was found drowned near London Bridge—"

"I feel as if I must go over to her fate—yet God knows how I loved her," muttered Bosanquet, gazing moodily before him.

"I am sure you think I shall go home now," said Clair rising. "Will you take me back to my mother?"

They soon found Mrs. Vane, and after they had said their adieux to their hostess, Lady Glenroy, Bosanquet saw them down to their carriage.

As they shook hands he I sat forward and said softly to Clair—

"Shall you be at home to-morrow about three? I want to see you particularly."

She had only time to assent; then the coachman whipped up his horses and they drove swiftly away.

II.

Bosanquet and Clair were alone in the Vanes' drawing-room on the afternoon following the ball.

"I do not want to decide yet," said Bosanquet. "I have given my best love to one in heaven. But you are dearer to me than anybody in this world. Clair, my dear, good little friend, will you be content to be second to Eunice?"

She put her hand into his with a half sob. "I will try to make you so happy," said she, raising sad eyes to his face.

Gregory took her into his arms and kissed her.

For the first time, he ceased to wonder why he should love her, and began to wonder why she loved him.

There was no need for a long engagement—besides, they are not fashionable. The Vanes were glad to get Clair comfortably settled—she was nearly twenty-eight—and Bosanquet had only himself to please.

The wedding was fixed for the twenty-first of June—in the country house. Meanwhile, Clair was busy with her trousseau.

"I am the happiest woman in the world, little darling," said Bosanquet to her one night, for the dog always slept in his bedroom.

"The gardener's still working," thought the young man, as he looked at the glasses. But if was nearly half-past eleven—long after the time when the scientist usually ceased from work. As a rule he read and smoked for an hour before going upstairs to bed. Certainly something unusual had happened.

Lowick lit a cigarette, and, leaving the house, made his way to the laboratory and workshop, which was situated on the eastern most boundary of the garden, and was only fifty yards distant from the sea. It was a long, low building of stone, and the windows were so closely shuttered that it was impossible to tell whether the interior was lighted up or in darkness. He tried the door, which was locked, and then hammered at it with his fists.

"Who is that?" asked a voice from within.

"It is I—Ralph."

"Are you alone?"

"Yes, of course."

Bolts were drawn back, the door opened, and a blaze of light streamed out into the dark mass. Against it was silhouetted the figure of a tall, old man.

"Come in, my boy, and look sharp," said Sir John.

Lowick entered, and the door was closed and bolted again. He looked keenly at his father's face, but could see no clue. The two men were singularly alike, save that one was young and the other was old.

"You are late," said Lowick. "I looked for you in the smoking-room. Have you finished work?"

"Yes," Sir John answered. "I have finished—quite finished," and as he spoke a gleam of triumph came into his dark eyes; but his face did not even smile.

"Success?" queried Lowick, in a low voice.

"Yes—at last. There it is—complete. We'll try it to-morrow."

He pointed to a brown box which stood on a massive oaken table in the centre of the room. It was about two feet square and one foot in depth. There were three holes in it, and through one of these Lowick could see the gleaming of a thin bar of light. He walked up to it and laid his fingers on a small aluminium handle that projected from one of the sides.

"May I try it?" he asked.

"Not to-night," Sir Donald Sir John, and for a moment the colour left his face.

"Dangerous, eh?"

"Yes, dear, I told you it is complete."

"But you must have tried it, or you couldn't tell it it would work."

"I shall not try it till to-morrow, but I know that it will work."

"How do you know it will work?"

Sir John shrugged his shoulders. "How does the designer of a battleship know that it will float?" he asked. "Please come away from the machine. It is only a model, but it is dangerous. Very nice that handle painted red. Mind it to the right as far as it will go."

Lowick obeyed. "What does that do?" he asked.

"Renders the thing harmless," was the quiet reply. "I'll explain it all to you to-morrow."

The young man gazed for a few seconds at the box. Then he crossed the room to his father, and held out his hand.

"You're wonderful!" he exclaimed. "simply wonderful!"

Sir John took his son's hand and gripped it hard. "I am afraid of what I have done," he answered. "I have half a mind to smash the thing up and forget all about it."

(To be continued).

SHORT STORY.

THE END THEREOF.

I.

The woman stretched out her hand, and the man looked into her eyes.

They had met again after many years.

"Come away from all this crowd," said the man. "I want to talk to you."

They left the ballroom and went into a conservatory, where the sweet strains of a dreamy waltz floated to them on the scented air.

Then the man spoke.

"Clair," he said, softly, "it is good to be at home It is good to see you again."

"I have thought much about you," she said, trembling slightly because his hand touched hers. "It is nearly five years since you went away."

"Five years since that happened," said Gregory Bosanquet, his face clouding suddenly. "You know the whole story, and you—"

"I was so sorry for you," said Clair.

"It was very kind of you to say so here," said Gregory, "I did not understand her—no. She was so beautiful, so wilful. Her uncle almost worshipped her—he had no parents—and everybody said he would make her his heiress. But when he died, soon after we were married, he left scarcely enough of his large fortune to pay his debts. Eunice was bitterly disappointed, but I had sufficient for both; so it did not matter.

"For nearly a year we were gloriously happy—it was like Heaven. Then, one unhappy day, in a wretched fit of jealousy, she left me during with my cousin. Not until too late did I discover that it was all a shameful fabrication on the part of some wretched tale-maker.

"Eunice was very passionate, and she would not forgive my unjust suspicion. She taunted me with marrying her for her reputed wealth, and I could not stand that. I had loved her a few months—and she sneered at me to my face. We had a terrible quarrel, and the next day Eunice left me. I spared no effort to find her, but in vain. I went abroad to forget my grief if I could. Be everywhere, always, her lovely face was with me. Then, eighteen months ago, news reached me that she was dead."

He paused.

"Yes, I know, it was very sad," said Clair, looking at him with swimming eyes. "She was found drowned near London Bridge—"

"I feel as if I must go over to her fate—yet God knows how I loved her," muttered Bosanquet, gazing moodily before him.

"I am sure you think I shall go home now," said Clair rising. "Will you take me back to my mother?"

They soon found Mrs. Vane, and after they had said their adieux to their hostess, Lady Glenroy, Bosanquet saw them down to their carriage.

As they shook hands he I sat forward and said softly to Clair—

"Shall you be at home to-morrow about three? I want to see you particularly."

She had only time to assent; then the coachman whipped up his horses and they drove swiftly away.

II.

Bosanquet and Clair were alone in the Vanes' drawing-room on the afternoon following the ball.

"I do not want to decide yet," said Bosanquet. "I have given my best love to one in heaven. But you are dearer to me than anybody in this world. Clair, my dear, good little friend, will you be content to be second to Eunice?"

She put her hand into his with a half sob. "I will try to make you so happy," said she, raising sad eyes to his face.

Gregory took her into his arms and kissed her.

For the first time, he ceased to wonder why he should love her, and began to wonder why she loved him.

There was no need for a long engagement—besides, they are not fashionable. The Vanes were glad to get Clair comfortably settled—she was nearly twenty-eight—and Bosanquet had only himself to please.

The wedding was fixed for the twenty-first of June—in the country house. Meanwhile, Clair was busy with her trousseau.

"I am the happiest woman in the world, little darling," said Bosanquet to her one night, for the dog always slept in his bedroom.

"The gardener's still working," thought the young man, as he looked at the glasses. But if was nearly half-past eleven—long after the time when the scientist usually ceased from work. As a rule he read and smoked for an hour before going upstairs to bed. Certainly something unusual had happened.

Lowick lit a cigarette, and, leaving the house, made his way to the laboratory and workshop, which was situated on the eastern most boundary of the garden, and was only fifty yards distant from the sea. It was a long, low building of stone, and the windows were so closely shuttered that it was impossible to tell whether the interior was lighted up or in darkness. He tried the door, which was locked, and then hammered at it with his fists.

"Who is that?" asked a voice from within.

"It is I—Ralph."

"Are you alone?"

"Yes, of course."

Clair entertained Gregory with an account of their adventure that evening, and the next day she went to see the woman. She was surprised to find what a pretty, girlish-looking creature she was, despite her bandages.

"I do hope you are better," said Clair, sitting down at the bedside. "When you tell me your name then I will write to your friends—they must be anxious?"

"Thank you," said the girl—she could not be more than twenty-three. "I am Eunice Bosanquet."

"Who?" gasped Clair.

A sudden wave of red covered the patient's white face.

"No, no; what have I said?" she cried. "It is a mistake. My name is Foster—Esther Foster."

Clair breathed hard.

"Why—did—you—say—that—name?" she almost whispered.

"I will tell you," said the girl, suddenly talking Clair's hand. "You look so good—so kind."

"Yes, tell me," said Clair, feeling she was to hear her doom.

"I am married, although I do not wear a wedding ring," began the girl. "Then she went on to tell Clair the story which she had heard from Gregory's lips only a few weeks before.

"When I left him," went on Eunice, for such indeed she was, "I went to live with an old governess of mine, and became known as Esther Foster. I called myself by another name, and tried to bury the past. Once I gave some old clothes to a poor woman, and she I saw by the picture in that she was Eunice drowned, and that she was believed to be me, I did nothing to contradict the report. I wished to be dead to the world and to my husband, to whom, despite my love, I had brought only trouble. Then after that promise that you will never reveal it. Next week I shall go back to my only friend, and you will never see me again. Why, what are you faint?"

"No, no," said Clair, sharply. Then gently: "I must not let you fatigue yourself talking. But tell me, before I go, do you not think it was wrong of you to deceive your husband as you have done? Your husband married again?"

A convulsive tremour passed across the girl's face.

"I have thought of that. But if someone else should love him better than I shall never cross his path again. I love him too well."

After that the nurse went to tell Clair that it was time for the visitors to go. She turned away with out speaking.

III.

Should she marry the man she loved or must she put him from her for ever?

That was the battle Clair fought out through the long, terrible night. It was almost impossible that Eunice would ever cross her path again. What if Clair bought her happiness at the price of her soul, so long as she bought it? But the wrong to him—to Eunice!

"Ah, help me, God!" she moaned.

The man and the woman faced each other.

"Gregory, listen, I have something to tell you!" She stretched out her hands with the old, tender gesture, then suddenly withdrew them. "I have found your wife—Eunice!"

"Clair! My God! Eunice!"

The world had much to say on the subject of the abrupt termination of Clair's engagement and Gregory's strange marriage to his wife. But through it all Clair was as serene, and sweet, and lovable as ever. Nobody ever knew that the end of her love-dream was bitterer than death.

MARIAN WYNDHAM.

CORRESPONDENCE.

CHURCH FENTON CRICKET CLUBS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Your correspondent has admitted that when he said "the members of his club were proud of being Fentonites" he did not imply that the members of the Church Fenton Club would not equally lay claim to the title. I thank him for the admission.

He does not deny that Tadcaster, South Milford, Saxton, and Cawood (the other clubs in the district) may, too, be proud of playing residential members. Another admission to be grateful for!

It really is puzzling why he should then have used the expression. He says he has a reason, but he dare not divulge it. I suppose I must therefore rest satisfied with these admissions, but on the face of them, it seems ridiculous to ask me to withdraw anything I have said. I have no desire to follow him in his extraneous remarks.—Yours truly,

ARTHUR B. HOLGERSATES,
Hon. Sec. Church Fenton C.C.

Church Fenton, Oct. 27th, 1914.

This discussion is now closed.—Ed., "S.C."

LORD ROBERTS' APPEAL FOR FIELD GLASSES.

(To the Editor).

Sir,—As you kindly allowed me to appeal through your columns to owners of field glasses to give the use of their glasses for our non-commissioned officers, I hope you will perhaps you will allow me to inform your readers of the result of my appeal.

Up to the present I have received over 11,000 pairs of field glasses and stalking glasses. The glasses have been examined and classified by an expert, and they have been issued steadily to our gallant soldiers.

I am informed by Field-Marshal Sir John French to say that stalking glasses as well as field glasses are found to be most useful. Many people who did not own field glasses kindly sent me cheques instead, and the money these subscribed has been spent in buying the most suitable glasses procurable.

I have sent a personal letter of thanks to all the contributors of glasses or subscribers, and I shall be very pleased to continue to acknowledge with gratitude any further donations of money or glasses which may be sent to me.

It should perhaps be emphasise the real practical help which those who support my appeal are rendering to their gallant countrymen at the front.

All glasses are marked with an index number, and the names and addresses of the owners are carefully recorded at the offices of the National Service League, 72, Victoria Street, London, S.W., to which address all glasses and cheques should be sent.

The soldiers to whom glasses are issued are asked, if possible, to return them after the war.—Yours, etc.,

ROBERTS, F.M.

Englemere, Ascot, Bucks., 22nd Oct., 1914.

WHAT A MAN EATS.

A scientist with a passion for statistics, says Science Siftings, has been computing the amount of food that the average man eats in a lifetime. He asserts that in the process of attaining his three score years and ten he takes about fifty-four tons of solid food and fifty-three tons of liquid. He will have eaten 12,000 eggs, 400lb. of cheese, about four tons of fish, and, could it have been all baked at once, a loaf of bread equal in size to an ordinary family hotel. But think of the vegetables devoured! Our scientist says a train three miles long would be required to bring a life's supply to the average man.

DISTRICT BREVITIES.

Have you read the opening chapters of our new serial story?

• • •

Oulton, which has been grumbling a lot, has been promised better lighting.

• • •

Spofforth has contributed nearly 30 men to the Army and Kirk Deighton one.

• • •

Tadcaster magistrates were quite busy on Monday. They had ten cases to deal with.

• • •

An open-air school, to accommodate 100 children, is to be provided on a site at Roundhay Park.

• • •

Already several of the followers of the Bramham Moor Hunt have laid down their lives on the battle-field.

• • •

It is stated that the house-to-house inspection in Tadcaster rural district has not so far revealed a shortage of houses.

• • •

The Church Institute at Fenton has been furnished by the residents, and it is now the home of a Belgian family.

• • •

A former curate of Kirkby Overblow—Rev. Walter Hall—who was vicar of Stainburn, has died at Grange-over-Sands.

• • •

Going for the century! An Oulton man made his 58th appearance before the magistrates at the Skyrack Court on Tuesday.

• • •

Homes have been found for Belgian refugees at Aberford, Clifford, Templenewsam, Church Fenton, Bolton Percy, Oulton, and Garforth.

• • •

Up to now it has not been necessary to put the powers for the feeding of school children into force in any part of the district.

• • •

A clod of earth! That is the remedy for greedy dishes, according to a Tadcaster soldier. Housewives have something to learn.

• • •

The next science lecture at Garforth is on the geology of the place, by Professor Kendoff, who is the leading geologist in the North.

• • •

Why not? The roadmen employed by the Wetherby Rural District Council are petitioning for a holiday on Saturday afternoons.

• • •

Is it so? A recruiting meeting was held at Barkston—the heart of the Division—but it is said that not a single recruit was got.

• • •

Is it so? Complaint was made at the meetings of both Oulton and Garforth Education Committees that labour certificates were being abused.

• • •

Cool! A locomotive driver was caught at Halton taking water for the engine boiler. The District Council should take drastic measures to stop this practice.

• • •

It is proposed to place a large photo of the late Mr. J. W. Blackburn, vice-chairman of the Board, on the walls of the Board Room of the Tadcaster Guardians.

• • •

Tar-spraying is supposed to improve the road surface and mitigate the dust nuisance, but it is bad for horses. Several accidents have occurred on a tarred road near Wetherby.

• • •

Church Fenton has done well! It has a population of only 535, and already it has sent 29 men to serve their King and country. This works out at one in every 18 of the population.

• • •

They will be better treated than thousands of Belgian refugees at Lofthouse Park will have good rations, with fresh meat every day. Our under-fed school children may well envy them.

• • •

It was stated at Tadcaster that a man charged with having been "tl. and d." usually kept all right for a year. He gradually became more until he landed in Court. This might be styled "calendaring."

• • •

Complaint is made that Sherburn is not doing its duty to the country. The young men who have joined the Forces are few in number. Is it any good sending a recruiting sergeant to the ancient village?

• • •

The magistrates at Selby Petty Sessions on Monday were the Rev. B. Hemsworth (Chairman), Colonel Hanslop, Major Allenby, Mr. W. Hoap, Mr H. Anson, Dr. A. J. Somers, and Mr T. S. Ullathorne.

• • •

Captain Lane Fox, M.P., and Captain E. York have been appointed majors temporarily, and Major Helmsley, M.P., Lieutenant-colonel (temporary) in the Yorkshire Hussars, while Mr E. Lane Fox has been appointed lieutenant.

• • •

Sgt. E. Adkin, a native of Wetherby, who, as stated in our last issue, is reported as missing, served in the Somaliland and South African campaigns. He is married, and has one child. It is probable that he is in the Germans' hands.

• • •

Recently it was stated that the Carnegie Trust would make no more contributions to organ funds. Notwithstanding, Primitive Methodists will probably be the last body in the district to get assistance from that source. Halton could not get a farthing.

• • •

Cheeky! An Aberford farmer discovered two men in his stable, and he asked them to leave. Believing that possession was nine-tenths of the law, they refused, and the man who has the care of law and order in the village had to be sent for. This is a new terror for farmers.

• • •

As the Germans were being got out of the tram-cars at Lofthouse Park and lined up in fours for the march in, one or two men in the crowd got in the way. "Hook alive," said an officer, "or you'll be mistaken for them." A charge of shrapnel bursting at the intruders' feet could not have had a more instantaneous effect. Leaping aside with wonderful alacrity, and causing as much amusement to the Germans as to the rest, one of the Tykes yelled out: "No fear, and we don't want to be, nawther."

Woodlesford has between forty and fifty men serving in the Army and Navy.

• • •

Thorough! The Crossgates B.W.T.A. has started a house-to-house crusade.

• • •

Melmoff again! A defendant at Wetherby was fined 5s. and costs for swearing about the Kaiser.

• • •

The curate of Kirk Deighton (Rev. H. P. Mathews) has been given charge of Emmanuel Church, Leeds.

• • •

Progress! After a lapse of a quarter of a century, the Wesleyans have had a missionary meeting at Wighill.

• • •

The staff of Middleton Colliery Co. have sent a second donation of £2 6s. 6d. to the Leeds National Relief Fund.

• • •

It seems that Tadcaster District Council have determined to carry out the proposed road improvement at Shirburn Cross.

• • •

In a short time shooting matches will be as common as billiard matches in the district. The rifle club movement is growing.

• • •

Among the gallant naval men who took part in the defence of Antwerp were ex-public residents of Methley and Selby.

• • •

An artilleryman at the front, writing to his wife at Selby, says he is living like a fighting cock and "don't you forget it."

• • •

The Tadcaster magistrates refused to convict in a case on the uncorroborated testimony of a constable. This is something new.

• • •

Well done! Swillington Common had the best attendance of all the schools in Garforth district last month, the percentage being 97.39.

• • •

Did the Gartforthians think the Germans were at hand? Several lads were charged at the Skyrack Court with "bomb"' throwing in the streets.

• • •

A Wetherby man who had made his home in Canada has volunteered for active service with the Canadian Army, and he is now in the mother country again.

• • •

The R.A.M.C. seems to be popular with local men, seeing so many many gone to it from Garforth, Bowers Allerton, Rothwell, Crossgates, and Tadcaster.

• • •

Mr Thomas Liversidge has offered to the Selby Wesleyan Committee, which has been formed to aid the Belgian refugees, a cottage rent free, and a donation of 5s. per week.

• • •

In a case at Tadcaster a constable said he is hated a man—" Good afternoon, Charlie," and the man retorted "My name is not Charlie. It's mister to you." That was telling the man in blue off.

• • •

Two or three landlords in the district who have seen three score years have offered their services to the War Office. Their enthusiasm, however, was not sufficient to cause their services to be accepted.

• • •

Who are the raiders? Nothing is safe nowadays from sacrilegious hands. Flowers and ribbons from wreaths have mysteriously disappeared from Wetherby Cemetery lately. It is no use blaming the Germans.

• • •

Crossgates has the record for the district! Mr and Mrs Gill, Crossgates, have sent seven highly-esteemed residents, have four sons serving in the Army. All honour to them. May their example not be lost on the young men in the district.

• • •

A big brawny Irishman appeared before the Tadcaster magistrates, and Superintendent Slack said that he ought to be in the Army. There was a laugh, when the Irishman replied "I wish I were there this morning, sorr."

• • •

Four recruits were obtained on Monday night at Swillington Common, but not a recruit was got at Swillington Parochial School, although, as usual, Mr Gill was there recruiting sergeant, pleaded like an evangelist for converts. Swillington must do better.

• • •

The Insurance Commissioners have notified the parties concerned that they do not intend to proceed with their appeal against the decision of the Selby magistrates in dismissing the recent case against a farmer for stamping the insurance card of a potato picker.

• • •

What would have happened in Germany? Some of the prisoners, on arrival at Lofthouse, seemed rather frightened as if they were expecting a rough greeting from the crowd that had gathered, but if so they were agreeably surprised, for not a note of resentment was heard.

• • •

Second-Lieut. Neville W. F. Wailes-Fairbairn, of the Yorkshire Hussers, who is gazetted temporary lieutenant, is the only son of Mr W. F. Wailes-Fairbairn, J.P., of Askham Grange, Askham Bryan, and he was educated at Eton and at Harrow, and joined his regiment in 1911 as second-lieutenant. Last year he attained his majority.

• • •

Taking care of them. Prominent Germans have been arrested at Selby. One was Julius Koch, a manager at the Selby Olympia Oil and Cake Mills, and the other Paul Schneider, chief engineer at the Olympia Mills. Julius Koch was arrested by the military at the commencement of the war, but after being taken under escort to York, was released. He returned to Selby and has continued to occupy his position at the Olympia Mills. Jacob Mittler, a German, who has been employed as a fitter at the Shaft Freezing Company's depot since it established Selby, is also being taken care of.

LADIES
BLANCHARD'S PILLS
Are unrivalled for all Irregularities, &c., they speedily adjust relief and never fail to alleviate all sufferings. They supersede Pennyroyal, Pil Cochia, Bitter Apple, &c. "BLANCHARD'S Are the Best of all Pills for Women." Sole in boxes, 1/1½ by Boots' Branches, Taylor's Drug Co. Branches, and all Chemists, or post free, same prices from LYSLIE MARTYN, Ltd. Chemists, 31, DALSTON LANE, LONDON. Free Sample and Valuable Booklet, cost free, 1d. Stamp.

TADCASTER GUARDIANS AND DISTRICT COUNCIL.

APPOINTMENT OF VICE-CHAIRMAN.

A CONTEST—MR WALTER CROSLAND ELECTED.

SHERBURN, TADCASTER, BARKSTON, AND ALLERTON AFFAIRS.

The fortnightly meeting of Tadcaster Board of Guardians was held on Monday at Tadcaster —Adl. E. G. Brooksbank, J.P. (Chairman), presiding. Others members present were Rev. Canon Greenwood (Grimston), Rev. C. D. Ash (Saxton), Col. Gascoigne (Hutherlow), Miss Bethell (Newton Kyme), Messrs. R. Wright (Barwick), A. Chippindale (Scholes), F. Myers (Bilbrough), W. B. Gray (Church Fenton), E. Parker (Ledsham), T. H. Prater (Parlington), E. Midgley (Kelfield), W. Sykes, C.C., H. Ingleby, J.P., H. P. Scott, and J. Nettleton (Tadcaster), E. Parkin, J.P., J. Harding, and A. Townend (Kippax), J. G. Linnicker (Micklefield), W. Simpson (Ledsham), R. Hey and J. J. Foster (Sherburn), Walter Stutton), H. Sandy, F. Phillips, W. Robinson, and W. Pearson (Allerton Bywater), J. Pick (Ulleskelf), J. Wordsworth, and H. E. Lowe (Great Preston), J. H. Schofield (Oxton), J. Ladley (Kirkby Wharfe), Walter Crosland, J.P. (South Milford), G. Webster (Haddlesey-cum-Lumby), W. P. Birkinshaw (Ledsham), W. P. Newsholme (Stutton Grange), and W. White (Barkston), with the Clerk (Mr G. A. Bennett), the surveyor (Mr Scott), and the sanitary inspectors (Messrs Driver and Wood).

APPOINTMENT OF VICE-CHAIRMAN.

Mr Nettleton (Tadcaster) proposed the appointment of Mr William Sykes, C.C. (Tadcaster) as vice-chairman. He said that the members know his fitness for the position. He had been on the Board for a good many years, he was a member of the Assessment Committee, and he had served on apprentice ship as chairman of the Parish Council. That Mr Sykes had the confidence of a large number of the residents of the Union was strikingly shown eighteen months ago, when he was elected a member of the Tadcaster Council by a large majority, and his position on that body would be of service to the Board. Perhaps it might be urged against his appointment that Mr Sykes did not live on the other side of the district, but a man's residence should be no barrier to him obtaining any position on the Board. Mr Sykes lived in Tadcaster, and he was dealing with his claims and qualifications for the position. He would worthily represent to commercial and farming interests. They all agreed how well Mr Brooksbank represented the landed interests, but he submitted that the agricultural interests would be safe in the hands of Mr Sykes. He had a good knowledge of debate and procedure, he had a keen sense of fairness and justice, and he was a well-balanced mind, and he would be an honour to the Board if they elected him vice-chairman.

Mr White (Barkston) seconded.

Mr Parkin (Kippax) said that he would have been delighted to have supported Mr Sykes had he lived on the other side of the Union. He proposed that Mr Walter Crosland, J.P. (South Milford) be appointed vice-chairman. He was a very old member of the Board—perhaps the oldest—and his record of service spoke for itself.

Mr G. Webster seconded.

The Rev. Canon Greenwood (Grimston) said that he had the greatest admiration for Mr Sykes' work, but he thought the their understanding that the chairmanship should come from the south-west side of the Union should be adhered to. In view of that he had pleasure in submitting the name of Mr J. W. Dobson (Newthorpe) for the position. He had had no communication with Mr Dobson, but he believed that he would discharge the duties ably, and by appointing him it would be some recognition of the industrial part of the Union.

Mr J. Wordsworth (Great Preston) seconded.

The first vote resulted as follows:—Mr Crosland 16, Mr Sykes 9, and Mr Dobson 6.

On a second vote Mr Crosland received 20 and Mr Sykes 9.

Mr Crosland was congratulated by the Chairman on his election, and was similarly hearty applause. he took his position in the vice-chair. He thanked the members for the honour they had done him, and said he would endeavour to discharge the duties to the best of his ability. He stated that he had been a member for 29 years, and there was only one of the present members who was on the Board when he joined it.

Mr Wordsworth said it had been suggested by some friends that it would be pleasing to have a photo of the late Mr Blackburn on the walls of the room, and he asked for the Board's support.

The Chairman said he thought they agreed with the suggestion, and he proposed that the matter be left in the hands of Mr Wordsworth.—This course was adopted.

A successor to Mr Blackburn on the Assessment Committee is required, and the appointment will be made at next meeting.

On the motion of Mr Parkin, Mr Townend (Kippax) was elected a member of the House Committee in place of the late Mr Hewitt.

The treasurer was reported to have a balance of £1,089 in hand.

THE HOUSE.

The master's report showed that during the fortnight there had been four admissions to the house and four discharges, and there were 89 inmates in the workhouse and 18 in the children's home.

The House Committee reported that Miss Denby had been appointed assistant nurse at the institution.—A letter was read from the Yorkshire Vagrancy Committee as to bread stations. —Doncaster Union wrote stating that if they could not agree to accept their milestone it would upset their arrangements. It was decided not to take it.—The thanks of the Board were given to Allerton W.M. Club for a gift of books to the inmates.

ULLESKELF.

A report by the Law and Parliamentary Committee showed that in connection with the city extension scheme, Leeds was prepared to offer £2,000 in respect of the claim for the loss of Cross gates, less £36 due from Tadcaster Union.

The Finance Committee had before them the letter from the Pontefract Union asking the Board to urge upon the Government to make adequate provision for all persons injured while doing service for the country in the war, and in case of death for their dependents, and recommending that the money required for the purpose be raised by a special tax on all incomes exceeding 500, a week. It was agreed to support the Pontefract resolution.

DISTRICT COUNCIL.

It was reported that the District Council treasurer had in hand a balance of £7,196.

Mr. Parkin proposed the election of Mr Crosland as vice-chairman of the Council, Mr Sykes seconded, and this was adopted.

The Highways Committee had before them a report of a subcommittee ment on an alleged road encroachment at Scholes, and the question was referred to Mr Prater to inquire and report.—A culvert at Barkston is to be improved at a cost of £6.—Permission was given to open roads at Tadcaster and Aberford.—A letter was read from the County Council stating that they were to make application to the Local Government Board to issue an order restricting the speed of motor-cars through Tadcaster to ten miles an hour.—In regard to a road improvement at Ryther, it was resolved to offer 1s. per yard for the land required for the purpose. The County Council wrote sanctioning an improvement on the Wakefield and Aberford Road at Swillington at a cost of £153, and also the kerbing of a footpath at Allerton Bywater.—In respect to the proposed road improvement at Sherburn, it was decided to ask the owner of the land required for forms by a certain date.

The minutes were adopted.

SANITARY AND BUILDING.

At a meeting of the Sanitary and Building Committee plans were submitted for the erection of a house in Robinson Lane, Kippax, and they were adjourned.—It was stated that a sewer was blocked at Acaster, and a manhole is to be made. The inspector was instructed to get prices.—It was reported that gipsies were camping on land at Lock Lane, and the matter was referred to the Clerk.—In regard to drain connections at Sherburn, the prices by Messrs Thompson were submitted and approved.—Notice was ordered to be served on owners of certain farms at Askham Bryan to provide them with water.—A letter was read from Mr Forbes with respect to Newton water scheme. He said that he had received the draft agreement from Pontefract Rural Council, and the work would be carried out as early as possible.—A letter was read from the Local Government Board asking what number of cases of enteric they could take into their hospital should any occur among soldiers. It was referred to the Hospital Committee. A letter as to the billeting of soldiers was referred to the medical officer and inspectors.—In regarding to the housing conditions at Tadcaster, the engineers were instructed to complete the deepening of Bilbrough well, and thereafter the serving of notices on owners to convert privies into w.c's will be considered. Notices were ordered to be served on certain owners to provide their property with water, and closing orders were made in respect of several houses.

The Chairman asked if it was proposed to make any provision for the people whose houses would be closed.

The Clerk said that John Smith's, Co. were erecting a number of houses, which would be available.

The minutes were adopted.

VARIOUS.

A letter was read from a farmer complaining of a scarcity of water for his cattle, and the Chairman directed attention to the question of supplying outlying farms with water.—Mr Wright said that in Barwick district there were several farms without water, and in the past they had helped to pay other people's water expenses. It was another treatment.

A long letter was received from Dr. Hill, the medical officer of health, who is on military duty. He stated that he might be ordered abroad, and he desired to know if his post would remain open for him.

The Chairman moved that the post remain open for Dr. Hill.

This was seconded and agreed to.

Canon Greenwood asked who was carrying out the medical officer's duties at present.

The Chairman said that Dr. Radcliffe was doing so.

MISSING FISH AT GARFORTH

THE MINER AND THE COD.

At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Samuel Turnbull, a miner, of Leeds, was charged with stealing 4 lbs. of fish of the value of 1s. 6d., belonging to George Wall, fish dealer, of Beiggate, Garforth.

George Wall stated that about 8.30 p.m. on Friday night the prisoner came into his shop and was supplied with some fish and potatoes. He received a complaint from someone in the shop, and shortly after he received a second complaint relating to the same thing. As a result he followed the prisoner, whom he overtook and charged with stealing fish from a barrel in his shop

Thomas Robertshaw said he was in Mr Wall's shop about 8.30 on Friday night, when prisoner came into the shop and sat down. He then commenced taking fish from a barrel and putting it into his pocket. Witness told Mr Wall what he had seen, and, after buying some fish and potatoes, prisoner went out. Later he came back and took more fish away.

John Sherry, miner, said he saw the prisoner in the shop twice. The second time he saw him take the fish from the barrel. He charged him with it, and prisoner said he would pay for it, but he walked out without doing so. Witness informed Mr Wall.

P.C. Jackson spoke to arresting the prisoner at the station, when he had a cod in his pocket. Some more fish were found in the roadway. The man was sober.

Prisoner said he had been drinking after receiving his wage.

Nothing was said to be known of the prisoner, who was fined 5s. and costs.

TADCASTER CHAMBER OF AGRICULTURE

OPPOSITION TO FARM HANDS' DEMANDS.

INTERESTING DISCUSSION—"WOULD KILL AGRICULTURE."

A meeting of the Tadcaster and District Chamber of Agriculture was held in the Lamb-and-Flag Hotel, Tadcaster, on Tuesday. The President (Mr C. B. Lamb) presided, and there were also present Messrs Frank Myers, Arkwright, J. Ladley, J. Bailey, W. H. Holliday, T. B. Watson (hon. secretary), S. Elvidge, etc.

The arrangements in connection with the annual competition for sheaves were made.

The Hon. Secretary intimated that the Potato Syndicate had withdrawn their offer of prizes for potatoes on account of the war. There had not been many entries received so far.

Mr A. Kendall and Mr A. Kay were appointed judges, with Mr J. Sharp reserve judge and steward, and Mr Fowler steward.

WORKERS AND THEIR WAGES

Some discussion took place on the programme, drawn up by the Agricultural Workers' Union, and submitted by the Yorkshire Union of Clubs for consideration.

The programme was prefaced by the remarks that the minimum demand as a weekly wage had been reduced to 22s., not because the Union thought that was sufficient, but because they thought that low minimum would be an improvement on what was paid at present. The programme required the concession of the following for agricultural workers:—

1. A minimum wage of 22s. per week.
2. A week's work to consist of 60 hours, and on Saturday work to cease at 1 p.m.
3. All overtime above the normal day's work to be paid for at the rate of 9d. per hour.
4. Casual labour to be paid for as follows: —Men, 4s. 6d. per day; women, 2s. 6d.
5. Three months' notice to be given when a labourer is required to remove from his cottage.
6. Garden improvements to be valued and paid for a week before the out-going tenant's notice expires.

Mr Myers: The man is not an agriculturist who is throwing that programme up.

Mr Elvidge: Then why should he?

Mr Ladley: I do not think any reasonable farmer could give those things.

The Chairman: I don't suppose they will expect to get them. I thought they will expect to get something. But I think most of these agitations have been stopped for the time being.

Mr Kendall: I think I saw that the minimum wage demand was dropped in the meantime.

Mr Elvidge: I have a letter in my pocket, the organizing secretary of this union had the labourers in the East Riding in a position to strike had it not been for the war.

"WOULD KILL AGRICULTURE"

Mr Myers: I don't think I ever heard a more unreasonable thing in my life than that programme.

At the present time, continued Mr Myers, he had been pushing forward with his threshing, so as to get quantities delivered. He would like to know where the money was to come from for that under the proposed arrangement.

The Chairman: Those programmes only decrease the output, and labour, because farmers get more machinery.

Mr Elvidge: They get more machinery, but they don't work less men.

The Chairman: You ought to see the small number of men they require in Canada and America.

Mr Slater: They may work the American land with less men, but they can't work this land.

The Chairman: This is a programme that will kill agriculture altogether.

Mr Myers: It will ruin a good many people who could do without farming go out of it, and the country will be the sufferer.

The Chairman: But I don't think you need fear that the Union will force what they have put in their programme.

Mr Myers: It always tends to agitate the workers.

The Chairman: And most of those who do the agitating do well out of it.

Mr Kendall proposed "that in existing conditions the programme was needless and unworkable in the district."

Mr Kendall seconded, and the motion was unanimously carried.

SEVERAL RESOLUTIONS

General agreement was expressed with a number of motions submitted for support from a young man, was charged by George Robinson with stealing a handcart. Mr Claud Kemp, auctioneer, deposed.

Supt. Slack said that the parties came to see him on Saturday with the object of withdrawing the charge.

Complainant: We were both agreeable to that.

Robinson's story was that a week on Saturday he saw defendant and another man, and McNamara asked how much he would take for the old cart, saying he would give him a dollar for it. He told him he did not want to sell it. On the Monday he went to York, and on Tuesday, when he went into the yard, he found his cart had gone. He afterwards saw McNamara and asked him where the cart was, and he said that he had bought and sold it. He told him he had not bought it because he did not wish to sell it. Asked as to its value, he said he wanted 10s., if he sold the cart.

In answer to Mr Kemp, Robinson said that defendant had sold him a horse for £4 ios, and he never been any charge against him. The charge, to succeed, must show felonious intent, and he asked the magistrates to dismiss the case and make Robinson pay the costs of the prosecution.

Caroline Cardles, of Milligate, Selby, said that a week the previous Wednesday he was present when Robinson sold the cart to defendant. Defendant had a donkey and harness, and he wanted a cart to go with it, and he heard McNamara buy the cart for 5s. He saw the donkey and cart on the following Monday, and he had paid £2 10s. for the turn-out.

McNamara put in a cheque to prove this.

The Chairman said the case was a very frivolous one, and should never have been brought to Court. The cost would be dismissed, and the parties must pay their own costs.

SCIENCE LECTURE AT GARFORTH

THE SOLAR SYSTEM.

"The Solar System" was the title of an excellent lecture given at the Council School, Garforth, on Monday night by Mr Albert Gilligan, B.Sc., F.G.S., of Leeds University. Mr H. J. Denby, who presided over a large audience, apologised for the absence of Mr E. H. Foster, who should have acted as chairman, and stated that he had been detained in London. He had accepted some position in connection with the War Office, and he had written wishing them a successful lecture. Mr Gilligan was to picture on "The Solar System," and they would remember that last year they had a lecture on a somewhat similar subject, which was so intensely interesting that he had no doubt they would all be delighted to hear what Mr Gilligan had to say (Applause).

Mr Gilligan said that one could lecture about the earth for years—in fact, some of them did so, and it had for long been a subject of observation and discussion. The early observers were convinced that the earth was the most important body in the universe, and they thought that all the other planets went round it. This theory was established by the Egyptians, and it was held down to the eighteenth century. It was left to a Polish clergyman, living on the banks of the Vistula, to do away with this complicated theory, and to show that the earth and other planets revolved round the sun. No one, however, was willing to accept his theory, and he was persecuted. An Italian named Galileo made a small telescope, and, from the observations he came to the same conclusions as the Polish clergyman, but he, too, was disbelieved and persecuted. Other astronomers afterwards came along and confirmed Galileo's views. Then came the questions as to how the earth and sun, etc., originated, but there was no absolute agreement as to that. He dealt with the nebular hypothesis, and spiral nebulæ, and stated that they did not know how the clouds of gases originated. Some good views of the moon were shown, and the marks on the surface were stated to be due to volcanoes and to the action of water. There was no atmosphere on the moon and that there was no life on it. He explained as to what sun spots were due, and how they affected the Northern lights, and all the magnetic needles. Excellent photos or drawings of the planets were exhibited, their size and relation to each other explained, and the story of the discovery of Neptune told in an interesting manner. Astronomers could tell what the sun and planets were made of, and this was done by analysing the light. The uses of the spectroscope were explained, and the spectra of the sun and stars shown, and what the lines denoted was made clear. All the bodies were composed of the same substances, and certain substances were discovered in the sun before they were found in the earth, radium being given as an example. Much of the information given by the lecturer was similar to that conveyed by Father Corti in his lecture last year, but Mr Gilligan, who has a racy style, kept the interest of the audience for an hour and a half as he expiated the triumphs of astronomical science, and at the close he was accorded a very cordial vote of thanks, which was proposed by Mr Thornton.

The lecture was admirably illustrated by means of a large number of slides, and the latern was operated by Mr Thornton.

SINGULAR CASE AT TADCASTER

CHARGE CONDEMNED AS FRIVOLOUS.

At Tadcaster Petty Sessions on Monday Patrick McNamara, hawker, of Tadcaster, a young man, was charged by George Robinson with stealing a handcart. Mr Claud Kemp, auctioneer, deposed.

Supt. Slack said that the parties came to see him on Saturday with the object of withdrawing the charge.

Complainant: We were both agreeable to that.

Robinson's story was that a week on Saturday he saw defendant and another man, and McNamara asked how much he would take for the old cart, saying he would give him a dollar for it. He told him he did not want to sell it. On the Monday he went to York, and on Tuesday, when he went into the yard, he found his cart had gone. He afterwards saw McNamara and asked him where the cart was, and he said that he had bought and sold it. He told him he had not bought it because he did not wish to sell it. Asked as to its value, he said he wanted 10s., if he sold the cart.

In answer to Mr Kemp, Robinson said that defendant had sold him a horse for £4 10s, and he never been any charge against him. The charge, to succeed, must show felonious intent, and he asked the magistrates to dismiss the case and make Robinson pay the costs of the prosecution.

Caroline Cardles, of Milligate, Selby, said that a week the previous Wednesday he was present when Robinson sold the cart to defendant. Defendant had a donkey and harness, and he wanted a cart to go with it, and he heard McNamara buy the cart for 5s. He saw the donkey and cart on the following Monday, and he had paid £2 10s. for the turn-out.

McNamara put in a cheque to prove this.

The Chairman said the case was a very frivolous one, and should never have been brought to Court. The cost would be dismissed, and the parties must pay their own costs.

DISCHARGING "BOMBS" AT GARFORTH

MAGISTRATE'S COMMENTS.

On Tuesday at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions four Garforth youths—Willie Malkin, Reginald Lincoln (pit hands), Thomas Birch (shop assistant), and Sydney Oxtoby (clerk)—were summoned for discharging fireworks on the highway at Garforth on Thursday, October 15th.

P.C. Jackson stated that about 9.30 on the night in question he was in Main Street, Garforth, when he received a complaint, as a result of which he went to Birch Grove Terrace, where he saw Malkin with a lighted bomb in his hand and which he threw down, the firework "going off" with a loud report. The other three also had bombs, but, on seeing the officer, they ran off, and "let off" the fireworks elsewhere. The officer subsequently followed the four defendants home.

Mr J. R. Cross commented that it sounded very destructive. What was meant by "bombs?"

The officer replied that the bombs were a new kind of firework brought out this year.

That there was no atmosphere on the moon and that there was no life on it. He explained as to what sun spots were due, and how they affected the Northern lights and all the magnetic needles. Excellent photos or drawings of the planets were exhibited, their size and relation to each other explained, and the story of the discovery of Neptune told in an interesting manner. Astronomers could tell what the sun and planets were made of, and this was done by analysing the light. The uses of the spectroscope were explained, and the spectra of the sun and stars shown, and what the lines denoted was made clear. All the bodies were composed of the same substances, and certain substances were discovered in the sun before they were found in the earth, radium being given as an example. Much of the information given by the lecturer was similar to that conveyed by Father Corti in his lecture last year, but Mr Gilligan, who has a racy style, kept the interest of the audience for an hour and a half as he expiated the triumphs of astronomical science, and at the close he was accorded a very cordial vote of thanks, which was proposed by Mr Thornton.

The lecture was admirably illustrated by

The Bishop of London, speaking on Tuesday, said he envied the men who were privileged to fight in this new Waterloo, and he regarded fifty-six as the prime of manhood.

Dr. Charles Sarolea, the Belgian Consul at Edinburgh, spoke at the York Festival Concert Rooms on Tuesday night on the devastation of Belgium and the scenes he witnessed there. An overflow meeting had to be held in the Guildhall. Dr. Sarolea said that in one month the Germans committed more vandalism and cruelty in Belgium than all the European nations who fought there during 500 years. Belgium was threatened with the most ghastly famine of modern times. Starvation was beginning now, and unless the British and American Governments took steps to provide a remedy they would be faced by a still greater catastrophe.

TADCASTER PETTY SESSIONS.

At Tadcaster Petty Sessions on Monday the magistrate's present were Adl. E. G. Brooksbank (Chairman), Col. Gascoigne, Messrs E. M. Lawson-Smith, J. H. Ingleby, C. B. Lamb, and F. Wallis Fairbairn.

The following poor rates were passed:—Tadcaster West, 1s. 1d. and 2s. 2d.; Grimston, 1s. 9d. and 2s. 8d.; Ulleskelf, 1s. and 2s.; Oxton, 1s. and 2s.; Healaugh, 11d. and 1s. 10d.; Stutton, 11d. and 1s. 10d.; Appleton Roebuck, 1s. 1d. and 2s. 2d.; Tadcaster East, 1s. 2d. and 2s. 4d.; Bilbrough, 1s. 1d. and 2s. 2d.; Colton, 1s. 1d. and 1s. 7½d.; Long Marston, 1s. 2d. and 2s. 4d.; and Wighill, 1s. 1d. and 2s. 2d.

DISMISSED.

Charles Swales, hawker, of Tadcaster, was charged with using indecent language at Tadcaster on October 20th.—Mr Kemp defended.—P.C. Bennett stated the case.—Mr Kemp asked who defendant annoyed.—Witness: Passers-by.—Mr Kemp: Are they here?—Witness: Yes.—Mr Kemp said he had no case to answer, and he read the law on the subject.—The charge was dismissed.

A MENDICANT AT TADCASTER.

Thomas Ryan, labourer, a respectable-looking man, was charged with begging at Tadcaster on October 29th.—P.C. Bennett said he was in High Street, Tadcaster, and he saw defendant accost two men, and he afterwards ascertained he had been begging.—Supt. Slack said the man was not a tramp. His home was there, and he was a workeer.—Defendant was imprisoned until the rising of the Court.

DRUNK AT TADCASTER.

John E. Wilson, described as a bricklayer, of no fixed abode, was charged with having been drunk and disorderly at Tadcaster on October 17th.—Asked what defendant said: "Guilty, I am sorry to say."—P.C. Bennett said that on the 17th he was in the Market Place, and there he saw defendant, who was very drunk and shouting and swearing promiscuously. He would not go away, and he took him into custody. Fined 2s. 6d. and costs.

John William Gill, drover, of Tadcaster, a welldressed man, pleaded guilty to a similar charge.—P.C. Bennett said that on the 20th he was in Bridge Street, Tadcaster, and there he saw defendant, who was drunk, shouting, and behaving in a disorderly manner. Supt. Slack said that defendant was all right for twelve months and then he came there.—A fine of 5s. and costs was imposed.

James Towey and Michael Dignan, labourers, of no fixed abode, were similarly charged.—P.C. Kilwood said that on October 24th he saw defendants in St. Joseph's Street, Tadcaster, and they were drunk and using obscene language.—Supt. Slack said that Towey was a powerful man and ought to be in the Army.—Towey: I wish I was there this morning, sir.—Supt. Slack said that he had been only one officer there, he might have been seriously assaulted.—Fined 2s. 6d. and costs each.

MOTOR CYCLISTS AT TADCASTER.

George Hollings, mechanic, of York, was charged with driving a motor cycle which had no red rear light on October 20th. P.C. Steel said that he was on duty in Bridge Street and saw a motor cycle and side car without a red rear light. He called on defendant to stop, but he did not pull up until he got to Bridge Street. He told defendant that the red rear lamp must have gone out. On telling him he would be reported, he asked if he could look over it.—A fine of 5s. and costs was imposed.

George Edward Whitworth, mechanic, Leeds, was charged with a similar offence. Defendant pleaded guilty.—P.C. Kilwood said that on the 22nd October he was on Wheelie Bridge, and defendant drove past on a motor cycle, in which there was no red rear light. He shouted to him, and told him there was no rear light, and he shouted "All right," and rode on. He followed him on his bicycle, and as he did so a light went out defendant had to pull up, and he caught him.—Defendant now said he did not know a constable had shouted to him.—The Chairman said that it was quite as serious than the other, as defendant evidently tried to evade the police.—A fine of 10s. and costs was imposed.

A TADCASTER CHILD'S CONDITION.

George Bowman, labourer, of Tadcaster, was charged with not sending his daughter regularly to school. Mrs Bowman appeared. Mr Frank Shaler, on behalf of Tadcaster Education Committee, prosecuted. He said the child was eleven years of age and was in standard 3, whereas she should have been in standard 5 had she attended regularly. Since last June the child was examined in school by the school medical officer, and as she was found to be suffering from verminous head, she was excluded for a week. Instructions were given by the parents as to the means whereby this condition could be remedied, and they were not followed. Instead of the child being absent one week she was absent 8 or 9 weeks.—Mr Kaye, the attendance officer, gave evidence bearing out this statement, and he said that when he went to the house he found the child in charge on several occasions.—The Chairman asked if there were any instructions for getting rid of vermin.—Mr Kaye said there was, and he put in a form which he had given the parents.—Further evidence was given, and the medical officer said the child at home for pneumonia and rheumatic fever.—The Chairman asked when the child suffered from pneumonia.—The mother said it was two years ago. —A fine of 5s. and costs was imposed.

GERMANS AT LOFTHOUSE PARK.

The community of alien enemies at Lofthouse Park is increasing in size with considerable rapidity. The first batch of 50 which arrived from London on Thursday afternoon was followed later in the day by 27 from Hull, 43 from Nottingham, and 14 from Cambridge, and on Friday morning about eight arrived at Wakefield from Boston. The largest party so far reached Wakefield on Wharfedale Station on Friday evening. It was composed of 220 Germans, Austrians, and Hungarians, from Manchester, and, like those preceding them, all were civilians. They were a mixed company. Among them were several business and professional men, who carried substantial, even ornate, suit cases; others had to be content with modest hand-bags. It was stated that the prisoners included a pastor and a physician. Special tramcars conveyed the men and their escort to Lofthouse Park, where they were interned.

It was interesting to note the composition of the escort. As far as one could see, there was one a single military officer present at the station; the rest were members of the Manchester City Police Force in uniform, and a number of well-dressed special constables. All carried carbines, and wore bandoliers. This suggested an advanced state of organisation in respect of special constables in Manchester, and the large crowd which gathered quietly to watch the prisoners were obviously impressed by the quality of the escort.

LOOK HERE!

We have a REPUTATION to maintain, and we do it by giving you the BEST VALUE in Provisions, Groceries, &c.

Specialists in BUTTER, HAMS, BACON, CHEESE, &c.

Also FLOUR, FEEDING MEAL, POULTRY CORN &c,

T. B. SMITH & SON,

SUPPLY STORES,

GARFORTH.

Our Special Blends of Tea, 2/2, 2/-, 1/8 per lb., contain some of the Finest Teas the World produces.

Rothwell Courier & Times

ESTABLISHED 1873.

CHEAP PREPAID RATES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS of the following classes:—
WANTED, FOR SALE, and TO LET.

Words.	1 week.	3 weeks	6 weeks.	13 weeks
20	0 6	1 0	1 10	3 3
30	0 9	1 6	2 9	5 0
40	1 0	2 0	3 8	6 6

d Cash is not sent with advt. ordinary rates will be charged.

BUSINESS ADVERTISEMENTS.
Are charged at the following rates when ordered for not less than

	13 weeks,	1s. per inch per insertion.
26	do.	do.
52	do.	do.

RAILWAY NOTICE.

NORTH EASTERN RAILWAY.
EXCURSION TRAINS FROM LEEDS NEW STATION CALLING AT CROSSGATES AND GARFORTH
Wednesday, 4th Nov., 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, Scarborough, Pickering, and Whitby. 1.32 p.m. to Selby and Hull. Saturday, 7th Nov., 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, Scarborough, Pickering, and Whitby.
For further particulars see bills.

WANTED

WANTED a Good GENERAL, 18-20, to sleep in.—Apply, M. HAGUE, Grocer, Whitkirk.

WANTED Good GENERAL SERVANT.—Apply, Mrs. Simpson, 152, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates.

GENERAL SERVANT wanted, chiefly housework. Three in family.—Apply, GREEN, "Jesmond," Selby Road, Whitkirk, near Leeds. 3

WANTED Capable GENERAL, aged 17 to 20. Comfortable home, no baking, or cooking. Reference.—Mrs BINNS, Ash Grove, Horsforth, Leeds. 1884

WANTED Experienced GENERAL. No cooking. Good salary. Plenty of liberty. References required.—Apply, 12, Brunswick Place, Leeds.

FOR SALE.

FOR Sale YOUNG GEESE, 6½d. lb. live weight; also CHILD'S FOLDING PRAM and COT.—Wm. PARKER, Barwick-in-Elmet.

28 DAYS' GRANDFATHER CLOCK for Sale. Good going order.—Apply, Jackson, Watchmaker, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates.

FOR Sale, 5-6 h.p. RUDGE MULTI-MOTOR CYCLE and SIDECAR, 1913. A Sport. Tyres, Belts, Belts, fast and reliable.—E. PEARSON, Sherburn-in-Elmet.

PIG POTATOES, 1/6 per Bag (9 stone). CABBAGE PLANTS, Drumheads, Leeds Market, Reds, Savoys, 1/6 per 1,000, cash.—Thos. Hopkins, Seacroft, near Leeds. 3 1870

FOR Sale—GEESE Dressed, 1s. lb.; Chickens, 5s. to 6s. couple; Goose feathers, 1/2s. 6d. stone; Road-feathers, 7s. 6d. stone.—Miss THISKILL, Park House, Aberford.

FOR Sale, in Kippax, TRAYSER HARMONIUM, stands on four legs, brass tipped pedals, and in good condition, £3 or nearest offer.—Apply, Box 2513, "Skyrack Courier" Office, Leeds.

MEDICAL.

TO MARRIED LADIES.
THE WIFE'S HANDBOOK, by Dr. Allbutt; should be read by all Married People, 7d. Post Free. Illustrated List of Malthusian Appliances, Rubber Goods, &c., Post Free, 2 Stamps.—(S) DAVIES & Co., 54 Park Lane, Leeds.

LADIES! Wood's Challenge Remedy is guaranteed under the sum of £100 to cure more cases than any other advertised remedy. For all cases of irregularities Challenge Remedy has no equal. Price 2/9, special 4/6. Consultations free 10 to 10 daily. Hygienic Rubber Requisites. Only address—Mr and Mrs. W. WOOD, 20, Louis Street, Chapeltown Road Leeds.

MARRIED LADIES.
Consult MRS. WOOD, the only reliable Ladies' Specialist, 20 years' experience. My remedies fail. My Special Mixture or Pills are guaranteed to be the only reliable remedy known. Acts in a few hours after all else fails. Quick Sale and Safe. Price 2s. 6d. Special 4s. 6d., post free in plain wrapper, or stamp for particulars. Consultations by appointment. Only Address: Mrs WOOD, 31, Park Avenue, Blackpool.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH, EXTRACTIONS, Etc.

Mr. J. DILWORTH'S
Dental Rooms,
CECIL HOUSE, BURLEY LODGE TERRACE, HYDE PARK ROAD, LEEDS.
Advice Free. Hours—10 to 8.
and at
16, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates.
Every Friday, 2 to 7.30 p.m. Other hours by appointment.
Painless Extractions. Nitrous Oxide Gas administered.

THOMAS MIDDLETON
PAWNBROKER AND JEWELLER,
VICAR LANE,
96 (Top of LADY LANE, LEEDS).
ADVANCES MONEY TO ANY AMOUNT
ON PORTABLE PROPERTY.

£0 10 0	at	2½ per month.
£1 0 0	"	5d. " "
£2 0 0	"	10d. " "
£3 10 0	"	1s. " "
£5 1 0	"	1s. 2d. " "
£5 5 0	"	1s. 8d. " "
£8 8 0	"	2s. 8d. " "
£10 0 0	"	3s. 4d. " "

Sums above £10 by Special Agreement.
ONLY ADDRESS—
96 VICAR LANE, LEEDS.
PLEDGE OFFICE, LADY LANE, LEEDS.

MR and MRS. TURNER
7 Lady Lane, Leeds,
and 36, Horton Road, Bradford,
Purchase for Cash, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Cast-off Clothing. All Letters and Parcels receive immediate attention. Full value given for Old Gold and Silver. Trial Solicited.
Highest Price Given.
Tel. Nos.: Leeds, 3188; Bradford, 941"

Window Cleaning, Paintwashing
Limewashing &c., at Moderate Charges.
EXPERIENCED MEN SENT ANY DISTANCE.
FIRTH & KENYON,
GROVE ROAD, HALTON, near LEEDS.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

THE PICTURE HOUSE, GARFORTH.
Every Evening at 7 o'clock, except
SATURDAY: Two Performance at 6.30 & 8.30.
TO-NIGHT (Friday) and SATURDAY.
"FACING ETERNITY."
In Four Splendid Parts.
A very Exciting and Powerful Drama of the Franco-German War, depicting in a series of magnificent and stirring pictures, a brave French woman's sacrifice.
A Glorious Picture that Everyone should see.
FIRST-CLASS PROGRAMMES NEXT WEEK
All the Latest Pictures.
Look-out for Special Features.
DRAMA, COMEDY, ADVENTURE.
Popular Prices:—2d., 4d., and 6d.

CROSSGATES LITERARY SOCIETY.

SESSION 1914—15.
SYLLABUS.
Nov. 2.—"Yorkshire Dialects and Dialect Speakers." F. W. MOORMAN, B.A., Ph. D.
" 7.—Visit to Leeds City Art Gallery, under the guidance of the Curator. (4 p.m.).
FRANK RUTTER, B.A.
" 16.—"Some Chronicles of an Ancient Kingdom." (Lantern Illustrations).
ROBERT MACKAY.
" 30.—"Friedrich Nietzsche, and his influence on German thought and policy."
Rev. J. MILLER HAMILTON.
Dec. 14.—"Architecture, and some examples of it." (Lantern Illustrations).
Rev. BRIAN GUISE, M.A.
Jan. 4.—"Travels in Eastern Siberia." (Lantern Illustrations).
S. W. CUTRISS, M.I.E.E.
" 18.—"Emerson."
C. APPLETON.
Feb. 1.—"The Irish Renaissance."
Rev. HERBERT SEWELL, B.A.
" 15.—"Two Years in the Antarctic." (Lantern Illustrations).
RAYMOND PRIESTLEY, F.G.S.
Mar. 1.—"How Raven, the Priest, stopped from Beverley to Ghent in 1294."
E. HAWORTH EARLE.
" 15.—Members' Portfolio.
The Lectures will be given in the WESLEYAN LECTURE HALL on MONDAYS at 8 p.m.
Subscription:—
Gentlemen - - - - 2/6.
Ladies - - - - - 1/6.
Single Admission - - 6d.
F. R. CARLTON, Hon. Sec., 150, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates.

SCARCROFT AND DISTRICT PLOUGHING SOCIETY.

THE ANNUAL PLOUGHING MATCH and HEDGE-LAYING COMPETITION will be held at SCARCROFT (by kind permission of Thomas Lord Mackintosh, Esq.), on WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4th, 1914.
Entries close Monday morning's post, November 2nd.
PLOUGHING MATCH DINNER
at the
NEW INN, SCARCROFT,
at 7 p.m.
Further particulars from—
ARTHUR RHODES, Hon. Sec., Shadwell, Leeds.

SOUTH MILFORD & DISTRICT FANCIERS' SOCIETY.

IN AID OF THE WAR FUND.
THE 3rd ANNUAL SHOW of POULTRY, PIGEONS, RABBITS and BREAD will be held in the SCHOOL ROOMS on WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 11th, 1914.
The SHOW WILL BE OPENED at 1.30 by the Rev. R. HEMSWORTH, M.A., J.P., MONK FRYSTON HALL.
Admission - - 6d.
Entries close November 4th.
Schedules from P. PAYNE, Sec., High Street, South Milford.

WORKERS' UNION.

FARM WORKERS
are urgently invited to attend
SPECIAL MEETINGS on the HIRING QUESTION, at ST. MARY'S HALL, GOOLE,
on
SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 1st, at 11 a.m. and at the MUSEUM HALL, SELBY,
on
WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4th, at 7.30 p.m.
Speakers:
Ald. R. MORLEY, Mr. ARTHUR SMITH, and others.

PATENTS for INVENTIONS, obtained by
JOHN E. WALSH, CHARTERED PATENT AGENT,
25, ROYAL EXCHANGE, LEEDS, and CROSSLEY STREET, HALIFAX, the Oldest Established in Leeds. Handbook Free, on British and Foreign Patents,, Trade Marks and Designs.
Telephone: LEEDS 4278. HALIFAX 357.

DR. SKELTON'S
BRONCHITIS LOZENGES
Cure Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, Difficulties of Breathing, Consumption, and all Diseases of the Chest and Lungs.
Sold only in Boxes at 1/1 and 2/9 at LAMB'S HERBAL STORES, 28, KIRKGATE, LEEDS.
All kinds of Herbs, etc., kept in Stock.

Telephone No. 1 Garforth.
ALFRED REED,
Late Matthews,
CAR and WAGGONETTE PROPRIETOR, GARFORTH and BARWICK-IN-ELMET.
Cabs, Waggonettes and Landaus for Hire.
Large and Small Parties Catered for.

Established 37 Years.
WM. DENTON & SON,
23, COMMERCIAL STREET, ROTHWELL,
Estate Agents and Rent Collectors,
Estates Entirely Managed. Terms on application.
Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass, etc.,
Quotations for any kind of Insurance Free.
Insurance Brokers.

SALES BY AUCTION.

WETHERBY AUCTION MART.
ON MONDAY NEXT,
Messrs THOMLINSON & SON
Will Sell by Auction—
50 to 60 Fat Cattle and Heifers,
100 to Prime Fat SHEEP,
100 to 70 Fat and Store PIGS.
THOMLINSON & SON, Auctioneers.

ON MONDAY NEXT AT 12 O'CLOCK.
WHITKIRK LIVE STOCK AUCTION MART
(Near to Crossgates Station and within four miles of Leeds).
Messrs BARTLE & SON
Will Sell by Auction, in strict accordance with the conditions posted in the Mart—
475 HEAD OF STOCK, viz.—
90 NEWLY CALVED and PRESENT CALVING COWS and STORE BEASTS,
65 PRIME FAT BULLOCKS, HEIFERS, and COWS.
20 VEAL and STORE CALVES.
100 PRIME FAT SHEARLINGS, HOGGS, and EWES.
200 BACON, PORK and STORE PIGS.
Auctioneers' Offices: Garforth, near Leeds. (Tel. No. 26).

THE AUCTION MART, WHITKIRK.
Messrs BARTLE & SON beg to give notice that their next
MONTHLY SALE OF HORSES will be held at the above Mart, on WEDNESDAY, November 11th, 1914.
Entry forms and conditions, on application.

W. A. F. BURROWS & CO.,
Auctioneers and Valuers,
BOND PLACE, LEEDS.
(Opposite Yorkshire Penny Bank).
Sales of every description conducted on the most reasonable terms.
Valuations made for all purposes.
To Heads of Families, Private Buyers, Dealers, and others.
Various Stocks of Drapery, Boots, and Shoes, Hosiery, and Underclothing always on hand, and may be purchased privately at any time. Goods on View. Public Inspection Invited.

Messrs J. CUNDALL & SON,
AUCTIONEERS and TENANT-RIGHT VALUERS,
SHERBURN, E.R., YORK

BARKER'S BRITISH PIANOS.

70 Gns.	F. & J. HOPKINSON, Iron Frame ..... Our Price 22 Gns.
60 Gns.	COLLARD & COLLARD, Ivory keys ..... Our Price 35 Gns.
55 Gns.	JOHN BRINSMEAD, Overstrung ..... Our Price 34 Gns.
52 Gns.	CHAPPELL, Rosewood, Ivory keys ..... Our Price 30 Gns.
70 Gns.	JUSTIN ..... In the NE. superb tone ..... Our Price 38 Gns.
50 Gns.	BARKER & CO., Overstrung ..... Our Price 25 Gns.
36 Gns.	KIRKMAN, Overstrung ..... Our Price 20 Gns.
38 Gns.	ROBERTS, Upright Grand.
	WADDINGTON, KIRKMAN and another, each ..... 8 Gns.
	Special Notice—In order to clear our stock of foreign Pianos we are offering the following instruments at enormous reductions. See our windows.
70 Gns.	SCHIEDMAYER, Overstrung, Ivory keys ..... Only 45 Gns.
90 Gns.	STEINWAY & SONS, Rosewood ..... Only 50 Gns.
68 Gns.	ERNST KAPS, Upright Grand Overstrung ..... Only 40 Gns.
65 Gns.	BECHSTEIN, Rosewood ..... Only 39 Gns.
70 Gns.	RUD BRACH, ... Only 28 Gns.
60 Gns.	LIPP, Upright Grand ..... Only 40 Gns.
50 Gns.	NEUMAYER, Overstrung ..... Only 20 Gns.
45 Gns.	MASTUL, Overstrung, Ivory keys ..... Only 23 Gns.
30 Gns.	ADALBERT, Overstrung ..... Only 23 Gns.
20 Gns.	LANGE, Overstrung ..... Only 24 Gns.
100 Gns.	BABY GRAND, magnificent tone ..... Only 45 Gns.
150 Gns.	SCHIEDMAYER Player Piano, 65 and 88 note melody, with all the latest attachments ..... Only 100 Gns.

The above foreign Pianos have been discounted regardless of cost, in order to clear them from our Show Rooms. They must be sold, otherwise they will be sold by Auction.
BARKER'S BRITISH MERCHANTS,
30 NEW STATION STREET, LEEDS.
'Phone 4165.

If your Hearing is Defective, read this :-

The adjustable Earphone, for which we are the sole agents throughout Yorkshire, will enable you to hear perfectly.

There are many thousands in use already, and delighted wearers are daily thanking us for the help they are deriving.

Recommended by the Medical Faculty.

A personal demonstration is invited, and will place no obligation upon you.

CALL OR WRITE FOR BROCHURE.

HEYWOOD,
Eyesight Specialists,
and Earphone Experts,
20, DUNCAN STREET,
LEEDS.

Gent's. 9ct. & 18ct. Bangle Rings
Large Assortment always in Stock at
J. WINTERHALDER'S,
Watchmaker, Jeweller, & Optician,
13, New York Street, LEEDS
(Opposite the Yorkshire Penny Bank, Kirkgate).
Repairs of all kinds a Speciality.

Purveyors of Marmalade — To H.M. King George V.

Frank COOPER'S "OXFORD"
MARMALADE.

The "Oxford" has a distinctive flavour, has the real home-made character, and goes further than any other.

OBTAINABLE AT
Walter Jubb's, Austhorpe Rd., Crossgates
AND ALSO AT
S. BORDER & Co., YORK.

H. E. WALKER,

STURTON GRANGE, GARFORTH,
Agricultural Agent
— FOR —
THE DRIFFIELD PURE LINSEED, COTTON and UNION CAKE COMPANY, LIMITED.
Molassine Meal.
Dairy and Calf Meal.
Poultry and Dog Foods.
Manures, Peat Moss, Oils, etc.
Best Quality & Prompt Delivery.

— TRY —
SANCFORD'S CROWN VINEGAR,
Pickles, Health Salt,
and Baking Powder.
ALL ABSOLUTELY PURE
SANCFORD & Co., Ltd.,
LEEDS.

FOR FUNERALS,
CABS AND CARRIAGES FOR WEDDINGS
ARTHUR BUCKTON, PROPRIETOR.
10, Basinghall Street, Boar Lane,
Telephone 1442.
ALWAYS READY
double four eight
LEEDS
UNDERTAKERS

Rothwell Courier & Times

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 31st, 1914.

For so many years has the nation been accustomed to peaceful relations with European neighbours that the war is proving a very trying experience to thousands of people, and it is hardly to be wondered at. This, however, is the time of testing, and the nation must exercise self-control and patience, placing absolute confidence in the men who are now upholding the country's honour on the battlefield or on the sea. The pessimist is ever with us, but his croakings should not be allowed to disturb the equanimity of people. In every little reverse he sees disaster, and in every success achieved by the enemy he discerns ultimate triumph. He no doubt wishes his country well—he has no desire to see German domination of the world, but he is disheartened and his courage is weak, and he cannot see things in their true perspective. Reverses have come, and in all probability this country and the Allies will suffer disasters—it is the fortune of war—but the nation loving freedom hating militarism as typified by Prussia, and with a boundless faith in the righteousness of the cause she has espoused, will go forward determinedly to the end. When the war began the men at the head of affairs, knowing the resources of Germany, predicted that it would be a long and costly one, but many people are quite angry because the authorities have not put an end to it by this time. They are ignorant of military and naval questions, and don't know no more than the man in the street what the Allies' plan of campaign is; it is possible they think the Allies have none, yet they presume to criticise what they are doing. Of course, all this will not make any difference to the conduct of the war, nor will it affect the policy of the nation as a whole, but it is essential for their own peace of mind, that those people should learn to trust the men who are directing our Army and Naval Forces, and encourage others to do likewise. To many people the war has brought heavy loss—to some, unfortunately, ruin, and it is difficult to withhold sympathy from them. They, however, cannot blame the nation for their position; it would have been easy for England to have stood aside and allowed Germany to wreak vengeance on France in precisely the same way as she has done on unhappy Belgium; but it would have been our turn next. With Germany in possession of an extended seaboard the safety of this country would have been threatened, and the Huns would, indeed, have been at the gates. What would temporizing measures have availed then? Instead of mourning over our losses, people must try to adopt the national, instead of the individual point of view, and be thankful that our rulers have had the foresight and courage to stop the progress of the enemy before the danger became greater. Viewing industry as it is at the present time, this country has, in the circumstances, little to complain of. Little Belgium lies torn and bleeding at the feet of the cruel invador, with its commerce and industry ruined, and its people driven from their homes. France has had a large portion of her territory devastated by the Prussians, and, owing to the withdrawal of so many men for military duty, her trade is practically at a standstill, while in Germany, owing to similar causes, a similar state of affairs prevails. Germany has the finest military machine ever created in the history of the world, and it is being used solely for a cruel and ghastly purpose. It must be smashed, and England has a leading role to play in the work of destroying it. This is no time for lamentation or criticism; it is the time for preparation and for work, and can anyone doubt the ultimate issue of the conflict? Many people are talking about a German invasion of this country, as if it were a thing to be easily accomplished as the over-running of Belgium, but they do not pause to think. A few airships might pay us a brief visit, but the damage they could do would be infinitesimal. Apart from this injury, the Germans would have to land thousands of soldiers on these shores, and how are they to get them across? The North Sea is patrolled by our Navy—let us be thankful for its existence—and for its strength—and so long as our brave sailors are about the nation need not fear any attempt on the part of the Prussians to reach our island home. Yet thousands of people are living in dread of a German invasion. Now, how do we stand? The enemy was to have been in Paris long ere this time, but, thanks to the "contemptible little" British Army, his plans were completely upset, and, after losing the first of his troops, he is now being slowly but steadily driven back to the Frontier. For the Germans it is vital that they should strike quickly to achieve success in their operations, and for that purpose they have called practically their full strength to the Colours. They have struck and failed, and their tactics must now be more or less of a defensive character. Russia, pressing from the East, has an inexhaustible supply of men, and England is in a position to continue hostilities year after year. The resources of the Empire are enormous. In addition to the Army in France, we have about one-and-a-half million men in training at home, ready when the hour comes to play their part against the Germans. But that is not all. Already various parts of the Empire have sent 100,000 men to help the mother country, and they are preparing to send more. An Empire of 400 millions population can never lack men, and if, therefore, it can be assumed that Great Britain has just begun to show the world what she can do.

A sum of £1 7s. collected at Barkston Church, has been sent to the Belgian Relief Fund.

The masons and bricklayers at Bramham Park have made a second contribution of £2 9s. 6d. to Lord Harewood's Fund.

Private Herbert Johnson, of Wetherby, of the 1st West Yorkshire, writing to his home at Wetherby from Southampton, says he has sustained a bullet wound in the left hand. Otherwise he is well.

Mr E. H. Foster (prospective Liberal candidate for Barkston Ash) has been invited to assist in the organisation and duties of the Office, and has already taken up his duties there.

REFUGEES.—A family of Belgian refugees, consisting of father, mother, and four children, are at present enjoying the hospitality of Church Fenton people. They are housed in the Church Institute, which has been fitted up and furnished for the purpose, and the villagers are providing for the wants of their guests.

APPOINTMENT.—Mr E. Lane Fox, J.P., who is in the "London Gazette" on Friday night was gazetted as lieutenant of the Yorkshire Hussars, he is a brother of Capt. G. R. Lane Fox, M.P., and is Deputy Master of the Bramham Moor Foxhounds. He has previously held a lieutenancy in the regiment he has now rejoined, and prior to that was in the P.W.O. West Yorkshire Regiment.

SUNDAY'S CRICKET.—At Wetherby Petty Sessions Mrs F. A. Simpson, Collingham, was granted a separation order against her husband, and the custody of their only child, a boy, was ordered to pay 10s. a week for maintenance, and the costs of the case. Defendant had for two years lived on his wife's income, having no means of his own. He was a drunk and illtreater, and finally turned her out of the house, which she had bought, but allowed to remain in his name.

DIFFERENT LANGUAGES.—William Brown and Albert White, labourers, of no fixed abode, were charged at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday with lodging out. P.C. Beever stated that about 2 a.m. on Wednesday, October 21st, in consequence of a complaint, he went to the Black Horse Farm at Aberford, where he found the two defendants asleep in one of the stalls of the stable. There was a stooping tray of tobacco, the value of which contained a quantity of hay and straw. In front of the two men the farmer, Mr Jenkinson, said he had requested the men to go away, but they had refused.—Mr Walter Jenkinson, farmer, Black Horse Farm, Aberford, spoke to asking the men to leave the premises about 10.30, and as they refused he sent for the police. Each defendant was fined 2s. 6d. and costs, the Chairman pointing out the danger of smoking in a stable containing so much hay and straw.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.
Communications intended for insertion must be authenticated by the name and address of the writer—not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. No notice will be taken of anonymous letters, and rejected communications cannot be returned.
Notice of Births and Deaths are charged 1s. each prepaid. They must be authenticated by the name and address of the sender.
Notices of marriages are charged at the rate of 2s. 6d. each
In Memoriam" Notices 1s. each, and 6d. extra for all matter up to four lines

IN MEMORIAM.

APPLEYARD.—In loving memory of my dear son, Thomas Appleyard, of Kippax, who died Oct. 26th, 1899, aged 18 years.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT NEWS.

ROTHWELL

LEEDS WEST RIDING PETTY SESSIONS.—The magistrates at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions were Messrs F. M. Lupton (in the chair), Messrs J. Hirst, E. Parkin, and J. R. Cross.

SICK GERMAN PRISONERS.—Although the first batch of German prisoners at Lofthouse Park only arrived on Thursday last, two of their number have already been removed to the isolation hospital at Rothwell as infectious cases. The men were removed in an ambulance.

TRAM-CAR ACCIDENT.—What might have been a serious accident occurred at Rothwell on Monday evening. As the ten minutes to the tram-car from Leeds, due in at Rothwell at twenty minutes' past five, was descending the hill alongside the church, it left the track owing to the front wheels jumping over an obstacle on the line. Fortunately, the car was travelling at a slow speed, but, as it was, the wheels of the fore part of the double tram track before the car came to a standstill. There were few persons in the car at the time, and no one complained of shock. The work of getting the car on to the lines again was quickly completed when the next car came up. It appears that the obstacle responsible for the mishap was a small bolt, but whether it had been placed on the line by some mischievous lad, or whether it had been dropped accidentally from a passing cart the authorities are unable to say.

ROTHWELL PRIMITIVE METHODISM.—In connection with the series of special services which are being held to commemorate the opening of the new organ at the Primitive Methodist Church at Rothwell, an excellent musical programme was given on Sunday afternoon by the Rothwell Wesleyan Choir. There were two crowded congregations, and the many items were greatly enjoyed. Mr H. J. Martin presided, and he said it spoke well for the Christian feeling in the town when they could forget party and be coming forward to help another. The beauties of the new organ were demonstrated by Mr T. A. Idle, L.L.C.M., in his organ solos. The choir, under the conductorship of Mr J. Idle, rendered in good style the anthems "Praise the Lord," "What are these," with Miss Bertha Varley as soloist, and "Hark, hark, my soul," in which Miss Varley and Miss Kate Ellis were soloists. Mr Nelson Varley's singing of "Arm, arm, ye brave," and "Thus saith the Lord" was greatly appreciated. Miss Kate Ellis sang "In confidence and trust," and Miss Edith Blackburn gave "Divine Love." Mr T. Kale rendered "In native worth," and "Be still with me" was sung as a quartette by Misses E. Ellis and Blackburn, and Messrs T. Kale and W. Ellis. A vote of thanks to the choir, the organist, and Mr Martin was proposed by Mr J. Southward, and heartily carried.

FOOTBALL.—Rothwell White Rose followed experience great disappointment on Saturday, when the team was defeated by Hedon Rovers in the second qualifying round of the English Cup Competition. H. Taylor lost the toss, and Parfitt started for Rothwell. Appleby took the ball well down the field, and a scrimmage then occurred near the goal mouth, but Wrigley missed an easy chance. The ball was nicely cleared for the visitors' forwards, and the home goal was in danger, Asmus saving. From a free kick Bartlett kicked wide, and Smith sent out the bar. After this Rothwell pressed hard, and from a pass by Taylor, Abrams took the ball nicely down the wing, and scored a shot which the visitors' custodian repulsed. Ripley, from his place at the full back line, fed the forwards well, but both Hughes and Wrigley failed to net the ball. Parfitt also missed a certain goal, the visitors backs cleverly getting the ball away. At the interval no score was registered. From the restart Rothwell quickly attacked, a free kick giving them a good lead. Tasker played on his wing in smart fashion, and put in some grand centres. Kinkick missed a good chance. Smith, after getting away, passed to Bartlett, who, however, kicked too high. Ripley conceded a corner, which was neatly cleared. In rushing out to save Nunns was charged and fell heavily, and was compelled to retire. The visitors scored whilst the goal was undefended. Tiffany took Nunns' place, the visitors scoring from a corner. However, with only ten men Rothwell played pluckily. The result was two goals to nil in favour of Heckmondwike

ALLERTON BYWATER

Leeds Lane school children have sent 9s. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

On Saturday afternoon Lock Lane Institute had a football match with Churchfields, and it was drawn—one goal each.

MEMBER'S OPINION.—At a meeting in the Drop-Stairs Tower Hall, on Friday night, in support of a movement to form a reserve battalion to take the place of the 4th Battalion of the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, Sir Joseph Compston-Rickett, M.P., for Osgoldcross, said that it was only the British Navy which stood between Germany and the United States during the American war with Spain.

BOWERS ALLERTON

Bowers Allerton Bible Class has sent £1 3s. to Leeds Infirmary.

A football match was played between Bowers Allerton and Oulton St. John's on Saturday afternoon, and the former won by two goals to one.

BOWERS ALLERTON MISSION.—In connection with the Young Men's Friday Night Bible Class a pie supper took place on Friday night, the proceeds being devoted to the Belgian Refugee Fund. The great many rabbit pies and meat pies, along with apple tarts, had been given by friends in the district, and over 100 persons sat down to this very substantial supper. Afterwards the following ladies and gentlemen rendered songs:—Misses E. Davidson, Winnie Ward, Gladys Ward, Alison Parker, and Messrs Alfred Dyer and Fred Bullock. A violin solo was given by Mr F. Dyer, A.L.C.M. Miss Spink ably presided at the pianoforte. The meeting was presided over by Mr Walter Blackburn, the esteemed teacher of the closs, who gave a very suitable address. Mr Isaac Robinson, on behalf of the class, moved a vote of thanks to those who had so generously given the pies, to the ladies who had provided the supper, and to the artistes. This was seconded by Mr Wm. Bullock, and heartily carried. The proceeds of the supper amounted to £6 10s. This was supplemented by £5 5s. from the Alvsion Choir Fund, and £5 from a great lover of the Mission Hall. The money has been sent to the Leeds Belgian Refugee Fund.

CROSSGATES

Mr and Mrs G. W. Beaumont, of Crossgates, have four sons—Fred, Reg., Percy, and Edward —serving in the Army.

The range of the Cross-gates Rifle Club in Manston Quarry is now formally opened by the Vicar on Saturday afternoon.

To the Leeds Belgian Refugee Fund Crossgates Chess Club has contributed £2, per Messrs Beaumont, Bowyer, and Watkins, who Crossgates Wesleyan Institute has sent £2 2s.

FOR OUR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.—The ladies of the Stanks Primitive Methodist Church, assisted by a few friends, have this week forwarded to Devonshire House, Piccadilly, London, in response to the Queen's appeal, a large consignment of hand-knitt d socks, belts, helmets, and mufflers for our soldiers and sailors, the whole being worked with materials provided by themselves. They are still working, and hope soon to have a second parcel ready.

YOUTHS IN TROUBLE.—On Wednesday at Leeds Police Court Arthur Booth, Samuel Jowett, and Thomas O'Brien, three youths residing in the York Road district of Leeds, were summoned for being on licensed premises during prohibited hours, and for giving a false name. Inspector Thompson said that on Saturday afternoon, the 24th inst., he called at the Station Hotel, Crossgates, and found the three defendants in the smoke-room along with others. They gave the names mentioned. Only one of the three lived outside the three miles' radius. A fine of 10s. and costs or seven days' imprisonment was imposed in each case.

WESLEY GUILD MUSICAL EVENING.—On Wednesday evening a concert was arranged in connection with the Wesley Guild by Mr J. Mitchell, and it was of a very enjoyable character. The following excellent programme was submitted:—Trio, "All-gro Agitato" (Op. 12), Messrs Brotherton (piano), Mitchell (violin), and Nowell ('cello); song, "In a child's small hand," Miss Bloxham; violin solo, "Mimette," Mr J. Mitchell; song, "Awake," Mr J. T. Johnson; trio, "Andante Con Moto Tranquillo," Messrs Brotherton, Mitch ll, and Nowell; song, "Love dreams," Mr J. T. Johnson; song, "Land of Hope and Glory," Miss Bloxham; violin solo, "Tarantell" (Op. 27), Mr J. Mitchell; duet, "Maying," Miss Bloxham and Mr Johnson; trio, "Reverie and Allegro," Messrs Brotherton, Mitchell, and Nowell. Mr Brotherton was an excellent accompanist. A collection was taken during the evening for the Poor Children's Treat at Snells Green.

LITERARY SOCIETY.—Crossgates Literary Society, of which Mr R. Hawksworth is again president and Mr E. Hamilton hon. secretary, commences its winter's work on Monday night, when Professor Moorman, of Leeds University, will lecture on "Yorkshire dialects and dialect speakers," upon which he is an authority. An excellent programme has been prepared for the session, and there should be a largely-increased membership. Mr R. MacKay (Whitkirk) will on November 9th lecture on "Scott's Journey to the Antarctic," and on November 23rd Reginald Priestley, F.G.S., of Christ's College, Cambridge, who was a member of Captain Scott's expedition; and "How Bowen, the priest, ravaged Ireland in the reign of Queen Mary," by Mr F. Haworth Earle, President of the Holl Literary Club. The lectures, it should be noticed, will be given in the Wesleyan Lecture Hall.—See leader.

GARFORTH

DISORDER.—William Kershaw, miner, of Garforth, who was summoned at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday for having been drunk and disorderly, was fined 10s. and costs. P.C. Hogg proved the case.

DRINK.—Thomas Kilbeth, miner, of Garforth, was summoned before the West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday for having been drunk and disorderly at Garforth on October 16th. P.C. Bevoir proved the case, and defendant was fined 5s. and costs.

WORK FOR THE WOMEN OF GARFORTH HAVE DONE.—In connection with the Garforth Branch of the Queen Mary Needlework Guild the women of Garforth, led by Mrs H. J. Denby, have done splendid work for our brave soldiers and sailors. All classes have rallied to the support of the committee, and the women have shown what can be done by co-operating in a great cause. A sum of £45 13s. 4d. was received, as follows:—Collected in boxes, £14 10s. 9d.; collected at public meeting, 6s. 8d.; Mrs Fawcett, £5; Mr T. B. Smith, £1 1s.; Mrs Tate, £1; Mrs Chadwick, £1; and small sums, £2 0s. 9d. A sum of £24 9s. 4d. was expended on material, so that there is a balance in hand of 4s. The material was cut up by four members of the committee—Mrs Simons, Miss Mills, Mrs Thornton, and Mrs Beved, and the whole of the work was done without any expense. No fewer than 427 articles were made, including 112 shirts, 180 pairs of socks, flannel vests, belts, etc. The articles have been forwarded to the Leeds centre.

B.W.T.A.—GARFORTH BRANCH.—The committee of this branch held last week made arrangements with Miss Emblem (so well known by her connection with the work of Lady Carlisle in the cause of temperance) for a two days' mission. The effect was assiduously solicited, and on Wednesday evening a most interesting meeting was held in the Wesleyan Schoolroom, under the presidency of Mrs Hind-Carr, of Hallow. Miss Emblem was the principal speaker, and in a clear and impressive manner, urged upon the members the importance of the work, and from her encouraging and stimulating appeal very good results may be expected. Mrs Cliff Richardson sang several solos, to the delight of all present. On Thursday night a drawing-room meeting was held at White Lodge. Mrs Coulthwaite presided, and there was a large attendance. Miss Westerman gave two recitations, and Miss Emblem again rendered good service by her excellent speech, and her many hints as to the conducting of future meetings and the many ways of spreading the principles of temperance. The members of the Y. Branch, with a little help from some of the older members, have collected and begged a lot of clothes, washed and mended them, and sent them off to the Belgian Relief Fund. They are still working for that Fund.

PICTURE HOUSE.—The war pictures have been a special attraction at this popular house of entertainment this week, and be tonight and Saturday the main feature will be "Fearful Enmity," an exciting and powerful drama of the Franco-German War, showing a brave French woman's sacrifices. For next week excellent pictures have been obtained, and the high standard of entertainment will be maintained.

GREAT PRESTON

A football match was played between Great Preston and Altofts St. Mary's on Saturday afternoon, and it was drawn—a goal each.

HALTON

Good progress is being made with the laying of the tramway lines at Halton.

Halton Institute defeated Stourton Institute by only 2 to 582 in the Leeds and District Non-Political Clubs' Billiard League.

FOOTBALL.—On Saturday afternoon a match was played between Halton Main Colliery and Crossgates Wesleyan Institute has sent £2 2s.

FOR OUR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.—The ladies of the Stanks Primitive Methodist Church, assisted by a few friends, have this week forwarded to Devonshire House, Piccadilly, London, in response to the Queen's appeal, a large consignment of hand-knitt d socks, belts, helmets, and mufflers for our soldiers and sailors, the whole being worked with materials provided by themselves. They are still working, and hope soon to have a second parcel ready.

YOUTHS IN TROUBLE.—On Wednesday at Leeds Police Court Arthur Booth, Samuel Jowett, and Thomas O'Brien, three youths residing in the York Road district of Leeds, were summoned for being on licensed premises during prohibited hours, and for giving a false name. Inspector Thompson said that on Saturday afternoon, the 24th inst., he called at the Station Hotel, Crossgates, and found the three defendants in the smoke-room along with others. They gave the names mentioned. Only one of the three lived outside the three miles' radius. A fine of 10s. and costs or seven days' imprisonment was imposed in each case.

WESLEY GUILD MUSICAL EVENING.—On Wednesday evening a concert was arranged in connection with the Wesley Guild by Mr J. Mitchell, and it was of a very enjoyable character. The following excellent programme was submitted:—Trio, "All-gro Agitato" (Op. 12), Messrs Brotherton (piano), Mitchell (violin), and Nowell ('cello); song, "In a child's small hand," Miss Bloxham; violin solo, "Mimette," Mr J. Mitchell; song, "Awake," Mr J. T. Johnson; trio, "Andante Con Moto Tranquillo," Messrs Brotherton, Mitch ll, and Nowell; song, "Love dreams," Mr J. T. Johnson; song, "Land of Hope and Glory," Miss Bloxham; violin solo, "Tarantell" (Op. 27), Mr J. Mitchell; duet, "Maying," Miss Bloxham and Mr Johnson; trio, "Reverie and Allegro," Messrs Brotherton, Mitchell, and Nowell. Mr Brotherton was an excellent accompanist. A collection was taken during the evening for the Poor Children's Treat at Snells Green.

LITERARY SOCIETY.—Crossgates Literary Society, of which Mr R. Hawksworth is again president and Mr E. Hamilton hon. secretary, commences its winter's work on Monday night, when Professor Moorman, of Leeds University, will lecture on "Yorkshire dialects and dialect speakers," upon which he is an authority. An excellent programme has been prepared for the session, and there should be a largely-increased membership. Mr R. MacKay (Whitkirk) will on November 9th lecture on "Scott's Journey to the Antarctic," and on November 23rd Reginald Priestley, F.G.S., of Christ's College, Cambridge, who was a member of Captain Scott's expedition; and "How Bowen, the priest, ravaged Ireland in the reign of Queen Mary," by Mr F. Haworth Earle, President of the Holl Literary Club. The lectures, it should be noticed, will be given in the Wesleyan Lecture Hall.—See leader.

GARFORTH

DISORDER.—William Kershaw, miner, of Garforth, who was summoned at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday for having been drunk and disorderly, was fined 10s. and costs. P.C. Hogg proved the case.

DRINK.—Thomas Kilbeth, miner, of Garforth, was summoned before the West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday for having been drunk and disorderly at Garforth on October 16th. P.C. Bevoir proved the case, and defendant was fined 5s. and costs.

WORK FOR THE WOMEN OF GARFORTH HAVE DONE.—In connection with the Garforth Branch of the Queen Mary Needlework Guild the women of Garforth, led by Mrs H. J. Denby, have done splendid work for our brave soldiers and sailors. All classes have rallied to the support of the committee, and the women have shown what can be done by co-operating in a great cause. A sum of £45 13s. 4d. was received, as follows:—Collected in boxes, £14 10s. 9d.; collected at public meeting, 6s. 8d.; Mrs Fawcett, £5; Mr T. B. Smith, £1 1s.; Mrs Tate, £1; Mrs Chadwick, £1; and small sums, £2 0s. 9d. A sum of £24 9s. 4d. was expended on material, so that there is a balance in hand of 4s. The material was cut up by four members of the committee—Mrs Simons, Miss Mills, Mrs Thornton, and Mrs Beved, and the whole of the work was done without any expense. No fewer than 427 articles were made, including 112 shirts, 180 pairs of socks, flannel vests, belts, etc. The articles have been forwarded to the Leeds centre.

B.W.T.A.—GARFORTH BRANCH.—The committee of this branch last week made arrangements with Miss Emblem (so well known by her connection with the work of Lady Carlisle in the cause of temperance) for a two days' mission. The effect was assiduously solicited, and on Wednesday evening a most interesting meeting was held in the Wesleyan Schoolroom, under the presidency of Mrs Hind-Carr, of Hallow. Miss Emblem was the principal speaker, and in a clear and impressive manner, urged upon the members the importance of the work, and from her encouraging and stimulating appeal very good results may be expected. Mrs Cliff Richardson sang several solos, to the delight of all present. On Thursday night a drawing-room meeting was held at White Lodge. Mrs Coulthwaite presided, and there was a large attendance. Miss Westerman gave two recitations, and Miss Emblem again rendered good service by her excellent speech, and her many hints as to the conducting of future meetings and the many ways of spreading the principles of temperance. The members of the Y. Branch, with a little help from some of the older members, have collected and begged a lot of clothes, washed and mended them, and sent them off to the Belgian Relief Fund. They are still working for that Fund.

E. G[illegible]ough, St. John's, Moor Allerton, and the Rev. A. L. Palmer, of St. John's, Roundhay. Wreaths were sent by the following:—Mr Matthew Duncalf, Misses Mawson, Mr T. A. Mawson and niece, Mr and Mrs E. Horner and family, Mr and Mrs Duncalf, Miss Eva Duncalf, Mr and Mrs J. W. Whitehead, Mr and Mrs C. Duncalf, Mr and Mrs Banks Ickawson, Mr and Mrs Scurrah, Miss E. Harrison, Dr. and Mrs Pollard, Miss Meade, Mr and Mrs R. Preston, Mr and Mrs Jones, Mr and Mrs Dodgson, Mr and Miss Matthews, Mr and Mrs Thompson, Mr and Mrs Worrall, Mr and Mrs Reay, Mr and Mrs Banks, Messrs Burrows and Turner, Mrs Bowers, Mr T. I. Preston, Mr and Mrs C. Mawson, Mrs Thompson, Oakwood Parish trade-people, Mrs Rawling and family, Mrs Barker and family, Mr and Mrs R. Wriggleworth, Mr and Mrs D. Motherwalk, Mr and Mrs T. Birdsall, Mr and Mrs J. Wharton, Miss N. Graham, Miss E. Colbourthorpe, employees—Tom, William, and Goss, Moor Allerton Werner's Social (overlooked by our members), with which Mrs Duncalf was closely connected.

OULTON

MIXED ALES.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday John William Mirfin, a labourer, of no fixed abode, was charged with having been drunk and disorderly at Oulton on Saturday. P.C. Coldwell proved the case, and Mirfin, who has been before the Court on 57 previous occasions, was sent to prison for one month.

CRICKETERS WITH THE COLOURS.—In his annual report at the meeting on Friday on the Oulton Cricket Club, Mr. R. Higgins, the secretary, paid a tribute to four members of the club who have joined the colours. The four are Mr Albert Northeon (9th Battalion Leeds Rifles), Mr P. Stockdale (7th Battalion West Riding Regiment), Mr J. E. Jackson (Royal Field Artillery), and Mr R. Whitworth (Army Service Corps). "Perhaps a word might be said about the disadvantages of cricket," Mr Higgins added. "Although none of the members of the club, to my knowledge, have actually seen any fighting yet, we wish them a safe return from all the perils to which they are exposed, and hope, and pray, a lasting peace soon be declared and the brotherhood of man more realised."

A CLERGYMAN AND FOOTBALLERS.—The Rev. E. H. Dicks, of Leeds (formerly of Oulton) writes:—I have only just seen the cartoon in this week's "Punch," in which Mr Punch addresses the professional Association football players. His rebuke is equal justice here addressed the Northern Union players and officials). "No doubt," he says, "you can make money in this field, but there's only one field to play where you can get honour." This honour is, however, the last thing the professional football player seems anxious to obtain. I wonder how many of them think of the bitter reproach felt for them in the minds of honourable mothers who have given their sons for the great cause? It was in a house the other day where one such mother lives. Her two sons—all she has—have offered their services to their country. As I was in the house there passed along some fine athletic professional football players, coming in to tea with the family, and the contrast struck me as cruel. I shall not soon forget the bitterness of the scorn with which this noble-hearted woman gave expression to her feelings as she commented on the conduct of these young men. That the claims of professional football should for a moment be deemed to weigh in the balance against the claims of the country seems to me to degrade the whole professional world of football and leave its stigma on the game itself. I wish the cartoon in "Punch" could be reproduced in all the picture papers; it might stir some dead consciences.

ROUNDHAY

OLD-AGE SCHOOL AT ROUNDHAY.—At a meeting of the Leeds Education Committee, held at the Education Offices, on Monday, Alderman W. H. Clarke in the chair, Mr G. H. Pearson moved a resolution that the Committee proceed an open-air school, to accommodate 100 children, on a site in Roundhay Park belonging to the Corporation. He said that there was a great need for such a school, and he was glad to know when the work would be commenced. The Chairman said if it was intended to proceed with the open-air school forthwith. As soon as a site had been arranged, the plans would be sent to the Board of Education, and they would be no delay as far as the committee was concerned.

SHADWELL

The Shadwell Industrial Schoolboys have sent a guinea to the Leeds Belgian Refugee Fund.

STOURTON

The committee and members of Stourton Liberal Club have given a guinea to the Belgian Relief Fund.

On Saturday afternoon Stourton United footballers defeated Thorpe Wesleyans by eight goals to nil.

P.S.A.—At the weekly P.S.A. service held at the Primitive Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon an interesting address by Mr Boyd, of the Hunslet Baptist Church, was listened to and enjoyed by a large number. Mr J. R. Collinson presided, and the organist was Mr Waterton.

SWILLINGTON

A MESSENGER.—On Tuesday at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions William Foulston, painter, of no fixed abode, was charged with begging at Swillington, and was sent to prison for two months.

There will be no contest for the vacancy in the representation of Swillington on Yeadon District Council, as only one candidate has been nominated, viz., Mr William Stephenson Blackburn, colliery manager, of Astley.

WHITKIRK

C.E.M.S.—On Monday evening a very successful meeting in connection with the Whitkirk branch of the C.E.M.S. was held at the Vicarage, and about 35 members and friends were present. Rear-Admiral Sir W. H. Allanson, of Manston, on "The Morals of the Nation." The subject, which is a very wide one, was treated in an able manner, and the discussion which followed was of a very interesting nature. The Vicar, who presided, opened the discussion with some very interesting matter, and it was taken up by the members, including Mr James Watson, Mr Percy Fields, Mr H. W. Parker, and several friends from other branches. A very profitable and enjoyable evening was spent.

A sum of £[illegible]10s., a moiety of collections at Monk Fryston Church, has been sent to Leeds Infirmary.

At Sherburn Petty Sessions yesterday the magistrates present were the Rev. B. Hemsworth (Chairman) and Mr Walter Crosland.

SOLDIER'S WEDDING.—At Selby Abbey on Monday afternoon Private G. Fisher, of the 5th K.O.Y.L.I., of Goole, son of the late Mr Thos. Fisher, of Goole, a well-known tradesman, was married to Miss Hilda Pickering, of Fairfax Avenue, Selby. The bridegroom is at present stationed at Gainsborough with his regiment, and was only allowed 24 hours' leave of absence in which to get married.

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS

BISHOP OF RIPON AND PRAYERS.

The fortnightly meeting of the Hunslet Board of Guardians was held at the Union Offices, Hunslet, on Wednesday afternoon—Mr T. Thomas (Chairman) presiding. Others present were Mr J. Gerdes (vice-chairman), Mrs E. A. Dickenson, Father T. Cody, Dr. E. Groves, Messrs J. Hattrick, W. Schofield, T. G. Conyers, J. R. Chappell, T. Bennett, W. A. Appleyard, D. W. Hargreaves, W. Verity, E. B. Pickersgill, H. J. Pulford, W. Lunn, W. Segal, J. W. Verity, and W. Hemingway, with the Clerk (Mr F. W. Mee).

CHILDREN'S HOMES.

At a meeting of the Children's Homes Committee a further letter was received from the Bishop of Ripon, respecting the prayers taught in the Rothwell Church Sunday School, stating that he is always ready to inquire into complaints such as have been made by the Guardians, but must hold himself at liberty to deal with them in what he judged to be the wisest way, and also to make such statements about matters of that kind as he feels to be necessary and at such time and occasion as he regards to be best; and pointing out that he has already done what he thought to be most conducive to a right settlement. It was resolved that the matter be brought on for next business.—The Clerk submitted quotations for cloth for girls' jackets, and it was resolved that the lowest of Messrs Edmondsons' Barebones, Ltd., at 3s. 3d. per yard, be accepted.

The minutes were passed.

HOUSE COMMITTEE.

At a meeting of the House Committee the matter reported that two deaths had occurred in the institution during the past fortnight. The Clerk submitted tenders for painting work required to be done, and it was resolved that the Board be recommended to accept the tender of Mr J. Buther of 28, Mill Street, Leeds, at £165. The offers of Mr Appleyard and Mrs Dickenson to provide concerts on November 21st and 26th respectively were accepted.

The minutes were passed.

VARIOUS.

The minutes of the Finance Committee, which were passed, showed that the treasurer had a balance in hand of £3,406 8s. 2d.

On the motion of Mr J. R. Chappell, seconded by Father T. Cody, it was resolved that the shoemaker at the Homes, John Williams, who is serving his country, be allowed a grant of £10 per annum.

Mr W. Schofield moved, and Mr T. Bennett seconded, that the Guardians visit asylums in which they had patients on Friday, November 13th. The resolution was passed, and cabbies to the respective institutions were appointed.

HALTON SCHOOL FOOTBALL TEAM'S SUCCESS.

On Saturday a match in the Leeds Schools Rugby League (Senior) was played between Halton C.S. and Bewerley Street (Leeds) at Halton, before an enthusiastic crowd of spectators. Halton looked well, and found touch. From the opening scrum, Wilson passed to Kenny, who put in a short kick, and Green taking the ball at his toes, dribbled finely through, and opened the home-sters' account. Hayes goaling. Afterwards Wilson secured from a scrum, and with the ball at his mates, Hays converting. The pace was rather warm, the visitors striving to maintain their unbeaten record, and they were on the verge of scoring when Hayes gained possession, and, after a wide length of the field and scored under the posts, also adding the major points. At the interval Halton led by 15 points to nil. After the interval Bewerley Street pulled up, passed round, and Wade dropping the ball at a critical moment, let in Clapham, who opened Bewerley's score with a good try. Following this Kenney picked up in the loose, and opened out play beautifully. He passed to Hayes, who after a short run gave a return pass, Kenny scoring a grand try, and Hayes goaling. Individual efforts by Hayes resulted in his scoring two fine tries. The visitors again became dangerous, but sound tackling by Kilbeth and Simpson enabled the homesters to keep their line intact. Burton, who played a sound forward game throughout, surprised the opposition with one of his characteristic dashes, and scored at the corner. Hayes kicked a fine goal. Afterwards Hallas snatched up the ball and scored for the Strollers. The Halton lads played well throughout the game, and left off by 5 goals, 7 tries (51 points) to 2 tries (6 points).

The Halton School team are making excellent progress. They have played and won four matches. The game against Bewerley Street was very creditable, for the latter are considered one of the best teams in the League, especially in the forward division. There is only one team in the League that Halton have not beaten, and that is Brooklyn National, who have not lost a League match for three or four seasons. Last season they were the winners of the Championship and Goldthorp Cup. The Halton lads are specially training this week, and have a quiet feeling of confidence in being the first to lower the colours of Brumby boys on Saturday (at Halton, the Kirkstall right at 10.45.

Offers of hospitality for 20 Belgian Refugees have been received from Thorner.

Offers of hospitality for 23 Belgian Refugees have been received from Barwick-in-Elmet.

Sergt. E. Adkin, of the 1st West Yorkshires, has written to his wife at Wetherby that he is quite well, but a prisoner in Germany.

Major M. F. McTaggart, of the 9th Lancers, who is reported wounded, is a grandson of Mr J. P. Lane, J.P., of Hallfield, Wetherby.

BELGIAN REFUGEES.—Two families of Belgian Refugees are now installed in two cottages at Hillam, and a mother, with three children, is housed at the Lodge, Hall, Monk Fryston Park. One of the men is a carpenter by trade, and the other a painter, and employment for both has been found by the Rev. B. Hemsworth, M.A.

THE VICAR.—It is understood that the arrangement for an exchange of livings between the Rev. W. M. C. Clarke, vicar of Monk Fryston, and the Rev. E. T. Hull, rector of Fromlode, Gloucester, has fallen through. The Rev. W. M. C. Clarke, in private letter to the Oulton monthly magazine, informed his parishioners that he was shortly to leave the parish, and it was expected that the new vicar would take up his duties on November 1st. For some reason, however, the latter has refused to remove from Fromlode. The Rev. W. M. C. Clarke finds the work of the parish very hard, hence his desire for a new and easier parish.

SOLDIER'S WEDDING.—At Selby Abbey on Monday afternoon Private G. Fisher, of the 5th K.O.Y.L.I., of Goole, son of the late Mr Thos. Fisher, of Goole, a well-known tradesman, was married to Miss Hilda Pickering, of Fairfax Avenue, Selby. The bridegroom is at present stationed at Gainsborough with his regiment, and was only allowed 24 hours' leave of absence in which to get married.

SAD STOURTON DROWNING CASE

VICTIM'S FATHER SERVING WITH THE COLOURS.

An inquest was held in the Wesleyan Schoolroom at Stourton on Tuesday afternoon, before Mr P. T. Maitland (Coroner), on the body of Clifford Grove (9), the son of a Stourton miner, who was drowned in the Aire and Calder Canal on Saturday afternoon in trying to recover a firework from the water. The little fellow left home with two companions during the morning, and went for a walk along the canal bank. He had a firework in his possession, and this he threw in the water. In subsequently trying to recover it he fell into the canal and was drowned. The other two boys spread the news of the accident, and although dragging operations were at once commenced, the body was not recovered until Sunday dinner time.

Evidence of identification was given by the mother, Hannah Grove, the wife of Stoddin Grove, a miner, of Queen Street, Stourton, who said the boy left home about half-past ten on Saturday morning. That was the last she saw of him. He did not return to dinner and it was not until shortly before 1.30 p.m. that she heard from one of his companions, who was with him at the time of the accident, that he was in the water. She ran down by the canal side, where people were searching for the missing lad. The body was not recovered until Sunday. She had not known him go and play by the canal before. She fully believed that it was an accident.

Walter Riley, a boy of seven, living in Wakefield Street, Stourton, related what took place. He met Grove down the canal by the side of the mortuary, which leads down to the canal. Another boy called Alfie Long suggested going by the side of the canal, and they went. The boy Grove had a "squib" into the water, and he then tried to get it out. His legs were in the water, and Riley was holding on to the railings when he slipped from his grasp. Witness then ran home.

Father Dillon of the deceased, who is serving with K.O.Y.L.I. stationed at Hull, said he returned home after receiving a telegram on Saturday night. On Sunday he continued to drag the canal and discovered the body about 1.30 p.m.

The Coroner remarked that it was very hard indeed, as the father was doing his duty with the Forces.

A verdict of "Accidental drowning" was returned.

WHITKIRK AND DISTRICT RIFLE CLUB.

The Whitkirk and District Rifle Club's weekly competition, held on Saturday evening, was a very popular one. The targets took the form of the head of Britannia, certain features of the prominent features being "bull's eyes." There was much humour during the evening, each "bull" being greeted with cheers and various remarks. The Cup was the most popular one since the club opened. The first prize was won by the club's hard-working and very popular secretary, Mr J. W. Price, and the second prize was carried away by Mr Morris, another hard worker for the club.

We understand that Mr Price has good cause to remember his success, as he had to pay the penalty for being late for roll call. A golfer who holes out in one has to pay. Such is the price of fame!

The club now possesses its full complement of rifles, the last two being received from the makers last week. These have been delayed owing to the great pressure of work at the gun factories.

We are asked to state that anyone wishing to view the range and the methods used will be made very welcome during the hours the club is open.

FATHER DILLON FOR SELBY.

The Rev. M. J. Dillon (Hunslet) has been appointed Roman Catholic priest at Selby, in succession to the late Canon Worthy. Father Dillon, who is an Irishman, has for many years been a member of Hunslet Board of Guardians, and he did good public work.

A MICKLEFIELD EMPLOYEE MISSING.

William Crummack, of 50, Pollard Street, Newtown, Leeds, who was employed by the Micklefield Coal Co., is missing. Crummack, who is a married man, went through the Boer war and was wounded.

NO CASES.—At Sherburn Petty Sessions yesterday there was a blank charge sheet. The only cases were fare cases, and the money had been paid before the meeting of the Court.

RATES.—At Sherburn Petty Sessions the following rates were allowed:—South Milford, poor rate, 1s. 11d. and 11½d.; lighting rate, 1½d. and 1½d., and special expenses rate, 8d.; Barkston, poor rate, 2s. 3d. and 1s. 11½d.; Church Fenton, 1s. 10d. and 11d., and Biggin, poor rate, 2s. 10d. and 1s. 5d.

THORNER OFFICER.—KILLED.—Lieut. E. C. Lodgard, who has been killed in action, was the 3rd son of Mr. Armitage Lodgard, of Manor House, Thorner, and brother of Captain R. S. Lodgard, who also reported to have been killed in the fighting at Cambrai, but who is now believed to be a wounded prisoner of war in Germany. Both brothers did their soldiering in the Yorkshire Princess of Wales' Own Yeomanry Regiment (Green Howards). Mr. Armitage Lodgard, of Manor House, Thorner, and brother of Captain R. S. Lodgard, who also reported to have been killed in the fighting at Cambrai, but who is now believed to be a wounded prisoner of war in Germany. Both brothers did their soldiering in the Yorkshire Princess of Wales' Own Yeomanry Regiment (Green Howards). Mr. Armitage Lodgard came from the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, to the 2nd Green Howards at York in May, 1913, and he got his second star a year ago on Tuesday. He was killed at Blackdown Camp and in the Channel Islands. He left Tuesday in August for Lyndhurst, in the New Forest, and moved thence to France two or three weeks ago.

MR E. M. LAWSON-SMITH'S SON KILLED.—Lieutenant John Lawson-Smith, who has been killed in action, was gazetted to the West Yorks. Regiment in September, 1913. He was 22 years of age, and the second son of Mr E. M. Lawson-Smith, of Longhirst, Morpeth, Northumberland, and of Colton, Tadcaster. His father is well-known in the West Riding, being a J.P. For many years he was a member of the Tadcaster District Council. He is a great traveller, and included in his journeys was one round the world. Mr Lawson-Smith is much respected, not only in the Tadcaster district, but all over the Riding and in Northumberland, where he has two estates, and much sympathy will be extended to him. The deceased's officer's mother, who was a daughter of the late General Sir Wm. Davies, K.C.S.I., died in 1906. An elder brother, Thomas E. Lawson-Smith, is serving as a lieutenant with the 13th Hussars.

FAMOUS HOUSE FOR
ENGAGEMENT RINGS
£1/1/ £3/3/ £5/5/ £10/10/ &
to £100 each.
SEE WINDOWS
Diamonds
BEST SELECTION IN THE COUNTY.
Dysons
50 STAMPS YEARS.
24-25-26
BRIGGATE,
LEEDS.
Watches
10/6 TO 50 GUINEAS.
THE ROUGHWEAR 15/-
THE UNIVERSITY 30/-
OLD WATCHES & JEWELLERY TAKEN IN EXCHANGE.
RELIABLE HOUSE FOR REPAIRS.

Russell & Russell, Ltd.
(Late A. C. WANSTALL),
Complete House Furnishers
and Piano Dealers,
201-3-5, North Street,
LEEDS.
ILLUSTRATED BOOKLET and Easy Payment Terms sent on receipt of a Postcard.

J. ROBINSON & SONS,
King Charles' Croft,
LEEDS.
TELEPHONE No. 1522.
Catalogues free on Application.

CULTIVATORS, PLOUGHS, HARROWS, CHAFF & TURNIP CUTTERS, &c.
By all the Best Makers at Lowest Cash Prices.

JOHN WATSON & Co.,
34, CALL LANE, LEEDS
See our Special Blue Lounge Suit
Made to Measure in Fine Quality Serge,
Easy Terms £2 2s. Cash 38/6
Well Worth 50/-
OUR SCARBORO' COSTUMES
Are made to Measure in all Wool Navy Coating Serge. Coat Lined Silk. Satin Collar, Lined Skirt.
Cash 30/- Easy Terms 33/6
Patterns and Particulars on Application.

JOHN TEALE,
Advertising Contractor & Billposter,
WHITE HOUSE, GARFORTH.
Bills posted and Handbills distributed on the shortest notice throughout the Barkston Ash Division on most reasonable terms.

EDMUND BOGG,
3, Woodhouse Lane, Leeds,
is the best shop for
PICTURE FRAMING, RE-GILDING, AND ARTISTS' MATERIALS.
Large Stock of Engravings & Etchings on Sale.

YOUR WEDDING
Should BE WIDE whether it is MOTOR or CARRIAGES. We are the most talked of and the most thought of in the City. Ask about us; get our charges. DUCKTON, Chapel Lane (top of Coatbridge Street). Tels. 1877 Central.
"WE NEVER SLEEP."

BARKSTON ASH CRICKET COMPETITION.

ANNUAL MEETING—DECREASE IN REVENUE.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR NEXT SEASON.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS—DRAW FOR LANE FOX CUP.

On Tuesday evening a meeting of the Executive of the Barkston Ash Cricket Competition was held at the Hotel Metropole, Leeds—Mr W. B. Pindar (President in the chair.

It was reported that seventeen clubs had joined the Senior League for next season as compared with eighteen last year. The clubs are:—Bilkwick, Castard, Church Fenton, Church Fenton Seacamore, Crossgates, Crossgates Wes., Garforth, Gorforth Wes., Great Preston, Halton, Halton Wes., Micklefield, Scairott, Shadwell, South Milford, Tadcaster, and Whitkirk. Colingham and Sexton have dropped out, and Garforth Wes. have come in.

Mr E. D. Pawson, the hon. sec., stated that Collingham would have liked to have joined the League again, but most of their players had gone to the Army.

A discussion ensued as to how many divisions the League should be played in, and the President asked if it was possible for any club to play 40 matches, in addition to four possible cup ties.

Mr Flowith (Scaerofl): Yes.

Mr Herbert (Tadcaster) said it could be managed, but it would knock all "friendlies" out.

Mr Flowith: Little interest is taken in ordinary matches.

Mr Ward (Great Preston) said that the League matches kept the teams better together.

Mr Herbert said there was more interest in League matches, but could clubs stand such a heavy programme as was suggested.

Mr Umpleby (Crossgates Wes.) said that the pavilion patronage would meet the extra expense.

Mr Herbert said that some clubs got very little patronage.

Mr Flowith said they got less if they played friendly matches.

Mr White (Crossgates) said that if things went on as they were going they would not be able to raise two teams. Already nine of their men had gone.

Mr Herbert said that Tadcaster had lost seven.

Mr Firn (Cawood) said that it would be better to play the League in three divisions.

Mr Flowith said he never heard anyone say three divisions were satisfactory.

The President: I never heard any grumbling.

Mr Flowith: I did.

The President: I never heard any, except from Scaerolt.

Mr Flowith: Who grumbled on behalf of Scaerolt?

The President: Mr Flowith. (Laughter).

Mr Flowith: I never grumbled once about it; in fact, I did not criticise it, but had I been there when it was decided I should have opposed it.

Mr Herbert said he thought it would be a mistake to have two divisions owing to the unfortunate position clubs would be placed in next season.

Mr Flowith proposed that the League be played in two divisions.

Mr Umpleby seconded.

Mr Firn proposed that it be played in three divisions.

Mr Herbert, who seconded, said he was certain if they played in two divisions some of the clubs would not be able to fulfil their engagements.

On a division, the proposal to play the League in two divisions was carried by a large majority.

The divisions were arranged as follows:—Division 1—Cawood, Church Fenton, Church Fenton Seymonre, Micklefield, South Milford, Tadcaster, Garforth Wes., and Crossgates Wes. Division 2—Crossgates, Scaerolt, Barwick, Garforth, Halton, Halton Wes., Whitkirk, Shadwell, and Great Preston.

Seventeen teams had joined the Junior League against twenty last season, Aberford, Swillington and Colton, and Barwick A having dropped out. The divisions were arranged as follows:—Division 1—Barkston, Bramham, Kirk Deighton, Micklefield A, Sherburn W. R., South Milford A, Ulleskelf, and Tadcaster A. Division 2—Crossgates, Crossgates Wes. A, Garforth A, Garforth Wes. A, Great Preston A, Halton A, Halton Wes. A, Scaerolt A, and Whitkirk A.

The following 17 clubs joined the Lane Fox Cup Competition against 19 last year:—Boston Spa, Church Fenton, Crossgates, Crossgates Wes., Garforth, Garforth Wes., Great Preston, Halton, Halton Wes., Micklefield, Rossington, Scaerolt, Shadwell, South Milford, Tadcaster, and Whitkirk. The draw was made as follows:—

Preliminary Round.

Shadwell v. Barwick.

First Round.

A Great Preston v. Halton Wes.
B Church Fenton v. Crossgates Wes.
C Tadcaster v. South Milford.
D Crossgates v. Micklefield.
E Whitkirk v. Boston Spa.
F Garforth Wes. v. Scaerolt.
G Garforth v. Roundhay.
H Shadwell or Barwick v. Halton.

Second Round.

I Garforth or Roundhay v. Garforth Wes. or Scaerolt.
J Whitkirk or Boston Spa v. Great Preston or Halton Wes.
K Tadcaster or South Milford v. Church Fenton or Crossgates Wes.
L Crossgates or Micklefield v. Shadwell or Barwick or Halton.

Semi-Finals.

I plays J. K plays L.

The Hon. Sec. read the bowling and batting averages for the Leagues as follows:—

Senior League—Batting.

Div.	Inns.	Out.	Runs.	Aver.
1. G. Freer (Tadcaster)	5	3	110	55.00
2. G. Read (Garforth)	5	3	60	30.50
3. J. Barnell (Crossgates)	5	4	108	33.00

Bowling to 4 198

Div.	Wkts.	Runs.	Aver.
1. E. Atkinson (South Milford)	34	104	3.03
2. T. Bulliance (Garforth)	48	188	3.9
3. L. Yeates (Crossgates)	34	154	4.53

Junior League—Batting.

Div.	Inns.	Out.	Runs.	Aver.
1. J. Bissitt (South Milford)	7	1	132	22.00
2. J. Linley (Seacroft)	12	4	234	29.25
3. J. F. Southwick (Swillington and Colton)	9	4	108	49.50

Bowling.

Div.	Wkts.	Runs.	Aver.
1. J. Potter (Ulleskelf)	27	67	2.48
2. W. Hancock (Garforth)	41	171	4.17
3. H. Ward (Garforth Wes.)	36	166	4.61

The annual meeting of the Competition subsequently took place—Mr Pindar presiding.

The financial statement, showing a deficit of over £4, was submitted, and it was stated that a grant of £12 10s. had been made to the National Relief Fund. Mr Herbert proposed its adoption, and Mr Popplewell (Halton Wes.) seconded.

The President said the revenue was very much less than it was in previous years, and it was probably owing to the exceptional circumstances during the period when the final matches were played.

Seven matches for the benefit of the Competition realized only £17 15s., and in some previous years more than that had been taken at a single match. The medals and plaques amounted far more than half of the total expenditure, over £23 having been expended in that way, and while he hoped the last season would be a record one, it was quite clear they would have to consider the expenditure with a view to cutting down some of these heavy items. They must base their expenditure on their income. They started the year with a balance of 15s. 10d. in hand, so that they had lost about £4 10s. on the season. They could not do that many times.

Mr Tom Toft (Seacroft): Don't you think you could give better medals? (Laughter).

The President said they should be pleased to do so if they were able, but it looked as if they would have to consider the expenditure with a view to cutting down some of these heavy items. They must base their expenditure on their income. They started the year with a balance of 15s. 10d. in hand, so that they had lost about £4 10s. on the season. They could not do that many times.

Mr Tom Toft (Seacroft): Don't you think you could give better medals? (Laughter).

The President said they should be pleased to do so if they were able, but it looked as if they would have to consider the expenditure with a view to cutting down some of these heavy items. They must base their expenditure on their income. They started the year with a balance of 15s. 10d. in hand, so that they had lost about £4 10s. on the season. They could not do that many times.

Mr Holgreaves (Church Fenton) said the most disappointing part of the financial statement was the receipts from matches, and he asked if the finals were played at the places where the best "gates" could be got.

The President said the Committee were anxious to select the grounds where the best "gates" could be got, but the difficulty was that they might get a good "gate" at a place one year and a poor "gate" at the same place next year.

Mr Flowith said the first consideration of the Committee when arranging the finals was always the fairness of competition, and it was a satisfaction to know that there had been a marked improvement in the standard of play throughout the Division since the League was formed. The League had encouraged play of the best type, and it was very rarely that trouble occurred between clubs. The games were played in the proper spirit from one end of the Division to the other. If a club felt that they had been penalised by some error which they really did not think they committed they had accepted the decision in a good sporting spirit, and no appeal was given with the intention of dealing fairly and squarely with them and for no other purpose. He believed the clubs carried out the same rule in playing the game, and so long as that was done they might be sure the League would continue to prosper and do good work. (Applause).

Mr Toft proposed the re-election of the Hon. Sec. as hon. sec., and Mr George Umpleby (Crossgates) seconded.

Mr Firn proposed that it be played in three divisions.

Mr Herbert, who seconded, said he was certain if they played in two divisions some of the clubs would not be able to fulfil their engagements.

On a division, the proposal to play the League in two divisions was carried by a large majority.

The divisions were arranged as follows:—Division 1—Cawood, Church Fenton, Church Fenton Seymonre, Micklefield, South Milford, Tadcaster, Garforth Wes., and Crossgates Wes. Division 2—Crossgates, Scaerolt, Barwick, Garforth, Halton, Halton Wes., Whitkirk, Shadwell, and Great Preston.

Seventeen teams had joined the Junior League against twenty last season, Aberford, Swillington and Colton, and Barwick A having dropped out. The divisions were arranged as follows:—Division 1—Barkston, Bramham, Kirk Deighton, Micklefield A, Sherburn W. R., South Milford A, Ulleskelf, and Tadcaster A. Division 2—Crossgates, Crossgates Wes. A, Garforth A, Garforth Wes. A, Great Preston A, Halton A, Halton Wes. A, Scaerolt A, and Whitkirk A.

The following 17 clubs joined the Lane Fox Cup Competition against 19 last year:—Boston Spa, Church Fenton, Crossgates, Crossgates Wes., Garforth, Garforth Wes., Great Preston, Halton, Halton Wes., Micklefield, Rossington, Scaerolt, Shadwell, South Milford, Tadcaster, and Whitkirk. The draw was made as follows:—

Preliminary Round.

Shadwell v. Barwick.

First Round.

A Great Preston v. Halton Wes.
B Church Fenton v. Crossgates Wes.
C Tadcaster v. South Milford.
D Crossgates v. Micklefield.
E Whitkirk v. Boston Spa.
F Garforth Wes. v. Scaerolt.
G Garforth v. Roundhay.
H Shadwell or Barwick v. Halton.

Second Round.

I Garforth or Roundhay v. Garforth Wes. or Scaerolt.
J Whitkirk or Boston Spa v. Great Preston or Halton Wes.
K Tadcaster or South Milford v. Church Fenton or Crossgates Wes.
L Crossgates or Micklefield v. Shadwell or Barwick or Halton.

Semi-Finals.

I plays J. K plays L.

The Hon. Sec. read the bowling and batting averages for the Leagues as follows:—

Senior League—Batting.

Div.	Inns.	Out.	Runs.	Aver.
1. G. Freer (Tadcaster)	5	3	110	55.00
2. G. Read (Garforth)	5	3	60	30.50
3. J. Barnell (Crossgates)	5	4	108	33.00

Bowling to 4 198

Div.	Wkts.	Runs.	Aver.
1. E. Atkinson (South Milford)	34	104	3.03
2. T. Bulliance (Garforth)	48	188	3.9
3. L. Yeates (Crossgates)	34	154	4.53

Junior League—Batting.

Div.	Inns.	Out.	Runs.	Aver.
1. J. Bissitt (South Milford)	7	1	132	22.00
2. J. Linley (Seacroft)	12	4	234	29.25
3. J. F. Southwick (Swillington and Colton)	9	4	108	49.50

Bowling.

Div.	Wkts.	Runs.	Aver.
1. J. Potter (Ulleskelf)	27	67	2.48
2. W. Hancock (Garforth)	41	171	4.17
3. H. Ward (Garforth Wes.)	36	166	4.61

The annual meeting of the Competition subsequently took place—Mr Pindar presiding.

LORD HAREWOOD AND UNSATISFACTORY RECRUITING.

INDIVIDUAL EFFORT MORE EFFECTIVE THAN MEETINGS.

The Earl of Harewood, speaking at a meeting of the West Riding Territorial Association at Leeds on Monday, said it was not their business to inquire into the disposition of the troops furnished by the West Riding, but to see to their mobilisation and equipment, which had gone on very smoothly. He had it on professional authority that no division went out better equipped and provided for than the division sent out by the West Riding. Territorial recruiting had not been quite entirely satisfactory, and he thought steps ought to be taken for every member of the association to make it his business to promote recruiting, and to induce his friends to do so. It would be a worthy object. The Territorial Forces had done very well, but the total number of recruits obtained for all branches of the service only amounted to a little more than 1 per cent. of a population of three millions. He could not think that was quite satisfactory for a great district like the West Riding. He was quite ready to make every allowance for slow-moving districts, which began well, but had not done so well lately, because there was no unemployment there. On the contrary, they might say there had been many more openings for employment. It would be just as well if people's attention was called to the fact that though it was true that there was a boom now, there would not be a boom much longer if they neglected their efforts to place forces in the field commensurate with the efforts our Allies were making. That could not be done if recruiting was slow, and it behoved every man capable of bearing arms and of the proper age to enlist now. It would be no use if it came to an invasion, which was evidently intended by the enemy—on the grazing fields. They must send men, and be trained. Moreover, it was extremely essential that they should be able to send constant drafts of troops over to France so that we might keep up the French. There had been a letter published in the Press from a Frenchman which stated the situation clearly, pointing out that it was useless for the Allies to fight and defeat the Germans if we did not exert ourselves to put sufficient men in the field now we were running the risk of being beaten. He thought more could be done by individual effort than by organised meetings, because at these meetings somebody delivered a speech which was received with cheers, and had an excellent effect for a few days, after which recruiting fell away again. To be effective it must be constantly kept up.

A BRAVE THORPARCH OFFICER.

"TELL THIS TO YOUR FRIENDS."

Lieut. A. L. P. Griffith, son of the Vicar of Thorparch, Boston Spa, who was mentioned in despatches, writing to a Harrogate friend, says:

"I have lost a good many pals, and some, one has got to answer for that before I come home.

I get frantic with this rotten silly filth, would keeping me here all this time, when I ought to have been back at the front long ago. The spirit, not to say the pluck, calls a bullet around; went in by the wrist, turned on the bone, and came out long-ways on. It ought to have healed long ago, but the rotter will go on festering, and I have to grow the elbow.

"Twenty sacks of letters for us were captured, which annoyed us more than anything.

"I must get back before the end, or from the Messrs. or Lloyd George I shall get my head shaved now with another to keep it company.

"The last three weeks I never had my clothes off, and my boots only twice in that time, just to change my socks. I expected to be crawling when I did change, but luckily wasn't. Tell this to your friends who grouse about food and beds."

DRAW FOR ROTHWELL CHARITY FOOTBALL CUP.

The draw for the first round of the Rothwell Charity Cup competition is as follows, on Mr Scott St. John's v. Methley Mill Moor.
Rothwell Old Boys v. Allerton White Star.
Bowers Allerton v. Pontefract.
Methley Perseverance v. Methley Athletic.
Rothwell Haigh U. v. Great Preston W.R.
Byes—Rothwell White Rose, Clarence Iron Works, Methley Perseverance, Garforth White Rose, Aberford, and East Ardsley. To be played on the ground of the first-named clubs on or before November 14th.

TUBERCULOUS GLANDS CURED.

19, Eloe Mount,
Hyde Park,
Leeds, 30th August, 1913.

Professor Crosswaite.

Dear Sir,—

I thought it would interest you to know of the REMARKABLE SUCCESS THAT YOUR TREATMENT HAD UPON MY YOUNGEST DAUGHTER, who last year was suffering from TUBERCULOUS GLANDS.

She was under the care of a doctor, to consult a surgeon, but being opposed to the knife I emphatically declined to have my child tortured and perhaps disfigured for life.

You remember me, after our consultation together, that it was possible to remove the substance without the aid of an operation. You were a true prophet.

To-day that little is left of it is gradually passing away, and before long it will entirely disappear.

I cannot adequately find words to express all I feel, but I assure you, sir, you have won our EVERLASTING GRATITUDE, and if at any time the accuracy of my statement should be disputed, I shall be willing to bring my child to you, or consulting rooms and thus give ocular demonstrations of the wonderful cure you have accomplished.

Trusting you may be spared for many years to come to carry on your splendid work.

Believe me, dear sir,

Gratefully yours,

H. MORRINGTON SMITH.

SKIN SPECIALIST & MEDICAL HERBALIST
PROF. CROSSWAITE
84, KIRKSTALL ROAD
MODERATE CHARGES Street Free

10 REWARD.—This Reward will be paid by Mr. J. Crosswaite to the first person giving information leading to the conviction of a certain unscrupulous person at present calling upon householders in his name, and offering for sale Recipes, Medicines, Pills, Ointments, etc., falsely representing the same to have been prepared by Mr Crosswaite.

Information may be lodged at the nearest Police Station or Detective Office, Town Hall, Leeds, or Mr. J. Crosswaite, 84, Kirkstall Road, Leeds.

THE WEEK'S MARKETS.

CORN.

SELBY, Monday.—Wheat prices were slightly better, but a quiet trade for barley. A medium supply of grain. Wheat 30s 9d/40s, malting barley 30s to 32s, medium quality 28s to 29s, oats 23s to 25s, seed 43s to 48s per qr.

PROVISIONS.

SELBY, Monday.—Eggs 9 for 1s; butter 1s 3d to 1s 4d per lb; chickens 3s to 4s 6d, ducks 2s 6d to 3s per couple.

POTATOES.

SELBY, Monday.—Prices increased 2s 6d per ton, with a better demand. Sand. Up-to-Dates 42s 6d to 45s, Majestics 45s to 47s 6d, Arran Comers 45s to 52s 6d, warp King Edwards 52s 6d to 55s 6d per ton; retail, 2s 6d, per hamper.

CATTLE.

SELBY, Monday.—Messrs. Richardson and Son disposed of 63 beasts, 62 sheep, and 75 pigs. The usual attendance of buyers. A very short supply of cattle, which had the effect of causing a slow trade for rougher sorts. A good trade for sheep and pigs, late rates being well maintained. Prices:—Fat bullocks top price to £22 10s, fat heifers to £20, fat cows to £16 15s, store cattle to £15, cows in calf to £23 7s 6d, cows in milk to £21 7s 6d, sheep to £4 5s, pork pigs to £6 2s 6d, and small store pigs to £1 15s per head.

DONCASTER, Monday.—At the Thumbinson and Son Isle Beet Sale a good show of well-finished beasts and sheep. The attendance of butchers and dealers was well up to the average, and a first trade was maintained throughout. Best sale beast quality beasts making from 9s 9s 6d per stone; secondary quality from 8s 9d to 9s 3d per stone; best sale sheep, best quality making 9d to 10d. per lb. Pork and bacon pigs from 8s to 8s 6d per stone; strong stores good to sell, but weaklings dull. Calving cows met a good demand. Bullocks made to £30 10s, sheep to 78s, and a ready calven cow at £31. The numbers were:—Beasts, 63; sheep and calves, 112 sheep, and 145 pigs. Five splendid bullocks from Mr E. Brooksbank, Bedlington Manor, made £30 10s, £30 2s 6d, £30, £25 17s 6d, and £24 15s; six grand finished bullocks from Mr E. Jackson, Catterton, made £25 15s 6d, £24 19s, £24 17s 6d, £22 5s, and £21; Mr C. Gyson, Grimston Grange, sent nine choice finished bullocks, making £27 2s 6d, £24 2s 6d, £24 7s 6d, £10 10s, £20 10s, and £23 15s; Mr J. Westby, Healaugh, had three ripe bullocks, which made £26 15s, £24, and £23 15s; nine ripe bullocks, Kirkby Wharfe, sent five good bullocks, making £25 2s 6d, £23 7s 6d, £22 17s 6d £22 15s, and £20 2s 6d; four ripe finished bullocks from Messrs W. Dunn and Son, Ouston, made £22 17s 6d, £22 10s, £19 12s 6d, and £19; Mr A. Dalwell, Wighill 12s 6d, and £19; Mr A. Dalwell, Wighill 12s 6d, and £19; Mr A. Dalwell, Wighill

OUR GARDENS.

Spec ally Written for this Journal

— BY —

ALBERT CLARKE.

THE FLOWER GARDEN.

The present is a busy time in the flower garden, and the work should be pushed forward with all possible speed before the autumn rains overtake us. The herbaceous border may require some attention, and such plants as the delphiniums, pyrethrums, chrononiums, and others that die down early may be divided and replanted. Shady places may be planted with aconitums, doronicums, ophelias, the pretty and British ferns. In the case of pyrethrums, replanting should be done at once, or left until mid March. Any that are disturbed during the winter months will probably die off before spring. The old custom of offering herbaceous perennials to remain undisturbed for many years is now known to be a bad one. Replanting should be practised at least every three years, and a mulching of long manure should be given as a protection against frost. Where large clumps are divided for replanting the outside portions should be retained in preference to the centre. Division without injury may be effected by pressing two digging forks into the clumps back to back, and forcing them apart.

LAWNS.

Lawn mowing cannot be described as a pleasant task, especially where a lot of it has to be done, and it is to be hoped that the time for pleasantness of the work often causes it to be discontinued too early in the autumn. It should be continued as long as the grass remains active. The finest grass should be kept quite as possible during the autumn, and neglect in sweeping and mowing the lawns will create an untidy appearance very quickly. A light birch broom may be used for sweeping purposes. It will distribute worm casts and remove leaves without injuring the grass.

GARDEN REFUSE.

All vegetable matter from the flower and vegetable garden should be stacked together for future use. The substitution of more for horse traffic is likely to lead to a scarcity of original manure, and although chemical manures may be largely used as a substitute they do not provide the humus necessary to the successful cultivation of plant life. Decayed vegetable matter is an excellent fertiliser, and if its true value was more generally recognised, very little of it would find its way to the rubbish heap. All kinds of spent plants, fallen leaves, and even the lawn mowings may be brought into use. They should be stacked deeply in an out of the way corner, and should be turned and restacked a few times to hasten decomposition. A light sprinkling of superphosphate of lime may be given at intervals whilst the work of restacking is in progress. After several turnings the heap may be covered with soil, and when thoroughly decomposition has taken place, it will be found equal to the best animal manure. In town gardens, where animal manure is usually very difficult to obtain, special efforts should be made to preserve all garden refuse of this kind. Old potting soil, flue sweepings, and fire ashes may also be added. On heavy soils, the addition of the three latter is exceptionally beneficial.

Continue to plant flower beds as the summer occupants exhaust themselves. Pretty effects may be obtained by carpeting the beds with dwarf-growing subjects and filling in with suitable coloured bulbs. A neat bed may be obtained by planting forget-me-nots and Pheasant Eye Narcissus together, or Arabis and a pretty variety of hyacinth or tulip also make a pleasing combination. Duchess de Parma tulip is a splendid bedding subject. Perhaps the best companion plant for it is the double white arabis. A large bed filled with this combination gives a very striking effect. The importance of firm planting cannot be exaggerated, and we have no hesitation in saying that most failures can be traced to neglect of this one detail.

VEGETABLE GARDEN.

Cabbages may still be planted. Young seedlings about five inches long are better than large plants, and it is advisable to plant them in V-shaped drills. Plant firmly and give a thorough watering if the ground is dry.

Thin turnips before they get crowded, and give a dusting of soot about once a fortnight.

Free use of the hoe is very beneficial to the crops and will prevent weeds from getting a foothold.

Autumn cauliflowers may be protected from rain and dirt by having a few leaves broken over them. Fully developed flowers will keep fresh if the plants are pulled up and hung in a cool shed.

PREPARATIONS FOR FORCING.

Rhubarb is in demand as soon as the earliest supplies reach the markets. The roots should be lifted as soon as this year's growth dies down, and they should be stored in an open shed, or some similar position where they can receive full benefit of the air, without getting wet. A sharp frost is the best preparation for forcing, but at this early date a thorough drying has to be made to serve the same purpose, that is, to give the sap a decided check. Dawe's Champion is perhaps the best early forcing variety. Where the roots are thoroughly dry, plant them in a dark place, in a temperature of about 60 degrees, and give a thorough watering.

UNDER GLASS.

Many amateurs have now taken up the cultivation of orchids, and such subjects as Cattleya Crispata, Odontiodas, and Odontoglossums in variety, and Lodia Amoena are almost as generally grown as fuchsias and geraniums. The chief difficulty in the successful cultivation of orchids is the resting period. Beginners are often at a loss to find the correct time and duration of the resting season, and until this is discovered the measure of success is comparatively small. Cattleya Crispata has just about completed its growth for this year, and the supply of water must be considerably reduced. Moisture should be withheld from the pseudo-bulbs when signs of shrivelling appear. No more will be needed until shrivelling is again noticed. This treatment must be continued until the flowering stage is reached. Then a little more sending up the flower spikes, and these take a lot out of the pseudo-bulbs. To counteract this copious supplies of water must be given, and once a week a little liquid manure may also be given. This variety is usually suspended from the roof, and as the flower spikes usually attain a great length it is often necessary to let them down to prevent them coming in contact with the moisture-covered glass.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS.

Newly-planted chrysanthemums must be watered carefully or they may get weakly-legged. They do not require as much water as they did outdoors, but when they get small amount that new quarters more water will be required. Feeding should be discontinued when the blooms are about half developed. If mildew makes its appearance, dust flowers with sulphur, as the affected parts at once or it will spread rapidly. Insect pests must be kept in check by frequent fumigations. These should be applied in calm weather, two nights' consecutive operation or serious difficulties will arise.

CARNATIONS.

For carnations should now be give a position where a little rain can be given if necessary. They do best under cool treatment, but during dull, damp weather, and on frosty nights, a little fire heat is beneficial to them. A moderate amount of light and a free circulation of air is essential. Plants of the perpetual section intended for winter flowering should be fed with weak doses of liquid manure about once a week.

CHURCH FENTON MEN WITH THE COLOURS.

ROUSING MEETING.—A DOZEN RECRUITS.

Under the auspices of the Barkston Ash Conservative and Liberal Associations a meeting was held in the schoolroom at Church Fenton on Friday night, and it was of the most enthusiastic character.

Mr Martin Harvey, of Peckfield Lodge, was to have presided, but he was very much regretting that he could not be present, and Mr Woodhead, of Clifford, who has joined the Army, very ably took his place. Mr E. H. Foster, J.P., C.C., had been announced as one of the speakers, but he, too, was disappointed in not finding himself able to attend.

Excellent speeches and urgent appeals were made by Dr. Ambrose Pope (who for a month was a prisoner of war in Germany), and Mr E. O. Simpson, Heathwood Castle, a gentleman well-known in the Division, and they roused the enthusiasm of the meeting and had good results, as is proved by the results of their efforts, for on the Chairman asking all eligible men to volunteer no fewer than twelve gallant young fellows stepped forward. Their names are as follows:—Joseph Jackson, Harold Jackson, Edward Britton, Herbert Sykes, Tom Lamb, William Whincup, Tom Wrightson, Malcolm Wendels, Herbert Townend, Michael Hemsedoci, Joseph Le—, and Joseph Greenwood, all resident in Church Fenton.

Each name was greeted with hearty cheers on being announced to the meeting, and each man in turn received an encouraging handshake from Mr Simpson.

The usual vote of thanks to the speakers and Chairman, proposed by Mr W. B. Gray, seconded by Mr R. Hall, and supported in a spirited speech by the Vicar, was carried with enthusiasm, and the singing of the National Anthem closed the meeting.

In addition to the gallant young fellows whose names have already been mentioned, the following Church Fenton men are serving their King and country:—Captain W. Claughton (West Riding Regiment), Archie Claughton (Royal Army Flying Corps), Quartermaster-Sergeant Jos. Holmes (Royal Field Artillery), Sergeant Wm. Wensley (3rd Dragoon Guards), Sergeant Arthur Best (West Yorks. Regiment), Lance-Corporal Sloan (late 3rd Dragoon Guards), Trooper Walter Wensley (10th Hussars), Charles Hy. Nicholson (Royal Horse Artillery), Driver Arthur Darbyshire (Ammunition Column), Privates Bertram Fairclough (Yorkshire Hussars), Privates John Fawcett, Willrid Fawcett, Clarence Cawood, Ernest Holt, Fred Eden, and William Andrews (West Yorks. Regiment), and Tom Bricknell (Royal Navy).

No fewer than seventeen of the twenty-nine men mentioned are old scholars of Mr Hodgreaves, the master of the Parish School, and it is understood that there are others intending to come forward at an early date.

A ROUNDHAY SOLDIER'S LETTER

A FUNERAL AT A FARMHOUSE.

While resting in the trenches Private J. T. Less, of the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, wrote to his brother, Mr Alex Less, of Kenton Place, Roundhay. He opened with an expression of thanks for a parcel of good things that had reached him, and continued:—"I have had my baptism of fire, and I can tell you it is time to put on prayers when we shall be nothing, because we are holding our own and feeling confident that before long we shall be going forward. I am going to stick to my self and my comrades. The Germans are worse than savages. The homes that we see broken up and the number of women and children trekking across the country for safety is really more than we as us to tears.

Women in England ought to dance with joy just fancy, a woman with eight children trampling the country with very little clothing to protect them. A few days ago we were acting as reserves under cover of a farmhouse, in which a child had died from shock. Two boys not twelve years old brought out the body on two pokers and followed behind by the women as they walked straight across the battlefield. I don't want to see such sights again. Another little girl by inside the farmhouse who was not expected to survive. Bullets are too good for the Germans!"

Private Less continued his letter on October 20th. "My battalion got severely engaged on Sunday," he wrote. "You talk about lighting! Bullets and big shells from 6 o'clock in the morning until the early hours of the next day. I felt sorry for the wounded. I think we lost 60 all told. One of the officers—poor chap—was shot in the head. I was shielded and gained ground, entrenching ourselves and making the enemy's position very serious. I expect to hear the good news very shortly of the Germans being driven back. We have been through all this, and—thank God—I am unscratched. You should see the narrow escapes some of us had! One man can show three cartridges which have hit him bit by bullets. They will be grand curios!"

EVERY WOMAN
Should send two stamps for our 32 page Illustrated Book, containing Valuable Information how all Irregularities and Suppressions may be entirely avoided or removed by simple means. Recommended by eminent Physicians, as the only Safe, Sure, and Genuine Remedy. Never Fails. Thousands of Testimonials. Established 1862.
Mr PAUL BLANCHARD,
Claremont House, Dalston Lane, London.

RECRUITING MEETINGS AT SWILLINGTON.

MR E. H. FOSTER, J.P., GIVES HIS SERVICES TO THE WAR OFFICE.

DR POPE ON GERMANY AND THE GERMANS.

PRUSSIANS AND RUSSIAN SPIES AND ENGLISH BLOOD.

HOW BRITISH "DEFEATS" WERE RECEIVED.

Two recruiting meetings were held at Swillington on Monday night, under the auspices of the Barkston Ash Conservative and Liberal Associations. The first meeting was held in the Swillington Common Reading Room, and was presided over by Mr E. J. Dewhirst, C.C.

The Chairman, in the course of a short speech, said that the Barkston Ash Conservative Association, with its various members, was doing nobly. Out of this number 25 men had volunteered, and had joined the Leeds Pals' Army reserve unit. From Castleford district alone, 1,200 had volunteered, the most of them being Territorials who had been called up. It was not to be declared, and Leeds proud to record its full on the day of its mobilisation. Disgraceful things had taken place which would never be raised from the pages of history. Belgium, by her sense of honour and duty, had fought for right and liberty. The flame of patriotism burned high. Our young manhood was thronging off football fields for khaki, and the call was to be met by a higher standard in life. No stone would have to be left unturned to upset the tyrant of militarism, and that the Allies would be triumphant.

Mr Dewhirst also read a message from Mr E. H. Foster, J.P., expressing regret that he could not be present, and stating that he had been invited to assist in the work at the War Office, and he thought it his duty to accept. The War Office had not departed from the high standard already taken up the work. He offered his services in any capacity to the War Office. He was disposed and had been from the first to be a loyal representative at the central command.

The meeting was also addressed by Dr Ambrose Pope, Bradford, a professor of theology, who was a prisoner for two months in Germany.

At the close of the meeting four recruits came forward.

A second recruiting meeting held in the Parochial School, Swillington, there was also a good attendance. The Rector (Rev. John Briggs) presided, and said that the handbills which had announced the meeting said "Lord Kitchener wants you." He could give them a third, and say, "Your King wants you," and he would go even further and say, "Your country needs you, and your country needs you now." Let them realise the dangers of an enemy, but against what the enemy could do. If they were successful in battle they were crippled. They were successful it would mean starvation. They had, therefore, to stand up and fight for their lives. They didn't know that they were terribly threatened.

Dr Ambrose Pope, in simple language, gave a graphic description of what he had experienced in Germany during the early days of the war. He said he had been preaching the gospel of peace all his life, and now he was going to fight for his country. He had been asked to join Kitchener's Army. He had undergone a revolution in his ideas of life. For the three months he was in Germany he thought he felt very sad about it, he was perfectly certain that he was doing the right thing in fighting for his country and the Germans. Some of the Prussians were very Germanic, and treated them even badly as much as ever. He believed them to be a nation who had been led astray by their rulers. They had not only known the truth about them, and also the truth as to what the leading officials were doing, they would be a revolution in Germany. There would be a revolution in their own country. During the last six years he had been there several times, and was in touch with German families, so he had had every opportunity of coming into contact with German people. The best people he met in Germany expressed the least ill-will against Great Britain. On the other hand, he had found the worst people to talk to were those who had anything to do with the war. All had hoped that the day would never come when there would be war between Britain and Germany. Personally, he was not referring to the Kaiser, he was not referring to the military class or the aristocracy, but to the "right man right" and who believed in the law of force. They were the people who had been stirring up the war spirit. He came to the conclusion that he had told him so with the one idea of crushing England. But the common people, the "man in the street," when he was shall bear nothing, because we are holding our own and feeling confident that before long we shall be going forward. I am going to stick to my self and my comrades. The Germans are worse than savages. The homes that we see broken up and the number of women and children trekking across the country for safety is really more than we as us to tears.

Women in England ought to dance with joy just fancy, a woman with eight children tramping the country with very little clothing to protect them. A few days ago we were acting as reserves under cover of a farmhouse, in which a child had died from shock. Two boys not twelve years old brought out the body on two pokers and followed behind by the women as they walked straight across the battlefield. I don't want to see such sights again. Another little girl by inside the farmhouse who was not expected to survive. Bullets are too good for the Germans!"

Private Less continued his letter on October 20th. "My battalion got severely engaged on Sunday," he wrote. "You talk about lighting! Bullets and big shells from 6 o'clock in the morning until the early hours of the next day. I felt sorry for the wounded. I think we lost 60 all told. One of the officers—poor chap—was shot in the head. I was shielded and gained ground, entrenching ourselves and making the enemy's position very serious. I expect to hear the good news very shortly of the Germans being driven back. We have been through all this, and—thank God—I am unscratched. You should see the narrow escapes some of us had! One man can show three cartridges which have hit him bit by bullets. They will be grand curios!"

the greatest would not stop, perhaps they liked the job. One of the highest officials in the land who did not pull up for time when challenged, was shot dead. How then the Government be had to assure the people the poorer ones were not in Germany. As for his own position, he was speaking in the same village where the previous week no one was known quite to be the village. He had been there for a month, and had preached in the village church on the Sunday before war was declared. However, the people were very kind to him, and when he left the village to join the fighting line the parting was sorrowful and thought he would have to go on the head man of the village, and he said, "Did you hear what the Government is doing in the trouble," said the doctor, with a smile, and said "Did you notice anything queer in the air?" "Yes, there was a lot of many," and he would say, "I saw a few cows ploughing in a field." But an intelligent man, after the Germans were well on their way, and asked him if he had seen anything particular would say, "I saw some soldiers and cannon, and they were going to fight the French." Such information given to the British Government might mean the loss of a victory for the British. Then, after the people had got used to the war, they would be probably celebrating victory over England. They had a cannon and they fired it off. One night, about a fortnight after the war broke out, the cannon was fired three times, and the man with whom he was staying went out to learn what had happened. He came back and told him the news that the Russians were on their way to help Belgium. We have had a victory over the British fleet and twenty-four British ships were sunk." Dr Pope said that the Germans were most afraid of was that the cry would be raised of English spies, but, fortunately, that did not happen. He had seen in the papers he could say something in the papers which "made his hair stand on end." The paper said "We now have in this country 60,000 German subjects are being put to death in England without a trial." He himself knew it was a lie. The Kaiser was the man that there are thousands of British subjects in Germany. Cannot we do the same thing?" In his own paper he read "There is a famine in England and food has gone up." They also said that there were cases of rioting and revolution, and that the working men were rising against the rich. The British Government had asked for 100,000 troops, and only 30,000 had responded. Lord Kitchener's appeal had not one of them was a working man. It was stated that a miserable little affair at Bisley had caused much trouble, and had been smashed to atoms, and that the British Navy was trembling with fear because the Kaiser's navy had come out. He had seen things around their parts and not one of the ships dare go out of sight. "Of course," said Dr Pope, "we know that these things are lies. I naturally wanted to get home to Britain, but the people in the village told me I was very foolish to do so. They told me that I knew about the German hatred. Before war was declared his experience was that all the Germans with whom he had come in contact were most friendly. He had never heard a word spoken ill of England, but within a few days after the declaration there were such bitterness—a kind of hatred—made. How had it come about? The War Party engineered the whole thing, had control of the newspapers, and had all difficulty he experienced in obtaining the original send your orders direct to me), and not at all inflated, but at everyday prices. The evidence of thousands that our poultry-keepers' cheque or testimony to how well it has succeeded.

Hardly an article on winter egg-production omits reference to the excellent results obtained by its makers, and only a trifle over five years old; the odd adage that nothing succeeds like success truly proved that the auxiliary to poultry-feeding is such a one. Let us, therefore, advise those of you that have not yet seen the "Poultry Keeper's Account Book" herein referred to. Just write me a line for same, and it will be sent you free and post free.

(Any enquiries concerning poultry keeping addressed to our expert, Captain Ralph R. Allen, Sawbridgeworth, Herts, will be answered through these columns free, but those requiring a postal answer direct, or sending birds for post mortem examination, must remit half-crown postal order. The name of the writer must in all cases be given).

GENUINE EAST INDIA RAPE NUTS.
A WELL-TRIED AND RELIABLE
AUTUMN TILLAGE.
M. SCOTT & Co., Seed Crushers, SELBY.
Prompt Delivery can be given to Rails Selby.
Ask your Manure Merchant for particulars.

PROFITABLE POULTRY CULTURE

By RALPH R. ALLEN.

Lecturer to the Herts. County Council; Editor of "Monthly Hints on Poultry," &c.

(All rights reserved).

WAR CHAT.—No. 11.

"I read one of your articles," writes a correspondent, "and I heartily agree with all those who express their admiration for your 'Poultry Keepers' Account Book,' but important as books keeping may be, I think the most valuable part of the work is the excellent article entitled 'The Story of the Evolution of the Use of Mustard for Poultry.'"

Your original experiments, told in simple language and corroborated by hundreds of other practical poultry-keepers, deeply impressed me. The absence of high falutin talk with which poultry papers and articles of late are usually garnished (or glazed) equally favourable results; whilst the fact that you are not blooming a duvet preparation which could only be procured from the makers, but on everyday commodity which could be purchased anywhere, completed my conversion.

I commenced using Colman's Poultry Mustard. I shall continue using it because it has resulted in a considerable increase in egg-production, and my birds look far better than I have hitherto seen them.

Book-keeping and recording eggs may be, as you say, of the greatest importance, but I join my faith, in the first place, to the opening chapter, because until I had read, digested and acted upon it I had few eggs to record."

It is cheering to have such comment concerning one's labours; notwithstanding the thousands that have been received, like Oliver Twist, I can't ask for more. In poultry missionary work there is a lot of humdrum labour, and words of appreciation are always acceptable.

It is not, however, to my efforts that this letter has been penned. Rather is it given as an example to others.

During the late autumn and winter months eggs are proverbially scarce. To increase the egg-yield at those periods no finer auxiliary exists than Colman's Poultry Mustard.

It is not, in the sense of a tonic, a stimulant, but a splendid tonic-digestive. It is made from the finest mustard obtainable, and is recommended by eminent physicians, as the only Safe, Sure, and Genuine Remedy. Never Fails. Thousands of Testimonials. Established 1862.

Mr PAUL BLANCHARD,
Claremont House, Dalston Lane, London.

RECRUITING MEETINGS AT SWILLINGTON.

MR E. H. FOSTER, J.P., GIVES HIS SERVICES TO THE WAR OFFICE.

DR POPE ON GERMANY AND THE GERMANS.

PRUSSIANS AND RUSSIAN SPIES AND ENGLISH BLOOD.

HOW BRITISH "DEFEATS" WERE RECEIVED.

Two recruiting meetings were held at Swillington on Monday night, under the auspices of the Barkston Ash Conservative and Liberal Associations. The first meeting was held in the Swillington Common Reading Room, and was presided over by Mr E. J. Dewhirst, C.C.

The Chairman, in the course of a short speech, said that the Barkston Ash Conservative Association, with its various members, was doing nobly. Out of this number 25 men had volunteered, and had joined the Leeds Pals' Army reserve unit. From Castleford district alone, 1,200 had volunteered, the most of them being Territorials who had been called up. It was not to be declared, and Leeds proud to record its full on the day of its mobilisation. Disgraceful things had taken place which would never be raised from the pages of history. Belgium, by her sense of honour and duty, had fought for right and liberty. The flame of patriotism burned high. Our young manhood was thronging off football fields for khaki, and the call was to be met by a higher standard in life. No stone would have to be left unturned to upset the tyrant of militarism, and that the Allies would be triumphant.

Mr Dewhirst also read a message from Mr E. H. Foster, J.P., expressing regret that he could not be present, and stating that he had been invited to assist in the work at the War Office, and he thought it his duty to accept. The War Office had not departed from the high standard already taken up the work. He offered his services in any capacity to the War Office. He was disposed and had been from the first to be a loyal representative at the central command.

The meeting was also addressed by Dr Ambrose Pope, Bradford, a professor of theology, who was a prisoner for two months in Germany.

At the close of the meeting four recruits came forward.

A second recruiting meeting held in the Parochial School, Swillington, there was also a good attendance. The Rector (Rev. John Briggs) presided, and said that the handbills which had announced the meeting said "Lord Kitchener wants you." He could give them a third, and say, "Your King wants you," and he would go even further and say, "Your country needs you, and your country needs you now." Let them realise the dangers of an enemy, but against what the enemy could do. If they were successful in battle they were crippled. They were successful it would mean starvation. They had, therefore, to stand up and fight for their lives. They didn't know that they were terribly threatened.

Dr Ambrose Pope, in simple language, gave a graphic description of what he had experienced in Germany during the early days of the war. He said he had been preaching the gospel of peace all his life, and now he was going to fight for his country. He had been asked to join Kitchener's Army. He had undergone a revolution in his ideas of life. For the three months he was in Germany he thought he felt very sad about it, he was perfectly certain that he was doing the right thing in fighting for his country and the Germans. Some of the Prussians were very Germanic, and treated them even badly as much as ever. He believed them to be a nation who had been led astray by their rulers. They had not only known the truth about them, and also the truth as to what the leading officials were doing, they would be a revolution in their own country. During the last six years he had been there several times, and was in touch with German families, so he had had every opportunity of coming into contact with German people. The best people he met in Germany expressed the least ill-will against Great Britain. On the other hand, he had found the worst people to talk to were those who had anything to do with the war. All had hoped that the day would never come when there would be war between Britain and Germany. Personally, he was not referring to the Kaiser, he was not referring to the military class or the aristocracy, but to the "right man right" and who believed in the law of force. They were the people who had been stirring up the war spirit. He came to the conclusion that he had told him so with the one idea of crushing England. But the common people, the "man in the street," when he was shall bear nothing, because we are holding our own and feeling confident that before long we shall be going forward. I am going to stick to my self and my comrades. The Germans are worse than savages. The homes that we see broken up and the number of women and children trekking across the country for safety is really more than we as us to tears.

Women in England ought to dance with joy just fancy, a woman with eight children tramping the country with very little clothing to protect them. A few days ago we were acting as reserves under cover of a farmhouse, in which a child had died from shock. Two boys not twelve years old brought out the body on two pokers and followed behind by the women as they walked straight across the battlefield. I don't want to see such sights again. Another little girl by inside the farmhouse who was not expected to survive. Bullets are too good for the Germans!"

Private Less continued his letter on October 20th. "My battalion got severely engaged on Sunday," he wrote. "You talk about lighting! Bullets and big shells from 6 o'clock in the morning until the early hours of the next day. I felt sorry for the wounded. I think we lost 60 all told. One of the officers—poor chap—was shot in the head. I was shielded and gained ground, entrenching ourselves and making the enemy's position very serious. I expect to hear the good news very shortly of the Germans being driven back. We have been through all this, and—thank God—I am unscratched. You should see the narrow escapes some of us had! One man can show three cartridges which have hit him bit by bullets. They will be grand curios!"

DURING THE WAR USE
COLMAN'S POULTRY MUSTARD
AND SECURE MORE EGGS
"The Poultry Keepers' Account Book" and other literature, post free on application to PRICE LIST. RALPH R. ALLEN,
2lb. 2/8 Sawbridgeworth
5lb. 6/7 Herts.
10lb. 12/6
56lb. 21/0
Carriage Paid
BRITAIN REQUIRES MORE FOOD!

ALLEN'S ROUP OURE, 2/1 Post Paid.
Each package contains a sufficiency to make 25 gallons of medicated drink. Prevention is cure for this dreaded disease. Prevention is cure, and practically nothing is more effective than cure, and this preparation is the best drinking water, and so render their flocks immune.
Full directions are given with each packet.
To be obtained only from R. R. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

ALLEN'S TONIC CAPSULES, 1/6 post paid
Generally called "The Poultry-Keepers' Friend." Immediately a bird is noticed off its feed, or especially dull, one should be given at once, and in all night and morning will speedily put it right. For a day or two before a show they are invaluable.
To be obtained only from R. R. ALLEN, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

THE MOST PRACTICAL UTILITY POULTRY PAPER.
MONTHLY HINTS ON POULTRY
32 pages, profusely illustrated, art paper, &c.
1d. per annum, post free, 7½d.
THE EDITOR, Sawbridgeworth, HERTS.
Write for specimen copy.

Pure-bred Laying Pullets 7/6 each.
We can offer you selected Rhode Island Red, White, Black, and Brown Leghorn, White Orpington, and White Wyandotte, March hatched Pullets, at 7s. 6d. each. Unrated vigorous Cockerels from such. Approval.
ALLEN POULTRY CO., Ltd., Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

40 FOR 6d EGGS
COVERDALE'S Egg-Producing POULTRY POWDER
Is the best Poultry Tonic on the market, and its equal cannot be found. Try a packet. From none at all to 40 Eggs a week.
Dear Sirs,—My hens had not had a sensible egg for more than a month, but the 6d. packet of Poultry Powder you sent me has worked wonders. From none at all to 40 eggs a week, and increasing. I will certainly use it and recommend it.—Yours truly, J. T. HUNTER.
Sold in Packets 8d., 1/3, 2/-, and 5/- post free, including Leaflet on Poultry Keeping. Of all Chemists and Poultry Keepers.
Coverdale's Poultry Powder, Ltd., York.
Agents—H. H. MOON, Grocer, etc., East Keswick, Wetherby; Aberford, Thorner, Crossgates, Tadcaster, South Milford, Barlow, Selby; Goole, Brandsburton, and Roundhay; M. H. DICKINSON, 158, Meadow Lane, Leeds; T. B. SMITH & SON, Garforth; Mrs. HURST, High Street, Cottingham; J. T. LANGLEY, Grocer, Saxton; J. HURST & Co., 272, Hunslet Road, Leeds; and TAYLOR'S Grocery Branches.

CORRESPONDENCE

GARFORTH BELGIAN RELIEF COMMITTEE.

(To the Editor).

Sir,—I am desired by the above committee to state that 15 Belgian Refugees have arrived in Garforth, and are being accommodated at Hopewell House, Wakefield Road.

Many ladies and gentlemen have very generously supplied us with furniture, &c., and the house is most comfortably fitted up in all respects. We have already received some subscriptions in money, and are arranging for weekly collections to be made, as the cost of maintaining fifteen people is no light work.

The miners have been kind enough to earmark one of their weekly subscriptions each month for this fund, and the committee hope that all other Garforth residents will assist.

It is an impossible task to thank individually all the persons who have placed furniture, &c., at our service, or yet to say how much the committee thank the many people who have assisted in getting the house in such a first-class condition.

A well-known author has said "That those who bring sunshine to the lives of others cannot keep it from themselves," so it is good to know that there are many happy people in Garforth.

Further subscriptions will be appreciated.—Yours, etc.,

H. W. POWELL,
Honorary Secretary and Treasurer.
Wakefield Road, Garforth, 28th Oct., 1914.

A KIPPAX MAN ON TAXATION AND PENSIONS.

(To the Editor).

Sir,—In reading the columns in your issue week by week one comes across a variety of ideas which make for the uplifting of the individual reader if the ideas are utilized, and it is well to make use of ideas when they are good at all times. There are also ideas which cannot be considered excellent.

The idea of levying a tax on a man with 30s. a week income, especially if that man should have three or four children, besides himself and his wife, to maintain is a bad idea. Food stuffs are very costly, and wearing apparel is the same. Rents and rates are high. Take a place like Kippax—the most difficult place outside London in which to keep body and soul together. If this proposal, which the District Council has been misled to support—that of taxing a gas, income—becomes legal, many families here will be very seriously handicapped. Such an income is not sufficiently large to bear the weight of any tax whatever. A family of five will require every halfpenny of this amount to provide them with the bare necessities of life, and have nothing left for luxuries and holidays, in Kippax, at any rate.

The careful reader will feel a bit of temper arise within him at such a proposal. Yes, one feels a little disturbed at such a proposal, and whoever has suggested that an income of 30s. weekly should be subject to a deduction of any kind is not, I feel sure, a representative of the poor man. The object for which this proposal has been formulated—that of providing a pension, etc., for our soldiers if disabled and cannot earn their own livelihood, is all right. Soldiers should be provided for adequately, but the question of pensions ought in all fairness to cover a wider field than this. The veterans of industry should be provided for after they are past work. We are verily guilty concerning our brother. The question of a pension for all who are past work and need it is rather a formidable one, and a contributory scheme will perhaps be the better way out of the difficulty, and will bring the thing into operation sooner, but not in the shape of an income tax on 30s. This is driving a hard bargain.—Yours, &c.,

INTERESTED.

APPEAL TO SUNDAY SCHOOL SCHOLARS.

(To the Editor).

Sir,—The committee of the Queen's "Work for Women" Fund have decided to make an appeal to Sunday School scholars throughout the kingdom, for this branch of the National Relief Fund.

As Chairman of the Queen's Committee I shall be most grateful if you will give us your kind help and co-operation.

This can best be done by officers and teachers taking the earliest opportunity of explaining the scheme to the scholars. For this purpose I enclose sample of literature which I suggest sending to them.

I would suggest that the teachers should kindly undertake to supervise collections among the scholars, or, if preferable, that the scholars form their own committees for collection.

The Queen wishes it clearly understood that such collections are to be entirely a free-will offering, undertaken by the scholars themselves without coercion or persuasion. There is, of course, no idea of interference with the usual collections for other objects, but it is suggested that the scholars might like to devote at least one week's general collection to the fund. Apart from private collections which they may care to make among themselves.

The committee is willing to receive the collection separately at the above address, but it is preferable, when possible, that small contributions should be amalgamated at the local centres and forwarded together.

A personal acknowledgment from Buckingham Palace will be sent to each Sunday School sending up its contributions in this manner.

I should like to add that this scheme has the approval of Her Majesty.—Yours truly,

MARGARET CECIL, Chairman.
33, Portland Place, W., London.

LEEDS ALDERMAN AND A PUBLIC SCANDAL.

Ald. Willey, appealing for generous gifts to the collection at a concert for the National Relief Fund in Leeds, said that many in this country had not realized the terrible importance of the titanic struggle in which we were engaged. It was little short of a scandal that in this hour of the country's need young men, able-bodied and equal to the military requirements prescribed, should fail to come forward and offer themselves. They ought not to wait to be asked even. Moreover, fine athletic young men were receiving £1, £2, and £3 a week for playing football, and were receiving it because they were athletes and men of stamina. In this matter he was but saying what many other people were thinking—it was a public scandal that these men should be so employed at a time when the country needed them.

CROSSGATES BAPTIST FELLOWSHIP CONCERT

SUCCESSFUL EFFORT FOR THE BELGIAN RELIEF FUND.

In connection with Crossgate Baptist Church Fellowship a successful concert in aid of the Leeds Belgian Relief Fund took place in the hall at Whitkirk on Tuesday night, and there was a large audience. Hall-a-dozen Belgian Refugees, who have been residing at Templenewsam for several weeks, attended, in company with Miss Parsons, and they were provided with seats in the front of the hall. Mr T. K. Diggle, of Whitkirk, presided.

The programme was opened with the singing of the patriotic hymn "Now pray we for our country," and Mr George Crosland followed with a good rendering of "A jolly old Cavalier." Miss Teresa Barraclough sang "Beyond the dawn" so well that she was recalled, and a similar compliment was paid to Mr Arthur Sykes for his admirable interpretation of "Draw the sword," his response being a new song "The gallant men I sing." Miss Ivy Easton used her powerful voice to advantage in the singing of "There's a Land," and, being encored, she replied with "My little grey home in the west." In the duet "A night in Venice" the voices of Miss Barraclough and My Sykes blended splendidly, and the Allied Quartette (Messrs H. Dixon, J. T. Johnson, Tom Cooper, and E. Crosland) sang "Comrades in arms" in pleasing style. Mrs Cooper playing the accompaniments. Mr Frank Waide, the popular entertainer, caused much amusement with his sketches "Snapshotting" and "A Judge in Court," and with his laughing song.

Miss Josephine Wilbur, who was an excellent accompanist, opened the second part of the programme, her playing of national airs of the Allies being well received. Miss Barraclough, Miss Easton, and Mr Sykes sang the trio "Memory," and Mr Sykes gave "The soldier's grave" in finished style, replying to an encore with "Dreaming." Mr Soldier, take my heart with you," was Miss Easton's second effort, and again she had to reappear, singing the well-known song "Land of hope and glory," to the chorus of which the audience joined. Mr Crosland's fine rendering of "Drake goes West" was thoroughly appreciated, and he, too, had to respond to calls for more, his singing of "The curfew" being equally successful. Miss Barraclough contributed "Birthday" and "A perfect day," and she sang very well. Mr Waide gave a ventriloquial sketch which delighted everybody. The concluding item was "Tom, the piper's son," by the Allied Quartette.

The Rev. J. Miller Hamilton, in proposing a vote of thanks to the artistes and committee, said that never in the history of the country had British hearts throbbed as they were now passing through. He had faith that victory would come to Britain, which had been defeated in war only once, and that by one of the colonies. All the Belgians had wanted was to be left in peace, and Britain was not anxious for war; in fact, people were already anxious for its termination, but he thought in the words of a Latin proverb, it would be soon enough done if well enough done. They did not want hostilities to cease until the common enemy had been completely beaten. He hoped that for the sacrifices that had been made the country would be better and brighter, and they would be more ready to give help when it was needed.

Mr Hoole Carr, of Halton, seconded, complimenting the artistes on the excellence of the entertainment.

Mr Diggle stated that the expense in connection with the provision of artistes for the concert had been met by Mr. Mrs, and Miss Easton.

The resolution was cordially passed, and the concert closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

The proceeds will be not less than £23.

BARWICK AND SCHOLES WAR DISTRESS FUND.

ADDITIONAL CONTRIBUTIONS—SCHOLES WARD.

Collected by Messrs F. Puffett, J. M. Rayner, and A. Townsley.

	£	s.	d.
Already acknowledged	79	14	0
Mrs. Thos. Crosland	2	2	0
Mr. J. Stephenson	2	2	0
Mr. F. Sperling	2	2	0
Mr and Mrs. Sutton	2	2	0
Mr and Mrs H. W. Brooke	1	1	0
Mr. J. Pool	1	0	0
Mr. Tom Smith	1	0	0
Mr P. Childe	0	10	6
Mr and Mrs Frank Lamb	0	10	0
Mr and Mrs W. Beck	0	10	0
Mr and Mrs. E. Maskill	0	10	0
Mr C. A. Howson	0	10	0
Mr and Mrs J. A. Walker	0	10	0
Mr T. L. Horner	0	10	0
Miss H. Pemberton	0	10	0
Mr. J. R. Brown	0	10	0
Mr. J. C. Brown	0	10	0
Mr W. H. Brown	0	10	0
Mr W. Wetherall	0	10	0
Mr J. Goldthorpe	0	7	6
Mr and Mrs. A. Johnson	0	7	6
Mr J. W. Carter	0	5	0
Mr J. Laidlaw	0	5	0
Mr W. Umpleby	0	5	0
Mr W. Hills	0	3	0
Mrs. S. Derrick	0	2	6
Mr Mackereth	0	2	6
Mr P. Foster	0	2	0
Mr and Mrs E. Daniels	0	2	0
Mr J. C. Brown (jun.)	0	2	0
A Friend	0	1	0
Mr G. Odds	0	1	0
Mrs Crompton	0	1	0
Mr T. Pickersgill	0	1	0
Mr M. Goodall	0	1	0
Mr Lazenby	0	1	0
Mr W. Hardcastle	0	1	0
Mr E. Pemberton	0	1	0
Mrs. Tweedy	0	1	0
Misses E. and A. Armitage	0	1	0
Mr A. Dawson	0	1	0
Mr H. Tinsley	0	1	0
Mr Tom Hargreaves	0	0	6
Mr Gibbons	0	0	6
Mr W. Slinger	0	0	6
Mrs Bellamy	0	0	6
Mrs Lawrence	0	0	6
A Friend	0	0	3
	£100	0	0

Mary and Betty Wilson, of Thorner, have sent 5s. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

A sum of £11, collected at Tadcaster Church, has been sent to Leeds Infirmary.

RAILWAY FARE UNPAID.—At Selby on Monday William Humble, pig dealer, Norton, was summoned for travelling on the North-Eastern Railway without paying his fare. Superintendent Pearson, of the N.E.R. Police, York, stated that on September 18th defendant travelled to York from Doncaster but gave up a ticket which had been used before, it being punched many times. Defendant, who did not attend the Court, was fined £1 and costs.

LEEDS AND HOLBECK
PERMANENT
BUILDING SOCIETY
96, ALBION STREET (Corner of Guildford Street), Leeds.
DAILY from 10 to 3, Saturdays 10 to 1. Saturday Evenings, 6.30 to 8.
3½ PER CENT. INTEREST ALLOWED ON SUBSCRIPTION & PAID UP SHARES.
3 PER CENT. ALLOWED ON DEPOSITS.
WITHDRAWALS CAN BE MADE AT SHORT NOTICE.
Prospectus on Application. Jno. Exley, President.
Tel. No. 253. Wm. Maude, Manager & Secretary.

Telephone No. 1129.
RHODES & SONS,
Posters, Handbills, Circulars, Business Cards, Balance Sheets, Fixture Cards, Catalogues, Ball Programmes and . . Every description of . . General and Commercial Printing.
Commercial and General Printers
Lithographers, . .
Bookbinders, &c.
ORDERS BY POST OR TELEPHONE PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
Magazines, Periodicals, &c., Bound to any Pattern. . .
"Rothwell Courier and Times" Office,
2, AIRE STREET, LEEDS.

AMUSEMENTS.

LEEDS EMPIRE PALACE

At the Empire Palace this week there is an excellent bill. Neil Kenyon, the well-known Scotch character impersonator, who is one of the chief turns, was unable to appear on Monday night owing to illness. Bramsby Williams, who also figures at the top of the bill, shows no diminution of his powers as a character impersonator. His studies of Dickens' characters, of which he gave several on Monday night, proved greatly to the liking of his audience, and equally entertaining was his sketch of "London Bridge." An interesting turn is provided by Trumpeter Henri Grove, of the Belgian cavalry, who recites exciting experiences at Liege, Louvain, Malines, and Termonde. The Comtesse di Dubadj is an accomplished violinist, and others appearing are the Poppescu Troupe, gymnasts; Helen Charles, entertainer at the piano; Jennie and Joe, comedy duo; and Georg Rapley, comedian.

"Pinkie," who will be introduced to Leeds theatre-goers next week at the Empire, is a two-and-a-half boy with a "highly developed dramatic instinct." True, this development may appear rather an ambition than an actual accomplishment, but to guarantee him a cordial reception it is enough to say that he will be played by Fred Kitchen, supported by his own selected company, and played with that irresistibly droll and laugh-compelling irresponsibility of which Fred Kitchen is the past master. Other attractions include Jack Lane, the famous Yorkshire comedian at the piano; Daisy Dormer, "the essence of daintiness," in her latest song success; Bristol and Evans, a new American duo; Lafayette and Rowbery, in a new sketch, entitled "Scene Rehearsal"; Lillie Lissoli, comedienne; and Louis J. Seymour, light comedian. The Lyrical war pictures on the bioscope will complete the programme.

LEEDS HIPPODROME.

At the Hippodrome this week the principal attraction is "Colonel Cobb of the Red Hussars," and Mr James Learmouth takes the titled comedy part. His adventures with the Indian Maharajah are comical, and at the military review he does many unthinkable things, which keep everybody laughing. The music is a great feature of the show, and there are also some excellent scenic effects. Vera Wootton, a charming comedienne, has two good songs. The Four Kasmos, in "Buffet des Folls," give a clever knockabout sketch, and Harry Halsey, a Leeds comedian, scores a big success in a study "Curtains." The Two Vestas, dancers, are appearing.

At the Hippodrome next week the great attraction will be "A Year in an Hour." Nixon Grey and Arthur Reeve are likewise billed to appear, and the programme will be an attractive one.

LORD ROBERTS AND THE WAR.

Earl Roberts, who is an honorary colonel of the Canadian contingent, on Saturday visited Salisbury Plain, and in giving his "brother soldiers" a hearty welcome to the Motherland, said: We have arrived at the most critical moment of our history, and you have generously come to help us in our hour of need. Words fail me when I try to tell you how deeply we appreciate your action and the splendid spirit of loyalty which has prompted that action. The prompt resolve of Canada to give us such valuable assistance has touched us deeply. That resolve has been quickened into action, in what I consider a marvellously short period of time; and under the excellent organising and driving power of your Minister of Militia—my friend Major-General Hughes—you quickly found yourselves in a fine camp in your own Laurentian mountains, where your training and musketry were able to be carried out in the most practical manner and with the least possible delay, the result being that to-day, less than three months from the declaration of war, I am able to greet this fine body of soldiers on English soil. There is no need for me to tell you that you have a stern task before you. We are fighting a nation which looks upon the British Empire as a barrier to her development, and has, in consequence, long contemplated our overthrow and humiliation. To attain that end she has manufactured a magnificent fighting machine, and is straining every nerve to gain victory. In her determination to be the ruling power in the world she has not scrupled to break faith with the smaller nations, and has shown by her actions that she is prepared by every means in her power—however unworthy and brutal—to achieve her purpose. It is only by the most determined efforts that we can defeat her. I need not urge you to do your best, for I know you will. You will be fighting in the greatest of all causes—the cause of right, of justice, and of liberty. May God prosper you in the great struggle.

Patent List compiled by John E. Walsh, Chartered Patent Agent, 24, Royal Exchange, Boar Lane, Leeds, and Crossley Street, Halifax:—Application—Robert Jones, Leeds, improvements in locking devices for railway and tramway points. Patents accepted—Edward Court, Wakefield, improvements in hat-pin point protectors; R. B. Kettlewell, Harrogate, improvements in typewriters.

DOYLE

Spare US ten minutes when NEXT in Town.
The next time you are in town will you spare us ten minutes of your time to let us show you our excellent selection of new China and Glassware just received. If a purchase of this character has been occupying your mind it is quite certain that you can purchase it PROFITABLY at Doyle's.
Purchase only BRITISH China and Glassware.
59, BOAR LANE, LEEDS.

BEST & BOOTH
Tailors & Costumiers,
119, KIRKGATE,
— AND —
143, BRIGGATE
(Corner of Market Street), LEEDS.
Ladies' Department—143, BRIGGATE.
Look Out for B. & B.

REGISTERED. OPTOLINE REGISTERED.
THE GREAT CURE FOR
COUGHS, BRONCHITIS, CONSUMPTION and GENERAL WEAKNESS.
Sold by all Chemists and Stores, 1/-, 1/6 and 2/6.
OR THE MAKERS, TELEPHONE 85 CENTRAL.
J. N. HORSFIELD & SONS, 81 & 83, Sweet Street, LEEDS.

Leeds: 'Phone No. 1949. Watchmaker to the Admiralty.
Huddersfield: " 1609.
William GREENWOOD,
Watchmaker and Jeweller,
92, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.
SPECIALITIES:—
DRESS, ENGAGEMENT, AND WEDDING RINGS.
W. G. makes a Handsome Present with every Wedding Ring.
Wedding Presents, Birthday Presents, and Presentations of every kind.
— AND AT —
3, DEVONSHIRE BUILDINGS, VICTORIA LANE, HUDDERSFIELD.

Money Saving is Money Making!
Special Show in the Latest Styles and Shades of Ladies' & Children's Winter Coats, Costumes, and Skirts, at Most Reasonable Prices.
Winter Coats from 8s. 11d. Raincoats from 6s
SMITH & PETTY,
44, Lowerhead Row, LEEDS
Three Doors from Briggate.
MOURNING ORDERS EXECUTED IN 12 HOURS.

THE CHALLENGE!

Never Beaten.
BRAITHWAITE'S
"The Firm with a Reputation."
ARE NOW OFFERING
THE BEST VALUE IN YORKSHIRE
— IN —
BOOTS & SHOES for Present Wear.
We are SPECIALISTS IN "FOOTWEAR for the COUNTRY."
Large Variety of Leggings, Gaiters, Slippers, & Dress Shoes.
FARMERS' BOOTS. NAVVIES' BOOTS. PIT BOOTS.
BOOTS THAT WILL TURN THE WET
SPECIAL NOTICE.—We are still offering a lot of Odd Pairs at Ridiculously Low Prices until Cleared.
BRAITHWAITE'S, The Value for Money Boot Stores,
58, VICAR LANE, LEEDS.
Closed at 1 o'clock on Wednesdays.

Printed and Published by ARTHUR KNOX RHODES, of 26, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates, for the Proprietors of the "Rothwell Courier and Times" at their offices, 2, Aire Street, Leeds, in the County of York.

"The Rothwell Courier and Times" IS THE Only Weekly Newspaper PUBLISHED in the DISTRICT

Rothwell Courier & Times

AND

Netherley, Oulton, Woodlesford, Carlton, Robin Hood, Lofthouse, Middleton, Stourton & Hunslet Chronicle

NO. 97—NEW SERIES [Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.] SATURDAY. NOVEMBER 7 1914 ESTAB. 1873 PRICE—ONE PENNY

Joshua Tetley & Son (Limited), THE BREWERY, LEEDS.

NOW READY IN BOTTLE.

East India Pale Ale, 2/- per dozen Small Bottles

Extra Stout, 1/9 per dozen Small Bottles.

Special (Non-Deposit) Mild Ale, 3/- dozen Large Bottles.

Delivered Free to Families within 20 Miles of Leeds.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

EMPIRE PALACE, BRIGGATE, LEEDS.

TWO PERFORMANCES EVERY NIGHT. AT 6.30 AND AT 9.

Early Doors Monday, Tuesday, and Saturday, at 6 p.m.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 9th, 1914.

GEORGE ROBEY, The Prime Minister of Mirth.

MICKSEY NOLAN. BROS. EGBERT. SHIRLEY & RANSOME. LA BELLE AIMEE. DORA LYRIC. WOODY, WOOD, & WELL. In Farcical Skit "THE PERCH CLUB." HARLEQUINADERS. In a Sparkling Medange of Bright Musical Numbers.

Latest War News and Actual Films from the Front.

Prices, 10s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 5s., 3s. 6d., 1s., 6d., 4d., 3d.

HIPPODROME, LEEDS.

Performances nightly at 6.30 and 9. NEXT WEEK.

MISS MARIE BLANCHE. BERTRAM BANKS. EDNA LATONNE. DAISY JAMES. HIPPODROME MOTION PICTURES. HERBERT LA MARTINE. RILEY & BENT. T. B. BARR. TATTEN HALL & CO.

Note Prices:—10s. 6d., 1s., 6d., and 4d.

FRED BARBER, Pork Butcher, 11. CALL LANE, LEEDS. TEL. 1604.

DRAINS TESTED AND REPAIRED. SANITARY WORK A SPECIALITY Pump Repairs, Electric Bells, Glazing and Gasfitting. James Smithies, Registered Plumber & Contractor. Residence:— 43, AUSTHORPE ROAD, CROSSGATES.

Wm. HELLIWELL, The Working Man's Friend, 212, Hunslet Rd., LEEDS. WATCH WINDOWS FOR GOOD HONEST VALUE. Special Suits From 30/- NO FIT. NO PAY.

Established 1818. SPARKLING HOSPERIDE. An Exhilarating & Refreshing Beverage. NOTABLE FOR HOTELS RESTAURANTS & DAILIES. REYNOLDS & BRANSON Ltd. LEEDS.

For TOWN or COUNTRY. For BUSINESS or PLEASURE. THE FABOR LOUNGE SUIT AT Fabor 45/- Is the Hall-mark of Perfect Tailoring. LOUNGE SUITS from 35/- COSTUMES from 2 Guineas. Tailor Made & Perfect Fit Guaranteed. 24, Queen Victoria Street, and County Arcade, LEEDS.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT JOTTINGS.

In Barkston Ash football has practically been abandoned owing to the war, and it is now impossible, in consequence of players having enlisted, for most of the clubs to raise a decent team. Personally I discern no harm in juniors—lads too young or not fit for military service—playing the game, but I agree with Ald. Wolfenden, of Leeds, that it "is a public scandal" that men should be "employed" playing football when the country needs them. Of course, the people who go to watch those "paid gladiators" are equally to blame. "Censor these people," asks a writer, "realize that men were dying for us on Saturday afternoon and dying yesterday, and that more are dying even at this very moment? Cannot they visualise even for a moment the suffering in Belgium, the ruined homes, the bereaved children, the shattered lives? And that late, these ruined homes, these shattered lives, would be ours today but for the brave men, the sailors, and soldiers, the Regulars and the Territorials, who are fighting for us or fitting themselves to fight for us. Those are the men we count heroes, and those are the men we honour and respect. It is not football players and football gapers." Football is a fine game, but, as the preacher saith, there's a time for everything.

Although many men are precluded, by physical and other causes, from bearing arms, hundreds of young fellows in the district are eligible for the Army or Navy, yet they have failed to distinguish themselves, and for that every reason measures should be adopted in every district to honour the men who have been patriotic enough to offer their services to the country. Our Army is a volunteer one, and, unfortunately, in the past the nation has been fenced the soldiers in a very generous spirit, but a tremendous change has come over public opinion, and the day has come when we are all prepared to take off our hats to the men who are offering to make the supreme sacrifice. In the past men have not, by their contempt, hesitated to stigmatise our fighting men the "off-courting- of civilization," but this is a disgraceful libel upon thousands of citizens, and the men who have uttered it, now sheltering behind the might and valour of the brave fellows they have vilified, will have every opportunity of showing their repentence in a practical way.

Every newspaper reader has perused the letters written by our men serving in France, many of them reveal unexpected qualities which give them quite a distinction. Could the men at Waterloo have written such letters? Education has worked wonders among the masses, and the style, simplicity, and intuitive touch some of these letter-writers show are cultured to make the war correspondent green with envy. When I see a man in khaki under the influence of drink I must confess, it gives me a shock, but I have enough sympathy to overlook the slip, because extraordinary conditions sometimes lead individuals to excesses. A few weeks ago I went up in the train with a Rowrist who had been imbibing freely, and, in a droll way, he said, "If I say anything wrong stop me. You see I have had a drop too much. I have until a fortnight and then the fid's on." Soldiers at home are subject to many temptations now, as people are foolishly anxious to show their gratitude by "standing treat," and our fighting men are only human, of course. Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener have done for British troops what the Czar has done for the Russians, and in East and West the world has, for the first time in history, the spectacle of practically teetotal armies waging war against a common foe.

In order to honour our fighting men every parish should, I think, have its own little scheme. Such a war as is now being fought will probably never occur again, and this is the first time the country has had to appeal in a large way, to the patriotism of the people, so the occasion should be specially marked off. The movement, if started, would speedily grow, and it would give an enormous impetus to recruiting. As to what will follow the war, the initiative must rest with Parliament. Pensions must be provided for the disabled and maintenance must be allowed the wives and children of those who fall on the battlefield.

When I suggested that the Executive of the Barkston Ash Cricket Committee should compile a roll of local cricketers who are serving the country, I thought it would find sympathy. I met the President the other day, and he asked how it would do to compile the names of all the men in the Sugar-Mangrove and Lane-Foot Cups, or on one of them. It is a capital idea, and, besides forming a permanent record, it would give to the trophies a new value.

Church Fenton deserves special mention, I think, and, as was noted last week, one in every eighteen of the population has joined the Colours. Had Leeds contributed men in like proportion the city would have sent out between 25,000 and 30,000. According to my information, there is every prospect of Church Fenton increasing its contribution.

Although the list is not complete, Crossgates is represented in the Army by about forty men, and it has done fairly well. In Templenewsam a list of men serving with the Colours is being prepared, and I understand over sixty names have already been obtained. When the list is completed it will be published.

The members of Sherburn Farmers' Club have determined to set an example to agriculturists in the district. In the North and East-Riding farmers are making generous gifts of produce to the Army, and the Sherburn agriculturists, in considering how they might do their "little bit," have come to the conclusion that money would be more useful, so they have decided to raise something for the West Riding War Distress Fund. It is expected that there will be a generous response.

Recently it has been debated whether or not dances and other amusements should be held this winter, and some very strong opinions have been expressed on the subject. One writer has no doubt whatever about it, for he says:—"For my own part I have a distilled objection to a dance at this crisis in our national affairs; and the fact that a certain half was so great a success, and that so much was added to the National Funds from it, does not in the least impress me. If there were a large number of young men there, then I say that their place was in the ranks of their country's defenders. How would their former comrades who are suffering the privations of the soldier like to hear that they were carousing and dancing while these gallant lads were suffering from cold, wet, wounds, and even death itself to keep us defenceless from invading these shores? No, not even the benevolent objects that benefited by this ball can in any way reconcile me to the thought that such a meeting should have been held. The same amount of money could have been contributed to the funds without the frivolity and other incidents attending such a gathering. And why should there be so many young men still free to fill up the number indicated by the statement that a large number of ladies and gentlemen were in attendance." For shame, ladies!" The Sherburn Show Committee have abandoned their annual dance, and a number of cricket clubs have adopted a similar course.

Tadcaster Chamber of Agriculture had the Workers' Union programme under discussion at last meeting, and it was condemned as unreasonable. The farm hands had decided to enforce their demands by means of the strike weapon, but when war broke out they drew it in to suspend hostilities, hoping that farmers in the meantime would favourably consider their programme. Although the discussion at Tadcaster revealed antagonism, there seemed to be a belief that farmers would eventually have to concede something, and several members made it perfectly clear that machinery cannot supplant men. This, however, is no time for labour war.

In our last issue a Kippax correspondent finds fault with the proposal to place a tax on income over £160, in order to provide pensions for disabled soldiers and allowances for dependents who lose their breadwinners, and he says the man who made the proposal is no real friend to the wage-earners. If I mistake not, the resolution was proposed at a meeting of Pontefract Board of Guardians by a miners' leader, and it has had the support of Boards on which the working-classes have large representation. It is not meant, I suppose, to put on a heavy tax—a penny in the pound would yield an enormous sum.

Of course, the Government have to decide the question, and they may ignore altogether the Guardians' resolution. One part of the resolution, however, should be insisted upon by the electors—the provision of adequate allowances to disabled soldiers and the dependents of men who have lost their lives. The men who have lost their lives. The soldiers are employed by the Government, and, as one Tadcaster Guardian said, the nation has just as much right to pay these men or their dependents compensation as any other employer when a man is injured or loses his life while following his work. The Tadcaster and Hunslet Guardians have adopted the resolution, and I believe they are interpreting the opinions of the ratepayers generally.

With Lord Heywood many people will agree that individual effort produces far better recruiting results than public meetings. In some villages meetings have not furnished a single recruit, although many young men heard the speeches, and I know the promoters have frequently been disappointed. Mr Merrick, of Wetherby, proved the value of individual effort. He started a campaign soon after the commencement of the war, and he went wherever he could find young men—in the street, cottage, or workshop, and he used his persuasive powers upon them so well that Wetherby soon had over a hundred enrolled. It requires great tact for this work, but the right men can tackle it successfully.

"Take a place like Kippax—the most difficult place outside London in which to keep body and soul together." This is a singular assertion on the part of a Kippax man, and it would be interesting to have his evidence in support of it. Kippax is not rated so high as Castleford, nor are rents as high as those in some places that could be named, and one wonders what the conditions are which press so severely on the people. More than once we have been told that Kippax is a "health resort," and that it contains a larger proportion of old people than any place in Tadcaster Union, so it must have advantages, otherwise old folks would not go there to spend the "evening of their days." Perhaps the correspondent will tell us how Kippax occupies the unenviable position alleged by him.

To what causes is the decay of the Yorkshire dialect, or dialects, attributable? This question is prompted by some remarks made by Professor Moorman, of Leeds University, in his delightful lecture at Crossgates the other night. He said that one cause was the school teaching, and, while it may have some influence, one is not altogether convinced by the bald assertion. For centuries Scotland has had excellent schools in practically every parish, yet the speech of the people to-day is the "mither tongue." Why should school teaching, then, have a different effect in Yorkshire? Professor Moorman stated that some Yorkshire people were ashamed of the dialect, which they regarded as vulgar, whereas, on the other hand, it may be safely asserted that very few Scotsmen are ashamed of the doric, despite the fact that the Scot is made the subject of many so-called funny stories. Of course, if superior people treat the dialect as they would their poor relatives, it is no wonder it is decaying. If dialect is not honoured in the home it will soon be forgotten.

In regard to the dialect literature, there is a tendency to make it a sort of comic "language," as it were, by weaving ridiculous stories round Yorkshire people, not in their daily life, but, as Prof. Moorman said, in farcical positions. That helps to bring the dialect with certain people into disrepute, because many judge a thing, not by its own value, but by its associations, just as some folks judge Christianity by people who profess it. In the dialect we get words which have no equivalent in standard English, and when these are gone they represent a distinct loss to everyday life. Professor Moorman is doing his utmost to show the value of the dialect, and he is anxious for the creation of a greater Yorkshire literature. There is a fine field, and all that is wanted is the writer with the insight, sympathy, and imagination to undertake the work. Barrie made his name by writing of what he knew—the everyday life of the people, and there is no reason why Leeds University should not produce an author, or authors, who will place Yorkshire in the position it should be.

Lord Hawke has been re-elected President of Leeds Cricket Club.

TEMPORARY HOSPITAL.—The Rev. R. and Mrs Hemsworth, of Monk Fryston, have received notice that the Convert Hall is to be used as a hospital for wounded soldiers. The Convert Hall is fully-equipped with ready go beds, and everything is in readiness when required.

SMITH BROS HOLD A LARGE STOCK of MATERIALS — SUITABLE FOR — Red Cross & Hospital Work. SPECIAL DISCOUNT ALLOWED FOR QUANTITIES. BRIGGATE & COUNTY ARCADE, LEEDS.

BUY ADGIE'S BOOTS "BY TEST THE BEST." THE NEW SEASON'S FOOTWEAR HAS NOW ARRIVED. The Street, the Country Lane, the Drawing Room, the Fireside, all are represented in our new display of AUTUMN FOOT STYLES. Please Come Round and Inspect our Display ALL AT MODERATE PRICES. Note the Address— ADGIE'S Wholesale & Retail Warehouse 31, NEVILLE STREET, LEEDS. A minute's walk from City Square, down Bishopgate Street, and through Railway Arches. First Warehouse on right hand side.

Leeds: 'Phone No. 1949. Huddersfield: " 1809. Watchmaker to the Admiralty.

William GREENWOOD, Watchmaker and Jeweller, 92, BRIGGATE, LEEDS. SPECIALITIES:— DRESS, ENGAGEMENT, AND WEDDING RINGS. W. G. makes a Handsome Present with every Wedding Ring. Wedding Presents, Birthday Presents, and Presentations of every kind. — AND AT — 3, DEVONSHIRE BUILDINGS, VICTORIA LANE, HUDDERSFIELD.

STEPHENSON'S GREAT AUTUMN SHOW OF THE PRESENT SEASON'S FASHIONS AT THE CROSS ARCADE, Extending from KING EDWARD STREET to QUEEN VICTORIA STREET (50 yards down either from) BRIGGATE, LEEDS. Here you will find extensive Stocks of all that is Beautiful, New and Tasteful in Goods and Garments, and WE CONTINUE TO SELL AT OUR OLD LOW PEACE PRICES. NO SHORTAGE OF STOCK. ADVANCE IN PRICES. The Latest Productions in Furs, Dress Fabrics, Silks, Ladies', Maids' and Children's Paletots, Raincoats, Blouses, Woven Underwear in Winter Weights, Children's Coats and Costumes, Corsets, Ladies' and Children's Millinery, Hosiery, Gloves, Ribbons, Lace, Neckwear, &c., &c. Special Attention is called to the Bargains we are offering in Household Drapery, Blankets, Down Quilts, and Wool Shirtings. COME AND SAVE MONEY AT STEPHENSON'S DRAPERY MARKET, THE CROSS ARCADE, King Edward Street, & Queen Victoria Street, LEEDS.

THE GREED OF CONQUEST.

By J. BARRIS-BURLAND

Author of "Dorothea," "An Angel's Sin," "Ruth, England," "Love, the Criminal," "The Gold Worshippers," "The Financier," &c.

CHAPTER II.

At half-past six on the following afternoon a small procession made its way across the sand which separated Cruiswea Island from the mainland. Ralph, dressed in the cart which contained the precious box's drove the old grey horse at a funeral pace. Twenty yards ahead Joan Endermine walked by the side of Sir John Lowick. She was trembling with excitement, and so happy as a schoolgirl out for a holiday.

"It was so good of you to let me come!" she exclaimed for about the fifth time since they had left the house.

"Is it sounds you mean, not?" the old man answered, quietly. "You are too fond of my son to talk of anything you may see."

"Oh! course, Sir John. And besides, I shan't understand anything, shall I? Women are so stupid about these sort of things."

"I expect you'll see something that even a child can understand, Joan. But you have given your word of honour not to say anything about it."

They climbed up the slope of the further shore, and the cart lurched and after them Sir John looked back as the horse strained up the steep ascent.

"Go steady, Ralph!" he shouted. "Be careful!"

"Can't go slower," the young man answered, shortly, as the cart lurched again.

Sir John did not smile. He remained where he was till the cart had safely up the slope. Then he walked on towards a bungalow which he had built in the centre of the island. The outermost room for their present expedition was to take various articles across to this small and perfect residence, and the cart was heaped high with carpets, curtains, and blankets, which completely hid the box underneath.

When they reached the building Ralph unharnessed the horse, then fastened it to a staple in the wall. Sir John insisted on this unnecessary precaution, fearful of what would happen if the horse bolted. It was true that the animal had never bolted in its life, and was less likely than ever to do so in its old age; but then it was equally true that it had never before drawn a burden which would suffer so severely from being thrown out on to the road.

Sir John unlocked the door of the bungalow, and then all three set to work to unload the cart. The building consisted of a large sitting-room with two bedrooms and a kitchen opening out of it. When the various things were put in their places, the sitting-room looked exceedingly comfortable.

"So much for that," said Sir John. "We'll leave the bedrooms till afterwards. You to business, Joan, will you step here for a little while?"

"Certainly. Shall I tidy up a little?"

"Well, I thought we'd done all that," said Ralph.

"Oh, no," she laughed, "there are lots to be done yet—just the finishing touches.

The two men went outside, and when Ralph had unharnessed the horse they led it away from the bungalow towards the sea.

"I suppose we're safe from observation?" queried Ralph, looking back towards the mainland.

"Oh, yes; there will be very little to see—nothing to see at a distance."

"I suppose there's no one on the island?"

"Not for the present—unless they're going to stay here all night. But when we find a suitable place you shall have a walk round."

Sir John found the place he was looking for—a spot on the edge of the shore, with twenty yards of sand stretching down to the sea. Behind was a hillock, some twenty feet in height, which completely screened them from the interior of the island.

"This will do," he said. "I don't think you need trouble to search the place. With the exception of three or four clumps of trees the island is flat as a board."

Ralph scrambled up the hillocks, had a good look round him from the top of one of them, waved his hand to Joan, and rejoined his father. The old man had turned the horse round so that the back of it faced the sea, and had started to unharness the horse.

"Sorry," he said, when Ralph laughed. "This isn't exactly a toy. One has to be careful."

The horse was turned loose, and as the grass was not rustling, it stood motionless, apparently weary of the proceedings. Sir John led his head on to the top of the box.

"I'd like to explain to you, Ralph," he said, "if you'll please listen carefully. You know the general idea that I think, some of the mechanical parts up to a certain point. I am not going into all that now. I'm just going to show you how the thing worked the first time I tried it. Now you want to release every ounce of gas that's on at the right towards you."

"I understand," said Ralph, quietly. "Will you let me try it?"

"Yes, when you have fetched Joan. You had better go by the path."

Ralph departed, and Sir John Lowick, walking to the top of one of the hillocks, sighed to himself. He was trying to think thoughtfully at the peaceful scene that lay before his eyes. There was not a cloud in the heavens, and the western sky was ablaze with rose and orange and gold. The trees round Cruiswea Hall showed up dark against the glow, and the water, as it stretched silent marshland and sea. There was not a breath of air to stir the spiked grass on the sandhills, not a sound to be heard save the ripple of the sea upon the shore. Not a single human or animal motionless, the cart with its shafts resting on the ground, the trim bungalow in the distance, the glowing flames of the water, and the lonely desolation of the sands, the smoke rising in a straight line from the kitchen chimney of Cruiswea Hall, all combined to form a picture of absolute peace and quietude. Nothing seemed to stir, not the white wings of a seagull hovering over the water, and the tall, thin figure of Ralph Lowick striding towards the bungalow.

"As everything there shall be rest," said Sir John Lowick to himself. Then he covered his face with both hands, and another picture formed itself before his eyes—the shrivelled dead of armies scorched in a torrent of flames, the navies of the world swept by fire on the seas by a cyclone of fire—blackness and desolation and death beyond anything that the human brain had hitherto conceived.

"Heaven-will not let me live," he muttered. "Heaven will not let me live."

And he remained there for a few minutes till voices roused him from his reverie. He rose to his feet and smiled quietly as he saw the look of expectation on John Endermine's face.

"Is everything ready?" she asked.

"Shall I embrace Triumph before I go?" asked Ralph.

"Oh no. I can manage that. You get along sharp. Good night, Joan, and remember you've got to keep a secret—both, by the law, Ralph, tell them in the house that we are going to stay all night on the island."

The two lovers went down the road to the ferry. The sun had set now behind the hills on the back of Canterbury, though there were still some crimson clouds in the sky, the afterglow was grey in the twilight, and the Endermines' house was dimly seen through the trees on the south and eastern road.

"I can't help thinking of that poor seagull," said Joan, "it's a regular—till then the rest was nothing just a few bubbles, a small pall of smoke, that was all.

"A matter in the course of science," Ralph replied grimly. "It held a happier death than some of the agonies that were going to operate on. Joan, do you realise what we have seen to-night?"

"I know," she said quietly. "Yes, Ralph, I am sure I realise what we have seen to-night. Wonderful weapons of warfare that lie hidden in your uncle's house."

"Yes, that's about what it is. The model is really a toy. A motor-car would have a range of fifty—of a hundred miles. It is only a question of money."

"And you have it. What does he intend to do now?"

"I don't know, Joan."

The girl was silent, and did not speak again till they reached the top of the slope by the channel which now separated the island from the mainland. Then she stopped, and looking back at the bungalow, which was now almost obscured against the sky. He appeared to be standing on the hillock close to the place where the model had been made.

"Do you know what I would do, Ralph," she said, in a low voice. "If I were your father, Sir John Lowick, I would end the war by fighting, for I am sure that is impossible. I should give this secret to England, so that she should possess the rest of the world."

"My dear Joan," he said softly, "my father would not do that; nor would I, if I were in his place. He would have the blood of millions on his conscience."

"But he is the mistress of the world!" she cried, passionately. "Oh, if only I were possessed!"

"It is not possible, Joan dear. Now I'll ferry you across, if you'll get into the boat."

Five minutes later they crossed the dark and swelling tide which poured through the channel, and were walking spacedly through the grounds of Cruiswea Hall. A faint breeze was now coming off the sea, and there was a chilly feeling in the air. It was dark under the thick branches, and Joan Endermine clung a little more tightly to her lover's arm.

"I am afraid," she whispered. "We have been talking of such terrible things that I feel afraid. I only know for certain that poor seagull."

"And yet you would have the whole world plunged in war, Joan. A dead man is a more terrible sight than a dead seagull."

"But I feel that I could kill another topic, and it was not till they reached their destination that they began to speak of it again.

"I was very good of you to bring me home, Ralph dear," she said, as they stood under the shadow of the island. "But you will be sure that your father is the best person in the world to leave such a secret in his hands? Good night, my dear lover."

He took her in his arms and kissed her.

"Good night, dear," he said, in a low tone. "I must get back to my father now. I don't like the idea of him being left alone on the island."

He kissed her again tenderly, and then went striding down the drive. When he had passed the gates he broke into a run. As he had said, he did not like the idea of his father being left alone on the island. That sense of fear had no foundation. Still, it was an unfounded fear that Sir John Lowick was no longer merely an eccentric scientist. He was the possessor of a secret that might affect the destiny of nations. As yet no one knew of his power save two people who loved him; but if ever the world knew there would be murder cause for fear.

Ralph Lowick reached his home at quarter-past nine, interviewed the housekeeper, and made his way through the grounds to the landing-stage where he had left the boat. The moon had now risen in the east, and though it was yellow and low down on the horizon, it gave sufficient light for a man to see his way across the water.

Ralph stood for a few moments on the wooden quay, which jutted out some few yards from the shore, and looked at the dark water go swirling by. The moon made glittering pathways across it, but on either side lay only gloom, dark as ink. A yellow light gleamed in the bungalow, and the young man fancied he could see the lonely figure of his father as he sat in front of the dark walls of the building. There was not a sound but the gurgling of the water, the low splash of the boat, and the distant lowing of two cows in the trees round Cruiswea Hall.

"A wonderful, still night," muttered Ralph, and then, in a curious train of thought, he pictured the same scene as that of the great and terrible forces that his father had let loose on the world. The meshing had been very silent, as it was now, on the night. There had been no roar of explosion, no rumbling of the earth, no spray of water over the sea. But death had gone forth in a terrible irresistible death, moving like the unseen hand of God.

He shuddered, and for a moment felt physically cold, as though a sudden chill had come towards him from the sea. He shuddered, and made his way down the steps to the boat. Five minutes later he had rowed across to a similar landing-stage on the other side. The tide was running very hard, and the passage, which in calmer water would have been a straight row across, resolved itself into a steady pull against the current.

He fastened the painter to the pier, climbed up the steps, and walked across the grass to the bungalow. There were lights in the sitting-room shimmied, and the sound seemed like a friendly greeting. He paused to put the mooring-rope from the boat round the building, then he went round to the door, he turned the handle. The door was locked.

"Hallo!" he cried out. "I've come back!"

There was no reply to this obvious statement of fact, and Ralph knocked upon the door, thinking that perhaps his father had fallen asleep. The noise echoed through the stillness of the night, but there was no answering sound from within.

"That gas-bag must be mooning about at the other end of the island," he thought, and he moved out of the shelter of the verandah.

"Hallo! hallo!" he shouted. "Hallo! I'm hungry. Where are you?"

There was no reply, and he shouted again and again. Then he left them, making his way

Rothwell Courier & Times

ESTABLISHED 1873.

CHEAP PREPAID RATES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS of the following classes:—WANTED, FOR SALE, and TO LET.

Words.	1 week.	3 weeks.	6 weeks.	13 weeks
20	... 0 6	... 1 0	... 1 10	... 3 3
30	... 0 9	... 1 6	... 2 9	... 5 0
40	... 1 0	... 1 9	... 3 0	... 5 6

£5 Cash is not sent with advt. ordinary rates will be charged.

BUSINESS ADVERTISEMENTS.

Are charged at the following rates when ordered for not less than

13 weeks,	1s. per inch per insertion.
26 do.	1od. do.	do.
52 do.	8d. do.	do.

WANTED

ROTHWELL JOINT CEMETERY BOARD.

TENDERS are prepared to receive APPLICATIONS for the POSITION OF CLERK. Salary £25 per annum.

Applications, with copies of two testimonials, and endorsed "Clerk," to be sent not later than November 14th, to JOHN HIRST, Chatham House, Rothwell, Leeds.

FREE.—Any Quantity of good RED ASHES. Send carts to the Pits, Garforth Colliery.

WANTED Good GENERAL SERVANT.—Apply, Mrs. SIMPSON, 132, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates. 1 2503

GENERAL SERVANT wanted, chiefly housework. Three in family.—Apply, GREEN, "Jesmond," Selby Road, Whitkirk, near Leeds. 2

WANTED Experienced GENERAL. No washing. Good wages. Plenty of liberty. References required.—Apply, 12, Brunswick Place, Leeds. 1

FOR SALE.

FOR Sale, 1,800 Vic and 600 Prince Albert RHUBARB ROOTS.—Grass, Eastville, Rothwell Haigh. 2552

28 DAYS' GRANDFATHER CLOCK for Sale, Good going order.—Apply, Jackson, Watchmaker, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates. 2

FOR Sale 5-6 h.p. RUDGE MULTI-MOTOR CYCLE and SIDECAR, 1913. 2 Spare Tyres, Tubes, 4 Belts, fast and reliable.—E. PEARSON, Sherburn-in-Elmet.

PIG POTATOES, 1/6 per Bag (9 stone), CABBAGE PLANTS, Drumheads, Leeds Market, Reds, Savoys, 2/6 per 1,000, cash.—THOS. HORNER, Scarcroft, near Leeds. 2 1876

FOR Sale GEESE Dressed, 1s. lb.; Chickens, 5s. to 6s. couple; Goose-feathers, 1/2 lb.; Pheasant-feathers, 7d. per dozen.—MISS THIRKILL, Park House, Aberford.

TO CHORAL SOCIETIES, &c. MUSIC for Sale, 1/- copies:—Robin Hood 8, Earl King's Daughter 35, Inchcape Rock 25. Practically new. Half-price or best offers.—J. PAWSON, Micklefield, Leeds. 3 1894

MEDICAL.

TO MARRIED LADIES.

THE WIFE'S HANDBOOK, by Dr. Allbutt, should be read by all Married People, 7d. Post Free. Illustrated list of Malthusian Appliances, Rubber Goods, &c., Post Free, 2 Stamps.—(S) DAVIES & Co., 54 Park Lane, Leeds.

LADIES! Wood's Challenge Remedy is guaranteed under the sum of £100 to cure more cases than any other advertised remedy. For all cases of irregularities Challenge Remedy has no equal. Price 2/9, special 4/6. Consultations free 10 to 10 daily. Hygienic Rubber Requisites. Only address—Mr and Mrs. W. WOOD, 20, Louis Street, Chapeltown Road Leeds.

MARRIED LADIES.

Consult MRS. WOOD, the only reliable Ladies' Specialist, 20 years' experience. My remedies never fail. My Special Mixture or Pills are guaranteed to be the only reliable remedy known. Acts in a few hours after all else fails. Quick, Safe, and Sure. Price 2s. 9d. Special 4s. 6d., post free in plain wrappers, or stamp for particulars. Consultations by appointment. Only Address: Mrs WOOD, 21, Park Avenue, Blackpool.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH, EXTRACTIONS, Etc.

Mr. J. DILWORTH'S DENTAL ROOMS,

CECIL HOUSE, BURLEY LODGE TERRACE, HYDE PARK ROAD, LEEDS.

Advice Free. ... Hours—10 to 8.

and at

16, Austhorpe Road, Crossgates.

Every Friday, 2 to 7.30 p.m. Other hours by appointment.

Painless Extractions. Nitrous Oxide Gas administered.

THOMAS MIDDLETON
PAWNBROKER AND JEWELLER,
96 VICAR LANE, (Corner of LADY LANE, LEEDS),
ADVANCES MONEY TO ANY AMOUNT ON PORTABLE PROPERTY.

£0 10 0 for 12½ per month.
£1 0 0 ... 25 ... ,,
£2 0 0 ... 50 ... ,,
£5 10 0 ... 100 ... ,,
£1 0 0 ... 1s. 6d. ... ,,
£2 0 0 ... 2s. 8d. ... ,,
£4 0 0 ... 5s. 8d. ... ,,
£10 0 0 ... 13s. 4d. ... ,,
Sums above £100 by Special Agreement.
ONLY ADDRESS
96 VICAR LANE, LEEDS.
PLEDGE OFFICE, 1, LADY LANE, LEEDS.

MR and MRS. TURNER
of 7, Lady Lane, Leeds,
and 36, Horton Road, Bradford,
Purchase for Cash, Unsoiled Ladies' and Gentlemen's Cast-off Clothing. All Letters and Parcels receive immediate attention. Full value given for Old Gold and Silver. Trial Solicited.
Highest Price Given.
Tel. Nos.: Leeds, 3188; Bradford, 241.

Window Cleaning, Paintwashing, Limewashing &c., at Moderate Charges.

EXPERIENCED MEN SENT ANY DISTANCE.

FIRTH & KENYON.
GROVE ROAD HALTON, near LEEDS.

DR. SKELTON'S
BRONCHITIS LOZENGES
Cure Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, Difficulties of Breathing, Consumption, and all Diseases of the Chest and Lungs.
Sold only in Boxes at 1/1½ and 2/9 at
LAMB'S HERBAL STORES, 25, KIRKGATE, LEEDS.
All kinds of Herbs, etc., kept in Stock.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

TEMPLE NEWSAM.

IN consequence of REGULATIONS ISSUED BY THE WAR OFFICE NO INTOXICANTS ARE ALLOWED to be SUPPLIED or GIVEN to BELGIAN SOLDIERS.
CAPTAIN THE HONOURABLE EDWARD F. L. WOOD desires that NO PERSON WILL OFFER ANY INTOXICANTS to any of the SOLDIERS or REFUGEES in the NEIGHBOURHOOD of TEMPLE NEWSAM.

HALTON GUN CLUB.

Headquarters: IRWIN ARMS, HALTON, LEEDS.
SECOND MEMBERS' SHOOT
On HALTON MOOR GROUND,
On MONDAY, NOVEMBER 9th, 1914.
To commence at 12.30.

MANSTON - PARISH CHURCH.

DEDICATION FESTIVAL.

In connection with the Festival the PARISH TEA will take place on SATURDAY, NOV. 14th. The Meeting will follow at 8 o'clock, at which Dr. SADLER, Vice-Chancellor of Leeds University, will speak on the "ISSUES OF THE WAR."
Tickets for Tea and Meeting ... ... 1s.
Admission to Meeting only (after 8 o'clock) 6d.

SOUTH MILFORD & DISTRICT FANCIERS' SOCIETY.

IN AID OF THE WAR FUND.

THE 3rd ANNUAL SHOW of POULTRY, PIGEONS, RABBITS, and BREAD will be held in the SWAN CROFT on WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 18th, 1914.
The SHOW will be OPENED at 1.30 by the Rev. B. HEMSWORTH, M.A., J.P., MONK FRYSTON HALL.
Admission ... 6d.

GARFORTH PICTURE HOUSE.

Every Evening at 7 o'clock, except
SATURDAY: Two Performances at 6.30 & 8.30

WEEK COMMENCING NOVEMBER 9th.

MONDAY, TUESDAY, and WEDNESDAY—
The World's Greatest Emotional Tragedy in Motion Pictures—
"GIVE US THIS DAY."
WRECK OF THE RED CROSS SHIP "S.S. ROHILLA," AT WHITBY.

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY—
"THE LIFE OF A SOLDIER."
Splendid views of Recruits drilling at Doncaster, Recruits receiving clothes, at Rifle Drill, Cavalry Recruits mount without saddle—walking, trotting, and charging, Officers' Sabre Drill, General Review by the Doncaster Corps, Arrival of Leeds Pals' Battalion at Masham, and Departure for Colsterdale.
MACK AT IT AGAIN.

Children's Matinee on Saturday at 2.30.
Popular Prices—1d., 4d., and 6d.

Athletes' Volunteer Force.

WHITKIRK SECTION.

THE FIRST DRILL

WILL BE HELD AT THE
HEADQUARTERS OF THE WHITKIRK & DISTRICT RIFLE CLUB,
— ON —
TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 10th
At 7-30 p.m. prompt.

A Competent Drill Instructor will be in attendance.

J. W. PRICE, Hon. Sec.

BARKER'S BRITISH PIANOS.

BARGAINS. BARGAINS. BARGAINS.
SEE OUR WINDOWS. POUNDS SAVED
70 Gns. J. & J. HOPKINSON, Iron frame, Ivory keys ..... only 22 Gns.
60 Gns. COLLARD & COLLARD, Iron frame, Ivory keys ..... only 15 Gns.
55 Gns. BRINSMEAD, Overstrung ..... only 40 Gns.
52 Gns. CHAPPELL, Rosewood, Upright Grand ..... only 30 Gns.
70 Gns. JUSTIN-BROWN, Overstrung, latest model ..... only 45 Gns.
50 Gns. BARKER & CO., Overstrung, only 25 Gns.
36 Gns. KIRKMAN Overstrung only 20 Gns.
38 Gns. ROBERTS, Vertical, Iron frame, only 16 Gns.
WADDINGTON, KIRKMAN, and Another ..... each 8 Gns.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—IN ORDER TO CLEAR OUR STOCK OF FOREIGN PIANOS, WE ARE OFFERING THE FOLLOWING INSTRUMENTS AT ENORMOUS REDUCTIONS.
SEE OUR WINDOWS. POUNDS SAVED.
72 Gns. SCHIEDMAYER, Overstrung, new ..... only 45 Gns.
90 Gns. STEINWAY & SONS, Rosewood, overstrung ..... only 50 Gns.
70 Gns. LIPP, Upright Grand, Inlaid ..... only 45 Gns.
65 Gns. BECHSTEIN, Rosewood, Upright ..... only 39 Gns.
90 Gns. NEUMAYER, second-hand, only 20 Gns.
45 Gns. MASTUL, Overstrung, Ivory keys ..... only 28 Gns.
72 Gns. SCHIEDMAYER, Second-hand, 2 yrs. old ..... only 38 Gns.
50 Gns. LANGE, Overstrung, Ivory keys ..... only 24 Gns.
The above Foreign Pianos have been discoupled regardless of cost, in order to clear them from our show-rooms. Wholesale deductions. Pounds saved by giving us a visit. Inspection invited.
100 Gns. BABY GRAND, magnificent bargain, new ..... 45 Gns.
170 Gns. SCHIEDMAYER PLAYER PIANO, 65 and 88 note melody device, with all the latest improvements ..... 100 Gns.
BARKER'S, BRITISH MERCHANTS, NEW STATION STREET, LEEDS.
'Phone 4945.

SALES BY AUCTION.

TADCASTER AUCTION MART.

ON MONDAY NEXT,
Messrs THOMLINSON & SON
Will Sell by Auction—
50 to 60 Fat Baller Ewes and Heifers.
100 to 110 Prime Fat SHEEP.
60 to 70 Fat and Store PIGS.
THOMLINSON & SON, Auctioneers.

GRIMESDIKE FARM, WHINMOOR.

Messrs BARTLE & SON
Instructed by Mr T. OATES, will Sell by Auction on MONDAY NEXT, NOVEMBER 9th, at 1.30 p.m.
20 WELL-BRED STORE BULLOCKS, 21 to 23 cwts.-old, were forward in condition.
70 WELL-BRED YORKSHIRE and BERKSHIRE PIGS.
Auctioneers' Offices —Garforth.

NEXT WEDNESDAY, AT 12 O'CLOCK.
THE AUCTION MART, WHITKIRK.

Messrs BARTLE & SON
Will hold their Monthly Horse Sale on WEDNESDAY NEXT, NOVEMBER 11TH, when they will offer
50 to 60 VALUABLE HORSES.
Further entries should reach the Auctioneers Garforth, not later than noon on Tuesday next.

ON MONDAY NEXT, AT 11 O'CLOCK.
GARFORTH LIVE STOCK AUCTION MART
20 CHOICE BULLOCKS and HEIFERS.
80 FAT LAMBS, SHEARLINGS, and EWES.
PORK and STORE PIGS.
WM. ASH, Auctioneer.

SPRINGFIELD COTTAGE, WORKHOUSE LANE, BARWICK-IN-ELMET.
Mr. WILLIAM ASH,
Instructed by Mr. CROWTHER, will Sell by Auction on WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 18th, 1914, the Greater Portion of the HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE and EFFECTS.

W. A. F. BURROWS & CO.,
Auctioneers and Valuers,
BOND PLACE, LEEDS.
(Opposite Yorkshire Penny Bank).
Sales of every description conducted on the most reasonable terms.
Valuations made for all purposes.
To Heads of Families, Private Buyers, Dealers and others
Various Stocks of Drapery, Boots, and Shoes, Hosiery, and Underclothing always on hand, and may be purchased privately at any time.
Goods on View. Public Inspection Invited.

Messrs J. CUNDALL & SON,
AUCTIONEERS and TENANT-RIGHT VALUERS.
SHERBURN, E.R., YORK

H. E. WALKER,
STURTON GRANGE, GARFORTH,
Agricultural Agent
— FOR —
THE DRIFFIELD PURE LINSEED, COTTON and UNION CAKE COMPANY, LIMITED.
Molassine Meal.
Dairy and Calf Meal.
Poultry and Dog Foods.
Manures, Peat Moss, Oils, etc.
Best Quality & Prompt Delivery.

THREE GOOD LINES:
CINEMA GREEN PEAS,
Housewife Marrowfat Peas,
Id., 1½d. & 3d. Packets,
— AND —
CROWN VINEGAR.
SANCFORD & Co., Ltd.,
DEWSBURY ROAD, LEEDS.

If your Hearing is Defective, read this:-

The adjustable Earphone, for which we are the sole agents throughout Yorkshire, will enable you to hear perfectly.

There are many thousands in use already, and delighted wearers are daily thanking us for the help they are deriving.

Recommended by the Medical Faculty.

A personal demonstration is invited, and will place no obligation upon you.

CALL OR WRITE FOR BROCHURE.

HEYWOOD,
Eyesight Specialists, and Earphone Experts,
20, DUNCAN STREET, LEEDS.

RAILWAY NOTICE.

NORTH EASTERN RAILWAY.

EXCURSION TRAINS FROM LEEDS NEW STATION CALLING AT CROSSGATES AND GARFORTH

Wednesday, 11th November, 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, Scarborough, Pickering, and Whitby. Saturday, 14th November, 12.30 p.m. to York, Malton, Scarborough, Pickering, and Whitby, 12.45 p.m. to Selby and Hull.
For further particulars see bills.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

Telephone No. 1 Garforth.

ALFRED REED,
Late Matthews,
CAB and WAGGONETTE PROPRIETOR,
GARFORTH and BARWICK-IN-ELMET.
Cabs, Waggonettes and Landaus for Hire.
Large and Small Parties Catered for.

PATENTS FOR INVENTIONS, obtained by
JOHN E. WALSH, CHARTERED PATENT AGENT,
25, ROYAL EXCHANGE, LEEDS,
and CROSSLEY STREET, HALIFAX.
Established in London, Handbook Free or British and Foreign Patents, Trade Marks and Designs.
Telephone: LEEDS 2138. HALIFAX 35Y.

Established 37 Years.

WM. DENTON & SON,
23, COMMERCIAL STREET, ROTHWELL.
Estate Agents and Rent Collectors.
Estates Entirely Managed. Terms on application.
Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass, etc.,
Quotations for any kind of Insurance Free. Insurance Brokers.

Purveyors of Marmalade — To H.M. King George V.

Frank COOPER'S "OXFORD" MARMALADE.

The "Oxford" has a distinctive flavour, has the real home-made character, and goes further — than any other. —

OBTAINABLE AT
Walter Jubb's, Austhorpe Rd., Crossgates
AND
S. BORDER & Co., YORK.

Rothwell Courier & Times

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7th, 1914.

Like the hypocrite whose sins have found him out, Germany dreads the judgment of public opinion, and the fictions her rulers have caused to be set over the world show the uneasiness of men whose national life has been built up on forgery and falsehood. The manipulation by Count Bismarck, then Prussia's Foreign Minister, of the telegram sent Prussia and France flying at each other's throats in 1870. The French Ambassador went to Ems, where Emperor William I. then was, to ask him not to approve the candidature of Prince Leopold to become the King of Spain. The King refused to give a definite answer, but Prince Anthony of Hohenzollern withdrew his son's candidacy. A report of the conference was published by telegram to Count Bismarck with authorisation to publish it. Bismarck altered the text, and in the changed form gave it to the newspapers and through them to France. As Bismarck wrote it the report was unfavourable to France, and the international war with all its horrors followed. Years later Bismarck confessed the forgery. Following this war, in which France lost Alsace and Lorraine, came the German Bismarck's trickery is having its effect today, and until the criminal nation is punished Europe cannot afford to sheath the sword. "Prussia," says the Belgian Premier, "must be reduced to what she was before the time of Bismarck. That is the only condition on which we shall have serious guarantees of peace. The Prussian spirit, which has been imposed by force on the other States of the German Confederation, must be broken." Force has been the means applied to the making of the German empire, and ever since the first King of Prussia—the old drill sergeant as he was called—began his drilling of men and the seizure of Silesia by his son, the military spirit has been steadily developed until it now dominates the whole of Germany. Much has been written lately about the effect of certain teachings in the Fatherland, but the doctrine of force—the survival of the strongest—was put into operation in the early days of the kingdom of Prussia, so the demonstration of the belief by Germany in the righteousness of might is nothing new. When the confederation was formed—if the German States had not joined no doubt compulsion would have been used—Bismarck became the masters of the empire, and they soon got the Germans to think with them. Tell a people often enough that they are the greatest race in the world and that their country is the most powerful and they will eventually come to believe it, and once the belief is fixed it will be difficult to eradicate it. Germans have been taught in schools, colleges, and universities that they are a nation with a great destiny, and a world-wide mission, although it is meant no more than material advancement, and they have given evidence of their faith in a coming time when Germany will be over all.

The Germans are patriotic—quite as patriotic as Britons—and their patriotism is being exploited by the military class for well-defined ends. The address at Swillington by Dr Ambrose Pope, of Bradford, who was for two months a prisoner of war in Germany, proves that. In order to influence public feeling against the Allies lies were disseminated, and the German soldiers, despite their eagerness to get at the enemy, really did not know against whom they were fighting. The German nation have simply been gulled and cheated by their rulers. Such a thing would be impossible in this country. Britons have never claimed a monopoly of the virtues, but they have a reputation for fair and honest dealing, and the German attempts to convince neutral nations of the perfidy of England are laughable. The assumption of a childlike innocence now for long concealed the real character of those who have donned the cloak of Ananias. Still more wonderful than the gulling of the German people by their rulers is the existence in this country of apologists for the Kaiser. They are a very small band—a discredited lot—but it is really marvellous that a single Briton can be found to utter a good word for Prussian policy. They have knowledge that is denied the people of Germany, they are not in ignorance why Britain joined the Allies, yet they are content to range themselves on the side of liars, plunderers, and murderers—products of the "culture" which the Kaiser is so anxious to present to the world, for a consideration, of course. Has anything the Germans have done since the war began merited their praise? Sufficient evidence exists to convict Germany of playing the hypocrite for years. Whilst the Kaiser was posing as the apostle of peace on the Continent of Europe he was all the time preparing for war, and he managed to deceive the other nations just as he has managed to deceive his own. In some quarters an attempt is being made to blame the militarists, and not the Emperor, but the Kaiser was not ignorant of what was going on; and it must be accepted, until it is proved to the contrary, that he is the chief criminal of the lot. Germany's argument, as the violation of the integrity of Belgium demonstrates, is that the end justifies the means, but the civilized peoples of the world will not support that. What applies to individuals should apply equally to nations, and Germany's attitude is simply that it is only justifiable for the strong to rob the weak, but that it is justifiable to commit murder in order to obtain possession of what one covets. And German religionists have actually written in defence of this Prussian policy! When the war is over the missionary societies in this country might consider the advisability of sending missionaries to the Teuton, for he seems in greater need of enlightenment than many of the people who at present receive the ministrations of the missionaries. Germany, whatever the outcome of the war, stands discredited and disgraced in the eyes of the world, and it would have been better for Prussia had it been a chance, profited by Bismarck's forgery. A nation that looks upon a treaty as a "scrap of paper" to be torn up when opportunity suits is utterly devoid of honour, and who will trust the bankrupt? The Germans must be taught that there is something higher in life than mere material advancement—that real greatness does not consist of possessions but in the worth of a people.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Communications intended for insertion must be authenticated by the name and address of the writer—not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. No notice will be taken of anonymous letters, and rejected communications cannot be returned.

Notices of Births and Deaths are charged 1s. each prepaid. They must be authenticated by the name and address of the sender.

Notices of marriages are charged at the rate of 2s. 6d. each.

In Memoriam" Notices 1s. each, and 6d. extra for all matter up to four lines

DEATHS.

DAWSON.—On October 29th, 1914, at Fair View, Collingham, Annie Elizabeth, wife of George Henry Dawson, aged 55.

PREVAL.—October 30th, aged 77 years, Hannah, widow of the late William Preval, of Barwick-in-Elmet.

RADCLIFFE.—November 1st, at South Milford, aged 52 years, Louisa Margaret, widow of A. L. Radcliffe.

THOMPSON.—November 1st, at North View, Thorner, aged 72 years, John, the beloved husband of Emma Thompson.

WALKER.—November 1st, at Rothwell Haigh, Leeds, in her 90th year, Sarah Ann, widow of the late John Walker.

IN MEMORIAM

HUNT.—In loving memory of Jessie, the beloved daughter of Louisa Gent, who died November 4th, 1913.
From mother and family.

WILSON.—In loving memory of my dear husband, William Wilson, of Allerton Bywater, who died November 6th, 1909.
"Though death divides, still memory clings."
2547

WILSON.—In ever loving memory of Harry Wilson, of Allerton Bywater, who died November 15th, 1909.
"Gone but not forgotten."
2547 From the family.

ROTHWELL & DISTRICT NEWS.

ROTHWELL

Mr W. G. Hoggard, of Rothwell Haigh, has given £5 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

A sum of 10s. has been contributed by Rothwell Council School infants' department to the Leeds Belgian Refugee Fund.

LEEDS WEST RIDING PETTY SESSIONS.—The magistrates at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday were Messrs J. W. Morkill (Chairman), E. Parkin, C. Holliday, and W. Evans.

PRIMITIVE METHODISM.—On Sunday the last of a series of special services at the Primitive Methodist Cause in connection with the new organ took place. In the morning and evening sermons were preached by Mr W. Linley, of Hunslet, and in the afternoon the choir of the Lofthouse Wesleyan Church rendered a capital programme. Mr T. Hampson was the conductor, and Mr G. H. Lunn presided at the organ.

Mr L. Robinson presided.

LANGUAGE.—On Tuesday at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions Charles E. Higginbottom, shoe maker, of Rothwell, was summoned for having used abusive language. P.C. Bosenworth stated that Messrs J. W. Morkill and Joseph Compton-Robert attended the Court on Sunday, October 25th, he was on duty in Commercial Street, Rothwell, when he saw the defendant, who was shouting and using abusive language respecting His Majesty the King and the Prince of Wales. A fine of 2s. 6d. and costs was imposed.

Patent List compiled by John E. Walsh, Chartered Patent Agent, of 25, Royal Exchange, Boar Lane, Leeds, and Crossley Street, Halifax:—Applications—E. and J. Sykes, Batley, improvements in self-setting gauges for rubs; H. A. Spain and E. Spain, Wakefield, apparatus for sizing, warping, and beaming yarns. Application completed—Walter Walsh, Morley, an improved stripper for carding machines. Patent accepted—A. L. Brockman and G. V. Laycock, Leeds and Huddersfield, an improved indoor golf game.

MINERS' ASSOCIATION.—The question of the new minimum wage award for West Yorkshire again claimed the attention of the Council of the Yorkshire Miners' Association at Barnsley on Tuesday, Mr H. Smith presiding. The Council resolved to urge the Miners' Federation to take immediate action to deal with the question. The Council had already decided to take legal proceedings to recover the amount in dispute, and they were advised by counsel that they had a good case in claiming for the full amount, viz., the minimum wage and 15 per cent. advance granted by the Conciliation Board. The officials and the men were beginning to think, Mr Wadsworth said, that in this case, as well as in others, the owners were making the war a plea for getting out of paying what they were legally bound to pay. The introduction of steel props instead of wood into the pit was also considered by the meeting. This had been done, it was stated, at Wath Main Colliery, and Mr Wadsworth was authorised to ask for a Joint Board meeting of owners and men to discuss the question.

FOOTBALL.—Rothwell v. the Leeds Senior League on Saturday afternoon, Rothwell Parish Church had a match with Clarence Iron and Steel Works, the former winning by two goals to one. The match, which was played in miserable weather, took place at Hunslet, Stringer won the toss, and the homesters kicked off. From the outset immediately rushed down to their end, and White netted from a corner. After the ball had been started again the homesters had a slice of luck, carrying the leather down to the Rothwell end, and a goal seemed almost certain, but Bradley cleverly saved. Rothwell, owing to the tactics of the homesters, who, although they had eleven men on the field, only played one full back, were continually being blown offside. However, just before the interval the Rothwell men, with a rush, evaded the Clarence backs, and White scored his second goal. In the second half of the game Rothwell had the most of the play, but in the closing stages the homesters were awarded a penalty from which Barber scored. A few moments later Bradley effected a grand save.

ALLERTON BYWATER

SIR JOSEPH'S VIEWS.—Speaking at Normanton Sir Joseph Compton-Rickett declared that Germany had the largest fleet in the world. Where was it to-day, and what was its value? Scrap iron! He believed that early next year the economic conditions in Germany would become so severe that she would be compelled to sue for terms.

CROSSGATES.

Mr Balfour, of Leeds, acknowledges receipt of £2-2-0 per the Rev. Crossgates Wesleyan Institute, per Mr G. Wilkins, to the Belgian Relief Fund.

There was a war wedding at Manston Church on Monday, when Miss Sarah Jane Dorothy Jordison, of Penrith, was married to Sergeant Glover, of the 8th West Yorkshires, who belongs to Crossgates.

WESLEY GUILD.—On Wednesday the monthly devotional meeting in connection with the Wesley Guild was held in the Lecture Hall. Mr J. E. Broadbent gave an excellent address on "Parables of Service."

Mr Sidney Stott, son of Mr Herbert Stott, of Crossgates, and a former member of Whitkirk Cricket Club, who went to South Africa some time ago, has joined General Botha's Army.

It will be noticed by our advt. columns that in connection with Manston Church dedication festival on Saturday, November 14th, Dr. Sadler, Vice-Chancellor of Leeds University, is to give an address on the "Issues of the War."

A marriage is arranged, and will take place shortly in London, early in January, between the Rev. George T. Shettle, vicar of Otley, only son of John Shettle, of Fleet, Hants., and grandson of the late Thomas Shettle, of Epperton House, Dewsbury, and Amy, widow of William Kidd, of Otley, and younger granddaughter of the late Edmund Stead, of Manston Hall, Leeds.

CHESS MATCH.—On Friday night, in the Leeds and District Chess League, a match was played at the Leeds Chess Rooms, Crossgates Institute and Armley and Worthey, and the former won easily by four to one. Details (Crossgates names first):—G. W. Beaumont 1 v. Dr. Morie 0, H. S. Bowe 1 v. H. W. Laxton 0, J. E. Walker 1 v. W. Sunderg 0, E. Webster 1 v. B. Crossley 0, and *G. Williams 0 v. J. Tindall 1. * Adjudicated.

LECTURE.—On Tuesday evening a descriptive lantern lecture on "The Holy Land and the Peking Tragedy" was delivered by the Rev. Frederick Brown, F.R.G.S., of America, in the Wesleyan school-room before an appreciative audience. Mr S. H. Young, of Halton, presided. Mr Brown, who acted as guide to the International Relief Forces under General Gaselee, had an interesting story to tell, and the pictures exhibited the value of his remarks.

ANNIVERSARY.—In connection with the Wesleyan Adult Bible Class anniversary services were held on Sunday at the Wesleyan Church, and the special preacher was the Rev. Owen Jones, of Horsforth, formerly superintendent minister of the circuit. The soloist was Mrs Hollings, of Leeds. At a service which took place in the afternoon Mr B. Gomersall, of Hull, presided, and the President (Mr E. Thewlis) gave an address on "Our Class: A review." Mrs Hollings sang the solo "The Better Land."

CORRESPONDENCE

TADCASTER FARMERS AND THE MEN'S UNION.

To the Editor.

Sir,—It was with a groan of despair that I concluded your report of the meeting of the Tadcaster Chamber of Agriculture. The impression displayed in dealing with matters vitally affecting not only their own but the country's interests!

If Mr. C. B. Lamb had ever made the slightest inquiry he would have found that good conditions of employment always make for efficiency and increased output, and never have "killed" any thing or any kind; in fact, many farmers are now proving this truth, by giving far better conditions than the Union is asking for.

Mr Elsdon's own remarks "Let all the machinery you like, you will need more men, for you must use more land. Good machinery needs good men and good wages.

In the resolution "That the meeting consider the programme unreasonable and unworkable in its district," we see no attempt to meet its specifications.

The Chairman said "They will exhort to do something." What? Where? The men, by their manifesto, had AMended the prop and stilt off in view of the war and for nefarious motives.

They had sent four separate appeals to the Farmers' Unions, Clubs, etc., during the last eighteen months. Their appeals had restricted regard to the chief executive Officers would kindly Dedicate a portion of their valuable time to the subject.

Surely the enlightened personality to exhibit higher gifts of auditory or eloquence for the public platform of address.

ROTHWELL FAIR.

CROSSGATES LITERARY SOCIETY

LECTURE BY PROFESSOR MOORMAN

The opening meeting of Crossgates Literary Society was held in the Lecture Hall, Crossgates, on Monday night, and despite the unfavourable weather, there was a good attendance of members. Mr E. Hawksworth (President of the Society) was in the chair, and he was supported by Professor Moorman, Mr Lewis Arthur Sutton, Organizer, and Mr Lewis, Coxbridge View, Horsforth.

WHAT OCCURRED AT A SHERBURN DANCE.

(To the Editor).

Sir,—I feel it my duty to contradict an error which appeared in your issue of the 23rd Oct., with reference to a dance at Sherburn, and at the same time to take up the cudgels of defence on behalf of the gentlemen who attended it. The dance was not organised to raise money for the Prince of Wales' Fund as stated, but for the Belgian Refugees' Fund, and a cheque for £5 has been accordingly forwarded.

The letter, to say the least, is an unmanly, discourteous, and uncalled-for attack upon those who patronised it, and who, in many cases, came from great distances and at considerable inconvenience to themselves, not for the sole purpose of drinking, as evidently the writer wishes to infer, but to practically show their appreciation of the efforts of the students and teachers of the Evening Classes in endeavouring to render pecuniary assistance to our needy and self-sacrificing Belgian friends.

There was no drinking on the premises, neither was any intoxicating liquor supplied, and it can be truthfully proved that all who were present at the dance were sober and quiet, to the credit of those present not one unclean word was spoken.

Certainly there were some who came in late hours with no intention whatever of dancing, but simply to support the cause by paying for admission. These men retired in an orderly, gentlemanly manner to the smoke-room, where they remained for a short time and then went home.

About sixteen young girls were present, and these, being members of the evening classes, had worked hard for the effort, but there was nothing either in the appearance or conduct of the men to shock their morals? There is absolutely no truth in the statement that a disgusting spectacle was witnessed, and the whole evening's entertainment savoured of refinement and respectability; such is the opinion of those who remained the whole time.

It would have been wise to leave the criticism of the dance to some person who had purchased a ticket or who had subscribed to the effort, but in the present circumstances I think it only just to say that such scathing and untrue remarks would have been better left unexpressed. "Heresy is an unsubstantial foundation upon which to work."

This unjust and prejudiced correspondence has not tended to improve the moral atmosphere of Sherburn, but rather the reverse, and his efforts and any good feeling hitherto shown. The young men and women, too, unanimously agree with me that our country has many evils to suppress, and now the public are invited to attention to be biased and prejudiced mind.

The morals of the young people of Sherburn are dear to the hearts of the promoters of the dance as Mr Foster, and no endeavour at all times by people to sustain them.

Why the attack should have been made against the Belgian dance is difficult to conjecture, but after continually meeting the same young men at different dances, I have nothing to add, except that they have always conducted themselves in an upright, sober, and respectful manner.

It would be well to remember "In true zeal on the throne, our own eyes and then view world correctly. To cast out the mote in brother's eye. In fairness let us be charitable in mind, and judge according to the eyes we wish to be judged.—Yours, etc.,

ANNIE RICHMOND.

Sherburn, October 27th, 1914.

AMBULANCE WORK—APPEAL TO GIRLS

To the Editor.

Sir,—An appeal is being made by the Ambulance Department of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem for funds to extend its work amongst the sick and wounded, upon the terms of its Royal Charter. The individual amount asked for is extremely small, and it is hoped that every girl will send such amount by a willing contributor, will call for an immense amount of personal services to-day, and the result will be that confidently appeal to the generous instincts of the girls of England to offer their services for the benefit of the sick and wounded.

So soon as the department has already done in the hospitals and convalescent homes, have been established under the auspices of the Order and supplied with the necessary staff. 200 doctors and nurses have been sent out to the front, and 1,000 ambulance men have been trained for the Expeditionary Forces, or distributed amongst the ships and naval and military hospitals. Large quantities of bedding, medical stores and supplies, including gloves, articles of clothing, have been sent out to the sick and wounded.

A depot for the convenience of the troops has been established at Southampton, where they can obtain food and medical assistance day and night.

A number of motor ambulances are being despatched to carry the wounded from the front to the base.

We can help us now to continue this good work?

The officers of the Fund are at Mount Street, London, where accommodation has been kindly placed at the disposal of the Ambulance Department by the Marquis Winchester, Knight Grand Prior.

Victoria Chancellor Brock, Rosemary Lane, Scott Gregory, Myra Hodgkinson, Ivy Hodgkinson, Zilla Le Hunte, Nellie Le Hunte, Agnes Sinclair, Ruth Sinclair, Hilda Hopper, Dorothy Gordon Lennox, Doris Gordon Lennox, Claire Lennox, Silvia Codrington, Bessie Rhodes, and Violet de Trafford.

LORD ROBERTS' APPEAL FOR SADDLES

To the Editor.

Sir,—Some time ago Lord Roberts appealed for saddles for the Indian Cavalry in connection with the school of the Riveter Country in question. Not much has been heard and more are needed. Not only saddles, but saddlery generally, whose saddles are empty, who did not see my original appeal. I am sure that I shall not ask in vain for a further contribution.

All saddlery, hunting or military saddles, bridles, stirrup irons, horse clothing, etc., will be gratefully received, and should be addressed to the Chief Executive Officer, Woodlands, Dadlington, Nuneaton.

Should any enlightened personality to exhibit higher gifts of saddlery or cheques for the purpose of saddlery. Nuneaton, Esq.

ROBERTS, F.M.

CROSSGATES LITERARY SOCIETY

LECTURE BY PROFESSOR MOORMAN

The opening meeting of Crossgates Literary Society was held in the Lecture Hall, Crossgates, on Monday night, and despite the unfavourable weather, there was a good attendance of members. Mr E. Hawksworth (President of the Society) was in the chair, and he was supported by Professor Moorman, Mr Lewis Arthur Sutton, Organizer, and Mr Lewis, Coxbridge View, Horsforth.

The Chairman said that an excellent syllabus of lectures had been arranged, and he thought they could look forward to the best session they had had. On Saturday afternoon the members were to visit Leeds City Art Gallery, and Mr Rutter had kindly promised to show them round and explain the pictures, etc.

Professor Moorman stated that he could not speak any Yorkshire dialect with the exception of a few, but a great interest in and admiration for dialects and for the people who spoke them. In Yorkshire there was not one but several dialects, and he proceeded to show how in entering the West Riding one left the field was gathering rain and began to forecast, and every hillside was soon very wet.

Funnily enough as human nature could run, the Yorkshire dialect was loudest and therefore was the richest and most expressive. There was a capital show of locks throughout the country, but owing to the very dry weather and the dreadful drains there have been of late years, all up in the hills and dales like the last two or three will not the drains running, and then they will be drawn from their temporary hiding places.

Many of the regular followers have obtained commissions as officers regiments, and the Master (Major John R. Lane Fox, M.P.), always with his regiment had been promoted. Major Fox was a Yorkshire dialect and more nearly Cockney. Mr Edward Lane Fox, though, had come on here for the day, as had Mr Gerald Foster. There were some very fine animals at the meet, and Mr Edward Lane Fox, who was mounted on the hounds they hope to keep the sport going during the season, even if some days have to be done on foot.

The Hon. Sec. (Deputy Master) (Mr Wm. Jepson) the Hon. Mrs Geo. R. Lane Fox, Mrs E. Lane Fox, Miss Bethell, Mr and Mrs R. J. Foster, Mr Ben Dixey, Captain Greenwood, Wakefield; Mr Charles and Lady Bridgeman, Mr Nicholas, Mr Moses Hemingway, Miss Scarr, Mr Kirk, which had point-to-point steeplechase, which, by the way, was now pushing. Kirk, Mr Lumley Hegginbottom Hall, Miss Lane, Mr Kenneth Hegginbottom, Mr and Mrs Robertshaw, Mrs Nussey (Thornes), Mr and Mrs Sheridan (Hunsworth), Mr and Mrs Sheridan (Hunsworth), Mr and Mrs Sheridan (Hunsworth

GARFORTH

On Saturday afternoon, Garforth W.R. footballers had a match with Waterloo Main Colliery, and the latter won by four goals to three.

WHIST DRIVE.—A whist drive was held at the Catholic School, Garforth, on Wednesday night. There were about 25 tables, and the prizes were won as follows:—Ladies—1, Mrs Smith; 2, Miss Violet Young; consolation, Mrs Bartholomew; booby, Miss Hodgson. Gents—1, Mr Fox; 2, Mr J. Oxtoby; consolation, Mr J. Moorhouse; booby, Mr Kiddle. Part of the proceeds were in aid of the Belgian Refugees at Aberford.

DISMISSED.—At the Skyrack Court on Tuesday Joseph Tunstall, a miner, of Leeds, was summoned for keeping a dog which had no name upon its collar. P.C. Jackson proved the case, stating that he found the dog in the Station Road, Garforth, following the defendant. Defendant said the dog belonged to his brother, who had joined the Army. The Chairman said he would not harass the owner as he was serving his country, and dismissed the summons.

A FARMER'S OUTLOOK.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday John Rickard, farmer, of Garforth, was summoned for allowing four of his horses to stray on the highway at Kippax on Thursday, October 22nd. P.C. Davis stated that he found the horses straying in Leeds Lane, Kippax. Later he examined the hedge of the field from which the animals had strayed, and found that part of it was broken. Defendant was ordered to pay a fine of one shilling for each horse and costs.

PICTURE HOUSE.—At the popular Picture House excellent programmes have been submitted this week, and the audiences have been highly appreciative. Some very attractive features have been secured for next week. What is described as the world's greatest emotional tragedy in motion pictures, "Give us this Day," will make a striking appeal. The play, consisting of five acts, will be shown on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The wreck of the Red Cross ship off Whitby will also be screened. For the three last days of the week "The Life of a Soldier" will be a feature. Splendid views of the recruits at Doncaster drilling, and pictures showing the arrival of the Leeds Pals at Mashan and departure for Colsterdale should have particular interest. Other pictures will appear, and they will complete first-rate programme. For times and prices see advt.

GREAT PRESTON

On Saturday afternoon Great Preston footballers defeated Bowers Allerton by two goals to nil.

Mrs Lowther, of Little Preston Hall, has sent £5 3s. to the Belgian Relief Fund, and a friend (per Mrs Lowther) has sent £2 2s.

HALTON

On Saturday afternoon Whitkirk St. Mary's football team defeated Leeds Parish Church by four goals to nil.

Templenewsam has been turned into a convalescent home, and about thirty Belgian soldiers are at present resident there.

No intoxicants are allowed to be supplied or given to the Belgian soldiers at Templenewsam. Captain the Hon. E. F. L. Wood desires that no person will offer intoxicants to the soldiers or refugees in the neighbourhood of Templenewsam.—See advt.

KIPPAX

On Saturday afternoon Kippax Woodville defeated Ardsley G.N.R. in a football match by seven goals to nil.

The teachers of the Kippax Council Schools have sent £3 3s. to the National Relief Fund. This is the second contribution, and similar contributions are promised monthly as long as the war lasts.

WESLEYAN CHURCH.—The meeting of the Band of Hope in connection with this church was held in the schoolroom on Monday evening. An address on "The evils of the Drink" was given by Mr. James Goodall, of Kippax. There was a good attendance. Mr T. Coggon presided.

BAND OF HOPE.—The Band of Hope in connection with the Primitive Methodist Church is in a very flourishing condition, and is doing a splendid work. The meeting on Tuesday evening was well attended, and was addressed by Mr Dyson, of Bowers Allerton. Mr Reuben Firth presided.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR.—The Christian Endeavour meeting in connection with the Primitive Methodist Society was held in the schoolroom on Wednesday evening, and it was well attended. The address was given by Mr. Rhodes, of Kippax. A solo was contributed by Mr R. Firth, and Mr A. Collinson presided.

WESLEY GUILD.—At the Wesley Guild meeting on Tuesday evening—Mr W. R. Tebbs presiding—an address was given by the Rev. H. W. B. Chapman, of Castleford, on "The Church and the War." There was an excellent attendance of members and friends. Mr H. Gammerson, in moving a vote of thanks to the speaker, expressed his appreciation of the address. The lessons it conveyed he considered to be very helpful. Mr J. E. Pitts seconded the resolution, which was cordially passed.

PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHURCH.—On Sunday at this church special sermons were preached in connection with the Sunday School by the Rev. E. W. Challenger, of Pontefract. At the P.S.A. service in the afternoon Mr Challenger gave an excellent address on "An ideal in life," and the solos "The Gates of Heaven" and "The Voice in the Cathedral" were nicely sung by Mr G. Prince. Mr W. Firth presided. A public tea was provided in the schoolroom on Monday afternoon, under the direction of Mrs C. H. Hobson, Mrs E. Beston, Mrs J. Bickerdike, and Mrs A. Firth, and a good number attended. In the evening a lecture was given by the Rev. E. W. Challenger on his life and work in the slums of London, and it was illustrated by lantern views by Mr Ismay Robinson, of Ardsley.

EDUCATION COMMITTEE.—The monthly meeting of Kippax District Education Committee was held on Wednesday—Mr E. Parkin, J.P. (Chairman) presiding. The other members present were Mr J. Harding, Mr A. Stock, Mr J. Farrant, Mr Ismay Robinson, and Mrs Lowther, with the Clerk (Mr H. W. Powell). The question of attendance for October at the Kippax Council School were:—Boys department 90.99, girls 93.10, and infants 92.09. The school attendance was considered very satisfactory, and compared very favourably with that for the whole of the West Riding. The Kippax Primitive Methodists applied for the use of the Council School for their Christmas bazaar, and it was granted. Miss A. Goodall has resigned her position as assistant teacher in the Kippax Council School, and Miss Food has resigned from the Infants' Department in the Kippax Council School. Miss F. M. Dalton was appointed assistant teacher in the Kippax Council School, and Miss Gummerson was appointed assistant teacher in the Swillington Common School. The caretaker of the Swillington Parochial School applied for an increase of wages, and was granted £3 3s. advance. The average attendance at the mining class at Bowers Allerton was reported to be 13, and the industrial evening class at the same place had an average attendance of 22. The average attendance at the Kippax evening class, boys' department, was stated to be 24, and the average attendance at the girls' class 18. Mrs Lowther was unanimously elected to the vicechair in place of the late Mr J. W. Rucklidge.

MOOR ALLERTON

Mr William Deighton, of Moortown, has given £5 5s. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

Mrs Margaret Atkinson, of The Cedars, Lidget Lane, Moor Allerton, widow of Richard Marshall Atkinson, left £8679.

A guinea was got by the sale of articles made by the girls of Moortown Council School, and it has been sent to the Belgian Refugee Fund.

APPOINTMENT.—Among the officers' appointments gazetted on Wednesday was that of Mr Arc. H. Hodgson, a cadet in the Officers' Training Corps of the Leeds University, who has received a second lieutenancy in the Royal Field Artillery. He is the son of the Leeds Grammar School, and a son of ex-Councillor W. H. Hodgson, of Wycliffe, Moortown.

METHLEY

On Saturday afternoon Methley footballers defeated Calverley by five goals to four.

OULTON

Mr J. Farrer, J.P., of Oulton, has given £5 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

DISMISSED.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Martin Regan, labourer, of Oulton, was summoned for having been drunk and disorderly. P.C. Leahy spoke to finding the defendant in Commercial Street, Rothwell, about 9.40 p.m. on Sunday, October 25th, under the influence of drink, and using the language mentioned in the evidence. A fine of 7s. 6d. and costs was imposed.

ROBIN HOOD

On Saturday afternoon Thorpe Wesleyans overcame Alnotts St. M. in a football match by two goals to nil.

SCHOLES

FOR THE ABERFORD SOLDIERS' HOSPITAL.—The sum of £7 19s. 6d. has been raised by Scholes' subscribers for materials for use at the Soldiers' Temporary Hospital at Aberford. The following is the list of articles required:—Six pairs pyjamas £2 7s.; bandages, 5s. 4½d.; 24 flannel bed-jackets, £3 5s.; carter, 6d.; and balance sent to Dr. Mitchell, of Aberford, for purchase of hospital. Abbott, of Aberford, for purchase of hospital. No. 6s. 7½d. The collectors were Miss D. B. E. Wilkinson and Miss E. Dawson.

SEACROFT

A SEACROFT SOLDIER MISSING.—Private J. Roberts, of the 1st West Yorkshires, has been missing since September 23rd. He was 29 years old, a reservist, and married. He lived at Phillip's Fold, Seacroft, and was employed at the Garforth Colliery.

STOURTON

A sum of £50 has been given by the Yorkshire Copper Works and their employees to the Lord Mayor's Belgian Relief Fund.

P.S.A.—There was a good attendance at the weekly P.S.A. service held at the Primitive Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon, when an address was given by Mr W. Wilks, of Hunslet.

DISMISSED.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday William McAndrews, a labourer, of Hunslet, was summoned for driving a cart which showed no red rear light. P.C. Ayers stated that he noticed defendant had no red rear light with him passed him on the Pontefract Road about 8.45 p.m. on Tuesday, October 27th. Defendant's sister appeared at the Court and told the magistrates that her brother had now obtained a suitable light. The summons was dismissed on payment of costs.

WOODLESFORD

Mr William Whitehead, of Woodlesford, has sent £3 3s. to the Belgian Relief Fund.

MISS MELNER AND DRINKING AMONG WOMEN.

Miss Melner, formerly of Sun Appleton, at a bazaar opening at York on Wednesday said "There is a terrible evil in our midst which must be faced. I am speaking of the terrible drinking habits, especially among women in York, especially a number of those who are provided for by the State during their husband's absence at the front. Someone said the facts had been exaggerated, but it is not so. I think many of the women can help to abate this evil. I have heard of some very sad cases, and I urge all parish workers—especially the women workers—to take note of this and do what they can in the direction I have indicated. It is a terrible evil which will leave a stigma upon our city if it is allowed to be the treating of soldiers. I know that treating is going on, and I know that treating is done by girls. I ask the women who are here to use all their influence to stop the treating."

SCUFFLE WITH POACHERS ON THE TEMPLENEWSAM ESTATE.

While going their rounds on the Templenewsam estate about four o'clock yesterday morning, two watchmen and the gamekeeper came across a gang of poachers, and a scuffle ensued. The gamekeeper received a nasty hit on the head with the butt end of a rifle, while one of the watchmen was slightly injured. The poachers got clean away, but the police have since arrested a man who is alleged to have been connected with the affair.

HAWKER IN TROUBLE.—At the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions on Tuesday Nathaniel Warley, hawker, of Leeds, was summoned for keeping a dog without a red rear light. P.C. Otter stated that about 6.45 p.m. on Monday, October 19th, he was on the Wetherby Road, Scarcroft, when the defendant came along with a horse and cart. There was no red rear light at the back. When his attention was called to it he replied that he had not noticed it when he came out. The rear light was produced and was missing from the lamp at the time, but he had replaced it. The Chairman said that he would be lenient and dismissed the summons on payment of costs.

THE LATE MRS L. M. RADCLIFFE.—We regret to have to record the death of Mrs L. M. Radcliffe, widow of the late Mr A. L. Radcliffe, of South Milford, at the age of 57 years, after a short illness. The deceased lady was greatly respected and beloved by all who knew her. She was a great help in all matters for the welfare of the different institutions in the parish, and was always ready to do our good work connected with them, and she will be greatly missed by many people. She died on Sunday evening, and the interment took place at St. Mary's Church on Wednesday afternoon. There was a large funeral. The principal mourners were Dr. A. H. and Mrs Radcliffe (son and daughter-in-law), Mr and Mrs Hudson, Southport (son-in-law and daughter), Mrs Farrer (mother), and Mr Radcliffe, brother-in-law (Hirstall), and others. The Rector (Rev. E. J. Barry) read the burial service. The coffin was covered with beautiful floral tributes.

Rothwell District War Relief Committee.

THE RELIEF OF BELGIANS.

A special meeting of the Rothwell Urban District War Relief Committee to consider the giving of a grant to the Belgian Fund was held at the Council Offices, Rothwell, on Wednesday night. Mr J. Hirst (Chairman) presided, and there was also present a large number of ladies and gentlemen, including the joint secretaries (Mr W. Dodgson and Mr H. J. Butler).

As a result of the discussion, it was agreed that a grant of £50 be forwarded to the Vice Consul for the supply of food to Belgium.

Mr H. J. Martin, who spoke strongly in favour of the proposal, said that there were at the present time seven million Belgians who were on the verge of starvation in their own country.

The question was also raised as to the housing of Belgian Refugees in the district, and it was decided that a committee of ladies be formed in Rothwell to deal with the accommodation of parties of Refugees.

Mrs Dickinson (Stourton), said that she, along with other ladies, would work at Stourton with the object of taking a few Refugees, and they would form a committee with that object.

It was decided to make a weekly grant from the Central Committee to assist the two committees in their work.

The secretaries reported that the following donations had been received since the last meeting:—Mr Thomas Carr, £5 5s.; Rev. E. G. Wynne, £5 5s.; Yorkshire Copper Works, Ltd., and their employees, £15; Mr Walter Dodgson, £5; and Soldiers and Sailors' Families' Association, £20 16s. 8d.

It was also reported that the total amount received up-to-date was £181 15. 8d., and the total amount expended £93 3s. 6d., having a balance of £147 18s. 2d.

WHITKIRK DISTRICT RIFLE CLUB

ATHLETES' VOLUNTEER FORCE.

On Wednesday evening a meeting of the members of Whitkirk and District Rifle Club was held at the headquarters at Whitkirk, and there was a good attendance. Mr J. Stuart White, of Crossgates, the President, was in the chair.

Mr J. W. Price, the hon. sec., read a very encouraging report, which showed that the club had already 124 paid-up members, and there is a substantial balance in hand. Mr S. Kirkby, the captain, hon. asst. sec., also submitted an interesting report.

The principal business of the meeting was to discuss the advisability of joining the Leeds section of the Athletes' Volunteer Force. The object of this movement is, briefly, to provide the means whereby civilians may become proficient in the handling of rifle and gun facilities for drill, so that in an emergency the nation will have at hand a large body of men partially trained and prepared. Men who are not eligible for the Regular Army, Territorials, or other existing recognised Force are qualified for membership. Although the scheme is not under Government supervision, the War Office has given it the stamp of its approval, and companies are being form of all over the country.

Mr. W. Goodall, of Manston, hon. sec. of the Leeds Club, explained the scheme, and Mr. Albert Goodall, Mr H. F. Smithson, Mr P. S. Marsden, Mr J. Connor, Mr Cotton, Mr P. Cowling, and others took part in the discussion. Eventually Mr Connor proposed that the Whitkirk Rifle Club form a section of the A.V.F. Mr Garbutt seconded, and this was agreed to. The first drill will be held at the headquarters on Tuesday evening next, at 7.30, when a capable drill instructor will be present.

The Leeds Section of the A.V.F. is also strong, having been formed in the Burnsall Lane School on October 23rd, but since then two more schools—Harehills and Queen's Road—have been secured, and an additional hundred men have presented themselves for drill.

Whitkirk Rifle Club is in an excellent position, because the members generally have the shooting qualification, and it is expected that a strong fighting force will very soon be formed, which will be giving a lead to other districts.

Mr Marsden (Whitkirk) stated he did not think the Government at War Office would offer any objection to the men drilling at Temple newsam.

Mr Oxtoft stated that while desirous of giving every encouragement to the movement, he was sorry that the Halton Council School was not suitable for the purposes of drill, there being no room large enough.

The meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to Mr Al. Goodall for the information he had given of the movement.

The Whitkirk Rifle Club's weekly competition on Saturday the first prize was won by Dr. Ashmore, and the second by Mr J. Birtell.

The Club report having now handed to the local War Relief Fund a sum of 16s. 6d., the proceeds of competition entrance fees up to Saturday.

Mr Philip Marsden, of Shadwell, has been re-elected representative on the Rothwell, Gross-gates, Shadwell, and Seacroft Ward on Leeds City Council.

FOOTBALL.—On Saturday Shadwell seniors defeated Leeds City Boys by two goals to one. Shadwell overcame Market Weighton in the Industrial Schools' Cup Competition by three goals to one.

At the Chained Bull, Moortown, on Monday night, Messrs Oliver, Appleton, and Kitchen sold by auction for £440 the freehold dwelling-house known as Holywell House, at Shadwell. Bidding was exceptionally brisk.

WEDDING.—On Monday the wedding took place at South Milford Church, by the Rev. E. J. Barry, M.A., of Miss Ruth Copley, 44, daughter of Mr and Mrs Nehemiah Copley, Queen's Inn, South Milford, and Mr Laurie Bennett, third son of Mr and Mrs Bennett, Kippax. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore embroidered white dress, and a black velvet hat with white ostrich feather. The bridesmaid was Miss Eleanor Copley, who wore blue embroidered muslin dress, and hat to match. The best man was Mr Martin, of Kippax. The presents were numerous.

SHERBURN AGRICULTURAL CLUB.—At a meeting of this club at the Red Bear Inn, Mr J. E. Cawthorn (President) was in the chair, and the other members present were Messrs C. A. Wilber, T. Priestley, C. W. Helm, W. Wainwright (Low Street), D. Greenwood, E. Winter, W. Wainwright, F. Bramley, H. Farrar, T. Tomlinson, J. Addyman, W. Gledhill, G. Hill, M. C. Wellburn, and the hon. secretary (Mr C. Eshelby). It was decided to get prices for 5 tons of binder twine for next season's requirements. A committee was formed for collecting subscriptions from members, and others in the district for the West Riding War Relief Fund, gifts of money being thought to be more useful than gifts in kind.

SCARCROFT AND DISTRICT PLOUGHING SOCIETY.

MATCH AT SCARCROFT.

FARMERS AND THEIR INDUSTRY.

INTERESTING SPEECHES AT THE DINNER.

The annual ploughing match and hedge-cutting competition, promoted by the Scarcroft and District Ploughing Society, took place on Wednesday on land in the occupation of Mrs Elam, Rowley Grange, Scarcroft. There was a large gathering of the farming community of the district, and, although the number of competitors was not so large as in former years, the falling off in the entries being attributed to the fact that a large number of the men have joined the colours, the competition was keen. The results of the ploughing match were as follows:—

Class I. Champion ploughmen, 15 miles radius.—1 J. Dalby (Wike), 2 C. Walton (East Rigton), 3 S. Walker (Shadwell), 4 H. Lawson (Kirk Deighton), 5 C. Tyers (Harewood).

Class II. Best ploughman over 25 years of age.—1 H. E. Hardcastle (East Rigton), 2 J. Allen (Wike), 3 H. Green (Wike), 4 H. Scott (Thorner), 5 J. Varley (Scarcroft).

Class III. Best ploughman, age 18–25.—1 H. Grainger (East Rigton), 2 J. Myers (Harewood), 3 W. Ware (Wothersome), 4 J. Greaves (Spofforth).

Class IV. Best ploughman under 18 years of age.—1 H. Beck (Whinmoor), 2 E. Izett (Carlton), 3 H. Mitchell (Wike).

Special prize for ploughing, boy under 16.—G. Green (Potterton).

Cleanest horse and gear.—1 (champion and special) J. Dalby (Wike), 2 H. Harrop (East Rigton), 3 H. Greaves (Wike), 4 E. Burks (Scarcroft), 5 C. Rigton (Barwick).

The hedge-cutting competition took place on land adjoining the Leeds and Wetherby Road. The winners were:—1 J. Young (Wothersome), 2 W. Hatfield (Bramham), 3 J. Dawson (Bramham-moor), 4 C. Sunter (Hardgye).

The judges were:—Ploughing—Messrs S. Jennings (Bubbles), W. S. Rhodes (Bentley), and W. A. Todd (Alwoodley).

Cleanest horse and gears.—Mr C. Warrington (Leeds).

Hedge-cutting—Messrs K. Jackson (Peckfield), and J. H. Haigh (Thorner).

In the evening the annual dinner was held in the New Inn, Scarcroft, under the genial chairmanship of Mr John Thompson (East Rigton). Others present included Messrs F. W. Dolby, J. Knaresborough (Treasurer), A. Rhodes, Shadwell (secretary), G. Dalby (Eccup), G. Dalby (Beamsley), J. Revis (Scarcroft), W. Elam (Scarcroft), F. Haigh (Low Wike), W. Hardcastle (Scarcroft), P. Whitelock (Harewood), B. Dalby (Wike), A. Dalby (Wike), E. Todd (Alwoodley), A. Barnett (Bardsey), A. Todd (Braunton), T. Dalby (Eccup), R. Hardcastle (Rigton), T. Barber (East Keswick), A. Wrigglesworth (Bardsey), and E. Cornforth (Rigton).

After the loyal toast had been enthusiastically pledged, Mr W. A. Rhodes (Scarcroft) proposed "Success to the Scarcroft and District Ploughing Society." He said that no small amount of the success of the Society was due to Mr Thomas Rhodes, who took such an interest in it. It is mainly that makes the mare to go, whether she kicks her tail or no." (Laughter.) He had a very good motto to work on. (Mr Walton) could collect enough like Lot to form the Association, and a man who could do that was of great value. His heart and soul were in the work. He could assure them that he was pleased to see such a large and enthusiastic gathering. Under the present deplorable conditions—the war—he had not expected to see two-thirds of the number present. Soon on the Society would be in great many ways. In the first instance, it came from the outside support, and it also resided with the competitors, and with those engaged in the competition. He was glad to see that there was love of the old dog still—it showed that a good feeling existed between master and man, and as long as that feeling existed no one need fear that agriculture would go down. With-out good feeling between master and man farming would not be a success. In the district he had lived in there really existed. He hoped that feeling would continue. Farmers and agricultural labourers had been of no account in the past, but now he thought people thought more about them, and they ought out food no one could fight. In conclusion, he said it hoped that the farm labourers and the farmers would hand together and keep the good spirit which had existed so long, and if they did then they would have no fear for the future. (Applause).

In replying to the toast, Mr Thompson said that Mr Rhodes enumerated some of the reasons for the success of the Society, and he thought, as he looked round the room and saw such a large number present as regards the social side it was an unqualified success. If they looked at the work which had been done in the competition, although smaller than the last two or three years, they could see it had been a success. However, he felt that it was not a success unless it went a little further. Such gatherings were of an educational value to the farmers, and he was very pleased to see in such large numbers, and he hoped it would have a lasting benefit with them, and give them confidence in their work. He always had said that farmers were of more account now than they had been in the past. It was a sentiment which he most cordially endorsed. Probably not for the first time within the last fifty years, the people of this country realised that the food raised in the country was of the greatest importance. For many years they had ceased to be an agricultural nation and become a commercial nation. There was a great deal of cheap advice given in the newspapers to farmers to grow more wheat. He thought it was very good advice, but not very well considered. To have farmers growing wheat on land unsuitable would not be a benefit to the agriculture of the country suffering also. It was infinitely better to grow good crops than grow bad crops, and it would be of more value to the land to grass land. He did not think that farmers in their senses would plough up good old pasture land. Still, he thought the country was in good heart and grass land which contained a fair store of fertility and could be made to grow crops and make good arable land. It would certainly produce more food, and employ more labour, and also benefit the tradesman and the manufacturer at the same time. But there was one point which they must not forget in the breaking up of grass land. It almost always contained an accumulation of injurious insects—wire-worm, grubs, and larvæ, which preyed upon the crops, and for the first year or two the crops would suffer from the attacks of these insects. He had, he said, very great pleasure in proposing the toast. He believed the Society had before it a very prosperous career. (Applause).

The health of the judges was proposed by Mr Dalby (Bardsey), who said he was pleased to see old faces. The judges had done their work very well indeed, and he thought all would go away satisfied. (Applause).

Mr W. A. Todd (Alwoodley) responded, and said he was pleased with the remarks of Mr Thompson—that it was a good thing to be a good judge. There were a good many points in ploughing, and he was glad to say that they had had good work that day. Mr S. Jennings also replied.

Mr J. Revis proposed the health of the Secretary (Mr A. Rhodes), and paid a glowing tribute to him. Every credit, he said, was due to him, and as long as they had a secretary like Mr Rhodes he had no doubt that the Society would go on with every success.

Mr A. Rhodes replied, and said he had great pleasure in working there with such a treasurer as Mr Revis, and under such stewards and committee as the Society had.

The harmony of the evening was ably sustained by Mr Walton, who proved a clever story teller as well as a humorous reciter and singer. Mr Ibbotson contributed several songs, which were much appreciated, and, along with Mr Westerdale, who accompanied all the songs at the piano, he gave two duets. Mr Denham contributed a recitation.

MEET AT GATEFORTH.

The Boosbam Moor Hunt held a meet at Gateforth on Wednesday in misty weather. The huntsman, Peter Farrelly, had charge of the pack. The field out included Lady Beaumont, Hon. Ivy Stapleton, the Misses Parker, Mr Robinson (Leeds), and Mr John Armstrong (Botany Bay, Selby). The day's sport centred round Brayton Hall Shaw there was a good deal of foxes, but the thick bracken presented a difficulty to the dogs. Though plenty of foxes were disturbed a kill did not result

WEST RIDING DISTRESS COMMITTEE—GARFORTH SUB-COMMITTEE.

	£ s. d.
Subscriptions already acknowledged	179 5 1
Per Lieutenant Woodhead and Boys and Screenmen, Sisters and Isabella Pits (8th Contribution)	6 15 0
Messrs Joshua and George Backhouse	3 0 0
Mr Newdick (3rd Collection in Box)	0 2 8
Wm. Geo. Bosher, Hon. Sec. and Treas.

4th November, 1914.

The scholars of South Milford School have sent £1 to the Lords Belgian Refugee Fund.

A sum of £5 5s. has been in place, per the students of Sherburn County Evening School, has been sent to Leeds Belgian Refugee Fund.

The members of the Sherburn Agricultural and Horticultural Society have decided not to hold their annual dinner this year on account of the war.

A sum of £2, proceeds of a concert at Harewood, has been sent to Leeds Belgian Refugee Fund. A sum of £3 3s. has been given by the students of the Sherburn Council Day School, per Mr Newdick (3rd Collection in Box), and £3 has been given to the Belgian Relief Fund.

A FARMER'S NEGLIGENCE.—On Tuesday at the Leeds West Riding Petty Sessions Thomas Isaac Leake, farmer, of Aberford, was summoned for using a cart which had no name upon it. P.C. Hogg stated that about 10.15 a.m. on October 8th he saw defendant driving a cart on the Aberford Road, Garforth, when the defendant passed him in a cart which had no name inscribed upon it. He stopped him, and, after calling his attention to the fact, told him he would be reported. Defendant told the magistrates that he bought the cart recently, and had taken off the late owner's name but had neglected to put his own.—A fine of 5s. and costs was imposed.

PARISH ROOM.—A very enjoyable concert was held at the Parish Room, Aberford, on Thursday evening, and there was a good company present. The proceeds are for the benefit of the members of the Men's Bible Class. Songs were ably rendered by Messrs Winterburn, Bailey, Barnett, Wrigley, Brooks, Thompson, Garbutt, Woodward, Hepworth, Chapman, and Captain Pratt. Mr Freeborn was the accompanist. Refreshments were provided by the committee, and billiards and other games were indulged in until a late hour. The Christmas handicap comm ences next week, and entries are showing

SIR FREDERICK AS ROYAL REPRESENTATIVE.—Sir Frederick Milner, Bart., formerly of Nun Appleton, who is representing the King and Queen as visitor to the wounded British soldiers in the various hospitals in the provinces, attended on Wednesday the Military Hospital, Fulford Road, York. Sir Frederick spoke to each of the 150 wounded men in the hospital individually and conveyed to them the sympathy of the King and Queen to visit the hospital and convey their sympathy to them, and also to express the hope that they would soon be restored to health. Sir Frederick also presented each soldier with the King and Queen's gift—a box of cigarettes.

SELBY GUARDIANS.—At the meeting of the Selby Board of Guardians, on Monday, Mr R. L. Walker presiding, a precept was received from the West Riding County Council for the current half-year to the amount of £5,869, being £1,000 less than the corresponding half of last year, and £207 more than for the last half-year. It was remarked that there was an increase "as usual." A resolution was adopted urging the Government to provide allowances for the families of soldiers and sailors killed in action, and for the dependents of those incapacitated through wounds.—Workmen's Compensation Act. The Chairman said he thought some action ought to be taken, for when a man was killed in action usually nothing was done for the dependants.

A YOUTH'S OFFENCE.—On Monday at Selby Walter Easton, aged 17, of West Hartlepool, who has recently been employed at the Selby shipyard, was charged with stealing £2 belonging to a fellow lodger, Bernard E. Galvin, also an employee at the shipyard. Defendant took four tin notes from Galvin's clothing which was hanging in the bedroom, and left for home, buying also articles of clothing. He was arrested at West Hartlepool and taken back to Selby by P.C. Duncan. The money, amounting to £1 9s. 4d., was produced.—The Chairman (Mr Scott): You had an opportunity of earning a man's wage. It appeared that the lad's mother was in poor circumstances. Defendant promised to act better and said he could get work as a rivet beater at West Hartlepool. Defendant was bound over in £5 to come up for judgment if called upon, and placed under the supervision of the probation officer for twelve months.

FAMOUS-HOUSE-FOR ENGAGEMENT RINGS
£1/1/ £3/3/ £5/5/ £10/10/
to £100 each.
SEE WINDOWS
Diamonds
Parsons
BEST SELECTION IN THE COUNTY.
50 STAR YEARS
24-25-26 BRIGGATE, LEEDS.
(5 doors Kirkgate end)
Watches
10/6 TO 50 GUINEAS.
THE "ROUGHWEAR" 15/-
THE "UNIVERSITY" 30/-
OLD WATCHES & JEWELLERY TAKEN IN EXCHANGE.
RELIABLE HOUSE FOR REPAIRS.

Russell & Russell, Ltd.
(Late A. C. WANSTALL),
Complete House Furnishers and Piano Dealers,
201-3-5, North Street, LEEDS.
ILLUSTRATED BOOKLET and Easy Payment Terms sent on receipt of a Postcard.

J. ROBINSON & SONS,
King Charles' Croft,
WALTON.
TELEPHONE No. 1522.
Catalogues free on Application.

CULTIVATORS, PLOUGHS, HARROWS, CHAFF & TURNIP CUTTERS, &c.
By all the Best Makers at Lowest Cash Prices.

JOHN WATSON & Co.,
34, CALL LANE, LEEDS
See our Special Blue Lounge Suit
Made to Measure in Fine Quality Serge,
Easy Terms £2 2s. Cash 38/6
Well Worth 50/-
OUR SCARBORO' COSTUMES
Are made to Measure in all Wool Navy Coating Serge. Coat Lined Silk. Satin Collar, Lined Skirt.
Cash 30/- Easy Terms 33/6
Patterns and Particulars on Application.

Established 1885. Established 1885.
GENERAL
Accident Fire and Life
Assurance Corporation, Ltd.
PERSONAL ACCIDENT and SICKNESS Policies of all kinds. Liberal Benefits and conditions. Low Premiums.
FREE FIRE INSURANCE every sixth year to householders and private property owners.
COMBINATION POLICIES covering the requirements of householders in connection with risks of Fire, Burglary, and accidents to servants.
THREE POPULAR FORMS of Life Policy, including guaranteed options.
Workmen's Compensation.
Motor Car, Burglary, Plate Glass, Employers' Liability, Driving Accidents, Live Stock, Plate Glass, and Farmers' Insurances.
Chief Offices—General Buildings, Perth, Scotland.
General Buildings, Aldwych, London, W.C.
The Oldest and Strongest Independent Office.
Assets exceed £7,500,000.
Claims paid over £7,000,000.
General Manager . . . F. NOBLE-MILLER, J.P.

EDMUND BOGG,
3, Woodhouse Lane, Leeds.
Is the best shop for
PICTURE FRAMING, RE-GILDING, AND ARTISTS' MATERIALS.
Large Stock of Engravings & Etchings on Sale.

BARKSTON ASH MEN WITH THE COLOURS

WHINMOOR AND HAMBLETON SOLDIERS MISSING.

SELBY MEN'S RETURN—GERMANS WITH CHILDREN'S HANDS.

A WETHERBY MAN'S LETTER.

Private Arthur Hill, of the 1st West Yorkshire Regiment, son of Whinmoor, Scarcroft, is reported by the War Office to have been missing since September 22nd. Hill is 22 years of age, and has been in the Army 18 months.

Private Thomas Parker, of the 1st West Yorkshire Regiment, of Hambleton, has been taken prisoner, and, is now in Germany.

Private F. Johnson, of the South Lancashire Regiment, a reservist employed at the shipyard, Selby, is a prisoner in Germany.

Lance-Corporal Albert Shepherd, of Lilly Ribston, Wetherby, and of the 1st West Yorkshires, has been killed in action.

A WETHERBY MAN'S LETTER.

Mrs Jane Johnson, of North Street, Wetherby, has received the following letter from her son Herbert, who is lying in the Lincoln Hospital, slightly wounded:—

"We have had a very hard time since I came out, marching and fighting night and day, and on Tuesday, the 13th October, we came on the enemy strongly entrenched, and so the Dutchmen and East Yorks. had to take the position at all costs. Our company, under Lieut. Wright, had to go and see what was in the village near. We got to the entrance of it, and the French crowds were in it. Lots of them lay in the streets killed and wounded, horses too, so we had to stay there. Then a fellow sent me and an N.C.O. to a gateway across a field to see what was there. A turnip field further on was full of the enemy, with big guns as well. We reported to the officer, but he seemed to doubt it, so he and the N.C.O. went out again. They had not gone far before we were minus the officer, so we stayed where we were till the battalion came up.

"Then we were ordered to advance across in companies in extended order. Then they started to open fire. It was murder, with the dropping shells. Many a good man went under that day. One was Major Cliff, from Leeds; a shell dropped right on his head. It was a sudden death for the poor fellow.

"We took the position, but I was glad when it was dark. We stayed in the trenches all night, went through, and cold, and tired out. We chased them on and on. They gained a stronger position on Sunday, and towards night it was awful. We could not move them.

"The General told about a dozen of us to stay in a cellar up to the knees in water till it got dusk as the enemy was only 40 or fifty yards in front. When it got dark we set off to find our company, but they spotted us, and then I got wounded in the hand.

"I don't know how many casualties we had that day, as I came down country with the wounded. Our brigade suffered heavily. There were about 200 wounded came down with me, and there were a lot more to follow. I am now in hospital at Lincoln, but hope to be out soon. That night let me have a day or two at home before I go back."

HAVING A ROUGH TIME.

Writing home to Selby on Sunday, Gunner Thos. Dugdale, of the Royal Field Artillery, says he's wrote his letter in a pouring rain, and they were having a rough time of it with the weather.

He had been to the guns with ammunition, and the Germans had sent a few back, but they fell short, and he was left alive, though he had had some narrow escapes.

He had been in the firing line ever since he came, and he should be glad when it was all over. "It's the first fight we've had, but we got away safely. He was now at Bethune. He had been in Belgium twice, but got chased out of it.

"We are not only beating the Germans, but they are running away like madmen," he goes on. "Don't give up the house, for I may have my Christmas dinner in England yet. Last night, about six o'clock, we saw two German batteries just ready for going away. We opened fire, and completely cut them up."

A SELBY MAN'S EXPERIENCE.

Private Alfred Frape, one of the Reservists employed at the Selby Olympia Works, has received a letter from his brother, telling of his injury during the operations on the left wing in Northern France. He belongs to the Lincolnshires, and went away with the Reservists when they were called up in August. On being interviewed at his home in Olympia Cottages, Selby, he stated that he had sustained fractures of the ribs.

He was marching through a gateway at the same time that the British artillery reached it, and was caught in the ribs by the muzzle of a gun. On being sent home he stayed for a couple of days at Folkestone.

His book part in the engagements on the North and then moved with the British Forces to the south of Paris. It was a surprise to the Germans when they advanced there, and they could not find that they opposed by British troops. Frape graphically described the falling back of the troops from the enemy at Mons. He stated that Infantry Brigade, Fourth Division, The English artillery had formed a destructive line upon the enemy, when his regiment, along with other regiments, received the order to retire and take the village at the point of the bayonet. They were instructed not to fire. The enemy, it was found, had made a human shield behind the Uhlans, who were rapidly captured. The snipers who had been left behind. The Germans had quartered themselves in the houses, and there, at them, were the portraits of the men for whom had been prepared for them in one of the houses, when they found themselves suddenly surrounded by the Englishers. His face assumed an expression of disappointment and despair. The Germans seemed to have to 14 Maxim guns to each battalion, and these, along with their artillery, keep up a hot fire. Frape, but they had learnt to fear the attack of the British. The night attacks especially the enemy did not like. On several occasions as the British advanced the Germans retreated, leaving snipers in the positions abandoned. Their retreat from the village just referred to was so rapid that they left trumpets and other things behind.

For five days there was incessant rain. The cavalry was doing very fine work, and had demonstrated their superiority over the enemy's horsemen. The Uhlans had earned an unenviable reputation owing to their raids on villages and the damage done. Frape added that he saw a Selby comrade, Jones, of the Welsh Fusiliers, while he was advancing to the front. Jones, who was marching with his regiment, was in cheerful spirits. The men were chiefly in need of tobacco, cigarettes, and matches. When a supply reached them from home they were happy.

Frape had a very narrow escape, as a shell knocked the kitchen, a stand used for food, out of his hand, and smashed it against an adjacent wall. He said that shells were being fired as the men were having dinner. The tin he held was simply knocked to pieces.

The French he described as good fighters, but he thought their blue and red uniform too conspicuous.

GERMANS WITH CHILDREN'S HANDS.

Driver Edwin Tate, of the 69th Battery R.F.A., Hambleton, who has returned home to Selby injured, gave a remarkable narrative of the campaign in France. He was a reservist, and was on employ on the North-Eastern Railway when mobilisation came. After being called up to Glasgow at the outbreak of the war, he eventually joined the brigade in Ireland, and was then ordered to the front. He, who is 28 years of age, was in the thick of it from Mons, and practically all the engagements until he was severely injured at Bethune in Northern France. He belongs to the 9th Brigade, Fifth Division, the heroes of Mons.

He received his injuries while the force was under shell fire. The horses were shot and killed by the shell with them, and was pinned to the ground, being in a semi-unconscious condition. He lay there all day, and was found at night by the field ambulance men. He was suffering from a spinal injury, and fractured ribs.

On reaching this country he was sent to the Sunderland No. 1 Infirmary, who, on the wounded soldiers not being used to spring being extended to the hospital in private motor cars. The medical and nursing staffs did everything possible for them. Tate said that his battery was part of the artillery of the 3rd Division, which consisted of the Irish Command. The fighting was very heavy at Mons.

In the heavy engagements which followed the battle of Le Cateau the Germans were simply mowed down. On reaching Lagny the retirement ended, and they turned the tables on the enemy. The artillery fire was terrific, and over the German front. Twelve or thirteen German guns were captured, and two or three regiments of infantry decimated.

The German prisoners, some of whom spoke good English, said they had no wish to fight, but were driven to it. The British were in the best of spirits and sang as they went into action.

Driver Tate gave the information that various German prisoners had been found with children's mutilated hands in their possession, as ghastly trophies of their visits to villages. He himself saw one such case. A German who was captured by the 1st Devonshire Regiment was searched, and found to be in possession of a child's left hand. He was handed over to the provost-marshal. Tate added that it had been largely an artillery fight. Fort Conde, which was supposed to be General Von Kluck's headquarters, received fire from the artillery. The fort was absolutely demolished, the guns hardly leaving a brick standing.

HUSSARS HACKING AWAY.

Trooper George Haynes, eldest son of Mr J. H. Haynes, of the George Hotel at Selby, writes to his father from the 13th Hussars, Selby Squadron, 4th (the 2nd Division of the British Expeditionary Forces in France, under date of October 2nd:—

"We still keep hacking away at the enemy, and continue to have the best of it. We are getting on rather slowly, as the Germans keep coming from Belgium to bring about dead.

"I met a Selby chap yesterday—Walthem by name—who is with the Grenadier Guards. Of course, we had a long chat together. He is a rather big chap, cold now,' and not by any means pleasant, especially at night. Still, one must put up with a little hardships at times."

A PRISONER IN GERMANY.

Private William Green, of the Royal Marines, whose home is at 30, Wavsidehare Street, Thwaite Gate, is at present a prisoner of war in Germany. Green first joined the Yorkshire Light Infantry, but was later asked to volunteer, with others, for service with the Marines On reaching France the opposite to have been effected, and on to the fighting line in Belgium, for, writing on October 10th, Green informs his parents that he was made a prisoner near Antwerp.

He writes—"I am a prisoner of war, and I am camped outside Berlin. By what I can see I think we shall be treated all right, so I should not worry if I were you. I have a good bed and plenty to eat, and a bit of good straw.

Green also states that he has been in one engagement, but has escaped being wounded.

PRIVATE HAYE'S STIRRING LETTER.

Corporal B. Williamson, of the 1st Coldstream Guards, also while a reservist was stationed as an East Riding police constable near Selby, has written to a friend telling how he was shot and severely injured through the front owing to a severe injury to his knee, and is now in hospital in London. He explains:

"The Coldstreams were continually in action, the worst time we had was from Sunday to the 4th weeks. On September 24th we lost 200 killed and wounded. I have had some of the narrowest escapes. My honour was blown out on the night. The Germans got at a lot of cowards. I might call them worse, but the boys are getting used to their game now. Before me, the Germans put up a terrible fight, but we are getting used to their game now. Before me, the Germans put up a terrible fight, but we are getting used to their game now. Before me, the Germans put up a terrible fight, but we

An Oulton Man's Experiences in Belgium.

THE MARCH OF THE GERMAN ARMY.

SCENES IN BRUSSELS.

Mr Leonard Lockwood, of Oulton, who recently returned from Brussels, writes:—

The first and real idea of the war was impressed upon me during the first few days of August of the North Station in Brussels. Waiting for a friend on the platform and seeing only singing crowds of troops in specials for the front, I saw the arrival of the first train of wounded from Liege. Some, mere masses of bandages on the stretchers, were being rapidly and efficiently placed into motor cars by the Ambulance Corps and hurried away to the different hospitals. Others, who could manage to walk, were being aided across the station, and on poor chap, who, I heard, had passed two days and nights in the trenches, was for the time demented, singing and shouting as he was quickly conducted out of view of the spectators. Some of the wounded, who were received by fatherly crowds, actually did the cheering of "Vive la Belgique! Vive le Roi!"

These daily arrivals continued without ceasing up to about the 18th August. Then events began to move rapidly: Liege had fallen, Louvain was occupied, the Prussians were in sight of Brussels. And in fact, on Thursday, the 20th, the German troops commenced their march through the city. The Belgian army, in face of enormously superior forces had retired upon Malines and Antwerp, leaving about seventy thousand Germans "hors de combat," after one of the most gallant stands (if not the most) in the history of war.

Such a military event I certainly never expected to see. From the Thursday until Sunday afternoon, the procession never ceased. In spite of the eyesore, the inhabitants of Brussels could not help but admire the preparedness and finish of this first army, which I presumed to be that of General Von Kluck, on its way to Mons to wipe out (?) General French and his "contemptible little army." Artillery, cavalry, and foot, supply waggons, travelling kitchens, all in apple-pie order. Uniforms, trappings, waggons of supplies, everything new and best quality. The finest horses, picked and chosen during the last three or four years at almost every important horse fair in Europe. Bands playing monotonous German marches, and the men singing the "Wacht am Rhein." And the goose step. All complete. Every one of their officers carried a map cased in transparent oilskin and framed in leather, attached to his belt.

The next procession into Brussels was another affair, a day or two afterwards; the flight of the civil population. Groups of peasants on foot, now and again a little farmer's cart, bringing along grandma and the little ones, and a portable stove, a chair or a table, and a few bundles of straw, all that was left of the happy home. What they had seen on leaving was a bonfire and crowds of German incendiaries and murderers, most of whom they said were drunk, in a state to which they probably owed their lives.

It was some few days afterwards, I was near the Bourse in the middle of the town about midday, and saw the return of the remnant of a company of German foot. They looked as though they'd met General French's little hand somewhere. They were in a pitiable state, some without helmets, in shirt sleeves, and many limping along with their top boots slung round their shoulders, feet bandaged in pocket handkerchiefs. The whole lot were in the last stage of exhaustion. "Ca y est" the Belgians said, "Ils ont vu les anglais" ("that's all right, they've seen the English). Kaiser Bill ought to have been on the causeway and seen that little lot. It would have given him furiously to think.

Another scene in the forward march of the German troops towards the end of August—nothing so smart or to be compared to the first regiments. At the tail end of the line of waggons (which bore private addresses in towns where they had been requisitioned) were a couple of German bodies riding in the finest little donkey cart, such as the peasants use for hawking vegetables in the country places. In normal times this would have aroused the highest hilarity amongst the light-hearted Brusseleers.

But the lost sight of the donkey in the view their imagination could call up, of some poor old peasant woman (if still alive) wearing and bemoaning the loss of her fortune, represented by this rolling material and her little stock. The sight called forth as many black looks and mutterings of hatred and vengeance as I heard about all the rest.

